Hawaiian Holiday in Gym Tonight

The Junior refreshment, decorations and program committees at work.

Joe Menarchi To Provide Music For Junior Prom

Tonight you will dance to the music of Joe Menarchi and his orchestra at the last all collegiate formal dance, Hawaiian Holiday, theme of the Junior Prom, will be staged this evening in Centennial Gymnasium from 9 until 12.

Joe Menarchi and his orchestra are popular among both the young and old. They perform every Sunday afternoon at the AMVETS in Shenandoah.

As you enter the gymnasium you will board a gang plank leading to an imaginary ship where you will be welcomed by the faculty. Descending the gang plank you will be greeted by lovely Hawaiian girls who will present traditional Hawaiian leis. Now you are ready for an enjoyable evening amidst an atmospheric Hawaiian setting of palm trees, tropical fish and plants, and beach umbrellas.

Mary Pileski Will Edit '57-'58 College Handbook

Mary Annette Pileski, a junior from Bloomsburg, has been named editor of the 1957-58 Pilot. Other appointments to the Pilot staff are as follows: associate editor, Jane Ann Smith; assistant editors, Patricia Antonio, Edward Braynock, William Criswell, Raymond Hargreaves, and Dolores Panzitta; and business manager, Gerald Donmoyer. Mrs. Elizabeth Miller will serve as advisor.

The Pilot is an annual handbook, which is presented to each student at the beginning of the scholastic year, to acquaint him with Bloomsburg State Teachers College. It includes information such as the location of various rooms and buildings on campus, a list of personnel, college services, business office information, and scholarships and loan funds. Consideration is given to student government, college policies, associations, clubs, fraternities and athletics. The Pilot also includes pertinent information concerning the town of Bloomsburg and its churches and religious organizations. Another section of the Pilot is devoted to the Social Calendar, which is a day-by-day calendar, as well as a complete listing of college events.

1957 Obiter To Arrive May 18

With graduation just around the corner, BSTC students are awaiting the arrival of the 1957 Obiter. This year's book, according to Sue Osborn, Editor, promises to be as outstanding as those of the past. Members of the staff hope that the students will enjoy reading the Obiter and that in years to come the book will continue to be a source of pleasant memories of their college days.

The book this year will contain the usual number of pages; however, the layout will be somewhat different. The Obiter is divided into seven sections, subtitled athletics, clubs, organizations, seniors, etc. Due to the work of the advertising staff, who succeeded in collecting $200 more than their estimated quota, all books will have a blue-gray padded cover.

Miss Osborn also expressed the wish that everyone enjoys the book as she has enjoyed working on it. She stated also her appreciation and gratitude to all the department heads and staff members for their cooperation and hard work throughout the year.

Election Board Revises Rules

The following changes in the list of rules and regulations concerning the elections and the Election Board were recently made by Paul Sphar and Etta Mae Geisinger. Under General Rules of Election Board.

The old rule read: In case of a tie in any office, a new election will be held involving the two or more candidates concerned. Added to this rule is: This election is to be held within ten days.

In case of a withdrawal from school involving any student in any office. The position of next in line will take over the vacant office. The position of next in line is determined by the number of votes. This rule was changed to read: In case of a withdrawal from school involving any student in any office, the vacancy shall be filled according to the constitution of the organization involved.

Under Eligibility for Holding Office. The statement, Freshman nominees must have a 1.3 average for the first semester, was added.

Under Class Elections. All class elections, except Freshman elections should be held in the spring and before the end of April. This rule now reads: All class elections, except Freshman elections, should be held in the spring and four weeks before the end of the semester.

After all votes are tallied, they should be double checked for accuracy. Then a summary should be made for presentation to the President for approval. This was changed to read: After all votes are tallied, they should be double checked for accuracy. Then a summary should be made for presentation to either of the advisors of the Election Board for approval.

Results will not be posted until they have been approved.

