Educators Will Meet Nov. 6 for Joint Conference

Bloomsburg State Teachers College will be the host for the eighth annual conference for elementary, secondary, and business education teachers and administrators on Saturday, November 6, 1954.

Registration will be from 9:00 to 9:30 in Benjamin Franklin Laboratory School for Elementary Education, Navy Hall for Business Education, and Bloomsburg High School at Center Street for Secondary Education. Lectures and demonstration lessons will be given on all grade levels for each specific division in the respective registration buildings from 9:30 to 10:50.

The theme of the 1954 Conference will be "Growth Through Reading." Demonstration lessons in the Elementary Curriculum will be presented by the teaching of the training school and will lean towards developing the theme of the conference. Following the activity of each room, a discussion for the group present will be led by prominent persons in the field of education from the college service area. Miss Edna J. Hazen is the director for this group.

Modern languages, social studies, English, mathematics, biology, and geography are the fields chosen for demonstration lessons in the Secondary Curriculum. Co-operating teachers of the College will present the lessons, and the discussions will be led by college staff members. Dr. Ernest H. Engelhardt is the director for the Secondary Education section of the Conference.

In the Business Education Department, plans are being formulated for the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the founding of Business Education at Bloomsburg. This Conference will present a pre-celebration feature in the persons of Miss Madeline Strony who will speak on "Teaching of Secretarial Subjects," and John A. Pendery, who will discuss "The Teaching of Tax Record Keeping." Dr. Thomas B. Martin, the new director of Business Department, will be the director of this phase of the Conference.

From 11:15 to 12:45, a general session will be held for all teachers and administrators in Carver Hall Auditorium. Dr. Harvey A. Andruss, President of BSTC, will preside over this part of the program. The Girls Ensemble of the Teachers College, under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy J. Evans, will present a musical festival. After this musical introduction, Dr. Andruss will greet the Conference group, and introduce the speaker for the occasion.

Dr. Leland B. Jacobs, Professor of Education at the Teachers College of Columbia University, will speak on "Man and His World of Books".

