New Faculty Members Join College Staff

Dr. Donald F. Maletta of Pittsburgh, Pa. has been appointed assistant professor of speech correction. He received his degree of Bachelor of Science in Education from BSTC in 1950. Following his graduation, he was a graduate assistant to the University of Pittsburgh, a member of the faculty of West Liberty State College, West Liberty, West Va., and a speech pathologist for the National Crippled Children's Society at Washington, Pa.

Dr. Maletta holds the Degrees of Master of Science and Doctor of Philosophy from the University of Pittsburgh. Since 1953, he has been a hearing and speech therapist of the Department of Public Instruction.

George G. Stradtman of Wyoming has been appointed associate professor of mathematics and science. He was graduated from Millersville State Teachers College with the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education, and holds the Master of Education degree from Temple University. Additional graduate work was taken at the Pennsylvania State University and Union College, Schenectady, New York.

Mr. Stradtman has taught in the Standard Evening High School in Reading, the West Lampeter Township High School, Lampeter, Pa., and the Perkiomen School at Pennsburg.

Walter R. Blair has been appointed assistant football coach and assistant dean of men. He will hold the rank of Assistant Professor of Science.

Mr. Blair is a native of Philadelphia and received the Bachelor of Science degree from West Chester State Teachers College in 1950. He started his teaching and coaching career in Neshaminy High School, Langhorne. He was head football and baseball coach at Jenkintown High School, and in the fall of 1954 joined the faculty of the Chambersburg Area High School. Along with his teaching and coaching duties, Mr. Blair has been pursuing graduate work at Temple University.

Dr. John J. Serff of State College was assigned the post of Professor of Social Studies. He is a graduate of Shippensburg State Teachers College and has been awarded the degrees of Master of Education and Doctor of Philosophy by the Pennsylvania State University. Dr. Serff has twenty-seven years of teaching experience in public schools and has taught intermittently at Pennsylvania State University and California State Teachers College.

B.S.T.C. Enrollment Shows Increase of 300: Largest Student Body in History

BSTC enrollment shows an increase of over 300 students with the newly instated Freshman class, according to figures recently made available by Mr. Hoch, Dean of Instruction. This brings the total college enrollment to an excess of 925 students, the largest body in the history of the college.

In addition to the 638 returning students, the college will educate and train for the teaching profession 243 new freshmen, 38 former students who have recently returned from military service, and 21 transfers and others. The last group includes school nurses and dental hygienists.

As a result of the large enrollment, the Freshman class will be divided into six sections in which they will take courses basic in teacher training. Later, they will specialize with an estimated 107 students majoring in Business education, as compared with 75 and 61 in Secondary and Elementary education, respectively.

There were so many applicants for college admittance this year that the office of the Dean of Instruction was compelled to close enrollment in mid-April. Mr. Hoch estimates that over 500 prospective students had to be turned away because of lack of facilities to accommodate them. As it stands now, college facilities will be used to their maximum in order to house and train the present influx of students.

Several interesting facts were made available by Mr. Hoch during the course of an interview by a Maroon and Gold reporter. For example, for the first time since World War II, women outnumber men in an incoming class. The Freshman class, this year, includes 142 women and 101 men. The reason for the upswing in the number of women admitted is the simple fact that women applied earlier. Many men were turned away, not because they failed to qualify, but because they applied too late. However, the overall college figure (Continued on page 3)

Co-Pilot Is New Dorm Handbook

Waller Hall women have been sporting a new handbook—the Co-Pilot. Among its many new features are a smaller size, new name, and a new cover. All of the information within the handbook has been condensed and revised. The hard-working staff is to be commended for its fine work: editor-in-chief, Martha Starvatow; associate editors, Joan Koch, Nancy Shipman, Evelyn Gilchrist; typist, Miriam Miller.

1955 Pilot Has Many New Features

By this time all have seen or should have seen the new 1955 Pilot. This handbook, an informational aid for all students, is published by members of the Community Government Association. The 28th volume of the Pilot was compiled by a group of capable, hard-working students under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Miller. The staff responsible for the outstanding result is as follows: Editor-in-chief, Edward Siscoe; Asst. Editor, Carol Nearing; Art Editor, Robert Arbogast; Editors, Curtis English, Ray Hargreaves, Sandy McBride, Deanna Morgan, John Moss, Marjorie Meyers and Barbara Tuckwood.

The smaller size of the Pilot is perhaps its most outstanding feature. A note to freshmen: It's easier to put into your pockets while participating in those days of customs. For the sport fanatics a new and complete athletic calendar with a special place for game scores is available. This year's copy of the Pilot has a good-looking, yet durable, covering for those who are hard on book covers. All students, from freshmen to seniors, will surely be interested in the detailed social calendar. For the Pilot staff members, it's a job successfully done; and for every BSTC student, IT'S A GOOD THING!

New Class Officers Take Over Duties

During election time last May BSTC students showed good judgment in their choice of class officers. Realizing the responsibilities of a class leader, they elected those persons who are capable of carrying out their duties with great efficiency and success.