Shorthand Students Win Gold Pins

Mr. Rygiel presented gold pins to the following students whose Order of Gregg Artists shorthand penmanship papers merited the award in the contest sponsored by the Gregg Publishing Company: Bette Gibson, Samina Cole, Norman Wismer, C. J. Spentzas, Terry Jullo, Jack Hartzel, Donald Yerik, Betty Stiff, Donna Mattocks, Barbara Nancarrow, Sandra Raker, Rose Marie Coulter.

The judges of the contest selected the following who are eligible for a Gold Seal Superior Merit Shorthand Penmanship Certificate in addition to the gold pin: Norman Wismer, Jack Hartzel and Betty Stiff.

BSTC Student Writes For National Magazine

Carol Green is putting Bloomsburg on the map. Thanks to her efforts, BSTC has been called to the attention of millions of readers of the magazine, Good Housekeeping.

Carol, a freshman student from Williamsport, is a "dateline" correspondent for that publication. She contributes articles to that section of the magazine which reports on the new and unique fads in dress or speech, or any other action adopted by the young people in high schools and colleges throughout the nation.

Carol has been writing for Good Housekeeping for three years. She first became acquainted with the occupation through a friend working at the magazine. Carol was then a student at Williamsport High. For her contributions she receives $35.00 per month. Since she has come to BSTC, Carol has continued to write and contributes articles every month which may or may not be published in the magazine.

She has recently reported on the "Destination Wheel" which many of the Waller Hall girls have pinned to their doors. The "Wheel" is a device employed by the girls to tell where they have gone to make their location easier. She has also reported on the unique method the girls are using to carry their beauty articles to the shower room. They use decorated sand buckets for convenience.

Carol would like to continue writing as long as she is at BSTC. She is very much interested in any new or novel habits at BSTC. Students knowing of any new fad should report to Carol.

Annual Business Contest Scheduled

Nearly thirty-five high schools in Eastern Pennsylvania have already registered for participation in the Twenty-fourth Annual Business Education Contest to be held here Saturday, May 4.

Due to the increasing interest in the event since it began a quarter of a century ago, contest officials have found it necessary to limit to fifty the number of schools entering students in the competitive events. Dr. Thomas B. Martin, Director of Business Education, set the deadline for registration as Monday, April 15. Last year's contest featured more than 210 students from forty-seven high schools who vied for individual and team honors in bookkeeping, business arithmetic, Gregg shorthand, typewriting, and business law.

Both contestants and teachers will have an opportunity to examine one of the most complete exhibits of office machines and textbooks provided in the past decade in Navy Hall Auditorium. The exhibit will be open to visitors during the morning and will include displays of textbooks and demonstrations of numerous modern business machines commonly found in offices and schools.

Blair Will Succeed Yohe As Head Football Coach

Walter R. Blair, assistant football coach at BSTC for the past two years, has been appointed head football coach, according to an announcement made today by President Harvey A. Andruss. Blair, who will also serve as Acting Dean of Men, succeeds Jack W. Yohe, who recently accepted an administrative position at Upper Merion High School. (See story, page 3)

NEA Defines Typical Teacher

On April 2, the National Education Association made public the results of the first comprehensive survey ever conducted on the professional, economic, and social life of the American teacher. The survey, a sixty-four page centennial-year project of the NEA Research Division, is entitled The Status of the American Public-School Teacher.

It is the result of data collected from questionnaires distributed in March, 1956 to teachers throughout the nation.

Mr. William G. Carr, executive secretary of the NEA, has stated that with this information it is now possible to not only refute a number of myths concerning teachers, but also to draw for the first time a realistic composite picture of the nation's 1,100,000 classroom teachers.

The typical male teacher as revealed by the survey is 35.4 years old, married, and has either one or two children. He holds a Bachelor's degree, teaches in high school or junior high, and has a total teaching experience of eight years. An active Church member, he also belongs to at least one other community organization. If he could go back to his college days and start over again, it's a toss-up as to whether he would again become a teacher.

The typical female teacher is 45.5 years old, is married, and has one child. She, too, holds a bachelor's degree and has a total teaching experience of 15.4 years. She teaches an elementary grade, and is an active member of two community organizations. If the woman teacher could go back to her college days and start over, she would again become a teacher.

