Scheduling and exams discussed

by NANCY FAUSNAUGHT

The Representative Assembly has set a goal for this semester; to work on the pre-scheduling process and the final examination policy. These were two of the six issues junior and senior students expressed the most concern over in the survey conducted at registration.

The issues will go to the Coordinating Committee on Academic Affairs (CCAA) to be discussed and revised.

The Assembly voted to approve a presidential task force on student recruitment and retention. Due to the decline in the number of high school graduates, the Middle States recommended that recruitment policy should be given high priority.

A campus "hotline" has been established. To obtain information concerning the college, call 389-3123.

The 1980-81 calendar was decided upon after lengthy discussion. The semester will begin Aug. 26, and commencement will be Dec. 21. There will be a two day mid-semester break on Oct. 13-14.

Spring semester, 1981 will begin Jan. 13, and commencement will be held May 17.

It was reported that the party policy is going before the Attorney General of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Mitchell, vice-president of Academic Affairs, said that the General Education committee has met with three departments for suggestions and ideas on General Education policy. The committee hopes to meet with all 26 departments by the end of the semester.

The first meeting of the Undergraduate Alumni Association will be held on Feb. 8 at 3:30 p.m. in the Blue Room in the Kehr Union.

The main objective of the organization is to bring the Alumni and undergraduates closer together to work with each other so that both may benefit.

Accreditation team will evaluate BSC

by FAY A. WALTER

During the first week of April, members of a visiting accreditation team will be on campus examining our college, asking students, faculty, staff and administration for their comments on the institution. This team from the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools will continue the study started two years ago to approve our institution's present effectiveness and its future ability to maintain and improve that performance.

Accreditation is important to both the students and the college. If a college is accredited, the credits received there are more likely to be transferable for a graduate or transfer student. For the college, accreditation means that the staff, faculty and administration are achieving the quality institution necessary to provide effective education to its students.

The Middle States Association reapproves accreditation every ten years based on several factors. These include the use of a self-study program by the institution that seeks accreditation, a report filed by the college, and the visit by an accreditation team. The self-study program began at BSC in April, 1977. A self-study report has been compiled since then, and is now available for campus review.

Senior events listed: Graduation is May 20

If you are a senior and are totally confused, this is the place to look. Class dues of $9.00 can be paid at the information desk until March 9. After this date the dues will be raised to $11.00. The reason for this is so we can estimate approximately how much we have to spend for the Senior Banquet. In past years the bulk of the money came in three weeks prior to the Banquet making it hard to estimate how much could be spent. Class dues include caps and gowns, a class gift and the Senior Banquet.

The Senior Banquet will be held on May 11 at Lobitz's Restaurant in Hazleton. One of the bands will be Angie's Band and another is tentative according to the amount received from class dues. Seniors who have paid class dues will get in for free provided they have a ticket and an I.D. All guest tickets can be purchased for $10.00. The tickets are not yet available. The Banquet includes a dinner, dancing and beverages.

The Awards Convocation will be held in Haas on Sunday, April 29 at 2:00 p.m.

Graduation is on Sunday, May 20. There have been plans to change one graduation at the fair grounds to three separate graduations according to school at three separate times in Haas on that same Sunday. There are advantages and disadvantages with both proposals. In the past the fair ground graduation has presented problems. Some seniors have indicated that they would like individual recognition instead of having one person represent the whole class and the class being recognized as a whole.

Having three separate graduations would give individual recognition but will limit the amount of guests for each student to probably three. Also, for example, if your roommate is in nursing and you are in teaching you will be able to attend their graduation but not graduate at the same ceremony. If there are any questions or if you have a preference or a strong opposition to one of the two graduation ideas, leave a note in Box 44 at the information desk Thursday and Friday, Feb. 8 and 9. Do it now! If you have any questions contact Beth Dwyer at 784-4517, Corey Waters at 784-9391, Jeff Grill at 784-9908 or Al Lonoconus at 389-3976.

Rosholt testifies at Flood hearing

Dr. Robert Rosholt, a professor of Political Science at BSC, was called to testify at Congressman Daniel Flood's hearing taking place in Washington, DC.

He was subpoenaed to testify by the defense to confirm Flood's whereabouts on a weekend in April, 1972. Flood allegedly accepted part of a $5,000 payoff at his home in Wilkes-Barre.

