

Tuition increase of $200 possible

The CAMPUS VOICE

Wednesday, October 24, 1979

Jeff Hunsicker, campus coordinator for the CAS, highlighted the recent meeting of College Council. Hunsicker addressed the assembly on the subject of Wednesday's class boycott.

A problem arising with the Student Convention speaker and remarks from Carol Hidlay, candidate for county commissioner, were also on the agenda of Monday's meeting.

BOYCOTT SUPPORT

The State College and University Directors (SCUD) Board had recently voted in approval of a recommendation to Harrisburg in favor of a $150 tuition hike as of next fall.

"Tuition increase mandates student action."

Added to the possible $50 hike next spring, Hunsicker noted that a $200 increase in one year's time mandates student action.

According to Hunsicker, a four percent drop in enrollment can be usually seen with each $50 increase; therefore 16 percent of the students may possibly drop by next year. Hunsicker, after explaining the procedures and strategy behind the class boycott, urged CGA to propose a formal statement in support of CAS's actions and to help mobilize student help for the protest. CGA unanimously agreed.

MARROQUIN TRAVELS

A matter concerning the Finance Committee involved the speaker for the Student Convention for last Tuesday.

According to treasurer Doug Taylor, CGA had appropriated $2000 over the summer for the speaker but was now asked for $130 traveling expenses to bring him to BSC from Philadelphia and return him there.

