Charles Henrie Leaves Faculty

Mr. Charles Henrie has resigned from the faculty of Bloomsburg State Teachers College after eleven years of service to this institution. Mr. Henrie will be remembered by the students here as a very popular figure on our campus. He began his career at BSTC in 1946 as a member of the Business Education department. While on the faculty he taught courses in retail selling, retail sales training, clerical office practice, audio-visual education, business organization, and professional organization.

Two outstanding features of our program at Bloomsburg are the annual Fashion Show and Sales Rally. For the past several years Mr. Henrie has handled the direction of these events, which have attracted visitors from all over eastern Pennsylvania to our campus. BSTC has also secured Mr. Henrie's services as director of the Maroon and Gold Band, advisor to Wesley Fellowship, director of audio-visual education, and a member of the Publicity Committee.

The members of the college community extend wishes of success to Mr. Henrie in his associations with the Therman D. Conrad Company of Bloomsburg.

Increase in Fees Expected This Year

Officials of the college announced early in August that an increase in basic fees from $45 to $72 per semester would be paid by each student enrolled, effective with the opening of the September term.

The increase in fees was recommended by the Board of Presidents of the fourteen State Teachers Colleges in Pennsylvania and received the approval of the Board of Trustees of the College and the Superintendent of the Department of Public Instruction in Harrisburg.

Steadily mounting costs, including plant operation and cost of instruction necessitated the increase in fees. College officials also expressed the possibility that other student costs, including housing fees, may be increased without notice during the coming year.

Both new students and returning upperclassmen were notified by mail that there would be an increase in the basic fee in September; students living in the college dormitories will continue until further notice to pay the same housing fee that was in force last year, and there has been no change in the special fee for students in the Business Education Department.

Allentown Catering Service to Provide Meals In New Dining Hall for the College Community

Beginning this semester, the college dining room will no longer be under the supervision of a dietitian. A contract has been signed with the M. W. Wood catering service of Allentown to provide meals for the college community.

Under the supervision of Mr. By-erly as director and Mr. Robbins as chef, plans have been made for the establishment of new menus and new methods of purchasing, preparing, and distributing food.

The new service began August 5, during the last session of summer school. The catering service came to Bloomsburg after being employed successfully at Kutztown State Teachers College, Lehigh University, and Cedar Crest College.

The policy for student employees and professional help will remain the same. All employees will be hired or dismissed upon recommendation by the college. However, employees will receive their salary from the food service contractor.

Plans are also being made for several outside events to be held in the Commons and to be served by the Wood Service. It will provide an opportunity for friends and townspeople to visit our college community.

BSTC Experiences Record Enrollment

Bloomsburg State Teachers College received the largest enrollment in its history when registration for the first semester of the 1957-58 college year was completed late last week.

College officials said that advanced registration has passed the 1200 mark, although they declined to predict a final figure. The previous high of 1078 was recorded during the first semester last year.

Nearly 375 new students, including 340 freshmen, registered Wednesday, September 4, while upperclassmen and former students, returning to college following service in the armed forces, completed their registration requirements Thursday, September 5. Classes began at 8:00 a.m. Friday morning.

This year's Freshman Class was selected from nearly 1000 applicants, each of whom was required to meet certain academic standards on the basis of qualifying examination. This examination was used by the fourteen Pennsylvania State Teachers Colleges this year for the first time as one of the requirements for admission.

In view of the critical shortage of dormitory space on campus, it has been necessary to house a majority of men students in homes in the town of Bloomsburg. Local householders have provided space for nearly 300 men, double the number who were housed off-campus last year. North Hall provides accommodations for seventy-five men, but Waller Hall is being used exclusively for women students with 425 women housed there.

Deans List for Second Semester 1957 Announced

The Dean of Instruction of the college, Mr. John A. Hoch, has released the following names of students, who have qualified for the Dean's list for the second semester, 1956-57. These students have a quality point average of 2.5 or better for the second semester, 1956-57, and an accumulative average of at least 2.0 while in attendance at this college.

