Faculty Acquires 5 New Members During Vacation

Five new additions to the faculty of B.S.T.C. this year are: Dr. Maryland Wilson and Miss Clara Weir in the speech department; Mr. Edwin Barton in the social studies department; Mr. Jack Yohe, football coach and psychology instructor; and Mr. Warren Johnson at the Benjamin Franklin Training School.

Dr. Wilson

Dr. Maryland Waller Wilson comes to us from South Carolina with a B.A. degree from Winthrop College, South Carolina, and an M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of Michigan. She has also done some graduate work at Northwestern University.

Dr. Wilson taught previously in the public schools of South Carolina and Georgia; at Sullins College, Virginia; and at the Alabama State College for Women. In the summer of 1948 she was a visiting professor at Furman University, where she organized the first classes in public speaking for military personnel of the Greenville (now Donaldson) Air Force Base.

Spending two years in Germany with the American schools in Nuremberg and Frankfurt, Dr. Wilson taught public speaking to military personnel at the Wiesbaden, Rhine-Main, and Frankfurt posts as part of the University of Maryland European Extension program.

Writing is one of Dr. Wilson's favorite hobbies. She has edited four books of radio scripts, and is now collaborating on a book of memoirs with one of the radio pioneers. She has also written articles for professional speech publications and articles on camp dramatics and dramatic club programs for the Community Handbook of the 4-H Clubs. She enjoys writing poetry, and her work has appeared in several anthologies of verse.

Dr. Wilson has traveled in twelve European countries, including France, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, Holland, Luxemburg, England, Germany, Scotland, Norway, Denmark, and Sweden.

She is teaching freshman speech and has charge of dramatics here. (Continued on page 6)

Today's Activities To Mark Twenty-fifth Homecoming

Bloomsburg State Teachers College celebrates its twenty-fifth annual Homecoming today, when hundreds of alumni and friends return to the campus for a day of exciting events. Homecoming activities will officially begin with a concert by the Maroon and Gold Band at 10:30 A.M. The enlarged band again is under the direction of Mr. Charles Henry, assisted by Mr. Howard Fenstermaker. This year, weather permitting, the concert will be held on a platform erected outdoors, rather than in Waller Hall.

A cafeteria luncheon for alumni and visitors is planned for 11:00 A.M. in the college dining room, which is decorated in the school colors of Maroon and Gold. Other decorations include the lamp posts, which display alternately the colors of Mansfield and Bloomsburg. Colorful flags of the nations of the world line senior walk. Mrs. Olive Payne Beeman, art instructor at BSTC, is chairman of the decoration committee.

The day's activities will be highlighted by the Homecoming Day football game with Mansfield State Teachers College. The Huskies will attempt to extend their victories in what promises to be an exciting game, with the kickoff at 2:00 P.M. on the Mount Olympus gridiron.

Following the football game, there will be a Get-Together in Waller Hall Lounge. This event has proven extremely popular in the past few years. It will give Alumni an opportunity to renew old acquaintances and recall memories of school days. The faculty-student committee has made plans to entertain hundreds of alumni and friends with a special program and refreshments. Miss Barnes is chairman of this event. A cafeteria dinner will be served in the dining hall at 5:30 P.M.

Climaxing the day's activities will be the Annual Homecoming Day Dance, which will be held in Centennial Gymnasium at 8:00 P.M. Music for dancing will be provided by Gabe Garland and his orchestra.

B.S.T.C. Alumni Serve as Hosts To Celebrities

Mr. Wilbur Abell, a former professor in the business education department on this campus in 1941-42, and his wife Dorothy often serve as hosts for various celebrities who entertain at the Bowling Green State University in Ohio.

Mr. Abell, the associate professor of business administration at that University, is chairman of the Artists Series Committee and part of his duty in that position is to meet the entertainers at the station and to escort them to all campus festivities and concerts. Often visiting persons stay at the home of the Abells.

A few of the famous persons who have been their guests are the Percy Graingers, Burl Ives, Lauritz Melchior and his wife. (Continued on page 6)

Author-Educator To Give Address At Alumni Dinner

Herbert E. Stover, whose latest novel, "Copperhead Moon," was published recently, will be the speaker at a dinner meeting of the Columbia County Branch of the Alumni Association which will be held in the College dining room at 6:30 p.m., Saturday, November 1. Invitations to attend the dinner are extended to all residents of Columbia County who attended Bloomsburg either as a college or a normal school.

Mr. Stover, formerly supervising principal of the Lewisburg public schools and emeritus professor of education at Bucknell University, is the author of several historical novels dealing with the early history of Central Pennsylvania. The title of his address will be "Pennsylvania Folklore." Mr. Stover is the father of Miss Marjorie Stover, a member of the College faculty.

A special section of the bleachers will be reserved for those members of the alumni and their friends who wish to attend the football game between the hard-plunging Huskies and their new gridiron rivals, New Haven, Conn., State Teachers. This is the first scheduled game between the Maroon and Gold and their New England colleagues, New Haven defeated Kutztown S.T.C., former

Welcome to the Twenty-Fifth Homecoming:

A quarter of a century has passed since graduates of Bloomsburg have been returning to our campus in the early autumn for the renewal of acquaintances.

While Homecoming events have changed to some extent, the Football Game is always a focal point, and since the war the Get-Together in the Old Gymnasium has attracted hundreds of former students.

We welcome you to the campus and know that "Years to come will find you ever true to Bloomsburg still."