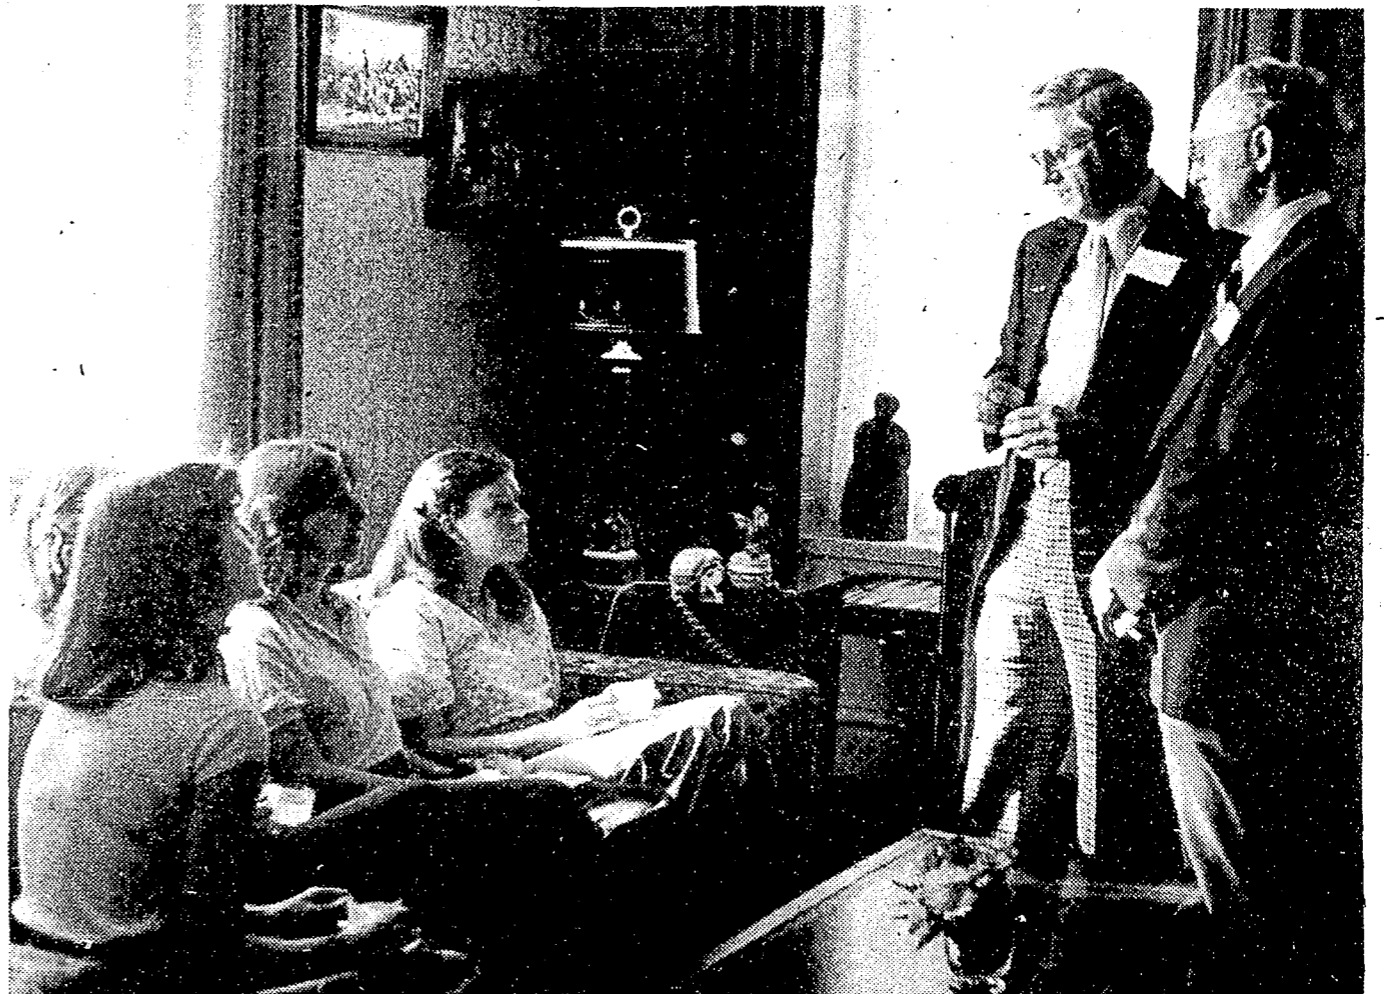

Taylor spoke against appropriating more money for the speaker, and council searched for other means of financing. After talking to Marroquin's agent, it was agreed to deduct the traveling expenses from his lecture fee.

Other matters concerning the financial end of council included appropriations of $6,199 for the soccer team to travel to the NCAA Division II tournament on Nov. 14. It was noted that NCAA would refund $6,125 of the projected cost. A $387 appropriation was given to the women's cross-country team to allow up to seven members to participate in the EAIWA championships at West Chester. Both athletic appropriations will be drawn from the reserve fund.

HIDLAY SEEKS SUPPORT

Finalizing council's meeting was a visit by Hidlay who will be running for the office of county commissioner. A 1969 graduate of BSC, Hidlay stated that "Columbia County would be a much poorer place to live in" without BSC. She mentioned her support of students, including the boycott, and urged council members to get their constituents out to vote on Nov. 6.

The next meeting of CGA will be held on Nov. 5 at 6:30 p.m. in the multipurpose room of the Union.

Harassment Policy explained

by ANDREA HOHOLICK

Sexual harassment is an attempt to coerce an unwilling person into a sexual relationship or to subject a person to unwanted sexual attention or to punish for refusal to comply with a sexual advance, both in physical and verbal form.

This definition of sexual harassment is included in the sexual harassment policy currently being revised to be put into practice at BSC.

According to Bev Howard, student affiliate working on the policy, although the cases of harassment may be low, "if one happens, that's too many." Thus the need for a policy.

Besides the definition of sexual harassment, the policy will include a step by step procedure for students to follow in order to report harassment and to insure the student that proper action be taken. It will also have the specifics, concerning disciplinary action that must be taken in order to prevent future harassment.

At this point, according to Howard, the policy is still in the adding to and revising stage. She added that one of the reasons for this is because it deals with a very touchy subject and has to be flexible because every situation is different.

The policy did not result from any specific case, but Howard sees a definite need for it. While the number of reported cases of sexual harassment is low, the actual number of cases is not known because of frequent failure to report the incident.

