Students boycotting classes are urged to attend a series of speakers who will present views concerning educational costs. Weather permitting, the speakers will begin at 1 p.m. outside the library. In case of bad weather, the speeches will be held in the Union.

A panel of speakers will hold a question and answer period concerning the class boycott today at 2 p.m. in room L-35 of Andrus Library. All are invited to attend.

Boycott Classes!

But, remember, the day has a purpose

CAS needs students help

Bloomsburg State was on television last week as cameras caught students phoning Harrisburg and signing phony dollar bills to protest rising educational costs. These actions, though deemed "childish" by the Morning Press, were part of a strategy to voice student opinion and allow them to exercise their legal rights as citizens and to get involved with the governmental process.

Today dawn's on CAS's coup-de'-tat — a major class boycott. Students are asked, but not forced, to boycott classes today and leave the classrooms empty.

According to CAS, the empty classrooms form a three-fold symbol. First, the empty seats refer to students who will no longer be able to attend college due to rising costs. Secondly, no professor symbolizes the personnel either retrenched or facing that fate. And finally, an empty classroom shows a dim picture of the possible deterioration of higher education.

As mentioned before, students are asked, not forced, to boycott class. However, this is a united effort deal — you don't attend class, you offer help. A rally will be held today where signatures will be taken (as of last week, over 2,000 signatures had already been taken) and handouts will be given, explaining such things as writing letters to Congress and facts on tuition.

For the students who feel they must attend class, petitions may be signed voicing the student's support while attending class (a tear-out petition is on page three).

What began as letters and phone calls has now become a boycott. The Campus Voice urges those who oppose the boycott to be tolerant and understanding to those who support it. Many colleges are feeling the economic crunch, and students are now beginning to unite in protest and defend the fading image of an important collegiate standard — that of quality higher education.

We of the Voice will present the boycott from a variety of angles. A statement of goals, articles, letters and remarks are enclosed in this issue. Any comments or criticisms concerning the boycott are welcome at the Voice office.

As we begin this purposeful day, we remind students not to forget that this day does have a meaning. Don't let us down.

CAS explains boycott action

ALL Bloomsburg State College students should boycott their classes on Wednesday, October 24. The reason is that a tuition increase of $50 may come out of Harrisburg for the second semester of this school year. The boycott is a direct protest towards this tuition increase.

You, the student body, should be supportive in this protest. Tuition is an issue which concerns us all and CAS recognizes this. Public education is being out-priced. We students who cannot afford to be educated at a private institution will soon not be able to afford any kind of higher education. CAS knows that something must be done now!

I urge all students to boycott their classes and join in the protest on Wednesday. Pickets will be located on the main part of campus, concentrating near the classrooms. I encourage everyone to come to campus instead of staying home to avoid accusation of laziness in not attending classes.

No students in the classroom will represent the students not able to come back to school after a tuition increase. No faculty member in the classroom will represent the lack of the quality in education that we will receive. And the empty classroom will symbolize the school itself not being able to afford being kept open to teach students.

We need more money from Harrisburg if we are to continue a quality education. Otherwise, this quality of education will decline further and further. Support the boycott! You need the boycott as much as the boycott needs you!

An open letter to the faculty

In order to preserve and enhance the quality of higher education in Pennsylvania, the students of BSC recognize the following truths as reasonable cause for direct action.

WHEREAS

PA state college students pay the highest tuition costs in the United States, and financial assistance has been decreasing as the rate of tuition increases;

Curriculum offerings, classroom facilities and materials are inadequate for the number of students and faculty;

Retrenchment of faculty is detrimental to the continuance of education;

BEE IT RESOLVED THAT:

The students of BSC will boycott classes on Wednesday, October 24. The empty classrooms will symbolize:

- (1) the student who can't afford to attend school,
(2) the professor who loses his job,
(3) the imminent collapse of higher education in Pennsylvania,

We are asking you, the faculty not to penalize your students for non-attendance, but rather to respect our right as citizens to express our deep concern over these issues.

