

Policeman sentenced to serve 9-23 months

William T. Carl, Benton R.D. 3, was sentenced in Columbia County Court Friday to serve 9-23 months in the county prison for indecent assault and voluntary deviate sexual intercourse involving a BSC coed last fall.

At the time of the offense, Carl was on duty as a Town of Bloomsburg policeman.

In a recent article in the Morning Press, it was noted that Judge Jay W. Myers, in pronouncing sentence, said the court considered Carl's rehabilitative requirements, the public's need for protection and the severity of the crimes.

The Probation Office was directed by Judge Myers to arrange continued counseling for Carl, with frequent reports to be furnished to the Court.

"Police officers who break the law should not be treated lightly, simply because they are police officers."

Defense counsel John A. Mihalik, in an effort to promote leniency for Carl's sentence, said that Carl stopped the sexual encounter to ask what he was doing and then showed pictures of his family to the victim before asking her to take his gun and shoot him. When the young woman left, Carl asked her to pray for him.

Judge Myers further stated that "Police officers who break the law should not be treated lightly, simply because they are police officers."

"Quite to the contrary, we believe those who violate a public trust must be dealt with firmly by the judiciary."

"As a police officer, we must presume that he — even more than the average private citizen — knew or should have known that the actions for which he has pleaded guilty were wrong."

Mihalik withdrew Carl's motion to withdraw his guilty plea as well as an application to stay sentence, at the start of the proceedings. The defense attorney also put four witnesses on the stand in an effort to win leniency. The witnesses included: Anna Carl, wife of the defendant, Tpr. Terry G. Seiple, State Police criminal investigator from the Bloomsburg station and prosecutor, Leonard P. Majikas, director of the Bloomsburg Mental Health Clinic, and Rev. Robert Kelsey, pastor of Benton United Methodist Church and Carl's former schoolmate.

Carl was granted until Monday at 10 a.m. to report to the jail.

Final approval made on plans

Final approval of plans to construct an apartment complex on Iron Street were given to Zeisloft Construction Co. at a special meeting of the Town Planning Commission Friday afternoon.

According to an article in the Morning Press, Zeisloft has been granted conditional approval at a previous meeting, pending favorable reviews from certain agencies, including PennDOT, the Town police dept., the Columbia County Planning Commission and the State Dept. of labor and industry.

A change in side yard depths from five to 15 feet was one of several suggestions made by the county planning commission.

The plans were presented to Town Council last Monday night, with the understanding that Zeisloft provided a written plan for erosion and sediment control and a plan for maintenance, including snow removal.

The firm will be required to post a $100,000 performance bond.

Bill to combine colleges

(HARRISBURG) — The state Senate Education Committee has moved Pennsylvania's State Colleges and Universities (PSCU) one step closer to becoming an autonomous system, announced the office of the Commonwealth Association of Students (CAS).

At the committee's last meeting, the members voted unanimously to move Senate Bill 473 to the Senate floor. This bill, known as the 'Keystone University Act', is designed to combine the 14 state-owned institutions to form one state-wide university, the Keystone State University System.

Said Senator Jeannette Reibman, committee chairperson, "This bill, which was first introduced about five years ago, is the result of a great deal of staff work."

One of the committee's staff members, Dave Myers, explained that under this act "the university would be an economist system, independent of the Pennsylvania Department of Education (PDE)."

Myers added that the system would still be subject to the regulation of the State Board of Education, governed by a Board of Governors and administered by a Chancellor.

CAS Executive Director Kathleen M. Downey pointed out that CAS is supportive of this legislation. "One good point," she said, "is that there will be student representation on the Board of Governors. This will give the student sector a chance for input in the decision-making process."

Myers noted that the primary advantages of such an independent system would be the elimination of "the present dichotomy of PDE."

"Right now," he explained, "the department advocates all of higher education and directs public higher education. This causes conflicts and complications between the public and private sectors."

Secretary of Education Caryl M. Kline agreed with Myers' explanation adding that "this system would grant far more autonomy to these institutions, while decreasing bureaucracy."

"I believe this will be an area in which educational quality could increase," she stated.

And both Kline and Myers emphasized that the Keystone State University System would be more cost-efficient than the present system. "It may become possible to run the schools more efficiently," said Myers.

Representing the college presidents, Dr. Gilmore Seavers of Shippensburg State College said, "Pennsylvania is the last state in the union to have a (university) system functioning within the Department of Education. It is time to create a free-standing university system."

