Annette Williams Reigns As 1956 Co-ed of the Year

Annette Williams, a sophomore from Hanover Township, was crowned "Co-ed of the Year" at the "Oriental Fantasy" on Friday, February 17. An oriental atmosphere prevailed over Centennial Gymnasium as one hundred and thirty-eight couples danced to the music of Herb Green and his Orchestra.

During intermission this gala event, sponsored by the freshman class, was highlighted by the crowning of the "Co-ed." Herb Green, acting as master of ceremonies, called each of the candidates to the foot of the bandstand which was situated under a large red pagoda. The candidates were Nancy Herman and Sandy Lewis, representing the Freshman Class; Bobbie Creamer and Annette Williams, representing the Sophomore Class; Kaki Crew and Barbara Ackwood, representing the Junior Class; and Jackie Albert and Joan Raab, representing the Senior Class. Their dates escorted them to the stand and stood with them as the winner of the contest was pronounced.

Annette was then seated on a marble bench under a realistic hanging tree and crowned "Co-ed of the Year" by Bobbie Roadside who signed as "Co-ed" last year. Annette was presented with an inscribed loving cup, bracelet and a floral bouquet.

Another highlight of the evening was the intermission entertainment. The "Co-eds", a trio of freshman girls—Kay Nearing, Jan Bittenbender, and Patsy Turner, accompanied by Lois Crossan, sang "He" and an oriental number. Norman Balchunas, a very able pianist, played "If I Give My Heart To You," "Autumn Leaves," "I'm In the Mood for Love," and Ben Hur's Retreat."

Guests at the dance were Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hoch, Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, Miss Mary Macdonald, Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Ohe, Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Blair, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph S. Herre, and Mrs. Nelson A. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Buckingham, and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Williams.

M & G Staff Members Tour Printing Plant

Three members of the Editorial Board of the Maroon and Gold travelled to Berwick last week to tour the Keystone Publishing Company's plant. Harriet Link, Lay Seitz, and Sue Osborn followed the printing of the M & G from beginning to end as they watched the first issue come "hot off the press." All three board members agreed that it was most interesting to see just what happens to our Maroon and Gold after it leaves the office of the editor.

Miss Edith Zinn Enjoys Duties as Assistant Dean

Experienced in Teaching
And Personnel Work

Our recently appointed assistant Dean of Women, Miss Edith Zinn, has had experience in teaching and personnel work in large universities and small colleges.

Miss Zinn was born in Huntingdon, Pennsylvania, but has called Altoona, Pennsylvania her home, since she spent most of her early life there. She was graduated from Juniata High School and Pennsylvania State University where she also received her Master of Arts degree. While at Penn State, Miss Zinn's majors were Art and English. Her graduate work also includes study at Columbia University in the Art and Educational fields and at Syracuse University, where she received her personnel training.

In the capacity of Art Supervisor, Miss Zinn taught in the Sunbury schools. While serving as Dean of Women at Penn State, Miss Zinn wrote a handbook entitled "Habitat Hints." This booklet, similar to our own "Co-Editor", helps the women of Penn State to become acquainted with rules, conveniences, etc. It is written in an informal, chatty manner.

In addition to her duties as Dean of Women, Miss Zinn did a large amount of Orientation work with freshmen. Her work included the task of interviewing all of the freshmen women, who always numbered well over seven hundred. She also held the position of advisor to the Student Government Association.

For a time Miss Zinn acted as Dean of Women at East Carolina College in Greenville, North Carolina. The south held a charm which Miss Zinn said, "no other section of the country has." While south, she learned to eat and enjoy the cornbread, bar-b-que chicken and grits on which the southern folks pride themselves. Another southern college which was benefited by Miss Zinn's presence as Assistant Dean was Meredith College in Raleigh, South Carolina.

Miss Zinn came to us after spending a semester at Endicott Junior College in Beverly, Massachusetts, near Boston. The college there was a very lovely one, according to Miss Zinn. It was situated on an area made up of eleven beautiful estates. Being so near Boston gave Miss Zinn an opportunity to visit museums and

172 Valentines For the Red Cross

On February 14, Valentines Day, one hundred seventy-two donors turned out to Husky Lounge for the visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile. They included both faculty and students.

Several persons were given pins after contributing a pint of blood, since this pint made a total of one gallon they have donated up to the present time. They are as follows: Dr. Thomas Martin, Donald Hildebrandt, Elvin Thomas, Dale Springer, and William Carter. Congratulations to them.

The student committee should be commended on the excellent job they have done. It takes a great deal of good salesmanship to sell anyone the idea of giving blood. The following people served on the student committee: Janice Truscott (chairman), Mary Hoeffcker, Judy Stephens, Bobbi Roadside, Margaret Beers, Nancy Pierce, Emma Kovalevich, Peggy Markovci, Frank Kaminski, Robert Arbogast, George Chaump, Bob Boyle, Harry Weist, Harry Conner, Arthur Leshner and Joanne Graeber. Dr. Paul Wagner was faculty director, and Mr. Stradtman was assistant director. Congratulations for a job well done.

The Maroon and Gold office is open much of the time. Drop in anytime you see someone in the office. We are always glad for your suggestions and contributions.

Theme Obiter Show: Reward For Patience and Fortitude

68 Million Dollar Quiz Program Received
Tumultuous Applause at Bloomsburg S.T.C.

Carver Auditorium, Feb. 16—Not a creature was stirring—just Nancy Hyde in a low, exotic voice, introducing the 1956 variety of the Obiter Show in the form of a television program, "68,000,000 Question." The Master of Ceremonies, Gus Spentzas, then appeared on stage; just as co-directors Evie Gilchrist and Jim Nicholas had planned.

The male faction of the audience gaped as Mary Hoeffcker imitated a Hawaiian hula dancer, complete with a grass skirt and Joyce Kline, Judy Stevens, and Dotty Horning providing "music" ukulele style. The girls were interested in this commercial; they watched and listened as Bob Arbogast played his electric guitar. Approximately twenty B.S.T.C. men have defected to the Navy as a result of this effective commercial.