In the interest of education,

Joe Patti
CAS Coordinator
Willard Bradley
CGA President
Dr. Julius Kroschowsky
APSCUF President

TUITION FACT SHEET

- 1. Pennsylvanians pay the highest tuition costs in the nation for public higher education, approximately $350.00 above the national average.
2. In the last 10 years, tuition costs have risen $600.00.
3. Increases in tuition correlate directly with decreases in enrollment.
4. The PA State College and University System is the higher education system with the largest percentage of minority students in the state.*
5. Over 60% of the students in the PCSU system have parents with incomes less than $15,000 annually.
6. Over 30% have incomes less than $12,000 a year.
7. Tuition expenses affect students from low-income families more than students from upper-income families. Minority students are generally hit hardest.
8. PA's percentage of the high school graduates going on to college is much lower than the national average (39% vs. 60%).
9. PA ranks 50 out of the 50 states in the amount of increase in its appropriations to higher education over the last 2 years.
10. The student/faculty ratio at BSC is 18 to 1 which is the highest of any of the PA state colleges.

by DEB ROSS

"Boycotting classes today will demonstrate how students feel about the increase in basic fees and the lack of funds coming from Harrisburg," said Joe Patti, the CAS coordinator of BSC.

Today there will be picketers from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in front of the entrances to the classroom buildings urging students to support the boycott and not to attend classes. For the people who feel they have to attend classes there will be petitions to sign to the effect of "I support the boycott but feel I would be hurting myself by not attending class."

There will be a platform behind the library for speakers from Harrisburg. Staff people from Harrisburg will speak

"The BSC administration is committed to public higher education and low student fees." — McCormick beginning at 1 p.m. interspersed with music from WBSC. There will be students speaking on how the budget cut effected them and the activities they belonged to.

Tables will be set up and CAS will urge people to write letters to Harrisburg legislatures asking for more funds.

FACULTY SUPPORTED

The boycott is also being supported by the Association of PA State College and University Faculties (APSCUF). Dr. Julius Kroschewsky, president of APSCUF, asked faculty members to support the CAS strike by not penalizing students who do not come to class today.

"In principle, APSCUF supports the students. It shows their concern for increasing costs and that we are greatly under-funded," said Kroschewsky. "Other states are willing to pay for quality education but not Pennsylvania."

He added, "Until we can educate and convince the taxpayers of Pennsylvania to spend more money for quality education, the legislatures will listen to the taxpayers."

Kroschewsky pointed out that the best way to sway the public is through the press. Instead of pointing out what is wrong in and at the colleges, publicize the good points. Many citizens do not realize the benefits that all people get from state schools. There are special programs which work with handicapped children and cultural affairs for all people to attend.

APSCUF is trying to get a public relations committee activated to point out these benefits of colleges and universities. Kroschewsky feels that we need to see more statewide activity in the publicity area.

APSCUF is also working with the administration and CAS in the Legislature coalition to lobby for more funds.

STATEWIDE COOPERATION

According to Marcey Carey, Public Relations Director of CAS, only eight schools are

"If a person believes they are not getting quality education at BSC. They shouldn't be here." — Hoffman participating in the statewide strike. They are Bloomsburg, Clarion, Edinboro, East Stroudsburg, Mansfield, Slippery Rock and West Chester. CAS tried to use only target campuses across the state which had the strongest CAS supporters.

Carey feels that the boycott today will make a large impact (continued on page four)

Fee increase possible

by DEB ROSS

A basic fee increase at BSC is a possibility next year with higher costs, the inflation rate and the fact that the state will not allocate enough money. There are three sources of funds said Dr. James McCormick, president of BSC: the citizens of Pennsylvania, basic fees and other fees, and federal funds in the form of grants and financial aid to students.

"The BSC administration is committed to public higher education and low student fees," said McCormick. "I wish all the money we needed could come from the general assembly in Harrisburg. But, we cannot spend money we do not have. As a public official I cannot run this institution on a deficit budget. It must be balanced."

Dr. Frank Davis, assistant vice-president of administration said, "We have a balanced budget now because we've been cutting costs in all areas. The major ones being the library, academic supplies and student wages. Assuming we do get a basic fee increase we will restore the cuts in the budget in the reverse order. The last cuts to be made will be the first to be restored."

McCormick said that the administration has been trying to improve efficiencies and tighten the belt for a couple of years. Drastic cuts have been made in the personnel and maintenance departments. The quality of education is always considered though when cutting services.

