Bloomsburg Welcomes You, Alumni!

ALUMNI AND FRIENDS OF BLOOMSBURG:

We welcome you back to the campus and hope that you will have time to wander through the halls and see the improvements which are in progress.

Cordially yours,

Harvey A. Andruss
President.

Walter R. Blair Recently Named Assistant Coach

The appointment of Walter R. Blair, head football coach at Chambersburg High School, as assistant football coach and assistant dean of men at the Bloomsburg State Teachers College was announced recently by President Harvey A. Andruss. Mr. Blair will hold the rank of Assistant Professor of Science and will reside with his wife and two children in the men's dormitory.

The new assistant coach, who will begin his duties here during the latter part of August, is a native of Philadelphia where he excelled in high school athletics. After graduation, he attended Temple University for several months before entering and serving in the Armed Forces for three years during World War II.

In the fall of 1946, Mr. Blair entered West Chester State Teachers College. He won varsity letters in wrestling, baseball, and football, but it was in gridiron competition that he enjoyed an enviable and unusual career, playing in both the backfield and the line. Blair's performance and versatility drew the attention of Jack Yohe, who was then serving as backfield coach at West Chester.

Mr. Blair received the Bachelor of Science degree in January, 1950 and started his teaching and coaching career in Neshaminy High School in Langhorne. Two years later he became head football and baseball coach at Jenkintown High School. In the fall of 1954, Blair joined the faculty of the Chambersburg Area High School as head football coach and director of physical education.

Along with his teaching and

John Serff To Be New Professor Of Social Studies

Dr. John J. Serff, of State College, has been appointed Professor of Social Studies at the Bloomsburg State Teachers College, according to an announcement made by President Harvey A. Andruss.

Dr. Serff comes to Bloomsburg after twenty-seven years of teaching in the public schools of State serving as head of the social studies department. He is a graduate of the Shippensburg State Teachers College and has been awarded the degrees of Master of Education and Doctor of Philosophy by the Pennsylvania State University. In addition to his public school service, he has taught intermittently at Pennsylvania State University and the California State Teachers College.

Along with his teaching duties and graduate work, the new faculty member has served on the state committee for the revision of the social studies curriculum, and has collaborated in writing a textbook "American Government for Pennsylvanians" and a workbook "Learning for Living." Dr. Serff's professional affiliations include membership in the Pennsylvania State Education Association, the National Education Association, the Pennsylvania Council for Social Studies, the National Council for the Social Studies, and the Pennsylvania Historical Association.

Dr. Serff is married and has two children. He will begin his duties at Bloomsburg during the summer session.

coaching duties, the new faculty member has been pursuing graduate work at Temple University.

Dr. Thomas North Retires After 25 Years of Service

Dr. Thomas P. North, Dean of Instruction at Bloomsburg State Teachers College since 1941, retired in January, 1955. He was succeeded by John A. Hoch, assistant football coach, director of public relations, and chairman of the Athletic Committee since 1946. Dr. North's retirement terminated more than twenty-five years of service to the local institution, and brought to an end an educational career of more than thirty-seven years.

Dean North, a native of Puxsuttawney, Pennsylvania, came to Bloomsburg in 1929 to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Professor Oscar Hugh Bakeless. He taught courses in the philosophy of education, school law and administration, orientation and guidance, and educational guidance prior to being named Dean of Instruction in 1941.

During World War II, Dean North served as acting president of the college from July 1 to December 31, 1945, while President Harvey A. Andruss was on a leave of absence, serving as Head of the Department of Accounting, American Army University, Shrivensham, England. Dr. North also served as co-ordinator of the Navy V-12 Officer Training Program during the war years.

He was largely responsible for the establishment of the Pennsylvania Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards. As chairman for six years, he had been called the "father of professional standards movement in Pennsylvania".

At the local college, he was largely responsible for the inauguration of the college calendar, a program of professional orientation of men students, the class dues program, an improved system of selection of candidates for admission to college and to the teaching profession, and the supervision of education.

After retirement in January, Dean North moved to his home in Brooksville, Pennsylvania, where he is presently devoting his time to his business interests and to activities which will help to make teaching one of the great professions.

Dr. North's successor, John A. Hoch, assumed his new duties as Dean of Instruction with the beginning of the summer session.

The recently elected 1955-56 College Council prepares to assume duties under their new president, Robert Evans, as Ed Connolley ends successful presidential career.

1954-1955 in RETROSPECT

by ED SISCOE

On September 7, 1954, the campus of State Teachers College, Bloomsburg, as many other campuses of teachers colleges in Pennsylvania, welcomed a large new freshman class. The next day, the remaining classes arrived on campus; not so much to register, but moreso to chit-chat with their friends of the preceding years. On September 13, Freshman Customs, under the capable guiding hands of Kaki Crew and Al Miles, began.

