

Seniors must sign up for yearbook pictures

To all those concerned: Yes, Bloomsburg State College does have a yearbook, and no it is not entitled the "Orbiter". The name of the book is "Obiter" which in Latin means reflections.

The "Obiter" office is on the top floor of the Kehr Union building. Manning the office this year are co-editors JoAnn Borski and Todd Moyer along with Albert Sukowski.

Seniors who have paid the Community Activities fee will automatically be placed on the "Obiter" mailing list for their graduating year. Underclassmen wishing to purchase a yearbook may do so at the College Store for $12.

Seniors who want their picture in the 1980 book will have to sign up for a sitting. A professional photographer will be on the top floor of the Union from Oct. 22-26 and from Oct. 29-31. This gives the seniors a period of two weeks to get their pictures taken for the book. There is no charge for the sitting but, extra portraits may be purchased for the senior's family and friends. Sign up sheets for pictures will be posted by the yearbook office door.

Any senior who is an expected Dec. 1979 graduate and would like the 1979 yearbook, must pick it up at the office. If the senior does not contact the office he or she will

SALT II to be debated

The SALT II negotiations are the topic of an upcoming debate between Legislative Aid David S. Sullivan of Texas and a representative of the State Department (unnamed) on Thursday evening, Sept. 27 at BSC.

This debate, the third SALT program at the college, is scheduled to begin at 8:00 p.m. in the multipurpose room of the Kehr Union. There is no charge for admission.

Earlier in the day, Sullivan will lead a round table discussion with faculty members to increase their awareness of arms control and Soviet-American relations.

Sullivan is the legislative assistant for Texas Senator (D) Lloyd M. Benton. He also served as a strategic analyst of Soviet and Chinese strategic weapons for the CIA.

Recently, Sullivan published an article, "The Legacy of SALT I: Soviet Deception and U.S. Retreat" in Strategic Review. This fall he will publish a second article entitled, "The Shifting Strategic Balance of SALT One and Two." He holds a BA in history from Harvard and a MA in international affairs from Columbia University.

Expected Dec. 1979 graduates who still would like to appear in a book and have not had their pictures taken must sign up on the previously mentioned dates for the 1980 book. December 1980 graduates have an option of either being in the 1980 book or the 1981 book. If the Dec. 1980 senior wishes to appear in the 1980 book he or she must have their picture taken this fall. If the senior wishes to appear in the 1981 book, they can wait until next fall to have their

Newly formed Consortium receives $223,000 grant

by W. PARKER

At a meeting last week at the Luzerne Community College, six area colleges were represented for the formation of the Northeast Pennsylvania Education Center Consortium.

Those institutions involved are Bloomsburg State College, Marywood College, King's College, Wilkes College, Luzerne Community College and Misericordia College.

The consortium grant of $223,000 was awarded from the office of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) and was sponsored through the office of Daniel Flood. The grant, designed to help students enter or remain in the higher education system, will be divided among the six colleges and two regional outreach centers, located at the Danville High School and the Job Corp. Center in Drums.

The grant is to assist students who need counseling, tutoring or financial assistance, and to help out-of-state clients to apply for admission to post-secondary schools.

Mr. Elton Hunsinger, administrator for campus services, calls the grant "a great breakthrough," and notes that the new consortium will be composed of religious, private and public schools, all working toward the same goal.

The BSC office of the consortium is under the direction of Dr. Jesse Bryan, chairman of the steering committee and director of the Center for Academic Development. Bryan wrote the proposal that was presented through Flood's office.

GIVING YOU A RIDE for your money, the Bloomsburg Fair is currently celebrating its 125th year.

Candidates night to be held at Bloomsburg high school

Candidates' Nights for the offices of Columbia County Commissioner and Bloomsburg Town Council will be held in the Bloomsburg Senior High School auditorium at 7:30 p.m. on two successive Thursdays just prior to the general election on Nov. 6.

Jointly sponsored by the American Association of University Women (Bloomsburg Branch), Bloomsburg Business and Professional Women, Bloomsburg Kiwanis, Bloomsburg Lions, Bloomsburg Rotary, Bloomsburg Women's Civic Club and the Columbia County Farmers' Association, the public meetings will give area voters an opportunity to learn more about the views of the candidates for town council (on Oct. 25) and the candidates for county commissioner (on Nov. 1).

