Harold Lanterman Attends Atomic Energy Conference

On Friday, March 30, Mr. Har-old Lanterman, head of the Chem-istry and Physics department, at-tended an Atomic Energy Comtended an Atomic Energy Com-mission conference.at Indiana State Teachers College. This con-ference was sponsored jointly by the Brooklyn National Labora-tory, Upton, N. Y., and the Ind-iana State Teachers College. Stu-dents from high schools and col-leges, high school teachers, col-lege professors, and lay adults at-tended. The objective of this contended. The objective of this conference was to acquaint the audience with information on atomic energy and its possibilities for the future; emphasis being placed par-ticularly on atomic potentiality for peacetime purposes. The program opened with reg-istration and viewing of atomic displays. Technicians demonstra-ted a model atomic pile, Gieger counter, Wilson cloud chamber, and a model cyclotron. This was followed with a welcoming ad-dress by Dr. Willis E. Pratt, President of the college. Dr. Walter J. Michels, professor of Physics at Bryn Mawr, spoke on "The Ele-mentary Physics of the Nucleus," which was an elementary treatise on the structure of the atom and its nucleus. Dr. Joseph M. Lambert of Central Research Labora-(Continued on page 4)

Students Awarded Scholarships in Assembly Program

On Tuesday morning, May 1, during assembly, three Alumni Scholarships were presented to students whom a faculty committee deemed as deserving and show-ing promise in their prospective professions.

Dr. Kimber C. Kuster, chairman of the Scholarship Committee, opened the program and intro-duced Mr. Howard Fenstemaker, who awarded the scholarships in the place of Dr. Nelson, President of the Alumni Association, who, with Dr. Andruss, was attending out-of-town Alumni meetings in Philadelphia and Washington, D.C. Mr. Fenstemaker also has been engaged for a number of years in the pleasant duty of writing out the checks for the lucky winners. This semester fifty dollar checks were presented to Keith A. Smith, a Pittston freshman in the Busi-ness Department; William L, Carson, a Mt. Carmel freshman in the Elementary Department; Jeanette E. Traver, a Tunkhannock fresh-man also in the Elementary Department. Following the presentation of the Alumni Scholarships, Dr. Kus-ter introduced Louise Reinhart, President of the Bloomsburg Branch of the American Association of University Women. She, on behalf of her organization, presented a fifty dollar check to Miss Antoinette M. Czerwinski. Miss Czerwinski is a Mt. Carmel fresh-

Seniors Given Keys, Who's Who Shingles In Honor Assembly

Installation of C.G.A. officers for 1951-52 and the Senior Honor Assembly for the 1951 graduates, were combined in a ceremony on Thursday, April 19. In previous years, the honor assembly has been featured in the last assembly before Commencement, with an impressive processional and reces-sional of the Senior class and faculty in their caps and gowns. Many members of the College Community felt, however, that this event should take place earlier, so that recipients of service could wear them while still ĸeys in college. Since caps and gowns had not yet been received, there was no processional or recesional, C.G.A. officers were installed by C.G.A. officers were installed by President Anthony Grabowski. The following officers were sworn into office for the college year 1951-52: President, Russell Look-er; Vice-Preident, Henry Marini; Secretary, Clare Davis; Treasurer, Henry Hurtt; Assistant Treasurer, Henry Hurtt; Mariner, Herbert Kershner. After the installation, President Andruss gave a short address and presented service keys. The keys, awarded for service to the college, are of gold, with a maroon enameled Husky. They were awarded to the following: Marie Mattis, 62.5 points; Richard Kressler, 51 points; Nancy Powell, 43.5; Max Kaplan, 41.5; Shirley Ashner, 40; Barbara Frederick, 36; Lillian Mlkvy, 32; Merlin Beachell, 31; (Continued on page 2)

Newman Club Honors Graduates At Annual Banquet

Graduating seniors were honor-ed at the annual Newman Ciuo Banquet which was neld on April 30, at the Pine Barn Inn, Danvine. Group singing was directed by the master of ceremonies, intro-duced the Very Reverend Father Burke who olfered the invocation.

