

Colleges elect McCormick

by JULIE STAMETS

Dr. James H. McCormick, President of Bloomsburg State College, has been elected to the position of chairman of the Commission for State Colleges and University. His selection took place at a meeting held earlier this month in Harrisburg.

McCormick stated that he 'is looking forward to working with the new administration on behalf of all the thirteen Pennsylvania state colleges and Indiana University.'

McCormick also feels it is very important for the commission to work closely with students, faculty, alumni, college employees, and the public to serve Pennsylvania's higher education needs.

Elected by the presidents of the state colleges and university, McCormick previously served as vice-president of the commission. He will serve various duties as the new chairman. He will be an ex-officio member of the 1202

Commission studying secondary education in Pennsylvania.

McCormick will also be a part of the Executive Committee of the Pennsylvania Association of Colleges and Universities. He will work with community college representatives as well as those representing private and state related colleges and universities to communicate the needs, concerns, and programs of these institutions of higher learning.

McCormick succeeds former commission chairman Dr. Robert Wilburn, President of Indiana University. Wilburn has been named Secretary of the Budget and Administration in the cabinet of newly elected Governor Thornburgh.

McCormick commented that Pennsylvania is unique in that both private and public institutions cooperate together through the PACU to meet the higher educational needs of the state.

A close hard look at six major issues

by JULIE STAMETS

The present pre-scheduling procedures are one major concern of the Coordinating Committee for Academic Affairs, (CCAA). Dr. Craig L. Himes, chairman of the CCAA and also president of the Representative Assembly stated that the scheduling process is one of six campus issues referred to the CCAA by the Representative Assembly.

The CCAA distributed survey forms to juniors and seniors on registration day to gather opinions of the students concerning pre-scheduling. Over 900 juniors and seniors were polled and also 200 faculty members took the survey.

According to Himes, the committee is pleased with the response the juniors and seniors gave at registration. He added that not many students left the papers lay on the floor. "Juniors and seniors should be congratulated on their willingness to participate," he said.

Himes also feels that the pre-scheduling period is too long, and students can very easily change their schedules without any further consultations with an advisor.

"The wide spread abuse of the pink slip procedure," he added, "has created oversubscribed sections while others have many empty seats."

"It would appear at this time that a close hard look at, and sweeping changes made in, the matter of advisement and pre-scheduling is appropriate," Himes concluded.

Minimum wage kept for student employees

The minimum wage for student employees will remain at $2.26 an hour despite previous speculation that the rate would rise to $2.47 an hour, according to the director of financial aid.

Tom Lyons explained that as of this date the budget is being followed 'right on target.'

Maintaining the minimum wage for student employees at the present rate will avoid any complications in the payment of salaries at the end of the semester.

Lyons said that the student employees are essential to many areas of the campus. At the present rate of pay they will be able to remain on the payroll through the end of the semester.

Town Council:

Rescind parking law

The town ordinance which would fine cars without appropriate stickers for parking on streets in the vicinity of the college may not go into effect at all. At this week's town council meeting the council voted 4-3 to rescind the ordinance.

Townspople at the Monday night meeting plan to protest the move at the next town council meeting. The parking ordinance was passed last October and was supposed to go into effect after the signs were placed in the appropriate areas.

According to the Morning Press, the town council must "advertise its intention to rescind the ordinance and hold a public hearing."

The parking situation on Third Street and areas near the college prompted the town council to adopt this parking ordinance late last year. However, while town residents complained about their inability to find parking spaces, the new ordinance failed to accomodate the many student apartments in the area.

Since seniors and some juniors must move off campus, housing in the area of the college allows as many as 12 students to live in one house. While not all student residents have cars, the new ordinance only allowed two parking stickers per residence. The resulting fines for students had been called unfair by some students, since they are also residents of the area.

The date of the hearing was not yet set at presstime.

In an attempt to avert the anticipated deficit in the State-owned Colleges and University appropriation Charles P. McIntosh, budget secretary, initiated a "severe austerity program" in the system.

Referred to as a spending freeze, the program will accomodate only the purchase of essentials for BSC and the rest of the state colleges and university. In McIntosh's memo of Jan. 2 essentials were listed as electricity, heating fuel, food, water and sewerage, telephone service and travel costs incurred in the recruiting of students and supervision of student teachers and interns.

