

Mr. Chatterjee Studies Teaching Methods at BSTC

Bloomsburg State Teachers College is extremely fortunate to have on campus Mr. Nirmal Chandra Chatterjee, a professor of education at Visva-Bharati University in Santiniketan, India. A Fulbright Scholar on a six months' visit to the United States, Mr. Chatterjee is making a first hand study of teacher training methods practiced in this country. He is studying the new teaching techniques adopted in American secondary schools, and he will observe especially the classes of teachers-in-service and B.S.T.C. students in their practice teaching. He is also interested in the methods used in the Special Education class at the Benjamin Franklin Laboratory School and in the Speech and Hearing Clinic.

Mr. Chatterjee arrived at BSTC on Sunday, March 8, and will remain here for approximately two weeks. He had previously spent two weeks on the campus at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, and upon leaving Bloomsburg, he will go to Kansas.

This week Mr. Chatterjee's agenda included the special education class, various college classes, College Council, and Sigma Alpha Eta.

The first impression Mr. Chatterjee had of B.S.T.C. after arriving from Stroudsburg was that we have such a beautiful campus location. He is very much impressed with our community life in general, and he finds the student and faculty relationship to be very favorable.

Professor Chatterjee received his formal education in Santiniketan before going to Calcutta University to earn his M.A. in English. He then attended a

Spelling Bee Held At Bus. Ed. Club

The semi-monthly meeting of the Business Education Club was held March 4, at 3:00 p.m. in Navy Hall Auditorium. The meeting was called to order by the vice-president, Pat O'Loughlin. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by secretary, Sherrill Hiller. The treasurer's report was given by the club treasurer, Don Carey.

The vice-president reminded the members that allocation blanks could be secured in the bookstore and should be filled in and returned to the Business Office as soon as possible.

Planning was continued for the annual banquet. The menu for the occasion was discussed and the group will have turkey with all the trimmings. This banquet will be held at the Moose Club.

A meeting was called for the chairmen of all banquet committees. This meeting will be held in Room 24 of Navy Hall on March 15, 1954 at 4:00 p.m.

After the business meeting, the program was turned over to George Derk and Connie Ozalas. The program was in the form of a spelling bee. Words given were some of the more troublesome in the English language.

The following people were selected to participate in the contest: Ed Siscoe, Don Carey, Pat Gianguillo, Larry Fiber, and Bill Sargus; Marlene Gobster, Jo Hester, Ann Dixon, Yvonne Kistler, and Jeannetta Mincer. Ann Dixon emerged as the winner after "spelling down" all her opponents.

Science Club May Purchase New Trees

The program topic of the Science Club meeting held on February 25 was "Soil Conservation." A talk was given on this subject by Robert Blyler, a member of the club, following which a short film, "Erosion," was shown. A short discussion followed.

The question of allocations for club dues was introduced, and it was explained that only members who had belonged to the Science Club last semester were entitled to make allocations this semester. New members must pay their dues directly.

It was decided that a recommendation be sent to President Andrus concerning the purchase of California redwood trees to be placed on the campus.

A committee was appointed by the president, Oren Baker, for the purpose of planning the club outing. Those appointed were Joe Kessler, chairman; Rita Gydosh, Rosa Ronald, Anne Swortwood, Joe Shemanski, and John Anderson.

Rounseville To Present Program At Music Affair

On March 29 the Civic Music Association will present Robert Rounseville as tenor soloist. The program will feature "Lungi dal caro bene" by Giuseppe Sarti; "Man Is for the Woman Made," "Preach Not Me Your Must Rules," "Die Forelle," "Fruehlingstraum," "The Plow Boy," "I Wander," "The Erie Canal," and "The Deaf Old Woman."

Although Rounseville was born of a musical family, he grew up with the intention of studying medicine. It soon became apparent, however, that he was headed for a brilliant singing career. After the usual period of waiting, studying, and hoping, Rounseville was "discovered" by Laszlo Halasz, then director of the New York City Opera. The following year Rounseville was one of the leading tenors for the company. In 1950 he was chosen by Sir Thomas Beecham, conductor of the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra, to sing and act the leading role of Hoffman in Tales of Hoffman. Following the opening of the same film at the Metropolitan Opera House, opera-goers heard and saw him score more triumphs in Stravinsky's Rake's Progress in Venice, and David Tamkin's The Dybbuk at the New York City Center.

Since that time Mr. Rounseville has appeared in new productions as well as in the familiar repertory, as guest artist with opera companies throughout the United States, in concert and recital, and as soloist in oratorio. This year he is featured on the Bill Rose production of Orpheus in the Underworld at the Ziegfeld Theatre. His schedule also includes frequent guest appearances on radio and television programs such as "Voice of Firestone."

Mr. Rounseville's swift leap to simultaneous movie, concert, and operatic stardom is one of the music world's most dramatic success stories. He credits his dramatic flair to years of acting and singing in New York revues and Broadway shows.