"B" Club Weekend

A gala weekend has been planned by B Club for May 10, 11, and 12. The whole campus is invited to an open house Saturday afternoon from 1 to 5 o'clock at Centennial Gym. The highlight of the afternoon's schedule of events will be a water ballet presented by BSTC "Merry Mermaids". This group of twenty freshman and sophomore girls will demonstrate synchronized swimming and aquatic routines.

Friday evening there will be an informal initiation of new members to B Club; formal initiation will be held Sunday afternoon.

The new Husky grid mentor is a graduate of Northeast High School in Philadelphia, where he was an outstanding gridder and baseball captain. He was named center on the All-Philadelphia Public School team in his senior year. After graduation, he attended Temple University for a few months before entering the armed forces in World War II. Following three years of military service he enrolled at West Chester State Teachers College.

Under Coach Glen Killinger, he helped the Rams compile a brilliant record in football; he and his mates romped to 32 victories in 37 starts. Playing in the Ram backfield and on the line, Blair participated in four post-season bowl games. He also won varsity letters in baseball and wrestling.

He coached at Neshaminy High School for one year before accepting an assignment at Jenkintown where he coached three standout elevens. One of his stars was Eddie Watts, one of last season's Husky ball-toters. Leaving Jenkintown, Blair moved to Chambersburg, where he coached one year before accepting an appointment at BSTC.

Blair also served as the Husky wrestling coach for the past two seasons and his 1957 grapplers copped third place in the conference meet held at Lock Haven recently.

Last year he was awarded the degree of Master of Science in Education by Temple University. He has been teaching college classes in Biological Science and Physical Science.

Margie Morson Cheer Captain

Miss Margie Morson of Bryn Mawr has been selected by members of the squad and Mr. Johnson to direct next year's cheering activities. Prior to coming to Bloomsburg, Margie spent six years as a cheerleader at Radnor High. As a freshman she was selected to join the BSTC squad and help the Husky stalwarts on to victory.

Several weeks ago, Margie and the other five girls of the squad received their awards for 1956-57. Sandy McBride, this year's captain, was awarded a white blazer for three years service and an emblem bearing two crossed megaphones as recognition for this position. Annette Williams, Ann Beeson, and Margie received small gold megaphones, and June Locke and Ginny Hardy were given small letter B's for their first year of service.

The best way to kill time is to work it to death.

STILL BETTER

Earlier this week in assembly President Andruss discussed and explained several BSTC plans for the future. Until then, many of us were in the dark about proposed improvements and additions and the procedures involved in obtaining them. The President's talk was very interesting and informative to most of us. And we can't help commenting that Dr. Andruss should certainly be given the credit due him for working continuously to make Bloomsburg better, and still better. He certainly doesn't allow the State of Pennsylvania to forget about us. He never lets up.

Since ours is a state-supported school, the medium for getting improvements is, of course, the state legislature. Right now there are a number of bills before committees of the General Assembly which directly affect BSTC. We'll try to give a brief account of several of them.

Bloomsburg State College

One bill we have heard about before may drop the word "Teachers" from the name of our college. House Bill No. 967, if enacted as it is now written, would change the names of all Pennsylvania teachers colleges (dropping "Teachers") without altering the nature of these institutions.

It is interesting to note that all four of the Republican representatives sponsoring the bill are from teachers college towns—William G. Buchanan, Indiana; Clarence Stoner, Shermans Town (Shippensburg); Paige Varner, Clarion; Joseph Ujohar, Phoenixville.

The bill was referred to the Committee on Education, March 27. As far as we know, it is still before that committee.

No Graduate Study

Senate Bill No. 570, dated April 8, reads: "No funds of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall be used to either establish or maintain a program of graduate education at a State Teachers College as long as a shortage of teachers exists. The General Assembly shall determine when the supply of teachers . . . is adequate."

Note that this bill is being introduced at a time when the Master's Degree is becoming increasingly important in obtaining good teaching positions, and, ironically, when the State is proposing that prospective teachers need broader, lengthier educations in order to raise the standards of the profession.