Statements have been made that the budget cutting has Papers due, skiing, concerts, or just because it's Friday are reasons BSC students give for not attending classes. Now they have a new one — a CAS sponsored class boycott protesting a proposed tuition hike for this spring. The attitude many students already have concerning today's boycott is to "blow off classes." They only hear gossip and rumors as no official statement has been made by CAS. So the reasons for this boycott go unheard until today when the Campus Voice is distributed. Students have already decided to skip classes today "because something is going on;" they don't know what.

It doesn't seem like students who cut classes for concerts and ski trips are giving up much in their fight for lower tuition. Even if they all parade around campus with signs in protest of a proposed tuition hike, where is their sacrifice? Many didn't want to be in class anyway!

CGA Vice President Scott McCabe believes the boycott should have been publicized drastically cut the quality of education. But to Mr. Kenneth Hoffman, special assistant for College Relations, "If a person believes they are not getting quality education at BSC, they shouldn't be here." He added, "if there is no basic fee increase the quality of education will be hurt in the future."

"I am glad CAS is so well organized and working for students at the statewide level. They are advocates for colleges," said McCormick. "The administration and CAS are not adversaries. We are working for the same things and agree on most issues."

Hoffman feels that students are in a stronger position than they realize. By using a more positive approach though perhaps more action will be taken. Giving reasons for more funding on a higher level and thanking them for the support they have already given the colleges will show the appreciation of the students.

STUDENT PETITION

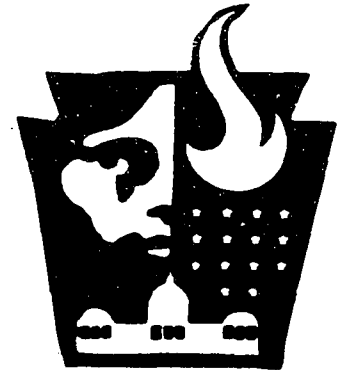

Whereas, education is the top priority of students, as represented by the Commonwealth Association of Students, we, the undersigned, attend class due to a scheduled test or due to our educational commitment. Although we will attend, we support CAS's goal, of preserving the qualities of higher education and back the students' class boycott.

Interested in Ft. Lauderdale?

by JOHN PRIM

Are you interested in a Fort Lauderdale vacation, a Caribbean Cruise or a trip to New York City?

Check out the Inter Kehr Union Recreational Leisure Service, better known as the Travel Service, in the Community Activities office.

"The center's program has been greatly expanded this year," says Russell Dilts, BSC intern, who along with Mary Yasenchak, also a BSC intern, has been added to the Community Activities staff to run the operation.

Dilts said that the service is a non-profit operation which basically provides three services to BSC students, staff and faculty. First, it works through private "operators" to arrange group vacations; secondly, it independently arranges group trips; and thirdly, it arranges for individual vacations, independently and through travel agencies.

The group vacations which are run through operators are special package plans arranged for college students. These include air fare, hotel accommodations, parties and activities, and in some cases meals or a car.

The most popular is Fort Lauderdale, during Spring vacation (Feb. 23 - Mar. 1). Dilts said that there has always been a good turn-out. Last year BSC students filled-up two Boeing 737's, so those who wish to go along should sign up early. The cost is approximately $239.

Two other plans, one for Acapulco and another for a Caribbean Cruise, are also in the works for Spring vacation. Dilts said there has been a lot of inquiries about these, but the expense may be a damper.

"The area that has really been expanded," said Yasenchak, "is the program's own independent planning services. Any group of students who wish to plan a group trip can now work through the Travel Service, which will make proper arrangements."

Currently a New York Shopping - Show Trip (the show is "Dracula") is planned for Nov. 11, and a "Back-Home for Thanksgiving Bus" has been set-up for the Allentown - King of Prussia area. There are available spots on each.

A Sugar Bush, Vermont Ski Trip has been arranged for the TKE Fraternity, but as of now it is limited to members of TKE. Also a Reading Christmas Shopping and Dinner Excursion has been scheduled for Dec. 1. However there are no more openings.

The individual plans include vacations in Jamaica, Acapulco and Hawaii. Dilts said that these plans are generally used by staff and faculty for family and small groups.

For further information or any questions on travel, stop by the Community Activities office.