The classroom saw some new faces. The new members of the faculty include Dr. Thomas Martin, director of Business Education; Mrs. Margaret McCern, in the field of business education; Miss Gwendolyn Reams, as the new librarian; Miss Mary Kramer, in the field of special education; Dr. Claude Bordner, in the field of secondary education; and Mr. Donald Herberholz, in the field of elementary art. The dormitory residents also met the new housekeeper, Mrs. Helen Loreman.

October rushed upon us, and before we knew it, we were celebrating the 27th annual Homecoming on October 16. Hundreds of alumni and guests saw the Husky football team defeat Wilkes College 44-0; and the various organization float entries in the West Chester Parade agreed with the judges when the first prize was awarded to the Rinky Dinks. The first in a series of Civic Music Association programs presented Gregory and Strong, an outstanding dance and instrumental team. Pledges were received into the fraternities on campus, the coed rooms were judged, and the Freshman Reception was held.

During November, Bloomsburg was the host for the eighth annual educators and businessmen's conference of teachers and administrators. Custom trials — always a highlight of student co-operation — were held in the newly renovated Waller Hall Student Lounge. The Freshman Talent Show was presented to the enjoyment of the upperclassmen. Thirteen seniors were chosen to represent Bloomsburg in the 1954 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." Those seniors chosen were: Lynda Bogart, Janice Bower, Edward Connolley, Jean Griffiths, Grace Histed, Hope Horne, Jeanetta Mincer, June Lukac, Joyce Lundy, Mike Moran, Sally Morgan, Relda Rohrbach, and Nancy Sue Williams.

In early November, Dr. Thomas P. North, beloved Dean of Instruction at B.S.T.C. for twenty-five years, announced his approaching retirement. John A. Hoch, the amiable Dean of Men, was announced as successor to the Dean of Instruction's position. "Religion in Life" Week was instituted on the "friendly campus" and met with huge success. Plans for Jazz Concert, to be held on campus in early February, were proceeding under the capable direction of the Social and Recreational Committee. The 1954 Varsity Queen was proclaimed at the Varsity Dance on November 22. A beautiful, personable lass from Williamsport, Miss Barbara Lentz received her crown from Robert Cumens, president of the Varsity Club.

The first of the bi-annual scholarship and grants awards were made to students on December 9. The Sophomore Class honored Barbara Lentz by crowning her the "Candyland Queen" for the annual Sophomore Class Cotillion. Plans (which never did materialize) for an inter-fraternity dance were being formulated by the various representatives of the fraternities on campus. Preparations for the annual quiz show, "Battle of the Classes," sponsored by Phi Sigma Pi Fraternity, were well under way by mid-December. All campus organization meetings were well attended during December of the final meeting of the old year . . . and also for the ample supply of goodies. The first "All-Sophomore Week" also appeared.

January saw the first graduating class of the 1954-55 school year. Fifteen graduates heard the Commencement Address from the President of the College, Dr. Harvey A. Andruss. During January, the Placement Brochure of the 1955 graduating class was released to high school officials in Pennsylvania and neighboring states.

February saw the beginning of a survey of the past graduates of Bloomsburg State Teachers College with regard to graduate study at the college in the near future. The Dramatic Club presented the comedy, "Lo and Behold," to the student body as its annual presentation. "Up in Central Park" was presented as the theme of the annual Freshman Class, and the department heads of the OLYMPIAN, the college literary magazine, were named. The Co-ed of the Year Contest, directed by Tom Higgins, was held; and Miss Bobbi Roadside, Sophomore, was crowned by last year's Co-ed, Miss Joan Christie. Max Kaminsky and his jazzmen were enthusiastically received; what pandemonium reigned on February 1 at Centennial Gymnasium! The underclassmen defeated the upperclassmen in the "Battle of the Classes" during the assembly program on February 8.

The ninth annual Sales Rally was held at the college on March 5, and some 800 people attended an enjoyed the proceedings. The bloodmobile visited the campus on March 21.

On March 18, candidates for the offices of College Council for 1955-56 were named and presented in assembly. "Out of This World" was announced as the theme of the annual Fashion Show. Preparations for the Junior Prom were underway, and delegates were named for the spring conferences of fraternities and student governments. March was certainly a busy month for naming students to represent BSTC in an honorable manner, both at home and away.

The final results of the College Council elections were announced on April 1: President, Robert Evans; Vice-President, Richard Strine; Secretary, Sally Stallone; Treasurer, James Nicholas; Assistant-Treasurer, Richard Connolley. The All-College Talent Show was presented under the direction of Bertha Knouse and Joan Christie. The annual concert of the Maroon and Gold Band was presented under the direction of Mr. Nelson Miller on April 5. The Freshman Class developed a new and most welcome way to spend a weekend: a square dance combined with a hayride to an honest-to-goodness farm. The Junior Class presented "A Grecian Dream". The twenty-fifth anniversary of the Department of Business Education was celebrated during April, with the Conference of the Pennsylvania Business Education Association being held on our campus.

New instructors and other staff members were announced during April. Mr. Walter Blair was named to the position of assistant coach and assistant dean of men; Dr. John Serff was named assistant professor of social studies.

