NATTER NEW CGA PRESIDENT

Senior Class of 1957 To Give Awards for Academic Achievement

The graduating class of 1957 at BSTC has deposited with the College Trust Fund the sum of five hundred dollars to be awarded in five annual cash prizes for scholarship. An award of one hundred dollars will be made each year to a student of the college by a committee composed of the chairman of the college scholarship committee and the Dean of Instruction. No application is necessary. To qualify for the award the student must be a Junior, (having completed at least 75 semester hours) must have at least a 2.5 cumulative average through the semester prior to the one in which the award is made, and must have compiled this average through at least three semesters as a student at Bloomsburg. The award is to be made on the basis of academic scholarship and the student's contribution to the college community, and no restrictions as to age, sex, or curriculum preference will apply.

If in any year no student qualifies for the prize, no award will be given in that year. The committee will make its annual choice from qualified persons early in the second semester of each year. After the initial award, the prize shall be presented to the winner in assembly by the Dean of Instruction on the day designated for scholarships and grants.

Five BSTC Students In Auto Accident

Five BSTC students, returning from a basketball game at Hershey on March 14, were involved in an accident at Selinsgrove.

Injured were Eleanor Myers, Joseph Pental, Craig Beach, Eugene Ber, and Rosemarie Coulter. They were taken to the Sunbury Community Hospital where Beach, Berg, and Coulter were released after receiving treatment for lacerations, contusions, and abrasions of the face and body.

Joseph Pental was admitted and later discharged when x-rays showed that he had not sustained a fracture of the left knee.

Eleanor Myers was detained at the hospital pending further examination for a possible jaw fracture. She too was released when x-rays failed to support this preliminary diagnosis.

With the exception of Eleanor, who is recuperating at her home, all have returned to their college classes.

My heartiest congratulations to the winner of the CGA elections.

— Ray Hargreaves

Poster Contest Winners Chosen Entries Tie for Third Place

Shirley Metz, a Freshman elementary student from Pittston, won First Prize in the Maroon and Gold poster contest for her poster depicting Lu Natter as the Snack Bar King. Jack Herman's poster, advertising Norman Balchunas as a candidate for Treasurer, came in second. In a tie for Third Place, Barby Hockenberry and Terry Julio were awarded duplicate prizes for their efforts in campaigning for Jo Bechtel and Ray Hargreaves.

The posters were judged by Deanna Morgan, Bill Kautz, and Arnie Reabord on March 14. The cash prizes awarded for First, Second, and Third places were seven, five, and three dollars respectively. The contest was sponsored by the Maroon and Gold in an effort to stimulate interest in the CGA elections.

For her poster of Lu Natter, Shirley Metz was awarded the seven dollar prize. Entered as number ten, this poster was considered by the judges as colorful and simple in nature. The ode written beneath the display of the

Concert Scheduled At High School

On Friday, March 29, at 8:30 p.m. in the Bloomsburg High School auditorium, the Civic Music Organization will present the Men of Song.

The Men of Song were named one of the ten best musical attractions in America by the National Society of Music. They are an accomplished, versatile quartet of male voices. In addition to concert appearances, the Men of Song have performed frequently on radio and television. Their selections include outstanding and unique arrangements of spirituals, art, folk songs, and songs of humor as well as special arrangements of operatic works. The quartet has also made some highly successful recordings.

The members include John Campbell and Carl Honzak, tenors; Thomas Head, baritone and Bruce Carrithers, base-baritone; and their accompanist-arranger, Charles Touchette. Each man brings to the group the benefits of individual musical training and professional experience.

Four hundred free tickets are available to college students. These can be obtained from either the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women.

CGA Treasurer's Report

The following bills were approved for payment at the March 11 College Council meeting:

1. Jim Foster (records)	$13.35
2. Wendy Rundell (records)	15.45
3. Ed Ritter (orchestra)	45.00
4. Wan-Ler Shop (Ming tree)	10.30
5. Pennington (Christmas tea)	13.59
6. College Store (election committee)	.78
7. Luther Natter (pennants)	2.06
Total	$100.53

We wish to thank all those who supported us with their votes in yesterday's elections. We promise to do our very best to uphold the ideals of the College Community by reflecting the trust you have placed in us.