AMY GREENFIELD, INTERNATIONALLY known filmmaker, hosted the third program of the BSC Fall Festival of Films, Videotapes and Holographs. Her program was held on Thursday, October 18 in Kuster Auditorium.

with the legislatures. She said, "If we can convince the state to give us more money then a tuition increase would not be necessary."

Today there will be rallies, pickets and teach-ins on all the campuses involved. Teach-ins were encouraged to show that students were not just taking the day off for fun, that they are really concerned and are willing to speak out about it. Carey said enthusiasm is high on all campuses and that student groups are working together to make the demonstration a success.

Journalism Institute

Journalists advise students

by LINDA WRIGHT

The tenth annual Journalism Institute will be held this Friday, October 26, in the Kehr Union Building.

The institute sponsors a number of speakers on topics ranging from photojournalism to advertising to journalistic talents. The speakers are generally professionals from the Pennsylvania area.

The various workshops are geared toward high school students, who attend from various parts of Pennsylvania; but BSC students are welcome to participate.

The two major speakers are Bettina Gregory and Congressman Alan Ertel from Williamsport.

Gregory, ABC TV's Federal Regulatory Agency Correspondent, is the first major woman speaker in the history of the Journalism Institute. Gregory will talk at 11:30 a.m. on TV Journalism, and later in the afternoon on regulatory agencies of the federal government.

Congressman Ertel will hold a press conference at 1 p.m. in the KUB.

The English department and the Society of Collegiate Journalists are sponsoring the institute.

Dr. Lawrence Fuller, associate professor of English, will direct the institute.

When asked the purpose of the Journalism Institute, Fuller said, "the overall purpose of the institute is to provide high school students with guidance from first-rate professional journalists and advisors, about the various problems they face in putting out high school papers."

Various speakers may comment on a sample newspaper the high school students may bring along. This helps students to improve their school newspapers while it's still relatively early in the year.

"A conference on writing poetry, essays and other free lance style papers is in the plans for early spring," said Fuller.

Anyone wanting more information on the institutes should contact Dr. Fuller in the English department.

Clean your room - Mon's coming!

As Parent's Weekend quickly approaches, students begin to dust, sweep and mop their rooms like never before, in preparation for the coming parental scrutiny. Other students, however, have spent time other than cleaning, they have organized the weekend.

The Parent's Weekend Committee has organized the activities for the entire weekend. The chairperson for the committee is Jamie Freezer and the advisor is George Kirlin.

According to Kirlin, the committee ran very smoothly. Each member of the committee had a specific area or activity of the weekend which to organize. One problem that was encountered this year was that the notices to the parents were sent out by bulk mail. Other years the letters to parents were sent out by first class mail. This caused the letters to be received at different times. Although it did not create a major problem, next year the notices will be sent out earlier.

Activities for the weekend are as follows:

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 27

9-10:30 a.m.....Registration at the President's lounge. Free football tickets, decals and registration for Mom and Dad for the day.

9-11:15 a.m.....Information Center in the Multipurpose Room in the Union. Opportunity to meet the faculty and administration.

10:45-11:45 a.m.....Residence Hall Open House.

11:45-1:15.....Lunch

1 p.m.....Cross Country Meet against Shippensburg State College at Redman Stadium.

1:30 p.m.....Football game, BSC vs. Cheyney State College. Mom and Dad of the Day will be announced at Halftime. The game will be played at Redman Stadium.

4:30-6 p.m.....Dinner: Reservation Group No. 1.

6:30-7:30 p.m.....Dinner: Reservation Group No. 2

7:30-9:30 p.m.....Bingo in the Multipurpose Room in the Kehr Union.

10-12 midnight.....Ballroom Dance in the Multipurpose Room of the Kehr Union. Music will be provided by BSC's own Studio band. Refreshments will be served.

10:45-11:30 p.m.....Juggling/Comedy Act: During intermission the amazing Michael Marlin will perform.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 28

a.m.....Attend church of own choice.

10 a.m. - 1 p.m.....Brunch: Pancakes, eggs, ham, bacon, sausage and a pastry buffet will be served ($1.25 per person).

BSC COMING ATTRACTIONS PREVIEW

Three exceptional BSC groups will perform samples of their talents. All performances will be held in Carver Hall.

1-1:30 p.m.....Image, a group of talented communication disorders majors, will perform songs through the use of sign language.

