Twenty-three Students Receive $1100 in Scholarships and Grants

The 1957 scholarships and grants recipients and persons who presented the awards.

Twenty-three students of BSTC were awarded over $1100 in scholarships and grants in assembly on April 2. This amount, when added to a similar amount presented to twenty-two students in December, 1956, makes this year's total of scholarships and grants more than $2200. Dr. Kimber C. Kuster, chairman of the faculty committee on scholarships and grants, briefly described the nature and source of the funds, and introduced the individuals who made the awards.

Paul Martin, treasurer of the Columbia County Alumni Association, presented scholarships to Duane Belles, Berwick; Donald Kerr, Elysburg; and Dale Bangs, Millville. Mr. Martin, on behalf of the class of 1951, also presented a scholarship to Keith Michael of Huntingdon Mills. David Barnhart was the recipient of the Benjamin Franklin Parent Teachers Association Scholarship, presented by Mrs. Harry John, president of the association.

John Chidester, Jr., Lower Merion, received the Sunday School Scholarship from the Rev. James Singer, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran Church. John J. Ford, president of the Day Men's Association at BSTC, awarded that organization's scholarship to Ronald Ferdock, Centralia. The American Association of University Women Scholarship was presented to Sandra Raker, East Smithfield, by Mrs. Cecil C. Seronsy, president of the association.

W. Horace Williams, manager of the College Community Store, presented awards, representing profits from the store, to the following: Boyd Arnold, McClure; Filomena Crocomo, Allentown; Pam Fox, Sunbury; Jo Ann Heston, Wyoming; Eloise Kaminski, South Gibson; Joan Lazo, Freeland; Kenneth Miller, Plymouth; James McCarthy, Drifton; Donald Morgan, Gilberton; Kenneth Paden, Nescopeck; Ronald Senko, Edwardsville; Paul Spahr, Collingdale; Carl Stanitski, Shamokin; Ralph Wagner, Dallas; and Bernard Zaborowski, Wanamie.

Bobby Baird and his Continentals entertained 500 students and faculty members during the first annual jazz concert April 1, at the Centennial Gym. The program was sponsored by Phi Sigma Pi.

Bobby Baird is a former soloist with the United States Navy Band. His Continentals are a well known group from the Scranton vicinity.

His presentations included many Dixieland selections greatly appreciated by the audience who were keeping enthusiastic time with the music. Al Miles, well known student at BSTC joined the Continentals during the second part of the program, rendering his own interpretation of Louis Armstrong.

The three-hour program was divided into two parts—concert time, for an hour and a half, and then dancing, giving BSTC guys and gals a chance to shine.

Galatha, Suwalski, and Wahl Appointed as New Publications Editors for 1957-58 College Year

Mary Galatha

The BSTC Publications Board, consisting of Dr. Russell and Mr. DeVoe, convened on Wednesday, March 13 to select editors for the Maroon and Gold, The Obitor, and The Olympian for the 1957-58 college year.

Mary Galatha, a junior from Hazle Township, was chosen to succeed Ray Seltz as editor of the Maroon and Gold. Mary's journalistic experience includes the assistant editorship of the newspaper and membership of the Olympian editorial board. She is also active in Kappa Delta Pi and FTA.

She is also the secretary of CGA and served as a delegate to the Student Government Conference at Lock Haven. Her other activities include Kappa Delta Pi and FTA.

Sandy McBride, a junior from Williamsport, will serve as assistant editor of the Obitor. She is presently a member of the junior editorial board of that publication.

Mary Wahl

In addition she is active in the Social Recreation and Pep committees. Perhaps Sandy is best known as captain of BSTC's cheerleading squad.

Kim Wahl, a sophomore from Milton, was selected to succeed Mae Romig as editor of the Olympian. She has served as a staff member of this publication and has also contributed articles to the newspaper. Her other interests include the Social Recreation Committee and the Science and Aviation clubs.