May saw the second presentation of the awarding of grants and scholarships to students; the distribution of the OBITER, the annual yearbook; the election of new class as well as club officers; the awarding of a service plaque to Dr. Harvey Andruss for his outstanding service toward business education; the ninth fashion show.

Growing Need for Graduate Study Seen at B.S.T.C.

A growing need for the addition of a program of graduate studies to the curricular offerings of the Bloomsburg State Teachers College is indicated by the results of a study which is now being made of the 1845 graduates of the college from 1941 to 1953. Only 18 percent of the more than 1250 alumni who answered the questionnaire mailed to them have completed the requirements for the master's degree, leaving more than a thousand graduates of the college who would likely be interested in course work at the graduate level, if and when it is offered at Bloomsburg.

A total of 229 Bloomsburg alumni reported that they have been awarded graduate degrees since their graduation. Of that number, 186 are men and 43 are women. Those who have earned advanced degrees represent roughly one-half those who said they began graduate work.

The Class of 1947 holds the distinction of having the largest percentage of its members in the master's degree class—43 percent, but all six male graduates of the Class of 1944, who returned their questionnaires, hold graduate degrees—a record of 100%.

Bucknell University leads the list of institutions which granted master's degrees to Bloomsburg graduates, the Lewisburg institution having conferred graduate degrees on 76 B.S.T.C. alumni. Teachers College, Columbia University, is second with 27, while New York trails with 25 and the Pennsylvania State University is fourth with 20. In all, thirty American universities and colleges are represented on the list of institutions which Bloomsburg graduates have reported as having conferred on them master's degree.

College authorities have been studying the possibility of establishing a graduate program on a part-time and summer basis. A faculty committee headed by Clayton H. Kinkel is developing certain items of information concerning the demand for graduate work, and a postal card survey of the graduates of the institution as well as public school teachers in the college's service area will be made in order to determine how many would be interested in work at the graduate level on part-time and summer basis. Approval by the State Council of Education is necessary, however, before any graduate courses can be offered.

Underclassmen Win Fifth Presentation Of "Class Battle"

The fifth annual presentation of the "Battle of the Classes" sponsored by Phi Sigma Pi in cooperation with Time magazine was held Tuesday, Feb. 8, during assembly.

Those participating in the contest were as follows: Freshmen, Marjorie Meyers and Ronald Jensen; Sophomores, Marilyn Ritter and Robert Ebner; Juniors, Jean Zimmerman and Oliver McHenry; Seniors, Ruth Paul and George Schell.

Dean of Instruction John A. Hoch served as Master of Ceremonies while the time keeper was Harold Shelly. The judges were Mr. Russell Schelcker, Mrs. Olive Beeman, and Dr. Thomas Martin. The contest was won by the underclassmen 26-20.

"Contemporary World Figures and World Affairs" was the subject, and Time magazine was the (Continued on page 4)

BSTC Enrollment Hits 817, Exceeds Previous Record

With American Colleges and universities accommodating more student than ever before, Bloomsburg State Teachers College has the largest second semester enrollment in its history. With a registration of 817 students, the college enrollment figure exceeds the former high of 778 students registered in February 1950, following World War II.

Included in the second-semester figures are 116 Freshmen students, the largest group of first-year students to enter college for the second semester since January 1946, when World War II G.I.'s were returning from overseas. The Freshman Class numbered 270 in September 1954.

A breakdown of the 1955 enrollment figures indicates that the Department of Business Education has become the largest division of the college with an enrollment of 289, as compared with 284 in the Secondary curriculum and 244 in the Elementary curriculum.

Men outnumber women on the Bloomsburg campus, 498 to 319—a unique situation in American teacher-education institutions. In the Department of Elementary Education, however, there are only 60 men, with a ratio of three women for every man enrolled. The Secondary curriculum has a 7 to 1 male ratio, while there are two male students for every woman studying in the Department of Business Education.

A January graduating class of only 125 students and a May class of 130 will not greatly relieve a growing shortage of teachers for the public schools. This shortage may likely be aggravated by the decision to limit the number of new students to be admitted in September 1955. Serious consideration is being given to the size of next year's Freshman class in view of the fact that the maximum enrollment of the college must be kept at or near 800.

Religion-in-Life Week Featured Noted Speakers

Religion-in-Life Week is observed on campuses throughout the United States. This year, for the first time, a top-notch program has been planned for a Religion-in-Life Week on our campus by a committee composed of Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish students under the guidance of Mr. Hinkel, sponsor of the Student Christian Association, and other members of the faculty.

The Rev. Raymond Shakeen, Pastor of Messiah's Evangelical Lutheran Church, South Williamsport, spoke on Tuesday, Nov. 16, at 10 a.m. At 7 p.m. an informal discussion on "How Can We Deal with the Social Problems of the Campus?" was held in the Social Rooms, Science Hall.

Wednesday, November 17, at 7 p.m. a Vesper Service was held in Carver Auditorium. The speaker will be Rabbi Isaac Vander Walde, Congregation Beth-el, Sunbury. At 8 p.m., an informal discussion on "What Should the Boy-Girl Relationship be During Courtship?" was conducted in Science Hall Social Room.