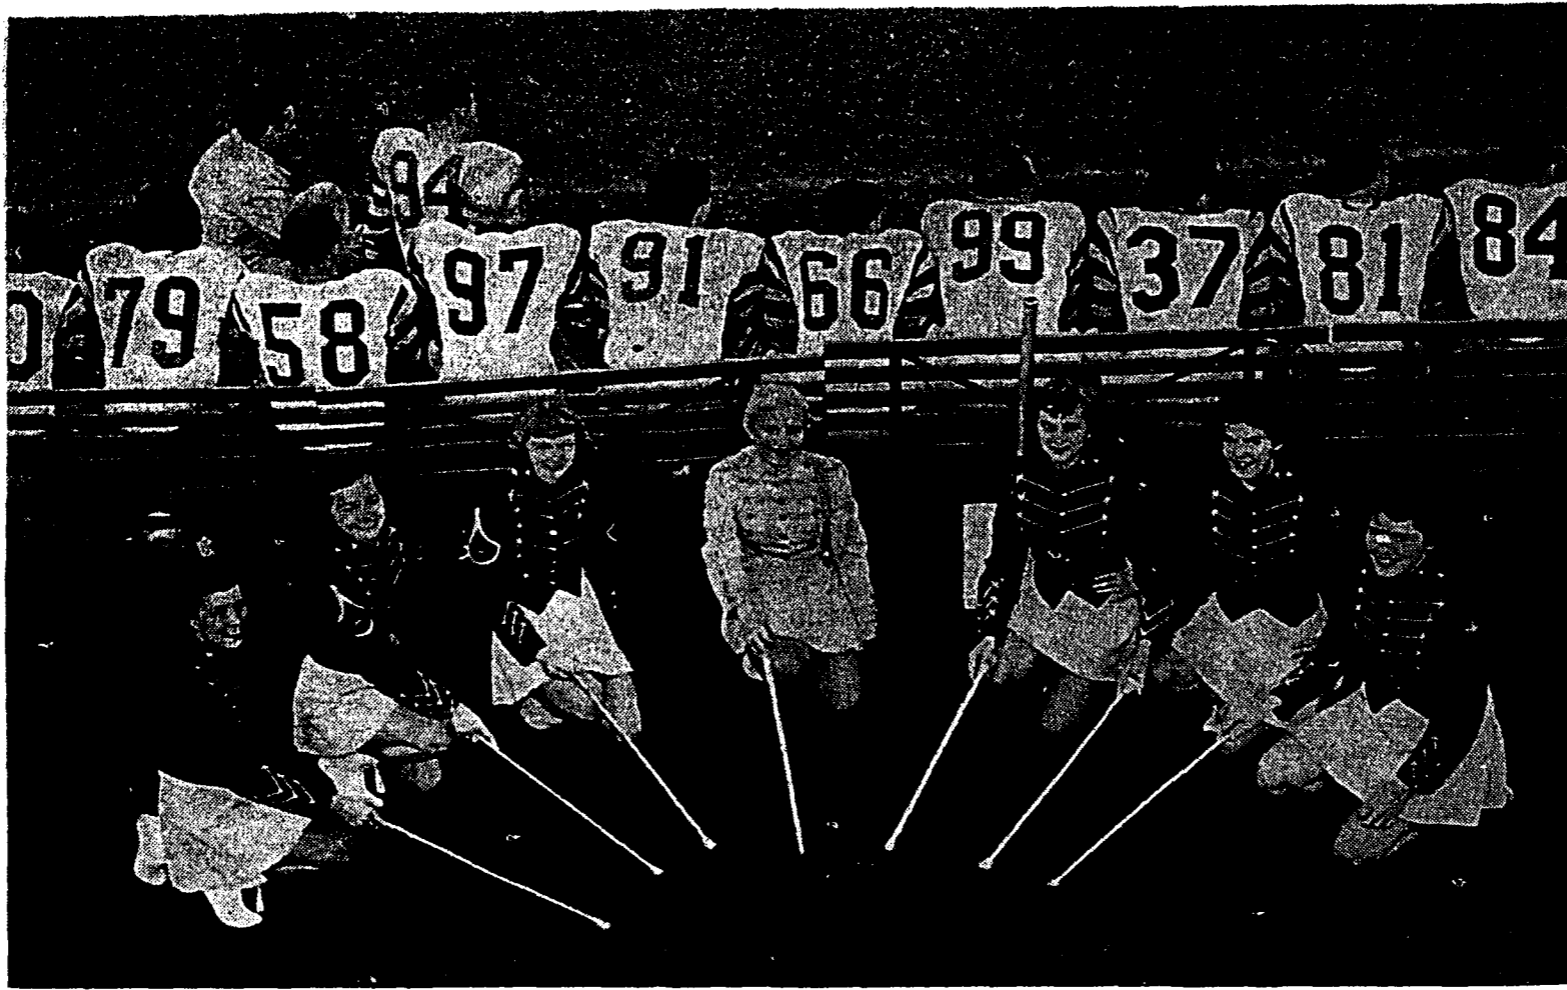

Following the General Session, a luncheon will be served in the Waller Hall Dining Room at 1:00. During the luncheon hour, the Brahms Trio of Williamsport will entertain.

State Education Conference Held At State College

One-hundred fifty education leaders from every part of Pennsylvania met at State College for a two-day conference which began Friday, October 22, to advance professional standards in the Commonwealth.

Sponsored by the Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards headed by Dr. Earl F. Sykes of West Chester, the meeting directed its efforts toward the theme "Competent Teachers for Pennsylvania Schools".

Nationally known speakers who addressed the professional leaders at this statewide gathering included: Dr. Milton Eisenhower, President, Pennsylvania State University, State College; Dr. T. M. Stinnett, staff member of the National Education Association, Washington; Mrs. Mary Lou (Continued on page 4)

Reading clockwise, the Maroon and Gold majorettes are: Mollie Hippensteel, Sue Hoffman, Barbara Laubach, Carolyn Berdy, Martie Molchan, Joan Raub, and Pat Dorsey.

Waller Lounge Is Scene of Frosh Customs Trials

Thursday, October 21, Freshman Customs Trials were held in the Waller Hall Lounge. Proceedings were conducted by the customs committee with Kenny Weir emceeing. Highlights of the evening were the cheerleaders, jitterbug contest, dressing contest, and the test showing the way girls from different colleges kiss.

The freshmen filed into the lounge and sat in squares that had been marked off on the floor. They were divided into five competing groups. Cheerleaders rushed onto the "old gym" floor and the fun began, for these cheerleaders were freshmen boys giving their hilarious interpretations of cheering. Five girls played a mock game of football, amid wild cheering.

Kenny asked for the heaviest drinker from each group for the first competitive stunt. Little did the boys who rushed out know that they would be lying on the floor drinking a bottle of milk with a nipple. Team five proved to be the heaviest drinkers.

Five girls with a good sense of balance were required to sit on a beer bottle (empty) and without any other means of support, light a match and then a candle. The girl from team three either has a fine sense of balance or is used to sitting on beer bottles.

There are some very clever jitterbugs among the freshmen or so it seems. Alan Nuss and Betty Gibson won that contest with some unusual steps that were really cute.

Fifteen girls wiped up the floor on their hands and knees as they scrambled around blindfolded hunting balloons. Team one broke the first balloon and gained one point, but the same girl broke the last balloon and lost her hard earned point.

The most hilarious part of the trial was an inverted strip-tease put on by five boys who dressed in women's clothing. The boy from team three finished first. It was more fun watching them take the clothing off than it was seeing them put it on.

Ronald Jensen and several girls, possessing the characteristic of the nicest lips, were called forth. Jensen, blindfolded, was given examples of how girls from different colleges kiss. The last kiss was a rather smeary one from a Colgate girl. Her face had a thick coating of tooth paste.

The girls with the nicest feet were ushered through nice wet worms. We knew the worms was only dough, but they didn't! A game of musical chairs was followed by a trip to Senior Walk where the frosh serenaded Leo and Leona with "Happy Birthday" and the Alma Mater.

All Welcome To November 10 SAE Open House

Sigma Alpha Eta, national speech and hearing fraternity, will hold Open House on November 10, 1954 from 12:00 noon to 5:00 P.M. Student and faculty members wishing to attend can obtain free tickets from the C.G.A. office on or after Tuesday, November 2. There is a limited number of tickets available for each showing.

Tours of fifty minutes each will begin in Room D of Noetling Hall. Each tour will include sound recordings of oscillograph (records the voice in electrical vibration), by tape, and by disc, with visitors acting as volunteers. For hearing, various meters, such as hearing aids for individuals, and groups will be used. How clinicians "work up" a case history and proceed with a diagnosis will be demonstrated in another room. There will be a display of educational materials and devices used in training speech and hearing handicapped.