Following the dinner, Mr. Wal-ter S. Rygiel, club sponsor, gave a short address. He urged all to have faith. and to strive for success in whatever they may do. Father Burke then gave an inspiring talk wherein he emphasiz-ed the need for intelligent individ-spiring talk wherein he emphasiz-ed the need for intelligent individ-ual thinking. Members of the Newman Club who served as committee workers are as follows: Jim Ciavaglia, Do-ris Wachowsky, Mary Condon, Patricia Boyle, Margaret Shoup, Doris Paternoster, Peter Ferrilli, Midge Wrzenewski, Sylvester Bo-dek, Rocco Cherilla, Joe Boyld, Ed Rompala, and John Dennon. Herbert Sertner, of Bloomsburg, was guest speaker. Mr. Sertner stated that students must use in-tellectual abilities for problems other than those arising in the classroom. He also stated that, as future teachers, students should equip themselves for the task that lies ahead. They must seek the truth and be willing to work for what they have found to be true. After the addresses were de-livered, the new officers of the coming year were introduced. They are: Francis Galinski, presi-dent; Vincent Nawrocki, vice-president; Midge Wrzesniewski, secretary, Rocco Cherilla, marsh-all, and Edward Rompala, treas-urer. Midge Wrzesniewski, who was

"Holiday Panorama" To Be Theme of May Day Festivities

On Wednesday, May 9, Blooms-bug State Teachers College will present its picturesque annual May Day program. This year's display, under the supervision of Mrs. Robert Redman, a graduate of the Physical Education Department of Beaver College, promises to be one of the loveliest ever seen on this campus.

"A Holiday Panorama" will be the theme of this year's May Day festivities. The lawn between the old gym and Science Hall will be the setting for the colorful pro-gram which will begin at 2:00 ō'clock.

Senior girls will carry garlands to form an honor court which will accompany "Queen Diane", her eight attendants, crown bearer, herald, flower bearers, and pages onto the green.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Maroon and Gold Band under the direction of Mr. Charles Henrie. The music will start at 2 o'clock, with the en-trance of the Queen scheduled for 2:30 p.m.

Miss Lucy McCammon of the Physical Education Department will be in charge of the Queen's court and of the college women's dances.

After the entrance of the Queen to the Triumphal March from "Aida" played by the band, An-thony Grabowski, President of the Community Government Association, will crown Diane Snyder as Queen.

The theme of the entertainment for the Queen centers around a Travel Bureau in the U.S.A. complete with a travel agent, travel-ers, and people in holiday spots around the world. The "Holiday Panorama" will take the May Day spectators to holiday spots including an art gallery, a zoo, historic Williamsburg, the gay Mardi Gras in New Orleans and a ranch in the west in our own country; to Holland, Switzerland, Germany, England, and South America, on foreign soil. Following the glimpses of holiday spots the traditional may pole winding will take place. This year a maypole of college girls will dance in front of the Queen's Throne and the Benjamin Franklin school children will dance on the terraces. Student teachers assisting Mrs. Redman and the Benjamin Franklin School staff with the program are: Kindergarten, Martha Bronson, Barbara Mertz; First Grade, Rhoda Carls, Lois Dzuris; Second Grade, Mary DeMatt, Roy Beyers; Third Grade, Mary Dematt, Roy Beyers, Third Grade, Barbara Brace; Fourth Grade, Christine Kraemer, Ralph Hornberger; Fifth Grade, Faythe Hackett, Richard Hummel, Paul Keener; Sixth Grade, Leah Wertman, Daniel Parrell, Bernard Kotula. The pupils of the Special Education room will make the garlands for the senior girls, and the college art classes under the supervision of Mrs. Charles Beeman will decorate the Queen's throne. The Letterman's Club members will assist in ushering the guests to their seats, while the Freshman girls will distribute programs. College girls of Miss McCammon's classes have cut new streamers for the maypoles and Daniel Parrell has fastened them to the poles. Ruth Glidden, a member of the Business Education Department, under the direction of Mr. Richard Hallisy is responsible for the programs, and members of the Lettermen's Club will act as ushers. Mr. Edward Sharretts has charge of the grounds for May Day and Mr. John Hoch will handle the publicity. The sound system will be oper-ated by Harold Carey and Bar-bara Mertz. Marilyn Lundy and Barbara Gulick will act as accompaniests.