Customs Committee And Upperclassmen Initiate Freshmen

On Monday, September 9th, BUTTONS FROSH rang across the campus once again and freshmen of Bloomsburg State Teachers College embarked on the first important phase of college life—freshmen customs. Customs, a great tradition of our college, have been established to orient these newcomers to college life and to the college community.

Throughout Monday morning and afternoon antennae perched gaily atop maroon and gold dinks floated through the air. "Science Fiction Day" was strictly observed and as darkness set in a brilliant bonfire could be seen near the Benjamin Franklin School playground. Along with the lights of the fire were the sounds of unaccustomed voices vigorously proving their ability to sing the Alma Mater.

Tuesday had been designated as "Rain Day", but due to unforeseen circumstances over which even the weatherman had no control, this day was postponed because of rain. Instead, whistles blew, sirens roared, books dropped, and heads became metal waste paper cans as "Civil Defense Day" went into effect. The frosh proved that they could protect themselves from the enemy. "Sacrifice Night" was observed on this date with Leo and Leona, our College Lions, supposedly watching sentimentally as memories of high school days were thrown into the flames to be burned forever.

Wednesday was a day for nonsense from dawn till dark. The entire day was dedicated to the "Kiddies" who appeared with bows, pig-tails, short skirts, short trousers and (something special to keep them happy) balloons. The evening brought bagsful of goodies and gifts.

"Rain Day" was observed on Thursday with raincoats, umbrellas, extra shoes, and bewildered frosh drifting about the campus. The evening hours found them with no way to turn as the "Trial" got under way. It was on this particular night that the upperclassmen were entertained with stunts performed by freshmen customs violators.

Friday produced cleaning men and women prepared to brush clothes and shine shoes at the request of upperclassmen. It was a weary class of frosh who laid their dinks to rest that night after a long week of singing, making speeches, dressing like outer-space creatures, and entertaining interested upperclassmen. The frosh fell asleep Friday night with a sigh of relief and the sounds of BUTTONS FROSH still ringing in their heads.

Bloomsburg Offers Saturday Classes

Bloomsburg State Teachers College is planning to offer two Saturday morning classes for teachers-in-service, if the enrollment justifies the course offerings. Arrangements have been made for the following on-campus program:

7:30 a.m.-10:00 a.m. — Workshop in Elementary Methods — (Language Arts and Reading, Social Studies and Geography, Early Childhood Education.)

10:10 a.m.-12:40 p.m. — Workshop in Elementary Art — (Art for the Elementary Grades, Teaching of Art in the Elementary Grades, Arts and Crafts I & II.)

Teachers-in-service who are interested in earning credits toward the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education or in extending their present certification, are urged to take advantage of these opportunities for Saturday classes.

Registration for the courses will be held in the Carver Hall Auditorium, Saturday morning, September 14, at 9:00 a.m. Each course will carry three semester hours of credit, and the course fee will be $9.00 per semester hour (minimum charge $27.00).

Teachers Colleges Need Increased Aid

A recent survey of three of the Pennsylvania State Teachers Colleges, located at Bloomsburg, Millersville, and Shippensburg, made by a feature writer of the Harrisburg Patriot-News, disclosed the need for increased State appropriations, particularly in the construction of new buildings, and the proper maintenance of old ones.

State Teachers Colleges differ from one another as do individuals. Although the State supports them through tax monies, plus student fees, and they have uniform curriculums and procedures, even a casual observer can discover that one institution has stressed one aspect of education, while another may have stressed an entirely different phase of education.

One college houses students in a dormitory almost a century old, which could be described as a fire trap; another has remodeled an old dormitory which now has stone foundations which are settling. Bloomsburg, this fall, will have to house 300 men in town, and has space for only 80 men on campus.

If all scheduled construction had been completed by September, many student would still have to be turned away, and in most cases old buildings would still have to be kept in use.

To slash enrollments, so as to vacate unsafe housing, would be a brutal and simple solution to the problem, which would result in fewer teachers being graduated for the public schools in Pennsylvania.