Under the scrutinous surveillance of TV (True View) cameramen from station I.C.U., Lu Natter and Jim Creasy, Bobbi Roadside escorted Bo Rainey, a "typical" B.S.T.C. student, to the stage where he would attempt, over a period of seventy-five years, to win sixty-eight million dollars. This naive contestant answered his first question correctly—with the aid of Shirley Seiler and a bathing suit. Thanks to Suzy Hughes and Jo Bechtel, also in bathing suit, the audience reacted appropriately to this, and other bits of the show.

At this time, Marcia Storm incurred the wrath of Doctors Martin and Englehart as she commercialized the advantages of the elementary curriculum. Pat Dorsey, Nancy Pierce, Barb Lentz, Carol Nearing, and Nancy Hyde, dressed in what is Friday attire at B.S.T.C., sang "Sentimental Journey". A rich, sophisticated contestant in the person of Annabelle Leffelaar, posing as the dormitory girl's Mae Bush, correctly identified this song for a reward of five cents. Jim Garman carted in a large collection of books, compliments of the B.S.T.C. librarians, to aid Mae in winning forty cents next year.

Joe Mazeski presented his case for Oniard, an obviously superior product. Bob Boyle and Chic DeFebo entertained us with their rendition of "Sixteen Tons" and "That's My Girl." Then Bob Asby, returning to the quiz program for the seventy-fifth year, was required to name the eight contestants of the Obiter's Coed of the Year Contest, to satisfy the first half of his question. As he correctly named the contestants, they were escorted on stage by Bud Sheridan. Just Bob was asked to name the winner of this contest for sixty-eight million dollars—time ran out.

There wasn't even time to commend the many people who contributed to the production of this fabulous show; such as the Herculean tree movers, George Champ and Charles Rygiel. There was no mention of Evie Gilchrist, Jim Nicholas, Paul Chrisler, Bob Ebner, Jo Graeber, Walt Rudy, Al Kleinschrodt, and others who spent much time behind scenes to make this show the success it was.

Seven Chorus Members Travel To Drexel

The seventh annual festival of the Pennsylvania Collegiate Choral Association was presented at the Drexel Institute of Technology Auditorium at 8:00 p.m. Monday evening, February 27. Students selected from the choruses of twenty-six Pennsylvania colleges and universities presented a varied program featuring works by Handel, Bach, Grieg, Beethoven, Mozart, Vaughn Williams, and Rodgers and Hammerstein.

Also included in the program was a tribute to Earl McDonald, former manager of the Philadelphia orchestra. The chorus performed his cantata, "Builders of America". The work was commissioned by the Collegiate Choral Association in 1953 and was first presented at the Philadelphia festival of that year. Three conductors participated in the program. They were: Arthur E. Jones, Director of Music at West Chester State Teachers College; M. Clair Swope, Director of Music at Slippery Rock State Teachers; and Wallace Heaton, Director of Music at Drexel Institute.

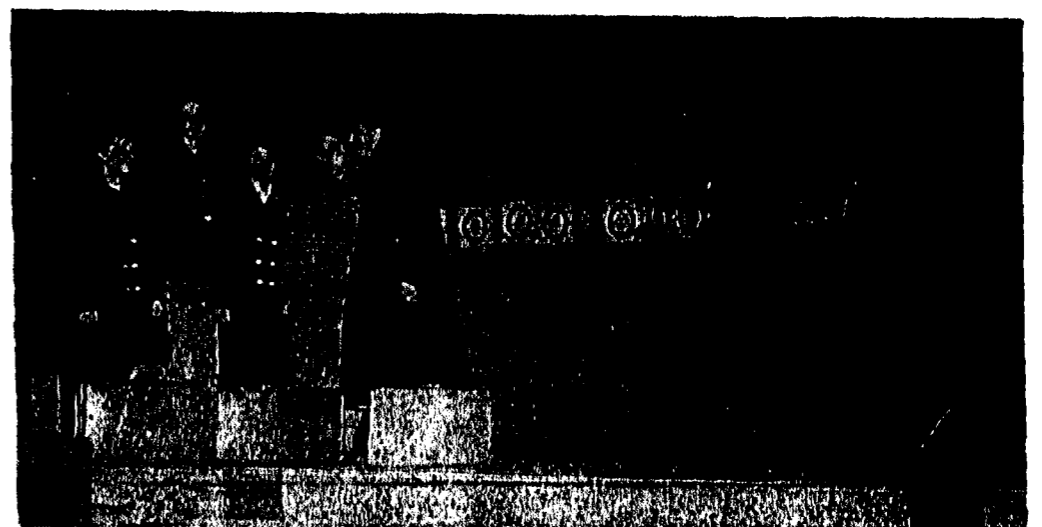

Kenneth Goodman, Philadelphia organist, appeared as soloist. Mr. Goodman recently returned from a concert tour of Europe, during which he had the opportunity to visit and play for Dr. Albert Schweitzer at the latter's home in Guntzsch. Mr. Goodman's selections included representative works of J. S. Bach.

The Monday night concert was preceded by eighteen hours of intensive rehearsal for the chorus.

Representing Bloomsburg State Teachers College in the festival were Carol Nearing, Deanna Morgan, Nancy Pearce, Robert Beaver, Robert Ebner, Dorothy Horning, and Allen Nuss.

Weekly Services Held in Carver Hall During Lenten Season

Again this year the Student Christian Association is sponsoring a series of Mid-Week Lenten Services held every Wednesday at 12:30 p.m. in Carver Auditorium. Speakers at these services are pastors from the various churches in Bloomsburg. Another Lenten activity of the S.C.A. is the group attendance at Wednesday evening services at these same churches. Each Wednesday evening during Lent a different church will be visited and it is hoped that all who desire to achieve a better understanding of denominations other than their own will take advantage of these opportunities.