'Here's one final chance to listen to what the candidates have to say before walking into that voting booth on Nov. 6.'

said Cathy Hess, chairman of the steering committee for the Candidates' Nights. "And, it's not only a chance to listen, but also to ask questions. Certainly, there are decisions that our elected officials have to make. It just makes sense to know as much as possible about where they stand before the voting rather than after the election," Hess added.

The meetings, open to all voters of Columbia County, are being held in the Bloomsburg High School rather than the Court House in order to allow the handicapped to participate without undue hardship.

Fair marks 125th year

by CHERYL PETERSON

Well folks, it's that time of year again. What time of year am I referring to? None other than Bloomsburg Fair time! The fair began Mon., Sept. 24, and runs until Sat., Sept. 29.

Renowned entertainer Bob Hope is appearing Sat. night Sept. 29, in honor of the Fair's 125th Anniversary to a sold-out audience.

The fair offers a variety of musical entertainers; like country and western star Tammy Wynette, Brenda Lee, and the Stattler Brothers. All musical performances are held on the track with tickets being sold, except for Bob Hope, until the night of the concert, for seats in the grandstand and on the track itself.

not invested

The CGA investment committee is still looking for a place to invest $100,000, Doug Taylor, treasurer of CGA, said. By spring final plans will be drawn up and an investment will be made.

In the past, the committee considered investing the money in an off-campus house for students, various recreational facilities, and a picnic grove near Nelson Field House complete with BBQ pits for student use.

In order to invest the $100,000, steps must be taken by the committee for approval. These steps include going through the planning commission, college council, and president.

The committee will be reorganizing within the next few weeks. Any interested students are encouraged to attend the meetings and get involved.

Although population growth may be declining, that does not necessarily mean that college attendance must follow suit.

The diversion and technological aspects of our society would suggest that all members need more education. Therefore, if we do a better job of getting better skills to those who enroll, it is conceivable that we will have a larger pool in the future of those who graduate from high school (continued on page eight)

Prophecy fulfilled

by JOYCE BAUER

This year The Bloomsburg Players open the theater season with "Oedipus the King." Robert Richey, associate professor of speech, will direct this classical Greek drama written by Sophocles.

Sophocles believed in predestination and so in this tragedy, Oedipus is unable to escape his destiny. Before Oedipus' birth, it was foretold he would kill his father and marry his mother. This prediction comes true.

Auditions for the play were held last Monday and Tuesday. The cast was announced on Wednesday and Thursday night the cast held its first reading.

The lead role of Oedipus King of Thebes will be played by Ralph Smiley, associate professor of history and adjunct professor of mass communication. Karla Blankenhorn was chosen as Jocasta, Oedipus' wife and mother. Creon, the brother of Jocasta is Allen Murphy and Jeff Little will play a Priest of Zeus.

The citizens of Thebes will be played by Randy Lutz, Mark Sommerfield, Jeff Wasilewski, Jame Earley, Gregg Giannuzzi and Patrick Leonard. Also Jane Blauch, Melanie Apple, Debbie Lisi, Maureen Kirk, Francis Miller and Diane Leaver.

Other members of the cast are; Vince DiBiase, a messenger from Corinth; Rob Novelli, a shepherd; and Carla Whittington, a palace official.

Antigone and Imene will be played by Pamela Ohl and Debby Gible, respectively.

Sets for the production were designed by John Brady. Mark Somerfield is stage manager and will be assisted by Ohl.

The play will open October 18 at 8:15 p.m. in Haas Center and will run for three days. Tickets will be on sale at the Info Desk for $4. Students will be admitted free by presenting their ID.

Challenge the test makers

Editor's note: This article is by syndicated columnist, Ralph Nader.

