BSC students answer

Should women be drafted?

compiled by JANET RUSNAK
and
ROBERTA CLEMENS

President Carter's state of the Union address last week put thoughts of draft and war into practically all Americans minds. It has been proposed by the government that women, in case the draft is necessary, shall sign up for registration. The Campus Voice has compiled opinions from BSC students concerning this issue.

The Campus Voice asked, "how do you feel about women being drafted into the armed forces?"

Hilary Brown stated, "If they do draft women I don't think they'll be in the front lines. I'm for going — not that I really want to go. A lot of girls are just saying that they're going to get pregnant."

Larry Buella said, "I think it's great, it's the greatest thing since paper towels."

Paige Gible feels, "I figure that if men can be drafted so can women."

Bob York expressed "I believe women should have to register for the draft, but only in an extreme crisis should they be drafted."

Denise Rath said, "I don't think that women or men are ready to psychologically cope with women fighting in the armed forces."

Kevin Kodish said, "I think it's right that women are drafted but not for combat positions."

Jean Kraus feels, "It's fair. If women want equal rights they have to be equal all around. But I don't think they should be put on the front line."

Randy Letterhouse stated, "I'm for it. If women want to be equal they should be equal in all things, not just some."

Todd Trach said, "I'm all for it because if they want ERA they should be willing to partake of all male duties."

Susan Hicks expressed, "I'm against it. I don't believe in the ERA as it is. Because the ERA hasn't been passed yet women shouldn't be drafted, but if it is they should."

Carol Lynn Viscuso said, "I'm against it because I'm against ERA. I don't think it's right."

Linda LaBraisio feels, "it's ok for men to be drafted because that's customary. As far as women being included in the draft, it should be on their own volition. A lot of women aren't cut out for that type of service."

Allenwood prison is not a country club - BSC group finds

by JEFF NIETZ

Allenwood Federal Penitentiary played host to the Sociology Club of BSC last Thursday.

Allenwood, which once confined Watergate conspirator, has been given the reputation of being a "country club for the white-collar criminal." The tour showed just the opposite.

machinery were not available. Youths between the ages 18-26 are eligible for draft registration. This would include college students.

The possibility of women being included in draft registration cannot be overlooked. A decision on this controversial issue will be announced on Feb. 9.

Senate says no to nominees

Two nominations for BSC Board of Trustees were rejected by the State Senate last week as part of their reaction to Governor Richard Thornburgh's delay in submitting them to legislature for approval.

Lucy E. Szabo, Berwick, and LaRoy G. Davis, Feasterville, were two of the 54 nominations rejected by the Senate. They were to be nominated to BSC's Board of Trustees.

According to an article in the Morning Press, the senate and Thornburgh have debated over the nominations since the governor failed to submit them within the 90 day limit set by the state constitution.

FREE PRESS, FREE PEOPLE

By PHIL DESSAUER

PRESIDENT, THE SOCIETY OF PROFESSIONAL JOURNALISTS
SIGMA DELTA CHI

The newspapers of our country are most of the things their critics say they are.

They're noisy, aggressive, irreverent and occasionally arrogant. In some instances they embarrass people, distort the truth, get facts wrong and - Lord knows - misspell names. They are a long way from perfect...just as our society is.

But newspapers broaden our lives. They pursue justice, expose grafters and lawbreakers - ranging all the way from Boss Tweed to Watergate. They keep watch over taxpayers' money; patrol the world in search of news; give us "instant history," telling it as it is. They inform, entertain, stand guard...and feed us millions of words every day with remarkable accuracy.

Daily and weekly papers can do these things because they are free. In countries without a free press, the people needn't worry about aggressive reporters or high-handed editors; newspapers simply dish out the party line. If they stray, their publishers get unscheduled, indefinite vacations.

A free press has all the flaws of a free country. It has good guys and bad, diamonds and duds. But you have to ask yourself, "If we didn't have the First Amendment and a free flow of information, what would be the alternative?"

Control. Government control...and still more control - until there would be no room for factual reporting, no tolerance for unfavorable news, no noise or dissent. Just the deadening drug of conformity - and submission to - Big Daddy Knows Best.

Newspapers should be responsible, truthful and worthy of trust. The great majority of them are. But if a few don't measure up we can stand that - for as long as they are free, we are free.