Janet Plummer, Arlene Rando, both from Shamokin; Bobbi Roadside, Philadelphia; Marilyn Ritter, Forty Fort; Shirley Seiler, Auburn; Dolores Stanton, Williamsport; Enola Van Auken, Mill City; and Margaret Yohn, Selinsgrove. All other senior girls will form an honor court.

College students will then give their renditions of the Charleston, jitterbug, rock and roll gyrations, and Calypso dancing. Our college Octet will sing several selections, including Giovanni Palestrina's, Adoramus Te. May Day activities will conclude with the traditional winding of the maypoles. Mrs. Dorothy J. Evans is general chairman of the May Day program.

Registration Plans Announced by Dean; 300 Applicants

The Dean of Instruction's Office has announced tentative plans for advanced registration for the Fall semester. According to a new policy adopted during the current year, all returning students will be required to pay part of the fifty dollar contingent fee.

According to figures released, nearly 300 applicants for September 1947 have satisfactorily met admission standards on qualifying examinations. The quota for freshmen has been fixed at 350 men and women. It is interesting to note that women applicants outnumber men two to one, reversing a trend toward heavier male enrollment prior to World War II.

Career Day

Dean Hoch represented the college at the annual career day programs at Sunbury, Shamokin, and West Pittston for several days during recent weeks. He will be the keynote speaker on career days at Wilkes-Barre, Mt. Carmel, and West Hazleton during April.

ROLLER SKATING PARTY

A roller skating party, open to the entire college community, was held at the "Star-Lite Gardens" on Wednesday, April 10. The "Gardens" is a new roller rink located on East Seventh Street, Bloomsburg. Admission was free, but a rental fee for skates was charged.

EDITORIAL

A Case for Courtesy

This Editorial is meant for BSTC students who go to assembly and (or) use the Husky Lounge. It's a lecture, we admit. And, although no one likes to be told what or what not to do—preaching it's commonly called—there are times when some things need to be said. And we think that something needs to be said about a very simple but necessary element in college life, or in any kind of life for that matter—ordinary courtesy.

Behavior in Assembly

We've been appalled and embarrassed numerous times in the past few months at the behavior of students in regular assembly periods. We'll grant you that assembly is not always interesting or amusing. But the college feels that these programs are of some value to you. Even if you do not agree, you have no right to be discourteous, and at times downright insulting, to the performer. You don't have to be amused or enlightened or interested, but you should at least be quiet. And if you can't be that, you shouldn't go at all.

The odd thing about it is, students here are among the best where manners and good taste are concerned. Individually, we are courteous to each other, to visitors, to other colleges, to almost everybody. But together, when we lose our identity in a large group, we seem also to lose our manners.

Next assembly, when you are tempted to talk, shuffle papers, knit, read, or write letters, think twice about it. The person on stage is speaking to or performing for you. The least you can do is be quiet until he is finished. And it may surprise you, but you just might become interested in what he is doing.

Room for One More

Another matter that involves just a touch of consideration for others is the crowded condition of the lounge during the noon hour. Large numbers of commuting students must eat their lunches at limited tables and booths. We think it would be a nice gesture for dorm students not eating to congregate on the upper deck of the lounge between eleven and one o'clock instead of taking up scarce tables and chairs in the eating area. This especially applies to those students playing cards and other games during this time.

Perpetual Battle

One group of students on campus enjoys watching television in the evenings, especially on weekends. Others enjoy listening to records on the Hi-Fi set. Both groups like a little volume with their entertainment. Obviously, a conflict must arise in the lounge at times, since both the television set and the record player are in the same room. Here again is a situation calling for a bit of common sense as well as common courtesy. When fifteen or twenty persons are watching television and five or six others decide to listen to records, certainly those few students can sit close enough to the record player so that it need not be loud enough to disturb the others. When the situation is reversed, of course, the same thing applies. And when only a few are watching TV, the logical thing for them to do would be to move to the other TV set in the rear of the lounge near the fireplace—away from the Hi-Fi. And away from any conflict between the two groups.

Well we've said our piece—almost—but there's just one more thing while we are on the subject of courtesy. Everybody loves love. But nobody likes too much of it in public. . .