The policy, because it is something definite and specific may bring more cases out in the open as well as curb harassment on campus.

APPROXIMATELY FIFTEEN HUNDRED BSC students boycotted classes Wednesday in order to show legislators in Harrisburg that they would not pay an increase in tuition. See pictures in centerfold.

Why is there no weekend nurse?

by PENNY PFLEEGOR

Since Kehr Union opened in 1972 there has not been a nurse on duty during the weekends.

According to Robert Norton, the dean of student life, when there was a nurse available 24 hours a day and weekends, there were not enough students using the facility to make it worth the money it cost to hire a nurse for nights and weekends. The Bloomsburg Hospital is available for any student who needs medical help.

With the budget constraints that BSC has, the school had to cut down on unnecessary services, such as having a weekend nurse.

In the future, if the money situation gets better, Norton would like to have a nurse work from 12:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on weekends to test it.

Meanwhile, students who get sick on weekends may go to the Bloomsburg Hospital. Security is available to drive students to the hospital.

Special Olympics benefited

The Association of Resident Students is sponsoring a candy apple sale at this week's football game. The sales profits will all be contributed to the Special Olympics program. The apples will cost $.25.

The officers of ARS have announced that the group will also sponsor all night movies.

"Smokey and the Bandit," "Wait Until Dark" and "Night Caller" will be shown in the Kehr Union Multipurpose rooms on Nov. 3 starting at 9 p.m.

A trip to see the Philadelphia 76ers is also being sponsored by ARS. Students will be able to see the 76ers vs. the Boston Celtics, on Nov. 10 for a price of $8. The price includes a ticket and bus fare. Interested students are asked to sign up at the information desk.

The Boycott: Success or failure?

The day started out briskly; the picketers outside the classrooms walked, jumped and stamped their feet to keep warm. No wonder - they appeared at the classrooms at 7:45 a.m.

But the cold weather could not stop the growing excitement which permeated throughout the day. The CAS class boycott was kindled by students signing petitions, handing in petitions from the Voice, and inquiring as to the reasons for the boycott. The confusion surrounding the boycott disappeared as picketers explained the reasoning behind the walk-out.

Around 10 a.m. a large crowd gathered outside the library to chant, picket and listen to the much needed and beneficial music of WBSB and the Marching Band. After that, the crowds dwindled once more in anticipation of the rally later that afternoon.

And what a rally it was! Approximately 1,500 students turned out to listen to the various speakers and participate in perhaps the most exciting event to happen to BSC in years. I have never seen such a large, enthusiastic crowd in the three years I've been here.

Personally, I would like to say that I'm very happy I had a part in the event and would like to thank all the students attending for their cooperation and excellence in handling the situation. Considering the size of the crowd, I feel it could not have handled itself any better. Vulgarity and profanity were rarely seen and the litter that came from the rally was quickly removed by the students.

Even in the long march at 1:30, the situation went smoothly. There was no violence, no destruction and no problems; in fact, it was the most peaceful rally I've seen in years.

Although peace was held, the effects of the rally were enormous. Everyone at the rally readily joined in the actions, chanted ecstatically with the picketers, and, yet, would suddenly quiet themselves so the speakers could be heard.

Boston's Songs warn students

by ALBERT M. SUKOWASKI

If you enjoy rock music, country music, folk music, audience participation songs, original music or any combination of the above, you should have been at the President's Lounge Sunday night for Ray Boston's performance.

Ray Boston, out of Brockton, Massachusetts, gave the audience the best performance of this semester.

Boston played many selections that were familiar to people and also some that were a little less known. Many of his songs played up men and women—mostly warnings. Some of these were: "Third Rate Romance," "Do You Want To Know A Secret" and "Ready Or Not".

Boston really had the crowd in a roar when he performed "BULLSHIT!" Boston and the audience really got into the song with hand clapping and yelling BULLSHIT..