EDITORIAL:

Everyone knows that passing laws and instituting rules doesn't always solve major problems. It seldom does. Major problems must be resolved within the hearts of men.

One of our problems is the stealing of books. On the surface this appears to be of minor importance because one thinks of money only being involved. The problem is much greater than this, and the writer does not pretend to have an effective solution to it. The Honor System, severe punishment for anyone caught, periodical inspection of all books, requirement of sales slip for proof of ownership, a more thorough screening in the beginning—all these are among the suggestions which have been made that theft might be curbed.

Men and women are going to go from this college and try to impart, along with text book material, all of the good qualities of citizenship; among these qualities are included honesty, and integrity. How can one teach that which he does not know, and, except for formal subject material, also practice?

For one to try to curb the use of ponies, it would certainly be shoveling sand against the tide. And, one can half-way condone the use of ponies by saying that the man who uses them is only hurting himself, (but, in many ways he is doing a deplorable injustice to his future students). One could add to this by saying that student competition is tough enough without having to compete with prepared test answers. With theft it is different. We all suffer, not because we all lose books, coats, and the like, but because we are without the honest-to-goodness good feeling that comes from being able to trust one's associates.

Unity, the oneness, the feeling of "belonging" is not within some of us. Is it possible for friendliness and distrust to exist in the same place? If the answer is no, then are there not times when we question whether B.S.T.C. is the friendly college on the hill?

One may safely assume that if a person enrolls in college intending to become a teacher he must possess a conscience, he must have something good inside. If this is true, isn't it also true that his conscience will rebel against an act which is contrary to all that is good? Can it be thoughtlessness that allows him to commit an act which he would abhor seeing someone else commit? It is hard to believe that a man will willingly sell his peace of mind for the price of a book.

It is admittedly safe for a faculty member to leave his belongings in the faculty lounge without having to worry whether or not they will remain there. If we could find no other reason, this fact alone places the faculty above the students. We expect—even demand—this integrity of the faculty. Do we expect less of ourselves?

You Are Writing Your Own Record!

President Andruss, Dr. Englehardt, Director of Placement, Mrs. Miller, Dean of Women, Miss Macdonald, Guidance Coordinator, Mr. Hoch, Dean of Instruction, and Mr. Yohe, Dean of Men formed a panel in assembly to acquaint the students with this college's methods of evaluating personality and social growth. Dr. Andruss began the discussion by quoting several theories behind the curriculum of a college. Some schools consider the curriculum as entirely academic. Others consist of all that is taught on a campus. Our curriculum includes these and the social aspect as well.

Trait sheets were distributed to the students before assembly. Dr. Englehardt explained their use in the Placement Service for recommendations. These trait sheets are an index to habits, personal standards, and promise of success as a teacher. Dr. Englehardt also exhibited a sample of a student's credentials.

Mrs. Miller discussed the development of social competence in women through activities that are initiated, planned, and executed by students. Social competence is not merely a matter of taking one's spoon out of the cup while drinking tea, nor a matter of being socially charming, nor even of being vocationally successful. She defined it as the ability to participate effectively in society.

Mr. Yohe continued by telling how college helps to build the personality of men. He told the student body that they are writing their own records every day.

As a guidance device, trait sheets are very valuable, also. Miss Macdonald described how she uses them in her department, especially with freshmen.

Mr. Hoch summarized the discussion.

FADS 'n FASHIONS

by SANDY

On the evening of February 17, Bobbi Roadside's reign as the 1955-56 Coed of the Year officially ended. The reign was to be given to one of eight girls, chosen as the most typical coed of B.S.T.C.

A silence fell over the audience as these eight attractive girls were presented. The harmony of colors and the individuality of each girl created a most striking picture for the spectators.

The last minutes of Bobbi's reign were filled with excitement as we awaited the announcement of the new Coed. Just as she had the entire year, Bobbi looked like a true queen. She wore a white gown, which added to her regal appearance.

A few minutes later, Bobbi graciously relinquished her crown to our new Coed, Annette Williams, who was escorted by Al Sugden, Princeton class of 1957. Thrilled and excited, Annette accepted her crown and reign as our Coed for 1956-57.

Annette's attire, consisted of a black top and an extremely full skirt. The fitted top had a portrait neckline. The white nylon skirt was uniquely decorated with large black coin dots. Black strap sandals completed the attractive simplicity of her outfit.

FADS 'N FASHIONS dedicates this column both to our retiring Coed and our new Coed. My sincerest compliments go to Bobbi for a happy and eventful reign. And my heartiest congratulations to petite and vivacious Annette. I know she will fulfill all the requirements that her title entails.

BSTC Veterans To Petition Senators on Proposed Pay Raises

The 198 veterans now attending B.S.T.C. have initiated a petition in an effort to pressure Congress into acting upon a proposed $40 increase in the Korean G.I. training allowance. Two separate petitions which will later be sent to Senator James H. Duff and Senator Edward Martin respectively are being used.

B.S.T.C. has joined with many other colleges and training schools throughout the state and nation in an effort to make known the real needs for an increase in the now obsolete Korean G.I. training bill.

In addition to writing to their Congressmen, all veterans are urged to sign their names on the two petitions which have been placed in the day men's room for their convenience.

An effort should be made by each man to make sure all of the veterans have been informed and have signed before Monday, March 5, when the petitions will be removed and mailed to Washington, D.C.

attend symphonies, and plays in the "bean" city.

One of the hobbies Miss Zinn has to occupy her free time, which, incidentally, occurs infrequently, is traveling. She has traveled in Mexico, the British West Indies, and Eastern and Southern Europe. "Pure scenic beauty describes Mexico" was a statement used by Miss Zinn to tell about that fascinating country. In Europe, where she traveled in 1952, Miss Zinn particularly enjoyed Paris and Rome. In speaking of Europe and her travels, she expressed a wish to return to again visit these countries abroad.