Delegates Spend Three Busy Days At Lock Haven

March 28, 29, and 30 were the three days set aside for the nineteenth annual Student Government Conference of the Pennsylvania State Teachers Colleges. Lock Haven was the host college to which her thirteen sister institutions sent delegates. Representing Bloomsburg were Miss Zinn as faculty advisor, Luther Natter as chairman, Carl Janetka, Evelyn Gilchrist, Dave Spahr, and Nancy SuwalSKI.

The first day gave the delegates an opportunity to become acquainted with the town of Lock Haven, the college, and with many of the other 75 delegates. Registration was followed by dinner in the college dining room. Thursday evening a play, "Teahouse of the August Moon," was presented by the College Players. After the play, an informal record dance was held in the recreation room of the girls' dormitory.

Friday was the day when most of the Student Government activity took place. Dr. McGeary, Professor of Education at Penn State University, gave the Conference keynote address. Five panels, composed of members of all delegations, were the means by which ideas of student governments were exchanged. The panel entitled "Differences and Similarities in Our Colleges in General."

Immediately following the panel discussions, the President of the College, Dr. Richard Parsons and Mrs. Parsons entertained delegates and faculty advisors at a tea in their home. That evening at a banquet, Dr. Parsons traced the steps in the evolution of student government in our colleges.

The Conference ended on Saturday with a general session and business meeting in the auditorium. Summarizers from each of the five panels presented the resumes of the group discussions.

Thirty Schools To Compete in Contest

Over thirty high schools have entered the annual Business Contest to be held May 4 on this campus. The contest will be conducted in Navy Hall throughout the day. Schools that are entering the competition for the first time are Lehigh, North Penn (Lansdale), Lake Trailz (Factoryville), Cocalico Union (Denver), and Upper Dublin (Fort Washington).

The participating high school students will be given tests in bookkeeping, typing, shorthand, and business arithmetic. The contestants select the subject in which they wish to compete.

Since 1931 the Business Department has been conducting the contest in order to encourage high school students to give consideration to commercial teaching as a career. Representatives of fifteen high schools throughout the state comprised the group taking part in the first contest on May 15, 1931.

Individual awards are given to the winning students as well as to the school receiving the most points. Danville High School was the winner of the school award in 1956.

VISITATION DAY CANCELLED

The annual Visitation Day, April 6, for high school students planning to attend BSTC has been cancelled. Every year the members of FTA sponsor this event in order to acquaint prospective students with the campus and give them a glimpse of college life. Since all new students have seen or will see the campus on the day they take the required college entrance examinations, the FTA has decided to cancel Visitation Day this year.

COLLEGE COUNCIL BANQUET

The annual spring banquet of College Council will be held April 29, at the Pine Barn Inn in Danville. Thirty-seven people will enjoy a steak menu at this banquet.

An old lady was entering a drug store on a rainy day when a little boy suddenly charged out the door, ran across the sidewalk, and leaped into the gutter. She hurried to him and asked, "Are you hurt?" "No," he muttered, "but I'd sure like to know who moved my bicycle!"

That's How Rhythm Was Born

Calypso Background Setting for Eleventh Annual Fashion Show

Thobbing strains of music and exotic scenery characterized the 11th Annual Fashion Show presented April 4th under the direction of Mr. Charles Henrie. The haunting beat of Calypso music provided a tropical setting for Judy Ulmer, narrator, and models Joan Reider, Bobbi Roadside, Bobbie Creamer, Carol Ely, Bette Gibson, Mary Heatley, Joan Dalton, Nancy Herman, Sandy Lewis, Peggy Markovci, Suzi Young, Lois Carpenter, Sandy Clarke, Ginny Hardy, Susan Heckman, Sandy Jones, Sally Riefenstahl, Alice Shaw, and Carol Thomas.

At the opening Margie Morson, John Seamon, Dotty Horning, and Bob Boyle, dressed in native costume, performed a Calypso dance. Over 150 garments, hats, and accessories were seen against the background of a Caribbean straw market and an outside display of tropical fruit.