Boston played the Polish National Anthem, "In Heaven There Is No Beer," and then a country medley: "Listen to a Country Song" and original Ray Boston tune, "Okie From Muskogee," "Oh Lonesome Me" and another original song, "Country Lady".

Boston then did the selection

"Get A Good Buzz On" during which people were asked to improvise the kazoo by sort of humming. It sounded like a lot of people making strange nasal noises.

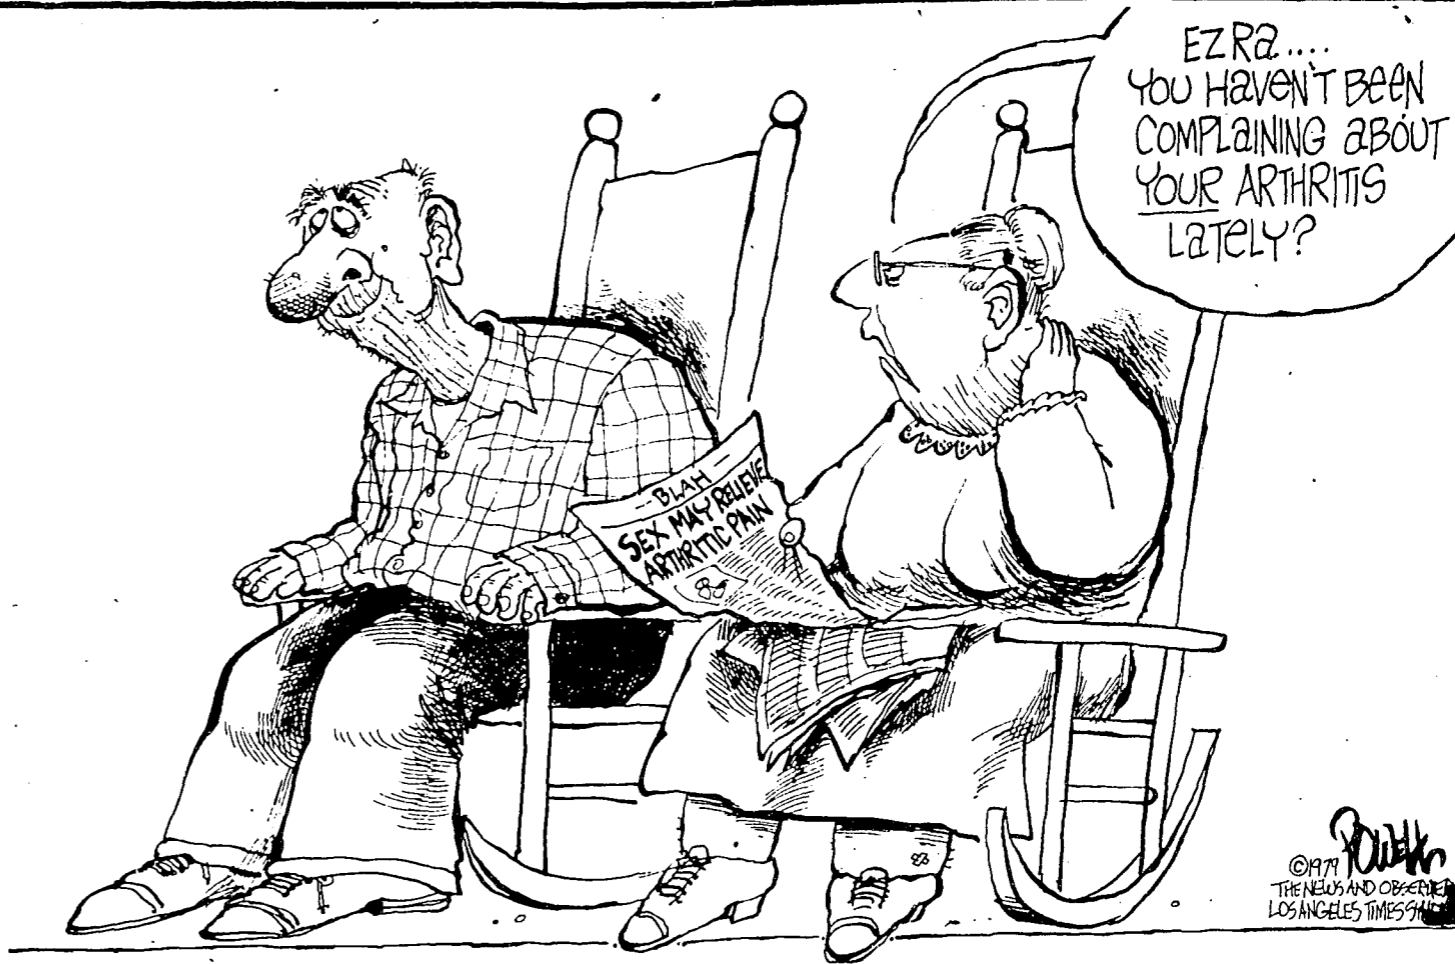

Boston then did a few of his original songs, "Boston Lady" and "Had My Doubts".

An excellent medley of Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young songs was given: "Needle and the Damage Done," "Heart of Gold," "Southern Man" and finishing with "Needle and the Damage Done".

His last selection of songs were some foot stomping songs including "Amie," "Thank God I'm A Country Boy," "My Music" and finally "Never Ending Love," again utilizing the improvised kazoos.

The crowd was very enthusiastic towards the performer and this had a great deal to do with his performance. He gave a superb performance and this writer would like to wish Ray, Poppy and Dad a lot of success in the future.

Congressman Allan Ertel, previously scheduled to speak at the 10th Annual Journalism Institute, will not attend as the House of Representatives will have roll call votes that day and he feels he must attend.

No Soccer Support?

TO THE EDITOR:

We, as loyal BSC soccer team supporters, have a major complaint to register against what we feel is a great injustice being done to the team. That injustice being done to the team. That injustice is the total lack of recognition and support deserving of an undefeated team.

The soccer team is a representative body of Bloomsburg State College but who knows about them. The Campus Voice is supposed to expose the student body to all aspects of college life, but where is all the extensive coverage deserving of a team who has been undefeated in 10 straight games this season. Sure there are articles on the back page of the Campus Voice, but why does the Morning Press, the town newspaper, show much more of an interest and concern as to the success or failure of this team. We strongly feel that the Campus Voice has neglected its obligation to keep BSC students informed as to the accomplishments of the soccer team throughout its season.