College Council Holds First Two Meetings of Current School Year

College Council held the first two meetings of the current semester in Room L the evenings of September 22 and 29. Brought to order by C.G.A. President, Edwin Cunfer, the council immediately passed a motion setting the time of their meetings for the second and fourth Mondays of each month at 7:00 p.m. As a matter of convenience for off-campus Council students and faculty, and as an opportunity to get all members together as a social group, approval is being sought to have the Council eat as a group in the college dining room the evening of each meeting. President Cunfer appointed council members Alex Kubik, Mildred Wrzesniewski, and Mary Henning, and suggested Deans Ranson and Yohe to serve as a committee of five to consider the purchase of television sets from a fund made available through the College Retail Store.

In order to set a policy for the sale of class rings, Mr. Cunfer, upon suggestion of Dr. Andruss, appointed David Newbury and David Superdock as a committee of two to draw such a policy for the council's approval.

Due to the fact that college organizations were given an opportunity to make financial requests as long ago as last April, and also because of numerous previous meetings of student financial committees, it was possible for our college council to be the first council to approve the Community Activities Budget at its first meeting.

Curtain Purchased

The green curtain which hung last year in Carver Auditorium, a memorial of the Class of 1913, was replaced during the summer session by a new maroon curtain trimmed with gold. The new curtain is not a memorial, but a purchase of the college through the state fund.

The Class of 1913 curtain had replaced an old-fashioned theater type given by the Class of 1892. This curtain, with a large picture painted in the middle, pulled up rather than drawing aside as do the modern curtains.

To the New and the Old

With a slightly belated word to our new Freshman Class, and a more timely one for the homecoming Alumni, we of the Maroon and Gold staff, extend a sincere welcome to everyone, the new, old, and the trio of classes in between.

We hope that many of you Frosh have entered this college with a wealth of ideas, ideas which upon their merit shall catch, hold on, and become customs for future Frosh to follow. It is for you to renourish the loss of last year's seniors who are returning today to see you doing the work they once did, enjoying the things they once enjoyed, accomplishing the things they once accomplished.

You have not necessarily come to BSTC to conquer it; it may be sufficient if you merely conquer yourself. This is not a factory in four shifts where you enter, undergo a process, and emerge a finished product. What will be done to you is only what you desire to have done. If you want to get ahead, you usually can. If you're really going to be a collegiate, you'll want to. Become a part of us in reality, and you have our assurance that B.S.T.C. will become a part of you.

To the Alumni, who have already learned the full meaning of school spirit, that force that draws you back wherever you are come homecoming day, an especially warm welcome. It was here you learned the importance of being able to live with others, to understand others, to help and be helped by others. Here you learned to be proud to say "I'm from B.S.T.C.". It's not only the school, but also you who make us great. Try to make it every year. We miss you. You'll always be that essential part of "life on the hill" that none can take away.

A Statement of Policy

With this, the first issue of the Maroon and Gold, we offer a statement of policy which shall be the guide of this publication throughout the school year. As a student at B.S.T.C. you have a clear and decisive say in your paper, paid in large part by your money, and aimed in main for your enlightenment, interest, and entertainment. You are urged to bring to our attention suggestions, disagreements, or any discussions of policy in which you wish to indulge.

We welcome any criticisms and though we will not please all the people all the time, our goal is toward that end.

Our policy is this:

1. To publish college news.
2. To be an organ of communication between students, faculty, and administration.
3. To provide information concerning activities in other colleges. Toward this purpose an exchange staff is maintained.
4. To provide journalistic experience for any qualified interested students.

Realizing that many new teachers are expected to take over such extra-curricular activities as yearbooks and school newspapers, we feel that work on the M & G should be of valuable assistance.

5. To provide posterity with authentic college history.

The college library preserves bound issues of the Maroon & Gold accumulated since the first paper was issued almost thirty years ago.

Swiftly Speaking

Many events happened so swiftly over the summer vacation that we'd like to devote this column exclusively to bringing you up to date on the "goings on."

Priscilla Abbott and Harry Fenstermacher, both former staff members of the Maroon and Gold, decided to take the big step and get married.

Jo Ann Fornwald and "Chuck" Edwards are now Mr. and Mrs. Edwards.

Jack Schaar finally convinced Mary Lou Todd that Schaar sounds better than Todd.

The campus romance of Joanne Vanderslice and Clifton Clarridge was climaxed by a trip to the altar.

Also saying "I do" this summer were Helen Tietjen and Harold Emmitt.

Our congratulations to Edward J. Kapsak and William Creasy who were signed by the St. Louis Cardinals to minor league contracts.

Also, congratulations to Florence Hartline and Mrs. Margaret Berninger Riffel (both class of '50) who received their degrees of Master of Education from Bucknell University.

Joseph "Bells" Colone now has a new head coach in the person of Mrs. Colone, the former Jennie Papa.

Mary Ann Fink changed her role as co-ed to that of Mrs. Ted Marshman.

Ben Linn, one of our seniors, made a life-time contract with Doris Hartman of Catawissa.

"an old custom for the new . . ."

No Frosh customs would be complete without dinks, and this year was no exception.

Traditional Customs Performed By Enthusiastic and Avid Frosh

On September 15, Customs began for the two hundred and twenty Freshmen entering Bloomsburg. A working definition of Customs states: "College Customs are traditional requirements to orient incoming students into the history and life of BSTC. By this time, many Frosh have come to look upon them as some fiendish treatment dreamed up by the Inquisition."

The Freshmen underwent a series of "treatments" which were highly enjoyed by the upperclassmen. The "wearing of the green" initiated Customs Week, in which the Frosh wore green hair ribbons (girls) and green neckties (boys). Following this, Customs required that the debes carry an unbroken pretzel, sport a toothbrush and tooth paste tube in open view, wear their clothes backwards, and reply properly when questioned about the time of day. Various other indignities including "Be Kind To Upperclassmen Day," "Kiddies Day," and "A Day of Silence."