The next time you pick up a well-sharpened No. 2 pencil and begin to hurriedly answer a standardized, multiple-choice test, chances are that your test is one of more than eight million given annually by the Educational Testing Service (ETS). You may know ETS manufactures SAT's, LSAT's, GRE's and GMAT's. With these tests alone, ETS influences the educational and career opportunities of millions of people. But the power of ETS does not begin or end with those tests. ETS markets 299 different tests. ETS tests are used to determine entrance to over 60 occupations including firefighters, actuaries, policemen, real estate brokers, sailors, teachers, gynecologists, engineers, and auto mechanics. ETS test results are the standards of access to some of the most powerful professions: Foreign Service Officers, New York stockbrokers, lawyers in over 40 states and CIA agents. Two million elementary students take ETS tests, and ETS is even developing ways to test infants. ETS helps determine who will be eligible for financial aid and how much they will receive. The financial information ETS obtains on nearly two million families is more detailed than a mortgage application or an IRS return. ETS consultants and trainees help shape education and labor allocation policy in scores of countries, including Singapore, Brazil, and Saudi Arabia, and ETS has test centers in 120 countries.

In thirty years, probably 90 million people have had their schooling, jobs, prospects for advancement and beliefs in their own potential directly shaped by the quiet but pervasive power of ETS.

WHAT IS THE EDUCATIONAL TESTING SERVICE?

How has it centralized so much power? Is it accountable to anyone, or anything? Should your opportunities be so influenced by ETS standards of aptitude or intelligence?

Despite its massive influence, few people question ETS. Students may want to tear up test forms in moments of frustration, but few of us think of challenging the corporation that makes the tests. We will soon release a lengthy report on ETS, written by Allan Nairn, which we hope will help people understand, and question, the unique and unrelated power of this corporation.

Indeed, ETS is, in non-dollar ways, a large corporation. It has more customers per year than GM and Ford combined. Despite its non-profit status, it declares roughly a million dollars in "non-profits" each year. This money is plowed back into corporate expansion and maintaining the ETS estate which includes a 400 acre headquarters in Princeton, New Jersey, a $250,000 home for the President, William Turnbull, and a three million dollar hotel-conference center-all built with student test fees. Its revenue from test fees enabled ETS to double in size every five years from 1948 to 1972, a rate of growth faster than IBM.

ETS's sales and near monopoly power, combined with its privileged legal status as a non-profit corporation, make it unprecedented in corporate history. ETS is exempt from federal and state income taxes, is effectively beyond the reach of many anti-trust laws, and has no stockholders. ETS escapes the restraints governing other corporations because it is an "educational" institution.

THE POWER OF ETS IS MASSIVE

"No matter what they try to tell you here about how we really don't have much power," he said, "we know we do. We know we're the nation's gatekeeper." This gatekeeper can determine who enters college, graduate and professional schools, as well as many occupations and professions. Is that power legitimate?

ETS defends its role as the gatekeeper by claiming it has developed the "science of" (continued on page four)

Fair marks 125th year

Every night of the fair live entertainment is provided. The schedule is: Monday features Brenda Lee, Dennis Day and Ken Curtis, whom many may remember as "Festus" on the old television series Gunsmoke. Tuesday is Country and Western Night with performances by Tammy Wynette, Larry Gatlin and Margo Smith.

Entertainment for young people will be provided Wednesday evening by the popular Little River Band. They originated in Australia and have achieved much success since coming to America. BSC has already sold 500 tickets for the concert.

Charlie Pride will captivate the audience Thursday and Friday night the ever popular Stattler Brothers will perform. There will be two shows per night at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m.

Along the midway will be 600 concessions. Some of the food specialties to be found are apple taffys, perogies, funnel cakes and soft pretzels. Ring - toss, basketball shooting and dart throwing are some of the game concessions that offer prizes to winners. Some of the prizes are boxes of candy, stuffed animals and mirrored wall plaques. Side show features are cattle displays, "girlie" shows, and freaks of nature.

The fair is a delightful experience for both young and old. It opens at 9:00 a.m. and closes at 11:00 p.m. BSC students are admitted free with their ID Cards on Wednesday and Friday.

CAS

Clear info on student rights

The Commonwealth Association of Students Foundation (CASfound) has achieved a first in ensuring students of Pennsylvania of receiving adequate, clear information about their rights and responsibilities as consumers of education by obtaining a two-year federal grant designed to study practices currently used by colleges in the areas of information dissemination and student grievance procedures.

CAS found executive secretary Joseph Archut received notification from the Fund for the Improvement of Post Secondary Education (FIPSE) in August of successfully obtaining $77,000 to conduct a two-year study of student rights and responsibilities, implement fair policy changes and publish these changes in accurate, up-to-date student handbooks.