Furthermore, last Saturday, Oct. 20, was the soccer team's last home game and was also designated Parents Day for the team. As everyone knows next weekend, Oct. 27 and 28, is officially Parents Weekend for the entire college and where is the soccer team going to be --- Cheyney State College! Last year the soccer team was away for Homecoming and now this year they are away for Parents Weekend. We guess they can't take part in both festivities the same year. Parents of the team members were present on Saturday, but not one of them was recognized that day, not even the seniors' parents. The senior members had their names announced, no thanks to the Community Activities Office, but to the announcers in the press box. Last year, the team members and parents were all announced and each of the mothers received a flower. This year the Community Activities Office didn't even go as far as having the names announced let alone flowers given out. We guess if the team is not playing a home game on Parents Weekend then they shouldn't be recognized on another day. Many parents and players were greatly upset by this lack of interest, especially the seniors playing their last home college game of their career.

We would, however, like to thank all of the students and faculty who supported the team this season. We're sure the soccer team appreciated your outstanding attendance.

As we said before, the soccer team represents Bloomsburg State College whenever they play a game, but why should they represent us when the Administration, the Campus Voice, and the Community Activities Office don't give a damn!

Sincerely,
Loyal SUPPORTIVE
soccer team fans!

Editor's note: Sports has always occupied pages seven and eight. As far as coverage goes, we've ran five articles and four pictures (one on the front page) on the soccer team. If this is inadequate coverage, we apologize.