A special committee dealt with the Frosh upstarts who dared to violate their sacrosanct word. Shirley Fisher, "the movie queen," knew all the films showing at the local theaters; "the Berwick Boys", DiPaolo and Caton, obligingly swept Senior Walk; and Jim Coleman was "a bad boy" as indicated by the oversize sign he carried on his back. Other Customs violators may be dealt with at a later date.

The annual kicking of "Tradition Tree" will officially end Customs, and the Frosh will be allowed to associate with the upperclassmen on an equal footing.

The chairman and co-chairman of the Customs Committee this year were Harley "Red" Stuart and Patricia O'Laughlin. Committee members were: Ralph Verano, Sara Jane Hoffman, Bob Shuttlesworth, Rose Marie Grant, Ronald

Impressions of A Frosh . . .

B.S.T.C. appeals to me as being the ideal college for preparing to be a teacher. But it also appeals to me in many other ways. First of all, the students and faculty make up the college, and here at B.S.T.C., these people are friendly. I can see why B.S.T.C. is called "the friendly college on the hill."

I have gone through my first three weeks at Bloom with the feeling of wanting to remain. Although the traditional customs seem so unimportant at the moment I will look back in the years to come and remember all the fun it actually was. During these three weeks, I have come in contact with various people, students as well as teachers, whom I know will help me in the future if I happen to need their help.

Teas Held by Day And Dorm Women

A reception and tea for the girls of Waller Hall was held Thursday afternoon, September 25, in the second floor lobby of the girls' dormitory. This is an annual event which enables the new girls to become acquainted with the Deans and the Officers of Waller Hall.

Each freshman girl was escorted to the tea by a "big sister", an upperclassman who helps incoming students to become acquainted with the faculty and other students. The members of the receiving line were Dr. Kehr, Miss Macdonald, Rosella Danilo, Myra Albertson, Louise Schullery, and Mary Ledyard.

Ila Mae Coursen, Joan Greco, Betsy Baer, and Mary Elizabeth Patton, senior representatives of the Governing Board, poured at the tea. General chairman was Jean Griggiths, who was assisted by Grace Histed, Rose Korba, Betty Hoffman, Thelma Hendershot, Peggy Noll, Alice Fisher, Patricia Phillips, and Lynda Bogart.

B.S.T.C. Day Women held a tea on Wednesday, September 11, in honor of the Freshmen members of the organization. Miss Ranson, Dean of Day Women, welcomed the girls and gave them information concerning the Day Room. She also introduced the freshmen to their upper classmates. Elaine Gunther, president of the association, gave the girls additional information and introduced the official board. Refreshments were then served.

"and something new for an old custom"

Leo and Leona

Lions Redecorated By Class of 1912

Freshmen and returning students of BSTC were greeted by a shining coat of bronze on our two lions, Leo and Leona, who have greeted college students for the last forty years.

Presented to the college as a memorial of the class of 1912, they were placed on the top pedestals of senior walk. Two eagles were placed on the pedestals below them. When a few persons stated that the British lion should never be placed over the American eagle, the lions and eagles were interchanged. As the years passed, the wide-spread wings of the eagles were broken. After Dr. Haas became president, they were removed about 1931. Decorative lamps took their place.

In recent years the lions also became damaged and discolored. This summer they were sent to the Danville Art Bronze Company to be soldered and polished. On Alumni Day the Class of 1912 will hold their 40th reunion, and through the efforts of Mr. Howard F. Fenstermaker, Sr., graduate of that class, and now a member of the college faculty, they raised a sum of money which partly covered these expenses. Only one thing is wrong — the custom committee now needs a good excuse for violators to scrub the teeth of the proud animals.

Huskies Defeat Colonels 32-12

Slamming out their tenth win in a row over a period of three years, the newly renovated Maroon and Gold charges of head mentor, Jack Yohe, smothered Wilkes College 32-12 last Saturday night before a screaming home crowd of almost 4,000. The initial fray of the 1952 campaign saw the Huskies display an aerial carnival, completely baffling the visiting Colonels of George Ralston.

The first quarter saw the two foes showing little offensive power, as each team was repeatedly held on downs in their own territory. Then the fireworks began. Little Mike Lashendock, Kulpmont Frosh, snagged a Wilkes punt on the Bloom 29, shortly after the second stanza had begun, and danced and zigzagged down the field for a Husky T.D. Dave Linkhorst converted to make the count 7-0, Bloom. A few minutes later, Bernie Mont, Lehman stand out, caught Linkhorst's pass and galloped sixty-one yards to paydirt. The conversion failed. Score—B.S.T.C. 13, Wilkes 0.

Late in the second period, Link again hit Mont with a pass and Bernie tallied to make the score 19-0 at half time. In this first half, Wilkes could only penetrate the Huskies side of the fifty once.

To start the second half, BSTC booted off to Wilkes, but the Colonels were stopped cold. After an exchange of punts Bloom got the ball. Big Bernie Mont cocked his right arm back and tossed to tail end Russ Verhausky who toted the pigskin across the goal, the fourth touchdown for the local boys!

As the third period wore on, Wilkes filled the air with passes and eventually worked their way down to the Bloom one-yard line. After testing the Husky line once, Davis, former Plymouth High star, plunged from the one for the initial Colonel tally. The score was then Bloom 25, Wilkes 6.

The crowd was brought to its feet late in the third canto when Picton flipped to Kropiewnicki in a play covering 91 yards. After being tackled on the two yard line by the Husky safety man, Wilkes tried the line three times and on the fourth try, they bowled over for their second tally. Bloom led at the end of the third period, 25-12.

Not until the final minutes was another score accounted for and that was when fullback Barney Osevela skipped over from the one yard line to make the final score, Bloom 32-12.