Flood is accused in an 11 count indictment of conspiring to trade his influence as chairman of a powerful House committee for at least $50,000 in payoffs.

During his hearing, Flood voluntarily left the chairmanship of the labor, health, education and welfare subcommittee that controls 75 billion in government expenditures every year.

Rosholt testified that Flood participated in a mock political convention on the morning of April 22, 1972. He said Flood arrived on campus at approximately 9 a.m. and spoke early in the morning's activities. He also said that Flood left campus at about 10:30 a.m.

Robert Ross, a professor of economics at BSC, was also subpoenaed to testify by the defense, but was not required to attend the hearing.

Gathering all the news that is fit to print on the campus is a big job. The Campus Voice does not always have enough reporters to cover all campus activities as thoroughly as is needed.

In an effort to gather and publish the news, a news release form has been prepared and sent to the boxes of all campus organizations. Organizations should check their mail boxes in the Union for these forms.

If your organization did not get a form, stop by the Voice offices any afternoon between 1 and 5. Blank forms are also available for those who need extra copies.

Society returns!

They're back and planning a variety of projects for this semester. After an absence of several years, the Society for Collegiate Journalists recently began the renewal of the BSC chapter.

Inducted into the honorary society for Journalism students on January 15 were: Barb Hagan (president), Jim Peffley (vice-president), Eileen Callahan (secretary), Nancy Fausnaught (treasurer), Michael Baker, Barbara Borski, Timothy Hough, Scott

Lux, Denise Rath, Debra Ross, Carol Dickerson, Mary Wells and Albert Sukowaski.

The society will hold another induction ceremony later this semester. Anyone interested in applying for the Society can contact Jim Peffley or Eileen Callahan in the Campus Voice office, third floor, Kehr Union.

The Society will begin their activities with a plant sale this month and a trip to the national convention for Collegiate Journalists, to be held in Kentucky from April 19 to 21.

Bradley stands for Pa.

by JOHN PRIM

Willard Bradley, BSC junior, will represent Pennsylvania at the Student-Commissioner Conference on Financial Aid Issues, to be held Feb. 9-11.

The conference will bring 58 college students to Washington D.C. to meet with top-level government officials. Here they will be given the opportunity to present and discuss student views and concerns involving financial aid.

The meeting is sponsored by the U. S. Office of Higher Education, the U. S. Student Association, the Coalition of Independent College and University Students and the National Student Endowment Fund.

Bradley, a political science and sociology major, was selected over 200 other applicants. He said it was noteworthy that someone from a relatively small institution such as BSC was chosen.

Outward Bound leads to Quest

by JANINE LOMBARDO

Sensory stimulation is another of Dr. Stephen Bresett's objectives for QUEST experiences. By being in touch with as many senses as possible, participants come to really know what they're dealing with.

Bresett feels that "the more senses we can involve, the more learning that takes place." We can see many things in the forest, but by listening to its sounds, smelling its aromas or tasting its fruits, we can become in touch with nature on a more appreciative level.

Bresett believes the time element is a "major ingredient that we want available." Anyone can stand some discomfort for a short span of time, but spread it out and interesting results happen. "Time equalizes people very quickly," Bresett said, "as no one is any better than anyone else." Although many QUEST experiences are for one day, sufficient stress is encountered for learning to take place.

Unlike sporting events, QUEST activities don't produce winners and losers. "No one sits on the bench not producing. When you come home you haven't lost or won a game. Everyone's a winner; they all feel better about themselves for having gone," stressed Bresett. Participants learn their capabilities as well as their limitations, but without the risk of team pressure to 'win'.

Bresett hopes people see QUEST as a "means to an end." It's not so much the actual technical knowledge gained, but the meaningful knowledge acquired by becoming personally involved with oneself.

from other colleges to qualify as objective evaluators of BSC. All aspects of the college will be Chosen for the team to begin their visit here on April 1, are members of our institution's peer group. They are selected discussed with members of the staff, administration, faculty and community.

According to Dr. Growney, chairperson for BSC's Middle States Coordinating Committee, these evaluators will be looking to see if the self-study report filed by our college is accurate or not. Growney says that students also will be asked to comment on the facilities or make general responses to their professors and classes.

During their four day visit, the team will also tour the campus and inspect its facilities. After viewing the whole system at work, the team will then make recommendations to the Association concerning reaffirmation of accreditation.