The youngest visitors to the land of bananas and coconuts were Bloomsburg grade school students. The children, under the direction of coordinator Mary Grace, were Anne Diserod, William Edgar, Sandra Evert, Sharon Fausey, Thomas Hoffman, Susan Housenick, Kathy Howard, Sally Waples, Debbie Hughes, Gary Miller, Suzie Shive, Eileen Sinclair, Nina Smith, Carol Walburn, Thomas Warr, and Sandra Zimmerman.

Vacation time on a South Seas island theme was emphasized by store coordinators who helped choose the clothes, kept an inventory, and prepared everything worn in the show. Girls under the direction of Janet Plummer were Mary Cuber, Mary Faith Fawcett, Nancy Hane, Nancy Hughes, Molly Mattern, Jean Naughton, Ann Peal, Sally Stallone, Dolores Stanton and Barbara Watts.

The show ended with a Calypso dance done by the models and their partners in the stage setting organized by Miss Margaret McCern and Daniel Kressler. Music for the Fashion Show was played on the organ by Mrs. Mary Jane Ertel.

Under-currents . . . by KEN WEIR

From all appearances the night of March 27 was destined to be a good one. Chick and the Starlighters were setting the mood from the Husky Lounge bandstand and the cokes were on the house. Everyone seemed to be a part of the warm, good-natured atmosphere. At 10:05 P.M. the Starlighters packed their instruments and a sizeable crowd turned to the television deck for the Academy Awards. We patiently waited until 10:30 when all eyes turned to Hollywood for Cinemaland's biggest night.

As the tension mounted and the hour approached midnight we were shocked when a representative of the Social Recreation Committee abruptly turned off the set, reminding us that it was 11:50 . . . and that was it!

Now, many will say that it is the nature of youth to rebel against any and all authority. But some of us are of the opinion that youth respects and enjoys good sensible law. When an action is reasonable and handled in the proper manner, few thinking people will criticize the authority. A good example of this took place several weeks ago when some members of the Maroon and Gold were working in the office after hours. One of the social deans told us that regulations did not permit us to occupy the office after the general curfew. The entire situation was handled in a mature, careful way. Instead of becoming indignant, we could have nothing but respect for the authority. It is not always necessary to explain for children . . . but on the college level it would seem wise to have some solid explanations handy so that authority may be understood.

The newspaper office incident produced an explanation and there was no negative reaction. If the Academy Award incident has an explanation, it should be a good one. But we can't imagine just what it might be!

Every year the problem repeats itself. On occasion the girls have been sent to the dorm at 11:50 and the men allowed to remain. On at least one occasion the girls returned for the remainder of the program after having been evicted. It seems foolish to repeat such embarrassing situations year after year. We say embarrassing because no doubt the person who was designated to close the lounge this year didn't like the job. Then too it seems unfortunate for the Social Deans involved. Everyone knows that the Awards program is usually completed by midnight . . . or by 12:10 A.M. at the latest. Just why can't some allowance be made for this one night each year?

We took this much space for a good reason. These are the little things that seem petty to many . . . but you know the story about the straw that broke the camel . . . and that frequently applies on the local scene as well!

Our Eleventh Annual Fashion Show is a thing of the past. But it should be said that Dan Kressler "out-Kresslered Kressler" in the stage design department. The Calypso set was professional in every respect. One of the pigeons got so carried away with all the authenticity that an egg was laid during the afternoon showing.

Susie Hughes and Evie Gilchrist of Hilltop Highlights fame are room-mates. It seems that Evie asked Susie to be sure to arouse her bright and early last Saturday morning. After preparing for the new day, Susie faithfully wrote a nice note reminding Evie to get up at the given hour. Evie finally arrived at the snack bar for an 11:00 A.M. eye-opener and wasted no time in reminding Susie that they did own an alarm clock.

Next time we'll talk a little bit about the new book—A Teacher Is A Person. Until then see if you can find a copy . . . you won't be sorry you did!

COLGATE HERE TOMORROW

SPORTS HI-LITES

by DON COFFMAN

Old man winter played havoc with the Husky's opening encounter with Lycoming College last Saturday afternoon as opening day was ushered in with snow, torrential rains, and a soggy Mt. Olympus. The game has been rescheduled as part of a doubleheader in Williamsport on May 11.