College Civil Service

The Committee on State Government is now considering Senate Bill No. 604 which would place various college employees under civil service. This would include classified and unclassified services, the unclassified taking in officers and members of teaching staffs, student employees on less than half-time pay basis, research assistants of State Teachers Colleges and the Pennsylvania State University.

The proposed law is part of a program intended to raise the standards of college employees (which includes teachers) and give them better salaries and working conditions.

FISH OR FOWL?

Students resent being treated like children. But sometimes it is very difficult to treat them any other way.

Children need to be told many times to behave in a certain manner. They must be watched and perhaps disciplined before they understand

CGA Committees

A resume of all standing CGA Committees is here presented for your perusal. Supplementary information may be found in your PILOT. These resumes are presented in order that you may become familiar with the duties required of the members of these committees. It is recommended that all potential applicants for membership on one of these committees become particularly familiar with those duties required of members of that committee. Students are limited to membership on only one committee.

Applicants are again reminded that membership on one of these committees is NOT for the purpose of receiving service key awards, nor for acquiring or furthering social contacts, nor is it for the possible prestige gained by membership. These committees are formed to serve the interests of the student body and those of the college as a whole, not the interests of a few groups. Industry in the interests of all is expected of all committee members.

FURNITURE COMMITTEE

The scope of the activities of this committee includes Dormitory lounges, Waller Hall Lobby, Day Men's rooms, Day Women's rooms, Centennial Gym, and the Science Hall Social Room.

I. Purpose:

The Furniture Committee is to recommend the purchase, care, and repair of furniture and any other furnishings.

II. Procedure:

1. Check with the Business Manager to find out how much money is available for purchasing and repairing furniture.
2. Survey the designated areas.
3. Determine needs.
4. Contact business Manager for catalogue and bid for recommending furniture and furnishings.
5. Contact Sup't. of Grounds and Buildings for maintenance of furniture.

III. Method of Operation:

Make up recommendations for the purchase or repairs. The faculty advisors will make requisitions for recommendations.

CUSTOMS COMMITTEE

I. Purpose:

The purpose of the customs committee is to aid in the orientation of new Freshmen into college life at Bloomsburg. Customs is a great tradition of this college. While Customs is in effect, Freshmen will be subject to the provisions set up by the Customs Committee. It should be remembered that Customs is a phase of college life that helps students become adjusted to the social demands made upon them.

II. Function:

The committee shall function only during the period required to carry out customs. Throughout this time, it is necessary for every member of the committee and the student body to see that every Freshman carries out the provisions set up by the committee.

All committee members should be willing to give up free time when necessary to devote to the carrying out of these provisions.

HOSPITALITY COMMITTEE

I. Purpose:

The purpose of the Hospitality Committee is to serve as a greeting and welcoming group to all guests to the campus of our college. The committee shall have representatives at all important functions where guides and welcoming parties are needed.

Bloomsburg in 1970

COMPREHENSIVE CAMPUS PLAN

It is expected that the enrollment in September, 1957, will be double that of pre-war 1937. Further increases in light of the pressure of increasing college populations, appropriations from the State, and income from student fees, along with proposed building programs, requires careful planning for at least the next two decades.

The 1955 Session of the Legislature authorized the General State Authority to issue additional bonds. Of the proceeds, $1,350,000, would be used to construct a Men's Dormitory, capacity 200, and a Classroom Building, along with a provision for a comprehensive campus plan to locate all future buildings, accompanied by a survey of existing utility lines. Additions will have to be made to this sum to provide for equipment and dormitory furniture.

The present estimate of enrollment for 1970 is 2,000. The division of this number into resident and non-resident students will determine the dormitory capacity, which has been estimated to be from 1,300 to 1,500.

If additional land is not purchased, it may be necessary to raze certain existing structures. In fact, North Hall is to be demolished when the second New Men's Dormitory is constructed.