Some critics of Teachers Colleges claim that "They spend all their money on staff and supplies and allow their buildings to fall down."

Upkeep is important. Bloomsburg deserves an "A". Between 1940 and 1955 the school spent about $1,000,000 for new construction and $75,000 on major repair projects. The campus shows it; the buildings are well kept; inside, some look as up to date as the problems today's teachers colleges are facing.

President Andrus admits that more money is spent on maintenance at Bloomsburg than at most Teachers Colleges. "While our expenditure is in the upper 25% of Graduate Study For Business Ed.

Princeton, New Jersey, August 26, 1957: The Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business, required for entrance by a number of graduate business schools or divisions throughout the country, will be offered on four dates during the coming year, according to Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the test. During 1956-57, many students took the test in partial satisfaction of admission requirements of graduate business schools which prescribed it. Among these institutions are the graduate business schools or divisions of the following universities:

Carnegie Institute of Technology, Columbia University, Harvard University, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Northwestern University, Rutgers University, Seton Hall University, Syracuse University, University of Chicago, University of Michigan, University of Pennsylvania, University of Virginia, Washington University (St. Louis).

A candidate must make separate application for admission to each business school of his choice and should inquire of each whether it wishes him to take the Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business and when. Since many business schools select their entering classes in the spring preceding their entrance, candidates for admission to the 1958 classes are advised to take the test at as early an administration as possible.

The Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business is not designed to test specific knowledge in specialized academic subjects. Normal undergraduate training should provide sufficient general knowledge to answer the test questions. Sample questions and information regarding registration for and administration of the test are given in a Bulletin of Information.

The tests will be administered on November 2, 1957, and February 6, April 19, and July 26 in 1958. Applications and fees must be filed with the Admission Test for Grad-

BSTC Business Students First Again in Shorthand Contest

For the second consecutive year, shorthand students at BSTC have won first prize in a nation-wide contest sponsored by the Esterbrook Pen Co. Announcement of the award was received recently by Professor Walter S. Rygiel in letters from Sydney E. Longmaid, President of the Esterbrook Company, and from Frank K. Middleton, Gregg Contest Director. It is the first time in the history of the contest that a school has won the prize consecutively.

In the Twentieth Annual Contest, Bloomsburg entered a team of seventeen students. A total of 55,709 students, representing 2,229 teams or schools, competed for the awards. The Bloomsburg students, all members of the Shorthand III class taught by Mr. Rygiel, won first place in the Collegiate Division, Class A, of the 1956-57 National Gregg Shorthand Contest sponsored by Esterbrook. All tests were written with pen and ink and were evaluated by judges appointed by the Gregg Publishing Co. The work was graded on correct shorthand principles and quality shorthand penmanship.

Each of the seventeen students received a certificate of merit and an Esterbrook pen with the student's name inscribed on it. Mr. Rygiel again was awarded a gold trophy inscribed with the name of the contest, the college, the year, and the words "Awarded to Walter S. Rygiel."

A full-page ad in the July issue of "Today's Secretary" magazine announced the name of Mr. Rygiel's class along with other national winner. Student recipients of the award are Barbara Brunner, Donald Coffman, Rose Marie Coulter, Charles Fahringer, Mary Faith Fawcett, Jack Hartzel, Teresa Jullo, Donna Mattocks, Marjorie Myers, Barbara Nancarrow, Marian Onufak, Sandra Raker, John Schaefer, Betty Stiff, Francis Voltero, Norman Wismer, Donald Yerk.

Don't Look Now . . . but It's September

Onotha cotton pickin' yeah, as the rebels might say. And most of us are either very glad or very sad about it. But perhaps that's better than being blase and oh-is-it-that-time-again over the whole thing.