1:30-2 p.m.....Madrigal Singers

2-2:30 p.m.....Bloomsburg Players

Players entertain CGA presidents

Bloomsburg Players kicked off their season with the successful production of Sophocles' Oedipus the King.

Ralph Smiley, Oedipus, portrayed a man destined to fulfill a prophecy of which he was unaware. He sought to find the truth although he knew it could destroy him.

Although the play moved quite slowly in the beginning, the action increased as the story progressed.

According to William Bradley, CGA president, the state college CGA presidents enjoyed the play Friday night while they were here for a conference. Keep your eyes open for the Bloomsburg Players next production.

Approximately 1,200 new freshmen have been invited to attend a reception for freshmen students to be held at the President's residence on October 25 and 30. (It is important to note that commuters are also invited to the reception.) The reception will begin at 2 p.m. on each of the dates with students arriving at one-half hour intervals. If there is a conflict with student's classes schedules, contact Info Desk in the Union for rescheduling. Freshmen are not to cut classes for this event.

Opposing views : boycott early last week so students would know what is going on. He said CGA has not taken an official stand on the issue.

According to the minutes of APSCUF's most recent meeting, APSCUF president Dr. Julius Kroschewsky, professor of biological sciences, personally feels "Faculty should support CAS since the problem is in underfunding of state colleges." Not all faculty agree with Kroschewsky. Dr. Lawrence Fuller, associate professor of English, commented, "I do not support the strike and I am a member of APSCUF. I heard about the boycott from my students when they asked for an extension on a deadline so I gave it to them.

Now that work is due today and I will accept none late."

Fuller believes that due to poor class attendance at BSC, a day of striking will not be impressive. He understands problems with higher tuition and suggested an alternate way of protesting: Have CAS ask professors to allow class time for student letter writing describing their individual problems with increased tuition. CSA or CGA could then provide stamps for these letters and send them to state legislatures in Harrisburg.

Joe Patti, CAS coordinator, explained that the lack of public information was to keep boycott news from reaching the ears of the administration. (Thus protecting them from answering to state legislature in Harrisburg). It didn't work. According to McCabe, the boycott was discussed with President McCormick and Dean Norton this weekend at a dinner for the state college presidents.

There are also other ways of protesting a proposed tuition hike, a couple of which were demonstrated last week by the signing of phony bills and phone calls to Harrisburg. Since students at BSC have a small commitment to class attendance, a protest involving student sacrifice might be more effective than a class boycott.

Students are the first to holler when their rights are being challenged, but what are they willing to give up to protect them?

Bouncing checks causes problems at student bank

by ANDREA HOHOLICK

Three years ago, Mel Panchauk, vice president in charge of operations at Bloomsburg Bank Columbia Trust (BBCT), had expectations about the STUDENT Bank that differ from the way the bank is currently operating.

Panchauk said that one of the primary reasons BBCT was interested in setting up a branch office on campus was because of the volume they thought they were going to be dealing with while providing convenience for students, faculty and staff.

Instead, only about 1000 students have accounts with BBCT, the others just use the check cashing service which causes the problem of checks bouncing.

According to Panchauk, there are about five to 15 bad checks passed daily by students. These are mostly students who do not have accounts with BBCT.

Panchauk added that part of the contract BBCT has with BSC includes the cashing of checks of students without accounts, and this is not normal policy.

Basic policy should be that anyone cashing a check, whether student or town resident, must have an account with the bank. The account is normally checked before the check is cashed.

According to Panchauk, if the check does bounce, the bank can only send a notice to the person and notify the justice of the peace, who after 10 days can take action. In the mean time, the bank has lost that money.

Panchauk also noticed that "before semester breaks we usually get 20-30 bad checks." As the number of bad checks increases, the bank must become more cautious.

As far as other problems with the student bank, Panchauk said that a reason for long lines is the way the facility is set up, but as far as hiring another teller goes right now, "the costs of operation and salaries is not even covered by any profits made in the student branch office."

Panchauk did not comment on the fact that the BBCT and BSC contract review is approaching in March.

Olympian Deadline is November 1

Have you ever wondered how a magazine is put together? If you have now is your chance to learn first-hand how it is done by helping to edit, lay-out, and circulate BSC's own magazine, The Olympian.