Speech Fraternity Features New Film

The March meeting of Sigma Alpha Eta was held on March 9, at 7:00 p.m. in the Audio-Visual Aids Room. Following the regular business meeting, presided over by Mary Ruth Dreibelbis, a film entitled, "Action Pictures of Sound" was shown to those present. Bob Lyons and Gloria Benner were in charge of refreshments for the meeting.

Mr. Nirmal Chandra Chatterjee, Professor of Education at Visva Bharati University at Santiniketan, India, who is visiting our campus, was a guest.

The exhibit held on February 24 for the members of the Columbia County Parents of Retarded Children was a complete success. Much credit for this success goes to the committee members who worked on this project under the able direction of the committee chairman, Bob Lyons. The exhibit was (Continued on page 3)

Noel Coward Play Will Be Presented By Dramatic Club

On April 6, 1954, the Dramatic Club will present the sparkling Noel Coward comedy, "Blithe Spirit." The play, an impossible farce, concerns itself with the experiences of an author, Charles Condoman, portrayed by Bill Ottaviani, who finds himself in rather an unusual predicament due to his dealings with a spiritual medium, Madame Arcati, played by Jean Robison. It seems that in seeking material for a story Charles tries to use Madame Arcati for background material. He plans a seance to which he invites Dr. Bradman, played by Jim Luchs, and the doctor's wife, played by Wylla Bowman. The author's deceased wife, Elvira, is played by Avery Williams. Joan Curilla acts the part of his present wife, Ruth, and Joanne Graeber takes the part of Edith, the maid.

Mr. Condoman's dealings with the spiritual world on the "Other Side" seems to backfire and land him in a most unhappy situation. Complications set in and the play's witty dialogue carries the audience to a mirthful, somewhat incredible conclusion.

Noel Coward, the playwright, is firmly established as a versatile and extremely talented personality not only in the field of writing, but also in acting and other phases of stagecraft. A native of England, he has had extensive experience in his various lines of endeavor, and his work has for years delighted countless audiences. This particular play is a sophisticated and suave comedy which is notable for its entertainment value.

Ex-Flier Speaks To Aviation Club

One of the most interesting talks ever given to Aviation Club members was heard at the February 25 meeting when former Air Force First Lieutenant Earle Fetteroff spoke about his many experiences.

A native of Philadelphia, Earle entered the Air Force during World War II and took his schooling at the College Training Detachment at Penn State. At the war's end, Earle was released from active duty and entered the active reserves. It was from his reserve unit that Earle was called to active duty during the Korean War.

While navigating such popular skybirds as B-24 Liberators, B-17 Flying Fortresses, B-25 Mitchells, and C-47 Gooney Birds during the two wars, Earle saw much of the world. He flew over the Atlantic Ocean and the Mediterranean and North Seas, Spain, England, France, Germany, North Africa and Gibraltar. His last duty station was with the 80th Air Depot Wing at the Nouasseur Air Base, Casablanca, North Africa. Earle is now a member of Air Reserve Squadron 9548, Pennsylvania Division, Flight C, Bloomsburg.

Earle is now a member of the student body. He is enrolled in the business curriculum. A day student, Earle now lives in Bloomsburg with his wife.

Dr. North Will Celebrate Twenty-fifth Anniversary

"Hi, Dr. North."

This greeting, in the opinion of Dr. Thomas P. North, exemplifies the friendliness and close family-like relationship that is the "real spirit of B.S.T.C."

In reviewing his twenty-five years at Bloomsburg, this popular Dean of Instruction continues, "At B.S.T.C. this friendly, cooperative relationship replaces the cold atmosphere of individualism that pervades most of the American colleges I have visited."

Piper Wins Legion Oratorical Contest

On Tuesday, March 9, 1954, the annual American Legion Oratorical Contest was held in Carver Hall during assembly. This contest is sponsored by the National

To Dean North this spirit which has been developed among the students, the faculty, the administration, and the service staff constitutes the real way of life at the "friendly college on the hill."

Born in 1893 in Punxsutawney, Pennsylvania, Dr. North received his bachelor's degree from Pennsylvania State University in 1917, and his master's degree from the same institution in 1927. During this intervening period, Dr. North began his teaching career as a science teacher and was one of the commonwealth's first teachers of vocational agriculture under the provision of the Smith-Hughes Act. In 1919 he became the supervising principal of a consolidated school in Jefferson County. It was in this capacity that he recognized the need for properly prepared teachers—especially for the elementary field. In viewing the rise of vocational education to its present height, Dr. North feels that his most rewarding and valuable work was done in this capacity as a public school teacher in the vocational field.

Also during this ten-year intervention, Dr. North served in the army during World War I for a short time before returning to Penn State University. In his desire for further education, he wasted no time in obtaining his Doctor's of Philosophy degree from Cornell University in 1929. Immediately after his graduation, he replaced Prof. Oscar Hugh Bakeless on the B.S.T.C. faculty and is celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of his arrival at the "friendly college" this year.

One of Dr. North's first actions was to establish a calendar of events for the entire college, as there was no existing calendar at that time. The vastly improved system of scheduling now in effect has resulted from the success of this project.