(Mr. Dressauer is managing editor of the Tulsa Daily World, Tulsa, OK., and National President of the Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi.)

Paintings on exhibit

Spanish artist, Juan Cruz is currently exhibiting oil paintings in the Presidents' Lounge of the Kehr Union at Bloomsburg State College. The exhibit is open to the public free of charge until February 2.

Cruz, 25-years-old, began to oil paint without any formal instruction at the age of eight. He presently resides in Barcelona where he combines his military and artistic careers to paint Spanish landscapes, still lifes and portraits.

Accurate notes improve grades

An important factor in getting good grades in college is your ability to take clear, well-organized class notes. Listening carefully to the instructor's lecture and writing down the important points is the key to successful notetaking. Listening and writing will also help you understand.

A few basic techniques can help. Your objective is to outline the main and supporting ideas and facts so that they are clear and understandable.

Write rapidly in your own form of shorthand. Don't try to take down everything - keep to the main points. Some people leave out vowels, for instance, or use only the first syllable, and omit articles and obvious verbs. Common abbreviations and symbols found in most dictionaries can often be of great help.

Instructors' teaching methods will differ. You'll have to be alert to each one's style and organization. Outlines, diagrams or lists that instructors write on the board are usually important. It is a good idea to record these unless they are in your textbook.

Indenting and spacing will help make your notes more readable. Start a new line out to the left for an important heading. Indent subheads under this and so on.

Start a new page for each class, with the date and topic heading the page. When a new major topic or division is introduced, begin another new page so that you will have enough room to record the appropriate material under it.

A lined 8 1/2 x 11" notebook is recommended. You can keep all your class notes, and the instructor's handouts, in this one book by tabbing sections for each course. You can also add or delete notes or fresh paper as you need to. Most students, by the way, find that notes made in pen are much more legible and durable than those in pencil.

It is best to write on the right-hand pages only. You can then make your own study, review or textbook notes on the left-hand pages.

Class lectures and textbook assignments do not always parallel each other. Your class notes will reflect the instructor's approach to the topic, but you might find it helpful to make additional notes from your textbook on the left-hand page across from your class notes.

Jot down questions as they occur to you in class and hold them for the appropriate moment. They might be answered or become unimportant in a few minutes. But if not, you'll want to have them answered either in class or later.

Be alert to the instructor's tone, emphasis or questions. These may be clues to things that will appear on an exam. For example, if Professor Smith says, "Five important reasons for the treaty were..." or "Remember now..." you can be sure those are things to be recorded.

Remember, review your class notes as soon as possible after the session has ended. In this way you'll be able to correct, clarify or fill-in where necessary. This review time will also be critical in helping you remember the class material when it is fresh in your mind.

One style of notetaking, developed at Cornell University, has been very helpful to students. On every right-hand page, draw a vertical line from top to bottom, 2 1/2 inches in from the left side. In class use the large 6 inch column on the right for recording the lecture

Curfew set at ten

by R. W. FROMM

Early to bed and early to rise makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise. Poor Richard's philosophy seemingly was adopted as policy by Bloomsburg State Normal School. The 1900 - 1901 Student's Hand Book (predecessor to The Pilot) reveals an exacting schedule - by today's standards. Nevertheless, even in those days it must have been an extraordinary student who could accomplish all that was suggested between 9:45 and 9:55 p.m.

STUDY HOUR

Study hour begins at 7:00 p.m. in the fall and spring and about 6:45 p.m. in the winter. Closes at 9:45 p.m.

Between the close of study hour and the first retiring bell is an interval that is used by students to fill water pitchers, visit fellows on their own halls, practice light gymnastics in their own room and attend to all matters that need attention before retiring.

RETIRING BELL

At 9:55 p.m. the first retiring bell rings, announcing the time when all students are expected to go to their own rooms, and prepare to retire for the night.

At 10:00 p.m. the last retiring bell strikes and all students are expected to extinguish their lights promptly, and to retire to their beds for the night and remain quiet.

RISING

At 6:15 a.m. the electric bells and the hand bells ringing through the halls announce the rising hour.

Spend your summer studying in Innsbruck

The University of New Orleans' International Summer School, held each summer in Innsbruck, Austria, will expand in 1980 from 250 to 270 students, according to program director, Dr. Gordon Mueller.