LOCKER - LINGO

by Harry Brooks

The Glorious Maroon and Gold will wave in the breeze today as once again the Huskies welcome "home" the alumni for today's top grid battle between versatile Jack Yohe's gridders and the formidable, renovated Mansfield Mountaineers.

We have to go back to 1947 to find the Huskies losing their Homecoming fray, but in years since that time, the battles have been exciting and close for the most part. Let's take a look at the record. In 1948, the undefeated Maroon and Gold powerhouse dumped Kutztown 27-0 before the home fans. A year later, the once defeated local charges skipped pass the Red Raiders of Shippensburg 14-13 in as thrilling a collegiate battle a fan could want to see. In 1950, Bloom walked over Kutztown 35-0. And finally, last year the B.S.T.C. undefeated team walloped Shippensburg 40-14. The total record for these five years saw the Huskies slam out thirty-eight victories as against but four setbacks. What will happen this year is perhaps another story. But at any rate, the spirit of the past is sure to drive the Maroon and Gold teams to future greatness such as they have enjoyed in years gone by.

This year will also mark two other milestones in the Husky grid wars. The team will travel about fifteen hundred miles to battle five away foes. Long treks to Scranton, Trenton, West Chester, California, and Lock Haven will make this team the most traveled squad in B.S.T.C. history. Then too, the Huskies have never met eight stronger teams in one season. Particularly tough will be New Haven Teachers, California, West Chester, and Scranton.

Grid picks . . . in the past two years, this department has selected about eighty-three percent of the games correctly throughout the football campaign. Here is the first week's selections.

Bloomsgburg 27	Mansfield 14	Millersville 13	Lock Haven 7
So. Cal. 35	Army 7	Notre Dame 28	Texas 27
Bucknell 40	Muhlenburg 20	Oklahoma 39	Pitt 21
Cornell 21	Navy 13	Penn 40	Dartmouth 14
Holy Cross 35	Harvard 14	Wilkes 20	Bridgeport 13
Wisconsin 26	Illinois 20	Yale 21	Brown 7
Kutztown 34	Cheyney 6

The Rise and Fall Of College Spirit

The team who works, thinks, and acts together usually wins. The quarterback may call the play, but ten other men help the spectator decide whether the play was successful or not. This too is true of the cheering section. If an enthusiastic group acts and works together, then its said that they're hep, or full of spirit. When our quarterback or the cheerleaders call a play, let's follow through and make it a success.

The truth of the matter is, BSTC has not been really challenged. We've all heard it said that no one cheers for the winning side when the game is a push-over. Probably the injured players don't think the games were such easy snaps, but by their past performance, our team has made it evident that no great competition has come our way. Our games this year will have every bit as much fight and hit-em-hardness as any game played in the whole eastern circuit.

Lets form a cheering team of our own. We have competent quarterbacks, but not enough

Girls' Intramurals

On Monday evening, September 29, Centennial Gymnasium will be open for the first time this year for women's intra-murals. For the benefit of freshmen women, it is important to stress that all women are invited to come—this is not for "B" Club members only.

This is an excellent opportunity to earn points toward "B" Club. Points earned on Monday night in the gym are classified as team points and are added to the individual points. Briefly, here is how it works:

Hiking, tennis, swimming, ping pong, badminton, skiing, bowling, skating, dancing, camping, and horseback riding are classified as individual-point activities. Each activity earns six points an hour with the exception of hiking which is counted at two points per mile. A total of eighteen points may be earned at each activity during one week.

Cageball, volleyball, basketball, and baseball come under the heading of team points. These are some of the activities found going on in the gym on Monday evening. In addition to this, the swimming pool is open, and girls play shuffle board, badminton, and various other games. In order to play the various ball games mentioned above, the girls are divided into teams, and tournaments are held. Each tournament is worth one hundred team points.

By being an assistant for a Girl Scout or Brownie troop, a referee, scorer, timer, lifeguard, or swimming instructor, girls may earn official points at the rate of ten points per hour.

Each week points for the preceding week are recorded on a special form found in Miss MacCammon's office in the gym. Five hundred points, consisting of two hundred individual, two hundred team, and one hundred miscellaneous points will earn a set of numerals; one thousand points, consisting of four hundred individual, four hundred team, and two hundred miscellaneous points, will

Mansfield and Bloomsburg Will Clash Today in Gridiron Battle

Chief Trainer in the Husky Grid Den

Coach Yohe

The Yohe Story

Jack Yohe, the Huskies' new football coach, is widely known in Teachers College athletic circles, and local sports fans will get to know him much better as the 1952 grid campaign moves into high gear. Five years as backfield assistant to Glenn Killinger, the veteran West Chester football mentor, have given the thirty-seven year old Husky tutor a wealth of experience in Teachers College football which should prove valuable in his new post.

Yohe succeeds Bob Redman, highly successful Husky grid coach of the past five seasons, who resigned early in May to accept the head coaching post at East Orange, N. Y. High School. It was during Redman's tenure that the Huskies became a power in Pennsylvania collegiate football, romping to 38 victories in 42 starts and posting unbeaten, untied records in 1948 and 1951.

Yohe learned his football lessons at Jersey Shore High School so well that he became one of the best backs in the history of Lock Haven State Teachers College, where he graduated in 1938. He began teaching and coaching at Biglerville High School following his graduation.

World War II interrupted his career in 1942, and he served with the U. S. Navy for a period of 46 months, being separated in 1946 with the rank of lieutenant. Following his separation, he taught for one year at Upper Merion before accepting an assignment at the West Chester State Teachers College as assistant football and basketball coach.

A confirmed "T" formation man, Yohe hopes to convert the single-wing-minded Huskies to a "T" generated machine, but the personable young mentor is quick to state that variations will be made in the system to fit available personnel. He is known as a stickler for fundamentals and conditioning — two hallmarks of Bloomsburg football since 1946.