Voters needed

TO THE EDITOR:

This fall, approximately 450 students registered to vote, many, no doubt, in anticipation of next year's presidential election. But you needn't wait that long to exercise your right. November 6 of this year is Election Day for local officials, the people whose decisions

Internships

Margie Milazzo aids Center

by PENNY PFLEEGOR

Margie Milazzo, a psychology and sociology major who will graduate from BSC in December is doing an internship at the Women's Center. The Women's Center is a place for women who have problems to go to talk to the volunteers and get advice. The center is located right off Market Street at the A&P shopping mart.

Most of the women who go to the center have problems with domestic violence. Milazzo and the other volunteers tell the women all the options that are available to them. According to Milazzo, the best option is to get family counseling. Other options are Act 211 — Protection from abuse act, and finally divorce. Also student interns tell where to go for more help after they decide what they want to do.

Milazzo and Bernadette Odyniec, another psychology major at BSC who is also doing an internship at the center, have started a series of four night classes. Such topics as taking care of your body, child bearing years, and family planning will be discussed. They will have professionals speaking at the classes which will start on Oct. 22 and will be held on Monday nights at 7:00 p.m. at the center.

On Monday, Oct. 29 the topic will be birth control. Vicki Reeser, a student intern in family planning will be speaking on birth control. Anyone is welcome to attend the classes.

The Women's Center handles many phone calls from troubled women. They have had 53 calls so far this month. The callers do not have to tell their names because everything is confidential at the center.

As Milazzo said, "This area is hard for women. It is small and gossipy, so the women are afraid it will get back to their family and friends that they have these problems."

Milazzo's internship takes up to 24 hours of her week, but she enjoys her work at the center. She said, "Not only has it helped my career, but it has helped me." She now believes that having a career is very important for women. "No woman should have to be totally dependent on her husband."

Milazzo has to write a daily log of her day and how she has grown to turn into her adviser so her adviser can tell how well the internship is going. Milazzo said she has learned how to listen and she also has gained some public relations experience.

"Everyone should do an internship," Milazzo concluded. "It's so good compared to learning in a classroom." This is the first article in a series highlighting student internships.

BSC Arts displayed

The Warehouse Art Gallery, 381 N. Main St., Pittston, will present a selection of paintings and drawings executed earlier this year by BSC artists.

Displayed will be a variety of oil, acrylic, watercolor, pencil, charcoal and ink studies completed during a summer study session in the Moosehead Lake region of central Maine.

The show, which is running now through Nov. 4, is one of great versatility in which subject matter as well as personal style is noticeably varied. Works range from representational renderings to pure abstraction, and reflect the spirit of the artist as well as that of the Moosehead Lake region.

The public is invited to visit the gallery weekends from 2 to 5 p.m. or by appointment on weekdays. There is no charge.

On Nov. 4, the show moves to the President's Lounge.

Hunsinger honored

A testimonial dinner will be held Saturday, Nov. 3 by friends and colleagues of Elton Hunsinger, who is retiring from the education field after 43 years of service.

Hunsinger coached various athletic teams and taught at the Conyngham Township and Ashland High Schools prior to coming to Bloomsburg. Hunsinger was also a well known basketball and football official at both the high school and college level and was also a professional baseball umpire.

The dinner will be held in the Scranton Commons beginning at 6:30 p.m. William (Bill) Foster, head basketball coach of the Duke University Blue Devils and a close friend of Hunsinger's, will be the toastmaster for the evening.

The fee for the dinner is $10.00. Anyone interested should contact Dr. Jack Mulka, 389-2918.

The "Dean", as Hunsinger is affectionately known by his numerous friends and associates, has served in numerous capacities at BSC for nearly twenty years. His current title is administrator for Grants and Federal Relations. He was previously director of Placement, Dean of Students and associate vice-president of Student Affairs.

The basketball team needs managers. If interested, contact Charles Chronister or Chris Shippe at Nelson Fieldhouse.