And Downey pointed out that since each constituent institution of the system would be under exclusive control of the Commonwealth, each would retain preferred appropriation status.

"In this time of budget austerity," she said, "that is important."

'Who is accountable?'

by CHERYL ROUGHTON

"The American Way of Teaching Reading: Who Is Accountable?" is the theme of the Fourteenth Annual Reading Conference being held at Bloomsburg State College April 14-15. The conference director is Dr. Margaret Sponseller, director of the Reading Clinic at BSC.

The Reading Conference deals with many areas. They are concerned with Federal Funding, Title I Procedural Operations, The Pennsylvania Comprehensive Reading Plan, Language Development and the Pennsylvania School Improvement Plan.

There will be many speakers at the conference. Dr. Gilbert Schiffman, Director of the Right to Read Effort for the U.S. Department of Education in Washington, will speak on "Can We Solve the Literacy Problem? A National, State and Local Level," on Friday at 5:20 p.m. in Carver Auditorium. Dr. Schiffman received a Doctor of Education at the University of Maryland, and has worked in various educational areas.

Dr. Nicholas Silvaroli, Director of Reading Education at Arizona State College, will speak on "Teaching Reading: A Decision Making Process," on Friday at 3:30 p.m. in Andrus Library. Dr. Silvaroli received his Doctorate from Syracuse University. He has lectured at many universities and spoken in school districts throughout the country.

Dr. M. Jerry and Helen S. Weiss will speak at the Friday night banquet in the Scranton Commons at 7:30 p.m. Jerry and Weiss are co-authors of "The American Way of Laughing."

Dr. Dorothy S. Strickland, Vice-President Elect of the International Reading Association, will address Saturday's general session at 9:00 a.m. in Haas Center for the Arts, on "Making a Difference in Reading."

BSC loses mascot

Once again BSC is without a mascot. Dave and Douglas's Pride, better known as "Husky," was accidentally let loose from President McCormick's home and was hit by a car on March 5.

The black, white and silver Siberian Husky was "a gift to the boys" from the 1974 class of BSC, stated Mrs. McCormick. Husky's registered name, Dave and Douglas's Pride was voted on at the class banquet.

Husky was bi-eyed, "one brown eye and one blue...a very characteristic trait of huskies," said Mrs. McCormick.

A new puppy, Princess, although not a Husky, will replace the former mascot.

Bromberg-Muldaur concert slated

by ED HAUCK

"David Bromberg fits no pigeon-hole." This is how New York Times critic, John Wilson, described what will be the main attraction in Haas Auditorium, April 30, at 8:00 p.m. The BSCC has arranged for an evening of music with the David Bromberg Band to be accompanied by Ms. Maria Muldaur.

Though Bromberg's name may sound familiar, it is a rare informed person who can readily identify this multi-talented musician. He has been on the music scene for quite some time, he's 32, and has recorded six albums, (plus one anthology album) since 1970. He started out in the mid-1960's in Greenwich Village hoping to go the same route as balladeer Bob Dylan, but did not sign a record contract until 1970 when he made an unscheduled appearance at England's Isle of Wight Music Festival.

Bloomsburg has thoroughly been graced with a good variety of music this year, even though the second semester has been rather sparse, and this performance should not be any different. As for Bromberg's "no pigeon-hole" classification, he plays boogie, ballads, fiddle tunes and blues. Those who delighted to Jonathan Edwards early semester will find the same type of pleasing tunes from this Philly born musician.

Bromberg's band consists of six other people. They have "drifted together" and all have credits behind them that list on and on. Dick Fegy plays fiddle, mandolin, acoustic guitar and electric guitars and banjos - as well as string synthesizers. John Firman, a professional horn player for eleven years, plays saxophone, clarinet, flute, pennywhistle and percussion. George Kindler plays fiddle and mandolin while Curt Linberg, a performer with the Beach Boys and Lou Rawls, plays the trombone. Hugh McDonald is the bass guitarist and assists in back-up vocals to David, and the drummer is Lance Dickerson, a refuge from Commander Cody.

The opening act will be Maria Muldaur of "Midnight at the Oasis" fame. She has had her music background in the same manner as Bromberg. A child of Greenwich Village, she was exposed to folk, rock, bluegrass, and the like. Muldaur has recorded four albums and her most recent one is called SOUTHERN WINDS.

Tickets will be on sale at the Information Desk in the Union in the latter part of the week. Costs are $4.50 with BSC I.D. and $5.50 without I.D.