Mr. and Mrs. Yohe are the parents of a future Husky guard—four-year old Gary. The new Husky coach holds a master's degree from Temple University when he is slated to complete all the requirements for the degree of Doctor of Education in the near future.

Teams Sporting New Coaching as Rivals Meet on Homecoming

The banner attraction for the gala 1952 Homecoming festivities will be the annual clash between two arch rivals, Mansfield and Bloomsburg, up on Mt. Olympus this afternoon. This game marks the first appearance of Mansfield as a homecoming opponent, and they will be definitely determined to upset the Husky applectart.

It will be the seventh game between the two schools in this post-war era dating back to 1946. The Huskies hold a decided edge in the abbreviated series, winning 7-0 in '48, 26-0 in '49, 39-6 in '50, and 20-7 in '51. The upstaters registered their lone decision in '47 by scoring a last minute touchdown to triumph 7-6. The remaining game of the series was a scoreless deadlock in '46 which saw the Huskies on the Mansfield 3 yard line as the final whistle blew. All of the games have been hard fought and the outcomes undecided until well into the final periods, as last year's hard earned 20-7 verdict clearly illustrates.

Both clubs won their opening games this season and will go into Saturday afternoon's clash sporting unblemished records, Mansfield by virtue of a 20-14 victory over Ithaca of N. Y., the Huskies by way of a 32-12 decision over a well-balanced Wilkes College team. Both coaches were fairly well pleased with the initial performance of their teams, but come Saturday afternoon they will be expecting a much improved showing from their squads.

An interesting item of this year's Homecoming game is that both clubs are sporting new head coaches. Ed Rushin is the new head man at Mansfield replacing the likeable Ted Casey. Rushin is a former Sunbury High School coach. Our own Huskies will be showing off their new top man, Jack Yohe, who comes to us from West Chester S. T. C., where he was righthand man for Glen Killinger the last five seasons. Yohe succeeded Bob Redman who made quite a record for himself in his short stay at Bloomsburg.

Coach Yohe has ditched the power-laden singlewing attack for an explosive split "T" formation. It is expected that Rushin will also use a "T" formation in trying to stop the Husky winning streak at ten games. The wide-open brand of football that these formations present should insure all Homecoming fans of a thrilling contest come 2:00 this afternoon. See you at the game.

The Maroon and Gold is continuing its policy of sending the paper free of charge to any former students of BSTC now serving their country in the armed services. Anybody knowing the address of such servicemen can insure their receiving an M & G by getting in contact with a staff member or placing a card in Box 284.

Glenn Albertson Oman, B.S.T.C. graduate, has been appointed general manager of International Correspondence School, Canadian, Ltd.

Mr. Oman assumed his new duties August 16, making his headquarters in Montreal.

A charter member, director and officer of Scranton Junior Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Oman has been active in many other civic projects.

A Word to the Un-wise . . .

To all of those who noted with a high heart what they (and I) considered to be my farewell address as author (?) of C. C., I wish to tender (well, at least not very tough) an explanation of how come. The reason I'm here is simple. My public. Both of them. George Herre reads—my column. After buttonholing him assiduously (I think there's such a word), he admitted that at least my column looked better than blank space . . . but not much. Anyhow, those of you who I might have missed mentioning, or otherwise did not get adequate treatment last year, will be given the full treatment (heh, heh) this year. Who knows, one of these days I may say something somebody wants to hear. At least I won't be fouling up the literary atmosphere as often. I'm scheduled to alternate this location with Dee Doyle, meaning, of course, you'll see me only once every other issue. (Rowley says this may be too often). On the other hand, you'll see Dolores in print (not literally) equally as seldom, and I'm sure the latter is the greater hardship. Well, anyhow, lets get on with another year of this printer's paradox.

Welcome or Something . . .

After that garbled introduction I'd like to make one thing (at least) clear. It's most excellent to see such a fine crop, bunch, or what have you of Freshmen nesting here on "The Hill". I've met a good number of you Frosh already, and haven't met one I didn't like yet. That's been true for the past three years now and I guess it always will be. There seems to be lots of stuff in this new group and (if you Freshmen don't mind advice from an old guy on his way out) there are lots of places to use it here at B.S.T.C. Find something you like to do and hang on. It gets to be fun. Tie onto an extra-curricular and settle down for four years. If you ever want to know something about life here on "The Hill," and don't particularly care for an intelligent answer, call on me. Seriously though, I extend the C. C. gladhand to you all and say welcome aboard!

And Some More Welcome . . .

It's pretty hard to ignore something like Homecoming Day (and who wants to) which, like the draft, seems to be getting around earlier and earlier every year. This just means that everybody gets to see their old cronies sooner than last year. The place will be crawling with Alumni, parents, Alumni, friends, Alumni, and relatives. It will be good to see all those people who actually never quite leave Bloomsburg come back and share themselves again in the grand mixture that really is B.S.T.C.

Pursuit of the Oblate Spheroid . . .

Football is here. And how. Last Saturday's game with Wilkes introduced a new type (for Huskies) formation, a new coach (Jack Yohe) and lots of new players (all good) but it was the same old (but very excellent) B.S.T.C. result. We won. The ground attack was a little ragged, but oh, those aerial shenanigans. Some of the gnarled old (this is a figure of speech fellas) vets really seem All State bound. Charlie Brennan, who threw a couple of blocks that made those Wilkes boys look like ragdolls, also came out on the right end of a pass in the last seconds of play to score the final T.D. There was "Big Zig" in there backing the line as though he owned the ball. Fran Bidelspach set a furious pace of tackles in the opening minutes of the game that was ended suddenly by a bad knee injury. (He couldn't even answer his girl's telephone call, reports his roommate M. Jones). A terrific run-back by Lashendock, pinpoint passing by "Linc", and Shuey like rock on defensive line play, but the best of it all in this game comes under the initials Bernie Mont. Since I can count to three and I do know something good when I see it, I say Bernie is the nearest thing to triple threat the orbs of ole C. C. have fastened on. This week's Legion of the Purple Current Medal goes to B. Mont. You, me, and we look to see great things from our "52" version of Husky Football.