Two 12-minute movies entitled, "Your Voice" and "The Ears and Hearing", will be shown at half-hour intervals. It will be necessary to have two tickets, one for the movie and one for the tour.

Committees responsible for the first open house of Sigma Alpha Eta, a yearly event in most chapters throughout the nation are: General Chairman, Robert Lyon; Tickets, Miss Weir; Hearing, Charlotte Rummage; Voice Recording, Al Davis; Case History, Alice Swartz; One Way Screen, Paul Volkman; Materials Display, Doyle Lynn; and Publicity, Avery Williams.

P.S.E.A. Convention

On Thursday and Friday, October 21 and 22, the Thirtieth Annual Convention of the Pennsylvania State Education Association met at Bloomsburg High School.

The October 21 session was high-lighted by an address given by Isaac Daniel Unna, Vice Consul from the Consulate General of Israel, New York. Several group discussion meetings were held.

At the teachers' luncheon on Friday, Margaret Boyd, Chairman of the International Relations Committee of the N. E. A., was the main speaker.

The main address of the entire convention was delivered at the closing general session on Friday. Dr. Paul Dengler, a brilliant educator and distinguished lecturer, spoke on the theme of the convention, "Education—Our Business".

The officers of this year's convention are: Claude H. Readly, Jr., President; H. Austin Snyder, vice-president; and Esther J. Saxe, secretary.

Freshmen Present Varied Program In Talent Show

On Tuesday morning, October 26, the freshman class presented its annual talent show in Carver Auditorium, under the sponsorship of Faculty Adviser Mary E. Macdonald and Class Advisers Jeannie Zimmerman and Pat Giangulio.

The gala stage show, directed by Marine veteran Paul Crisler, who also acted as master of ceremonies under the pseudonym of Dr. Woof-Woof Dog-Bark, featured an array of talented young people in fifteen colorful acts.

The program opened with a hillbilly skit including "Chick" DeFebo, Irving Alexander, Jerry Natishan, Pete Rekus, Duane Belles, John Rogus, Donald Bohenski, Tom Vaxmonsky, and "Skip" Sheridan. This was followed by the rhythmic dancing trio of Ed Watts, Maggie Jones, and Donald Holmes, who delighted the audience with the new dance sensation, the mambo. Deanna Morgan, who is destined to top the list on Bloom's talent parade, had the group applauding thunderously with her solo from "The Desert Song." Next came lovely Sue Hoffman doing a baton twirling routine which had the audience on the edges of their seat. A guitar solo by Duane Belles offered variety as well as entertainment to the program.

Ross Bartleson's version of "I Believe" was one of the highlights of the show, as was the piano solo, "Polanise," which was offered by Carl Shively. John Aitken's "I Need You Now" provided added enjoyment, and a special monologue comedy, called "Life of a Day Student," by Margie Myers was both novel and humorous. A vocal solo, "A Good Man Is Hard to Find," was beautifully rendered by Annette Williams, accompanied by Marion Cipolla.

Pete Rekus and Bud Sheridan offered perfect harmony with their duet, "Ghost Riders in the Sky," which was followed by that new sensational male singing group, "The Collegians," with "Ridin' in a Chariot." The climax of the original and delightful program were the Freshmen Vets who dramatized "A Scene in a Beer Hall" much to the enjoyment of the audience.

Kappa Delta Pi Meets

Thursday, October 21, the regular meeting of Kappa Delta Pi was held in the social rooms of Science Hall.

Oren Baker, president, conducted the business meeting. New members were welcomed.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Olive Beeman spoke to the group and showed her slides of the new United Nations' buildings.

Thirteen Seniors Represent B.S.T.C. In '54 Who's Who

Professional promise, leadership, service to the college, personal traits, practical qualities, potential usefulness, actual ability, past record, and scholastic achievement—upon these qualifications rest the selection of B. S. T. C.'s representatives in the 1955 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Thirteen deserving persons were chosen from this year's Senior class by a committee composed of the Dean of Instruction, Dr. Thomas North; the Dean of Women, Mrs. Elizabeth Miller; the Dean of Men, John Hoch; Director of the Business Education Department, Dr. Thomas Martin; Director of the Elementary Education Department, Miss Edna Hazen; and the Director of Secondary Education Department, Dr. Ernest Engelhardt.

Included in this representation are two business students, nine elementary majors, and two secondary curriculum students.

Lynda Bogart

A resident of Berwick and a graduate of Berwick High School, Lynda's early college activities included Women's Chorus, Athanaeum Club, and Poetry Club. As an upperclassman, this secondary student has been a member of F. T. A., "B" Club, Kappa Delta Pi, and president of the Poetry Club during her Junior and Senior years.

Janice Bower

Janice is perhaps best known for her four years of outstanding service on the Waller Hall Association Governing Board. While holding this important and distinctive position, Jan has been busy with Women's Chorus, Athanaeum Club, "B" Club, F. T. A., and Kappa Delta Pi. An elementary student from Clarks Green, Janice graduated from the Clarks Summit-Abington High School.

Ed Connolly

Ed will be long-remembered from the class of '55 as their Junior Class President, and by the entire college as an outstanding holder of the school's highest office, that of President of the Community Government Association. Ed's other numerous and varied collegiate activities read something like this: Science Club for three years, serving as both President and vice-president in his Junior term; Sophomore Class Treasurer; varsity football four years, with membership in the Varsity Club his Junior and Senior semesters; Newman Club for two years; Phi Sigma Pi during his last three years, and the office of Historian his Junior year; F. T. A.; Furniture Committee; and a member of College Council for two years. Hailing from Danville, Ed is a secondary major with the emphasis on science and mathematics.