The fall 1979 issue is being organized right now and your help is needed. Anyone who can type or lay-out copy, or is willing to learn, is invited to attend the next meeting Nov. 1 at 6:30 p.m. in the Campus Voice office, top floor of the Union.

All students, faculty and staff are urged to contribute their short stories, articles, poems, photographs and art work to Box 16 Kehr Union by Nov. 1.

Everything that is submitted will be considered for publication. Those students who would like their original copy returned should include their campus box numbers along with their submissions.

Christmas decorations offered to BSC

At a meeting of the CGA Finance Committee on Oct. 1, an offer to sell BSC a set of outdoor Christmas decorations was made by the town of Bloomsburg.

The decorations, most at least eight years old, consist of pole ornaments shaped like halo candles, pine branches, red sugar plums and strings of garland. A large artificial tree with decorations is also included.

According to Scott McCabe, vice-president of the CGA, the original offered price was $1,500.00, but after an inspection of the decorations revealed they were not in excellent condition, the price was lowered to $1,000.00.

The offer, made by the Bloomsburg Town Secretary and the Town Council, was taken under consideration by the CGA, but to date, no action has been taken, and the matter is still with the finance committee.

Women swimmers open December 1

by CINDY PECK

With five returning All-American swimmers, the women's swimming and diving team is off to a good start.

The women, under the direction of Coach Mary Gardner, have been practicing since Oct. 1 in preparation for their opening meet against Ithaca on Dec. 1.

Returning All-Americans are Linda Smith, a five-time recipient; Joanne Kitt, four-time; Sue Brophy, three-time; Ann Fadner, two-time and Vickie Orme.

Other returning swimmers are Lee Ann Pietrzykoski, Gail Hickey, Nancy Semisch, Nina Stratton, Jennifer Delia, Peggy Laird and Lindi Crane. Debbie Armel and Patty Iezzoni are returning divers.

Co-captains for this year's team are senior Fadner, who has been elected captain for her third year, Pietrzykoski, who holds the team and pool records in the 500 yd. freestyle, as well as the team record in the 200 yd. freestyle and Kitt, who has the team and pool record in the 50 and 100 yd. backstroke events. Kitt was also a state champion last season, along with Smith.

"Ann has great leadership qualities, and has done an outstanding job in the past," stated Coach Gardner. "I'm sure she'll do a very good job this year."

Freshmen standouts are Leah Stratton, "Who will see a lot of action in freestyle events", according to Gardner, and Donna Glass, who will participate in one and three meter diving.

New strength will be added by the strong freshmen contingency of Cindy Curry, Cathy Stemmler, Lori Danner and Sherry Hildebrand.

"I feel that with the returning varsity swimmers and the added depth of the new freshmen, we will be a very competitive team this season," said Gardner. "The girls have been working extremely well for so early in the season, and show great possibilities."

The team has added West Chester to this season's schedule, and has dropped Kutztown.

Gardner pointed out that the team is so far a very strong, cohesive unit because of everyone's willingness to work and strive for their individual goals. She feels that this year's team has the potential to be one of the strongest varsity swim teams that BSC has ever had.

"We're looking forward to a fine season," said Gardner.

Students from 61 counties are enrolled at BSC

Students from 61 Pennsylvania counties, 17 other states and nine foreign countries are among the 6,532 who are attending Bloomsburg State College during the Fall semester.

The total enrollment includes 4,904 full-time undergraduates, 65 full-time graduate students, 644 part-time graduate students, and 899 part-time undergraduates.

The enrollment figures show slight increases over 1978 totals in all except those in full-time graduate programs, down four from the 1978 enrollment of 69. There was an increase of 60 in full-time undergraduates, 83 part-time graduate students, and 72 part-time undergraduates.

Of the college's 1,563 part-time students, 737 are in the non-degree category, with most enrolled in continuing education, or life-long learning, studies. Enrollments in this category have increased steadily, and the 1979 number is 206 students higher than in 1977. Like the part-time graduate students, they commute from their homes to attend classes on the campus or at the several off-campus locations where these counties are enrolled part-time and most commute to classes from their homes.