The architects for the two new buildings already approved are John A. Schell, Bloomsburg, Pennsylvania, New Classroom Building, and L. P. Koken and Company, New Oxford, Pennsylvania, Men's Dormitory. Mr. Schell is also drawing the Comprehensive Campus Plans and making the Utility Line Survey.

COLLEGE COMMONS

The new dining room will be put into operation after the 1957 Easter vacation. The main dining room space of 9,800 square feet will seat from 800 to 900. Two cafeteria lines will serve students at the rate of 20 per minute. The foyer will be used from time to time to seat parties of 100, and the outside patio running the full length, 140 feet, of the building, will accommodate a like number when weather permits outdoor food service. Thus, the over-all seating capacity for such events as Alumni Day will be 1,000 or more. Over $70,000 has been spent on kitchen equipment, refrigeration, and disposal equipment.

All college stores, such as canned food, plumbing, electrical, and building supplies will be centralized in two basement areas in this building.

An underground passage will connect the College Commons with the Lobby of Waller Hall, so that women students may go from the dormitory to their meals without going outside the connecting buildings.

FUTURE PLANS

As the Comprehensive Campus Plan is developed, announcements will be made to friends and Alumni of Bloomsburg of the location of the projected buildings. However, it is expected that the Legislature, now in Session, will take such action as is necessary to make possible the approval of the construction of a New Auditorium of sufficient size to accommodate the estimated enrollment in 1970.

If interested Alumni wish to help their Alma Mater, they should write to their Representatives and Senators of the Legislature to the effect that increased appropriations and more buildings are necessary if we are going to have a Bigger and Better Bloomsburg.

HARVEY A. ANDRUSS
President

AWARDS COMMITTEE

I. Purpose:

The Awards Committee recommends policy for the awarding of BSTC service keys. Each year the committee checks the records and recommends the award of service keys to those who have qualified according to the approved policy.

The Awards Committee shall be composed of students and a faculty advisor. The size of the Committee shall be determined by the student chairman and the faculty advisor. The Committee shall consist of junior, sophomore, and freshman members selected by the chairman.

FIRE DRILL COMMITTEE

The Fire Drill Committee has charge of fire drills in the auditorium, the gymnasium, classrooms, etc. A fire fighting squad of dormitory men students is trained to take care of emergencies.

ELECTION COMMITTEE

The Election Committee supervises all student elections. It has become the custom to conduct the final CGA election in the manner of the county political elections in order that our students may learn the procedure that is used.

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE

The Assembly Committee works with the faculty committee in all matters concerning assembly and evening programs. Members of this committee act as presiding officers at assembly, plan student talent programs, help select movies and

SPORTS HI-LITES

by JIM WAGNER

TRACK—Now that old man winter has given up, we find that our spring sports campaign is in full swing. After several long, hard weather-hindered weeks of practice, Coach Harold B. Shelly took his thin-clads to Kutztown State Teachers College on Saturday, April 13. Although hindered with lack of practicing weather, our tracksters gained an impressive 102-17 victory.

First victories are impressive; however, this romping victory over Kutztown should not make us lift our heads high over the rest of the conference. Our sister institution is in the process of beginning a track squad. There is no reason, however, for taking anything away from our track squad or from Coach Shelly. Eddie Watts, Charlie Lougherty, Ray Thayer, and Carl Sweet proved their abilities and will undoubtedly spark the squad for the remaining tilts. The next track activity will be the Penn Relays.

BASEBALL—Bad weather played an important role in the Husky's opening game with East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. Coach Doc Wagner stressed the importance of exhibition games and if we had been able to play our pre-season contest with Lycoming College, our boys would have been in better shape. Coach Wagner, after playing the ESSTC and Colgate games, feels confident that he is now able to better determine the capabilities of his pitching staff. Such hurlers as Eddie Wojciechowski, impressive victor over Colgate U., Dale Franklin, Eddie Galitsky, and Bobby Mescan are among Coach Wagner's pitching mainstays.

Coach Wagner also indicates that the team is offensively strong and is comparable to many top-notch teams in defense. The entire defensive team worked beautifully behind Wojciechowski in our opening home game with Colgate. By defeating the Red Raiders, the Huskies downed a formidable NCAA competitor who incidentally defeated George Washington University 11-6 and Princeton 4-3 in a ten inning contest. Also listed on the Red Raider schedule are Temple and Lafayette.