Greetings:

I hope to welcome you personally to our campus sometime in September. After four years I hope I shall have the opportunity of conferring your degree upon you. In the meantime, we are glad you are coming to Bloomsburg, and we congratulate you on your choice.

No doubt you have been busy unpacking your books, clothing, and other personal belongings, but I am wondering about your intangible luggage. Closed books standing on a library shelf in neat compact rows are like closed minds, they are not much good until they are opened and studied. One of the intangibles we hope you have brought to Bloomsburg is an open mind.

We hope you have brought to the campus a lively curiosity. Curiosity is a necessity to an open mind. If your mind is open and your curiosity is active during the four years you are at Bloomsburg, you will have at the end of four years a basis for making intelligent decisions.

Now it is up to you.

Cordially yours,

Harvey A. Andrus
President.

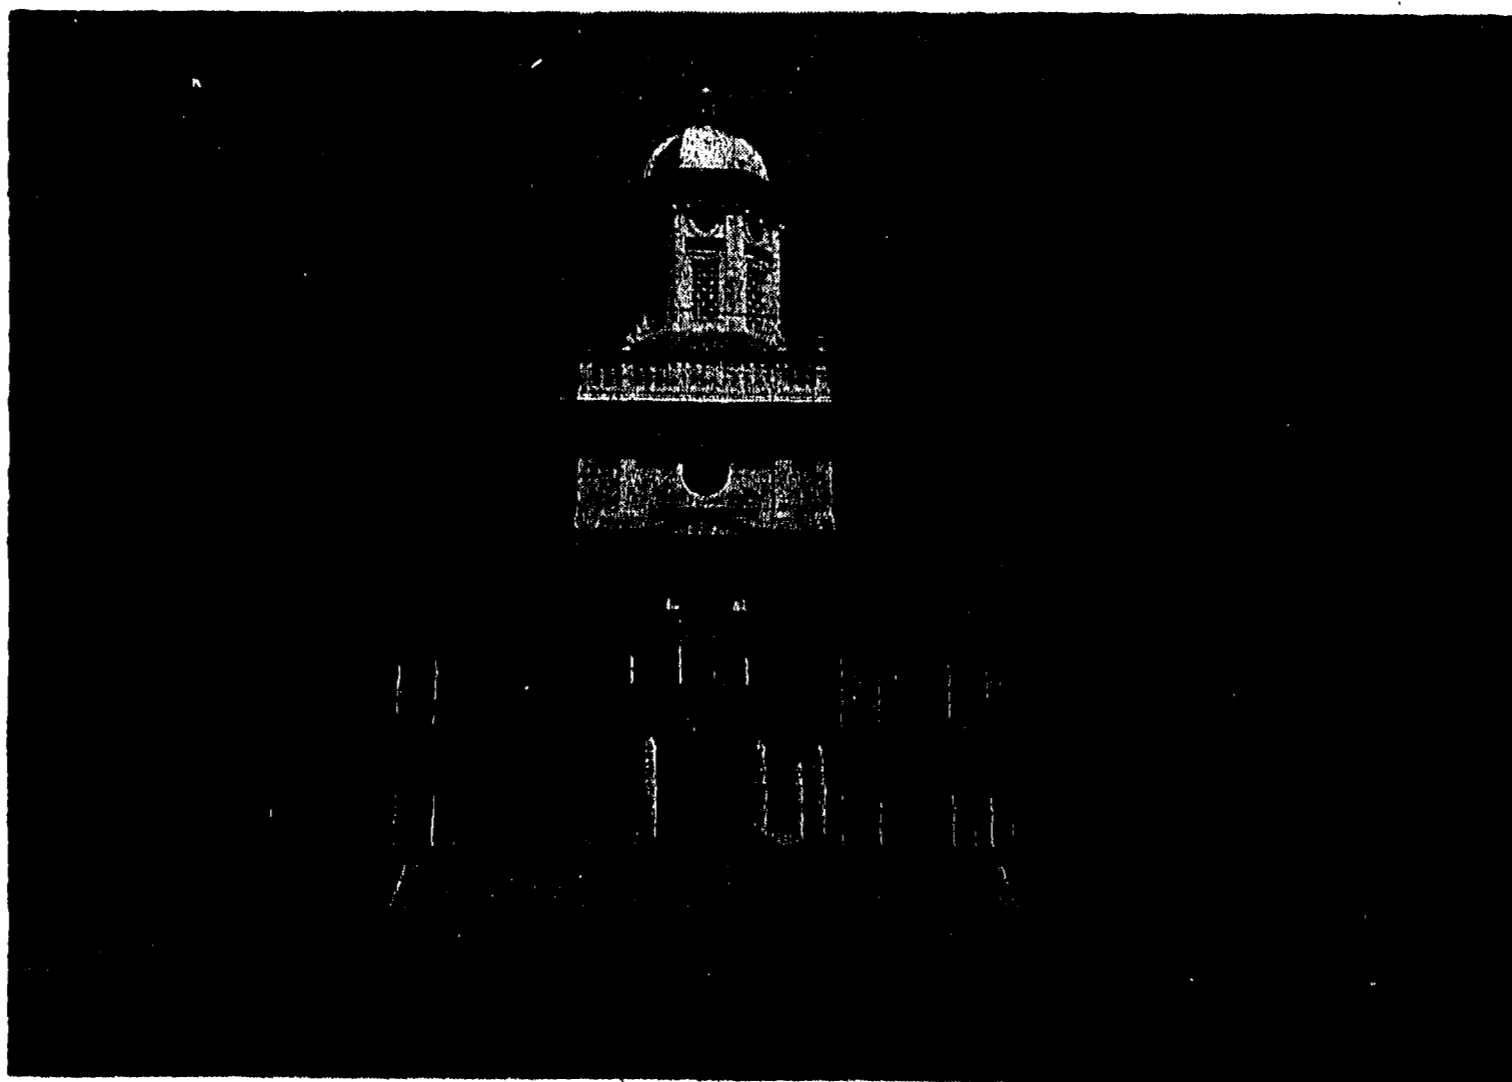

Many Activities For Freshman Week

When the large group of students with that certain "Freshmen Look" began registering on Monday morning, they soon learned that they were beginning a very busy week. "Have you had your physical yet?" and "where can I buy a Dink?" were the two most popular questions on that first big day. In the spanking new College Council office, Joanne Graeber and Bob Ebner were waiting to sell those important dinks. Jody and Bob also were on the lookout for talent, for they will have the task of producing the FRESHMAN TALENT SHOW on October 27. The men gathered on that first evening for a smoker in the Husky Lounge and later in the evening the women of Waller Hall enjoyed the first "Dorm Party" of the new term. Bright and early Tuesday morning the new class reported to Carver Auditorium to meet the President of the College, Dr. Harvey A. Andrus. Later the system of placement testing was explained by Dr. Paul Wagner, the administrator of the tests. Following the auditorium session, campus tours were led by Joan Reider and Bud Sheridan, the newly appointed Hospitality co-chairmen. At 1:00 p.m. the group returned again to Carver Hall and with some reluctance met the Customs Committee. At this time the cheerleaders began the annual "Pep Fest for Frosh", which is to help them learn the many traditional songs and cheers of the college. Following the taking of the class picture, a tea was held for the commuting women.

A Statement of Policy

With this, the first issue of the MAROON AND GOLD, we offer a statement of policy which shall be the guide of this publication throughout the school year. As a student at BSTC, you have a clear and decisive say in your paper, paid in large by your money, and aimed in main for your enlightenment, interest, and entertainment. You are urged to bring to our attention suggestions, disagreements, or any discussions of policy in which you may wish to indulge.

We welcome any criticisms and though we will not please all the people all the time, our goal is toward that end.

Our policy is this:

- To publish college news. Because a newspaper should be just that, in every sense of the word, college news shall take precedence over all other material submitted for publication.