WAITING FOR A CONCERT TO START?...This is the group who will present the last concert of the year - The David Bromberg Band. Maria Muldaur will be the warm up act, when the concert starts at 8 p.m. on Sunday, April 30 in Haas Auditorium.

Silent majority speaks out

by JACK FURNISS

A new student organization on campus was formed in January called the Alliance of Student Voters. This group of students is directing its energy to the problem of elitism in the Community Government Association and the resultant complacent attitudes generated by some of its members, stated ASV President, Neville Mercer.

The ASV is attempting to give strength to the oppressed silent majority by way of acting as a centralized lobbying group to formulate and implement ideas and suggestions to better the campus government at BSC. Mercer, specifically wants to, "Put some accountability into the campus political arena by looking into the CGA and its elitest or, "cliquish," nature."

The ASV is planning opinion polls as a way of judging the opinion of the silent majority and also attempting to increase awareness that their opinions are valued.

On April 5, the ASV Petition of Recognition as a Student Organization was approved by the Sub-Committee on Student Organizations. Their next upcoming event will be on April 17, when they will circulate in the Union from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. asking students their opinions on the huge surplus of assets in the Husky Contingency Fund and how it may be effectively utilized.

Some other problems the ASV would like to investigate include: (1) Over Enrollment - Causing detrimental problems to those involved; (2) Student Activities Fee Increase - Should have been explained more fully to the student body at large; (3) Safety of Campus Buildings - BSC's high-rise dorms are beyond the ladder-reach of local fire fighting equipment; and (4) CGA's Independent Faculty Evaluation - It's complete failure and the overdue need for an effective evaluation procedure.

Membership in the ASV is open to all full-time BSC students. Some of the other officers of the Executive Committee, in addition to the aforementioned president, include: Linda Young - Vice-President; Brian Shultz - Secretary, Treasurer; Mona Bastide and Rebecca Vaughan - Ex-Officio Officers.

The ASV is in need of support from students to continue to survive as a voice of BSC students. Those interested in learning more about ASV should express their interest by contacting ASV at P.O. Box 3332, Kehr Union Building. The ASV opens the door to give the masses the chance to be heard and have their voice be felt.

Applications are now being accepted for the position of Executive Editor of the Campus Voice for the 1978-79 academic year.

All resumes should contain your previous experience in the field, what your goals are, and why you wish to be editor of the Voice.

Applications should be submitted to the present Executive Editor of the Voice by April 14, 1978.

Backpacking rules for safety

by AL SUKOWASKI

When thinking about planning a backpacking trip, you should keep two things in mind: one, am I experienced enough? and two, what sort of terrain should I attempt? If you are going on your first backpacking trip, you should go with someone who has had previous experience.

When you begin backpacking, you should select the proper equipment for the season and area you plan to travel in.

Trail selection is one of the most difficult phases of backpacking. The experienced packer should pick a relatively simple trail the first time out. A trail with a moderate elevation increase would make an ideal trek for your first trip. This will give the beginner a chance to get the feel of backpacking.

After hiking the distance you planned to cover, you have to pick a site to sleep in. The site should be level and near water (if possible).

Find a good level spot and pitch your tent or sleeping gear. The tent site should be free of stones, twigs, etc. and away from any site of possible water runoff.

You should now be very hungry, so get out your stove and cook dinner. Dinner should be well balanced and filling.

While eating dinner, you should plan your next day of hiking. If you feel up to it, you might add a mile or two onto the previous day's trek.

By following these steps, you should enjoy backpacking and increase your knowledge of it with every new step you take.

There will be a special meeting Thursday night at 7 p.m. in the coffeeshouse for any students with complaints or questions about the student lawyer.

The Third World Cultural Society

Society works to make presence known

by ROB SCHLACTER

It's time we all discover a little bit about ourselves. There are misinterpretations and misunderstandings about minority participating at Bloomsburg State College, which have gone on long enough without recognition.

Founded in 1969, the Third World Cultural Society was established when minority students started coming to Bloomsburg. Mr. Jesse Bryant initiated the idea of having a union of black students formed on campus. However, in 1975, it was recognized that minorities were not being totally represented. This initiated a reassessment of the black students union.

It was then decided upon to label the organization as the Third World Cultural Society—a representation of the concerns

by JOHN PETRIELLO

On Saturday the Bloomsburg State trackmen had the opportunity to face top-notch competition when they faced Lehigh University, Trenton State, Colgate University, East Stroudsburg State, Temple, and Columbia University.