The rigid, month-long election campaign for the coveted CGA offices is finally over. Yesterday students and faculty, with the use of voting machines, elected Luther Natter as president of the Community Government Association for the 1957-58 college year. Lu, a junior from Spring City, has been CGA vice-president for the present school term.

Irwin Parry, a transfer student from Syracuse University, was victorious as vice-president. From Blakely, Cap has served three years in the U.S. Army.

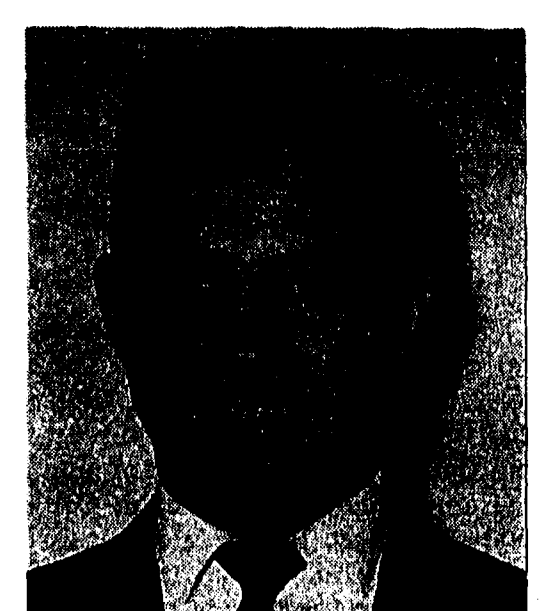

The duties of secretary will be handled by Joanne Bechtel, a sophomore from Easton.

The winner of the race for treasurer, Norman Balchunas, Shamokin, is a junior in the business education field.

Kenneth Wood, a sophomore from Mechanicsburg, was elected assistant treasurer.

The Annual Scholarship Awards Will Be Presented in Assembly Program on April 2

Scholarship awards for this semester will be presented in assembly on April 2 by Dr. Kuster, chairman of the scholarship committee.

The number of the awards will vary and the recipients are unknown at this time.

Awards of scholarships are recommended each year by the College Faculty Committee on Scholarships and Grants. The awards are offered by many groups. The Alumni Association offer an award of fifty to one hundred dollars each year to promising freshmen and sophomore students. The Alumni Association also offers a scholarship of one hundred dollars to a freshman or sophomore student selected by the Faculty Committee, and approved by President Andross on the basis of excellent scholarship, citizenship, and professional promise.

The American Association of University Women has a loan fund available for women students. A scholarship is provided by St. Matthew's Lutheran Church of Bloomsburg to be awarded annually to an active member of the Lutheran Student Society on campus. The Class of 1954 has provided an award of one hundred dollars and the classes of 1950, 1951, and 1952 have each provided funds to award an annual scholarship to a worthy student.

In addition to the above mentioned, the Bloomsburg Jr. Chamber of Commerce Scholarship will be awarded to a student who is a resident of Columbia County, recommended as outstanding by the Faculty Committee.

Substantial amounts are set aside from the profits of the College Community Store for scholarships and grants to aid students in good standing.

The scholarships are available for students with satisfactory college records as decided by the Faculty Committee. All applications for this year's scholarships must be submitted to Dr. Kuster by March 21.

EDITORIALS

A Step in the Right Direction

At last we have a scholarship available to BSTC students based mainly on academic achievement. We are speaking about the scholarship to be given by the seniors as a memorial to the Class of 1957. (See story on page 1)

Of course, this type of award has its drawbacks. Marks are relative things, and many times they are inaccurate measures of achievement.

But we think that the seniors' choice of a memorial is a good one. We understand that they had several suggestions of value to choose from. It's rather interesting to note that students themselves have preferred to give a scholarship with such rigid, almost forbidding academic requirements. And one that leaves out terms like "need" and "professional promise".

The seniors have recognized the value of honoring superior students — students in the true sense of the word. They have created a situation whereby a student with consistently good grades need not feel that his efforts are fruitless and unrecognized.

And who knows, perhaps this scholarship will have the same effect on BSTC as Charlie Van Doren has had on the children of America who are eager, now, to study so that they can become rich and famous, too.

It's a thought, anyway.

The Battle Has Just Begun

For five BSTC students elected into CGA office yesterday, the first lap of the race is over, but the longest — and the rockiest — road stretches yet far ahead. Bill Kautz, or any of the other CGA officers of this year can tell us that the road isn't strewn with roses along the way and that there isn't any pot of gold waiting at its end.

