

Family Planning aids college students

by TODD MOYER

The Community Government Association recently allocated $4500 to the Bloomsburg Family Planning Center. According to a spokesman for the Center, more than two thirds of their patients are college students.

Students do not have to be told about the rise in pregnancy rates or how to prevent it, but, they should know where in the area they may go for help.

A Family Planning Center is located at 168 East Fifth Street in Bloomsburg. At the center a student may receive anything from a pre-marital blood test to advice on abortion. The center also can supply contraceptives for the students at a special price. A package of birth control pills which would cost anywhere from $3 to $4 would cost the student $1.50 at the center, depending on the brand.

A pregnancy test for a student at the center costs $7. Although it is true that a pregnancy test may be bought at any drugstore, there is an advantage to going to the center. A student who for the price of approximately $8 bought an over the counter test will not receive more than a test result. At the center, if the test is positive a counseling session will follow to aid the student in deciding what to do. Once the student has decided what course of action to take, her choice will be gone over in detail so that the student is well aware of her decision.

A general examination is also conducted by the center. The examination which runs between $20 and $25 includes a

$5 tax explained

BY ANNE DE MATT

Every year students are sent a tax notice from the town tax collector. And every year students ask the same questions, "What is this tax; why am I being taxed; and what will happen if I don't pay?"

The tax is a per capita or head tax. All residents of Bloomsburg age 18 years or older are taxed $5.00 annually. The money received from this tax is considered general revenue and is channeled into services that benefit the town and the college such as police and fire protection. Whether or not a person is considered to be a resident of Bloomsburg is determined by the United States Census Bureau. According to that census, students and people who work for the college are considered to be residents of Bloomsburg and are eligible to be taxed.

If a person pays the per capita tax in another community they do not have to pay the tax in Bloomsburg. On the other hand, if a person is exonerated from paying the per capita in their home community, the town of Bloomsburg can still tax you. When a person is exonerated from paying a tax it means that the tax collector doesn't have to collect the tax from a person, not that the person doesn't have to pay the tax.

According to Gerald DePoe, "The town receives no direct taxes from the college. Since the college is state owned it is exempt from paying town taxes."

DePoe feels that students are residents of the community and it is an obligation for them to pay the tax.

If the students don't pay the tax, legal action can be taken. According to town ordinance 153, anyone who does not pay the tax can be fined up to $300, could be made to pay the cost of prosecution and if they do not pay the fines they can be imprisoned for up to 30 days.

Chain letter warned against

Local newspapers and radio stations are warning citizens of an illegal get rich quick scheme which is circulating in the area.

Earlier this week, William Williams, special advisor to President McCormick, sent a memo alerting all BSC employees of this scheme "for their own protection."

The memo follows: The so-called Chain of Gold Letter which is being circulated, has been declared by the Pennsylvania Department of Justice to be illegal as a violation of the Pennsylvania Pyramiding Law. Participants are subject to criminal penalty for violation of the law. Conviction of violation of the law could result in the college being compelled to take disciplinary action up to and including discharge. We would suggest that anyone involved in this scheme on campus withdraw immediately and, if they have received any money through this scheme, that such money be returned immediately.

Elections are May 15

Two representatives from BSC are running for town council in the May 15 primary elections. They are Housing Director John H. Abell, and student Kathleen M. Mercer.

The results of the Tuesday, May 15 primary elections will be placed on the November ballot. Election will be held on campus in the Kehr Union.