Skill and continued interest in art have made it her chief avocational pursuit. As an application of this, Miss Zinn does some oil painting as well as designing and making her own Christmas cards every year. Design work holds a particular interest for her also.

Here at Bloomsburg, Miss Zinn, in addition to her duties as Assistant Dean of Women, teaches English I and II classes. She enjoys the balance between the classroom and personnel aspects. Miss Zinn feels that by this schedule she is able to get a full, clear picture of her students. In accepting her position here at the college, Miss Zinn feels she has satisfied her homesickness for her native state.

We are certainly happy to have Miss Zinn with us and hope she will enjoy her work here at the Friendly College.

HONOR ROLL of HITS by ANNET

This year, 1956, besides being Leap Year and an Olympic Year, is also the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of one of the greatest composers the world has ever known—Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart.

Well known as a composer, teacher and pianist, Mozart will linger in the hearts of music lovers for centuries to come. We here at Bloomsburg add our voices to the multitude who reverently remember this man and his music during this, the anniversary of his birth.

Another favorite composer here on our campus is Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky. Evidence of his popularity is found in the record collections our students. Among the music of Tchaikovsky to be heard here B.S.T.C. are "The 1812 Overture," "Capriccio Italien," "The Swan Lake Ballet," "The Romeo and Juliet Overture," "The Nutcracker Suite" and "The Sleeping Beauty Ballet."

One of our classical record collectors, Linda Wiant, a freshman, tells us that among her favorites, are some of the works of Beethoven. In this collection we find his first, fifth, sixth and eighth symphonies as well as his string quartets in F and G. The symphonies are recorded by various orchestras, including the NBC and BBC Symphony orchestras. The Paganni Quartet is the group that has recorded the music of his string quartets.

Continuing in the classical field, Wendy Rundel has just added an excellent album of piano music to her collection. It is played by Leona Pennario and is entitled "Favorite Classics for the Piano." On this record are "Claire DeLune" by Debussy, "Polonaise in A Flat" by Chopin, "Liebestraume" and "Hungarian Rhapsody" by Liszt, "Prelude in C Minor" and "Prelude in G Minor" by Rachmaninoff, and "On the Beautiful Blue Danube" by Strauss. We consider this an exceptionally fine record, is a product of Capitol and is a hi-fi recording.

Harry Bellafonte, star of last year's hit movie, "Carmen Jones," has a fine recording of folks songs on the market. Incidentally, Mary Gra just bought this record last week and she claims that her favorite "Scarlet Ribbons."

Speaking of songs from movies, the music from "The Benny Goodman Story" has been recorded fast and furious. Not only the music from this picture has been recently released but also a great number of hits from the past have been re-done and let loose again. Some of these are "One O'Clock Jump," "Let's Dance," "Bugle Call Rag" and "Moon Glow." By the way, the picture itself is terrific and stars Steve Allen and Donna Reed.

Pop hits of this week are "I'll Be Home" by Pat Boone, "Why Do Fools Fall in Love?" by Frankie Lyman, and "A Tear Fell" by Theresa Brewer.

The song of the week—Lex Baxter's "The Poor People of Paris."

FROM THE CLUB HOUSE

ATHENAEUM CLUB

The regular meeting of the Athenaeum Club was called to order by the President, John Sandler. After the usual business matters were concluded the Program Committee, headed by Judy Ulmer, introduced the guest for the afternoon, Mr. Johnson, the sixth grade teacher at the Training School. He gave an interesting and varied discussion and demonstration on his favorite instrument, the bass violin. Mr. Johnson gave a lighthearted account of the bass violin's part in dance music. Charming was added to the program with a few of Mr. Johnson's personal anecdotes on life with a band. This was followed by a more serious discussion on classical bass violin music, which was concluded by the playing of the recorded Third Movement of "Beethoven's Fifth Symphony." The club enjoyed this informal presentation.

The next regular meeting is to be held on March 1, 1956 in room 33 of Science Hall at three o'clock. Dues are payable and the allocation slip may be used if you meet the qualifications.

PHI SIGMA PI

The regular monthly meeting of the Iota Chapter of Phi Sigma Pi Fraternity was held in the Social Rooms of Science Hall on Thursday, February 23, at 7 p.m. President Michael Homick called the meeting to order after which Secretary Thomas McDevitt read the minutes of the previous meeting which were approved.

The fraternity unanimously commended Robert Ebner and his committee on the fine job performed for the "Battle of the Classes." Mr. Ebner, in turn, thanked the Brothers for the opportunity to serve in this capacity.

Nominations were made by senior members for pledges during this semester. The names cannot be made public at this writing as they must be approved by the Dean of Instruction's office.

The business meeting was adjourned and the social meeting turned over to Al Miles, Chairman of the Program Committee. Mr. Miles introduced the guest of the evening, Mr. Robert B. Nearing, Executive Vice President of the First National Bank of Bloomsburg. Mr. Nearing, former teacher himself, spoke on "A Banker Looks at Teaching As a Profession." An encouraging and interesting talk was presented after which the Brothers and guest discussed facts pertinent to the teaching field and the many phases on which teaching touches.

Refreshments were served and the meeting adjourned at 9 p.m.

LUTHERAN STUDENT ASSOCIATION

A supper featuring meat pie, was served at L.S.A. Monday, February 20. After the meal, an enlightening talk was given by Dr. Serff, who commented on Jesus as a teacher and the various ways in which he taught.

Dorothy Stoudt, Barbara Batzil, Barbara Brunner, Ronnie Davis and Jack Bushey will attend the thirty-sixth Annual Conference of the North Atlantic Region of the National L.S.A. This conference will be held February 24-26 at Buck Hill Falls. The theme for the conference is "Meeting the Needs of the Christian on Campus."

BUSINESS EDUCATION CLUB

The regular meeting of the Business Education Club was called to order by the president, Elmer Robinson. Samina Cole was then called upon to give a resume of her work on the job application survey. Samin also announced that the compiled scrapbook would be on display in the reference section of the library.