ATTENTION SENIORS! Please remember to show up for your senior picture appointment.

Editorial

True, it could have been larger, considering our enrollment. And true, other colleges may have appeared to be more successful. But it would have been too unrealistic not to expect some apathy and non commitment (One student emphatically told me she would not sign the petitions only because she "couldn't give a shit").

Despite the little problems, I can honestly say I have never been more proud of being a part of BSC as I was last Wednesday. To the hard-working people of CAS, to the understanding and cooperative faculty and administration and finally, to the fantastic students who took the time to care, thank you. We asked for your help and couldn't have had better support than what was given.

Husky Mascot unmasked

by LINNETTA SIMMONS

Ever wonder who might be that energetic, audience attracting person behind the Husky Mascot? or how it came about?

Well this reporter found out through Carol Chronister, head of the cheerleaders.

Chronister stated that earlier this semester, two young men came to her and stated that they were interested in being cheerleaders. Their offer was turned down because Chronister was not recruiting men this year due to lack of uniforms.

Since she couldn't have male cheerleaders Chronister thought, "why not have a replica of the Husky dog?"

Along with the help of Dr. Mulka and C.G.A. president Willard Bradley, materials were bought and Mr. Husky was sewn together by BSC graduate and is now worn by Michael Wassiliczky.

Michael Wassiliczky, a sophomore from Bristol, PA, is a complete ham on the field. He works just as hard as the cheerleaders and certainly lifts our team's moral.

X-Country takes 15th

by KEVIN KODISH

The Bloomsburg State Cross Country team journeyed to Belmont Plateau in Philadelphia on Sunday for the annual Northeast Regional Cross Country meet.

The locals finished 15th in a field of 24 teams. Tom Groff turned in an outstanding performance for BSC. The sophomore had a mark of 33:08.5 for the six mile course to just miss going to nationals by two places.

To qualify for the national meet, one must either be on a team that finishes in the top four or be one of the top five individual finishers.

Groff was the seventh individual to cross the finish line. He was 15 seconds behind Todd Bergey of UPJ for the 5th and final national berth.

The top four teams to advance to the national championships at Riverside, California were Edinboro, Indiana, Shippenburg and Lowell College.

The second Husky to finish was Steve Johnson. He placed 76th with a time of 35:25. Mike Swank was next with a 35:58 time good for 88th place.

BSC's Bill Harte was 100th with a 36:28 clocking. Denny Reup took care of position number 129 with a 38:11.

affect you directly and immediately.

Bloomsburg Town Council, in particular, often takes actions directly affecting the interests of students. For example, last fall, Council passed an ordinance (later repealed), which would have required many students living off campus to pay $60.00 a year for the privilege of parking on the street. This fall, three members of Council—half its total membership—will be elected. You should be aware that two of the councilmen who voted for the original ordinance, William Haney (D) and George Hemingway (R), are seeking re-election.

A chance to learn how all six candidates for Council presently stand on the parking issue and other matters was held last night at Bloomsburg High School.

Intramural outlook

TO THE EDITOR:

In reference to "Intramural Outlook" we have two questions to ask author Jim Puderbach: 1) Since when does Tuesday, Oct. 23, fall on a Wednesday? 2) What is this "most important sport" to which he is referring to?

Many people could be very confused and insulted (especially intramural participants) by this poor attempt at reporting on intramural sports.

Huskies face 'wolves'

by BETH ANNE SCHILLING
In gridiron action this weekend the Huskies of BSC will host the undefeated (7-0) squad of Cheyney State College.

The Huskies, coming off a tough loss to the Mauraders of Millersville State, must forget any past failures and look to the rest of the season.