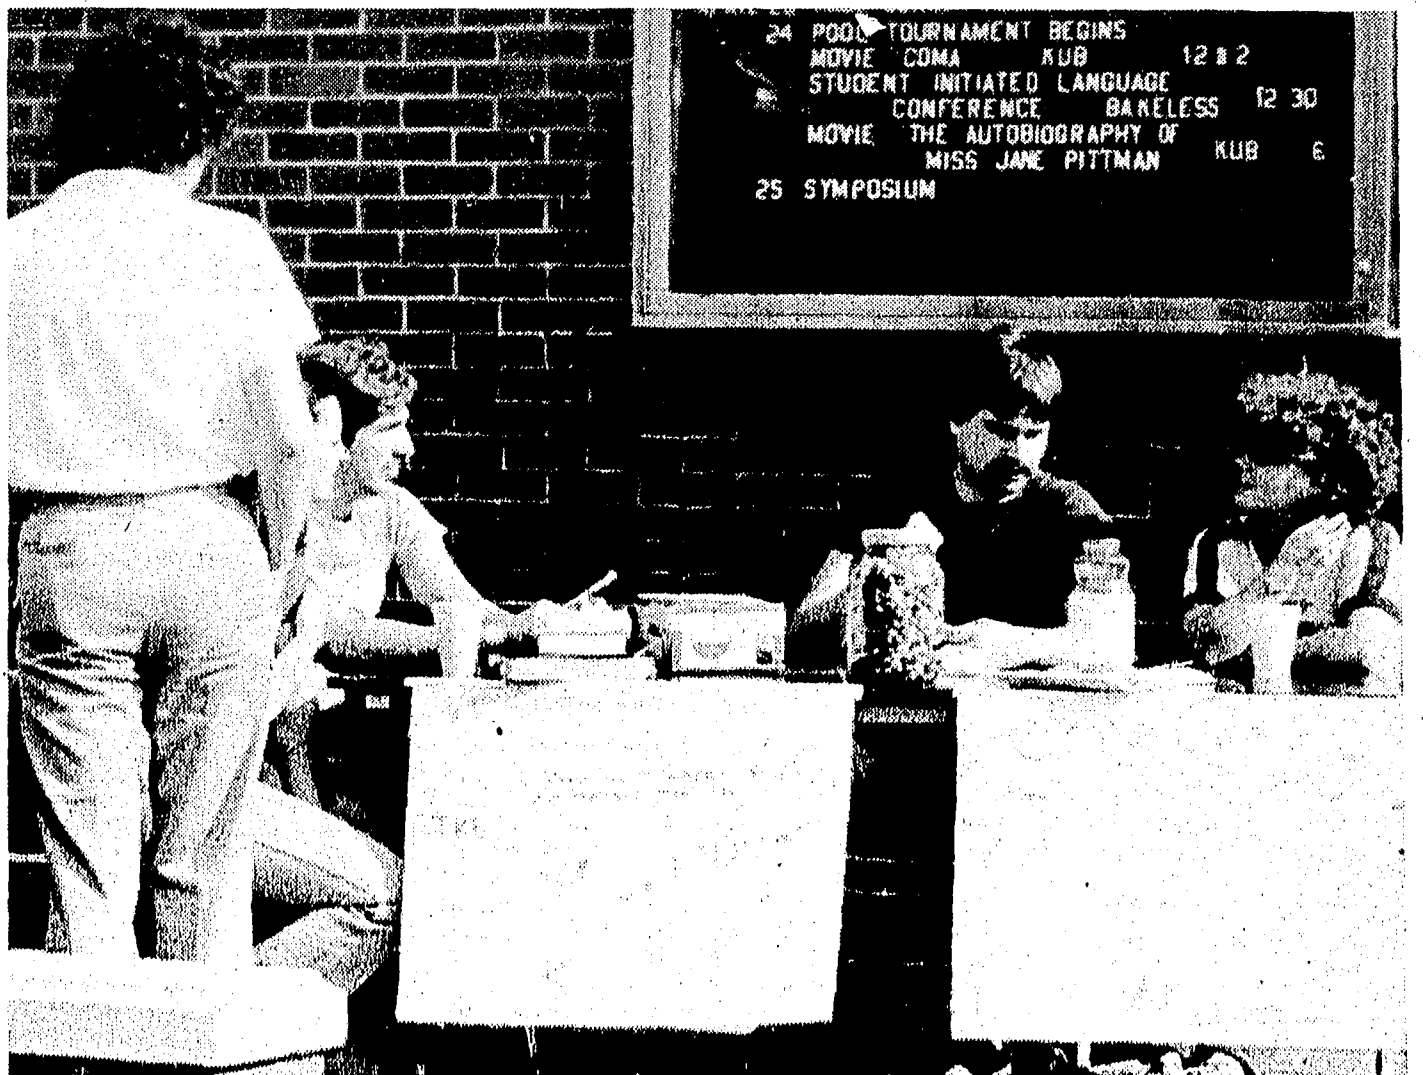

Other offices and their candidates for the town of Bloomsburg are: Assessors, two representatives to be elected on the Republican ticket - Fred S. Reice; on the Democratic ticket, no candidate as of press time; Auditors, three candidates to be elected from each party, on the Republican and Democratic ticket, no candidate as of press time; Town Council, three candidates to be elected from each party, from the Republican ticket, George H. Hemingway, Percy M. Miller, W. Carey Howell, and Richard L. Ward Jr., the Democratic ticket, William T. Haney, Kathleen M. Mercer, Deake Porter, Elmer C. Nast, and John H. Abell.