The program for the afternoon was in the form of a valentine party. Ella Johnson, serving as master of ceremonies, chose three couples composed of club members who were to answer a February question, a heart question, and a music question. The winner was a tie between two couples: Allan Kessler and Renee Terzopolos, and Walt Rudy and Bett Gibson.

After the meeting was adjourned, refreshments of soft drinks and cookies were served.

KNOX FELLOWSHIP

Knox Fellowship held their regular meeting Monday, February 20, at 5:30 in the Presbyterian Church Gym. A delicious meal was served to the members. The main dish was ham and lamb prepared by the Mage Hotel.

An interesting discussion was led by Rev. Cummins and Dr. Daly, who is on the Bloomsburg Hospital staff.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, March 5.

SPORTS SCUTTLEBUTT

by BILL BITNER

GENEVA, ELIZABETHTOWN, AND MILLERSVILLE PACE STATE CAGERS . . . Each year the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) runs off a state championship for small colleges in the State of Pennsylvania the winner of which goes to Kansas City for the NAIA national championship tournament. For the last five years Geneva has been in the state playoffs and has been the champions of the state the last three years. At present the Genevans are boasting an eighteen win, two loss record, which assures them of a playoff berth. Their opponent for the state championship will be either Elizabethtown College or the Millersville Marauders. Elizabethtown now is rated second in the state with a fourteen and three record. Millersville is in third with a fourteen and four slate. Elizabethtown and Millersville are scheduled to meet on Saturday, February 25. The results of this game will determine Geneva's opponent.

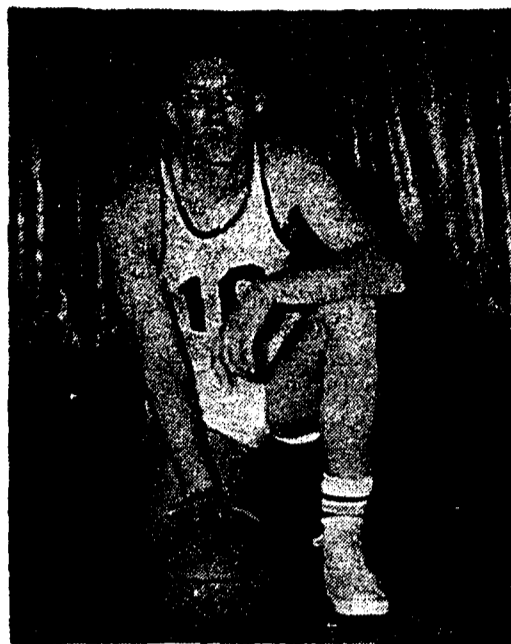

Millersville has beaten the Huskies eight out of the last nine times they squared off in hardwood competition. This is over a four year period. During the 1952-53 campaign the College Hill quintet took the Marauders into camp on the local gym but lost to Millersville at Millersville in the regular season. The Huskies won the Teachers Conference that year and then met Millersville in a post season game to decide who would play Geneva for the State Championship of the NAIA. The game was played on the Lancaster County gym and the Huskies came home on the short end of the score. Since then the charges of Coach "Max" Bishop haven't lost to a teachers college team. As a matter of fact they just finished their third season of playing fourteen conference games each season giving them a winning streak of better than 42 straight.

This is the last season for Coach Bishop at the helm of the Marauder quintet as he has resigned at Millersville to take a job at Michigan State University teaching driver education and not coaching. He leaves behind him a record of winning that will be hard to duplicate. Millersville loses three of their starting five by graduation but it isn't expected that his loss will be felt too deeply as the Millersville five will still have the lowering John Parker returning next year.

Bloomsburg has been the only team that has afforded Millersville any degree of competition during the last four years. Bloomsburg was the last tutor team to beat them and in the '54 campaign they were extended into an overtime to beat the College Hill Boys. This year the Huskies were beaten by five points at home and 15 at Millersville.

Bob Evans, Senior, Outstanding Player With Husky Cagers

Bob Evans, one of the outstanding players of coach Harold Shelley's cagers the past four years, will be graduating this May. Bob came to the Friendly College from Coal Township, Pa., where he was a member of the varsity basketball team for two years. Bob played the hardwood sport for four years at Coal Township, and won the varsity monogram in his junior and senior years.

Bob Evans

In 1952, Bob came to BSTC and he immediately set about making a name for himself as a basketball player. He has played four years of varsity basketball here at Bloomsburg and has received the varsity letter three times.

Bob's biggest thrill as a Husky player came in 1953 when he was a member of Bloomsburg's championship team. When asked whom he regarded as his most outstanding teammate, Bob replied that they have all been outstanding to him and he could not pick any as being the most outstanding. He has mentioned that Joe Ondrula (class of 1954) has been his idol and he has tried to pattern his play after that of Joe.

Bob has not limited his talents to basketball here at Bloomsburg. He was President of his junior class, and is at present the President of the Community Government Association. He also was a pitcher for the Rodents, last year's intramural softball champions.

In the hobby department, Bob is fond of all sports and is planning to play a lot of golf after graduation.

Bob's plans for the future call for a tour of duty with the Army, and if he likes it, there is a possibility of his making it a career. If after his service days are over he decides on civilian life, Bob is going to teach and possibly coach basketball. We at Bloomsburg extend our wishes for a happy and successful life in whatever field you choose, Bob.

Applications for Selective Service Test Due March 5

College students interested in taking the Selective Service College Qualification Test have until midnight, March 5, 1956, to submit an application. Announcement of the test was made today by Dr. E. Paul Wagner, test supervisor. The test center in this area is the Bloomsburg State Teachers College.

The purpose of the testing program is to provide evidence for local Selective Service Boards so they may consider student deferments for military registrants.

To be eligible to apply for the test, scheduled to be given April 19 to college students in 875 test centers throughout the United States, Alaska, the Canal Zone, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico, a student must intend to request deferment as a student, be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction, and must not have previously taken the test.