The teams finished as follows: Lehigh 149 points, Columbia 123, ESSC 88, Temple 87, Bloomsburg 83, Colgate 78, Trenton State 8.

In the individual events, the BSC trackmen that placed are as follows:

440 relay — The team of Rob McIntosh, Barry Staton, Jackie Williams and Lew Giles placed third with a time of 43:06.

6 mile run — Steve Eachus placed first with a time of 29:37.08. This qualified Steve for the nationals in this event.

Hammer throw — Dan McCallum placed first, setting a new BSC record with a throw of 41.25 meters.

3000 meter steeplechase — Mark Bond placed fifth, and Dave Howells placed sixth.

120 yard high hurdles — Fred Koetteritz placed third with a time of 15:01.

Long jump — Barry Staton placed fourth with a jump of 6.74 meters. Jerry Werkheiser placed fifth with a jump of 6.69 meters.

High jump — Chuck Stathopolous placed second with a jump of 6'6". All-American Jeff Carruthers was unable to compete in the event because of an injured heel.

100 yard dash — Bob McIntosh was fifth with a time of 10:01.

Shot put — Dan McCallum was third with a throw of 14.7 meters, and Sean McVain was fifth, his throw going 13.63 meters.

Mile run — Jeff Brandt was sixth with a time of 4:27.07.

Triple jump Two freshmen placed in this event. Jerry Werkheiser was fourth with a mark of 138.5 meters, and Rick Long was sixth with 134.5 meters.

and interests of minority students who enroll at BSC.

The society's purpose was to complement the student activity efforts currently being programmed, with cultural programming having an educational premise behind it. Trying to stress the adjustment of minority groups on campus, the Society became a budgeted, recognized student organization under the direction of Joan Brown, who is currently the advisor.

Since then, the Third World has taken an active role in the college components: CAS, human relation problems, and understanding one another have been the serious concerns of the organization.

Even as much as they try to understand, Third World society itself hinders their performance. The Third World is trying to reach out and understand the problems at different levels of acceptance. According to Willard Bradley, current president, the Third World is trying to wipe out the appearance of the Third World as a "clique", and trying to take steps toward the realization that "people are people."

Asked about his opinion of a race problem present at BSC, Bradley insisted that it was "not a race problem just a misunderstanding." He would eventually like to see the day when the Third World Cultural Society would not be needed—"that minorities could enroll at BSC without any type of fear."

The Third World has done a tremendous job in making their presence known. Since November they have engineered such activities as fashion shows, choirs, movies and communicating with the college population.

The Third World is growing, however it still has a long way to go. They are waiting for fresh ideas and input from their 90 members, and attaining a bigger commitment from the minorities as a whole.

Bloomsburg provided the framework for contact of students from different backgrounds. Some are not as adjusted as others—currently what the Third World is trying to understand. The institution does not want to say there is a problem, but the friction is still present. "BSC has the best relations between minorities and the majority", as witnessed by Willard Bradley after visiting other colleges.

Credit should be given to the Third World Cultural as it continues to try and establish itself more firmly in its niche at BSC. It is hard to say whether society will ever change, but until it does make a move, it is time we try a little harder to understand each other.

BSC lacrosse team loses first two games

by ELLIE HATCH

The Bloomsburg State College women's lacrosse team was handed defeats by Millersville and Kutztown in the first games of the season this past week.

The Husky squad set a fast pace in the initial minutes of the Millersville game, with Lisa Regan and Gail Hopkins combining to score four goals to Millersville's one.

However, the Marauders got their passing and shooting under control, resulting in five Millersville goals.

A well placed shot by BSC's Stacie Bole made the halftime score 6-5 Millersville.

Unfortunately for the Huskies, the gap increased in the second half, with MSC outscoring BSC 5-1. Scilla Elliott connected for the only Bloomsburg goal in the second period.

Goalie Loretta Sutcliff had 10 saves in the 11-6 decision.

The Kutztown game followed a similar pattern. BSC came on strong in the first period of play. Gail Hopkins and Lisa Regan each scored for BSC, while a person to person defense held Kutztown to a 4-2 lead in the first half.

Once again though, the second half was Bloomsburg's downfall. BSC couldn't stop Kutztown's Deb Covington and Nancy Hasson, who penetrated the defense to lead the scoring.

Cheryl Krause scored one and Hopkins another in BSC's effort while Sutcliff had nine saves. The final score was 11-4 Kutztown.

The Huskies will meet Bucknell on Thursday, 3:30, at home.

Budweg and Gibson pitch Husky nine sweep

by AL SCHOCH, JR.