By now, things are pretty much back to normal. Poor Henry's pre-Labor Day Tide-clean Husky Lounge has that lived-in look again. Another Freshman Class is getting its percentiles analyzed. Upperclassmen are stuck with last year's first edition texts that they had hopes of selling until the booklist in their hot little hands listed second editions. And last year's frosh are having the time of their lives leading this year's frosh around by the buttons on their dinks. The girls still can't understand why they shouldn't wear Bermudas. And with the economy sized enrollment of new students, affable, balding seniors like us are finding it difficult to recognize a familiar "face in the crowd."

It's a good time, September. Spirits are high, minds are refreshed, nerves are whole again. But it's a challenging time, too. Officers elected last Spring to campus organizations now face the responsibilities that go with the now-forgotten honors. We all remember the tussle among the CGA candidates this past semester. Now let's not forget to insist on sound and inspired leadership from our officers—the leadership we would have expected from their competitors had they been elected instead.

And challenging, too, are the freshmen whom we've all tried so hard to impress. Within the few days they have been with us, we've done our best to convince them that Bloomsburg is a pretty darned good get-up-and-go-college, and all that. And in their innocence, they are convinced, Bless 'em. Now we have all year to sustain their confidence in us. For, as Dolores Panzita said in the Olympian, "It's a serious thing to be disenchanting."

On the whole, it looks like it should be a good year. All the CGA committees seem to be perking with new ideas and much welcomed enthusiasm. The faculty is dotted with new members, bringing with them fresh personalities and experiences. Various fraternities on campus show signs of waking from a kind of beauty rest. (Who says we need social fraternities and sororities? The Freshman Rush is on!) And we can't see any reason why the social calendar shouldn't be as filled as a debutante's dance program.

And so, for this promising new 1957-'58 College Year we'd like to recommend a motto (good for a teacher-factory) suggested by one of our favorite professors—Pure Living and High Thinking. Or vice-versa, and someone said.

Will you forgive our lack of punch in this first issue? The warm, lazy summer days have mellowed us. But, comes the nippy tingle of autumn winds . . .

A PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Hello new students, and welcome to the friendly college on the hill. Greetings from the administration, the faculty, the students—your Community Government Association. As you have heard many times, BSTC is a large community. When you received your orange registration card you became a part of this community. In order for this or any other large organization to function, it must have some means of government. Here at Bloomsburg we call our government CGA (Community Government Association). CGA has as its main legislative body, College Council, which conducts meetings to find the reasons, "why and for what," to settle questions, and to carry out the business of the college community. Representatives of the classes and of various organizations on campus are elected to act in these meetings for the betterment of their respective groups and the entire college. These are YOUR representatives along with the officers of College Council. It is their job to work for you, but they cannot do it without your help. So frosh you have another big job, that of informing your representatives of your needs and wants.

Only with your help can Council and CGA succeed. Do your part, and when the elections for the Freshman Class are held, elect those people whom you feel will serve you well.

Again let me welcome you to BSTC and to four wonderful and most prosperous years of your life.

Sincerely,
Luther Natter
CGA President

Increased Student Enrollment Program Warrants The Addition of Eight Members to BSTC Faculty

Over the summer months many new faculty members have been added at Bloomsburg State Teacher's College. Partially responsible for this increase has been the increased student enrollment to the college. Elementary, secondary and business curricula have all received new representatives.

The new faculty member who is probably most familiar to the student body is Mr. Russell A. Houk, Assistant Dean of Men, and Assistant football coach. Mr. Houk was introduced to the student body in the last spring issue of the Maroon and Gold.

In the business field we have Mr. Edward Van Norman, Assistant Professor of Education. He has taught in the State College high school for the past five years. After Mr. Van Norman received his Bachelor of Science degree in Education from the Pennsylvania State University, he worked in the Visual Products Division of the Radio Corporation of America. Here he observed the practical applications used by industry in the field of sensory learning. He later earned his Master of Education degree and has continued his graduate work largely in the field of audio-visual education. He assumes the duties of Director of Audio-Visual Education here at Bloomsburg.