Jean Griffiths

At present, Jean is secretary of the Senior Class, a position she also held her Sophomore year at B. S. T. C. She has been President of the Athanaeum Club, General Co-Chairman of the Junior Prom, Social Chairman of Waller Hall and a member of the "B" Club, F. T. A., S. C. A., and Women's Chorus during her busy life at Bloomsburg since graduation from Scranton Central High School. Jean is enrolled in the elementary curriculum at B. S. T. C.

Grace Histed

Senior Women Representative on College Council, Grace is also combining Fashion Show modeling, F. T. A., Kappa Delta Pi, and "B" Club during her Senior year at Bloom. Underclassman activities included Athanaeum Club, Women's Chorus, Mixed Chorus, Waller Hall Governing Board and membership in those activities earlier mentioned. Honesdale High School claims this bird-voiced Senior elementary stand-out.

Hope Horne

From Numidia High School comes day student Hope Horne with a variety of college activities to highlight an active college career. As President of the Day Women's Association in her (Continued on page 3)

Your Vote Counts . . .

It isn't just another "off-year" election coming up on November 2. It's one of the most important elections in many years. Local issues, state and national issues . . . and, because of our world leadership, world issues . . . will be decided when the votes are tabulated.

Among other things, the voters will decide on November 2 who will represent them in Congress. And that is a matter of the utmost importance. It is a good, healthy thing for our country that voters everywhere are concerned about the qualifications of those who will represent them, as well as about local and state matters.

Whether you want a Democratic or Republican Congress, whether you're for or against some local issue, do vote.

Whatever else you may do, come November 2, VOTE FIRST . . . don't be a vote slacker.

Many elections have been settled by a margin of one vote per precinct. A single vote certainly does count . . . and it might be yours.

Vote as you please, but please vote!!!

What's Your Opinion?

"Do you think a good name band would be successful at B.S.T.C.?" This is a question which especially concerns the sophomores, who are now making plans for the Sophomore Cotillion. The following students voiced their opinions concerning this important issue:

Kaki Crew: "If we could invite a near-by college such as Wilkes, the larger attendance would decrease the expense cast upon one class."

George Derk: "I'd like to see a name band here because I think the kids would really enjoy it. A good name band would be quite expensive and all the kids would really have to support it to make it successful."

Beverly Thomas: "I think the kids would really appreciate a name band. From the general liking in the girls' dorm, I feel that Stan Kenton would be a good drawing card. I don't think the students would really mind the extra cost if we had a big name band."

Richard Bittner: "I do not believe a name band is very practical for such a small college as Bloomsburg. The organization which would sponsor the band would probably lose a large amount of money; in addition, the students would be more inclined to listen to the music rather than dance."

Ray Edwards: "The subject has previously been discussed by several of the class officers. If all three classes went together for one dance, there would be much more interest; and, if there would be a loss, it could be shared by the three classes. Tickets should be open to the public (this has not been done in the past). I think if a vote should be taken among the student body, they would be in favor of this almost 100%."

Jan Ference: "I think the idea of a big name band sounds terrific. The question is would it work at B.S.T.C.? From my standpoint the answer is 'no.' First of all, how could a school of our size finance $1200 or $2000 for a one-night stand—let's face it, the students here aren't made of money. Secondly, with such a tremendous cost, we would have to throw the dance open to the public — that invites trouble. My opinion is that we've had Lee Vincent here for years—he's in our money bracket, and at the same time provides good music. Lee Vincent played at the Steel Pier in Atlantic City and Penn State—they both liked him. Why shouldn't we?"

Sam Hall: "A feature band would really improve the social standing of B.S.T.C. However, one drawback to this idea is that we do not have a hall big enough for the large crowd of students which a name band would attract.

I myself would be interested in a feature band and think the students would support it if we had sufficient room, and held it on a Friday night."

Mixed Chorus

Monday evening, October 18, the regular weekly meeting of Mixed Chorus was held in room 22 of Science Hall.

The singing group is now working on several selections for a Christmas recital. Some of the numbers which were rehearsed last Monday were: "My Lord What a Morning," "The Lord Bless You and Keep You," "Jesu Bambino," and "Christmas Lullaby."

An announcement was made at the meeting that the Bloomsburg Methodist church had extended to the chorus an invitation to give a recital at the church. The proposed date for this concert is January 16.

At the close of the meeting Mr. Miller, with the aid of Mr. Buckingham, made a tape recording of the chorus singing the "Alma Mater" and "Annie Laurie."

DAY WOMEN'S NEWS

A short meeting of the Day Women was held following the assembly Tuesday, October 12. President Pat Hartman suggested discussing plans for floats for the Homecoming pep parade. A committee was selected to take charge of the planning, and preparations were made. Since the parade was postponed, the plans are being held over until the West Chester parade.

At this meeting the girls volunteered to help with the get-together in Navy Hall following the Homecoming game. Joyce Lundy was appointed chairman of the committee, and those helping her were: Nancy Ebersole, Pat Berger, Carol Nearing, Pat Kemp, Pat O'Brien, Janice Souder, Catherine Keller, Linda Miller, Barbara Adams, Alice Fegley, Mary Rager, Allene Burlingame, Hope Horne, Mary Kay Fritz, Regina Doraski, and Gloria Buckley. The get-together was a great success and the girls were commended for their fine work.