This year's May Day program, "A Holiday Panorama," which promises to be one of the most lovely and entertaining the college has ever known, will also be something quite different from those of recent years. For, turning to the files of the Maroon and Gold, we find that the May Day programs for the past two years have been built entirely around American life. Last year's Mid Century May Day featured phases of American life from 1900 to 1950, while the program of 1949 was entitled "Inside Our U.S.A." Mrs. Redman was also in charge of both these programs.

B.S.T.C. seems to prefer blondes, for last year's May Queen, lovely Jane Keller, was also blonde. Her court included Susan Dreibelbis, Jane Kepping, Lucy Jane Baker, Terry Cierlitsky, Carmela Tarole, and Elizabeth Reece. Mr. Howard Fenstemaker led the Maroon and Gold Band in the Triumphal March from "Aida" as the Queen and her attendants, escorted by flower bearers and pages, proceeded slowly from the grove across the lawn to the fiower-decked bower. Here Miss Keller was crowned "Queen of May" by C.G.A. President Richard Wagner.

Father Time, portrayed by a student of the Benjamin Franklin Training School, turned back the hands of the Grandfather clock which denoted the span of the past fifty years. The year 1900 featured Horses by the Kindergarten; Floradora Girls by the fifth graders who wore pastel dresses and ostrich-feathered hats: and Folk Dancing by the third grade; all members of the Benjamin Franklin Training School,

The year 1910 depicted the Merry Oldsmobile by the sixth grade dressed in linen dusters and old-fashioned hats, and Gypsies by the fifth grade, who carried tambourines; Tom Jones played a selection entitled "Glowworm." The year 1920 had two events - The Circus Clowns by the third grade wearing white costumes offset by red buttons and a selection by Andy Macieko entitled "The Man on the Flying Trapeze.

Green Pastures . . .

Life is so temporary. Why is it that people don't make the most of it while they have it? We waste so much time doing things we do not want to do and not doing things we really would like to do. The trouble is, people are always looking to the future; always striving for that heavenly place in time when their dreams will all come true and their efforts will be rewarded. And so, the continual flow of the present is mercilessly transformed into an unforgiving past as a sacrifice to a hazy future. There's always the future. Always a rose-colored unap-proachable future toward which we constantly strive and for which we sometimes beat our futureminded heads against an impene-trable stone wall. The grass is always greener on somebody else's lawn; we're never satisfied with the color of our own. Always striving for greener grass, always courting the tempting, elusive coquete, Fanny Future, who beckons to us, then runs away, and beckons us on another day, leading us through a maze of side-tracked short-cuts and feeding us with the fruit from the tree of selfish desire. Somehow, our destination is never reached. Somehow, elusive Fanny always slips away and, finally, still beckons us on when we have no more roads to travel. Someone has said, "Take care of the little things, and the big things will take care of themselves." Maybe we should live better today, and perhaps we'll have a better tomorow. Omar Khayam had an idea; maybe he was right---Ah, take the cash and let the credit go, Nor heed the rumble of a distant drum. Gems from the mouths of babes... During a vocabulary unit, stu-dents of one class at the training school were each asked to bring in a new word. One lad was asked what word he had chosen. "Preg-nant" was his reply. When asked what the word meant, he replied, "with child." The teacher requested the young scholar to use the word in a sentence. His sentence ... "During a fire a child was trapped in a burning building. A fireman climbed up the burning building and came down pregnant."

President Class of 1952

Tom Anthony, popular and capable member of the junior class, was recently elected to the Presidency of next year's senior class.

B.S.T.C. Students Attend Science Confab at Yale

Two students from B.S.T.C., Leon Coval and Calvin Kanyuck, attended the Eastern Colleges Science Conference which was held at Yale University on April 6 and 7. This year's program marked the fifth anniversary of the organization. It was born of the enthusiasm of 105 delegates at the first conference at Vassar College in 1947, who were so pleased at their effort that they organized on a permanent basis and adopted a constitution. The avowed purpose of the conference is stated in Article II of the constitution: "The purpose of the organization shall be to stimulate undergraduate interest in the natural sciences and their relation to other fields."

This year over ninety colleges were represented by more than 650 delegates. Last year Blooms-burg was the only Pennsylvania State Teachers College represented, and this year, it was one of two attending.