Instances of misleading information and lack of student rights will be corrected for students at three model campuses - Bloomsburg, West Chester and Slippery Rock - with the results of the project prompting the remaining 11 schools in the state-owned system to revise their student handbooks and student rights systems.

The CAS found grant is the first successful attempt of its kind by a statewide student association to ensure student consumers of receiving adequate, correct information about the product they are consuming - education.

"Obtaining the FIPSE grant is a great accomplishment for the foundation," said Archut. "We chose to undertake this project because of the horror stories we have heard from students who were misled by information published in their student handbooks in areas ranging from their ability to challenge a prof on a grade to knowing whether they could appeal a financial aid decision."

"Because of this grant, students in the state-owned system will soon have the best possible judicial policies, grievance procedures and other campus policies compiled in a comprehensive student handbook they can trust," he added.

The project is scheduled to begin in late September with establishment of review panels on each campus to study existing campus policies.

Such panels, made up of a project co-ordinator, students, faculty and administrators on each of the three model campuses, will weed out unfair policies and will make necessary recommendations to campus governing bodies to ensure policy changes.

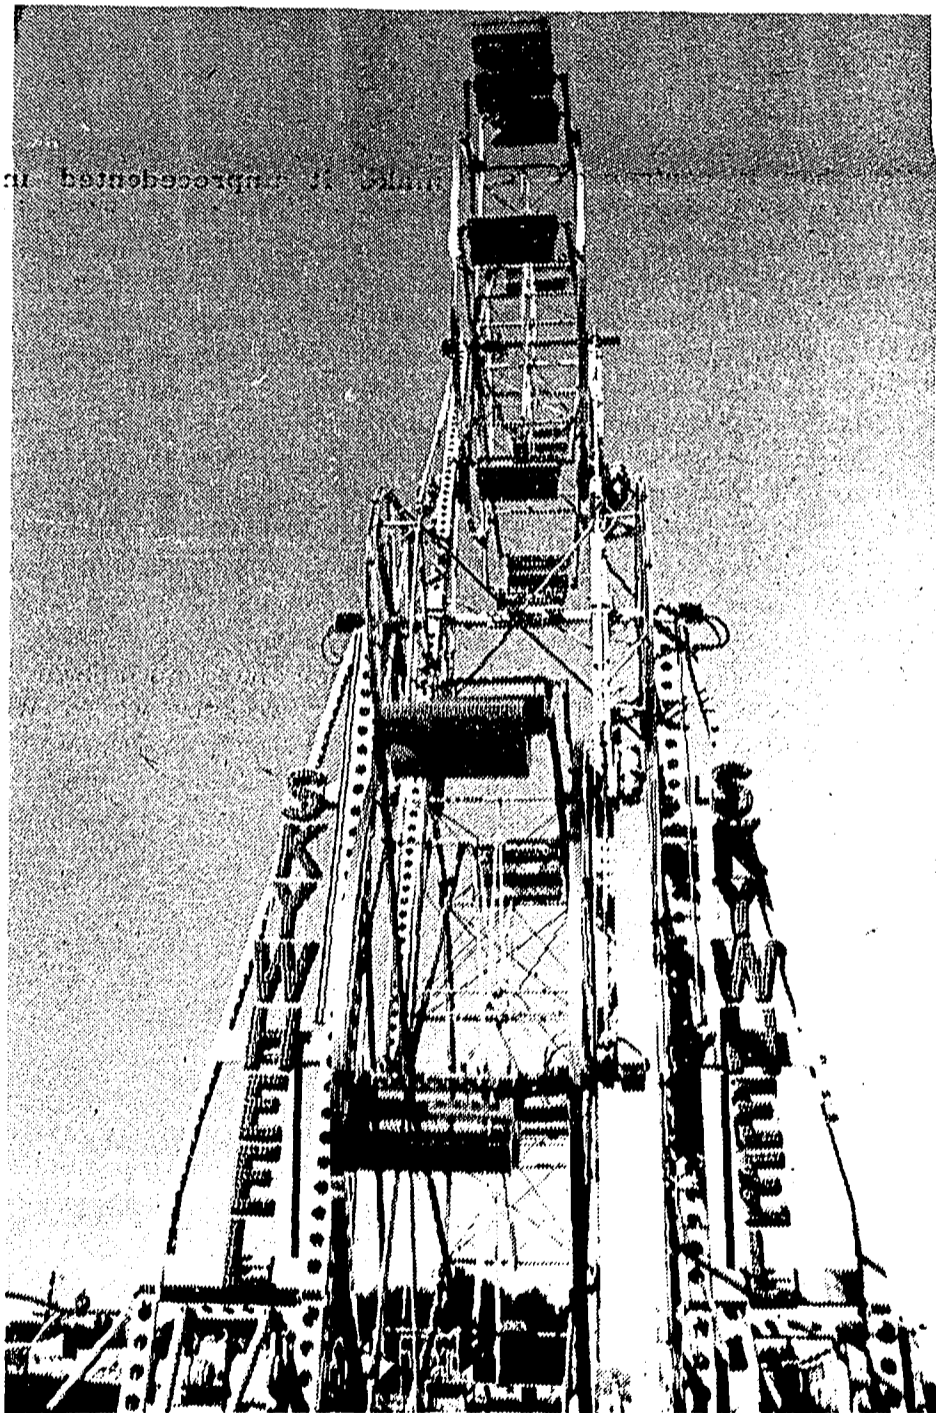

These changes, along with student consumer information about the campus, will be used in publishing a thorough, cost-efficient student handbook. The new student handbooks will be distributed, free of charge, to all students on the campuses.

In addition, a statewide symposium on the topic of student consumerism will take place at the end of the two-year project during which state officials, college and university presidents, students, faculty and trustee groups will have the opportunity to see the results of the project and, hopefully, promote such projects on all state-owned campuses.

Degree offered

A new baccalaureate degree program in Radiologic Technology is now being offered at BSC.

Radio Technologists were formerly called X-Ray Technicians. A professional in this field works in a hospital setting taking X-Rays of patients.

There are two levels to the new major. Level I, or the advanced level, is for those that have a background in the field and want to pursue it. It offers a two year hospital clinical program.