The test was developed by Science Research Associates of Chicago, one of the nation's leading publishers of educational testing, reading-improvement, and guidance materials.

Students, interested in taking the test to qualify for possible draft deferment in order to continue their college education, are urged to have their completed application postmarked no later than midnight, March 5. Applications dated after March 5 will not be accepted.

For additional information, applications, and addresses of test centers, students should consult any Selective Service Board.

Freshman Class Ranked Superior To Former Classes

The results of the Freshman Placement Tests at the Bloomsburg State Teachers College shows that the 1956 entering class was the most academically superior class that has been admitted to the college up to the present time.

In comparison with 151 other colleges and universities the Freshman students ranked above the upper third in the Psychological and English examinations, in the upper 24% in Social Studies, and in the upper 15% in Natural Science and Mathematics, while the knowledge of Contemporary Affairs was significantly outstanding in that they ranked in the upper 7% of the 152 colleges making reports for Freshmen.

This progress represents what the students bring to college, and if they continue to achieve at the same rate, four years hence the teaching profession will be receiving into it better trained minds than ever before from the Bloomsburg State Teachers College.

In the last ten years approximately 1,300 students have been given entrance examinations. Of this number 198 have not been accepted. During the last half of this five-year period from 1951 to 1955, inclusive, 178 have not been accepted.

Until the State provides more money for more buildings and more instructors, the Bloomsburg State Teachers College will not be able to admit more students than its present capacity, which is approximately 1,000, even though the number of applicants for admission is two or three times greater than the size of the Freshman Class which can be admitted.

Day Men To Elect Officers Soon

Since elections are going to be held next month, day men should begin thinking of nominating those who will be capable of handling the responsibilities of each office.

Day men are encouraged to apply for scholarships and grants which will be awarded for the second semester.

Investigations are being made as to the possibilities of securing additional small wall lockers for the day men. The Day Men's Association recently purchased a new radio for the enjoyment of its members.

BSTC Library Adds

Mr. Warren Johnson of the Training School has given the library a very fascinating book on Japanese Folk Songs. This book, "Thirty-one Japanese Folk Songs" compiled by Ryustaro Hattori, was sent to him from Japan by his brother. It is a collection of the most representative songs of the Japanese country and is the editor's earnest wish to introduce these folk-songs to the Western peoples. The words are in both English and Japanese and the accompanying descriptions of the songs are also in English.

Antone Talks on Coiffures for the Modern Woman

"Beauty is as beauty does" — and who is more concerned about beauty than a woman—especially a college woman! The women students of the Bloomsburg State Teachers College thrilled to a program on hair styling, presented by Antone of Hazleton, a well-known hair stylist, his attractive wife, Rose, and four lovely models.

Antone amazed the audience with such facts as: hair grows one-half inch per month; the amount of hair on the human head varies from 120,000-165,000 hairs per head; lanolin used in hair creams is from the skin of a sheep.

When asked to voice questions, the women responded enthusiastically. An ever-popular question of interest to the women was: "Is the trend toward long hair for spring?" Antone emphasized the fact that short hair will continue to be the style.

To the second question, "Does the use of peroxide harm the hair?" Antone replied that it merely bleaches the hair and destroys, to a slight degree, the elasticity of the hair.

Following the enlightening period of questions, Antone and his wife worked with the four models, creating four distinct and appealing coiffures. To the additional delight of the women, Antone cut and styled hairdos for many of the women present.

Antone's program was one of several designed for the enjoyment of the Waller Hall Women and the commuting students.

"B" Club Girls See 1956 Ice Capades

On Saturday, February 22, the "B" Club traveled to Hershey to see the annual Ice Capades. Miss McCammon, sponsor of "B" Club, Miss Barnes, Miss Hazen, Miss Kramer, and Mrs. Baker enjoyed the trip with the girls.

First on the program was a dramatic Black and White Ballet featuring the Ice Ca "Pets" and Ice Cadets. This was highlighted by a maypole dance which caused Miss McCammon's eyes to bulge trying to pick up some ideas for our May Day.

Spectacular is the only word for the musical version of Sir James M. Barrie's "Peter Pan." Donna Atwood, the queen of figure skaters, played the part of Peter Pan, and it was unusual to see her and the three children fly through the air. This is the only time Peter Pan has been performed on ice.

Fifi, the French poodle, lent a humorous air to the Capades. Two men dressed in a pink poodle dog costume flashing, flirty blue eyes, amazed the audience with a clever dance step.

The Fantasy in Pink was reminiscent of courtly magnificence. The costumes were a vivid pink covered with sequins and trimmed with plumes.

The Old Smoothies made their yearly appearance waltzing to the beautiful "Blue Danube Waltz".

Basketball Review

BLOOMSBURG, FEB. 15, 1956, The Bloomsburg Huskies captured their eighth win of the season with their victory over the visiting Kutztown S.C. Bloom jumped to a 12-7 lead in the early moments of the first half and were never threatened the remainder of the contest.

The Shellymen were led by the fine defensive play of Bob Boyle and Moe Morson. It was Morson who controlled both boards enabling the Huskies to maintain possession of the ball the majority of the game. Boyle and Jim Gusave, Plains contribution to the Hill Top quintet, copped the scoring honors hitting for 24 and 28 points respectively.

With a sizable 54-39 lead in the second half Coach Shelly cleared his bench to give the understudies a chance to show their wares. But the second five worked with precision and were able to hold onto the lead given them. Keith Weiser, one of the Huskies standout performers, reinjured his ankle and had to be carried from the floor. He is expected to be out of action for the next few games.

Kutztown put on a last minute spurt but it wasn't enough to overtake the Huskies. At one time they pulled to within seven points of bloom before being stalled. In spite of this the College Hill Tutors won the game by a nine point margin, 84-73.