- To be an organ of communication between students, faculty, and administration. Since the paper is a part of a very closely integrated social unit, it should be its duty, to inform each group about the interests, activities, and desires of the other.
- To provide information concerning activities in other colleges. Toward this purpose an exchange staff is maintained.
- To provide journalistic experience for any qualified interested students. Realizing that many new teachers are expected to take over such extra-curricular activities as yearbooks and school newspapers, we feel that work on the M&G should be of valuable assistance.
- To provide posterity with authentic college history. The college library preserves bound issues of the MAROON AND GOLD accumulated since the first paper was issued almost thirty years ago.

Policy Governing Freshman Customs

"Customs" is a great tradition of this college. The purpose of this program is to orient Freshmen into our college community.

While "Customs" is in effect, Freshmen will be subject to the provisions set up in this policy.

It should be remembered that "Customs" is a phase of college life that helps students become adjusted to the social demands made upon them.

General Provisions

- Customs begin Monday, September 19, 1955, and end at the close of classes for the Thanksgiving vacation.
- Prior to starting Customs, the policy will be read and a brief discussion will be held. Freshmen will have an opportunity to ask questions.
- The first three days of "Customs" will be set aside as "Get Acquainted Days", but Freshmen must wear name signs until further notice.
- Maroon and Gold dinks and name cards are to be worn outside buildings both on and off campus.
- Freshmen must secure the following signatures on a form provided by the Customs Committee.
 - C.G.A. Officers: President, Vice-President, Secretary, and either Treasurer.
 - One of Deans of Men (women only)
One of Deans of Women (men only)
 - Presidents of all the classes
 - All of Customs Committee
 - Ten other upper classmen
 These forms will be collected on Tuesday, October 4, 1955, at the regular assembly.
- Freshmen may not tread on grass or Senior Walk (from Waller Hall front steps to Lions) at any time during "Customs".
- All Freshmen shall learn the Alma Mater, other college songs and cheers, sing or recite them as a body, and be prepared for quizzes on same. At any time that there is a group of two or more Freshmen, they may be called upon by any upper classman to sing the Alma Mater.
- Service shall be given to the college under the direction of the various C.G.A. Committees, Day or Dormitory organizations when requested.
- Freshmen shall present an assembly program for the edification of the honorable upper classmen and the grave and revered faculty.
- Freshmen will be held responsible for additional information on "Customs" which will be posted on Bulletin Boards in the corridors of Waller Hall.
- Freshmen found violating customs will be summoned before the Customs Committee.
- Specific Customs will be handled by four major groups: Day Men, Dorm Men, Day Women, and Dorm Women.
- Customs will be in force at all time except Sundays and the regular dinner hour from 5:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m., on weekdays.
- Freshmen shall feel free to take any difficulty about Customs to any member of Customs Committee.
- Freshmen have the right to appeal to the C.G.A. Officers or College Council through the Council Freshman Advisors.