Thursday, November 18, at 10 a.m., The Rt. Rev. Monsignor George D. Mulcahy, V. F., Pastor, St. Edward Church, Shamokin, will preside. At 3:30 p.m., the topic "What Are the Problems of Mixed Marriages?" will be discussed in Science Hall.

B.S.T.C. Honors Her Numerous Authors By Library Display

Bloomsburg has taken the opportunity on this Homecoming Day to honor the many authors among her faculty, alumni and students. A colorful display featuring many of these authors has been set up in the college library, and some of each writer's work has been included in the display so that students and Homecoming Day visitors may see the fascinating materials and varied content of the publications.

Although every effort was made to get information on each author, it was not possible in every case. Anyone having additional information is asked to notify the Maroon and Gold, and this material will be used in the planned future articles on individual writers.

Included in the library display are the publications of many of our current faculty and administration heads. For example, Burgess Business Law by President Andruss, Growing in Citizenship by Mr. Barton, and Rowe Typing by Mr. Rygiel.

Also displayed are What Happens Is by Mrs. Marie Colt Reese, who is a B.S.T.C. graduate and has written this amusing book about Mrs. Clarice Hummel, another B.S.T.C. graduate, and alumna Eleanor Sands Smith's book of poetry, St. Martin's Summer. A famous B.S.T.C. writing team is Mr. and Mrs. John Bakeless. Our library contains five books by Mr. Bakeless, including books about Daniel Boone and Christopher Marlowe. Mrs. Bakeless (nee Little) has written several books such as Story Lives of Great Composers, and Birth of a Nation's Song.

Two members of the class of 1954 had magazine articles published; David Newbury breaking into "The Commonwealth" with Danville's Iron Past, and Al Chiscon appearing in "School Science and Mathematics" with Skull-duggery. Both of these articles are illustrated with snapshots taken by the authors.

Many of the other articles are intended for professional magazines, and tend to be of a technical nature, such as Dr. Kuster's A Study of the General Biology, Morphology of Respiratory System and Respiration of Certain Aquatic Stratomyia and Odontomyia Larvae (Dystera), and Dr. Serony's Marginalia by Coleridge in Three of His Published Works. Quite a few faculty members have written in the educational field, for example, Dr. Hallisy, Mr. Gehrig Budget Procedures for Extra Curricular Organizations, Mr. Hinkel, Mr. Henrie Techniques of Staging School Fashion Shows, Mr. Schelcker, and Mr. Ralph Fisher Smith.

Mr. DeVoe and Dr. Russel have each published articles of general interest on varied subjects.

BSTC Homecoming Climaxed by Dance

The 27th annual Homecoming was celebrated on October 16 when a large crowd consisting of alumni and friends gathered at "the friendly college" to renew old friendships. The Maroon and Gold band under the direction of Mr. Nelson Miller began the festivities at 10:30 with a concert in the lounge. A luncheon was served at 11:30 in the college dining room, followed by visitation of the dormitories.

The traditional Homecoming game with Wilkes College was a one-sided affair with the Huskies coming out on top 44-0. (Continued on page 4)

FOOTBALL

by JACK BUSHEY

When school opened in the fall the 1954 edition of the Husky football team was already hard at work. With 20 returning lettermen and a host of freshmen candidates, Coach Yohe set out to round into shape one of the best teams ever seen on College Hill.

Breezing through its first four opponents in commanding style the Husky grid machine met its Waterloo (on Mt. Olympus) when it faced the New Haven STC Bald Eagles. Demanding revenge from last year's 14-12 defeat the New England Tutors, who, incidentally were number one in the nation in passing, invaded our hill top Alma Mater and taught the Huskies a few things in their 28-13 triumph. Bouncing back from their initial defeat the Yoheman traveled to California where they eaked out a victory from a stubborn host club.

This set the stage for the STC Conference Championship game at West Chester. It was a cold, windy November night that saw the Huskies battle the standout Ram team. Coach Glenn Kilinger had his boys up for the contest and there was no stopping them. Scoring two quick touchdowns through Huskie fumbles and another on a 90-yard pass play, the Rams led 21-0 at half time. The night grew colder and more depressing for many Bloom fans, as the Huskies couldn't get started against their superior foes and were humbled by a 40-0 defeat.

Although they had lost the STC crown the Yohemen didn't call it quits, but went out and soundly thumped Lock Haven 40-13 in the season's final contest.

Mansfield was the Huskies first of the campaign. Bloom scored two quick and paralyzing touchdowns in the first five minutes of play on an interception by tackle Harry Hughes and a blocked punt by Bob Cumens. That set up the second score. Before intermission the Huskies added seven more points to lead 21-0.

At the start of the second half Jim Browning, Harv Boughner, and Alex Boychuck combined nice runs to score the final points. Senior end Bob Cumens made the four perfect conversions.