Computer aids scheduling

by DEB ROSS

The new computer system installed at BSC during Christmas break is the most powerful and versatile computer of the Pennsylvania state colleges and university.

The computer is a UNIVAC 1100-20. It is four times faster, has an increased memory of 50 percent and has more storage capabilities than the old system.

However, the benefits of the UNIVAC will not be realized until fall when the system becomes fully operational. Between now and fall the old system will be used in conjunction with the new system.

"The primary objective of the new system is making scheduling and scheduling adjustments faster from a computer standpoint," said Mr. Doyle Dodson, director of the Computer Center.

Another objective, according to Dodson, is to get more students involved in working with the computer, not just the students who major in that area. More students will be able to utilize the student computer lab with twenty-five terminals, eighteen individual work stations and a mini computer in the room.

A terminal allows a student direct access to the computer by using a television screen receiving a response in a few seconds.

Dodson said that eventually the student lab will be a completely independent entity and available to students twenty-four hours a day.

Educationally, students will be able to work with contemporary computer concepts and more advanced data processing technology.

Dodson feels the college will never outgrow this new unit because it has growth potential. New and improved equipment can be continually added to the system as the need arises. The old system was manufactured by RCA and could not be easily upgraded.

Because of the increased complexity and capability of the new system, the computer center staff have gone through ten different training sessions since the beginning of October. Beginning in February the staff will offer faculty seminars on the operation of the new system.

Check out the aid!

Rejection notices from the financial aid office aren't pleasant to receive. Recent figures quote the price of an on campus resident at BSC at $3050. Grants and low interest loans were available only to low-income families. For many students from middle income families, loans were the only way to help with the expenses of college life.

That isn't the case any more. Last November the "Middle Income Financial Aid Bill" was signed by President Carter. The result of this bill is good news to the many "middle-income" students. The grants and loans are now available to a vast majority of BSC students.

If you come from a family with an income of approximately $25,000 you may be eligible for these grants and loans. Tom Lyons, Director of Financial Aid, is confident that 90% of the students now enrolled would qualify for at least a $200 grant.

Juniors and seniors already realize the importance of even a $200 grant, especially if they have been noticing the raises in the cost of attending BSC in the past three years. Many may be disheartened, even disgusted, with their inability to receive aid.

Now is the time to realize that the financial aid available has expanded. The only way to find out if you qualify for a grant or for a loan is to fill out the PHEAA composite available in the Financial Aid Office. The only cost is your time. What better way to spend a few minutes than taking steps to insure some money to help relieve the pressure of college costs.

Improve your study habits

by FAY A. WALTER

Does your study time ever seem unworthwhile? Do you have some bad habits that keep you from learning to your fullest potential?

Mr. John Scrimgeour may have the answers to your study problems. In an attempt to aid any new freshmen or even seniors who want to improve their study habits, Scrimgeour will be presenting sessions on study skills and time management in Columbia Hall's project room.

These informal and educational meetings, which may eventually save you time and effort, will be held from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. and again from 7:00 to 8:00 p.m. next Tuesday, Jan. 30.

Not too many students enjoy studying but most cannot escape spending a large portion of time participating in this task. Therefore, Scrimgeour emphasizes that study time should be "well - handled" so the most learning can take place.

In the sessions, Scrimgeour plans to present certain guidelines and collective wisdoms that all students can follow to meet their needs. Scrimgeour also will discuss any personal problems that may arise to hinder an individual's effective studying.

Perhaps you have tried different ways of studying and still seem to be far from success. "Don't make the same mistakes twice," Scrimgeour warns. Instead, you should learn now some basic steps to improve your time usage and to enrich your study skills.

Managing time is one of the most serious problems that all students encounter in college and it is important to realize that time can be used efficiently. Scrimgeour combines the problems of studying and use of time in his discussion and may be able to help you before you make another mistake.

This session is the second of nine exciting programs that the Student Development Task Force has scheduled for the 1979 Spring Semester. Each is designed to strengthen the student's personal growth and career development skills. Future programs will include the topics Human Sexuality, Mock Interviews, and Financial Aid.

Edwards, Satz to leave BSC

by TODD MOYER

The number twenty-one takes on various meanings for different people. Some may say that twenty-one refers to a card game or a gun salute while others are quickly reminded of the legal drinking age in Pennsylvania.

However, for two professors, Dr. C. Stuart Edwards and Dr. Martin A. Satz, the number signifies the years with which they have been associated with the Bloomsburg State College faculty. Both Edwards and Satz have announced their plans to retire after the 1979 Spring Semester.