DEADLINE BLUES

Well, here I am minus news
I've really got the deadline blues.
Thursday's the day,
Four's the time,
And I didn't write a single line.
I've tried the teachers,
I've pounded the beat
And all I've got is two sore feet.
I've got to have something
Golly gee!!
When they picked reporters
Did it have to be me?

—from The Nugget

"Are you a college man?"
"No, a horse stepped on my hat."

You heard of the fellow that crossed a snake with a rabbit and got an adder that could multiply.

Salesman: "Is your mother engaged?"
Johnny: "I think she's married."

Patient: "The doctor said the only cure for my rheumatism was to stay away from dampness."
Friend: "What's so bad about that?"

Patient: "I feel so silly sitting in an empty bathtub while I go over myself with a vacuum cleaner." * * *

Mike sat beside his dying partner.
Suddenly the dying man began to speak.

"Mike," he whispered, "I have a confession to make to you. I robbed the firm of $15,000. I sold a secret formula to our competitors, and I was the cause of your divorce."

"That's okay, old boy," Mike murmured, "I'm the one who polsoned you." * * *

He: "Whisper those three little words that will make me walk on air."
She: "Go hang yourself."

FADS in FASHIONS

by SANDY

I've gazed into the crystal ball
And come up with fashion predictions for fall.

Last year it was knee socks and Bermudas for girls, V-necked sweaters and charcoal suits for fellas. During the summer it was matching bathing suits for steady couples, Italian shirts and kakhi Bermudas. What will the newest fads and fashions be? We're sure that many new and different styles will probably be tagged with the '55-'56 look.

I predict that again this season the smart co-ed will cling to the straight, up-and-down silhouette in sportswear and separates. This is where those slim, slim skirts come in. Also revived for a second season are the flannel blazers. The most popular styles in the blazers will again be the charcoal grey, brown, navy or ivory flannel. The he-man shirt will appear again in many popular styles.

Dyed-to-match separates are also making news highlights for fall. Darks combines with brights... plaids with solids... and checks with plain—all mixing and matching.

High on the required list for campus wardrobes is a versatile jumper that may be worn solo or teamed up with jerseys, blouses or sweaters. These boast many new necklines and range from pencil-slimness to full circles. Some styles even have suspenders attached to a high-rise waistband.

For leisure time about the campus, Bermuda shorts will shine again. I believe the knee sock fad has died out somewhat because the summer trend was toward shorter socks. Taking second spot to flannel in Bermudas and slacks will be the kakhi material that has flourished this summer.

In party dresses, it's the long lean waistline combined with bouffant skirts. Crinolines will reign again from study time to dance time. They will be seen peeking from under the wide, whirling skirts to catch the eye—or perhaps heart—of that special guy.

Speaking of fellas, what seems to be new with male fashions? The conservative but collegiate look is featured again. I predict that the popular V-necked sweaters are here to stay. Charcoal seems to be tops again for suits. Plaids are predicted to be a stand-out this season, and we will see them in shirts, sport jackets and sweaters. One of the most popular plaids for both fellas and gals will be Black Watch, featuring blue, green and black.

Even though Bermuda shorts have been approved and accepted by some men, I do not predict that they will become a common sight among the male populace of Bloomsburg.

For the fellas and gals who are wise in the winning ways of campus fashions, there is a full and interesting season ahead. But let's wait to see whether my predictions are true. Who can tell what the newest fads and fashions will be?

Bill Bitner Holds National Position

Bill Bitner, who was elected first vice-president of the Pennsylvania Future Teachers of America last spring at Juniata College, represented that organization at a conference June 24 to July 8 in Illinois. The first week of the conference was held at DeKalb, Illinois and the second week at Chicago, Illinois. The delegation was made up of a representative from each of the 48 states, with the exception of California which does not have Future Teacher chapters. The Northern Illinois State College at DeKalb was host to the conference for the first week. Members of the convention underwent a three-day training period in the dynamics of leadership; this was given by members of the faculty of the University of Chicago. For the remainder of the week the group took part in meetings of the committee on Teacher Education and Professional Standards.

The members of the conference were guests of the National Education Association for the next week at their national convention in Chicago. During this period Bill was elected to serve the National Association of Future Teachers of America as national treasurer for the 1955-56 school year. Bill was also elected to serve the convention in the roll of Chairman of the conference ethics committee. For his fine work in this position, he was commended by Wilda Freeburn Faust, executive secretary of

REMINISCENCES of an EX-FRESHMAN

by

NANCY SUWALSKY

It's funny! We've been in college for so short a time and yet there is so much to remember. It's just because our first year was so crammed full of new things—new faces, new places (sorry, I didn't mean to sound poetic) and, well, just new everything.