Cortland Teachers of New York state were next to visit Mt. Olympus and feel the fangs of the Huskies. Although the visitors scored first the Yohemen bounced back to tally three times in the first half and again in the third quarter to gain a 26-13 decision. Alex Boychuck scored twice on runs and Harv Boughner crashed the line to add seven to the Bloom total. An ariel from quarterback Dippi to end Bob Stroup accounted for the final points.

Homecoming day saw an overflowing crowd and a great but one sided football game. The Huskies played host to their Wyoming Valley neighbors, Wilkes College. Once in possession of the ball Bloom couldn't be stopped. Jim Browning, All-State and all STC conference halfback, raced fifty-five yards for the initial score. A few plays later Bob Stroup crossed the wide stripe after receiving a pass from Mike Lashendock. The Huskies scored twice more in the first half and three times after the half. Jim Browning brought the crowd to its feet in the third period with a dazzling 67 yard scamper to paydirt and the game ended in a 44-0 Husky runaway. The Huskies then moved to meet

by JOHN AIKEN

During the past year Bloomsburg STC fielded a football team which tied for the championship, a basketball team that compiled a fourteen and three record in beating some good teams, and a baseball team which won the championship. But it was the wrestling team that captured the hearts of the fans in winning only one meet and losing six.

It was the first that Bloomsburg had seen a wrestling squad since before the war, and to many students the first time they had ever seen intercollegiate wrestling. After Coach Yohe introduced to us the different holds, take-downs, etc., we waited impatiently to see what our squad would do against the school's experienced in this particular sport.

The Huskies held their own throughout. We lost to Millersville STC at home in our first contest. We fared well in losing a close one. Captain Red Welliver and Harry Hughes won their respective matches. The Maroon and Gold grapplers held their own also against East Stroudsburg STC as Welliver, freshman Bob Asby and Hughes won, while Kenny Lynn drew a tie against his opponent. We lost a very close meet against Indiana STC as Wiliver, Don Wise and Tom Persing pinned their men. We made a good showing against Wilkes before going down to defeat. Against Lock Haven STC and West Chester, however, it was a different story. Lock Haven, who has Purdue University and the University of Pittsburgh on their wrestling schedule also trounced us, while West Chester, the STC champs, beat us by a large amount. In our only win of the season Lincoln University was the victim. Each Bloomsburg grappler "pinned" his man in winning 40-0.

The winter sport was received with much enthusiasm by the students and faculty, and provided them with thrills on every move. The freshmen-studded matmen who fought every minute were—Chuck Kuntz, who had trouble keeping down to his playing weight and Al Nuss, who participated with no previous experience at 123 pounds, Ken Lynn of Williamsport wrestled at 130 and Bill Troiani at 137. Captain Welliver grappled at 147 pounds. Bill Conovan, George Chaump, Charles Abenmoha, and Frank took their turns wrestling at 157 pounds. Bob Asby at 167 pounds improved as the season wore on. Don Wise did his share of mat-tending at 177 pounds. Hughes and Tom Persing divided the heavyweight chores.

At the season's end Welliver, Wise, Abenmoha, and George Chaump represented Bloomsburg at the State Teachers College Championship Meet held at Lock Haven. They all fared well with Welliver and Wise coming home with a third place each in their weight class.

From this year's squad only two matmen will be lost through graduation, namely, Welliver and Persing. The only junior is Don Wise and Harry Hughes, the only sophomore. The remaining grapplers are freshmen. With this in mind and the potentiality which each wrestler shows as it should be interesting to see how Bloomsburg does in the 1955-56 season. As a rabid Brooklyn Dodger fan would say "Wait'll next year."

BASKETBALL

by BILL KAUTZ

The Bloomsburg State Teachers College Basketball Team, posted their best won and lost record since the end of World War II, by winning 13, and losing only 4. The charges of Coach Harold Shelly were in top form all season dropping only one game on the Centennial Hardwoods. This victory went to Millersville STC, this year's State Teachers College Champions. Millersville has not lost a game in STC competition since the championship Huskies defeated them in 1952.

Of the 4 games the Huskies lost this season, they were on top in all 4 contests at the end of the first half. In both games with Millersville, the Huskies went down in defeat during the closing minutes of the contest. However, Millersville loses their ace goal-getter Bill Workheiser, his year. Workheiser had scored 20 points in every game against Bloomsburg. On the other hand, the Huskies only have 1 starter graduating this year, Fred Betz. Although Fred will be missed by this teamates, there are several promising freshmen coming into varsity competition. Jim Snyder, Bob Boyle, Jim Gustave, and John Shaeffer have all seen some varsity duty this year, and one of them should work into Fred's old spot nicely. Len Kozick, who followed Betz in the scoring race this year will be back for 2 more seasons. Bob Evans, who scored 231 Husky points last season will be back for 1 more year of action. Also returning will be starters Keith Weiser, and Mo Morson, who together gathered almost 400 points for the Huskies. After weighing the facts, it certainly looks like the lads from the Friendly Colege, should take the State Teachers College Basketball Championship in the 1955-1956 season. Coach Harold Shelly who is in his sixth year as head mentor of the Husky cage squad, assures us that he will put only the best team possible on the Husky Hardwoods. Coach Shelly can also boast of Championship teams he has had in the past, not only at Bloomsburg, but at his previous position.