Until 1941, Dr. North's skills were utilized in the teaching field, particularly in the course in Introduction to Education, now designated as Professional Orientation on the 1954 schedule cards. He also developed a popular course, History and Philosophy of Ed. with four semester hours credit.

Since 1941 Dr. North has devoted his time and efforts to improving the standards and ideals of B.S.T.C. as its Dean of Instruction. In putting himself in the place of the student who comes to him for aid, Dean North has directed countless young people in their selection of curriculum and individual courses.

In Dr. North's twenty-five enjoyable and profitable years on the B.S.T.C. faculty, he places high on his list of "greats" his small part in the development of students' responsibility and their more mature mental outlook. This increased interest is apparent not only in the Community Government Association, but also in the student participation in various committees and organizations on campus.

Another of the most notable improvements on our campus during the past quarter century, to Dean North, has been the progressively higher quality of students who both enter and graduate from Bloomsburg State Teachers College. In his own words, "This higher standard is especially gratifying to the administration."

Americanism Commission and the American Legion Americanism Committee. The winner of this contest will go to Penn State on March 19. The winner of regional contest will go to the national finals on March 29.

The participants in Tuesday's contest were Robert Womer, of South Lebanon High School, who spoke on "The Constitution—Worth Having and Worth Defending"; Joyce Schmelzlen, of Altoona High School, who spoke on "The Constitution—Ordained by Free Men, Sustained by Free Men"; and John Piper, of Williamsport High School, whose address was entitled "Life Is Worth Living Under the Constitution". The winner was John Piper.

The participants were introduced by A. C. Morgan, an alumnus of B.S.T.C., and a history teacher in Berwick High School. The judges were Herbert Cobley, associate superintendent of the Bloomsburg School District; Rabbi Gabriel Maza, of Bloomsburg, Beth Israel Synagogue; Attorney William Beckley, of Bloomsburg; Dr. Ralph Herre, and Mr. Floyd Buckingham, faculty members. These men judged the contestants not only on their speeches, but also on presentation and time required for delivery. For the prepared speeches, not less than 10 or more than 12 minutes were allowed. For the extemporaneous addresses not less than 4 or more than 6 minutes were allowed. The subject of the extemporaneous part of the address was the clause of the Constitution concerning the taxing powers of the Congress. The subject of the oration must be on some phase of the Constitution of the United States emphasizing duties and obligations of a citizen.

The rules and regulations of the contest are set up by the National Americanism Commission and are uniform throughout the United States. The national winner receives $4,000; second place winner, $2,500; third place winner, $1,000; and last place winner $500. The Pennsylvania winner receives the Gubernatorial Scholarship.

Dr. Kehr Elected To National Post

Dr. Marguerite W. Kehr, former Dean of Women at Bloomsburg State Teachers College, has been elected a member of the National Advisory Board of the United States National Students' Association. James M. Edwards, president of the association, extended the invitation to Dean Kehr to serve as a member of the board following the unanimous vote of the National Executive Committee.

Members of the National Advisory Board receive all materials prepared by the association and meet on occasion to review the programs and policies of the group. The board also serves as an advisory group in helping to plan the activities of the association.

Dr. Kehr, who retired in June, 1953, after serving as a member of the faculty and Dean of Women at Bloomsburg for a period of twenty-five years, is living in Washington, D. C.

One of the most important committees on campus is the Election Board. It is the duty of this organization to supervise and conduct all C.G.A., class, day students, and dorm men's elections. PACE SETTERS

By Joan Curilla

Cheers! Cheers! I've finally learned my lesson. I'll never, no never, write poetry again! After the way my last little quatrain was mangled in the last issue, I'll — well — I'll — oh, Bosh!

Where were we? Oh, Pace Setters — Let's see, who's coming in first today? Ah yes, Gloria Benner was doing a fast canter down the hall in a pair of soft grey suede and tan leather flats. They looked sooooo comfortable. Most unbecoming for a horse, but perfect for a coed.

There really are quite a few clothes horses galloping over campus. My trouble comes in trying to keep up to them without exerting myself. Take Cootsie Teeter, for example. She went whizzing by so fast in her brown and black horizontally striped wool dress that I thought she was a zebra. After tripping her on her third round, I found that it was Cootsie and that the dress had a high jewelry neckline and stand-out hip pockets. I know, I know, zebras are black and white; but I can safely stand under "poet's license."

Then there was Ann Dixon in a warm melon wool trimmed at the sleeves and neck with greyish-beige. The same trimming encircled the tiny waist, then again above and below it.

June Lukac wore a silk crepe blouse of candlelight beige with a dark brown woolen skirt. Tucked under the Peter Pan collar was a tiny sparkling necklace. Simple but delightful to see.

Back in the stables (women's dorm, to you) I found many lovely sights, but the most prepossessing of these was Judy Steven's brown wool dress. The skirt is banded with light brown and tan . . . the simple bodice boasts dolman sleeves and a tiny white pique collar.

Leading the stag line is "Crusher" Conner, again. Did you see his new spring jacket of black-weave wool? It's unlined and accented with white pearl buttons. "Crush" wears smoke grey trousers and a black and white horizontally striped knit tie to complete the sporty outfit. Take a prize in the "first!"