Another newcomer to the Business Department is Francis J. Radice. Mr. Radice, however, is only a newcomer to the faculty, having pursued the business course here at BSTC prior to receiving his Bachelor of Science degree in Education from Bloomsburg. A former member of Williamsport High School faculty, he has been appointed Assistant Professor of Business Education. Mr. Radice received his Master of Education degree in Business Education and School Administration from Pennsylvania State University and is qualified as a secondary school principal and as a supervising principal.

Stepping into the Elementary Department is Associate Professor of Education, Dr. Gilbert R. W. Selders. Dr. Selders was previously a member of Pennsylvania State University faculty, directing a program in reading speed and comprehension on Penn State campus on a wide scale. He received his Bachelor of Arts, Master of Education, and Doctor of Education degrees from Pennsylvania State University. Dr. Selders has also taught courses in elementary education and extension courses for teachers-in-service. He has been a member of Phi Delta Kappa, national professional education fraternity, for the past eight years.

Added to the faculty of the Secondary Education Departments is Mrs. Grace Clinton Smith as Temporary Instructor of English. She received her Bachelor of Science degree from Carnegie Institute of Technology, and later served as circulation assistant in the Carnegie Tech library where she taught Freshman classes in Library Science. Prior to her appointment at Bloomsburg, she had been teaching in the city schools of San Diego, California. Mrs. Smith will serve as advisor to both the College Players and the Alpha Omicron chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatics fraternity.

Another new face is that of Mr. Donald D. Rabb, Assistant Professor of Survey Science. Mr. Rabb is a graduate of Bloomsburg State Teachers College with a Bachelor of Science degree in Education, and has completed requirements for Master of Science degree in Education at Bucknell University. He has since done graduate work towards a Doctor of Education degree. While a student at Bloomsburg, he majored in science and mathematics and was a member of the soccer, baseball, football, and track teams.

Also teaching in the secondary department is Henry R. George, Assistant Professor of Social Sciences. Mr. George, a veteran of World War II received his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Pittsburgh. After a year of graduate work there he accepted a position with the United States Steel company and later worked for the Saudi Arabian government at Jeddah. In 1956 he was awarded the Master of Letters degree by the University of Pittsburgh. In addition to extensive traveling in the United States, Canada, Europe, Africa, and the Arctic, Mr. George has had lecturing appearances before social, religious, civic, education and business groups.

The women on campus were probably most interested in the appointment of Miss Eleanor Wray as Assistant Professor of Physical Education. Miss Wray, a graduate of Lake Erie College, was awarded her Master of Science degree in Education at Pennsylvania State University, and has completed a major portion of work leading to the Doctor of Education degree with major areas in Health and Physical Education. She has served as club director with the U.S. Army Special Services. During the summer Miss Wray has acted as waterfront director in summer camps, as head counsellor, planning and administering the camping program, and supervising camp counsellors.

FOOTBALL

Now that September is here and the football bug has bitten all of us; we find our new head coach, Walter Blair and his assistant Russell Houk constantly drilling the raw and inexperienced Husky squad. Coach Blair indicates that this year's team is the most inexperienced squad ever to dig up the turf on Mt. Olympus since the end of World War II. The loss of 24 members from last year's star-studded array and the return of only 14 lettermen indicates that the lack of seasoned veterans is the chief problem for the rookie mentors.

On Saturday, September 14, Coach Blair will have an opportunity to feel out the potentialities regarding his gridiron squad when the Huskies travel to Lycoming College for a pre-season scrimmage. In the next two weeks Coach Blair will have to make important decisions in selecting his starting eleven before the Huskies open with the strong Bald Eagles from Lock Haven State Teachers College on Saturday, September 21, at Lock Haven.

Coach Blair's line has suffered greatly through graduation, injuries, and dropouts. Only two hardened vets return to the line with Frank Prusch filling the one guard slot while there looms the possibility of Chick DeFebo being shifted from tackle to center. The remaining line posts are to be vied for by letterman Tom Vaxmonsky, less experienced Jack Chidester, and Paul Spahr. Ken Wood is also slated for a probable starting assignment, who for the past few seasons served as the capable understudy of the former great Joe Wascavage. In addition Coach Blair has several promising Freshmen and Sophomore guards to draw on if needed.