Jim Gustave, who was picked for all-tournament honors in the 1953-54 basketball tournament at BSTC, is certainly a fine addition to Coach Shelly's squad. Jim, who hails from Plains, Pa. was an out-and showed the Centennial fans last season that he knows his onions when it comes to basketball. The six-foot freshman accounted for 108 points his first season in a Husky uniform. Considering that this was only about one-third of the actual playing time involved in the past season, we can expect big things of Jim. He gathered 106 of these points through field goals, by converting 45% of his attempts.

During the past season, the Huskies only lost one game at home, the other three contests that they lost were at Lock Haven, Millersville, and at Kings College in Wilkes-Barre. The Huskies defeated Losk Haven and Kings at home, but just couldn't turn the trick on the foreign courts, Wilkes College, Mansfield STC, Kutztown STC, West Chester, and Cheyney STC, all lost two games apiece to the Huskies. Bloomsburg set a new scoring record for Centennial Gymnasium by scoring 109 points against Cheyney STC. This proved to be one of the finest games witnessed by local fans for many years at Bloomsburg State Teachers College.

In closing, we would like to thank Fred Betz for his efforts to make Bloomsburg basketball teams the best ever. Fred, who has been an outstanding player since coming to Bloomsburg, is graduating this year. Fred will be remembered for many years, not only for his basketball ability, but as an outstanding student, classmate, and sportsman. Good luck to you in your teaching career. May your chosen profession hold nothing but the bet for you.

TRACK

by KEITH McKAY

As Coach Harold Shelly looked over the prospects for his 1955 track campaign, he found that only four past letter winners would be standing by for action. These four seasoned candidates, around which he would have to mould his team were: Keith Weiser, high jump specialist with two seasons to his credit; Buzz Wool, with a season's experience in the mile and the two-mile; Al Tucker, a speedy junior sprint artist; and Jim Browning, a junior who had proven his skill with the javelin as a frosh.

A great many younger hopefuls would be needed to fill out the team and give it the depth necessary for a successful season. Coach Shelly would be relying on such talent as Harry Hughes, Jerry Wood, Jim Long, and Tom Doty in the weight events. Hopes in the running department would be resting on Charlie Lougherty, Bill Troine, Ross Bartleson, Tommy Garret, and Don Holmes. Much needed help might be found in Frank Krem and Al Nuss, two promising pole vaulters.

The addition of this talent from the ranks of the untested frosh and sophomores provided Coach Shelly with what was to be the best post-war track team produced at B. S. T. C.

Evidence of this fact was found in an impressive season record. First on the list were the phys-ed majors of Lock Haven who left Navy Hall Field 20 points behind the victorious Huskies. This was the second straight year that Lock Haven suffered defeat at the hands of B. S. T. C.

The highlight of the season came when Coach Shelly took five of his fastest cinder pounders to Philadelphia for the 61st annual running of the University of Pennsylvania's famed Penn Relays. The Husky thin-clads were able to take second place in the State Teachers College mile relay behind West Chester.

The relay team, which won silver medals for its efforts, was composed of Buzz Wool, who ran the first leg, Ross Bartleson, running second, Eddie Watts, carrying the baton for the third lap, and Jim Browning, running anchor. An impressive 3:33 was turned in by the Huskies, very close behind West Chester's winning time of 3:29.

Bloom was also a contestant in the half-mile relay of America, taking fourth place in the heat—one place out of the qualifying requirements. This team was made up of Jim Browning, John Wool, Eddie Watts, and Al Tucker.

Following the Penn Relays, Bloomsburg traveled to Shippensburg to participate in the All-State Teachers College Meet. The team returned home in third place, bringing with them a new state champion in the high hurdles in the person of Charlie Lougherty. Besides a first, Charlie placed second in the low hurdles. Buzz Wool came through with a third in the mile and Jim Gustave tied for third in the high jump.

The fourth meet found the Huskies once again defending the home fort as Cheyney visited the campus, determined to make it two in a row. They returned home on the very short end of a 87½ to 30½ rout. Bloom had swept every first place with the exception of the discus event.

The last meet took place at Scranton University, where the Huskies lost a close 67½ to 57½ decision.

With the fine showing of the veterans and the frosh starters, Coach Shelly has high hopes of an even better team in 1956.

BASEBALL

by WALTER KOZLOSKI

The 1955 edition of the Bloomsburg baseball Huskies got off to a good start for their new baseball mentor, Dr. E. Paul Wagner, when they defeated the Colonels of Wilkes College by a 5-4 count at Wilkes-Barre's Kirby Park.

Rudy Holtzman, the port sider from Clarks Summit, was the starter and the winner for the College Hill nine, but Jimmy Starr did some fine relief work to keep that victory for his team mate.

Bloom scored five runs on nine hits and seven miscues, with eight men stranded. Wilkes had four runs on six hits and three errors, and left nine men on the bases. The only extra-base hit was a double in the second inning by Bobby Dipipi.