MILLERSVILLE GAME

MILLERSVILLE, FEB. 19, The Millersville Marauders set a new state Teachers College record by beating the visiting Bloomsburg Huskies 103 to 88 to close out the third season in a row without a loss in the Teacher's Conference. They won number 42 over tutor rivals. The last time the Marauders were beaten was in 1952 when Bloomsburg beat them on the Centennial hardwoods.

Bloomsburg was never closer than five points to the high-flying dribblers of Coach Max Bishop. At the half-time the Shellymen trailed by eleven. This lead was extended to as many as 25 points during the second half.

The Marauders were led by their all-state center giant John Parker who netted 24 points. The six foot five inch junior controlled both banking boards throughout the contest.

Jim Gustave, the Plains Sophomore, was the high point man of the evening tallying eleven ones from the field and five free throws for 27 points. Bob Evans and Bob Boyle each accounted for 10 points.

Jim Garman Wins Again

Feb. 18, 1956—To the cheer of a large crowd, Jimmie Garman pulled through with a decision to win his seventh in a row without a loss—the only win of the night for the Huskies.

Joe Cawthern fell victim to one of the best wrestlers in the S.T.C. conference, in the person of Dick Charles. Cawthern made an impressive showing, although he did lose by the score of 8-3.

Two up and coming frosh, Gerry Eltringham and Barry Beilherz, found the going tough as they met veteran matmen of W.C. Both were pinned.

Charlie Rygiel met Charles Cawthern in the 157 pound class and lost by a score of 8-5. Charles Cawthern, brother of our own Joe Cawthern, was probably one of the best grapplers seen in the Husky gym this season.

Bob Asgy completed his match and came out leading 10-9, but Don Salvaterra (W.C.) gained one point riding time to turn the match into a draw. Wrestling the S.T.C. champ in his weight of last year, Porky Wise was downed by the score of 3-0. This score was no indication, though of the closeness of the match. Harry Hughes lost his fle in the second period and consequently lost the final match of the evening 3-2. The winning point coming on riding time.

In a preliminary bout, Tom Bosingler pinned his man in 2 minutes and 41 seconds to add a bright spot to a comparatively dark night.

Huskies during the current cage campaign as they took the measure of the visiting Shellymen by a 104 to 98 score.

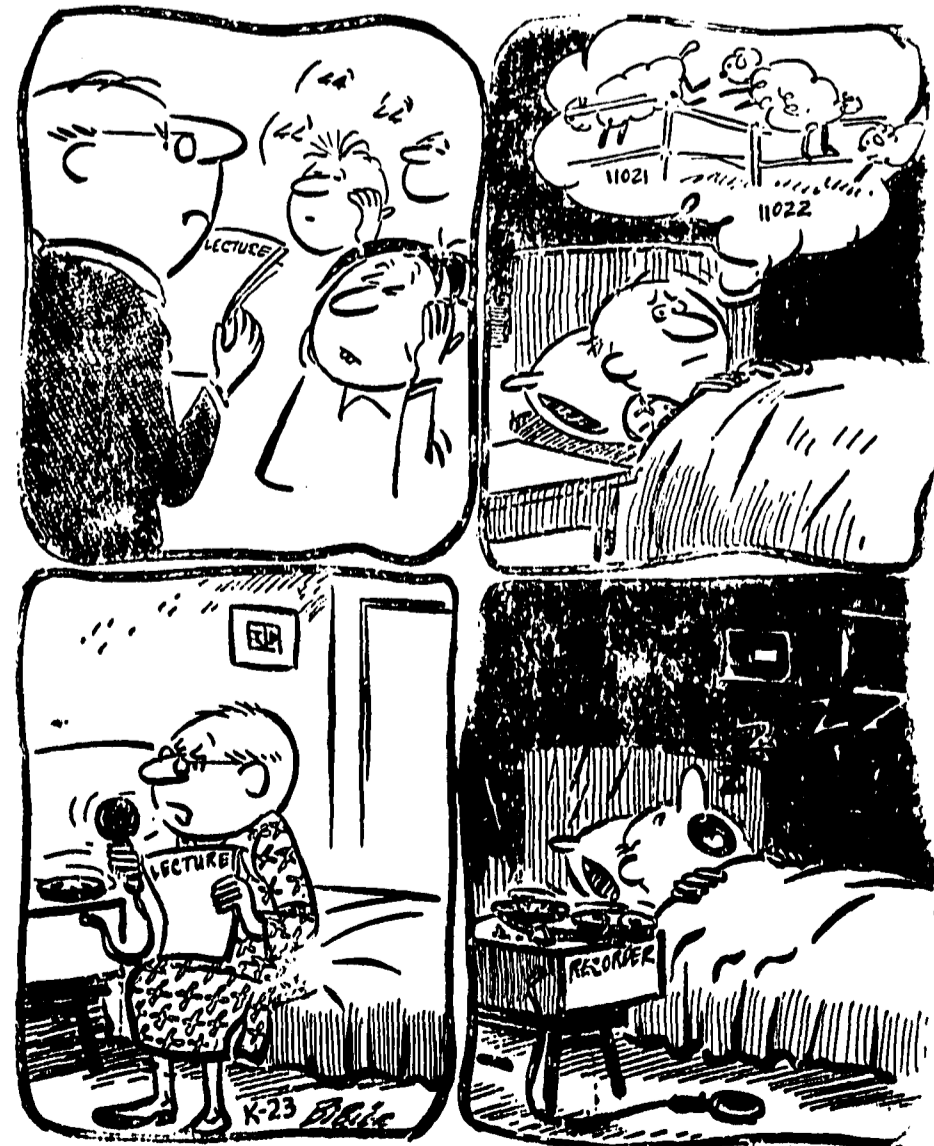

Kings enjoyed one of their best nights as far as shooting percentages were concerned and it was the ill-fate of the Huskies to run head-on to this outstanding exhibition. The Monarchs took 79 shots from the field and made good on 38 of them for an average of 48 percent. This is the best shooting any team has done to date against the locals.