No Bookie, But . . .

Ray "Sugar", "Shaky" Raabe who knows more about anything than almost anybody, really does know something about baseball. At least he picked the Yankees for the pennant and was one percent better than 99% correct. Let it be known that his loyalty to the Yanks extends to betting "cold cash" (for the first time?) against the Dodgers. All comers are covered to the maximum amount Ray can get for his roommate's clothes. At least we know who the sporting man on campus is.

Thought for the Week . . .

Why doesn't anyone dance to records in the old Gym like they used to when I was a boy.

Attention!

Shades of graduation days! The 1953 Obiter, which is synonymous with sheepskins, mortarboards and gowns, and farewell days for Seniors is gradually beginning to take shape. The new Obiter will be more of a pleasant reminder to students because the format will feature more pictures of student life and activity. Many pictures have already been taken throughout campus and senior scheduling is well under way.

A new, modern layout will be presented, utilizing new photographic techniques.

Make your slogan "Obiter is the book for me in '53!"

Hedgerow Theatre Presents Famous French Comedy at B.S.T.C. on Tuesday Eve

Dr. J. A. Russell Publishes Articles In Penna. Farmer

In recent issues of the Pennsylvania Farmer, Dr. J. A. Russell has had two articles published. In his first story, "Dinner Pail Days," our author painted a unique picture of school days in Old New England, when the children lived too far away from the little one-roomed school house to go home for dinner, so they brought their own lunch, and some of the delicacies which are mentioned in this article will make most of us wish we could carry our own lunch to school.

On "lunch packing days," Mother Russell brought out a loaf of homemade bread and a slab of newly-churned butter. From here on, the children made the decisions as to what the lunch would consist of. Here are some of the luscious treats carried in those shiny dinner pails. In the sandwich line, baked beans, piccalilli, grape jam, or cream cheese made delicious fillings. As side dishes, applesauce or rice pudding was terrific. Then last, but by far least, came the dessert. Pie, molasses doughnuts, ginger cakes, or cream jumbles made the Russell children the envy of the school at lunch time. At noon hour, the children swapped food, and since Mother Russell was the best cook of the community, two pieces of pie could easily be secured for one molasses doughnut.

Dusk came, seeing the children arrive home with empty pails and hearty appetites from thinking of that approaching evening meal.

In this article, Dr. Russell has depicted one day in the average life of a child in a rural district in New England.

His other story was entitled "Remodeled Corn Barn," which was printed in the Sept. issue of the Pennsylvania Farmer.

The Russell homestead in New Hampshire has been in the family for 175 years. Finally, Dr. Russell inherited the property. Seeing that a store room and game room were needed, he took stock of the situation and decided that the ancient corn shed would be just suitable for this. After exploring the creaking, musty old building, and finding many auction pieces, such as a "surrey with the fringe on top", a mahogany rocker, a home made pine chest of drawers, and many other antiques, the task of cleaning up the old barn was begun. After a week of labor, it was as clean as a whistle. All the shingles were taken off, and new asphaltum shingles put in their place. Rotted sections were repaired and windows put in. White doors and windows were a nice contrast against the green shingles. The doors were left swining on the old leather straps, now painted black. The lower loft was used as a storage room, and the upper loft was made into the game room. Quoits, ping pong, and indoor golf were installed. Favorite hunting pictures were hung on the wall, and an old dining room lamp hung overhead, making a cozy game room.

The Russells realized a dream come true; a century old building, once again in use as a storage building and game room.

Playing for one night under the auspices of The State Teachers College of Bloomsburg, Pennsylvania, at Carver Hall on the evening of October 7, the Hedgerow Theatre of Rose Valley, Pennsylvania will present Moliere's famous comedy, The Imaginary Invalid. Written in the 17th century, Invalid still stands as one of the funniest farces in the theatre history. It tells the story of a pompous, wealthy man reveling in the attention drawn by hypochondria, surrounded by doctors happily cashing in on his malady.

Moliere, like so many other theatrical figures, staged a revolt against family and career to enter the theatre. The passion he showed for the stage was well directed, for his talents as writer, director, and actor soon became evident: he was to reach the eminent position in French theatre as the father of comedy. Moliere ably directed his comedies, as well as playing the principal comedy role. He died in the town of his birth a few hours after playing Argon in the fourth performance of The Imaginary Invalid.

Heading the cast are George Ebling as Argon, The Imaginary Invalid, who can also be seen in the other Hedgerow productions of Nathan The Wise and She Stoops to Conquer, and Miriam Phillips as Toinette his servant, who is also being seen in Six Characters in Search of An Author, and A Highland Fling. The cast of The Imaginary Invalid also features Heanne Grace McHenry as Angelique and Ralph Roseman as Cleante, her lover.

Lutherans Conduct Dinner and Program

Lutheran Student Association held a get-together in social rooms of St. Matthew Lutheran Church on September 14. Pastor and Mrs. Ziegler and Rose Marie Sharretts planned the food and the program.

After a few get-acquainted games were played, new members were cordially welcomed into the fellowship. One of the new members was Assistant Pastor Robert Picking, who recently was appointed to serve in the local church.

New cabinet members selected the following students as chairmen for the next three meetings: Ann Gengenbach, program committee, Carlo Shupp, dining room committee, and Mary Ellen Henning, menu committee. New committees will be chosen in November.