Rick Budweg and Bob Gibson each turned in fine pitching performances as the Bloomsburg State baseball team beat Millersville 4-1 and 3-0 Saturday afternoon at Central Columbia High School.

In the first game, Budweg started out slow, just barely getting out of a bases loaded jam in the second inning. But as the game wore on, the fast-balling lefthander got stronger, as he ended up with 12 strikeouts. He ended the game with a flurry, as the last six outs were strikeouts.

As for the offense, the Huskies managed only seven hits off Bill Krosner, but they made them count. In the first inning after one out Ken Miller smacked a ground rule double to right field. Bill Pennisi sent him home with a single up the middle. Pennisi scored the second run of the inning as he came home on Jim Bankus' opposite field two-bagger.

Pennisi scored again in the third when, after reaching base on an error, he came around on Tom Fulton's double.

The Marauders tried to come back in the fourth inning. Trailing by three runs, MSC got one home on back-to-back singles by Rich Earl and Bob Franklin and a throwing error by Budweg. With the tying runs on second and third, Budweg bore down, fanning Rich Kennel and forcing Bill Parr to bounce out.

The Huskies ended the scoring in the sixth, as Jeff Long singled home Gerald Jakubos, who had singled and advanced to second on an error.

In the second game, Gibson picked up where Budweg left off, as he fired a one-hitter in picking up the win. The only hit came in the fifth inning, that being a single by Jim Dague.

Gibson struck out 11 men, and seven of the last nine men he faced went down on strikes.

The Huskies scored two runs in the third. After Jim Quinn singled and advanced to third on an error, Miller ripped an RBI single for a 1-0 lead. Miller eventually scored on an error. In the sixth, Steve DiGiacomo, running for Jakubos, scored on a double by Jack Behan.

The sweep upped the Huskies' overall record to 10-8, and extended their conference mark to 3-1. The next action will be Saturday against ESSC either at the upper campus or at Central Columbia's diamond.

Trackmen place 5th

440 yard intermediate hurdles — Rich Loman placed first with a 56.05 time, and Ed Hauk took sixth with 59:09.

Mile Relay — The team of Staton, Loman, McIntosh and Williams took fourth with a time of 3:30.

Coach Hinkle declared that he was happy that the Huskies were able to compete with such quality teams that have such good track programs. Hinkle said "I think we have shown that our team can compete with the quality teams. Our team showed a good performance and I was impressed with the good finishes by our young athletes."

On Saturday the Huskies will face ESSC at East Stroudsburg. Hopefully, our team will be healthy and at full strength for the remainder of our dual meets. Hinkle also wished to commend his coaching staff for the excellent job they have been doing.

Netters split pair of matches

by CINDY PECK

The men's tennis team added a win and a loss to its spring record in this past week's action. The netters easily triumphed over visiting Lycoming Wednesday by a 9-1 score, but fell to the tough Penn State netters on Saturday 9-0.

Jim Hollister beat Lycoming's Jeff Kauffman 6-3, 6-3, while Rob Vance, in the number two spot for BSC, won over Craig Liebman 6-0, 6-2. Nate Levine easily shut out John Esposito 6-0, 6-0, while freshman Paulo de Campos beat Lycoming's Glenn Klages 6-1, 6-2. Mark Raynes and Ken Grove also scored impressive wins for the Huskies; Raynes beat Mark Molesky 6-1, 6-0, while Grove shut out Jim Day 6-0, 6-0. Chris Zentgraf was victor over Bill Ellison 7-6, 6-1.

In doubles action, Gary Golbitz-Bill Lantz defeated Kauffman-Leibman 6-3, 6-1, while de Campos-Greg Hafeman conquered Klages-Molesky 6-2, 6-1. In the number three spot, BSC's Zentgraf-Dave Williams fell to Esposito-Ellison in the only match to go three sets, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4.

At Penn State, the Huskies were all defeated in their individual matches, bringing their spring record to 4-6. The netters travel to Lock Haven on Tuesday and to Kutztown on Wednesday, while they will host the East Coast defending champion, Temple on Saturday.

WOMEN'S TENNIS

In women's tennis action, the BSC netters defeated Shippensburg Friday 5-4. Winning for the Huskies were Lorie Keating, in the number one spot, Sue Purnell, Jean Riffetts. Losing for Bloomsburg in singles were Donna Royer, Lori Malinski, and Mary McHugh. Keating-Riffetts and Royer-Malinski also teamed for BSC to win the doubles.