For School Directors, three candidates are to be elected from each party, for the four year term, all the candidates cross filed, which means all the candidates are on both ballots. They are: William L. Jones, Rose Marie Kraing, Donald L. Harper, and Dennis R. Williams. For the two year term, all the candidates cross filed and are on both tickets. They are: George D. Stradtman Sr., William H. Cluley, and Dave Klingerman.

See page six for details on the college representatives.

Attention to all students planning to either withdraw from B.S.C. or are planning a leave of absence: If a student is not returning to B.S.C. for the '79 Fall Semester, he or she must fill out a withdrawal form. Students are urged to go to room 17 in Ben Franklin for the appropriate forms.

FRATERNITIES AND SORORITIES engage in other activities throughout the year aside from Greek Week festivities. Here Tau Kappa Epsilon members hold a jelly bean guessing contest outside the Union. The fraternity, which just installed little sisters, also sponsored TKE's run for children, a fund raiser benefiting St. Jude's Hospital. (Photo by Lamont Balne)

Getting away from it all

Take a break during finals; vote in the primary elections on Tuesday, May 15

Voting only takes a minute, provided you are informed about the candidates beforehand. In this issue of the Campus Voice, on page 6, there is a profile of two candidates running on the democratic ballot for a seat on town council who are associated with the college.

A few years ago, the college became a voting district.

Every semester many students register to vote at the same time they register for classes.

If you could take the time to register, take one more step and vote!

On the ballot are candidates for school board, county commissioner's and town council. The same town council that is often faced with the task of passing ordinances that may be harmful to college students — such as the recently debated parking issue on 3rd St.

The polls open early and stay open until 8 p.m. On your way to or from an exam, take a second and exercise your right to vote.

How to get away from it all... a question which plagues many of us at one time or other, particularly during the summer season.

If you want to drop everything and leave, why not try traveling? Many student tours are available, combining fun and learning. To give an idea of the various tours available, the following will be a brief summary of possible trips.

TOURING THE U.S.

Sun Spot '79 is a unique travel club offering trips to Daytona Beach, Florida. Membership in the club includes a 25 percent commission with each membership sold being paid direct to the group or individual upon receipt of keyed order forms at the club's headquarters. For info, write Sun Spot Productions, 137 S. Nova Rd., Daytona Beach, Florida, 32014.

Winterthur Museum and Gardens, Delaware, offers a variety of tours and excursions during the summer. Winterthur is on Route 52, six miles northwest of Wilmington, Del. For info, write the Reservations Office, Winterthur Museum and Gardens, Winterthur, Del., 19735.

The American Wilderness Alliance, a non-profit conservation organization of Denver, Colorado, has announced the expansion of its Wilderness Adventures Program to include several wilderness experiences for academic credit. Applications and brochures are available from the Alliance, 4260 E. Evans Ave., Suite 8, Denver, Col. 80222.

And, if amusement parks are your specialty, Ghost Town Amusement Park in Moosic, Pa., will be under new management this summer. There will be free admission to the park grounds and park complex; no entrance fee is required at the gate.

GETTING FARTHER AWAY

For those who would like a definite change of pace, the American Youth Hostels may be the answer. Most of the Virginia-based organization's 70 trips are designed for those who want to see the world under their own steam — by bicycle, foot or canoe. Varying from six to 44 days, and taking place in

Hot-line dispels anxiety

BY ANNE DE MATT

Did you ever feel really depressed on a Friday or Saturday night because there's nothing to do and no one to do it with? Who can you turn to when you have an emotional problem? Who will listen to you? TALK-Line may be the answer.

What is TALK-Line? TALK-Line is a student-to-student listening, information and referral service which will start operation on May 4 and 5 — Friday and Saturday — from 6-12 p.m. The TALK-Line number is 389-3804. Volunteer students trained in listening skills provide a telephone listening ear to the troubled, the lonely, and the concerned student.

If you are looking for a confidential listener or are troubled and uncertain as to where to seek help, dialing the TALK-Line may be the thing you should do. Confidentiality is maintained on all calls made to this service.

TALK-Line got its start last semester through an Interpersonal Communications class taught by Dr. Richard Alderfer. Alderfer and the class felt that there was a need for a service through which students could reach out to other students for help.