Just for fun, I experimented by asking a few people what they remember about their first year at B.S.T.C. It was amazing—everyone had different ideas. So, after picking up a few here and a few there, here's what I came up with: Registration Day—Everyone agreed they'd never forget the 4H's—HEAT, HURRY, HUSTLE, and HANDING out hard-earned money.

About those next few days—a book could be written but this is hardly the time or place for it. The aptitude tests left much to be desired. Of course we were excited and nervous wondering whether we'd make the grade. Then there was our first glimpse of the seniors! My, weren't those men who handed out boards and tests "real college like"?!

Dr. Andruss's welcome address to the Freshmen was our first clue that college also meant work. One thing I remember distinctly was a statement that went something like this—"on graduation day every third person seated here today will not be here". After that there was silence.

Al Miles and his Customs committee was our next big hurdle. That was much easier to get over than most of us thought. Remember the dinks, name signs, civil defense warnings, kiddie day, time checks, etc? What am I saying—How COULD we forget?

Never will any of us forget that Homecoming game with the Colonels of Wilkes College. I can still remember the score—44 to 0. But more than that, I believe we all remember Hazel and the devastation she caused. But back to the game or should I say between the halves of the game for the "tug of war". We Frosh certainly tried hard but the rope insisted upon breaking at every tug. Eventually the "tug of war" was labeled a draw and back went the dinks to that spot on our heads where they stayed until Trials. Speaking of trials—we were certainly kept busy what with shoes hidden everywhere, Dick Connolly and his fellow cheerleaders, dink escapes, and "going down to - - s - s one by one". If I may borrow a phrase from one of Arnie Garinger's MAROON AND GOLD columns—"The atmosphere, by this time, has a hold on you". How true!!!

Next—Classes—Some recalled how we had to write our first themes, but more people recalled the returned themes—marked!! I can recall those first days in the library with eager faces pouring over books for material. And how about those first nine weeks grades that were sent home. WOW!!

Remember Thursday afternoons at 1 o'clock? Miss MacDonald certainly set a lot of us on the right path. Those talks were really helpful and I hope the new Freshmen will benefit from them as much as we did. Thank heavens for the advice on being served dinner. But one thing was omitted—what to do when a meatball you were eating accidentally flew up off your plate and then: down again! Oh well, I guess there are some things we must learn for ourselves.

Of course we all realized from the very onset that our class was a superior one—then came the time when we were given an opportunity to prove ourselves. The occasion was "The Battle of the Classes" with Margie Myers and Ronnie Jensen very ably representing the underdog Frosh. Both came through with flying colors and certainly made us proud to be called Freshmen.

How many of us will ever forget "A Walk Through Central Park"?—very few, I'm sure. By the time the dance rolled around, we were functioning as the class of 1958. How wonderful it felt to be recognized! Another social event to our credit was the popular "Farmer's Weekend". Careful planning and wonderful cooperation made it the talk of the campus for many weeks.

And now we, as Sophomores, shall strive for newer goals and successes and trust that we will be a credit to ourselves and to our college on the hill.

Assembly Committee Plans '55 Programs

The Assembly committee, composed of students and faculty, have been ambitiously setting up a tentative schedule of assembly programs for the 1955-56 school year. The first program, to be presented on September 15, will feature Miss Barbara Weatherly. Group singing will be on the agenda for September 22 and will be conducted by Fishburne and Gallo of Pennsylvania State University. On September 29 students and faculty will become acquainted with the 1955 BSTC football team; they will be introduced by Jack Yohe, head football coach. Dr. Harold Lanterman will be in charge of a science program to be presented on October 6. The audience will be entertained on October 27 by the freshmen with their much-anticipated Freshman Talent Show. During the week of November 14 the college will observe Religion-In-Life Week sponsored by the Student Christian Association. The assemblies for that week will feature guest speakers for the event, The Dramatic Club will present its program on November 22.

This tentative schedule of assemblies is by no means complete for the Assembly committee has much more in store for us. They promise us much in the way of entertainment and culture throughout the year.

NEW ADVISOR

Dr. Cecil C. Seronsy was recently appointed adviser to the Maroon and Gold, the college newspaper, replacing Mr. Edward DeVoe. Mr. DeVoe will continue his duties as adviser to the Observer. Mr. DeVoe is also chairman of the Publications Committee which advises all college publications. Other members of this committee are: Dr. C. C. Seronsy, Dr. J. A. Russell, Miss Gwendolyn Reams, Miss Edna Keefer and Mr. Donald W. Herberholz.

Waller Hall Women Welcome Freshmen

A hearty welcome to new and returning dorm women! To you, Freshmen, it is a new experience and to the upperclassmen another year of study, fun, and excitement.

For all dormitory women, if you want to know what to do, or what not to do, our new Co-Pilot is your answer. The Co-Pilot tells all: social activities, what to wear when, permissions, guests, room judging, dormitory regulations, Governing Board, campus customs and the constitution.

As there has been an increase in the number of women living in Waller Hall, thirty rooms normally reserved for men will be occupied by women. Another one of the many changes is that of the Dean of Women's office to the first floor of Waller Hall near the main lobby.