Being elected to serve on College Council is an honor, no one will challenge that. But it is even more a responsibility. Each candidate, in campaigning for office, has said, "Vote for me. I can do a better job." Well, the students and faculty have voted. Now each person elected is somewhat obligated to do at least as well as his running mate might have done had he been elected instead. And that's a big order.

During election campaigns, many big words are tossed to the voters, some rather vague in meaning. Qualifications and abilities of candidates are matched on both sides. But, curiously, specific issues are carefully avoided. Perhaps this practice is considered good politics, we don't know. But we do know now that the election is over, we're going to be looking for improvements in the college community by the newly chosen officers. We're going to be looking for results, for dividends.

Next semester the 1957-58 CGA officers will be installed in office. We don't know about the rest of the student body, but the newspaper staff is going to be watching for leaders with new, different ideas in government and effective methods for carrying them into practice.

Players To Stage "Pygmalion", "Stalag 17"

The Bloomsburg Players will present the well-known George Bernard Shaw creation, "Pygmalion" at seven o'clock, Tuesday, March 26. The play is under the co-direction of Gerald Donnemoyer and Doris Brown. The cast includes Dale Biever as Professor Higgins; Bob Ebner as Colonel Pickering; Susie Kierstead as Liza Doolittle; Bob Steinruck as Mr. Doolittle; Jane Neff as Mrs. Pearce; and Frances Guido as Mrs. Higgins.
 Robert Ebner will present the colorful stage production "Stalag 17" at the April 2nd meeting of the club. The play, made popular by the lauded motion picture of the same name, will include an all

Editor's Mail

12 March, 1957
 A.P.O. 29, New York, N. Y.

Dear Gus,

I am writing this note to express to you my appreciation for the job you are doing as G.I. mail editor on the staff of the Maroon and Gold.

While I am familiar with only a small part of the present student body, I still enjoy reading about the goings-on at Bloomsburg. As an ex-serviceman you can appreciate the value of getting mail like this . . .

I particularly liked Setting Up Peps in the February issue. It is the finest work of this type I have read in Bloomsburg publications. I also enjoyed the review of Barefoot Boy With Cheek . . .

Sincerely yours,
 Malcolm H. Smith

Editor's Note: The Maroon and Gold would like to encourage readers of this newspaper to write letters to the Editor, which we will publish in a Letters' Column. We welcome praise or criticism or merely discussion of newspaper articles or of college situations in general. However, we will not edit any letter for publication. We reserve the right to publish only clear, coherent, intelligible accounts and to cut unnecessarily lengthy letters. All letters must include the signature of the writer; however, names may be withheld upon request.

Newspaper, Council To Exchange Offices

Ray Seitz, editor of the Maroon and Gold, asked College Council on March 11 to approve a plan whereby the Maroon and Gold newspaper would exchange offices with the College Council.

He said that the present Maroon and Gold office is inadequate in space to meet the needs of the large staff working there in assembling the newspaper. The motion was carried unanimously by the Council.

In early May, the play "The Curious Savage" will be presented to the college community as a regular assembly program feature. Gerald Donnemoyer, a senior, will direct the club production.