With the aid of Chuck Thomas of the counseling center, interested students began training in the area of listening skills. Training sessions are held once a week for an hour. The students who are involved in the TALK-Line as counsellors are considered to be paraprofessionals.

TALK-Line has six volunteers — 3 men and 3 women. On the nights that TALK-Line is open, there will be a male and a female counsellor on call.

The purpose of the TALK-Line is to give students a chance to vent their feelings and pent up emotions. Most importantly, the counsellors at the TALK-Line want to help students help themselves.

If the people at the TALK-Line can't help, they will make referrals or give students information as to where they can Protect your ears!

by JOANNE BARYLA

How many of you attend rock concerts or play very loud music on your stereo? Do you recall that, for some time after these activities, your ears ring and voices sound muffled and indistinct?

If so, you are experiencing what is professionally called a "temporary threshold shift". It is a temporary hearing loss induced by noise which could become permanent if the noise is loud enough and if a long exposure is repeated often enough.

This is a problem faced by some of the estimated 16 million Americans who suffer from a hearing loss. Also, an additional 11 million Americans have a speech or language disorder such as stuttering or misarticulation.

During the month of May, an awareness campaign is being sponsored locally by BSC's Student Speech and Hearing Association to make the campus and community conscious of the need for uncovering and treating these and other communication problems.

Speech, language, and hearing impairments constitute America's number one handicapping disability. Studies indicate that more people suffer from communicative impairments than from heart disease, venereal disease, paralysis, epilepsy, blindness, tuberculosis, cerebral palsy, muscular dystrophy, and multiple sclerosis combined!

Furthermore, most people with communicative disorders can be significantly helped — medically, surgically, through hearing aids, or hearing rehabilitation.

What can you do? If you suspect you have a speech or hearing problem, or are interested in learning more about communication disorders, stop by the information display which will be set up in Kehr Union's Multipurpose Room 8 on Thursday, May 10, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

There will also be free hearing screening tests administered during that time. If you do have a problem, a free and confidential consultation can be provided for you in BSC's Speech and Hearing Clinic or you can be referred to a clinic such as Geisinger's.

Stop by on May 10; it is to your benefit that you get involved in Better Speech and Hearing Month.

Gasoline-saving tips

If you're a typical driver, you drive your car about 11,000 miles per year, and it consumes nearly 800 gallons of gasoline, for an average fuel economy rating of 14-15 miles per gallon. Gasoline costs over 5 cents per mile or over $600 per year. And the cost is rising.

If you'd save only 1/10th of a gallon daily, your savings would amount to a 5 percent discount on every gallon you buy.

Passenger cars account for about 31 percent of all the petroleum consumed in the United States, and almost half of the total imported. And though Americans have cut back the growth rate in overall oil use, their demand for motor gasoline is up substantially.

This increase in gasoline use comes at a bad time. Members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) have again raised prices and oil supplies world-wide are tight.

Because gasoline accounts for about 40 percent of U.S. oil consumption, demand must be reduced to avoid shortages and to meet a commitment to the International Energy Agency to reduce demand for world oil 5 percent below projected fourth quarter 1979 levels.

GASOLINE SAVING TIPS

Here are four gasoline-saving tips to help you, and your country, save this fuel:

One, Share the ride. About one-third of all private car use is for commuting, frequently with only the driver in the car. If only one person were added as a passenger, the two occupants of the car would use about half the gasoline required if each drove alone.

It should be easy to ask a neighbor or a fellow employee to join in riding with you to and from work. More than 20 million commuters now share the ride. Many employers offer incentives such as free or reduced-rate parking for carpools and the trend towards vanpools is increasing.

Two, Combine trips and eliminate unnecessary trips. Plan your trips—to market, to the library, to school, or to visit friends. You'll find that many neighborhood jaunts could be combined, and you could help your neighbors by offering to run errands for them.

Some trips might be better handled, or even eliminated, by telephoning, writing or combining with another trip.

Three, Drive at a moderate speed. The most efficient range usually is 35 to 45 miles per hour. On the highway, where you may need to maintain a higher speed, stay at 55 miles per hour.

Most cars get about 18 percent better mileage on the highway at 50 than at 65 miles per hour, and about 20 percent better mileage at 55 than at 70 miles per hour.

Four, Tune-up your engine. If your engine is hard to start, hesitates, sputters, idles roughly or the like — you are losing mileage and should check its condition immediately.

You may need to clean and adjust spark plugs and ignition

Disadvantaged students take a look at BSC

Thirty of the thirty-five students enrolled in our Upward Bound program participated in a campus orientation program last weekend.