The moving of DeFebo to center was necessitated by the injury of Woody Rhoads, who was one of last year's outstanding center. Woody was injured this summer while working in a foundry and will be out for the entire season. To make matters worse for Coach Blair, Bernie Zaborowski has reinjured his knee and it is doubtful whether Bernie will see action this season. George Chaump is also on the injured list but is expected to return to the active list around the fourteenth.

Eddie Watts, a fast, hard-running, experienced halfback and Johnny Oustrick, our crafty quarterback will form the nucleus in the backfield. Gerry Wood, who for the past three seasons played in the shadow of a former great, Joe Malczyk will be contending for a backfield position along with Mike Bottorf, Carl Sweet, Jonah Goobic and Bobby Rohm. Also, Freshman, Johnny Johnson can be expected to add additional speed to the Husky backfield.

Two lettermen, Morrie Schultz and Stan Covington return to the end position. Despite the fact that neither of them broke the starting lineup last year both showed a great deal of promise. In the phase of the line, Coach Blair finds another problem in finding sufficient reserve power in back of Schultz and Covington. Eddie Galitsky is one of the key contenders for that spot.

The Huskies play an eight game schedule and hope to better last season's record of 3 wins and 4 losses, which incidentally marked the first losing season for the Huskies in a decade.

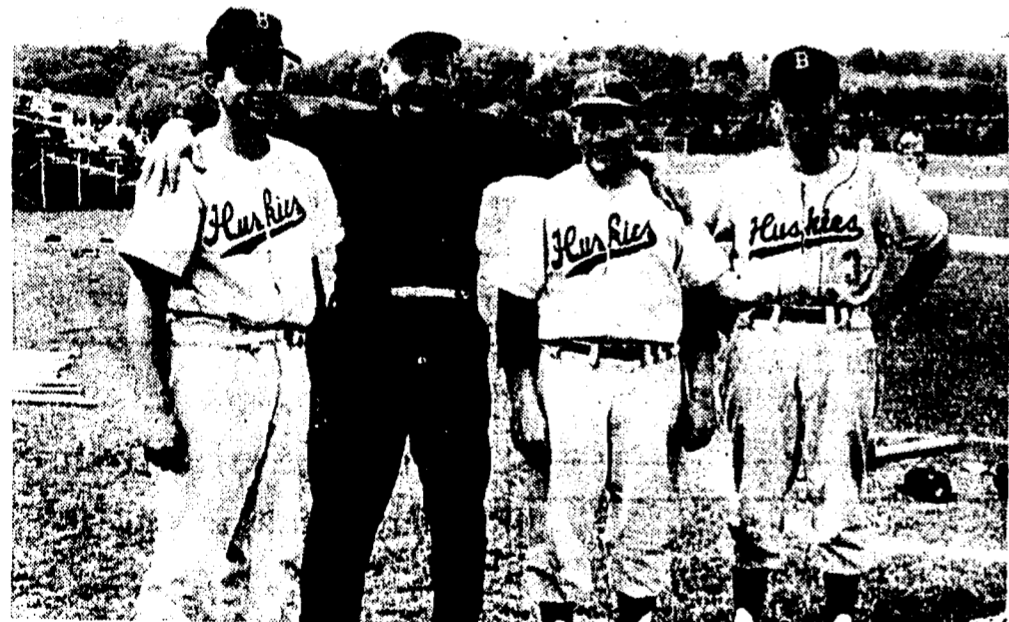

BASEBALL

Paul Wagner has resigned as head baseball coach of the BSTC Huskies. He has given way to Dean of Men, Walter Blair.

During the past two seasons "Doc" Wagner has piloted the Husky diamondmen to an overall record of 15 wins and 8 losses. In 1956 "Doc" Wagner engineered the Huskies to the State Teachers College Conference Championship with an 8 and 2 slate. Last season our Huskies came up with another winning record of 7-6 which was good for a fourth place in the conference.