The generic or freshman level is for the beginning student. The student spends his first year on the BSC campus, the next two years at the Geisinger Medical Center in Danville and the fourth year back on campus.

Dr. James E. Cole, chairperson for the Department of Biological and Allied Health Sciences, was enthusiastic as he talked about the new major.

"We work in affiliation with Geisinger," he said. "Geisinger equipment will only allow for a few students but our future sights include more."

"The advanced level stage has already started," Cole added. "The generic level will start in Fall 1980."

A flyer is available from Cole and any students interested in the program should contact him.

Internationally acclaimed pianist Jorge Bolet will be the guest artist with the Northeastern Philharmonic as Bloomsburg's guest artist. The Northeastern Philharmonic starts the BSC Community Arts Council which begins its 1979-80 season on Sunday, Sept. 30.

Haas Center is the setting for the evening with the Philharmonic, which is scheduled to begin at precisely 8:15 p.m.

The 80-piece Philharmonic, under the direction of Thomas Michalak, will present Roman Carnival Overture, by Hector Berlioz; and Symphony No. 7 in D Minor by Antonin Dvorak.

Praised as a technically perfect master of his art, Bolet will play Piano Concerto No. 2 by Sergei Rachmaninoff. The Cuban-born pianist is recognized as one of today's outstanding pianists and has performed throughout America, Europe, Africa, Australia and the Orient.

It has been said that Bolet has the resources of temperament, power, strength and vitality to make fireworks at the piano any time he chooses.

John Couch, professor of music at BSC, commented, "In the time I've been at BSC I have not known of an artist of the calibre of Jorge Bolet to perform in this area. He is a pianist who has enjoyed the highest international stature for many years. He has become a specialist in the music of the Romantic period, and the Rachmaninoff 2nd concerto (the featured work on the concert) is one of his favorite compositions. The chance to hear this world-famous pianist is one which area residents should not miss."

Over the past seven years and under maestro Michalak's direction, the Philharmonic has taken its place with metropolitan orchestras throughout the country.

Tickets, free for students, are available at the KUB Info Desk. Guest ticket cost is $5.00.

Stealing a phone call isn't a game.

Most students play by the rules when placing a long distance call. They take advantage of bargain rates and make their calls during the discount periods. If you're not sure when you can call at discount rates, check your phone book.