During their visit, they had an opportunity to tour the facilities, including the residence halls, eat lunch in the Commons, meet the summer administrative and counseling staff, and attend the musical, 'Finian's Rainbow'.

This is only a small part of the program, which is designed to 'provide educational opportunities for economically disadvantaged students in this region', according to Ruth Ann Bond, program coordinator.

Funded by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Upward Bound identifies academically talented tenth and eleventh grade students who meet minimum income guidelines and enrolls them in specially designed educational programs.

Students in the participating school districts have been meeting with assigned instructors in their schools to improve their academic skills in English, reading, science and mathematics.

Other responsibilities of the local instructors and the program counselor include career and vocational planning, testing, and personal counseling.

The next part of the Upward Bound experience is the six week summer residency at BSC beginning June 24. Concentrated academic work will be combined with structured recreational and cultural activities both on and off campus. Plans will be made to prepare for the students' attendance.

Openings for summer lifeguards at Centennial and Nelson Field-house pools are available. If your looking for a summer job and have had advanced life-saving and going to BSC, contact Coach MacLaughlin at (office) 3700, 3510, or (home) 784-3907.

Circle K builds trail

Promoting the health of others is a part of Bloomsburg Circle K Club's work. On March 21, six members of this service organization went to Moon Lake Park near Nanticoke to build an exercise trail.

Building the trail was a combined effort of approximately 100 Key Clubbers, Circle K members, and Kiwanians from the surrounding area.

The work consisted of setting up twenty exercise stations. Different forms of exercises can be performed such as high-jumping, long-jumping, and balance beam walking.

The exercise trail will benefit all people who visit the Moon Lake Park complex. Other facilities besides the exercise trail include tennis courts, a lake, and picnic tables.

"The club was very proud to be able to do some service work for the community, and we look forward to doing much more," summarized club member Cathy Casterline.

Part-time student for council

Kathleen Mercer, a candidate for Bloomsburg Town Council, announced that her campaign would emphasize responsiveness to all factions in the community, a responsiveness she feels is lacking in the current council. Mercer, a social worker and grass roots activist, stated that "a number of citizens have told me that after attending town council meetings they are not sure how individual members of the council have voted. They feel that council members are not willing to stand up and be counted for their actions. These citizens are in support of my candidacy because they feel that I can add a dynamic element to the council which it sorely needs."

Outlining the issues in her campaign platform, Mercer stressed her desire to see the quality of life in Bloomsburg maintained and enhanced. She expressed a particular interest in seeing the town's housing standards upgraded, but added "I hope to prevent the building of more shoddy, unattractive, apartment complexes, and would prefer to encourage the restoration and improvement of existing buildings. I wish to see Bloomsburg remain an attractive town to live in, and this means that the architecture must remain fairly homogenous."

On the theme of safety, Mercer, a long term member of the anti-nuclear Susquehanna Alliance, indicated that she would introduce an ordinance to ban the transportation of nuclear material through the town. Transportation of such materials through the town may become very frequent because of the Berwick nuclear plant, and the proposed ordinance would prohibit both rail and truck movements within the town limits.

Mercer favors attracting new industry into the town and believes that more should be done to lure new companies into the Bloomsburg area. However, she insists that all environmental criteria must be met in the location and design of such industrial expansion. Ending her statements on an optimistic note she said, "I believe that Bloomsburg has a bright future if we can learn to balance the best of the new with the best of the old. To do this the town will need dynamic and talented leadership during the next decade, leadership which will respond to all interests in the community without undue response to the special interest groups. I believe I can deliver that kind of leadership."