The theme for this year was "Frontiers of Science", and the program for the two days consisted of lectures by outstanding sci-entists from Yale and Harvard, the presentation of student research papers; field trips, a dance and a banquet. Although lectures were present, the greater amount of emphasis was placed on the

So many student research papers were being read that it was impossible to get to all of them. The delegates did divide their time among the readings in order to give the club members a good cross section of what went on at the conference. They got to hear papers on chemistry, physics, zoo-logy, geology, and botany.

The two men reported that students from several colleges had complimented them on not being "stuffed shirts". It seems that they were willing to drop the guise of aloofness which sometimes comes with higher education and to have an enjoyable time. May be this is an outgrowth of our "friendly college" attitude.

In concluding their report, the delegates advised others to attend the conference next year which will be held either at New York State Teachers College, in Albany, N.Y. or Pittsburgh College for Women in Pittsburgh, Pa. They admitted that it was rather expensive-the delegates had to meet all expenses themselvesbut that it was worth any expense incurred just to meet other science students and to see what they are doing in the field of science.

Training School Students Thank President Andruss

Students of the Training School recently sent letters of thanks to Dr. Andruss in gratitude for the new seesaws placed on their playground. The following notes are typical of those received by President Andruss: "Thank you for our new seesaws. We were glad to get them. The old seesaws gave us splinters. We appreciate the new ones very much. Thank you.

The year 1930 featured Red Schoolhouse Kids by the fourth grade and a medley of tunes played by Andy Macieko.

The year 1940 showed the War Years by the first grade and Square Dancing by the Sixth Grade.

The year 1950 wound up the program with Peter Cottontail done by the first grade. The gay-colored costumes worn by the children were made by their mothers. Music for the various events was provided by Richard Wagner, Madelyn Schalles, and Mrs. Lucille Baker.

The festival closed with the traditional Maypole winding by the Benjamin Franklin Pupils and College Women.

The most unusual May Day in the history of B.S.T.C. was on May 11, 1949, when twin Queens Midge and Madge Fuller reigned over the festivities. This was so novel an arrangement that the college received state-wide publicity, and all who saw the event will vividly remember it. The twins were crowned by Thaddeus Swigonski, C.G.A. president, and Alfred Lampman, president of the Senior Class. In the court were Zita Spangler Cortright, Louise Girard, Doris Gilday, Jane McCullough, Joan Mc-Donald, Mary Helen Morrow, Eloise Noble, and Martha Jane Sitler.

The theme of the affair was "Inside Our U. S. A."; pupils of the Benjamin Franklin Training School presented dances and musical sketches designed to show various cultures distinctive of different sections of the United States. Andrew Maceiko, popular accordionist, accompanied the highly ingenious and often humorous selections.

Flags were pinned to a large map of the United States to indicate the various sections of the country which were being depicted in the following numbers. The first presentation was by the Kindergarten pupils, under the direction of Miss Grace Woolworth, who gave their musical interpretation of New England Maypole rhythms. The pupils of the fourth grade, taught by Mrs. Anna G. Scott, next brought the days of old New York into the reminiscing limelight with a spirited dance version entitled "Sidewalks of New York.'

The third grade youngsters, Miss Marcella Stickler, teacher, took the attention of the crowd with their eye-catching presenta-tion of "Deep In The Heart of Texas." Accompanied by accordionist Andrew Maceiko and attired in Indian costumes, the pupils aptly portrayed life as it used to be in the wild and wooly West.

During the recent senior honor assembly, it was noticed by many people, including Miss Ranson, that no awards were made to any of the Day Women. We're sure that this was no deliberate oversight, but it does seem to show that there may be some weak spots in our system of service key awards. Rumor has it that Miss Ranson got somewhat of a verbal slap in the face when she brought the subject to the attention of the C.G.A. at a recent meeting. It work of the undergraduate student research.

Upon their return, the two delegates presented to the Science Club a report of their trip. Delegate Kanyuck, who spoke first, told of his field trip to the Yale School of Medicine. Here the group with which he went was shown a decompression chamber which is used to simulate high altitude flight. The intricate devices and testing equipment used in conjunction with the chamber were explained to the group. Also included in this field trip was a visit to the medical library. Many original volumes on the field of medicine were on display. Some of these books were several centuries old.