The local lads kept up their winning ways when they entertained Mansfield and dropped the Mountaineers by an 8-3 score. Charlie Kwiatkowski drew the mound duties for the day and pitched 8 innings of superb baseball before being lifted for a pinch-hitter in the eighth.

The Colege Hill Nine started the scoring off in the third with singles by Shustack, Casper, and Halcovich and a Mountaineer error that brought in two Husky runs. Mansfield came to life in the 4th with two homers, but the Huskies bounced back in their 44th frame with 2 more counters. Bloom added 1 in the 6th, and 3 more in the 8th for security. Although Mansfield threatened in the 9th, the Huskies held them to a single score, and brought home the bacon.

The Huskies hadn't beaten Lock Haven on the diamond for six straight seasons, but newly acquired freshman southpaw, Johnny Huda, set them down to defeat 6-3.

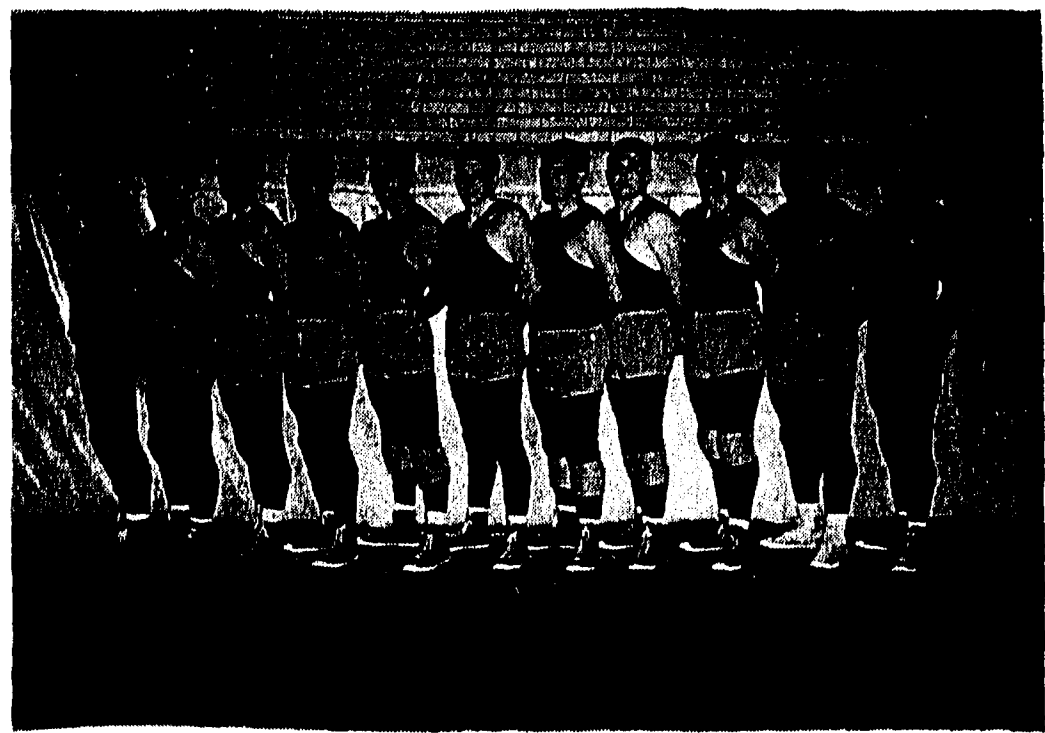

The charges of Coach Paul Wagner made it four in a row when they journeyed to Kutztown to take the Golden Avelanche to task by a 11-9 count in a grueling battle that lasted over four hours and saw the lead change hands no less than seven times. It was a big day at the plate for veteran, fleet-footed Eddie Shustack, as he hit safely four out of five and scored four big runs in the Husky count.

The Huskies undefeated nine turned in its fifth consecutive win of the season over Millersville STC by a 3-2 score. The locals were down two runs at the end of the first inning and weren't able to even up until the seventh. Then they won the game when Danny Fink was walked in the eighth with the sacks loaded and therefore forcing in the winning run.

With an unblemished record of 5 wins to keep intact, the Huskies traveled to Lock Haven with high hopes of clinching the championship then and there. Lock Haven was still smarting from its earlier defeat, however, and properly trounced the Hilltop Nine by the revengeful score of 14-3.

A little the worse for the wear, the Huskies lost the closest game of their season a few days later to an out-of-state Rider College team by a heartbreaking 5-4 score. A disputed call at home in the 8th went against the local lads and hopes of the championship dimmed for "Doc" and his diamond men.

However, the Huskies proved they deserved the STC Crown at West Chester as they showed the Golden Rams how to play the game with a thrilling 9-8 victory. The Frosh standout, John Huda, won this all-important game and the Huskies brought back the STC Championship with them back to Bloomsburg.