The first covered dish dinner of the school year is being planned. A menu has been made up by Shirley Redline and her social committee. The dinner will be in the form of a Halloween party, and will be held Wednesday, October 27.

Another meeting was held following assembly, on Thursday, October 21. At this meeting it was proposed that the association purchase a subscription to the Morning Press during the school months. It was decided that to pay for the subscription, each member would pay 10¢. A suggestion was made that to replace the pictures already in the lounge, the association should purchase some paint-it-yourself kits for the girls to work on in odd moments.

Miss Waldron complimented the girls at this meeting on the neatness of the day room and kitchen. Everyone has been co-operating to keep the rooms spic-and-span.

A birthday party was held Friday, October 22 in honor of Peggy Bartges on her twenty-first birthday. A lunch with cake and ice cream were enjoyed by Peggy, Diann Jones, Bertie Knouse, and Shirley Redline.

Profile of the Week

"Emy Lou, we're for you!" was a popular refrain during the 1953 C. G. A. election campaign, and it sums up in a nutshell how B.S.T.C.'ers feel about Mary Ellen Henning, our profile for this week. Hailing from Stroudsburg, Emy is one of the outstanding members of the Senior Class.

Her leadership ability dates back to her days at Stroudsburg High School where she was secretary of the Senior Class, captain of the majorettes, and had the leading role in the Senior Class play. Emy is also journalistically inclined, as she was a member of both the newspaper and yearbook staffs.

Here at college, her interests have continued to be wide and varied. She is remembered for the remarkable way she carried out the rigorous duties of C. G. A. secretary last year and for her keen twirling and neat strutting the past two years as a majorette. In her Sophomore year, Emy was elected woman representative of that class and holds membership in the Business Education Club, "B" Club, F. T. A., and L. S. A., being secretary of the latter in her Sophomore year.

Emy is not only activity-minded, but she is a standout scholastically as is evident by her membership in Kappa Delta Pi and Pi Omega Pi.

Emy spent her summer as a lifeguard at a Stroudsburg swimming pool. Her plans for the future center around one of Uncle Sam's favorite nephews, Dale Poe, a graduate of Drexell Institute.

Come graduation, B.S.T.C. will lose one of its most versatile, genial, and intelligent students to College."

TOE to TOE BY TUCKEY

Bright shades of red,
Tones of blue and green,
Pretty plaids
And brand-new fads,
On our campus now are seen.

Speaking of red, Cora Gill looked bright and cheerful in a new red corduroy jumper with straight shirt and small panel on the bodice sporting three red buttons to match. I saw Nancy Moran at dinner the other night looking very slim and attractive in a dark blue jumper with buttons placed vertically down the front.

Corinne Pentecost added a new jumper to her wardrobe this year. A very pretty charcoal one, featuring the empire waist line and flared skirt. Her blouse of pink and grey checks with tiny grey buttons, matches the lining of her jumper. Corinne topped her outfit with a string of grey rope-beads, a popular addition to female accessories this season.

We find bright plaid skirts in evidence as much this year as in former years. The perfect example of a very versatile plaid skirt is Rae Girdauskas' "skirt of many colors." With this pretty pleated skirt of rust, yellow, red and blue, Rae has her choice of any blouse or sweater she cares to wear with it.

Irene Zelinski, Marlene Kaustenbauer and Margie Meyer also have their eyes on plaid this year. I saw Irene in a smart wide-plaid skirt of red and blue in class yesterday. Marlene made a pleasant appearance in a pleated plaid skirt of red and green; prettier yet when she topped it with a dark green sweater to match.

Margie Meyer, a new freshman this year, likes the small delicate plaids. Her grey and pink, accordion pleated skirt certainly becomes her.

Charcoal seems to have the upper hand this season in the popularity polls for color. Sue Osborn emphasized this further while attending the F.T.A. conference in a smart charcoal dress displaying an empire waist line, a flared skirt, and highlighted with a touch of white at the collar and wide white cuffs on the three-quarter-length sleeves.

Combinations like these and many others prove that:

Our Co-eds on campus,
This we know,
Dress in their best,
From Top to Toe.

First in a Series of Bloomsburg Writers

This second in a series of articles on the manifold authors among B.S.T.C.'s faculty, alumni, and students brings to the forefront some of the literary contributions to education which have been made by our distinguished President Harvey A. Andruss. Dr. Andruss is the author of many books and teachers' aids in the field of Business Education, and has furnished yearbooks, business, educational, and professional journals with numerous articles on monographs.

A graduate of the University of Oklahoma, Northwestern University, and Penn State University in 1924, 1926, and 1949 respectively, Dr. Andruss came to B.S.T.C. in 1930 as an organizer and director of the Department of Business Education. He served as Dean of Instruction, and in 1939 became college president.

Prior to his arrival at B.S.T.C., President Andruss was a member of the faculties at Northwestern University and Indiana State Teachers College, Indiana, Pennsylvania. From July to December, 1945, he took a leave of absence to help organize the first American Army University located at Shrivvenham, Berkshire, England where he acted as head of the Accounting Department. He was also a Research Reader in the Bodleian Library, University of Oxford, in 1945.

The illustrious career of President Andruss, which has been sketched only briefly in the preceding paragraphs, affords the reader some indication of the forces which have stimulated the growth of the President's many writings.