Between the rain and otherwise miserable days, Doc Wagner in the past month, has been trying to arrange and rearrange his squad into a notable contender and defending champion of the State Teachers College loop. An array of veterans will sparkle most of the infield and outfield, however, the mainstay of the pitching staff must come from the freshmen rookies.

Joe Pental, Sophomore shortstop from Hazleton, with one excellent year of experience behind him, is almost certain to be leading the attack for the Huskies this spring. Joe's brilliant defensive play and added batting punch thrilled the local fans last spring, and should be one of Doc Wagner's brighter spots for the next three years.

The other infield positions are also studded with veterans—George Parsell, third; "Tiger" DeNoy, second; and Jim Snyder, first. Bobby Rohm of Muncy will battle DeNoy for the second base spot and should bolster the infield for the diamond crew of Coach Wagner.

Switching to the outfield, three remaining veterans are holding down their respective positions. Chuck Casper and Ed Shustack have been roaming the outfield on Mt. Olympus for three years and will continue their roaming this season. Both boys are team spirited and with their experience should decide whether the championship of the Teachers College ranks remains here at Bloomsburg. Junior, Bobby Boyle of Scranton, also a veteran of two years, will complete the all-round experienced outfield.

Behind the plate for his second straight year will be Jonah Goobic. Jonah's strong arm and good batting eye enabled Doc Wagner to feel at ease with his catching worries last year. Behind Jonah in the catching department this season are a host of others who are vying for that position.

Coming back to the Doc's weaknesses—pitching—most of the burden will rest on the freshmen. Only Bob DiPippi and Bill Freed remain from last year's squad. Rookies Paul and Dale Franklin, Ed Galitsky, Bob Mescan, Ed Wojciechowsky, Bill Morris, and Webb Michael, will be expected to carry the load.

As the weatherman postponed our home opener last weekend, our first game on Mt. Olympus is tomorrow with Colgate University.

Casper and Shustack Complete Basketball Careers This Season

A well-known figure on the BSTC baseball diamond is left fielder Charles "Chuck" Casper. Equally well known on the football gridiron, Chuck is closing out his BSTC baseball career this May.

Chuck hails from Bellefonte, Pa. He was graduated from high school there in 1953, where he was a football and baseball man. His major field here at Bloomsburg is Elementary Special Education, and at the present time he is student teaching at the Bloomsburg Memorial Elementary School.

When asked to name his biggest BSTC baseball thrill, his quick answer was the thrill of beating West Chester on the baseball diamond two years in a row. His favorite teammates were John Huda and Ed Shustack. The toughest opponents we faced, in his opinion, were West Chester STC and Rider College.

In his spare time away from classes and sports, he enjoys hunting and fishing.

After graduation in May, Chuck plans to teach and he would also like to coach sports.

Shustack

When the Husky baseball team takes the field against Colgate tomorrow afternoon, the fixture in center field will be Ed Shustack.

Ed comes to us from Shenandoah High School, where he graduated in 1952. While in high school, he played baseball and basketball.

The biggest thrill for Ed as a Husky ball player was being a member of two championship baseball teams while here at Bloomsburg. He lists as his best game the Kutztown game in 1955 when he had four hits.

When he was asked to name outstanding player he played with here at BSTC, Ed, rather than any one player, praised them all, saying, "They were all great in my book, and each contributed his share to making our team the finest in the STC conference." Ed names West Chester as the toughest opponent the Huskies faced on the diamond.

Ed likes to spend his leisure hours collecting books, reading, and writing short stories.

He is undecided about the future, but he'd like to teach and be a high school coach.

Tennis Included In Intramural Sports Program

For the first time at BSTC, tennis will be placed in the intramural program. The action is scheduled to begin Monday, April 29. Participants will be divided into two groups—novice and advanced.