Jack Healy hit the "Books" in a beautiful turtle-neck sweater of heavy white wool. He, too, chose light grey trousers to achieve that suave appearance.

Frank Andrews wants his name in the solumn so here it is . . . He claims he's running for C.G.A. president. It's really awful how people haunt you.

Who's that cavorting in the lounge? Oh, it's only Chiskey in his new suit. He told me it was the first one he bought in 45 years and I didn't even notice it. Well . . . I noticed!!! It's brown and white and blue tiny checks (said in a sing-songy voice.)

I guess that's enough horsing around for a while; a little caretaker is calling so I'd better go hit the feed-bag. See you in the corral with the next round-up.

course at David Hare Training College and received his degree as a trained teacher in First Class. His practical experience as a teacher includes service on the staff of Scindia Public Schools at Gwalior where he worked under the well-known educationalist, Mr. F. G. Pearce, and at Santiniketan where he has worked since 1938. Besides his job as lecturer in the Teacher's Training College attached to Visva-Bharati University, Professor Chatterjee is a member of the university's Board of Studies for Education, English, and Modern Indian Languages.

Special interests of Mr. Chatterjee include literature and art. He is very well-known in the literary world of Bengal both as a scholar of merit and as a writer of distinction. He has to his credit considerable research in Bengali literature and had helped to edit Tagore's writings. His artistic specialties lie in the use of water colors and in decorative designing.

The university to which Professor Chatterjee belongs was founded by Dr. Raleindranath Tagore, the world renowned poet of India who was awarded the Nobel Prize for Literature in 1913. The University of Visva-Bharati is non-sectarian, co-educational and international in its character and outlook. Mahatma Gandhi frequently visited her and called it his "second home."

education. Years ago, the emphasis in teacher preparation was placed on methods courses. Then the pendulum swung to the other extreme. Today we have a more balanced program. Dr. North believes that the answer lies in the integration of methods and content and has organized many courses on this basis. He has also stressed the importance of in-service preparation for teachers in the Bloomsburg service area and has been responsible for setting up extension courses both on the campus and in neighboring cities.

With the centralization of the administrative offices on the first floor of Carver Hall, Dr. North believes we will be able to increase our service to the students and alumni of B.S.T.C. With a more efficient arrangement in the Dean's office, it is now possible for the office personnel to examine and evaluate the credentials of all graduates and students. Matters pertaining to instruction and accreditation are expedited through progressive methods of organization in Dean North's new offices.

Dr. North has devoted himself to the cause of teacher education and teaching as a profession. He has been an indefatigable worker in both the Pennsylvania State Education Association and the National Education Association, has held membership on the following committees of the Pennsylvania State Education Association: Vice President and President of Higher Education, member of Executive Council, first chairman of the Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards. Presently he is member of the advisory committee to the State Council of Education and acts in all advisory capacity to the National Commission on Teacher Education. Dr. North has served as a consultant on teacher education on the national level from U. of New Hampshire to Stanford U. and had the honor to represent Pennsylvania at the Clinic on education for the State of Michigan.

Concerning the personal side of this well-liked administrative staff member, Dean North is the father of three children. Thomas, Jr., is a graduate of Pennsylvania State University and the present editor of the Potsdam, New York, newspaper in the Frank Gannett chain. Dr. North's daughter, Margery, teaches first grade in the Bradford, Pennsylvania, school system, while his son David is following in his father's footsteps by working toward his doctorate degree after receiving his bachelor and master's awards from Pennsylvania State University. David North has also been nominated as a research worker for the Atomic Energy Commission.

Interior decorating is a favorite pastime of Dr. Thomas North. He recently decorated his lovely home on the outskirts of Bloomsburg with the aid of his charming wife. Painting, refinishing, upholstering, and splitting logs on his three acres of land are Dr. North's chief relaxing activities for relieving the nervous tension built up in a hectic day as Dean of Instruction at the Bloomsburg State Teachers College.

Cookie Queen

An outstanding example of the importance of grade school extra-curricular activities is Sara Thomas, an eleven year old pupil at the Benjamin Franklin Laboratory School. Sara's entry in the Pennsylvania Farm Show cookie baking contest won the Sweepstakes Prize and a nominal award for this energetic sixth grader.

Her chocolate drop cookies were chosen as the most delicious from a group of sixty-three entries from the Eastern Region of the state.

Sara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Thomas of Frosty Valley, Danville R. D. #4. Her youngest sister Judy, eight years old, is now in the third grade at the Laboratory School, while her thirteen-year old sister Marianne is a seventh grade student at Bloomsburg High School and also a former Benjamin Franklin pupil.

Sara likes to bake and cook, and has been doing so for over two years. The prize-winning recipe is an old family one which she learned by helping her mother bake these "mix them yourself" cookies.

Waller Hall News

Do you find yourself counting the days until Easter Vacation? Maybe it's the brief preview to the glorious spring weather that we've been having that accounts for our coeds dusting off their tennis rackets. The Waller Hall girls unanimously agree that it's hard to keep your mind on work at this time of the year.