Dr. Andruss's first text, "Business Law Cases and Tests" (a combination work book and text book), was published in 1934. In 1937, his "Ways to Teach Bookkeeping and Accounting" was presented to the educational world. This was followed by "Better Business Education" in 1942. During the years of 1947-48, he wrote his Ed.D. Dissertation: "Development of Pennsylvania State Teachers Colleges as Institutions of Higher Education."

One of President Andruss' most renowned texts is "Burgess Business Law", which was first published in 1951 and with the fourth edition revised in 1952. "Burgess Business Law" is divided into two main sections: The Layman and the Law, and The Layman and the Lawyer. This book is based on the principle that "a good citizen must know the law before he can obey its dictates, and protect himself, his family, and his property." Dr. Andruss gives particular attention to "the process by which laws are made, enforced, and interpreted."

In addition to his many presentations as an author, President Andruss has served as an educational consultant for the Southwest Publishing Company, Gregg Publishing Company, Macmillan Company, and Lyons and Carnahan. He was also consultant for the Educational Policies Committee of N.E.A.

From the CLUB HOUSE . . .

BUSINESS EDUCATION CLUB

The Business Education Club held its regular meeting on Thursday, October 21, 1954, in Navy Hall Auditorium at 3:00 p.m.

The program consisted of a very interesting talk given by Attorney Harriet Bailey, Columbia County Solicitor for Rural Child Welfare work, on the subject of Juvenile Delinquency. Miss Bailey explained that children are considered juveniles up to 18 years of age in Pennsylvania and are tried in juvenile courts; after that age is reached, they are tried in criminal court for any crime. In juvenile court trials, no other people other than witnesses or persons having some bearing on the case are allowed to attend. Miss Bailey said there was a definite need for good guidance industrial schools in this state.

What can the teacher do? This question was directed to the members of the club. Here are the five things emphasized by Miss Bailey:

1. Getting the respect of the student.
 2. Insisting on discipline.
 3. Taking a personal interest in the child.
 4. Co-operating with the police and law enforcement officer.
 5. Guidance in the school.

SPORTS SCUTTLEBUTT

by BILL BITNER

A COACH'S DREAM . . . What may be one coach's dream may be another coach's nightmare; and this, by the way, is the most accurate, the easiest way we can think of to try to describe the play of the Huskies to date. The team started out slow in their opener with Mansfield, getting their TD's perhaps a little too easy on an extremely hot October afternoon. They looked a lot better the following Saturday against Cortland, when they ran up better than 400 yards from scrimmage and were a great deal better than the final 26-13 tally indicated. Then, with undefeated Wilkes College invading Mt. Olympus, the Huskies were fired up. Coach Yohe said the magic words and presto! they were a machine—one that had the ability to explode without a moment's notice. This has been a team that has taken on the air of poise, one that goes about its rigorous week-end tasks with the self-assurance that was probably possessed by Jack the Ripper, or Robespierre.

With the exception of Coach Yohe, the Huskies have shown no mercy to their worthy opponents of the autumn sport in that the four teams that have attempted to bang heads with the College Hill Lads have only 41 yards from scrimmage to their credit. In the last two outings, Kings and Wilkes, the Huskies forced their friends from the Wyoming Valley to leave the field with minus yards from scrimmage. The fact that the Husky opponents have been able to show any net yardage is attributed to the fact that Coach Yohe has been more than liberal with his substitutes, something he has been noted for since his coming to B.S.T.C. We have never heard Jack Yohe accused of trying to run up the score on any team, and, if anything, he has tried to hold the score down. This was certainly in evidence in the Cortland game, in which the second, third, and fourth teams saw more action than the varsity team. In every game to date, the freshmen have played the majority of the fourth quarter; and, to the best of our knowledge, no starter has played in the fourth quarter of any of the games. So, with all this being taken into consideration, there is no telling where the team would stand as far as offensive and defensive records are concerned.

It isn't fair to the team to lose sight of the fact that both Wilkes and Kings were undefeated, going into their engagements with our boys; and, in the case of Wilkes, bounced right back from their 44-0 defeat inflicted by the Yohemen to take Trenton Teachers into their camp by the count of 41-0. This isn't the mark of a poor team.

WHERE DOES ALL THIS PUT THE HUSKIES??? Well, first of all, as Coach Yohe always says, you have to play them as they come, and that brings us to this Saturday's game with the Owls of New Haven Teachers. New Haven lost this past week-end to New Britain by a 15-14 count. Nothing is known of New Britain, but we do know that the reports released by the NCAA last week put New Haven first in the nation among small colleges in forward passing. Interesting? New Haven was beaten earlier in the season by our good friends from down Shippensburg way. The score of that game was 26-19, and we understand it was a great game, owing to the fact that Shipp was trying at that time to keep its 20-game winning streak intact. The New Haven game last year was one that will remain in our memories for a good while as one of the best, most exciting we have ever seen. We spoiled an undefeated season for the Connecticut tutors by sneaking in at 14-12. The second half of that game was a real see-saw of rugged football. There wasn't one first down recorded by either team during the complete second half. It must also be remembered that they haven't beaten a Bloom team to date, and those are always the ones to be especially watchful for. In our humble opinion, the New Haven game may be as tough a game as the Huskies will be called upon to face all year. Just take them as they come, boys.

The program consisted of playing several recorded selections. Club members then discussed the

Kings Toppled From Unbeaten Ranks by Rampaging Huskies

Bloomsburg State Teachers College romped for their second straight shutout as they scored a 49-0 victory over the hopeless Kings College Monarchs.