Delegate Coval related to the club a report on the field trip which he took through the science laboratories of Yale. He told of seeing students actively at work on various phases of many types of research. He also told of being taken to see the school cyclotron. The operation and functions of this device were explained, and Mr. Coval conveyed to club members the theory and construction of the instrument by use of a diagram

K.P.'s, Daddy's Boys Hold Lead in Men's Softball Races

With the first full week of Men's Intramural Soft Ball play written in as past history we find that the KP's in the American League and Daddy's Boys in the National League are currently setting the pace in their respective loops. The KP's hold the lead in the American Division by virtue of three consecutive triumphs over each of the other three teams in that league. In other games in this loop the Coalers beat Scott's Frat. and B-R turned in a victory over the Coalers.

Over in the National Loop Dad-dy's Boys have turned in conquests of both the Rejects and the Outcasts. Also in other games played in this section the Rejects and Outcasts both turned in victories over Ferrellis' Follies, the present cellar dwellers in the division.

It is expected that the first half play of both loops will be com-pleted by Thursday, May 3, after which play will start immediately into the second half.

Since the inauguration of Day-light Saving Time it is hoped most of the games will be played in the evenings at 6:30.

Scranton U. Royals Win Over Huskies In Season's Opener

 $\frac{1}{2}$

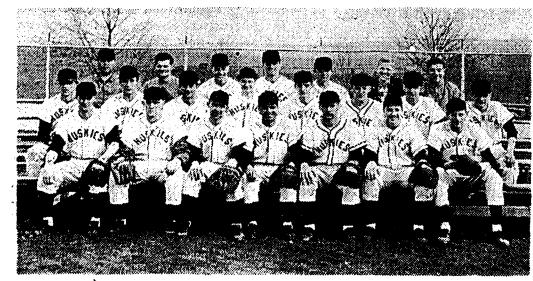

Rejects ..... 1 Ferrellis Follies .... 0

Wednesday, April 18, Blooms-burg's Teachers College trackmen dropped a 76-53 dual meet to the Scranton University Royals in the opening competition for both schools at Scranton. Chilly winds held down per-formances, with no outstanding times or distances turned in. As expected, Frank Womer was the chief point-maker for the Huskies, with a total of 12 points in four events including first in the pole-vault and high hurdles.

by Harry Brooks

Bloomsburg Husky sports fans should be more than pleased with the recent showing of the Spring squads. Coach Redman's Maroon and Gold nine has at this writing, a 4-2 baseball record. The Huskies have defeated such formidable foes as Temple University and Kings College. Kane's answer to Robin Roberts, Buck Byham, has won three of the four decisions to date with Don Kearns hurling the fourth triumph. The Husky diamonders journey to Kutztown teachers tomorrow to play their ninth game of the campaign. Meanwhile on the cinder scene, Coach Harold Shelly's boys have done their share to put B.S.T.C. on the sports map. After losing a close meet to the University of Scranton a few weeks back, the Husky tracksters showed their wares in the Penn Re-lays last weekend. The relay team did very well coming in a fine fifth place in a field of nine. Shippensburg, old rivals of the Huskies, came in the last position. Tomorrow's meet with West Chester Teachers at their track has been postponed until May 19th. However, the cinder how will meet the Shippensburg Bod Baiders on Wednesday of this boys will meet the Shippensburg Red Raiders on Wednesday of this week. Then next Saturday, the Shellymen tangle in the State Meet at West Chester, where a large field of fine competition will battle for state honors.

Dr. Wagner's intramural program is going practically according to schedule since the weather has been so favorable and that extra hour of day light has arrived.

Baseball fans all over the circuit have been wondering what has happened to the New York Giants. The New Yorkers, many a pre season favorite with many of the sportsmen, have flopped thus far, while most of the other clubs are running true to form. The only possible exceptions are the redhot Washington Senators and the Chicago Whitesox. Both have been doing great in these early stages of the campaign.

Husky prospective tennis men have been assembling to practice for the proposed college team, the first in almost fifteen years. Hervey Smith, prominent local man is to coach the new varsity sport here on the Hill. By the looks of things, there is plenty of talent at B.S.T.C. and the courts have been busy practically every hour of the day.

Husky Nine Drops Red Raiders in Close 4-3 Contest on Mt. Olympus

Huskies Score Three Runs in Tenth to Top Scrappy Shippers

Three runs in the top of the tenth inning and an effective re-lief job by Don Kearns gave the Teachers College a 10-8 victory over Shippensburg on Saturday, April 28, at Shippensburg.