The first social event for the women of Waller Hall was the "Get-acquainted Big Sister—Little Sister party" held on Monday evening, September 12 in Waller Hall lobby, fourth floor. Next on the agenda is the "Get-acquainted Tea" on September 26 in the Waller Hall lobby, second floor. Midway through the semester floor parties are featured with food and entertainment. The biggest event of the year is the party honoring the newly elected Governing Board members. Speaking of Governing Board, they are the girls who give their time and energy for the benefit of the group. It's your responsibility to cooperate with them in all ways to make living together a pleasant and profitable experience.

During Homecoming Waller Hall women feature their annual room judging. Rooms are judged for neatness, arrangement of furniture, and originality. First, second, and third prizes are awarded along with honorable mentions.

Freshmen, this is only a preview of your life in Waller Hall. Read your Co-Pilot through from cover to cover, and you'll find the answers to many of those questions in your mind. Here's hoping this is another year of study, fun and excitement for all.

SPORTS SCUTTLEBUTT

by BILL BITNER

AS THOSE BACKS GO TEARING BY . . . With the first practice of the '55 campaign scheduled to get under way the day after Labor Day, Coach Yohe has under canvass no less than ten varsity letter winners which he has billed for his four ring extravaganza under the heading "Husky Backfield 1955." To many people this may seem like a coach's dream on a Saturday afternoon when you can't seem to run out of backs. But Jack Yohe is cognizant of the problem a situation like this always presents—Which quartet will get top billing, which four will get the nod to strut their stuff on the Mansfield Midway come the season's curtain raiser October 1.

Sports are not any different than politics, business or what have you in that nothing is ever a sure thing, but come what may a good bet to get an introduction with a note of fanfare is the only returning monogram winner at quarterback, Mike Lashendock. Mike, as a frosh, understudied the Old Pro, Dave Linckhorst, as the two helped Jack Yohe convert the single-wing Huskies into T-Formation advocates. For the next two seasons Mike directed the Yohemen almost without exception despite the fact there were as high as four other signal barkers seeking his job. As a sophomore Mike was named to the All-State Teachers College eleven. Last season the Little General tried 58 ariels in the locals eight game card, and made good on 27 of those, six of these were for scores. Outside of Coach Yohe no one knows the system any better than does Mike. How well the former Kulpmont star goes this season will undoubtedly tell, probably more than any other single player, how well the College Hill Lads will do.

If a pre-season poll were to be taken of the coaches, scribes and others connected with the Teachers College Conference as to what back has more potential than any other in the fourteen team loop our guess is the name Jimmy Browning would appear more often than any other. For the past two seasons Jack Yohe's great negro half-back was named to everybody's all-conference team and was the most thoroughly scouted back in the conference. The "will-o-the-wisp" speed merchant from Mechanicsburg has improved with every game from his freshman year to the Kings game. After his back-to-back exhibitions of running against Wilkes and Kings, Jim became the victim of the Huskies' opponents and their tireless hours of scouting. It seemed as if they were expecting his every fake, and his mates were helpless to spring him as they had so successfully done for the past two seasons. But this year Jack Yohe won't be obliged to entertain his visiting scouts; waiting in the wings are other performers, performers who have been tried and tested and can now ease the spotlight off Mercury-footed number 55, and the producer-director of this year's extravaganza can blow his whistle and watch the runway unload Bo Rainey, Harv Boughner, Joe Malczyk, Bobby Grover, Chuck Casper, Eddie Watts, Irv Alexander and Jerry Wood, to mention a few.

At fullback Coach Yohe's primary thought will be the who, where, when and why angle that is supposed to be the guideposts of news reporting. At the outset of the '54 schedule the Husky mentor had a seemingly unsolvable problem facing him in the question who would fill Barney Osevala's fullback slot? But Coach Yohe came up with not one, but two answers—Harv Boughner and Joe Malczyk. Both of these bell-for-leather number three backs made the Husky faithful conscious of the former Killinger understudy's ability to fit backs into a backfield like Sgt. Friday puts clues together to solve a case. Harv Boughner, the versatile Treverton athlete, was a former half back in '53 but made the switch and proved to be more valuable to the Yohemen at fullback than he had been at half. He and Joe Malczyk ran a nip and tuck battle for the second and third places in the Husky rushing averages last season. Joe sat out a season in '53 because of the transfer rule, but in his first year as a College Hill griddler he made many of the would-be experts sit up and stick around for the second look.

To those fans that remember the Homecoming game of 1952 the name Bo Rainey is a familiar one. Bo was the Husky running star of that afternoon. While he and Bernie Mont shared the halfback duties, Osevala was at full and Linck at quarter. Bo and his brother Ted answered the call of the khaki and were gone from Mt. Olympus for two seasons. They have now returned ready for another shot at the double chalk marks of collegiate goal lines.

With Bo Rainey, primarily a power halfback, back in the line-up, Coach Yohe has been pondering the possibility of putting Harv Boughner back at half and Joe "The Mule" Malczyk in at full as a softening process. These three backs are as hard a running trio as the Teachers' Conference will see in a long while. They could pave the way for the lightning-like Browning to come into a game and blind the opposition with speed after they had been softened by the fire team of Sherman tanks.