Hot-line installed; services provided

Bloomsburg State College has begun the operation of a telephone "hot line" information service to provide advisories and notices of special interest to both the college community and the public.

Mr. Ken Hoffman, director of college relations, began the idea of providing an information service that would be available on a regular basis. This service of recorded messages will provide a listing of scheduled events and activities, with special attention given to changes in schedules.

During periods of emergencies caused by weather conditions or other circumstances, the appropriate emergency messages will be available.

In announcing the new service, the college intends to provide a more orderly way for handling calls that, in the past, involved personnel in different offices. The college noted that there will be no change in procedures for announcing both regular activities and emergency information through the newspapers and radio stations.

The number is 389-3123 and will be available for use on a regular basis.

Bradley to represent Pa.

 "Ninety percent of the students here receive financial assistance, as do I," Bradley said. "It is important that we have some kind of voice in Washington."
 Bradley said for the last three years he has been active in CGA and CAS. He believes he knows the issues that concern students well.
 "This is a serious and meaningful affair" Bradley said, as he pointed out several volumes of "working papers" he is required to study. "We are expected to be fully knowledgeable about all the programs and the issues that concern them."

 "I was also selected to attend the first conference, held last year. I believe it was effective. I wouldn't go back if I didn't think so," Bradley noted.
 He said there are numerous issues that the conference will focus on. Efficiency is an important topic. Properly trained financial officials, the right equipment, such as computers and the untangling of red tape are important as far as getting what money there is out, Bradley said.
 The simplification of forms and processes is also a suggestion Bradley would like to put forth, and he would like to look into why work - study programs do not keep pace with the minimum wage.

 The conference will consist of a number of discussion workshops, a press conference and a visit to Capitol Hill to meet with congressmen.
 "This should be the biggest thing of its kind this year," Bradley said. "I really believe it will be important to everyone."

AUGUSTANA COLLEGE

Each year for five weeks of the summer, a program is offered to students in the U.S. and Canada to travel and study in Spain. Last summer, 98 students from 28 states flew to Madrid. Each class met five days a week and courses ranged from Elementary Spanish to Literature and Culture. Plans are already in progress for the 15th Summer School Program in Spain 1979. Students may earn nine quarter college credits. All persons interested should write to Dr. Doreste, Augustana College, Rock Island, Il. 61201 as soon as possible.

KINGS COLLEGE

A three week study-tour of British mass media will be offered by King's College this summer. The tour leaves New York on May 13 and returns June 11 after 21 days of study and one week of individually planned travel. The cost of the study-tour which includes 21 nights accommodation with continental breakfast, round trip air fare from New York, 18 lectures and visitations and three credits of summer school tuition at King's is $1130. Deadline for registration is March 11. For more information, contact Larry Maness, Communications Dept., King's College, Wilkes-Barre, Pa. 18711 or phone 717-824-9931.

LEHIGH UNIVERSITY

FEELINGS REFLECTED

Many of these feelings are reflected by QUEST participants. Kim Smith had a rough time with cross-country skiing. She felt she just couldn't make it up a particular hill. But she said "the support and caring the others showed me was tremendous. I had placed restrictions on myself in my head, but they showed me I could do it. In that short time we developed a unique relationship."

Another student, Gina Scancelli, talks about her experience with rock climbing: "There you are, hanging on a rope supported by a total stranger. Sometimes you feel like you just can't find the right crevasse and so you fall. But instead of pity, the others said what a good fight you put up."

What's in store for the future of Bresett and QUEST? He hopes to get into any and all outdoor experience he can. An essential is expertise. One activity, spelunking, was made possible by talking around to people who had done it. QUEST provides newcomers with veterans who have been there and so Bresett is willing to explore any avenues. He has been working on a QUEST semester, currently undergoing review at various levels. This semester would be worth 14-18 credit hours and offered only during the summer.

In addition to the practical knowledge gained while living in the wilderness for 12 weeks, Bresett plans to have courses within on Social Psychology, Biology, Zoology, Writing and Physical Education. These courses are designed to help the student learn about his social and physical environment as well as communicate his feelings in relation to them.

Bresett is a special person, dedicated to education and human development. It is this dedication and striving that's helped him develop the QUEST program where "everyone's a winner."