Those who have never played the racket-sport and wish to receive instruction, will enter the program in the novice division. All others will play in the advanced bracket. Mr. John O'Donnell of the Benjamin Franklin Elementary School, in charge of the summer intramural program, points out that this will add to the interest of the tennis program and will encourage many people to give the sport a try who would otherwise neglect the opportunity.

Participants will be asked to provide their own racquets.

Men's Softball

The men's intramural softball program was scheduled to be launched on April 3, but due to the recent flurry of bad weather, no games have been played as yet.

Twelve teams have been listed for action in the league and the contests will begin as soon as the weatherman permits.

The teams are: Friendly Vets, Dirty Dozen, Super Chiefs, Rodents, Kernels, Murderer's Row, Be-Bops, Greyhounds, Hound-Dogs, Susquehannas, Fall-Outs, and the Unknowns.

Rained out games will be made up on weekends and it is up to the manager of the squads to make all necessary arrangements.

Noted Authority Gives Program On Shakespeare

Mr. Redmond O'Hanlon, noted authority on the witticisms and puns of Shakespeare and winner of "The $64,000 Question", was the speaker at the Thursday, April 11, assembly program.

Mr. O'Hanlon, who has discovered over 3,500 puns in Shakespeare's plays, gives to his audience a deeper insight and appreciation of Shakespeare's classics. Concentrating chiefly on the humorous situations in Shakespeare's plays, his lecture was entertaining and interesting. The noted lecturer is credited with being instrumental in the current revival of interest in Shakespearean plays in this country.

Holding a B.A. from Drew University and a Master's Degree from Fordham University, Mr. O'Hanlon is considered an expert in his field. Mr. O'Hanlon gained nationwide recognition a short time ago when he was a contestant on "The $64,000 Question". In a few short weeks he demonstrated complete mastery of his subject in becoming the first big prizewinner on the popular program.

In addition to his scholastic achievements, Mr. O'Hanlon served in World War II, was a member of the New York City Police Department's Juvenile Aid Bureau, and later became director of athletics for the Catholic Youth Organization. He has made guest appearances on television panel shows, and is a contributor to numerous magazines and newspapers.

GIRL'S INTRAMURALS

In the next few weeks the girls' intramural basketball program will draw to a close. However, this does not mean that girls' intramural sports will be discontinued. Plans are being made for the initiation of a tennis tournament and a softball league.

As a highlight of the entire program, a weekend in May will be set aside for the presentation of awards to the outstanding teams in each of the sports represented.

Huskies Entertain Red Raiders In Exhibition on Local Diamond

Students Visit Local Museum

Miss Barnes' elementary social studies classes visited the Columbia County Historical Society, Monday, March 25th. Mr. Barton related to them some of the more significant events of the early history of Columbia County. He explained some phases of the lives of the Indians who lived in this area.

Doc Wagner's diamond crew open the 1957 baseball season tomorrow afternoon on Mt. Olympus as they entertain the Red Raiders of Colgate University in an exhibition contest. The Red Raiders are enroute to the Dixie Tourney and will make a day stop in Bloomsburg.

As this is the first home contest of the year, the entire college community is urged to make its appearance on Mt. Olympus tomorrow afternoon.

THE CONTINENTAL-AIRES

Continental Aires To Perform In Assembly Program April 16

The Continental-Aires, one of America's most sensational new concert singing groups, will perform in Carver Auditorium on April 16 during the regularly scheduled assembly period.

This unique male quartet, under the direction of the noted pianist and arranger, Julian Parrish, has thrilled thousands of music lovers with concert appearances in New York City and other large cities here in the east. Since their formal New York debut in the fall of 1952, the quartet has met with wide critical acclaim.

This outstanding group of vocal artists has an unusually rich musical background and much training and experience in radio, television, the concert stage, and the legitimate theater. Their varied program includes classical, semi-classical, sacred and folk songs, comedy and standard popular tunes.

The solo work of tenor, Clinton Holland, whether in foreign languages or southern dialect, shows years of training and experience. Careful blending of the three other voices of J. Wayland Jackson, Robert Bulger, and Wanza King has led to the present position of the Continental-Aires which is unquestionably tops among male quartets.

"Butchie"