Prior to coming to Bloomsburg, both professors had attained an impressive list of references and achievements. Edwards taught for several years in private schools in Florida and Maryland.

He also accepted the position of teacher and basketball coach for Kane High School where he led the Class B team to victory in the state championships in 1949. After seven years, Edwards left Kane to become the assistant principal at Coatesville High School and later went on to become the principal of the senior high school at Ridgeway, where he stayed for five years.

Satz was the Director of Student Affairs and professor of psychology at Southwestern (Oklahoma) State College for six years. He also served in World War II in the Air Force and attained the rank of captain.

Continuing at Bloomsburg, their list of achievements kept growing. Edwards was the first director of admissions and placement in 1958. In 1962, he relinquished his responsibilities to become director of secondary education until 1970 when he became the first dean of the School of Professional Studies.

Satz also joined forces with the BSC faculty in 1958 as an associate professor but was promoted to professor in 1961. Satz chaired the psychology department from 1969-1972 and has been a member of the BSC Senate and Representative

Unique activities to entertain all

by JEAN KRAUS

The Kehr Union Program Board has planned many activities this semester, offering students a needed change from those boring reruns on television and those smokey overcrowded parties that sometimes offer more noise than beer.

Numerous movies have been planned for those who like to see a good flick but cannot afford the expense.

Saturday Night Fever, a colorful, musical movie starring John Travolta as a young disco-dancing New Yorker, will be presented Jan. 26 at 10 p.m. and Jan. 29 at 6 and 9 p.m. in Haas Auditorium. Catch the Fever ... Saturday Night Fever!

"The Beatles" Part 2, a video presentation of the life and music of the Beatles will be shown on Feb. 5 in the Kehr Union throughout the day.

"First Love," a romantic story about a young girl who grows up to realize the difference between making love and being in love, will be presented on Feb. 9 and 12 at 9 p.m. in Carver Hall. A special presentation of "First Love" will be given in the Kehr Union on Feb. 13 at 12 p.m. and 2 p.m. A good movie to see, for everyone remembers their "First Love!"

For listening pleasure, coffeehouses have been scheduled throughout the calendar year. Desperado is the first coffeehouse presentation planned for Jan. 28 at 9 p.m. in the President's Lounge of the Kehr Union. Future coffeehouses include Perry Leopold on Feb. 16 at 9 p.m. in the President's Lounge of the Kehr Union.

A different activity on the calendar this year is the College Bowl. The College Bowl is a competitive game of question and answer consisting of two teams and seven professors. The professors on the panel ask academic trivia questions alternately to two teams until a certain number of points is reached and a winning team is determined. This winning team challenges another team and this process continues until the nine formulated teams have played. The

YOU REALLY GOT ME...and they plan to get all students to attend the upcoming concert of the Spring semester. Kinks, a long-surviving rock group, will perform on Friday, Feb. 16 in Haas Auditorium. ((Non Staff Photo))

Put 'Kinks' in your life

by JEAN KRAUS

They brought you Southside Johnny and the Ausbury Jukes! They brought you Harry Chapin! Now the Bloomsburg Student Concert Committee proudly presents

"The Kinks!"

The "Kinks," an exuberant and deliberately-different rock-n-roll group, will perform on Friday, Feb. 16 in Haas Auditorium. Tickets for reserved seating are $7.50 and general admission is $6.50 with BSC I.D. All tickets purchased without I.D. are $1.00 extra. Tickets are available at the Information Desk of the Kehr Union.

The "Kinks," one of the longest surviving groups in rock-n roll history, have numerous albums as well as single hits submerged in their music past. One of the Kinks first hits is an abrasive slamming record that is still heard today "You Really Got Me." Sound familiar? Then who can forget the song "Lola" or "Sunny Afternoon" or "All Day and All The Night" or "Education" or "Hay Fever" or...the list can go on and on.

One would be surprised to recognize many tunes created by the Kinks, for the name "Kinks" is somehow forgotten among the flashy groups that rise to sudden stardom and just as suddenly disappear. Since the Kinks project no wild, eccentric light shows or displays of craziness, the name has no uniqueness to stand upon, except its music.