Former Students In Armed Forces

Several BSTC graduates and former students are now fulfilling their military obligation with Uncle Sam's Armed Forces.

Daniel H. Thomas, Jr., was commissioned as a 2nd Lt. after completing eight months of Officers' Basic Training Course at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va. Lt. Daniels has been assigned to the Second Marine Division, Camp LeJeune, N.C.

Assembly Grants Faculty Raise

An amendment to the General Assembly Act #485 of January 18, 1952 has given our BSTC faculty and administration a long deserved salary increase. The new Act #409 may one day affect all students at BSTC.

The minimum annual salary of $5500 for professorship has been raised to $6000, and the minimum annual increments have been changed from $200 to $300 with a minimum of ten increments.

Associate professorship minimum annual salary has been increased from $5000 to $5500 with minimum annual increments increased from $200 to $250 and the minimum number of increments decreased from ten to eight.

Similar increases of salaries are those for Assistant professorship with minimum requirements of a Masters Degree, at least four years of experience (two years of which shall have been in public schools), those of Instructors, minimum of Bachelor's Degree with at least three years experience, (two years of which shall have been in public schools), and those of Deans' directors.

The position on the salary of any faculty member employed after the approval of this act shall be that recommended by the president of the Teachers College and approved by the board of trustees and the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Mrs. Althea Hoke Is Waller Hostess

The appointment of Mrs. Althea S. Hoke as Hostess at the college was approved recently by the Board of Trustees. Mrs. Hoke's appointment is designed to meet the need for supervision resulting from the increased number of women students living in the Waller Hall dormitory.

A resident of Meadville, Pennsylvania for many years, Mrs. Hoke is the widow of Dr. Samuel Hoke, who, until his death, was medical director of Allegheny College for fifteen years.

Mrs. Hoke, the mother of two children and a graduate of the Housemother's Training School at Purdue University, now resides in the Waller Hall Dormitory in the apartment used previously by Dean Yohe and his family.

This column is under new management, and is coming to you from "The Hut" overlooking the Bloomsburg-Catawissa Bridge in downtown Bloomsburg. At present, the former author, Ken Weir, is digging fox-holes in Fort Gordon, Georgia—another sterling example of what a college degree can do for you.

We have just consumed the results of our first culinary experiment and though some may have their doubts, it was an excellent meal consisting of spicy meatloaf, heavily buttered baked potatoes, golden corn, and garend fresh tomatoes. All this was washed down with iced tea? For dessert our mouths watered over deep dish peach pie. We defy the "College Commons" to match it. "Hence" to quote a noted historian, any females interested in the preparation of epicurean delights should call ST. 4-1057.

Since nearly all the men have been exiled from the campus and are busy with housekeeping chores, our visits to the Husky Lounge will be fewer than last year when we were rooming in Waller Hall. (Girls in #473, could we have our room back?) We have been able to get up to the lounge once or twice, however, and as usual the freshman girls look nice.