Under-currents . . . by KEN WEIR

Just as an old man slowly becomes feeble, a senior slowly comes of age. And as he does, he occasionally steals a few minutes to look through a professional magazine. The current NEA Journal contains an entertaining essay written by Betsy Evans, a sophomore at George Washington University. In her essay, Miss Evans recalls earlier school days and teachers. It seems to the reader as though she is writing with a slight smile on her face and pleasant memories of those who helped mold her destiny. Her essay caused us to ponder the impressions we might remember in distant years . . . and we began thinking that we could not forget one Dr. Kuster and how he inspired us with a certain appreciation of bugs and buds . . . and frogs and flowers . . . and then there was Mr. Buckingham and his promises to hear ten speeches during a fifty minute period. But Mr. Buckingham had lots of comments and we were usually lucky to finish three or four . . . and we left class wishing we hadn't polished that speech. We knew it might be a week or two before we were finally called on to stutter through our lines. And we won't soon forget Dr. Seronsy and his flattering assumptions regarding our limited knowledge. He would say, "You know this . . . you're familiar with this." . . . and as lowly freshmen we felt terribly ashamed for not knowing . . . and we were all glad he didn't ask who knew and who didn't . . . and we usually tried to learn the things he assumed we knew . . . And then there was Mr. Shelly and his causticities. Some of us, that were really out of shape, began to feel every muscle pull . . . and the amazing part of it all was that he seldom asked us to do anything he wouldn't or couldn't do. And Dr. Russell helped many of us realize the value of keeping a running account of our activities through the years. Some of us enjoyed hearing him read the jottings from former generations of the Russell clan . . . and we wondered if our grandchildren might enjoy any notes or comments we might take the time to write. And Mr. Sterling took many folks for their first flight . . . and Miss McCammon inspired several picnics along Fishing Creek . . . some folks still visit the Gravel Pits during the warmer months . . . and many of us were able to watch Dean Yohe begin his administrative role as Dean of Men and we could sit back and project ourselves to his position . . . and we could sit back and watch Dean Hoch get many of us into a Monday-Wednesday-Friday schedule and then thank him for all the sleep we enjoyed on Tuesdays and Thursdays. We won't forget either, a certain Dr. Nell Maupin . . . for she wouldn't spoon-feed us . . . she didn't always chew the tough steak for us, she only pointed the direction and if we didn't chew or didn't have the teeth that was our fault! And some of us liked that!

Each of us could probably ramble on like this . . . in a faltering way recalling the folks that helped . . . or at least wanted to . . . and of course there were many more, and many times we were glad there were so many.

In the span of four years our college has changed. This is not meant to be a startling observation, but many of us do remember a less formal, less regimented student body. We are slowly becoming cosmopolitan! Shortly we will move into the College Common—or dining hall—and most of us are proud of the fact. But at this point we must stop and realize that new buildings don't make a college! It takes teachers and students—and superior ones too—for a superior college. We've added some fine instructors . . . from State College . . . Minnesota . . . Williamsport . . . etc. And we'll probably continue to build new buildings and paint old ones . . . and hire new professors . . . and change more . . . and spend more . . . and feed more . . . and graduate more . . . but so what?

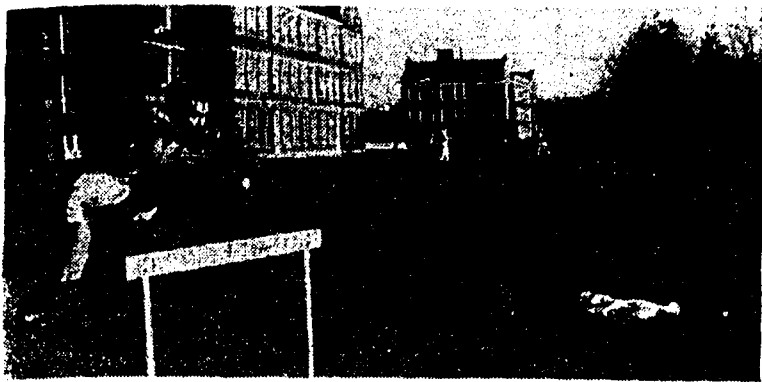

We seldom pick up a magazine or newspaper without finding some article discussing (usually cussing) educational procedures, and educators. Let us not forget that we could graduate excellent students from outdated, unpainted buildings . . . and that just because we follow a continual paint-up, fix-up campaign we do not necessarily achieve our goals by this alone. The entire matter rests in our hands. We can prove just how much bunk some of the critics are throwing our way. But if we aren't awake we might help to prove that the things some of these folks are saying are true.

We won't have higher salaries for teachers unless teachers can continue to prove they deserve them. We won't have a better Bloomsburg until we realize just how good Bloomsburg is . . . and decide just what small thing we might find to do that could make it better.

Most of us could consider the words of George Bernard Shaw, "A Learned Man Is An Idler Who Kills Time By Study."

Men's Intramurals In Semi-Finals

In the semi-final round of the Men's Intramural Tournament, the Dean's List defeated the Ominous Six and the Unknowns defeated the highly-favored castoffs. By virtue of their victories these two teams met in the finals held Wednesday, March 20. The results of this game are not known as yet. This game was preceded by a preliminary game which featured a team composed of ball players selected from defeated teams and the College freshman team.