Bill Byham, starting Husky pit-che., was shaken up by a first-inning collision and faded in the late innings when the Huskies lost a 7-0 lead.

. Kearns came on in the eighth inning with the bases full and none out and the score tied, 7-7. He fanned the first batter, got the second out when the runner on third made an abortive dash for home, and got the third out on a fly to centerfield.

The Huskies opened up with three runs in the tenth to win the game. With one out, Dick Hum-mel doubled to left and Don Butler, who had previously slammed a triple and two doubles, was giv-en an intentional pass. Mike Evans flied out, Hummel went to third on the fly, and Butler stole second to set the stage for two runners to score on George Lambrinos' single. Lambrinos took second on the throw to the plate and scored on George Lambrinos' single. Lambrinos took second on the throw to the plate and scored on Joe Glosek's single. The Shippers touched Kearns for a pair of doubles and a walk in the bottom of the tenth, but he got out of the trouble with only one run scored.

The victory was the fourth in six games for the Huskies. On Saturday, May 5, the Huskies play at Kutztown.

Husky Trackmen Nose Out Bald Eagles In Dramatic Finish

Bloomsburg State Teachers Col-lege Huskies defeated Lock Hav-en Bald Eagles, 68-63 Tuesday in one of the most dramatic finishes to a duel track and field meet held here in years.

The Huskies won because they carried off the mile relay event, last on the card. The score was tied at 63-all when the event was called. Goodwin got a yard lead on the first lap, Brennan held it, Feifer built it up to five yards and then Gilbert broadened it to twelve as he broke the tape. The teams were about equal in strength. Bloomsburg won five of the nine track events and held a 40-37 edge in points on the cinders. In the field event each team won three, but the Huskies had a margin of 28-26 in points.

Clem Makowski Turns in Stellar Performance While Chalking Up 11 Strikeouts

In a thrilling battle staged on Mount Olympus last Tuesday afternoon, the Husky nine dropped the Mansfield Teachers by the score of 4-3. Clem Makowski, sophomore hurler from Kulpmont, went all the way to record his first start for the season and also his initial victory. He struck out eleven men, but caused many anxious moments for the fans by issuing several free passes.

In the first two and a half innings, neither the Huskies nor the Mountaineers could hit the pitches served up by the opposing hurlers. Then the Redmen came up with two runs. Mansfield retaliated with three markers, and took the lead at 3-2. B.S.T.C. came back and tied the contest up, then went ahead. The winning run was a result of Jimmy Thompson's bunt single along the third base line. He stole second base, and line. He stole second base, and later went to third on a ground ball in the infield. Dave Linck-horst, burly third baseman, strode up to the plate, hit a high bunt in front of the pitcher, and Thomp-son raced home in the squeeze. After that, the Huskies were nev-er headed. In the top of the ninth frame Mansfield had a man on frame, Mansfield had a man on second, with no outs, but Makowski put out the fire and the Huskies won 4-3.

The longest hit of the day was Don Butler's blast into right center field, but because of a bad knee, hurt when he slid into home earlier in the fray, he could only hobble around the bases for a triple. With his running legs in good shape, it would have been an easy home run.

Tomorrow afternoon, the local diamond squad travels to Kutztown to meet the Golden Avalanche in the initial game of the season between the two rivals. Either Don Kearns or Buck Byham will hurl the contest for Bloomsburg.

The proposed intramural tennis and horseshoe tourneys will get under way with John Di Rico and Gene Morrison handling the chores of directing the tilts. Last year, the horseshoe tournament was one of the most popular on the Maroon and Gold campus. Smokey Andrews, former basketball star, and January grad, was the champion last year with the horseshoes.

Player of the game . . .

LOCK HAVEN-because of his fine pitching stint in striking out thirteen men, the award goes to Buck Byham who also aided his own cause by smacking a long home run.

TRENTON-with little to cheer about in this battle, a vote will go to outfielder Don Butler, who hit his second home run of the campaign in this tilt.

TEMPLE-by winning the game over this power of the East, a vote will go to the entire baseball team for copping this all important decision. KINGS—Buck Byham again gets the award for his performance in this battle. The Huskies had a tough time winning this game, but by virtue of Buck's pitching, they managed to eke out a 4-3 victory.

WILKES-Clem Makowski, who in his first relief chore, did a fine job despite the fact that the Huskies lost this fray 5-2.