BSC site of fourth convention

In April, 1980 the Political Science Department and the Community Government Association will sponsor the Fourth Simulated National Convention to be held at Bloomsburg State College. The purpose of the convention is to give students a unique insight into the workings of the American political system.

In past Simulated Conventions at Bloomsburg State

College, such well known figures as Gerald Ford, George McGovern, Frank Church, Shirley Chisholm, Lowell Weicker and William Proxmire have spoken.

Each convention is organized and supervised by a staff of twenty to thirty students who act as a Steering Committee. Among the efforts to be coordinated are: public relations, delegate recruitment, physical arrangements, speakers, film festival, campaign managers, dinner and finance.

Students serving on the steering committee may earn one, two, or three credits in 44.496 or 44.596, "Field experience in political science."

Persons interested in participating in this event (whether they intend doing so for academic credit or not) should contact Mr. James W. Percey, Political Science Department, Bakeless No. 209, or call extension 2208.

THE "BUMP" was one of the many facets of the dance marathon. Judges were undecided so first place honors were awarded to two couples.

Women remain undefeated; men win

by CINDY PECK

The BSC men's swim team brought its record to 3-5 by defeating Susquehanna 67-41 on Jan. 31, while the women remain undefeated with a 93-41 victory over Glassboro on Jan. 30.

Randy Spence continued to show "exceptionally fine talent" as he placed first in the 200 and 500 yd. freestyle events.

His time of 1:55.8 in the 200 yd. free event puts him in contention for a spot on the 800 yd. free relay team. Reik Foust, who took second in the 200 yd. free, turned in a time of 1:57. Coach Eli McLaughlin commented that he did well considering that he is basically a backstroker. Foust also took second to Spence in the 500 yd. free.

Steve Price turned in his best time this season in the 50 yd. free - a 22.4 - to win the event.

IMPORTANT ACHIEVEMENT

The most important achievement in the meet, according to McLaughlin, was the performance of Pete Dardaris in the 200 yd. backstroke. He turned in a time of 2:01.9 to establish a new pool record, held previously by Dave Buddin of Villanova. However, Price still holds the BSC record with a time of 2:01.2.

John Krick placed first in the 200 yd. breast and the 200 i.m., while John Conte placed second in the latter event. In the 100 yd. free, Frank Jacoby and Foust took first and third respectively, while freshman Bill Wolfe placed first in the 1000 yd. free. Captain Wayne Richards took first in the 200 yd. fly.

WIEGAND CLOSE

The total points achieved by Scott Wiegand in the one meter and three meter diving events,

READY TO MAKE A SPLASH, Scott Wiegand dives his way to first place. His teammates and female counterparts, shown at below and at right, were on winning teams after recent competition.

370, was just 25 points short of qualifying for nationals.

"He has the ability, but he lacks consistency from one dual meet to the next, and I'm sure if he concentrates and puts more effort into diving, this can become a reality," stated McLaughlin.

Eric Slingerland and Tom Cole placed second and fourth respectively in one meter diving, while Cole finished third and Slingerland fourth in three meter diving.

"All three divers are starting to show a lot of promise. We need valuable points from them if we're going to do well in the rest of our dual meet schedule," said McLaughlin.

RELAYS WON

Both BSC relay teams placed first in the meet. The team of Spence, Conte, Jacoby and Tom Reilly placed first in the 400 yd. medley relay, while Dardaris, Price, Richards and Bob Moore teamed up for a first in the 400 yd. free relay.

McLaughlin said later, "I appreciate the thoughts of the swim team in presenting student coach Keith Torok and myself each with a swimming jacket. It was a complete surprise and we deeply appreciate it."

BSC WOMEN'S SWIM MEET

In the women's meet, the 200 medley relay team of JoAnne Kitt, Vickie Orme, Sue Brophy and Linda Smith started the competition on the right foot by placing first. Kitt also placed first in the 100 yd. free and the 200 yd. free, while Orme was also a double winner in the 50 and 100 yd. breaststrokes. Brophy was the winner in the 100 yd. fly, while Smith defeated her opponents in the 50 yd. fly and the 100 yd. i.m.

Lee Ann Pietrzykoski aided the Husky cause with a first in the 500 yd. free. Freshman Deb Walmer took first in the 100 yd. backstroke. Also victorious was Renee Greenberg in the 50 yd. free.

Freshman diver Debbie Armel took first in one meter diving.