But making all these plans is like trying to pick a winner in the Kentucky Derby of 1957—the field is too loaded, we are going to have to have a look at a back who has been priming for the past three years and has always given us a good game despite his size, Bobby Grover. It must be remembered that it was against Mansfield two years ago that Bob turned in the longest run of the season for all small college backs in the nation—103 yard pass interception. Last year Bobby filled in for Coach Yohe time and time again at his half back slot and maybe this will be the year for the lean Williamsporter. Chuck Casper, the former Bellefonte grid star, is one of the hardest running backs, pound for pound, in any league. He will be in tip top shape this season after being plagued with a leg injury in '54. Chuck will either hold down or make one else really hustle for a half back berth. The highly touted enklintown flash, Eddie Watts, will be ready to exhibit some of his high stepping tactics after being hampered most of last year with an ankle injury. Watts could be the perfect running mate for the "will-o-the-wisp" should Coach Yohe try to soften his opposition with the Bull-dozer backfield, then shut off the safety valve when the needle is pointing toward danger, then let Browning and company use up the full head of steam that is available.

Of course the parade of backs can continue with Irv Alexander and Jerry Wood, the former one two punch of Johnny Fredericks at Mechanicsburg High School, Skip Sheridan, the only other returning quarterback, beside Lashendock, will undoubtedly be needed to spell Mike from time to time and will need every moment of game experience he can muster because of his position as heir apparent to the little General's throne. Then too the parade will never be complete until the frosh backs have made their presence known along with the non-letter winners of a year ago.

First string half back of last season, Alex Boychuck and frosh backs Perry Natishan and Tom Doty will not be in the fold because of academic reasons. Bobby Dipipi and Charlie Kwiatkoski two signal callers of two years running will also be absent at roll call because of their decision not to play this fall.

Library News For Freshmen

A Freshman tour has many highlights, and one of them is the college library. The BSTC library has many interesting, entertaining and educational books—to satisfy every freshman's need. If you Freshmen would like to brush up on your etiquette, you may enjoy He-Manners by Robert H. Loeb, Jr. or Campus Cues by Irene Pierson and illustrations by Robert Vogele. To help you adjust to college life, browse through College and Life by M. E. Bennett and Study Successfully by Norris Ely Orchard. In order to be successful in college, you must use your mind effectively. James L. Mursell says just that in his book, Using Your Mind Effectively. A book which will prove invaluable to any freshman is You Can Always Tell A Freshman by Elisabeth Ann Hudnut. She'll tell you how to get the most out of your college years. When browsing around, you'll find many books which will help you through your problems while living and breathing as a "Frosh."

For reading in the wee hours of the morning, after school books are put away, there is a vast number of books available. Sincerely, Willis Wayde by John P. Marquand will have a great demand. Women students will be interested in Always in Vogue by Edna Woolman Chase and Ilka Chase; this nonfiction book covers 60 years of life of "Vogue" magazine. Good Morning, Miss Dove by Palton and Angels in Pinafore by Humphreys may give you some tips on what to do when you're faced with thirty pairs of shining eyes each morning.

Among the many novels which Freshmen may enjoy are: Cry, The Beloved Country by Alan Paton; The Lady of Arlington by Harnett T. Kane; The Royal Box by Frances Parkinson Keyes; The Sojourner by Marjorie Rawlings.

Magazines which Freshman women may find of especial value are "Mademoiselle" and "Charm". Men students may discover "New Yorker" and "Sports Illustrated" to be faithful companions. Other magazines providing the news of the world are: "Holiday", "American", "Atlantic Monthly", "Time", and "Changing Times".

Freshmen, you will discover the BSTC library a place of resource for classes and a place providing reading material for those relaxed moments.

John Huda Plays In All-Star Game

John Huda, sensational Frosh pitcher of last year's State Teachers College champion baseball team, has continued to burn up the independent baseball in the Scranton area as reported by Doc Wagner, baseball coach. John has been working his drop and curves as evidenced by 15 strikeouts in one game and 13 in another. As a result of his outstanding showing, John has been selected to pitch in the All-Star game on August 29.

Many Activities For Freshman Week

The first in a series of Square Dances was held in the Husky Lounge on Tuesday evening until curfew.

Looking ahead, Wednesday, begins a full day of placement tests, but the tension will be relieved by a party to be held in Navy Hall by the Student Christian Association, in the early evening.

Thursday will begin another day of nerve-racking tests, interrupted only by the morning chapel meeting. Many of the students will take in a movie after dinner in Carver Auditorium. Classes will begin for new students on Friday morning and the day will be topped with a dance in the Husky Lounge. The weekend will have scheduled the usual Co-ed Splash Party at the Centennial Pool, a Sunday night Buffet Supper and a Vespers service in Carver Auditorium sponsored by the S.C.A.

Customs Week will follow with the popular Wednesday night "record dance", the Big Sister Tea in the Waller Lobby, and the first try-out for the talent show. The Huskies will have their first official scrimmage on Saturday, September 26, with Lycoming College in Williamsport.