SHIPPENSBURG-Honors in this tilt go to Don Kearns, pitching star who turned in a terrific relief performance after the going got rough for Buck Byham. The Redmen won this battle in extra innings after holding a wide margin of 7 runs early in the game. With the baseball season nearing its half way mark, the Huskies have compiled a good record. This has been done with the aid of some new additions to the team. Making their debuts as starters this year are Dave Linkchorst at third base, Joe Glosek in the outer gardens, and Clem Makowski on the mound.

Many more new men have been added to the squad as reserve strength.

Here is the team's individual records as they now stand:

Husky Nine Defeats Temple After Losing To Trenton Teachers

After a disheartening start on their road trip at Trenton on Friday the 20th, the Huskies nipped Temple the following day to return home with a much coveted 10-9 victory and a 2-1 record.

Bill Byham pitched the route for the Huskies and although hit hard on occasion, fanned 13 and had enough to hold off the Owls of Coach Pete Stevens at each critical point.

For the third straight game, the heavy firing of the Husky artillery featured the game. Don Butler, who is batting .667 with 8-12, had a double and a homer. His home run proved to be the winning blow of the game. Mike Evans and George Lambrinos each unloaded a triple against the Owls as the Huskies outhit Temple 11-10. Coach Bob Redman's team knocked out starter John Novak in the first inning with a five run outburst. Temple came back with ducces in each of the first two innings but could never get into the lead as Byham settled down.

The Huskies got single runs in the third and sixth to extend their lead to 7-4. Temple got a run in the seventh to make it 7-5. Butler's homer capped a three run rally in the eighth to make the Husky lead 10-5. In the bottom of the same inning Temple scored four times, but Byham settled down and blanked the Owls in the ninth to preserve the victory.

Bloomsburg Players - Very Much Alive!

These riders of Digger Odell's wagon came back — alive. Alpha Psi Omega, B.S.T.C.'s Dramatic Fraternity, was all in readiness to embark upon a trip to New York last weekend. However, they were confronted with a lack of transportation; the station wagon they had planned to use was being utilized elsewhere.

To the rescue of the unfortunate group came Russ Davis, member of the fraternity and president of the Bloomsburg Players. Rushing home to Luzerne, where his father is a funeral director, Russell quickly returned with a hearse.

And so they went. Putting benches in the back of the hearse, Peg Dorsavage, Paul Keener, Russ Davis, and Frank Dean were off to New York. Following was Miss Johnston's car, containing Miss Johnston, Laura Philo, Jeanne Ruckle, Tom Anthony, Bob Jewell, and Calvin Kanyuck.

While in New York, the group enjoyed three Broadway Hits, "Gent-lemen Prefer Blondes," "Springtime for Henry," and Kiss Me Kate." The fraternity stayed at the Taft Hotel. On the return trip, the group was joined by Nancy Powell and Diane Snyder, who were in New York for interviews.

A few days previous to the departure of the fraternity, a meeting was held to elect officers for the coming year. Jeanne Ruckle was chosen as the first woman president in the history of the chapter. Laura Philo was elected to the post of treasurer.

tory, General Aniline and Film Corporation, gave an address en-titled "Radioisotopes in Industry." He stressed the use of isotopes in films, iron and steel, and fluores-cents in paints.

Following Dr. Lambert, Dr. Sam H. Schurr, research physicist Chief Economist, U. S. Bureau of Mines, spoke on "Economic Aspects of Atomic Power." He expressed his belief that the energy released in manufacturing can be harnessed and used for industrial and individual purposes, such as turning dynamos and generators. Dr. Schurr is a co-author of the book entitled "Economic Aspects of Atomic Power.'

Dr. Schurr was followed by Mr. J. Frederick Kunze, teacher in Allegheny High School, Pitts-burgh, Penna., and lecturer, Buhl Planetarium and Institute of Popular Science, Pittsburgh. Mr. Kunze's address was on "The Teaching of Atomic Energy."

Two films, "Report on the At-om," and "You Can Beat the A-Bomb" were then shown to the audience. To a great extent, they reviewed the idea of the preceding speakers.