A few students think it's O.K. to break the rules by stealing their telephone calls. They're not beating the system, they're taking advantage of all of us, because it drives up the cost of providing telephone service.

Students who break the rules also run the risk of paying a large fine. Spending time in jail. And getting themselves a permanent police record.

Morucci honored...again

Co-captain Mike Morucci, BSC's bruising running back, has been named to the East Coast Athletic Conference weekly Division III football honor roll for the second consecutive week.

Last Saturday, in 29 carries, Morucci accounted for 144 yards, including touchdowns of six yards and 39 yards, in Bloomsburg's late-game loss to Shippensburg State, 16-13. It was the twelfth time in his collegiate career that he has gained over 100 yards in a game.

Don't forget English Comp

Seniors and juniors who have not completed their English Composition requirement in the General Education program should schedule Composition as their first priority course for the spring semester of 1979 - 80. A number of seniors this fall were unable to schedule a needed Composition course until openings appeared at the last minute.

Once sections of Composition are filled, they are closed and no "pink slips" will be issued to permit students to register for the course. The English Department does not wish to see anyone's graduation held up due to a lack of a required course in Composition, but that may happen if a student has not taken the responsibility to complete the Composition requirement before his senior year.

Pick up master schedule

Monday, September 24, 1979 begins scheduling advisement for the 1980 spring semester.

Students should pick up their master schedules at the College store and arrange an appointment with their advisors before Oct. 17. Students are advised to make their appointments as soon as possible in order to avoid the last-minute rush.

If anyone is unsure of returning spring semester, he should still schedule classes since students who do not schedule will not be expected to return.

Any assistance needed in locating advisors is available at the Academic Advisement Office (room 6, Ben Franklin, telephone 389-2119).

national NCAA Division III power Ithaca, the Husky workhorse established his second highest single game record, rushing for 164 yards in 29 carries. His single game high was set against Kutztown in his sophomore year with 210 yards on 20 carries, including an 83-yard touchdown. Morucci has raised his total career scoring to 114 points.

Coaches and opponents acclaim the ability of the 6'1", 205 pound senior. Coach Ron Puhl states, "Mike is outstanding in every phase of the running game — speed, power, deception and desire. It's amazing the amount of punishment he can take and bounce back to pick up more yardage on the next play. On top of it all, he's a good leader, very coachable, and a gentleman on and off the field. We're all proud of him."

'Color my world'

"Color My World" is a hit, but the one being referred to in this article is not the song sung by the musical group, Chicago. It is, however, a great hit at Selinsgrove Center for the mentally retarded.

Headed by Paige Gibble, "Color My World" is one of the many projects of the Columbia Association for Retarded Citizens (CARC). The purpose of this sub-organization is to brighten up and improve the living areas of the mentally retarded at Selinsgrove.

One of the main projects is the painting of murals. Professor Robert Koslosky and his visual arts for exceptional children class draw the murals. Gibble and other CARC volunteers, as well as many other students who just want to help, dive into paint jars and begin to create the colorful scenic murals. A new mural is scheduled for completion each semester.

Another project is painting nightstands and hanging posters. By doing these two projects, the residents' rooms are made more home-like, and it also helps to break up the monotony of seeing a long wall with nothing on it.

If anyone is interested, on Sept. 30, a group of students are going to Selinsgrove to paint nightstands. Sign up at CARC Chatterboard on the first floor of Navy Hall. No date or time has yet been scheduled. For more information drop a note to Paige Gibble in the CARC mailbox located in the main office in Navy.

Ready to graduate but still looking for a career job in the working world?

The Career Development and Placement Center can help all senior students locate jobs in their particular degrees.

Students must go to the Career Development and Placement Center (Ben Franklin, rm. 12) and sign up for interviews well in advance of the company's arrival (special sign-up directions are requested by those companies preceded by an *).

ETS not only influences how institutions judge individuals, however; it also influences how individuals judge themselves. As Nairn says, "A false self-estimate or image is instilled in the mind of the individual who receives a standardized test score. For although the scores are significantly determined by social class, he is told they are objective, scientific measures of the individual."

Moreover, test takers are subject to numerous injustices, ranging from incorrect scoring of tests, to late reporting of applicant information, to secret evaluation of grades and test scores - and they have no recourse.