Doc Wagner feels that his toughest STC Conference game will be played against the Bald Eagles of Lock Haven State Teachers College, which will be played on Mt. Olympus tomorrow afternoon. Another anticipated thriller will be staged when the Red Raiders of Shippensburg State Teachers College invade Mt. Olympus on May 18.

It may be interesting to note that state teachers college baseball is comparable to larger college ball although the smaller colleges in the conference are not getting the publicity and the credit due to them. A classic illustration of this was Indiana's victory over Pitt, Lock Haven's doubleheader victory over Indiana, and our own victory over Colgate.

DATES

April 26-27 — Penn Relays — Baseball - Lock Haven

Under-currents . . .

by KEN WEIR

While wandering along Philadelphia's Chestnut Street during the Spring vacation we were amused by the sign an alert book-seller had placed in his window. The book shop was near the theater where The Ten Commandments was showing. The window display featured dozens of Bibles along with the sign: "You've seen the movie — now read the Book."

Perhaps the mailman doesn't always show up on Saturday . . . but in dozens of communities he came, saw, and conquered during the last ten days. Yes . . . the grade sheets dampened many a spring vacation . . . and many Juniors and Seniors have just about exhausted the supply of reasons for not bringing home the bacon. We've found that it is usually more difficult to explain a grade sheet than it is to earn better grades . . . or at any rate more of a challenge! Many folks are talking about a certain Chapter Twenty in the new book — A Teacher Is A Person. The author, Dr. Charles H. Wilson, titles this controversial chapter . . . "To Grade Or Not To Grade." The reader knows long before he reaches Chapter Twenty, that Mr. Wilson does not favor our generally accepted grading systems. Some of us have always wondered just what we indicate when we give a grade. Wilson wastes no time in telling us we usually indicate little or nothing.

The book in question is autobiographical . . . but Wilson isn't so egotistical that he wants others to read about the little everyday happenings in his life. Wilson is an Educator . . . and he wants to tell a story that has needed to be told for a long, long time. The story? A Teacher Is A Person.

Charles H. Wilson is the Superintendent of Schools in Highland Park, Illinois. Charles H. Wilson does not complain about his salary . . . does not complain about his salary . . . does not think the younger generation is any worse than his own . . . and does not for a minute wish he were a doctor or lawyer! Three cheers for Wilson!

Mr. Wilson is interested in better schools and he likes to feel that he is helping to make them a little better. At any rate, Highland Park youngsters don't receive report cards . . . and maybe that's a good thing.

Many folks will deny it . . . but our thinking is becoming geared, almost entirely, to what grade we will receive from a given course. Just ask anyone how they are doing in one course or another . . . and the answer will probably be expressed in terms of a letter grade, rather than in some comment about the content of the course.

Before too long we will have established a wonderful system. It will work something like this . . . Buy a textbook, report to class, then buy a special electro-graphic pencil. If you decide to be satisfied with a D in course, just listen in class and don't bother to read the text. If you want a C, don't bother to listen in class, but read the text once. For those that might want a B . . . read text book twice. If anyone is praying for an A, read textbook three times and listen occasionally in class!

If you follow the directions closely, you'll get your grade. We might even post the directions in the bookstore at the beginning of each semester . . . or better yet . . . we could sell each student a copy of the rules.

This may all appear foolish on the surface . . . but don't lose yourself in laughter . . . we're allowing it to happen . . . and what's more, most of us want it. If you think this is bad . . . take a look at the problem of class reports. Here is the system . . . receive topic from Professor . . . go to library and copy each and every word from the resource material (in pencil) . . . then you take the copied material to your room and type the entire report (once again being careful to include every word). This typewritten version is later handed to the Professor. Now before reporting to class you must copy the entire report (again every word) . . . this copy is done in ink on three by five cards. At last you are fully prepared to go to class and read the enlightening mess. If only we had a few individuals with the courage to smuggle the original magazine from the library and bring it directly to the class for the reading! They would probably receive an A for their ingenuity!