The Huskies continued on an unbeaten season in winning and duplicated their fine showing as the previous week when beating Wilkes by a similar score. Again it was Jimmy Browning who electrified the fans with several long runs.

As the score mounted, the people of Wyoming Valley were seeing more beautiful blocking, passing, and running than has been shown there in many years. It was the case of a good team scoring consistently upon a team completely outplayed. B.S.T.C. played a perfect game, its tackles being low and hard and clean.

The Husky offense didn't rely on just Browning. Harvey Boughner, Charlie Casper, and Alex Boychuck all gained considerable yardage. The main source of effort for the great Maroon and Gold squad is the flawless playing of Mike Lashendock, All-State quarterback from Kulpmont, who passed for two touchdowns, set up several others with his aeriels and ran the team in a generally professional manner.

Browning gave the fans one of the neatest runs possible. Taking a pitchout midway in the second period, he started around end. Breaking into the secondary, he slowed down to let his defense form as he went down the sidelines. Running beautifully behind his blocking, he cut away from the side lines and finished a 73-yard jaunt in paydirt.

End Bob Cumens also had a feast for himself as he scored one touchdown and converted six straight extra points. Alex Boychuck, Harvey Boughner, Bob Stroup, and Dick Strine also had touchdowns.

In the third period the Huskies really let loose rolling up 21 points. Two of the tallies came on passes, one Lashendock to Bob Cumens, the other Bob Dipipi to end Dick Strine.

The final Bloomsburg tally was fittingly at the hands of Jim Browning who galloped 76 yards down the sidelines to score after gathering in a Kings' punt. Tom Persing, Bob Stroup, and ace-line backer Charlie Skiptunas threw perfectly timed blocks in this run which paved the way.

King's only offensive threat came late in the fourth period when Rickwalder limebered up his passing arm and moved to the Bloom 26. Then another pass completed to the 2 yard line. A fifteen yard penalty killed the threat.

Our hats off to Coaches Yohe, Hoch, and Shelley, and all the B.S.T.C. footballers for their great work.

mood each selection represented. The titles were revealed and showed the intended meaning of the music. Among the selections played were: "Fountain at Dawn", "Donkey on the Trail" from "The Grand Canyon Suite", "Fingale Cave Overture" and "A Night on Bald Mountain."

POETRY CLUB

At the October 21 meeting of the Poetry Club, each member read aloud one of his favorite poems or the work of his favorite poet to the group. Interesting comments were then exchanged. Among the many selection read were "Crossing the Bar" by Tennyson, "When I Am Dead" by Christina Rossetti, "Lincoln, the Man of the People," by Edwin Markham, "When I Heard the Learn'd Astronomer" by Walt Whitman, and "On His Blindness" by Milton.

Ann Louise Franc and Anne Swortwood were chosen program chairmen for the November meeting.

WOMEN'S CHORUS

The regular meeting of Women's chorus was held Tuesday, October 19 at 4:00 p.m. in room 33 of Science Hall. The session was used as a practice period in preparation for the scheduled events of the season.

The regular meeting of the Student Christian Association was held in the social rooms of Science Hall on October 20, 1954.

Homecoming Crowd Watch Huskies Whip Undefeated Wilkes

The Bloomsburg Huskies, playing before an overflowing Homecoming day crowd, romped over an outclassed, outplayed Wilkes College team.

Alex Boychuck returned the opening kickoff to the twenty yard line. Jim Browning made a first down on two consecutive carries, but the Huskies could go no farther. Harvey Boughner then punted dead on the Wilkes forty-five yard line.

Al Nicholas, after trying a run, passed thirty yards to the Bloomsburg 28. This is as far as the Colonels could go for the Bloomsburg line, led by Harry Hughes, spilled the ballcarriers for huge losses; back to the forty yard line.

Bloomsburg then took over. Boychuck made six yards off tackle. Then Jim Browning, on an end sweep, raced fifty-five yards for the touchdown. Bob Cumens connected to give Bloomsburg a 7-0 lead. After this, the game was all Bloomsburg.

The Colonels, in possession of the ball again, could go nowhere and kicked out-of-bound on the Huskies' thirty-five yard line.

Bloomsburg then started a 65-yard march downfield, with Boychuck, Browning and Boughner carrying the ball, which ended with Bob Stroup catching a pass from Lashendock and going the remaining eight yards for the score. Cumens' extra point attempt went wide of the uprights and Bloom led 13-0 at the quarter.

The Colonels returned Thomas' kickoff to the thirty-five yard line to start the second quarter. And once again, they could go nowhere and punted out of bounds on the 30. Bloomsburg continued to roll with Lashendock passing twenty yards to Browning and Browning making another twenty on a run. Joe Malczyk then entered the game and made a first down on the ten yard line. Then two plays later cracks over guard for the score. Irving Alexander's attempt for the point went wide and the Huskies led 19-0. After the kickoff, with the Wilkes team unable to get started Bloomsburg took over, after an exchange of punts.

Mike Lashendock passed thirty yards to Browning, then ten yards to Stroup on to the five yard line. Lashendock back to pass again found his receivers covered and skirted the end for the score. Alexander's kick was blocked. The half ended with the score 25-0 in favor of Bloomsburg.