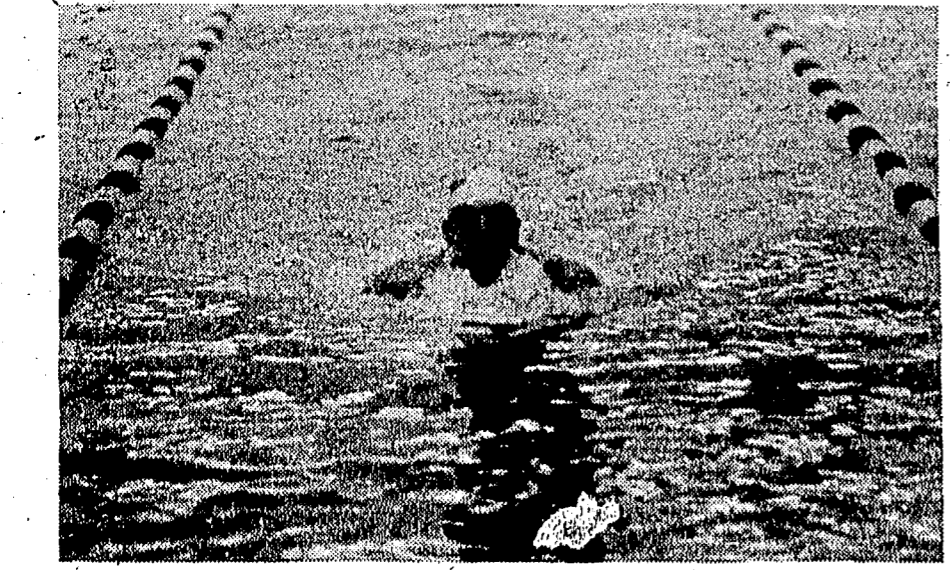

The women host Shippensburg at 3 p.m. today for what should be an exciting meet.

Hoopers notch win; 80-76

by DOUG TAYLOR

Withstanding a Marauder charge the Huskies posted an 80-76 win over Millersville State College in a game played in Nelson Field House.

The fortress of a 16 point lead was the strong barrier that preserved the win. The walls were built mainly by Miles Reitnouer, "Pee Wee" Thomas, Doug Greenholt and John Bucher.

BUILD LEAD

While establishing a running game the Huskies constructed an 11 point lead in the first of battle. After intermission the lead was increased to 16 points.

In the meantime, Millersville made some changes and was able to knock some of the wall down.

With less than six minutes left in the contest the Marauders made their final attempt to scale the wall but because a sturdy foundation was built the fortress held and the Huskies emerged as the victors.

BSC MISSES FOULS

In the waning stages of the confrontation, Millersville was forced to commit fouls, but the Huskies were unable to use these opportunities to reinforce their wall. Had the Huskies made their foul shots near the end the war would have been decided more decisively.

Winning general Charles Chronister commented, "We played well. Our shot selection was good. We had a good running game working for us in the first half. We were hurt a little by Jon Bardsley getting into foul trouble but Reitnouer, Thomas, Greenholt and Bucher all did a good job. Had we made more foul shots near the end it would not have been as close as it was."

CAGER Credits- The Huskies face York College, Kutztown and Mansfield in their next three games. The York College and Mansfield contests are at home.

Statistics for 17 games show Bucher leading the team in scoring with 12.6 points a game. Reitnouer is the leading rebounder pulling down an average of 5.9 rebounds a contest while Bardsley is dishing out 3 assists.

THE WINNER, BSC's Bucky McCallum is shown after a weekend bout. See Friday's issue for details.

THE BSC WOMEN GYMNASTICS TEAM has been building the record books in recent meets. The women are shown during a recent half time performance at a men's basketball game.

Gymnasts compete

by MIKE INCITTI

Although the Bloomsburg State College Women's Gymnastics finished third in a triangular meet held at Indiana University of Pa., their point total of 93.35 was much better than that expected by coach Margie Schaeffer.

The host team finished first with 121.35 points. Second place was secured by Frostberg State College with 115.3 points.

Annie Swavely placed third on the vault with an 8.0. Swavely also competed in the floor exercise receiving a 7.35. Both scores are new BSC records.

Also recording a record-setting score was Linda Pausano who totaled a 24.9 in the all-around competition.

The bulwark of the outstanding team effort came from Trisha Ruhle, 7.85, vault; Linda