This represents the standard policy for grades and class reports. We would review the policy for cheating . . . but that would take an entire issue of this paper. Maybe sometime we will have the space . . . then once and for all we will be able to standardize the procedures involved with the sport.

BSTC To Lose Jack Yohe, Head Coach Of Football and Dean of Men

After five faithful years of service as head football coach and Dean of Men, Jack W. Yohe has informed college officials of his resignation. He has accepted a position as Assistant Principal of the Upper Merion High School at King of Prussia, Pennsylvania.

Coach Yohe came to the local front in 1952, following the resignation of Bob Redman, now a high school principal at East Orange, New Jersey. During his stay on the local campus, his gridiron Huskies compiled a 25-12-2 record. The Husky eleven placed third in conference play in 1953 while the 1954 team were named co-champions.

The brightest star in Coach Yohe's record is his 1955 championship team which gained an overall record of 5-2-1. The game which gave him the most satisfaction was his 19-6 victory over the Rams from West Chester State Teachers College, a victory which clinched the '55 conference championship for the Huskies. He also held the position as head baseball coach for the 1953-54 seasons, his teams compiling an 11-9 record.

Coach Yohe is a graduate of Lock Haven State Teachers College where he participated actively and successfully in various sports. He holds a Master of Science in Education from Temple University, and to date has filled all the requirements for his doctorate with the exception of his dissertation. He also coached at Biglerville and Upper Merion High School prior to accepting a position on the staff of the West Chester State Teachers College following active service as a naval officer in World War II.

Dean Yohe, his wife, and son Gary relax in their BSTC home, an apartment in the men's section of Waller Hall.

Thinclads Capture First Track Meet

Charlie Lougherty, Husky ace in the high and low hurdles, copped the blue ribbon in his specialties. In the field events, Carl Sweet notched firsts in the shotput and discus contests, and Bill Hughes and Woody Rhoads took top honors in the broad jump and pole vault, respectively.

Continental-Aires Perform at BSTC

One of the highlights of this semester's assembly programs was the presentation on Tuesday, April 16, of the Continental-Aires, a nationally renowned Negro quartet.

Acting as spokesman, W. L. King, the baritone of the group, introduced his partners: Clinton Holland and Robert Bulger, tenors; J. Whelan Jackson, basso; and Brooks Alexander, accompanist. The program, divided into five parts, consisted of selections ranging from Palestrina chants and operatic arias to folk songs and Negro spirituals. Several of the renditions were special arrangements by members of the quartet. As a special Easter feature, W. L. King gave a dramatic reading of "The Creation", a religious poem by James Weldon Johnson. On the humorous side, J. Whelan Jackson, basso, kept the audience in suspense with his play on the low notes of "Asleep In The Deep".

Huskies Down Red Raiders in Exhibition Contest, April 19

Chuck Casper's scintillating catch of a ball that was destined for extra bases, and his tremendous home run over the right fielder's head, led the Huskies to their first spring baseball victory of the season over Colgate University 2-1 on windy, air-conditioned Mt. Olympus last Saturday afternoon.

The victory opened the home campaign for the Huskies in glorious fashion as the Red Raiders are rated among the "tops" in the east; among their honors is an annual place in the NCAA Eastern Diamond Playoffs.

Casper's homerun in the bottom of the eighth broke a 1-1 tie of a beautiful pitching duel between the Husky's Eddie Wojciechowski and three Red Raider pitchers. Each club was limited to five hits during the contest. The deciding factor in the final outcome, however, was the extra base hitting of the Wag-nernmen.

Ed Shustack opened the fifth with a double, advanced to third on a fielder's choice, and scored on Kenny Hill's fly ball into short center field. Ostrich kept the inning alive with a booming triple but was left stranded.