"Anyone for pinochle?" This is the cry that has Betty Carvolth, Al Hermany, Nancy Homsher, and Joyce Kline dropping their Econ books (shades of Dr. Hallisy!) for a relaxing game of cards. Believe me, they're really good players.

According to a few of our coeds who stayed at B.S.T.C. last week-end, our dorm was really quiet and a good place for getting that extra homework done (or, that much-needed shut-eye!) But some of our damsels went visiting last week-end. Ishie Deibert went to Shenandoah and after the booming metropolis of Danville, her only comment was, "Gee, I really do live in a big city!" On the other hand, Muriel Neilson fell in love with bustling Scranton and is seriously thinking of deserting Shavertown!

Scissors are really snipping lately. The results: just look around at the tresses of our dorm girls. Short hair is definitely in vogue. Our coeds know that short hair is easier to manage and perfect for the warmer weather that we hope will soon be here.

Is there extra pie or ice cream at your dinner table, fellows? These extra sweets are not being passed up because of dieting, but rather the strong will power of our girls who are giving up these desserts during the Lenten period.

It may happen to you . . . Ros Verona and Theo Jones were locked out of their room the other day, but it seemed that neither one of them locked the door or had a key. A case for Jack Webb? The solution turned up in the form of a workman who, in replacing a burned-out light bulb, had accidentally locked the door!

Record-Breaker

Joe Ondrula

JUMPIN' JOE

The scene is the gymnasium of the Lock Haven State Teachers College. Excitement charges the air. The yelling throng moves to the edge of its seat, as the hand of the clock speeds past the minute mark. The scoreboard reads: Lock Haven 69—Bloom 69. Bloom gains possession of the ball, and the teams move swiftly to the far end of the court. Suddenly, the ball whizzes from the outside and sinks into the basket, just as the buzzer sounds signaling the end of the game. Ondrula did it again!

Joe Ondrula is a familiar name to the basketball fans of B.S.T.C. and the entire region. Throughout his career, Joe has been the bulwark of the team—the hope of both fans and coach. He has never left them down.

Joe typifies the average basketball player with his tall, slender frame and large, powerful hands. Ever since his birth 23 years ago in Johnstown, Pennsylvania, he has lived and breathed basketball. While still in grade school, he played and practiced tirelessly, hoping to make the team when he reached high school.

All that practice must have helped, because he did make the team of Johnstown Catholic High School. In his senior year he was captain of the team and the leading scorer. He was also named to the All-District team.

After leaving high school, he entered St. Francis College where he played on the freshman squad. The next year he transferred to Bloomburg and has played for the past three years under Coach Harold Shelly.

Last year Joe was honored by being named to the All State Conference Roster for 1952-1953.

During the past season, this Shellyman attained the individual scoring record of the team with 32 points against Scranton University. In the last game of his college career, however, he did even better, breaking his own record and establishing a new one with 34 points against Cheyney State Teachers College. In this farewell bow, he ended a successful career with one more success.

Unlike many other athletes, Joe is not all brawn and no brain. He is a better than average student in his field of Spanish and social studies.

What will happen to Joe after leaving Bloomburg? Like so many others, he will enter the service of our country. While in the army, he hopes to play on the camp basketball team, if it is possible.

In the future, he hopes to be able to turn professional for a few years. His ultimate goal, however, is to teach and coach in some high school. Maybe he can inspire some other boys with his love for the sport and mold future stars.

Annual Sales Rally

The eighth annual sales rally, the only one of its kind in the country sponsored by a college, was held in Carver Auditorium on March 4. Two nationally-known speakers were responsible for the success of the rally.

Les Giblin, dynamic young sales personality, conducts the famous Les Giblin Clinic, which is one of the finest sales-training programs in the nation. Jennings Randolph, assistant to the president of Capital Airlines, is also hailed as one of the most dynamic platform speakers in the country. A former congressman from West Virginia, Randolph is a nationally-known executive, author, and businessman.

Charles C. Henrie was in charge of the event.

Court Thriller Lost by Huskies

A jam-packed Centennial Gym saw Lycoming come from behind to jolt the Huskies in the last second, 69-67. It was a hotly-contested game throughout with Bloom in the lead most of the way. In the last period the lead changed hands on almost every shot, but the visitors were able to get the last shot in, thereby winning the game.

The entire first quarter was a seesaw battle with the score knotted at 5-5 and 8-8. Bloom, however, led at the end of the period by a 22-21 score. The Shellymen built up a slim lead in the second ten minutes by controlling both banking boards. The Ellporters' big gun, Vince Leta, was able to make only three shots from the field during the contest, although he ended up with 15 points. His poor showing can be contributed to the superb guarding of Sam Belle and Larry Bush who took over the chore after Sam left the game on personal fouls. Leta scored only one field goal in ten tries while Sam was watching him.

The third period was a repetition of the first two. It was during this period that Lycoming tied the count, but the Huskies led at the end of the quarter, 53-52.