Prospective teachers who plan to take the National Teacher Examinations on February 17, 1979 at BSC have less than two weeks to register with Educational Testing Service (ETS) of Princeton, N.J. The deadline was January 25. Those who register between now and January 31 must pay a $5 penalty fee. After January 31 none will be accepted. For further information, contact Charles D. Thomas at BSC Center for Counseling and Human Development.

The music has been apart of rock-n-roll history for over 18 years and is getting more popular each day. The music is known and raising steadily on the charts. Maybe someday the name "Kinks" will be as important and popular as the music and will rise along side of its creations!

nine teams consist of numerous people from Phi Sigma Pi, Phi Sigma X, Forensic, Campus Voice, Luzerne Hall and RA's. The final winning team of BSC has the opportunity to travel to Marywood College to enter a tournament against eight other colleges on Feb. 10. Another tournament at Morris Harvey, West Virginia is scheduled for Feb. 24.

Dates for the initial team challenges of the College Bowl are Jan. 30, Feb. 1, 6, 8 at 7 p.m. in the Kehr Union.

Human Development programs presenting numerous versatile topics are planned to increase student knowledge on many subjects that are rarely discussed. "Time Management and Study Skills" is the topic to be discussed in Columbia Hall on Jan. 30 at 3:30 and 7 p.m. "Stereotyping in Human Relations" is the topic for Mar. 1 in the Kehr Union.

The Dance marathon, the biggest and longest dance of the year, will take place from 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 2 to 10 p.m. on Sunday, Feb. 4. Disc jockeys from WHLM and WBSC will be present to play continuous music for the dancing competitors of the marathon. Anyone interested in entering the Dance Marathon can sign up at the Information Desk of the Kehr Union. All profits will benefit Easter Seals.

Other activities have also been planned for student enjoyment. A look at the calendar, distributed at registration, or the calendar in the Kehr Union is all that is needed to see what is happening at BSC.

Superman falls from the sky

by ROBERT McMULLIN
"Superman," the movie, is everything but super. After the audience is informed of the true history of Superman in D.C. Comics, the next fifteen minutes is consumed with "Star Wars"-type effects. This included the flashing credits which seemed to last forever. I was relieved with the end of the credits and the beginning of "Superman."

To introduce the actors and their various parts, I will give a summary of "Superman."

On Krypton, Superman's real parents are Jor-El (Marlon Brando) and Lara (Susannah York). Jor-El seems to be a very prominent person concerned with the domestic problems on Krypton. Marlon Brando plays an excellent role in this segment of the movie. Since he believes the planet will disintegrate, Jor-El places his son Kal-El (Superman) in a crazy meteor-type spaceship.

The next part of the movie shows Superman once he lands on Earth. The Kent Family (Glenn Ford and Phyllis Thaxter) are finally blessed with a special baby-boy. The short story about the growing-up of superboy is enjoyably funny, witty, and finally sad. The death of Glenn Ford makes superboy discover his true origins.

In the guise of Clark Kent, he returns as the crime fighter Superman (Christopher Reeve). He is immediately hired by the Daily Planet in Metropolis. I'm sure you can guess how the story continues. Lois Lane (Margot Kidder) is Clark Kent's girlfriend. Jimmy Olsen (Mark McClure) is the photographer who seems to always get in the way. Finally Perry White (Jackie Cooper) is the impossible editor, who is unable to receive any constructive criticism. None of the above three people know of Clark Kent's real identity.

Once Superman arrives in Metropolis, he rids the city of robbers, helps Lois Lane in a deadly helicopter accident, and aids a distressed airplane.

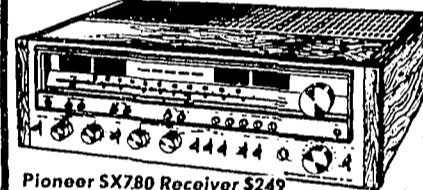

The plot thickens when Lex Luthor (Gene Hackman) wants to destroy California. You'll have to see "Superman" to believe how he deals with the California Earthquake, the death of Lois Lane, or the repair of Hoover Dam. The reason is the movie gives Superman abilities far superior than originally imagined.

I enjoyed the movie even though it was broken into three parts. Unfortunately, I was sometimes laughing at the movie and not with the movie. An older audience may be bored with the movie, for the simple reason of past knowledge of the Superman story.