Ken Wallace led the Kings scoring 34 points.

Jim Gustave, playing in his native Wyoming Valley, paced the College Hill dribblers with 25 points. Boy Boyle had 18 and Keith Weiser celebrated his return to the line-up with 16. Weiser had been out a week with a bad ankle.

The Huskies will be idle for a week, but they will get back in action next Wednesday night on the Centennial Gym at which time they will meet Lycoming College.

Boys do not usually keep a dance program; but if they did, the entries would go something like this:

Oriental Fantasy:

My escort, Eloise, called for me at North Hall at 8:30 to take me to the fabulous "Oriental Fantasy." I was so nervous I nearly forgot to take my Econ book! I wore my canary blue serge denim trousers which matched perfectly with my canary blue serge, saddle-stitched, hand-woven, white-buttoned jacket. I topped off this outfit with my official U. S. Navy discharge button. — Eloise was dressed up too.

We drove to the gym in my roommate's car—the color of which clashed terribly with my suit. There were three couples trying to get in the car and we were rather crowded; so the girls walked.

As we entered the beautifully decorated room, I hit my head where some fool had obstructed the doorway with two bamboo poles. Herb Green and his Ruptured Hawaiians were playing our favorite song, "Farmer in the Dell."

During the intermission Eloise helped me fill my thermos with punch—for after the dance. We remarked how nice Mae Bush looked in her fur-lined earrings. Annette Williams was crowned Coed of the Year.

At Al's I settled down for a night of wonderful dreams of "Oriental Fantasy."

The next morning the "After Hours" staff (all two of us), were back on the beat. As we walked into the lounge, we noticed "Knoebel's Krew" putting up the letters, COLLEGE BOOK STORE. —Glad they clarified the situation, but we don't think anyone thought it was the Boiler Room.

While we were in the lounge, we sat at a table with George Miller and Don Hemler. George asked Don if he had a match. "Here you are," replied Don. "Well, can you beat that? I've forgotten my cigarettes," said George, as he fumbled rather quickly through his pockets. "Too bad," kidded Don, "guess you won't need the match after all, will you?"

A short time later we saw Joe Malezyk barreling his way past the crowd which supposedly throws a good block whenever he attempts to enter the lounge. Frankly, Joe, we sympathize with you. —Guess you never heard that famous law of physics, "Two crowds cannot occupy the same space at the same time."

Pretty Jane Neff (any thoughts on the subject, Bob?) walked past our table a few minutes later carrying a book entitled "Guest in the House." Jane has a lead role in a play by the same name which will be presented in Carver Auditorium in April.

As we left the lounge, we walked on toward the dining room. When passing the Faculty Lounge, we "adamsdropped" (that's when you eavesdrop on men) and caught some of the conversation between Dean Hoch and Dr. Herre. It went something like this:

Dr. Herre: They're having a big Dollar Sale on suits in Berwick at Racusin's, John. You buy one suit for $38.00 and you get the second suit for only $1.00.

Dean Hoch: "Say, that sounds like a pretty good deal. Are you going to spend $39.00, Herre?"

Dr. Herre: Not me! John Serff is going to Berwick today to get a suit for himself. I'll just give him a dollar and ask him to get one for me!

As we neared the mailboxes, we ran into Pete Edward. Pete told us he was too busy to talk. He should be, as he is student co-ordinator of the Annual High School Basketball Tournament this year. Wally Hutz and Jim Nicholas are aiding as assistants. The Tournament starts on Tuesday, February 28. If you enjoy watching a good brand of basketball on the hardwoods, we recommend that you take time to see some of the better high schools in action at Centennial.

While standing in the cafeteria line, we overheard Woody Rhoads discussing his problems about girls with Jimmy Garman. "I've wanted to classes with her three times," he told Jim, "and carried her books. I bought her a CMP twice. Now do you think I ought to kiss her?" After a moment of deep thought, Jim said, "Naw, you don't need to. You've done enough for the girl already."

After dinner we saw Rosie Coulter and she gave us the scoop on her roommate's reaction when she entered the dorm after having been crowned "Coed of the Year," only a few minutes before. Annette was so overcome with joy that she burst into the room and showed Rosie the flowers, cup, and crown separately to prove she had really won.

Jim (Any thoughts?) Vowler and Norman Welk have been entertaining the men of North Hall with a weekly Polka Party, which is held on Friday nights in Norm's room. The good Dean Blair says he doesn't care if they play American music but that polka stuff has got to go.

A tip of the After Hours' hat this week goes to Mr. Stradtman. He is giving a lot of his time to sponsor your Saturday afternoon Splash Parties. How about you? Get in the swim! The water's fine!

Take a look at the Easter Bunny at Woolworth's the next time you go downtown. If you look closely you'll see its really Judy Moore hiding behind those false whiskers. Next week she will be singing "Here comes Peter Cottontail."

"B" Club Girls

Badminton was played by Forgie and Larson with one or the other sometimes playing the bird from both sides of the net consecutively. I hope you don't knock yourself out trying to do this without skates.

The finale was magnificently costumed and brilliantly colored with moving flames on the ice and in the air. The exotic ice dancing was done to Ravel's "Bolero" with the whole cast participating.

Why Not Get In the Swim?

Have you been to any of the splash parties? They are held at the Centennial Gym pool on Saturday afternoon from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. An average of forty students attend each week and everyone has an enjoyable afternoon or laughs and fun.

The Social Recreation Committee provides beach balls and swim fins to keep the non-swimmers busy. These coeducational dips are a perfect opportunity for the summer amateurs to practice their swimming strokes and diving and perhaps master a few new skills. It also provides entertainment for a Saturday afternoon. Mr. Stradtman, who teaches science and mathematics, is seen at every splash party.

The committee has planned a special program for the splash party on St. Patrick's Day, March 17. All the Irishmen are expected to attend this party. Get in the swim, see you at the pool Saturday!