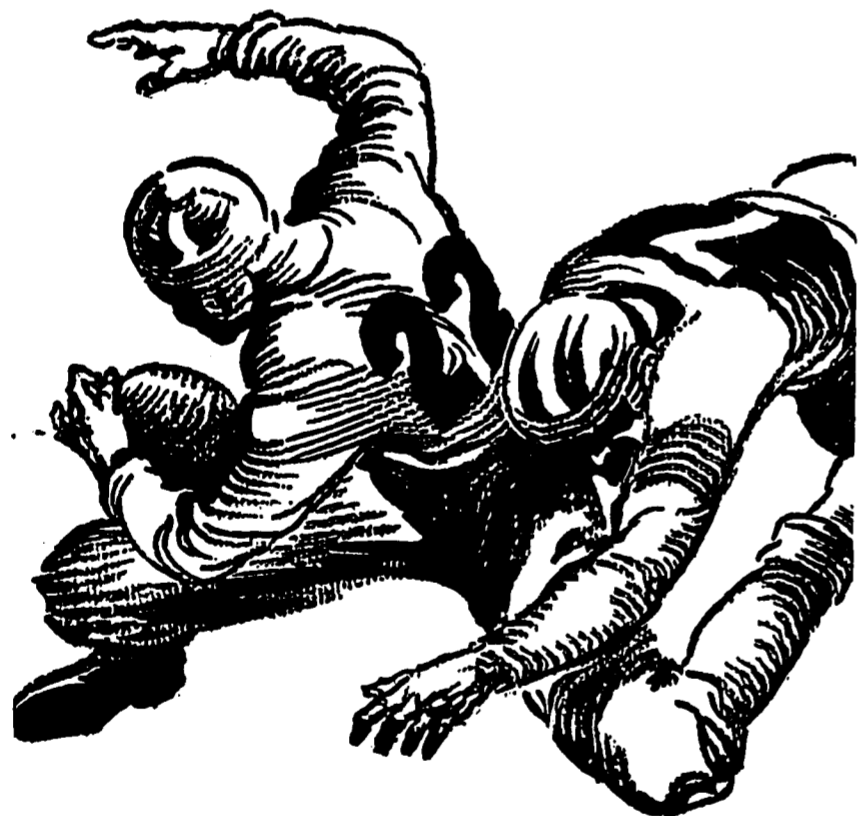

Once again the sound of "Hi Kids! How was your summer?" is being echoed all over the "Pill on the Hill." No one has bothered to hike down here to "The Hut" to find out what we did so we'll tell you anyway. Bud was a doorman at the largest outhouse in the world and Andy was the head hopper cleaner.

How was your summer? Some of you really had a good time. Jim Snyder played with the girls on the golf course; Nancy Herman patrolled the Ocean City Beach Patrol; and Chad Wetzel helped drowning girls at a New York swimming pool. The Bobbys Twins, Jim Vowler and Bike Bottorf, enjoyed a restful summer at the famous resort in the mountains of Pennsylvania, namely Bloomsburg Summer School. Bob Boyle bought shares of stock in Scranton City Hall by receiving many traffic tickets while driving a Coca Cola truck. Phil Mosier and John Valenia haven't made it back from the Poconos where they were tending bar. Jack Herman slaved in the steel mills earning enough money to pay for Carol's ring. (Congratulations). Miss Mettler spent her summer nursing Joe Butz back to health. He suffered severe shock when he found out his apartment would cost him $100 a month. Frank Suntheimer lifted weights all summer so that he could live with the athletes of North Hall. (Seriously Frank, good luck in your pigskin endeavors). Lois Carpenter spent her summer at Asbury Park eating pie ala mode and drinking milkshakes. Larry Schell who was married in June, spent the summer with his wife.

From Wildwood we switch to Atlantic City where Lu Natter cleaned fish at Hackney's; Peggy Lynch spilled prune juice at Child's; and Carol Yost spent the night in jail. We hope everyone had an equally pleasant summer.

By the time this issue comes off the press the freshmen will have experienced their first week of customs. It seems just a short while ago that we were obeying the command of "Buttons Frosh". Now these things are in the past and student teaching is our prime concern. Though we're not exactly old and decrepit, we feel that we have experienced enough to pass down a word of advice to the freshmen; the more you participate in customs the more enjoyment you will receive.

The 1957 edition of the Bloomsburg Huskies, coached by Blair and Houk, promise to offer plenty of excitement when they open the new season at Lock Haven on September 21. Let's support our Huskies as much as possible and good luck to the Blairmen throughout the season. See ya around campus!

the teacher training institutions of the nations, we think it is important to maintain the plant."

Although grandiose plans for future expansion have been drawn, the target dates for completions have not been set.

The present Legislature is in the process of considering Bills to make General State Authority money available for new buildings. However, the general question is—Does Pennsylvania wants its State Teachers Colleges to produce more teachers for its public schools? If so, the answer is obvious; more money will have to be appropriated.

Passing the Buck

Or is it the "doe"? With the long lines at the bookstore last week you'd think Mr. Williams was giving green stamps.