In individual scoring it was again "Jittery Joe" Ondrula showing the way with '6 counters to his credit. He was followed by "Moe" Morson, who played a top-notch game both on the floor and in rebounding, with 13. Lenny Kozick and Jerry Kopec also hit double figures with 12 and 10 respectively.

As the final period progressed, the pressure became greater and the fans more excited. The score was knotted six times in the ten minutes of playing time. With two minutes to go, the Warriors called time out to plan their strategy, which was to freeze the ball until the last second and then shoot that one shot that would win the game. The Huskies tried desperately to regain possession of the ball but to no avail. With 20 seconds to go, Joe Wilson tried a shot from the left corner. He missed and there was a mad scramble for the ball. A Lycoming player recovered it and threw it up again, and again the ball bounced off the boards into the outstretched arms of a host of players. In, out, and around it bounced with Bob Zaremba finally finding the handle. He was in the key just in front of the basket, and with a quick jump he eluded the onrushing Huskies and dropped the ball through the hoop, scoring the winning basket as the game-ending buzzer sounded. The Warriors went wild with joy as they carried Zaremba from the floor.

In the preliminary game, the Husky pups defeated the Little Warriors 87-72. Keith Weiser was high man for the third consecutive game with 25 points. In his last two outings, the "Weezer" scored 19 and 30 points respectively. Keith, along with Ed Shustack, Terry Zachowski, Bob Evans, Elmer Robinson, and Charlie Skiptunas should help Coach Shelly considerably in molding next season's team.

Husky Courtmen End Season With Decisive Victory

The Bloomburg State Teachers Cagers concluded the 1953-54 basketball season with a win over visiting Cheyney State Teachers by an 89-64 score. All-State Joe Ondrula and Jerry Kopec brought their splendid basketball careers to a close with Ondrula hitting high for the Huskies and the night for 34 points, and Kopec exhibiting excellent floorwork and team-play. Bowman was high man with 19, and Lonesome adding his 15 to the Cheyney cause.

The game jumped off to a scoring spree. Both teams hit from the pivot slot on excellent jumps. Parker and Bowman (both over 6'5") were dunking buckets from all angles. Only a freshman, Parker will be a threat to all clubs in the next couple of seasons. He fakes and shoots with the ease of a professional.

Half-time score was 41 to 22. Fred Betz played some fine ball in that he hit for 15 points in less than three quarters. Len Kozick played his usually good game with 9 points and many timely rebounds. Len is another boy to watch; he will be put up for All-State mention without a doubt. The Dallas hoopster is number eleven to date in the individual scoring ranks of the State Teachers Conference.

The game was one of lots of points, especially the last quarter when Bloom had 63 and Cheyney 50. The four percentages were pretty fair with B.S.T.C. shooting 20 of 23 and Cheyney 19 for 28. Set shots were the main device used by the conquering Huskies. Fred Betz's artillery hit the target quite a few times. The Cheyney weakness was their frontmen, for they only scored 11 between them.

This win gives the Huskies a 9 and 7 record compared to the 11 and 5 of last year's State Teachers Champions. Millersville went undefeated and captured the crown. They seem to want to keep it too, because no first-stringer is graduating this year. Next year promises to be better. Although we will lose two starters, the Husky team will present a veteran five next year.

Mansfield Teachers Subdue Shellymen

The Bloomburg State Teachers College Huskies fell prey to Coach Eddie Rusin's Mansfield Mountaineers by the score of 74-63 on February 27 at Mansfield. The loss was the Huskies' seventh of the season against eight wins; however, it also means that the Huskies have dropped six out of their last seven ball games.

Mansfield took the lead right after the opening tap-off and never turned it over to the visiting Shellymen at any time during the, for the most part, one-sided game. Bloomburg lost three players on personals and another was ejected for free swinging.

Dave Williams led the Mansfield scoring with thirty-two points. When Williams played here at Bloomburg he was held to six. Fred Betz was high for the College Hill lads with fourteen. He was the only Husky to make double figures. Len Kozick fouled out early in the fourth quarter and was held for the first time this season below double figures. He had nine points.

Big Joe Lincosky proved to be a thorn in the side of the locals, as he dropped in 19 and aided the Mountaineers' greatly with sensational rebounding on both offensive and defensive boards.

Victory was sweet for Mansfield, because it was the first time an Eddie Rusin-coached team has ever beaten Bloomburg in any sport. Rusin has been at Mansfield for two years. He coaches football, basketball, and baseball.

Kozick was ejected from the game on personals, along with Fred Betz and Bob Evans. Joe Ondrula and a Mansfield player were also thumbed with about a minute to go in the game for attempted fistcuffs.

This victory was only the fourth of the season for Mansfield against 12 defeats.

"Sedentary work," said the college lecturer, "tends to lessen the endurance."

"In other words," butted in the smart student, "the more one sits the less one can stand."

"Exactly," retorted the lecturer; "and if one lies a great deal one's standing is lost completely."