"UNO's popular alpine summer school attracted students from 39 different universities and 5 foreign countries this past summer," said Mueller, "and as a result UNO-INNSBRUCK has now become the largest overseas summer school offered by any American university. Applicants are already lining up for next summer."

Part of the secret may be that more than 70 courses in 19 different subject areas and 9 semester credits are all available in the magnificent setting of Innsbruck in the heart of central Europe. Here, classrooms are surrounded by the Tyrolean alps whose peaks are always snow capped.

Naturally, courses focus on the cultural, historic, social and economic traditions of Europe, but geology, business and education classes are also taught. All instruction is in English by faculty from American universities and the University of Innsbruck, and all credits are fully transferable.

In addition to college-age students, the UNO-INNSBRUCK program is increasingly popular with adults who may enroll for either credit or audit.

During the session, students are housed in the Studenthaus (student dormitory) at the 300 year old University of Innsbruck. The school is just a 5 minute walk from the many inns, cafes and "Beer Gardens" in the "Old Town" that have been popular with Austrian students since the Middle Ages.

Three-day weekends offer ample free time for UNO - Innsbruckers to enjoy their favorite pastimes of travelling, backpacking or summer skiing on nearby glaciers. The University of New Orleans' International Summer school is indeed a unique way for students to combine summer study with European travel.

UNO-INNSBRUCK convenes with gala opening ceremonies on July 6 and ends August 15. The total package cost including flight, tuition, room and half board is $1,795.00 (with a reduced price for students arranging their own transportation). Optional 3-week tours of northern Europe or the

Law Schools

Backlog of applications cause delays

Applicants to law schools are advised that delays in delivery of a new computer system have resulted in a backlog of Law School Data Assembly Service (LSDAS) reports to law schools. Law schools have been made aware of the problem through frequent updating on the status of the processing schedule.

'Because of the backlog, it is estimated that, at the current processing rate, there will be delays for about eight weeks.'

Although law school admission offices may be somewhat slowed in making their decisions, students can be assured that fairness will be paramount, and no individuals will be penalized for late reporting delays incurred by the LSDAS.

Because of the backlog, it is estimated that, at the current processing rate, there will be delays for about the next eight weeks. Staff have been greatly expanded and are working long hours to meet these problems. Educational Testing Service (ETS), which administers the LSDAS, regrets any personal inconvenience to candidates.

The LSDAS was begun in 1970 at the request of the law schools. Its purpose is to summarize information from college transcripts, test scores from the Law School Admission Test and other biographical information used for evaluation by the law school admission offices.

If there are specific problems that cannot wait, please write to Law Programs, Newtown, PA 18940. Please do not telephone.

Add experience to your degree:

Facts indicate that you may work in three to five different careers. It won't be unusual to make changes as you go. And it's entirely possible that your final career does not even exist today.

Often in a first job, you are an assistant to the assistant. Your responsibility is limited to a desk and typewriter.

But when your first job is an Army 2LT, you'll have real management experience. You'll be in charge. On a specific job assignment, you could have 30 to 40 people working for you. And you could be responsible for millions of dollars in equipment.

Responsibility for people and resources is exactly the kind of "take charge" experience civilian employers seek. It's a margin of difference in the increasingly competitive job market.

Prepare to rise to the top in your field. Make your first job 3 or 4 years as an Army Officer.

If you have two years remaining in school, you can begin ROTC this summer. You'll be compensated financially, stimulated physically and mentally.

Stereo Component Refines the Music

Tiny, delicate, based on space-age technology and painstaking laboratory refinements, the phono cartridge is a critical part of any home stereo system.

"Many audio connoisseurs have long believed that the best way to build a harmonious set of stereo components is to begin with a cartridge, match speakers — then add a turntable and amplifier that complement them," explains Jon R. Kelly, president of Audio-Technica U.S., Inc., a leading manufacturer of phono cartridges.

But most hi-fi owners don't understand how a cartridge "creates" music; and too many underestimate its importance in sound reproduction. That the cartridge plays a key role can best be seen by looking at its function relative to the rest of the stereo system.