Meanwhile the faculty and several hundred anxious under and upper-classmen await the annual FROSH TALENT SHOW and the Frosh's original method of introducing themselves to the college family.

B.S.T.C. Enrollment

ures are slightly in favor of male enrollment for all the college.

Because of the increase in the number of women at this institution, thirty spaces in Waller Hall dormitory normally reserved for men will be occupied by women instead. Over 150 men, both freshmen and seniors, have taken rooms in private homes in Bloomsburg.

Incoming freshmen can anticipate stiff competition in classroom work since the greatest number of freshmen have unusually good high school academic records. As a matter of fact, only 31 persons were admitted on the basis of entrance examinations. The remainder fulfilled the qualification of being in the upper half of their high school classes.

Another interesting fact comes to light when we note that more students seem to be entering the Business education field than either Elementary or Secondary fields. The college is considering quotas to correct this because of the possibility of a serious placement and student teaching problem in the future, should this Business trend continue.

What can the college expect in the near future as far as enrollment is concerned? Already, the enrollment for January, 1956 is so great that it too has been closed. The office of the Dean of Instruction also has on hand numerous applications for September, 1956. Mr. Hoch reports that, as a result of this steady stream of applicants, enrollment for the September, 1956 class will be closed as early as February 1 of that year. The problem, once again, is not so much available living conditions, as lack of sufficient classrooms and laboratories to meet the need of anything but a sharply curtailed enrollment.

J. B. Knoebel Is New Superintendent

J. B. Knoebel was recently appointed superintendent of grounds and buildings, replacing Edward D. Sharretts. Mr. Knoebel holds the Degree of Bachelor of Science in Architectural Engineering from Pennsylvania State University. He has had experience as a lumber dealer, contractor, sales engineer and construction engineer for the United States Navy in Virginia, Hawaiian Islands, Philippine Islands and New York City area.

"I'm burning with love for you." "Come now, don't make a fool of yourself."

Your Roommate

Who borrows all your ready cash?
Your roommate.
Whose talk is senseless haberdash?
Your roommate.
Who confiscates your earrings and socks?
Your roommate.
Who smokes the last one in the box?
Your roommate.
Who always borrows, never lends?
Your roommate.
Who brings around her low-brow friends?
Your roommate.
Who breaks the furniture and the lamps?
Your roommate.
Who uses up your postage stamps?
Your roommate.
Who corresponds with movie vamps?
Your roommate.
Who's loudest when you're feeling punk?
Your roommate.
Who giggles at you when you flunk?
Your roommate.
But who's constant friend to you?
Who overlooks the things you do?
Who knows and loves you through and through?
Your mother!

Day Women Hosts

The Day Women of BSTC will entertain new day women students at a Get Together on Tuesday, September 13 at 3:00 p.m. This event will be in the Day Women's Room, Noetling Hall.

President of the Day Women's Association is Carol Nearing; vice-president, Jacqueline Hall; Senior Board, Dorothy Diltz, Dianne Jones; Junior Board, Alice Eyer, Yvonne Zeisloft; Sophomore Board, Ruth Mauer, Sally Ridgway.

Two German boys were walking through the mountains with their mother. One of them suddenly pushed her off a cliff and shouted to the other, "Look, Hans, no Ma!"

(Continued from page 1) as follows: president, William Bitner; vice-president, Michael Homick; secretary, Rosalyn Verona; treasurer, Pasquale Giangiullo; woman representative, Joan Christie; man representative, Ronald Krafjack; historian, Jean Zimmerman; adviser, Mr. Earl A. Gehrig. Those who were elected to serve the junior class are: president, Joseph Malczyk; vice-president, Constance Ozalas; secretary, Miriam Miller; treasurer, Judy Ulmer; woman representative, Margaret Yohn; man representative, Edward Shustack; adviser, Mrs. Olive P. Beeman.

The leaders of the sophomore class are: president, Robert Asby; vice-president, James Gustave; secretary, Nancy Suwalski; treasurer, Paul Anderson; woman representative, Emy Parks; man representative, James Snyder; adviser, Mr. Boyd Buckingham.

Freshman class officers will be elected after mid-semester grades are available. Freshmen, before elections are here, consider what qualities a person representing you should have, and consider persons who possess those qualities. Remember you, as a member of a group, are represented by your class officers; be sure to elect wisely!

Campus Again Scene Of Frosh Customs

New ideas and plans have been gathered and put together by the 1955 Customs Committee headed by John Moss and Emy Lou Parks. Customs Week should prove entertaining to both freshmen and upperclassmen.

Aiding the co-chairmen, as members of the 1955 Customs Committee, were: Margaret Brinser, Allen Nuss, Jack Herman, Paul Chrisler, Jim Snyder, Eloise Kaminsky, Bobby Nancarow, Danny Dietterick, George Bach, Peggy Lynch, Ken Weir, Kaki Crew, Al Miles, Bert Hendrickson, Bob Biemenderfer, Bobbi Roadside, Ron Behers, Jo Graeber, Sally Stallone, Gloria Baher, and Katy Keller.

According to some eminent scientists, alcohol was first distilled in Arabia. That explains those nights. * * *