Two-Sport Man

Jerry Kopec

JAUNTY JERRY

Jerry Kopec, one of Coach Shelly's starting guards, graduated from Forty Fort High School in 1950. While attending Forty Fort he won varsity letters in football (2), basketball (4), and Track (4). Jerry's favorite sport is basketball and he was named to the All-Scholastic Wyoming Valley team in his senior year in high school. Jerry was also district champion in the 220 yard dash in 1950.

Here at Bloomburg, Jerry has won two letters in basketball and three in track. Besides running the 220, Jerry participates in the 100 yard dash and also broad jumps.

One of his most enjoyable and self-satisfying moments in sports was during this year's Lock Haven game when he snared ten rebounds against much taller opposition. The greatest number of points Jerry scored in a game was 64 while he was a sophomore at Forty Fort in a game against Kingston Twp. His highest for Bloomburg was 22, scored this year at Cheyney. As you know you don't always win in sports and Jerry's most heart-breaking experience was the 69-67 defeat by Lycoming in Centennial Gym just a few weeks ago. Jerry was captain that night and he argued long after the game had ended that the Lycoming goal, scored as the final buzzer sounded, was not good.

When asked about next year's team Jerry said, "We should have a good club next year." He thought that, "Freddie Betz and Lenny Kozick should be the standouts of the team." This year's track team wouldn't be too good he thought. "Too many weak spots and not enough interest in the sport" were his reasons for the prediction. Jerry thinks that the basketball schedule is too small to benefit the team. He said "There should be at least 21 games." He also favors more difficult opposition to improve the team. When asked his reasons for this year's slump after the beginning of the second semester he stated that, "too many vacations and off and on ball playing" were the cause.

In the Invitational Tournament now in progress, Jerry picks White Haven in Class C, St. Edwards of Shamokin in Class B, and Palmerton in Class A.

After graduation in June, Jerry said he will probably be drafted into the Army. But following his discharge he wants to teach in a Class B school. He said that he would like to coach any of the three sports in which he has participated. He would also like to try his hand in professional basketball if possible. He wants to keep playing the game as long and as much as he can.

Jerry majored in Spanish and English and did his student teaching at Bloomburg High School. He enjoyed his four years at Bloom and said, "they were very profitable for him." His activities around campus include being a member of the F.T.A., Phi Sigma Pi honor fraternity, Varsity Club, and the Basketball Tournament Committee.

When asked about marriage Jerry commented that, "he plans to get married sometime in the future," but he would reveal no other information.

We know that we will miss Jerry here on campus and also that Coach Shelly will miss him on the basketball court as well as on the cinder path. He has been a great asset to the teams and it will be hard to find someone to take his place. We wish you all the luck and success in the world, Jerry, and hope that you make out in the world as well as you did here at the Friendly College.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

By Dick Eddler

"Have to give th' ole boy credit for tryin' to pep a mighty dull course."

Under-Currents

by Arnie Garinger

This may come to be the shortest column on record. Less goes on here in a week than in Mexico at siesta time. Why doesn't somebody do something exciting to give U.C. a chance to tell the truth once in a while. We should run a "shoot your roommate week," and then I could turn undercurrents into an obituary column. Anything for some excitement.

Coming up soon are the C.G.A. elections when you pick the guy you want to represent you next year. Maybe some people think the C.G.A. doesn't accomplish anything but they do all right, so when you choose someone, remember the job they're going to have and try to get someone capable.

If you have any spare time, go up and see the high school tournament games. About four games in the first two nights were decided by one point and one was an overtime, which shows the time and effort used in picking these teams. Those kids are really Gung-Ho. Every once in a while all ten players are rolling on the floor after a loose ball, so if you want excitement and a few laughs, you can't lose for 30 pesos.

Poor Hal Coakley almost missed the last basketball game with Cheyney. He made a date with a real cute girl, told her what time he'd meet her, and everything was set. At the appointed time, he went to the lobby and waited. Meanwhile, she went to the Dean of Women's Office and waited and waited. (You understand, Mr. Yohe, he didn't go where he wasn't allowed.) Finally, someone told each of them where the other was and everything came out fine.

Anyone over 20 years of age could get up in assembly and make the greatest speech possible on the Constitution and still everyone would go to sleep. Boy, is it different when high school students are competing against each other for $4,000 worth of education. Those kids must really work hard to be as good as they are. It was really a shame that they couldn't all win.

I guess I could never do a column without putting "the Punch" in. Mainly because he's one of the few people around here that funny things happen to. Anyway, at noon he was sitting across the desk from me in Cumen's room. Suddenly there was a terrible crunch and he disappeared from view. There he sat on the floor, with the remnants of the chair around him. This did put an end to a 3-year-old argument. Panichello is fatter than Cumens.

It was nice to hear music drifting from (as our Prof. calls it) the Little Red School House Friday night. Folks have been restless week-ends since the days of Lee Vincent.

To the basketball team. Congratulations on a good season. We won more than we lost, and you never made us ashamed of you. Shucks, Millersville only scored one T.D. all football season; if they didn't win something they might get a complex. To Jittery Joe and Jerry, we'll miss you all. Gee, I hope if your scoring record ever must be broken, I hope someone does it to beat Millersville.