WE MUST BEGIN TO EXAMINE THE EXAMINERS

There is a growing movement to reform and restructure the testing industry. In New York, Ohio, and other states, student-run Public Interest Research Groups (PIRG's) have introduced "Truth in Testing" legislation in their state legislatures. This legislation would force ETS and other testing companies to disclose test questions and answers and all studies and data on the tests; it would also require companies to keep information on applicants confidential. Disclosing test answers would enable students to contest disputed answers and thus eliminate much of the mystery surrounding the tests. ETS has said it is willing to release 99 percent of its test data. But, according to Nairn, the bulk of this 99 percent is the material provided by the test-takers themselves - name, social security number, etc. Nairn says it is crucial to disclose that last one percent, as it includes ETS's extrapolations from the information provided by test-takers - such as predictions of future academic success.

The test reform movement has other facets. Jesse Jackson is organizing around the issue of the ETS National Teacher Examinations which have systematically eliminated qualified black applicants from teaching jobs. The FTC has apparently found, contrary to ETS claims, that certain kinds of prep or cram courses can (Continued on page seven)

Huskies fall to LH

by KEVIN KODISH

Combining a strong offense with a stingy defense, the Lock Haven State College Bald Eagles downed the Huskies 31-21 on Saturday at Lock Haven.

Eagle quarterback Dan Spittal had a great day, hitting on 14 out of 24 pass attempts for 259 yards.

The Lock Haven defense was able to hold BSC's all-Conference running back Mike Morucci to just 74 yards on 28 carries.

Husky quarterback Matt Figard, filling in for the injured Rick Knisely, connected on nine passes in 22 attempts, good for 133 yards.

The Eagles wasted little time getting on the scoreboard. On their first possession, Spittal hit Bob Lynn with a touchdown pass. The completion covered 40 yards. Kent Harshman added the conversion and it was 7-0, Lock Haven.

Lock Haven's defense provided their second score of the afternoon on an interception run-back by Tony Garzione. Harshman split the uprights again to make the score 14-0.

The Huskies scored their first points of the day on a one-yard run by Morucci. Pete McKenna kicked the point to reduce the Eagle lead to 14-7.

Lock Haven came right back with a seven-yard run by Joe Speese for a touchdown. Spittal hit tight end Bill Sementelli for a two-point conversion to increase the lead to 22-7.

The most exciting play of the day for BSC fans came on the ensuing kickoff. Sophomore speedster Geoff Johnson grabbed the ball and raced 91 yards for a Husky score. McKenna, was perfect on the point after and it was 22-14 Lock Haven.

The Huskies scored again on their next possession. Figard hit Duane Frantz with a 68-yard pass for a touchdown. McKenna added the point after to reduce the Eagle lead to one point, 22-21.

Eagle Dan Young booted a 32-yard field goal with only seconds remaining in the first half to send the teams into the lockerroom four points apart, with Lock Haven holding a 25-21 edge.

The second half featured only one score. The touchdown belonged to Lock Haven, as Spittal hit Sementelli on a 61-yard strike. The conversion failed, making the final count 31-21, Lock Haven.

The Huskies, now 0-3, will look for their first victory on Saturday at Mansfield. Kickoff at Van Norman Field will be 1:30 p.m.

EXTRA POINTS

-Lock Haven now leads series against BSC 29-28; the Huskies won last year's game 31-15. Mansfield lost its contest with St. Lawrence on Saturday, 17-0.

Varsity stickwomen drop two games

by DENISE RATH

The varsity field hockey team fell to 0-2 on the season, losing to Indiana University of Pennsylvania 2-1 on Saturday afternoon. The squad opened its 1979 campaign last Wednesday when the Huskies were defeated by the hosting Golden Bears of Kutztown State College, 2-0.

The BSC junior varsity, who posted an identical 2-0 loss against KSC, evened its record at 1-1 with a 3-2 victory over IUP.

SEASON OPENER

In the varsity contest on Wednesday, lackluster play and poor officiating combined to give the Huskies their loss. Kutztown took control of the game early in the first half, causing BSC to fall back into a tentative, defensive style of play.