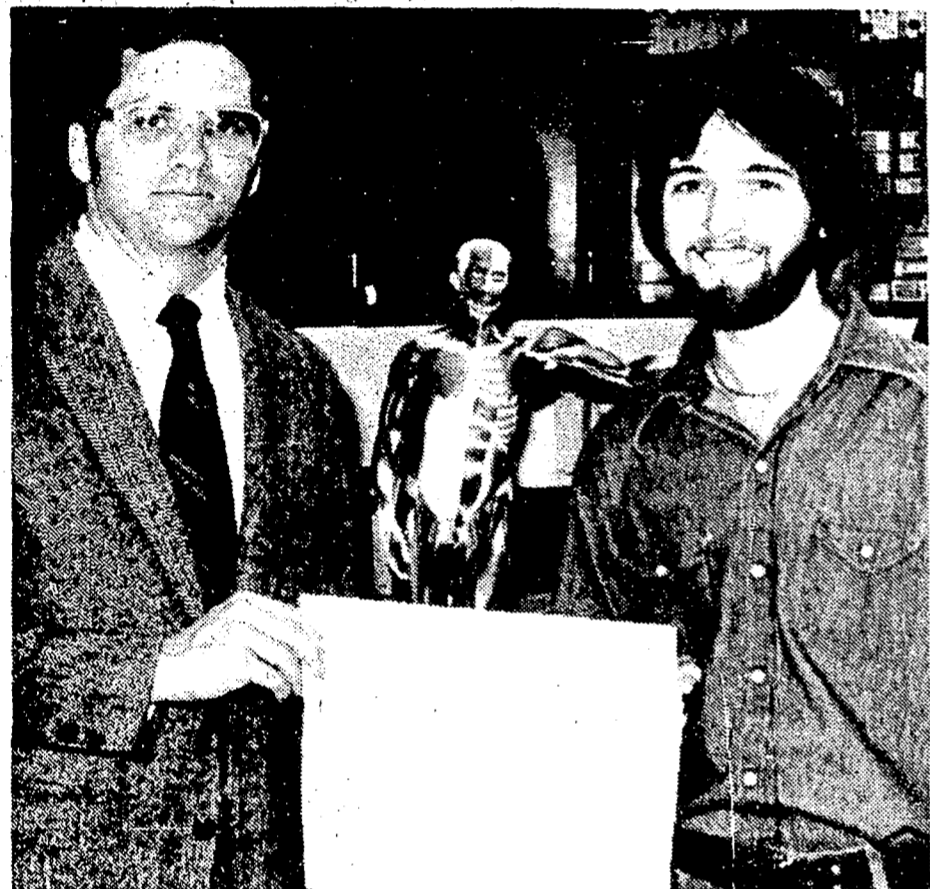

Committee fights tax discrimination

College students across the country are being singled out by our current Internal Revenue laws for income tax discrimination. COST (Committee of Singled-out taxpayers) reports that there are currently two bills pending in the House Ways and Means Committee which would help to alleviate this situation.

These bills are: H. R. 108 which would lower tax rates for single taxpayers to those currently paid by married persons. It would also eliminate the "marriage penalty" from married couples who both have incomes (thus removing tax - rate discrimination from both singles and working couples). H. R. 871 would make a beginning toward income tax equality for renters by permitting tenants to take a deduction for that portion of their rent which goes ultimately to pay property tax and interest on their rental unit.

The bills are also of great interest to women, since the overwhelming majority of employed women are single, are the head of a household, or are a partner in a two-income marriage. Further many employed women are renters.

COST is currently pushing for prompt, favorable action on the bills by the House Ways and Means Committee. For information on how you can help, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to COST, Box 1797, Baltimore, Maryland 21203. Also indicate the Zip Code of your home state, if you attend an out of state school, so that COST can tell you who your representative in Congress is.

Housing Director seeks office

by SUSAN POTTER

John Abell believes he can add a needed dimension to the town government by serving on Bloomsburg's Town Council. According to Abell, "There is no college representative on town council now." Since he has lived in Bloomsburg for six years and has been the college spokesman to the town council for three years, he feels he is in a position to run for one of the vacant seats in council.

Abell, running on the Democratic ticket, has no defined platform. "It has always been my custom not to promise what I may not be able to deliver," Abell continued, "I will try to maintain a high standard of public service, a sympathetic listening ear, sound judgments based on facts and commitment to the Bloomsburg community, including the college."

Abell studied Educational Law and Administration at Bucknell University and earned his Bachelor of Arts in History and Government and his Masters of Education and counseling from St. Lawrence University (NY).

He has been director of housing at BSC since 1973 and is a tenured faculty member. Some of his community activities are: Secretary, Bloomsburg Town Planning Commission; Member, Bloomsburg Citizen's Advisory Board; Chairman, Committee on Town-Gown Relations; College spokesman to Bloomsburg Town Council.

Abell emphasized student, faculty and staff participation in the upcoming primaries. "They can wield a great influence on local political scene through voting strength, if they can take a few minutes to vote for the candidate of their choice — whether it be me or not is immaterial."

Huskies split twin bill; last game Saturday

by JIM QUINN

BSC's Jack LaCesa and Brad Moharter combined for an eight hit 7-4 baseball victory over highly ranked York college on Monday. The Huskies dropped the second game of the doubleheader 12-6.