A chicken dinner was prepared and served by the students on September 29. Following a worship service led by Gloria Benner, Ann Gengenbach led a discussion on "Why Am I Here?" "Give Your Faith An Education" will be the topic for the next meeting. On October 20 there will be another regular supper, and a Halloween party.

S.C.A. Holds Party In Navy Auditorium

One of the annual events of Freshman Week is a party sponsored by the Student Christian Association. This year it was held in the Navy Hall Auditorium on Thursday evening, September 11.

As each freshman came, he was given a card on which he printed his name. Then he was asked to find other students whose first or last name began with each of the letters of his own. Having become acquainted with a few of his fellow classmates, everyone present joined a group, each group acting a song title in pantomime. After a few words in which he asked the group to join the Student Christian Association, Gerald Houseknecht presented the faculty members. This was followed by refreshments.

Louise Schullery, president of the organization, had charge of the program with the assistance of Pat Edwards, Alice Fisher, Nancy Gunton, Betty Hoffman, June Lukac, Edgar Nunn, Alice Quick, Jeannette Traver, and Mr. Hinkel, who is the advisor for the group.

Canterbury Club to Visit Eagles Mere

The first fall meeting of the Canterbury Club, an off-campus organization for Episcopal and Greek Orthodox students, was held at St. Paul's parish house Monday evening, September 29.

On World-Wide Communion Day, October 12, the club will attend a corporate communion in the church at 8 a.m. This will be followed by a journey to Eagles Mere for the afternoon. President Robert Hale appointed Burt Carter, Harrison Morson, Alice Fisher, and Carolyn Berdy as a committee in charge of the trip.

This year the group will meet on the first and third Thursday of each month. At the next regular meeting on October 16 they will be guests of Mrs. Dillon, who will display her collection of miniature furniture for them.

New Scholarship Fund Established

"... the greatest step forward in the encouragement of promising youth to enroll or attend Bloomsburg that has been launched since our institution became a college." These are the words of Dr. Harvey A. Andrus in reference to a new comprehensive plan for scholarships and loans to be awarded students at B.S.T.C. The plan has passed the approval of Dr. Andrus, College Council, and the Board of Trustees. Final details are yet to be completed with the directors and Dr. Nelson, Alumni Association President.

The plan enables the drawing of — From one-fourth to one-half of the profits from the operation of the Retail Book Store to be used for scholarships and loans following the same general pattern which now prevails, namely: the Alumni Association shall receive transfers of funds from the Retail Book Store to the Alumni Loan Fund, and administer all loans; scholarships shall be awarded by the faculty committee subject to the approval of the President, and paid directly from the Retail Book Store Fund; if a temporary loan fund to cover loans made and paid within a given semester is necessary, either the Ward Fund, or a similar one, may receive loans from the Retail Book Store Fund; policies already in effect for scholarships and loans shall be continued and operative.

The amount allocated from the profits of the Retail Book Store and its division between loans and scholarships shall be made by a committee composed of the President of the College, Business Manager, and the President of the Alumni Association.

This policy governing the development of a plan for the use of profits from the Retail Book Store for scholarships and loans to students shall be subject to approval by the College Council, the President of the College, the Directors of the Alumni Association, and the Board of Trustees.

It will be necessary for the faculty committee to develop a policy governing the following items, along with others which they may think important such as:
A—Maximum amount of scholarship to be awarded a student in any one year.
B—Maximum amount of scholarships to be received by any one student.
C—Are scholarships to be limited to any one class or classes?
D—The amount of the scholarship, that is to raise the question of whether increases in

Presbyterians Hold Dinner Meeting for B.S.T.C. Students

The Board of Trustees of the Presbyterian Church were hosts to the Knox Fellowship, an off-campus student organization, and faculty members of the church on Monday evening in the dining hall of the First Presbyterian Church in Bloomsburg.

Following the delicious dinner prepared and served by members of the Women's Guild, Alice Quick led a brief worship service. Then each guest introduced himself to the group. President Edgar Nunn presented Mr. White, a representative of the Board of Trustees, Mr. Berger and Mr. and Mrs. Sterling, the advisors for the organization last year, and the Rev. Varre A. Cummins, pastor of the church. The meeting was closed by a solo, "When Jesus Comes," by Phyllis Paige, who was accompanied by Myra Albertson.

Swiftly Speaking

Nancy Unger added a "Mrs." degree to her B.S. when she became the bride of Fred Keiser.

Another lovely bride this summer was Ann Conwell, who said "I do" to Frank Hawk of Forty Fort.

Not to be outdone in the "altar" parade, was "Pat" Kistler, now Mrs. Donald Diseroad of Bloomsburg.

Jack L. Horner of Roaring Springs held Mabel Harris' hand while she cut her wedding cake.

Wedding bells rang for Marlene Wetzel and Cornelius P. Dominick, Jr. of Forty Fort.

Alex Kubick brought us up to date by announcing that Donna Wallace of York had consented to accept the gold ring.

Also among the newlyweds are Anna Austin and Fred Reynolds of Luzerne; Anna M. Petak and Frank Lupashunski; Royal Miller and Adeline Cresswell; Lorraine Utt and Frank Moyer of Ohio; Harriet Sterling and Robert Brendle; Albert Hayes and Letha Lutz of Hemlock Creek; Elizabeth Brooks and Lambert Broad; Alice Jacques and Carl Grimes of Bloomsburg; Aleki D. Comuntzis and George M. Nickles of Trenton, N. J.; and Beverly Ann Cole who became the bride of Lt. R. Leonard German.

Still the list is not complete until we add the names of Anabelle Brobst and George E. Laubach of Bloomsburg; Donald Berninger, who won the hand of Jeanne Ruckle; and Elizabeth J. Crouse, the present Mrs. Robert C. Leedy of Danville.