800 Enjoy Speaker At the 9th Annual B.S.T.C. Sales Rally

Some 800 persons, most of them engaged in one form or another of merchandising, were literally "sold on selling" last Thursday night, as Bloomsburg State Teachers College staged its ninth and most successful annual sales rally.

Featured speakers were Eugene P. Mapel, vice president of Barrington Associates, who gave the six fundamentals for master salesmanship, and Jim Watson, president of James Watson Associates who delighted the audience in a theatrical presentation of do's and don'ts in retail selling.

The auditorium was filled to capacity for the event which marked one of the highlights of the college's observance of its business education department's silver anniversary. Dr. Harvey Andrus, president of the college, and founder of the department, extended welcome to the record assemblage.

Dr. Thomas B. Martin, director of the business department, credited Charles Henrie, member of the faculty, with the success of the rally. Harold Crossman, Mt. Carmel textile executive, introduced the speakers.

Prior to the rally, a dinner was held in the college dining hall for guests who included members of the Berwick, Benton, Bloomsburg, and Danville Kiwanis Clubs.

Watson, for almost an hour and a half, squirmed, mimicked, pantomimed, shouted and whispered through the roles of customer and clerk, declared that every salesman should have some "ham" in him, and that the only difference between the legitimate theatre and the "retail theater" is that in the former "You pay before the show" while in the latter, if the show's no good, "no pay."

Mapel, with the illustration of a flannel board, cited attributes of the good salesman: preparedness, presentation of product to show the benefits to the buyer, stimulation of desire, tell the facts, eliminate retarding factors that influence the buyer, and "ring up sales." In his presentation, the key words spelled out the word "Master" in keeping with his message.

their other undefeated Valley foe, Kings College. When the evening ended all was quiet in the Valley as the Huskies had routed the hopeless Monarchs 49-0. Quarterback Lashendock passed for two cores to show the fans that Bloom also had an ariel offense. Jim Browning again thrilled the spectators with a 76-yard gallop made possible by key blocks on the part of Tom Persing, Bob Stroup and line-backer Charlie Skiptunis.

At the end of the first four weeks of play the Huskies were number one in the state in both total offense and defense and among the top ten in the nation. Although they ended the season with an 8-2 record the Yohemen retained their high standing in these categories.

1954-1955 in RETROSPECT

The editors of the college student publications were announced in late May; they are: Joanne Hester, who will assume the editorship of the OBITER, after completing a most successful year as editor of the MAROON AND GOLD; Martha Starvatow, who will advance to the editor's desk of the MAROON AND GOLD; Evelyn Gilchrist, who will take over as editor-in-chief of the OLYMPIAN; and Edward Siscoe, who will steer the student handbook, THE PILOT, to completion in time for distribution in September.

gining of the second semester, on January 25, 1955.

Dean Hoch, a native of Milton, Pennsylvania, and a graduate of Pennsylvania State College and Bucknell University, accepted a position on the faculty of the Bloomsburg State Teachers College in 1946, after 12 years of teaching in the Milton schools.

He was one of the pioneers in the founding of the Pennsylvania State Teachers College Athletic Conference in 1950, and has served as secretary-treasurer of that state-wide organization since its beginning.

Jack W. Yohe was chosen to succeed Dean Hoch as Dean of Men. Previously, he had been assistant to Mr. Hoch. He is a product of Lock Haven State Teachers College and Temple University, where he completed all the academic requirements for his Doctor's Degree in Education.

Mr. Yohe taught and coached at Biglerville High School, but served in the U. S. Navy for 46 months when World War II interrupted his work. Following his separation from the service in 1946 with the rank of lieutenant, he taught for one year at Upper Merion High School before accepting an assignment at the West Chester State Teachers College.

While at West Chester, Mr. Yohe served as backfield coach and junior varsity basketball coach, as well as an instructor in the Health and Physical Education Department. Coach Yohe resigned from the West Chester faculty in 1952 in order to accept the head coaching position at Bloomsburg State Teachers College, and his subsequent promotion as Dean of Men.

the game the alumni were given a chance to renew old acquaintances when, at 4:00 a get-together was held in Navy Hall Lounge. A cafeteria dinner was served at 5:30 in the dining hall.

The day's celebration was climaxed at 8:00 when the annual Homecoming Dance was held in Centennial Gymnasium with Al Anderson providing the music.

Education Meeting Previewed Next 25 Business Ed. Years

Bloomsburg State Teachers College commemorated the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of its Department of Business Education by Dr. Harvey A. Andrus at the Annual Conference of the Eastern Division of the Pennsylvania Business Education Association convened at the college on April 30, 1955.

Business educators and businessmen of the Commonwealth looked into the future when they discussed this year's conference theme, "The Next Twenty-Five Years of Business Education in Pennsylvania."

Mr. William Reed, head of the Business Department of Bloomsburg High School, served as chairman. Part of the program was devoted to six panel discussions concerning both the role and the problems of business education in our educational program. Arrangements were completed for approximately thirty educators and businessmen to participate on the various panels.

Chairman of the program was Ed Siscoe, assisted by Pat Giangilio and William Miekke.