I feel this movie went into too much detail explaining about Superman, and not enough super wonders. Finally, near the end of the movie, I was overwhelmed by all his super talents. Where can a producer meet a happy medium? Answer, in the sequel, "Superman II," which is near completion, according to Newsweek, January 1, 1979, but will not be released until summer of 1980.

Party policy to be revised

by MIKE MIXELL

The recent revision of the proposed "party policy" will be on the agenda of the Feb. 21 Representative Assembly.

Under the revisions, the college continues to oppose any party, particularly open parties in students' off-campus residences where alcoholic beverages are consumed.

The key point in the new draft lies in the second paragraph, which states that the college directs disciplinary actions toward officially recognized campus organizations, namely fraternities and sororities.

As a result of the new revision, these organizations may be more vulnerable to college regulation for their off-campus activities than the non-affiliated student.

The policy defines open parties as those lacking a pre-determined guest list without any plans for controlling said guests. Also, the health and well-being of participants and property owners must be insured.

According to Robert G. Norton, dean of Student Life, the policy has accounted for some valuable improvements between the college and town. Individual students and organizations have become more aware of their responsibilities and liabilities when having a party.

Recent parties have been somewhat controlled in size and mood. According to Joe Bell, president of IFC, student-neighbor relations have improved because of increased awareness on the student's part.

The current draft of this policy will be up for discussion at the next meeting of the Representative Assembly. The Representative Assembly consists of about one-third students, one-third faculty, and one-third administration. Rep. Assembly meetings are open to all students. If the Rep. Assembly accepts this draft, it will eventually become college policy.

Marathon plans set

by ROBERTA CLEMENS

Bloomsburg State College's annual dance marathon will be held Feb. 2, 3, and 4 in Centennial Gym. Proceeds from the marathon, sponsored by the Kehr Union-Program Board, will be donated to the Easter Seals Society.

This year's theme is "Disco 79". Dancing and costume contests, best depicting the theme, will be held. Money prizes and trophies will be awarded.

The marathon, which lasts for 50 hours, will start on Friday, Feb. 2 at 8 p.m. and end Sunday, Feb. 4 at 10 p.m.

Live bands playing tunes, and disc jockeys from WBSC and WHLM spinning records, will be providing music for the dancers.

The bands performing are: Frenz, Little Ed and the G Men, Topaz, Freeway Xpress, Raxx Ma Tazz, Peach, Sultan and Kicks.

While the regular marathon is being held, two other mini marathons will also be in progress. The first is a 12 hour marathon for those dancers that feel the 50 hours is too much, and the second is a 12 hour marathon for dancers of high school age.

Applications for participating in the dance marathon are available at the Information desk in the Kehr Union.

Campus crime increases

Since 1974 there has been a gradual increase in campus crime, reported Dr. Frank Davis, Assistant Vice-President for Administration. Statistics show that during last semester there has been a noticeable increase in the total number of reported criminal incidences on campus.

In order to help combat this increase Davis explained some of the measures that the administration has implemented in order to curb the crime problem.

Most students are unaware, Davis stated, that the majority of security officers are bonifide police officers who have the legitimate power to arrest lawbreakers. Arrest is used only as a last resort by security officials when laws have been flagrantly broken. Last year the campus arrest policy was revised in order to provide a clearer understanding of arrest procedure.

Another measure that has been implemented is the addition of another officer to the security staff. Davis further related that the security department has tried to decrease the number of unnecessary hospital runs because it ties up too many officers.

Finally, the security department has activated a computerized tour system. This means that an officer's tour is changed daily and no one is absolutely aware of where the officer will be at a particular time.

Davis reported that the increase in crime has not hurt students by increasing tuition but by decreasing services. When the administration has to continually buy, for example, exit signs, furniture, and ceiling tiles that are damaged they are unable to buy other needed items.

If some of the vandalism can be eliminated, Davis concluded, BSC will be able to use available funds to better benefit student needs.

Poster deadline for CAS extended

The Commonwealth Association of Students (CAS) legislative body voted to extend the deadline for the statewide poster contest to March 1, 1979 during its January Planning conference.

CAS realizes that many students had to prepare for finals and couldn't meet the December deadline.

The winning poster will be silkscreened and distributed throughout the state college system, with the winning artist receiving a cash award of $25 from the statewide CAS. Any students can submit his-her design drawn on 17 by 22 inch white poster board using black ink.