Colgate came storming back in the top of the sixth when Phil Bissille walked, stole second, and scored on Al Simpson's single. It was at this point that Casper grabbed Guy Martin's tremendous blast and relayed the ball to second for a double play to end the inning. Besides Casper's homerun in the eighth, all the Huskies were able to collect were a double by Joe Pental and a single by Bob Rohm. Wojciechowski's masterful afternoon consisted of six strikeouts, five walks, and extra ability and control to snare any threatening rally the Red Raiders were able to put together.

Huskies To Tackle Lock Haven Nine

Tomorrow afternoon the Husky diamond crew resumes action, after a two week layoff during the Easter recess, when the Wag-nernmen entertain the Bald Eagles of Lock Haven State Teachers College on Mt. Olympus. This will be the first home conference contest for the Huskies this season. In their previous conference tilt, the Wag-nernmen were defeated at the hands of the Warriors of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College 8-4.

The visiting Maroon and Grey nine were co-holders of the State Teachers College Conference base-

Husky Nine Drops Opener with East Stroudsburg, 8-4

The defending champions of the State Teachers College baseball conference got off on the wrong foot by conceding victory to the teachers of East Stroudsburg 8-4 on Wednesday, April 10, the game being played on foreign ground.

The Huskies, unable to recover from the five run, tie-breaking rally staged by ESSTC, had battled bravely until the fatal sixth. Coach Paul "Doc" Wagner had difficulty in finding a moundsman to handle the pitching chores. Coach Wagner used four pitchers in an attempt to collect the opening game as a victory. "Web" Michael started for the Huskies, was replaced by Mes-can, who yielded to a pinch hitter in the sixth, DiPippi, the losing pitcher, took the reins from Mes-can but had difficulty in the sixth inning and was replaced by Dale Franklin who struck out the side in the last of the seventh.

East Stroudsburg got off to a fast start with three runs in the first. The Huskies waged a battle to tie the score 3-3 at the top of the sixth, only to have Stroudsburg quench Bloomsburg's hopes with a five run up-rising.

DiTorrice was the big hitter with 3-4 while Oplinger helped his own cause by belting a lofty double and a single. Oplinger struck out eight, walked four, and yielded 11 hits in going the distance. Hill, Rohm, and Ostrich were the hitting heroes for BSTC with 7 out of the 11 hits collected by the Huskies.

ball crown two years ago with our own Huskies. The Bald Eagles have put out strong baseball teams in the past few seasons and have already looked impressive thus far this season. They own a double-header victory over Indiana State Teachers College.

Coach Wagner will probably stick closely to the line-up that was used two weeks ago against Colgate.

completely what is expected of them. Adults are generally expected to understand immediately.

We wonder how many times the ignorant behavior of some ignorant students in assembly will have to be discussed before the offending persons will wake up and understand the situation. It has been suggested that proctors patrol the auditorium and whallop the knuckles of little stray lambs who forget their manners. Wouldn't that be an insult to intelligent, mature college students!

And yet this is not as facetious as it sounds. Something must be done. After last Tuesday's Performance of Miserable Manners, someone ought to remind students that members of one's own family deserve more kindness and courtesy than anyone else.

This applies on the college scene in the same way.

SOCIAL-RECREATIONAL COMMITTEE

The Social-Recreational Committee takes care of the wide variety of activities which make up the social life of the student body.

YOUR ELECTION COMMITTEE

The purpose of the election committee is to hold all all-college elections of the College Community. It has become the custom to conduct the final CGA election in the manner of the county political elections in order that our students may learn the procedure that is used. The official blanks, voter lists, voting booths, and ballot box are provided by the Columbia County Election Board. A voting machine is furnished by the Luzerne County Election Board.

The day of the election the tables and other materials must be gathered together and set up outside the Husky Lounge. All these materials such as tables, ballots, pencils must be requisitioned before hand so that they will be on hand when needed. At 4:00 P.M. the polls close and the committee gathers in the council office to count the votes. The results are approved by the election committee advisors and then posted for the College Community. The ballots are returned to Mrs. Knight in the President's office for safe keeping.

All the people serving on this committee must help in the running of these elections, by working on their free periods on the day of the election and then at the close of the elections to count the votes.