The last half showed the Huskies displaying the same power displayed in the previous half. Bob Cumens crashed the Colonel line to block a punt which rolled out of bounds on the ten yard line. Boychuck then hit paydirt on his second attempt. Alex attempted to split the upright, was called back on a penalty. His next attempt was blocked, making the score, 31-0.

Again, the visitors were unable to gain, and their punt rolled out on the 45-yard line. Jim Browning, the Mechanicsburg wildcat, then took matters in his own hands and raced 67 yards for another Husky touchdown. Boychuck failed to connect. With a 37-point lead, Coach Jack Yohe began to use his reserves. The Yohemen were still not satisfied with this score. Lashendock took to the air, passing to Moe Morson who snatched the ball out of their defenders' hands and raced 25 yards to the 20-yard line. After two short ground gains, quarterback Mike Lashendock spotted Bob Groover alone in the end zone and hit him for the Huskies final touchdown. Boychuck connected, making the score 44-0.

In the final period, Coach Yohe substituted his freshmen team in to play. In this period the visitors did most of their ground gaining for the afternoon, but were still unable to get off the minus column. They ended with a total yardage of minus 12.

Convention to be held in Kansas during our Christmas vacation. He hoped it would be possible for some of the members to attend.

The meeting was then turned over to the Personal and Campus Affairs Commission who had arranged the program. The commission conducted a short devotional service, with June Lukac, chairman, saying a few words following the service. Then the topic of discussion was presented to the group; it was "Early Study of History—Is It Contrary to Our Christian Beliefs?" The students were then divided into smaller groups, so that everyone would

Bob Cumens Stars In B.S.T.C. Sports

A Husky letterman for the past two years, Bob Cumens is now in his senior year at the "Friendly College." Bob learned his ABC's of sports at Gordon Junior High School in Coatesville, where he won a letter for three sports: football, basketball, and baseball.

After Junior High School Bob took his athletic ability to Coatesville High, where he played two years of football and basketball and three years of baseball. Bob's former coach at Coatesville was Ted Daily, now head mentor at Syracuse University.

Bob came to B.S.T.C. as a blocking back in the single-wing formation, but Coach Jack Yohe found a fine end in Bob when he switched the "Huskies" to the T-formation. Bob is seeking his third letter at Bloom this season. He is also co-captain of the squad, having participated in the sport for three years.

When asked his biggest ambition is sports, Bob stated he would like to coach football and baseball. If any of his talents rubs off on his students, I am sure he will have winning teams.

Bob said, "The Husky squad this year is the best team I have ever played with." Jim Browning is his choice for the outstanding player at B.S.T.C. When asked who the best player with whom he has ever been on the grid iron, Bob Flick, a former Coatesville great who made All-American at Syracuse University last season, was his reply.

Bob's other interests are bowling, hunting, and fishing. Very soon, you will see him tramping through the fields in search of game.

During the game against Kings College last Saturday night Bob realized a long-standing ambition. He scored the first touchdown of his football career—on a pass from Husky quarterback Mike Lashendock. Bob also kicked six extra points in this game.

On Thanksgiving Day of this year, Bob will say good-bye to his many friends in the Bachelor's Club, as he is taking his big step. He will be married.

"Good luck, Bob, from everyone at B.S.T.C."

Mr. Clayton Hinkel, adviser, also discussed the problem briefly. The meeting proved to be very interesting. Refreshments, including cookies, coffee, and tea, were served.

C-Notes . . . by . . . CORINNE PENTECOST

Did you know that 90% of all octopussies are left-handed? Now There's an original lead-off. (Carole Anderson still hasn't figured it out, either.) Don't hold your breath until I come across with another one like that, though, since they'll probably be few and far between.

Anyway, I'll be here on alternate weeks, so brace up and make the best of the situation.

A word on the title — Since Arnie has done so beautifully with "Under Currents," I thought a continuation of the oceanic theme might be salubrious. Imagination lends itself to C Notes—well, anyway, SEA notes!! Anyhow, think it over and draw your own conclusions.

They say that most of Waller Hall's gals are at the awkward age — to old to ride on merry-go-rounds and too young for Hess's. Such a pity!

Bob Stroup came up with a gem a while back. When someone commented on his excess avoirdupois, he snarled, "Lissen, kid, I'm not fat, I'm built!" So let that be a lesson to you, already.

The dorm rooms looked so snazzy for judging. Unfortunately, that's the only time you can get into most of them without the aid of a small bulldozer. Not that we aren't good housekeepers; it's just that it's difficult to be neat on a limited time schedule. Good excuse, don't you think?

Did you hear about the frosh girl on phone duty who took a call, heard the operator ask that the other party deposit a dime, ran to her room, grabbed a dime and dashed back to pay for the call? Guess it takes time to get used to this place, maybe.

The sign in third floor smoker has somehow gotten rearranged from the loyal "Burn Up Wilkes" to an emphatic "Burn Up Ski!" Better be on the alert, Charlie Ski, just in case.

Two of our fire wardens have learned the hard way not to play Wee Willie in the dorm. Guess candlelight isn't as romantic as it's cracked up to be!

Ye olde campus has acquired the name of the B-Bar-B Ranch, and all of us'ns are now B-Bar-B Rider. Meanwhile back at the ranch . . . Ho! So that's how we're thought of on the outside!

Knitting needles are clicking industriously from every corner up here in the confines of W. H. Move over, B. C., the Old Maids Corporation is gathering strength! No motto yet, but soon.

Looks like I'd better quit while I'm ahead, hmmm? Bless you all for bearing with me. See you in a while or so.