Husky Trackmen Begin Practice

What are the prospects for the Husky track team this year? When this question was presented to Coach Harold Shelly, he was rather non-committal. He did disclose, however, that the track team would probably be stronger in the middle distances, weights, and pole vault. He expects that we will remain about the same in the high jump and the hurdles, and we will probably be weaker in the sprints and broad jumps unless some freshman comes along to take up the slack.

There are about thirty candidates for the team. These include five lettermen: Ken Wood, Gerry Wood, Jim Gustave, Eddy Watts, and Charley Lougherty. Some freshmen candidates include Stan Elinsky, Al Francis, Carl Sweet, Ray Thayer, Dick Rimple, and Charles McDonald.

The first meet is scheduled for April 13, which is the earliest we have had a meet in eight years. Altogether, the team is scheduled for six meets plus the State meet and the Penn Relays.

Huskies Baseball Team Begins Practice; Many Veterans Return

Coach Paul "Doc" Wagner recently made the annual call for boys interested in playing baseball this spring for BSTC. Players, hopeful in making the Maroon and Gold nine in the pitching and catching departments, have been working out for the past three weeks in the Benjamin Franklin School basement.

Coach Wagner finds his 1957 squad well fortified with veterans returning from last year's BSTC Championship team. Along with these returnees several freshmen have been displaying their wares in the pre-season drills.

Pental Out

The Huskies received a hard blow when it was revealed that Joe Pental, an outstanding infield veteran, will be out for five to six weeks with injuries suffered in an automobile accident last Thursday night. He suffered lacerations of both legs and possible fracture of the left hand.

The rest of the aspirants seem to be whipping into fine shape and should be ready for their season opener, which will be played at home on April 6 against Lycoming College. A helpful hand from the weatherman will be a definite additional aid.

To Play Colgate

On April 13 Colgate's Red Raiders will play an exhibition contest with the Huskies on the Mt. Olympus diamond. Colgate will be traveling to the Dixie Tourney at that time and will stay overnight in Bloomsburg.

Coach Wagner pointed out that his team is well set this year and he should be able to pick up a good percentage of wins this spring.

Last year's Husky diamond crew dropped only two games in collecting the state championship honors, those losses going to Wilkes and Rider.

After the sixteenth, Bloomsburg finishes out the month of April in games with East Stroudsburg, away, on the 10th, and Lock Haven teachers, home, on the 27th.

Lock Haven To Host Student Conference

The 19th annual Student Government Conference of the State Teachers Colleges in Pennsylvania will be held at Lock Haven State Teachers College on March 28, 29, and 30. Delegates representing BSTC will be Luther Natter, Evelyn Gilchrist, Carl Janetka, Nancy Suwalski, and David Sphar.

The conference program will include a panel discussion on the topic "Student Government in Teacher Education", a stage play, "Teahouse of the August Moon", produced by the LHS'IC Players, and a banquet Friday evening.

A special exhibition will be given by the Lock Haven gymnastics team for the delegates from the fourteen teachers colleges. The delegates will also be guests at a dance following the gymnastic exhibition.

Accompanying the group as faculty representative will be Miss Edith Zinn. The delegation plans to leave Thursday afternoon and return late Saturday evening.

CLUB NEWS

Mr. Ray Calabrese from station WHLM presented a St. Patrick's Day program at the Athenaeum Club meeting Thursday, March 21. Many Irish songs were discussed and reviewed.

The film, "Jet Propulsion", was shown at the last meeting of the Aviation Club. At present the organization is promoting sporting aviation and plans to provide airplane trips for all members.

Phi Sigma Pi had a formal initiation of new members on Thursday, March 21, in the social rooms of Science Hall. Those received into the fraternity were Al Nuss, John Valania, Gerald Donmoyer, Edward Brower, Ronald Romig, Wilber Helt, Bernard O'Brien, and Michael Marcinko.

On April 1, the fraternity is sponsoring a jazz concert in Centennial Gym which will feature Bobby Baird. Tickets are being sold by fraternity members for one dollar.

Sigma Alpha Eta, speech and hearing fraternity, traveled to the Lancaster Cleft Palate Clinic on their annual field trip last Friday.

The purpose of the trip was to acquaint students with the processes involved in the diagnosis and treatment of persons with cleft palate.

Robert Millard, an alumnus of BSTC, is the speech correctionist for the clinic. He met the group upon arrival, conducted them on a tour of the clinic, and explained certain aspects involving therapy techniques in the rehabilitation of cleft palate patients.