During the evening program Dr. William A. Higinbotham, Asso-ciate chairman, Department of Instrumentation and Health Physics, Brooklyn National Laboratory, spoke on "Social Implication of Atomic Energy." Dr. Higinbotham does not believe that radioisotopes can be used in medicine to treat diseases, but rather should be used as an indicator. However, he does hope that in the future, they can be used in the treatment of cancer.

The last speaker of the day was Dr. Richard Gerstell, Consultant on Civil Defense. Dr. Gerstell's address was entitled "Survival Under Atomic Attack." He is the author of "Survival Under Atomic Attack," an official government booklet, and "How To Survive An Atomic Bomb."

Mr. Lanterman believes that the information he gained by attending this conference will aid him in his future teaching, and will be reflected in his classes. On Thursday, April 26, Mr. Lanterman will attend the Annual Meeting of the American Chemical Society, of which he is a member. The chief topic of discussion will be Industrial Chemistry. Mr. Shortess of the Science Department will also attend.

seems that she thinks day students have greater diffculty com-piling service points than do dorm students, and therefore, some revision of our present award system should be made. Is she all wrong?

Fish story . . .

Have you men-or women-experienced difficulty in landing your catch or lish this season? It so, you should see Mr. Wilson tor a lesson on how to do it the easy way. For the benefit of this uninformed, Mr. Wilson keeps a variety of tropical fish in his home aquarium. Just a few weeks ago his big fish had little fish. So if you are interested, why don't you drop into Mr. Wilson's office to get a mess of tips on pisciculture? The mating season . . .

We have it from a very good authority that another of our common campus twosomes has made the long trek up the matri-monial aisle. Our hearty congratulations are extended to Robert Hileman and the former Winnie Mae Mericle who tied the knot last week-end. We hope they enjoyed their honeymoon in Virginia.

Prom time . . .

As the semester grows shorter, the senior prom draws nearer. The plans for the evening have been completed, and they include dining, dancing, and refreshments. Much to the consternation of some, the refreshments will include punch with a fruit base. Seriously though we'll be interested to see how many engagements and impending marriages will be announced.

Senior memorial . . .

After many months of constant wrangling, the senior class has finally decided upon a class memorial. Their choice, which may become a tradition with senior classes, is a scholarship to be provided for by funds set aside by the class. When questioned on the idea, several seniors thought it was the best possible solution to the memorial problem. They further expressed the hope that the scholarship will be properly ad-ministered in order that it may go to really deserving students.

Snuffy ....

It has been generally thought that the day of the tobacco chewing college student had passed into oblivion. A recent tour through one of the men's dormitories proved that either this idea is wrong or the habit is staging a come-back. We cornered at least one individual with a chew of Copenhagen which is ordinarily sniffed as snuff. He promised retaliation no end if we wrote this, but we do hope Snuffy will accept it lightly. to the lilting strains of President Truman's favorite song, "Missouri Waltz." The picture presented by the pirouetting ballerinas was completed with hoops of entwined flowers and garlands.

The pupils of Mrs. Lucille J. Baker, first grade teacher, immediately scored a hit with their amusing "blackface" number as they danced and jigged through a lively Southern "hoedown" tune. This was followed by a capable dancing of the Virginia Reel by students of the fifth grade.

The second graders, tutored by Miss Iva Mae VanScoyac, presented next a novelty dance using skipping ropes and intricate dance patterns to highlight their conception of the old and memorable "School Days." Maceiko played "California, Here I Come" next, setting the spirited air for the highly imaginative and clever routine of the boys of the sixth grade. The boys, students of Miss Edna J. Barnes, were uniformed in baseball suits, complete with gloves, balls, and bats, and presented a very effective panto-mine in accompaniment to the old favorite, "Take Me Out To The Ball Game." Concluding the program was a waltz-dance by the girls of the sixth grade. Wearing old-fashioned costumes and carrying gaily decorated parasols, the girls weaved and danced with grace and talent to the melody of "Beautiful Ohio."

The May Day closed with the extremely impressive winding of the brilliantly-hued Maypoles by the Training School pupils and College girls. This was the "go sign" for vast throngs of amateur photographers to converge in a flurry before the Queen's throne and take pictures of the colorful court dias. Smiling rad-iantly, the twin Queens and their attendants allowed the fans to snap pictures to their hearts' content. When the Court left the throne for the receding procession, the lens-snappers were still locusing their cameras, and way had to be cleared for the royal trainage.