From the stylus (needle), which it houses, the cartridge picks up sound directly from the record. The turntable's only purpose is to spin discs; and ideally, the tonearm, preamplifier and amplifier simply pass on the cartridge's message to the speakers — with a minimum of interpretation. So the "character" of any hi-fi set-up lies in the cartridge and the speakers.

The cartridge "plays its song" through the stylus tip at the end of the cantilever arm that extends out from the cartridge body. The arm moves (continued on page five) material. After class and during study times, use the smaller left-hand column for making your own review notes. By marking down the key word, idea or fact, it can help you remember what you are studying and help you review for exams. Some students find it helpful to use a colored marker or pen during review to underline the important words or phrases.

Completing textbook or reading assignments before each class will help minimize notetaking in class. You will know whether the material under discussion is in the text or not. You will already have underlined the important ideas in the book, so you won't have to duplicate these points when the instructor makes them. Instead of taking down these same facts write "refer to textbook chapter."

Typing or rewriting notes is normally a waste of time, if they are legible, accurate and complete it is much more productive to spend your time reviewing the notes, reading your text and keeping up every day and every week with your studies.

Fraternities rush for pledges

This is an informative article for anyone considering becoming a member of a fraternity here at Bloomsburg. There are a few terms I would like to explain involving how someone goes about joining a fraternity.

Rush meetings are meetings where the brothers of a fraternity ask interested parties to meet and mingle with the brothers. This way you can get an idea of the different personalities within the fraternity and decide which fraternity is for you.

The ideal thing to do is to attend as many rush meetings as possible to make the best decision. At Bloomsburg, each fraternity has two rush meetings, and the dates for this semester's rush meetings are given below. For meeting times and places, look for signs in the dorms, classroom buildings and the Union.

You've probably heard something about pledging, but basically it is a time to get to know the brothers better before becoming a brother yourself. All fraternity members must pledge and be involved in various ceremonies before becoming brothers.

Pledging at Bloomsburg generally lasts between three and six weeks. Pledging will start on March 2, the Sunday after Spring Break.

Here is a list of fraternities and their Rush meetings:

- SIGMA IOTA OMEGA Wed., Feb. 6
- TAU KAPPA EPSILON Thurs., Feb. 7
- DELTA OMEGA CHI Tues., Jan. 29 and Sun., Feb. 10
- BETA SIGMA DELTA Wed., Jan. 30 and Mon., Feb. 11 relatively still.

Together they move tiny magnets and coils back and forth near each other to create an electrical signal that is eventually amplified into music.

Cartridges vary both in quality and "flavor" of the sound they reproduce. A major difference among them is the shape of the stylus tip. Common varieties include spherical (ball shaped), elliptical, which have more length than width, and Shibata, which have a more complex shape. Each has advantages, and prices and quality vary. Consult your audio store salesman for a comparison.

The elliptical stylus starts out spherical, then two sides are ground into it. A third type of stylus, the Shibata, has more sophisticated grinding, enabling it to track even deeper.

The other basic structural distinction between cartridges is whether the magnets or the coils are attached to the cantilever arm. If the magnets are on the arm, they are the moving part while the coils stay rigid on the cartridge body. Most cartridges are "moving magnet." Some cartridges, however, are "moving coil," with magnets fixed on the body and coils moving on the arm. These cartridges are favored by many audiophiles because of their crisp, accurate response to changes in the record grooves.

Specifications can be generally accurate guides to cartridge quality, but there is only one good way to choose the right one: listen carefully to a number of cartridges in various combinations with speakers, and hear the differences — which can be significant.

Some units give a "bright" sound, emphasizing treble or "highs;" others feature extra bass response; and still others have "flat" or natural pick-up.

After auditioning several high-quality cartridges you can't go far wrong on a purchase. Just let your ears guide you.

To answer questions about phono cartridge design and performance, Audio-Technica has prepared the Cartridge Buying Guide, which includes an explanation of cartridge-related specifications and terminology. The booklet is available by writing to Audio-Technica U.S., Inc., 33 Shiawassee Ave., Fairlawn, OH 44131.

Penitentiary. Lewisburg in turn supplies all the milk for both facilities from their dairy farm.

RECREATION

There are many things that the inmates can do after their work shifts are over. There is a recreation hall for them to exercise in. This building houses many activity centers. A large gym with racquet ball courts, a movie theater, pool hall and T.V. room are in one part of the building. A small law library, ceramics shop, leather shop, painting room, and classrooms are in the other part.