Other counties with strong representation at BSC are: Bucks, 418; Montgomery, 401; Lycoming, 323; Schuylkill, 300; Lehigh, 241; Delaware, 232; Lackawanna, 218; and Northampton, 202. In all, 30 percent of Bloomsburg's students are from the eight southeast Pennsylvania counties.

"Columbia County has the largest representation of students at BSC."

courses are offered.

The county in which the college is located, Columbia, has the largest representation of students - 730, followed by Luzerne County with 631 and Northumberland with 628. Nearly half of the students from

Coffeehouse to be renovated

On Nov. 1 the Kehr Union governing board will be accepting bids for the renovation of the coffeehouse. John Mulka, director of the Kehr Union, explains, "The coffeehouse is not being used to it's greatest advantage."

Still in the planning stage, some of the changes include new furniture, wall to wall carpeting, and a new color scheme emphasizing earth colors. The purpose of these changes is to encourage more use of the room. Currently the room is only used for rescheduling, occasional meetings, and the coffeehouse entertainers. In the future, with the renovations completed, the room will provide an atmosphere appropriate for virtually any college activity.

Mulka feels that the renovations will be finished by the early part of next semester.

PERFECT RECORD — George Steele (number 16) and Toby Rank (number 5), members of the Husky soccer squad who have helped to maintain its undefeated record, are shown here in action against Kutztown.

Husky gridgers bow to powerful Marauders

by KEVIN KODISH

Despite having seven turnovers, the host Millersville State College Marauders downed the Huskies 27-7 in football action Saturday.

The Marauders, now 6-0, amassed a grand total of 430 yards on offense. MSC picked up 267 yards on the ground and added 103 more markers in the air.

Quarterback Jamie Szczecinski led the Marauder attack, as he completed 11 of 19 pass attempts.

All conference running back Mike Morucci gained 83 yards for the Huskies. The Marauder defense keyed on the BSC standout all afternoon and avoided the big run.

The hosts' opened the scoring with 5:38 left in the first period. Szczecinski hit Dave Havriliak with a 27-yard strike for the touchdown. Mark Zeswitz kicked the extra point for a 7-0 Marauder lead.

The touchdown came following a Will Lewis punt return of 57 yards to the Husky 33-yard line.

A fumble on the kickoff preceded the Marauders next score. Bob Riddick capped a 37-yard drive with a four-yard run at the 3:43 mark of quarter number one. Dale Hockenberry blocked the point after, making Millersville's lead 13-0.

The Huskies got their only touchdown of the day on a one-yard run by Morucci. BSC got the ball on a fumble recovery by Dave Ridenour on the hosts' 18 yard line. Pete McKenna booted the point after to cut the Millersville lead to 13-7.

Millersville then took the ball and drove 67 yards in eight plays for a score. The finale of the drive was a two-yard run by Rick Griffey. A pass for two points failed, so with 8:54 left in the half, the Marauders had a 19-7 advantage.

The final score of the day came on a four-yard toss from Szczecinski to Aaron Wiley. The touchdown came with 1:02 remaining in the half and climaxed a 97-yard all play march. Don Humphrey caught the pass on a two point conversion attempt, to build the lead to 27-7.

Both teams had scoring opportunities in the second half but neither could cash in for points.

The loss dropped the Husky record to 2-4 for the '79 campaign. BSC will host unbeaten Cheyney State this Saturday at Redman Stadium.

Booters bounce Kutztown, 3-1

by MARY FRANCES SABIN

With a 3-1 victory over Kutztown State College on Saturday, the Husky soccer team preserved its undefeated record. It was the soccer teams' Parents Day, and they displayed some excellent overall talent for the numerous parents who attended the match.

The first goal of the contest was scored by Husky co-captain Toby Rank. Mark Fedele was credited with an assist on the scoring play. Brian Tarlechi, assisted by Jim Mailey, connected for the second score of the contest. At halftime the score was 2-1 in favor of the Huskies.

The lone goal of the second half was by Rank, with Dave Stock assisting.

Bloomsburg played most of the game in Kutztown's end of the field. In the second half of the contest, BSC Coach Mingrone stated that "the team was working on improving style and attacking approaches."

The remaining two contests that BSC has are with the conference rivals of Cheyney State and East Stroudsburg State Colleges. Buses will be taking BSC fans to these conference matches. Sign up at the information desk at the Kehr Union if interested.