The words "The Commonwealth Association of Students" or "CAS" must be visible on the poster, with the sketch following the theme of "CAS - YOUR VOICE IN HARRISBURG... WORKING TO KEEP TUITION COSTS LOW AND EDUCATIONAL QUALITY HIGH."

All entries must be submitted to the local CAS campus office by March 1, 1979. Individual CAS chapters will select their best entry and submit this selection to the CAS central office in Harrisburg. The CAS public relations committee will judge the best of the 14 campus entries at its March lobbying conference. The winner will receive his-her cash award after the selection has been made and will receive statewide publicity. All entries will become property of the Commonwealth Association of Students.

Assembly. He also served as school counselor before the establishment of the Counseling Center and served as school counselor to the BSC Laboratory School.

Being interested in sports, Satz coached the varsity golf team from 1960-1971. Despite his many affiliations with BSC, Satz found enough time to be a member of the many psychology and education associations along with being a certified school psychologist and a Pennsylvania licensed psychologist.

Now that the past and present have been covered, what lies ahead in the future? Edwards plans to carry on some human relation projects and act as a consultant for area school districts. One of the fond memories Edwards will take with him is the honor of being asked to speak at the Dec. 17, 1978 Commencement exercises when he spoke about decisions and the formation of values. He also will remember the cards that he has received from many students wishing him well during his retirement.

Satz will be doing psychological evaluations for Social Security and plans to establish a private practice. He also would like to develop a mini course in relaxation, using biofeedback, at BSC.

To many, the word retirement means the end of the road, but, like the word twenty-one, a word is only a word. To Edwards and Satz, retirement is not the end of the road, rather, retirement is only another pathway in their careers.

Cagers now 3-3

by ROBERTA CLEMENS

The Bloomsburg State College Women's basketball team evened its record at 3-3 with a win over Kutztown State, 73-43, on January 22. They lost to the University of Scranton, 86-51, on January 19.

The five starters leading the team this season are: Senior tri-captains Sue McKeegan, Terri McHale and Donna Santa Maria; juniors Patti Lyons and Sally Houser.

The women rely on a 2-1-2 defensive system, and a play-by-play offensive system. According to Coach Sue Hibbs, the women are predictable within the first five minutes of the game.

"If one player is doing well, the whole team will do well," she stated.

Hibbs depends on the scouting reports also to determine her game plan.

Last years team compiled an overall 9-6 winning season. Looking toward next years team, Hibbs said she is counting on many strong players now on the J. V. team. For the remaining games in this season, Hibbs has an optimistic outlook since their hardest opponent, the University of Scranton, has already been played.

High scorer for the club so far this season is Patti Lyons, and the leading rebounder is Sally Houser.

Making up a very strong and reliable bench are seniors Linda Weist, Jayne Yurasits and Sandy Sarafin; juniors Loretta Sutcliff and Gail Hopkins; sophomore Mindy Lerit; and freshman Katrina Knittel.

Their next home game is against East Stroudsburg State on January 27 at Nelson Field House at 1 p.m.

Men in race for PSAC division title

By DOUG TAYLOR

"We can be a force in the Eastern Division of the PSAC Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference and have reasonable expectations," said Head coach Charles Chronister.

The Huskies already are a force. The cagers are currently in a first-place tie with Mansfield State for the Eastern Division lead of the PSAC.

Coach Chronister attributes the success of the team to the players themselves. The team is young but has been initiated to college basketball with the 16 games they've played thus far.