With an overall record of 2-5 it is not unusual for other teams to doubt the competence of the Husky squad. The record may also deteriorate the moral of the squad. But the ingredient needed most at this very crucial and susceptible time of the team's schedule is the highly spirited knowledge of the team's, as well as each individual's, own capabilities. Past performances, such as the one displayed at Ithaca College, the season opener, testify to the fact that the Huskies are a dynamic assemblage of players eager to win and proficient enough to contend with divisions far more football-oriented because of post season allotments that are not allocated in our Division III.

The Cheyney Wolves, a dangerous outfit consisting of an awesome line not readily manipulated and an offense led by the quick, consistent quarterback Earl Pearson, will be striving to maintain their unblemished record. But the Huskies must realize that although the Wolves beat two of the remaining teams left on the Bloomsburg roster, each win was a retaliation in which Cheyney had to struggle and pursue a competitive drive to regain control of the game. Therefore, the Huskies must display their own desire and determination in striving to bring home an important win profitable to all.

The dedication visible on and off the field is an indication of the squad's continuous battle to win and the pride they possess even after suffering defeat is an attribute we should all respect.

Each week our Huskies, like all of our athletic teams, stride out onto the field where they attempt to produce a win not only for the benefit of the team itself but for the school and its supporters as well. And it is for these reasons alone that the student body acknowledge all the teams' perpetual efforts either through mere gestures of approval for a job well done or with some type of verbal inspiration for that desperately needed incentive.

So let's all look for a winning season in the remaining games...

time got him 146th place. Bob Feeley started the race, but he had to pull out at the four mile mark because of an injury.

Coach Clark Boler had these thoughts on the meet: "I think Tommy Groff ran a super race, but it wasn't quite good enough. This will give him something to shoot for next year."

A big race often gives runners good experience for the future. Boler noted this by adding, "The main thing is we were in a big meet and our men now know what it takes to win. They must keep working hard to do the best possible job."

The team closes its dual meet season this Saturday at home against Shippensburg. Race time is 12:00. A women's race against alumni will precede the men's run.

Men's tennis

Huskies post perfect record

by CINDY PECK

With a 9-0 shut-out over Bucknell on Sunday, the men's tennis team finished the fall season with a 7-0 tally.

Giving the Huskies their first point against the Bisons was Rob Vance, who defeated Jamie Marsh 6-3, 6-4. Ken Grove was the 6-1, 6-4 victor over Eric Simpson and Craig Diehl followed with a win over Steve Haas 6-1, 6-2.

BSC's Marty Coyne went three sets to defeat Bill Beneke 2-6, 6-3, 7-5. Dave Superdock beat Gary Downing by a 6-4, 7-5 score and Gary Golbitz defeated Bucknell's Andy Walker 6-1, 3-6, 6-3.

Grove-Vance were the winners over Marsh-Beneke with a 6-4, 6-2 tally, while Diehl-Coyne won in three sets, 6-1, 3-6, 7-5 over Haas-Downing. Golbitz-Superdock slid by Walker-Steve Whitaker 6-1, 6-0.

IMPRESSIVE RECORD

The netters, coached by Burt Reese, were quite impressive in fall action, with six of their seven matches being shut-outs. The only point given up by the Huskies the entire season was in their 8-1 victory over Scranton.

Senior Vance ends the season with a 9-3 tally for the fall, while Grove finishes at 7-2. Diehl and Coyne have chalked up respective records of 12-2 and 9-1 and freshman Superdock has started out with a record of 7-2. Golbitz lost two of his seven records.

Stickwomen battle to scoreless tie

by DENISE RATH

Despite firing 24 shots of the hosts' goal, the varsity field hockey team managed only a scoreless tie with the University of Scranton on Monday afternoon.

Bloomsburg failed to capitalize on 19 penalty corners; goalkeeper Jeanne Fetch made seven saves.

Scranton attempted 11 penalty corners, while connecting for eight shots on goal. Alice Ruane, the goalie for the hosts, tallied 10 saves.

In the second game, the junior varsity downed Scranton 4-0 behind Pat Surdoval's two goals. Beth Millhouse opened the scoring for BSC, while Jane Seislove collected the other Husky tally.