BSC fell behind early in the first game as York scored a run in the first inning. The Huskies, however, took the lead with two runs in the second. Jack Behan led off with a triple and scored on an error by the second baseman. With two out, Bill Pennesi singled. He moved to second on a walk to Kevin Crosley and scored on Ken Miller's single.

BLOOMSBURG TAKES LEAD

York tied the game with another run in the second and went ahead 3-2 with a run in the third.

York's pitcher, Todd Harold, seemed to settle down after getting the lead. With two outs in the Husky fifth, he gave up singles to Brent Bankus and Gary Thorp. Behan followed with a booming homerun to left centerfield, giving BSC a 5-3 lead.

York picked up another run in their half of the fifth, but two insurance runs by Bloomsburg in the sixth sealed the BSC win. Singles by Dave George and Crosley were followed by an RBI single by Miller and an RBI double by Todd Hoover.

LaCESA STRIKES OUT SIX

LaCesa, although a bit wild, pitched an excellent game. He struck out six batters with his best fastball of the season. Moharter came in to get LaCesa out of a bases loaded jam in the sixth and then breezed through the seventh, saving the Husky win. Miller, Bankus and Behan each had two hits. Behan's homerun was his third in nine days.

BSC LOSES SECOND

Bloomsburg dropped the second game 12-6. After a grand slam by the York catcher in the second inning, BSC was behind for the rest of the game.

Bloomsburg did manage 11 hits in the loss. Again, it was Miller and Behan with the hot bats. Miller's three hits gave him five for the day. Behan's single and double in the second game, combined with his triple and homerun in the first, enabled him to "hit the circuit." Reliever Doug Deihm also looked good, holding York scoreless in one and a third innings.

LAST GAME OF SEASON

The Huskies will play Kutztown on Saturday at the fieldhouse. It will be the last game of the season.

Second half slack hurts lacrossers

Despite the fact that each offensive player of the Bloomsburg women's lacrosse team scored a goal, the Huskies still lost to Shippensburg State College on Monday.

The Red Raiders didn't distribute their goals among as many players, as Bloomsburg did. They simply scored more of them. Lots more.

As a matter of fact, Shippensburg's first home Trish Ross alone scored seven goals. Her teammate Joan Dotzman scored two, as did Dorothy Fichter. Mary Beth Patterson added one to bring the Shippensburg total to twelve, while Bloomsburg could manage to score five.

GOOD FIRST HALF

While the final score was somewhat lopsided, if the play would have been over at the half time, the game would have been a close one. Unfortunately for the Huskies, there was a second half — but it seemed that Shippensburg was the only team that played.

CHAMBERLAIN SCORES

The first half was well played. Both teams hustled, the play was fast paced. BSC's Pam Chamberlain opened the scoring with a hard bounce shot that Shippensburg goalie Kendra Jefferson couldn't stop.

Shippensburg then put four goals in before Trina Knittel scored for BSC. Scilla Elliott put another one in for the Huskies after receiving a pass from Terri Taylor. The Raiders went ahead by two when Ross scored one of her seven. BSC first home Gail Hopkins made the halftime score 5-4 when she made an unassisted goal.

Something must have been in the water that the Bloomsburg team drank at halftime, because they looked like a different team: Skills and precise execution that had made them competitive in the first half were missing.

BLOOMSBURG OUTSCORED

Shippensburg scored seven goals in the second half, while the only goal during the half for Bloomsburg came late in the game. Taylor scored on a pass from Ellie Hatch.

At one point in the half, Shippensburg managed to score five goals in less than four minutes.

One of the highlights for the Huskies was the fine play of defense wing Cindy Bomba. She anticipated, intercepted, and was a vital link between the defense and attack. BSC goalie Kulick had twenty-three saves for Bloomsburg, as compared to only five for Jefferson.

The women play Kutztown at Kutztown tomorrow. The final home game of the season is Wednesday against Millersville.