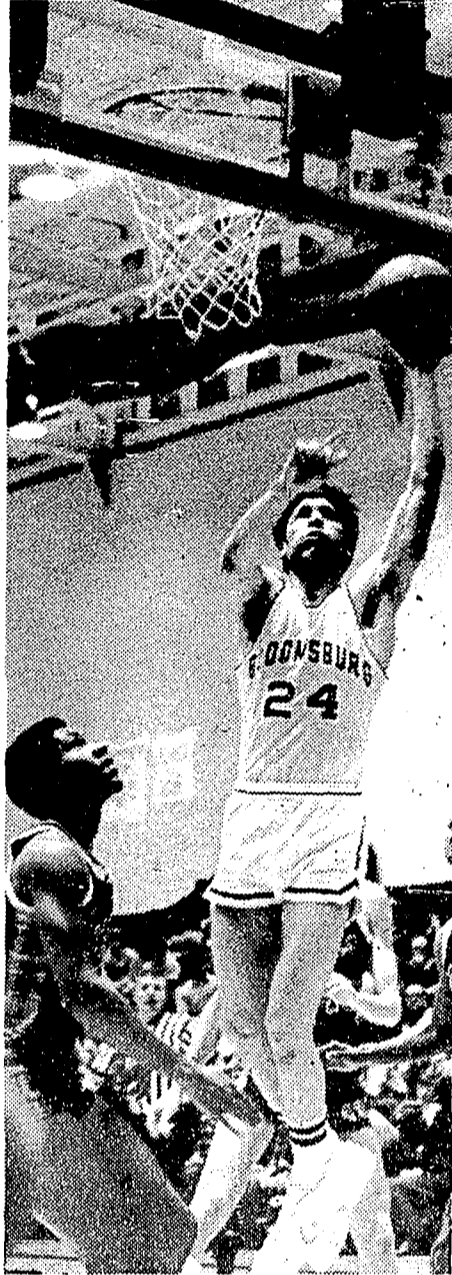

A YOUNG TEAM

The youthful team is led by senior co-captains John Bucher and Miles Reitnauer, along with junior John McNaughton. The rest of the team members are underclassmen.

FRESHMEN STANDOUT

The coaching staff has been particularly pleased with the play of freshman center Doug Greenholt and freshman guard Jon Bardsley. "However," Coach Chronister added, "we can only talk about youth so young so long. We had a good recruiting year but now we have to put everything together."

Coach Chronister receives help in putting the pieces together from assistant coaches Burt Reese, Mike Herbert, and Gary Taylor. They have been varying the lineup with returning lettermen: Mark Cable, Donny McCann, and Bill Tillman. Also seeing action are sophomores Dave Kiersnowski, Dave Ogden, and freshmen Ed Nichols and James Thomas.

THERE'S OBVIOUSLY no stopping BSC captain John Bucher on this drive to the basket. There was no stopping the team either, as they defeated Shippensburg in the effort.

Coach Chronister concluded, "With what we have behind us we have a chance for the Eastern Division crown."

NOTE: This chance could give a moral boost with the support of the college community, especially the student body. While the Huskies are in hot pursuit of the eastern Division laurels, there is plenty of home action to be seen. Take a trip up to Nelson Field House and see it for yourself.

Wrestlers earn national ranking

by FRAN BOLGER

Roger Sanders is a busy man. His nationally ranked Huskie wrestlers are midway through what appears to be one of Sanders' most successful seasons.

NATIONAL RANKING

The Huskie wrestling team is ranked 17th in the nation, and third in the East behind Lehigh and Clarion. They carried an 11-2 dual meet record into their meet with Penn State on Wednesday, and will face Cleveland State tonight at 8 p.m.

While amassing that 11-2 record, the BSC grapplers have managed to shut out two teams (Mansfield and Shippensburg), and scored 412 team points while giving up only 112 points.

TOURNAMENT SUCCESS

The Huskies are further bolstered by their tournament performances. They successfully defended their team title at the University of Delaware Tournament with five individual BSC wrestlers winning weight class titles. The champions were: Don Reese, 126; Carl Poff, 134; Gibbes Johnson, 142; Tony Caravella, 150; and Tino DiMarco, heavyweight.

BSC also won the BSC Invitational and placed second in the Wilkes Open with Dom DiGiacchino capturing the 167 pound title.

INDIVIDUAL STANDOUTS

The team is led by tri-captains Andy Cappelli, Poff and Caravella. Coach Sanders believes that this is the most talented team he has ever worked with. Along with veteran performers McCollum, DiGiacchino and Sharp, the squad is strengthened by the performances of freshmen standouts Todd Cummings, 118; Reese, a Pennsylvania State champion, 126; and New Jersey State champion Joe Wade, 190.

DESERVE RECOGNITION

In Sanders' opinion, the wrestlers are not appreciated by the student body. He cited the fact that his squad practices from September to March, and often have double workouts.

When questioned as to the justification of the considerable time investment, Sanders stated that he feels it is his responsibility to provide every opportunity to a wrestler to become a Division I champion. He stated that if his wrestlers are willing to make the investment, he's willing to match it.

Sanders is not only responsible for the coaching of the well-disciplined wrestlers, but also does extensive recruiting to insure the future of the BSC wrestling program. In light of this information it might be worthwhile to stop and see what Sanders and the NCAA find so captivating about the Bloomsburg State Wrestling team.