Ragged play characterized the first 35 minutes of the game and at halftime the teams were deadlocked in a scoreless tie. The second half saw a much improved offensive effort from the Huskies, but despite many shots on goal, Bloomsburg was unable to score.

Kutztown, however, scored midway through the final period and again in the closing minutes of the game to earn the victory. Despite the score, freshman goalkeeper Jean Fetch, turned in a solid performance for BSC.

In the second game at Kutztown, the host's junior varsity collected a goal in each half for the win.

SUCCESSFUL SYSTEM

Despite Saturday's loss to IUP, Bloomsburg's long trip there was well - worth it. The Husky varsity scored their first goal of the season and found a system of play that seemed to finally get the individual talent of the players into a successful team effort.

First half action was fast-paced, with neither team dominating play. A strong rush on goal by the hosts resulted in the first score of the afternoon late in the first period. Though the Huskies came back with offensive pressure of their own, they were unable to score and trailed at the half, 1-0.

With the start of the final half, the Huskies quickly gained control of the game. Sophomore forward Kim Rice picked up Bloomsburg's goal when she tapped home a pass from Kathy Connelly on a penalty corner situation.

The score was not tied for long, however, as Indiana rallied with a goal of its own minutes later. Bloomsburg, though having many scoring opportunities late in the game, was unable to put the ball in the cage and had to settle for the loss.

Coach Jan Hutchinson was pleased with her team's efforts, stating that "it was the best game I've ever seen a number of the girls play." She acknowledged that it was a tough loss, but with the quality of the Huskies performances, she is looking forward to the remainder of the schedule.

The junior varsity came from behind for their win over IUP. The Huskies trailed 2-0 at the half, as Indiana knocked home two goals in the opening minutes of play.

In the closing period, the Bloomsburg defense held the hosts scoreless, while the forward line collected two goals. Denise Olive broke the ice for BSC and Jane Reed added another goal to tie the score.

Late in the game, sophomore halfback Rita Washburn carried the ball into the scoring circle and drove home the winning goal for Bloomsburg.

The varsity squad will face Mansfield on Saturday afternoon at home.

Challenge test makers

(continued from page six) raise test scores - but the report has been withheld at this time. And several members of Congress have called for an investigation of the testing industry.

Students now have opportunities to challenge the test makers.

SPORTS

Booters unbeaten

by MARY FRANCES SABIN
The Husky soccer team remained undefeated by winning its two matches last week, downing University of Scranton and Wilkes by 1-0 and 9-1 scores respectively.

Last Wednesday, the Huskies were put to the test by the University of Scranton in which the margin of victory was a goal by BSC All-American Jim Mailey.

On Saturday afternoon at Redman Stadium, BSC faced off against Wilkes College, and the match was played in typical Husky fashion with Bloomsburg controlling the entire contest.

At halftime, the Huskies held a comfortable 7-0 lead. First-half goals were scored by Bill Sypawka, Scott McNulty, Bob Fitzgerald, and Mailey collected a hat trick.

In the second half, Bloomsburg added two more goals. Mailey connected for his fourth score of the game and Brian Farrell's goal came on a head score. Wilkes tallied its lone goal in the final half.

For Bloomsburg, Ken Newbeck and Pat Elliott had two assists each and Mailey, Glenn Chestnut, Gary Galleger and Brian Farrell were each credited with an assist.

Wilkes College recorded five shots on goal and 14 saves, while BSC had 26 shots on goal and two saves.

The next home soccer match will be played on Saturday, Sept. 29 against Millersville State College.

but were not pressured or given consideration for further education. It was in this light and that spirit that this Educational Opportunity Center (EOC) was conceived, with thoughts of having more people available to administer to the individual needs of the students.

These centers will allow proper studies that are needed to convince traditional educators of the importance of developing education, if we are to provide the necessary format for those who were not considered college material. Many of these individuals have great potential, but our society and school system has never admitted that weakness or deficiency.

The EOC is only the beginning, and should be larger if we are to administer to the individual needs and serve the participants of higher education.

Some students in the past were never earmarked for college. My question is, what percentage could benefit from higher education and thereby do a better job? Also, if we do a better job, we can probably use the information we acquire to aid secondary schools, both private and public in a more enriching experience for the student.

We in higher education truly have the opportunity of providing an example to be followed by those we are charged with.