PSAC Tourney at BSC

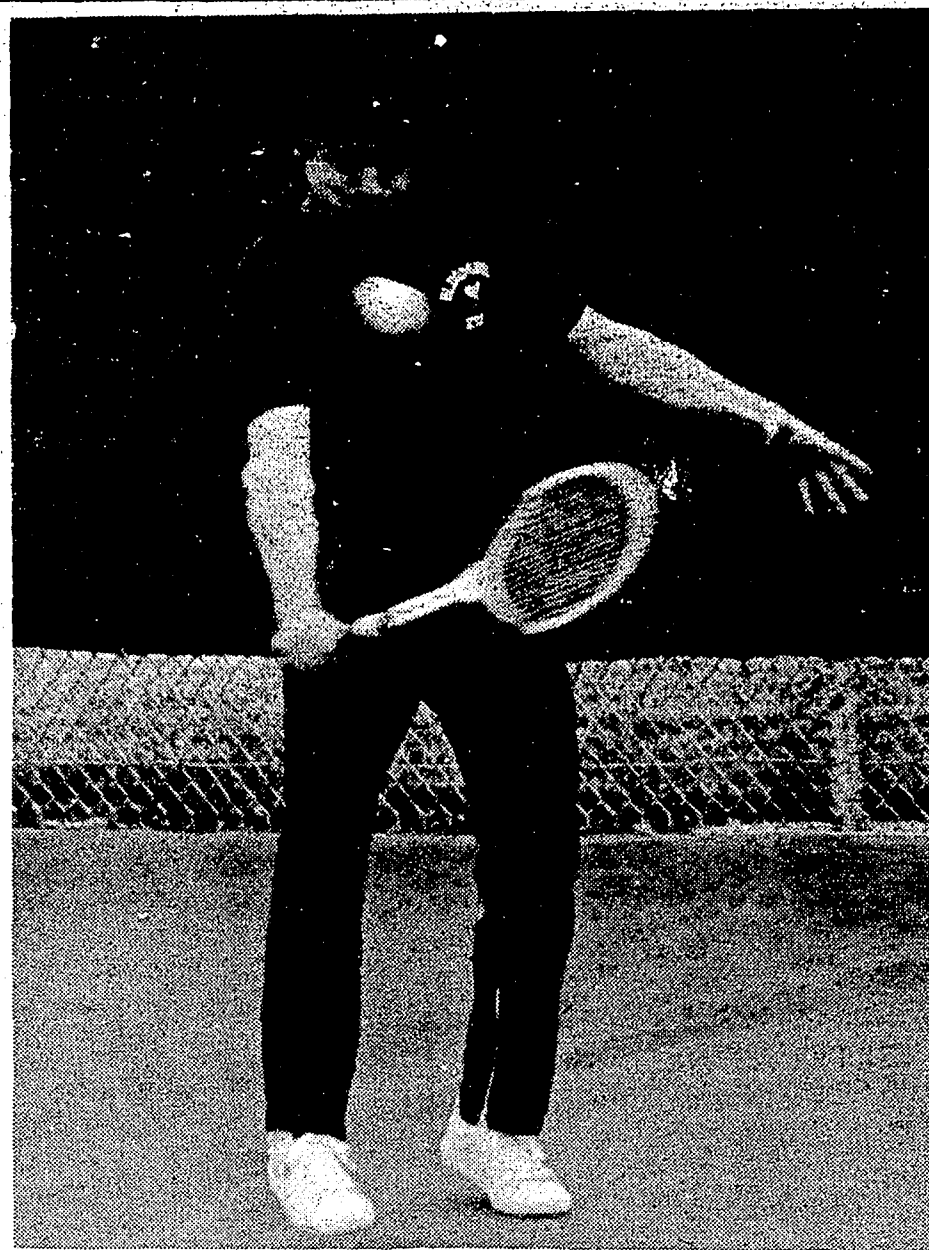

BLOOMSBURG — Defending champion Edinboro State College is favored to win the twelfth annual Pennsylvania Conference Tennis Championships to be held at Bloomsburg State College today and tomorrow, May 4-5, 1979.

Bloomsburg, probably the number one contender, was defeated this spring by Edinboro in a dual match 6-3. Other state colleges participating are California, Cheyney, East Stroudsburg, Kutztown, Lock Haven, Mansfield, Millersville, Shippensburg and Slippery Rock, along with Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

East Stroudsburg won in 1976 and 1977 which gave the Warriors five team titles since the present format of the tournament was established in 1968. Under the old system, when dual records determined the winner (1956-1967), ESSC won four times and California, six. The latter also won in 1968, 1971 and 1972. Although Bloomsburg has never won the title, it has been runner-up for the last three years.

The championship will be played on the lower campus, 18, grasstex courts, nine of which are lighted. BSC coach Burt Reese will direct the tourney. The public is invited at no admission charge.