Be jeepers. I couldn't think of anything else to write if my life depended on it (it does), so I guess the only thing to do is stop mumbbling on about how dead it is around here and hand in this terrible piece of nothing. Let me leave you with one thought . . . DO SOMETHING, flunk out, cut your wisdom teeth, get caught in the fire tower, anything, and I promise your name will be in Under Currents in the very next issue.

Election Board Policy

10. It is suggested that the Chairman have not less than two (2) people at the assigned voting place at all times.
11. The day before the election is to take place the Chairman should reserve the C.G.A. office for the evening of the day during which elections are being held in order to have a place to count the ballots.
12. It is suggested that the Chairman have five (5) board members besides himself to help count the ballots.
 - (a) Names of all candidates should be written on a blank piece of paper. Leave ample space between each name in order that there may be room to tally the votes.
 - (b) One person should read from the ballots while another person records the votes for the respective candidates. The votes should be recorded in a one, two, three, four, cross manner, etc.
13. After all votes are tallied they should be double checked for accuracy. Then a summary should be made for presentation to the President of the College for approval.
14. When the final results are tallied, the summary sheet, together with all other sheets used in the election, along with the ballots, both used and unused, should be presented to the President of the College for his approval.
15. No results should be given to the student body until the President's (of the College) approval has been received. Then, and only then should the chairman make a report of the election results and post it on the C.G.A. bulletin board. The respective votes received by each candidate are not to be made public.
 1. Elections are usually held in the beginning of March.
 2. The Chairman may arrange to have the Chief Clerk of the Columbia County Commissioners sit in at a meeting of the Election Board at which time the Chief Clerk will explain the procedures used in civil elections. It is well to have such a meeting at least three (3) weeks before the C.G.A. elections.
 3. The policy in the past few years has been to secure a voting machine from the Luzerne County Commissioners for use in the C.G.A. elections. An application should be made by writing to Mr. Harry J. Williams, Secretary, Office of the Election Bureau, Court House Annex, Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania about one and one-half months before the election is to be held.
 - (a) It is suggested that a request be made for 2 voting machines.
 - (b) A list of all candidates should be sent to the Luzerne County Election Bureau in order that the names may be placed on the machine. Do this as soon as possible!
 - (c) The voting machines are used only for the final election, not the primary election.
 - (d) When requesting voting machines also write to Mr. Fred May, 46 Pierce Street, Plymouth, Pennsylvania, or to Mr. Jack Pugh, 25 Church Street, Edwardsville, Pennsylvania, telling them of your plans and ask them for suggestions. These two men bring the machines to the College and supervise the election. In the past, the policy has been to pay each man $5.00 as a token of appreciation. The checks should be obtained from the Treasurer of the C.G.A.
 4. Give publicity to all coming elections and election results through the Maroon and Gold and bulletin boards.
 5. Final elections must be held at least (8) weeks before the end of the spring semester.
 - (a) The use of petitions for candidates for officers of the association shall be left to the discretion of College Council.
 - (b) At a meeting of the association two weeks preceding the date for the final election, nominations shall be made from the floor.
 7. The names of the nominees are sent to the office of the Dean of Instruction where the scholastic average is checked.
 8. Next, the names are checked by the Deans of Men and Women for citizenship.
 9. Then the list is sent to the office of the President of the College for his approval, where the stencil is prepared for the ballots. This list of approved nominees shall be posted one week before the primary election.
 10. A list of names of all students eligible to vote from each class should be obtained from the dean of Instruction's Office. It is important that at least one week notice be given the Dean's Office in order that the lists may be available when needed.
 - (a) As each student votes, his or her name is checked off these lists.
 11. A primary election shall be held for the purpose of selecting nominees. In the event that there are only two nominees for any given office, no primary election for that office will be necessary.
 12. Follow the same voting procedure given under class elections.
 13. Within a week or two following the primary election the successful candidates for the offices of President and Vice-President give speeches in a regularly scheduled assembly period. Be sure to arrange all assembly dates with the chairman of the assembly committee.
 14. A week or two following the campaign speeches the final election is held at which time the voting machines are used. This election is held in Waller Hall Lounge. Arrangements for tables for all elections should be made with the Superintendent of Grounds and Buildings at least two (2) days before time.
 15. The C.G.A. election is conducted in a manner similar to civil elections. Forms to be used in the election and badges for the various election officers may be found in the steel file in the C.G.A. office.
 16. The election polls should be kept open until 4:00 p.m. or until everyone in line has cast his vote.
 17. When the polls are closed, the Chairman should ask the President of the College to take and approve the readings from the voting machines.
 18. The procedure to be used in announcing the results should be checked through the President of the College.

ELECTION OF MAY QUEEN AND MEMBERS OF HER COURT

1. Candidates for May Queen and her Court shall be nominated by the Senior Class.
2. Pictures of all candidates shall be posted on the C.G.A. bulletin board two weeks before the election date.
3. During a regularly scheduled assembly period all candidates shall present themselves before the student body for purposes of identification. Election shall be held following this assembly.