Leo Yozviak, 1933, was here September 23 with the Science Club of Hanover Township High School. He is teaching Science there. In College he was football captain and guard on the basketball team.

Now for a glance at faculty "doings."

Dr. North was one of fifteen educators to address the National Convention of Teacher Education and Standards at Western Michigan College, Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Miss Macdonald spent the summer traveling in Europe.

Dr. Wagner participated in a two-week tour of duty with the United States Navy.

Mr. Clayton Hinkel was awarded a scholarship for study at the Union Theological Seminary of New York City.

Miss Dorothy Stolp received her degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Louisiana State University.

We've tried to include everything of which we have knowledge, but if some item has been overlooked, it was unintentional and we'll try to let you know about it in a later issue.

Band Will Present "Beverage-Time" at Mansfield Skirmish

Attention! Guide right! Sound off! are popular phrases of the Maroon and Gold Band this year. Everyday the band members practice various musical compositions and plan formations for these numbers.

The officers of the band this year are: Director, Charles Henrie; President, Daniel Fitzpatrick; Vice President, Alex Koharski; Secretary, Evelyn Weaver; Head Drum Majorette, Irene Cichowicz; Student Conductor, Eugene Hummel.

Charles Henrie deserves a great deal of credit for the fine showing the Huskie's band did Saturday night at the Bloomsburg and Wilkes College game. At half time, the band presented a number titled "Sky-Ride". While playing six different musical numbers, the band formed a star, moon, sun, and a rainbow.

For the Homecoming game, the band is working on formations connected with different beverage songs. What selections will be played? Come to the Mansfield and Bloomsburg game on Mount Olympus and see the Maroon and Gold Band do their presentation of "Beverage-Time."

Faculty Acquires Five New Members

at B.S.T.C. Dr. Wilson likes Bloomsburg and says it is "very friendly," being particularly impressed with the sincerity of the students.

Miss Weir

Miss Clara Weir, a native of the neighboring state of New York, received a B.A. degree from the Syracuse University School of Speech, and an M.A. from the Columbia University Teachers College. She also holds a lip reading certificate from the Syracuse School of Lip Reading.

Miss Weir has taught in New York public and private schools and has had pupils from two to seventy-two years of age. She spent six years at Ithaca College doing teacher training in speech on the secondary level, also teaching in the theater and radio school.

Recording voices from different parts of the world is an interesting hobby of Miss Weir. She has traveled in seven European countries, and in the south and eastern seaboard of the United States. Someday she would like to travel in the West.

At the present time she is teaching speech pathology, speech problems, phonetics, clinic, and public speaking here at the college. Miss Weir is pleased with the good work of her predecessors and "impressed with the degree of self-control and politeness in class."

Mr. Edwin M. Barton, instructor in the social studies field, and formerly an instructor in extension classes and interim instructor during the absence of Dr. Herre, has again joined the faculty at B.S.T.C.

A graduate of Trinity College, Mr. Barton obtained his Master Degree from Columbia Teachers College in New York City, taking graduate work at the University of Minnesota, and at New York University. He has taught in Elizabeth, New Jersey, Locust Township, Millville; Trinity Chapel, New York; Meriden, Connecticut; Brooklyn, New York; and Minneapolis, Minnesota. A co-author of a widely used textbook on civics, he has also contributed to national educational and historical journals.

An addition to the faculty of the Benjamin Franklin Training School is Mr. Warren Johnson, originally from Bangor, Penna. Mr. Johnson obtained a B.S. degree in music at West Chester State Teachers College, then a B.S. degree in elementary education at Millersville State Teachers College, and last summer completed an M.S. degree at Penn State. World War II interrupted Mr. Johnson's education for several years, spending some time with the armored infantry in the European Theatre of Operations. He has had extensive training in the elementary field; his last position that of an elementary school principal, Columbia, Penna.

When asked his opinion of his sixth grade students, Mr. Johnson replied he thought their reactions to study and school work were average. Although he has observed few television sets in this area, almost all of his students have seen television or know what it is, indication that they travel quite a bit which, he feels, is above average. He is very pleased with the cheerful cooperation and general attitude of helpfulness he has encountered here both in the faculty and students.

Robert St. John, and Charles Laughton, who insisted on drying dishes. Ogden Nash not only wiped dishes but composed poems for the Abells at the same time. During his stay William Warfield baked a cake for his hosts. Among their treasured possessions are thanks from the White House after Margaret Truman appeared at the University.

In addition to entertaining celebrities, Mrs. Abell is President of the Bowling Green Alumnae Club and has taught freshman composition and business English. The Abells are parents of two daughters.

College Council

Manufacturer's Convention in New York City, a committee under the chairmanship of Henry Marini was appointed to select a worthy member of the Junior Class. Serving with Mr. Marini were Joseph Feifer, Elaine Gunther, and Deans Hoch and MacDonald. A report of the committee was given at the second meeting of the council, and the name of the junior recommended was referred to Dr. Andruss for his approval.

Mildred Wrzesniewski was appointed by Mr. Cunfer as assistant secretary to Judith Fry.

Requests for additional funds have been presented by Mr. Henrie and Dean Hoch on grounds that the band has more women than heretofore and needs more instruments, and that the football team needs smaller sizes in equipment and new plastic helmets.

The second (a special) meeting of council dealt in main with the passing of a council budget and the hearing of the class ring committee report.

strong fullbacks to hit the line. Our quarterbacks will call the plays tomorrow afternoon, so come on and be a strong eleven and really push 'em way back.

If you have attended any high school games this year, you have more than likely noticed a big difference in spirit from that displayed here at Bloom.

Come on B.S.T.C.'ers, make it a day—throw confetti, wear streamers of maroon and gold; but most of all, be an outstanding player on the cheering team.