There is also a chapel and a social building where the prisoners can receive guests. If a prisoner is on his best behavior and has been there for a while, he can be given a pass lasting a weekend or longer.

Since Allenwood is a minimum security prison, there are no fences or walls surrounding the grounds. Guards with guns and nightsticks are absent. In talking with the guards they preferred to think of themselves as correctional assistants instead of guards.

Prisoners have the run of the grounds. It is very easy for an inmate to just walk off of the premises but it is kept in mind that if he does, he will be shipped out to a maximum security prison.

Olive green army kakis are the apparel of the inmates. Some prisoners do wear their own clothes, but it is frowned upon by the administration. Prisoners' ages vary from 20 years of age to 65.

Allenwood prisoners who are 66 are judged by the court as harmless to society but must pay their "debts." Also, prisoners who have served years in other institutions who are due to be released are transferred to Allenwood to serve a period of time which will prepare them for public living again.

PROBLEMS WITH DRUGS

The administration felt there was a definite drug problem in the prison. Alcohol wasn't as big but it was prevalent. Carrying large amounts of money was also felt to be a big problem.

4 soccer players named all Penna.

Four BSC soccer players have been named to the eastern division All-Pennsylvania Conference soccer team for 1979, it was announced last week by Clyde H. Witman, athletic director of East Stroudsburg State College and chairman of the selection committee.

Forwards Jim Mailey, senior, and junior Toby Rank; and backs Glenn Chestnut, senior, and junior Brian Farrell received the honor.

Limeman Mailey is a four-time Regional All-American and All-Pennsylvania Conference (ALL-PC) selection. A captain for three years, he scored 20 goals and posted 13 assists this past season. In 1979, he was named player of the week by the Intercollegiate Soccer Association of America. Mailey has 63 career goals and 33 career assists. He was named BSC's player of the year as a freshman, co-lineman in his sophomore year and lineman of the year the past two years.

Rank, a frontline player, is a three-time All-PC selection, having sat out in 1978 due to an injury. He was a 1979 captain and will be one of three captains on next year's team. This season, he collected 12 goals and had eight assists to give him a three-year career total of 22 goals and 13 assists. Rank was BSC's lineman of the year in 1976, co-lineman in 1977 and come-back player of the year in 1979.

Halfback Farrell, a junior college transfer from Bucks County, scored two goals and had three assists in 1979. He was the team's halfback of the year and will be a 1980 captain.

Chestnut earned Regional All-American honors in 1978. The 1979 captain has two career goals and one career assist. He was BSC's most improved player in 1977, and the team's fullback of the year the last two years.

Phi Beta Lambda is looking for members

What are employers looking for in college students today? One important aspect is involvement in extra-curricular activities. Employers aren't interested only in high cums. They are seeking students with well-rounded backgrounds; students who are able to relate to people and possess effective communication qualities.

An excellent way to prepare yourself for the business world is to join Phi Beta Lambda (Future business leaders), a national business club. Our college has one of these clubs - as a matter of fact, our chapter has the largest membership in the state and nation.

Come, be a part of Phi Beta Lambda, it's a great chance to meet new friends, but most importantly, it will give you a flavor for the business community!

Even though we already held our first two pledge meetings, it's not too late! Pledging began Jan. 28th - be a part of it - you'll love it!

Senate says no to nominees

GOES FOR TWO — Husky center Doug Greenholt attempts a jump shot over his Cheyney opponent; BSC fell to the undefeated Wolves.

Conference basketball action

Men bow to Wolves

Still smarting after losing two straight non-conference games, the Cheyney State Wolves men's basketball team came to BSC last Wednesday.

Unfortunately for the Huskies, the Wolves' skid came to an end as the visitors dealt BSC a 68-58 Pennsylvania Conference setback.

The Wolves were playing the contest without their top player (George Melton), but freshman Leonard Goggins came to the rescue for CSC with 21 points. Joining Goggins in double figures were Charles Murphy (17) and Leon Wilson (12).

The Husky attack was led by freshman Mike Wenrich. The Reading native fired in seven field goals for 14 points. Bill Tillman added 11 markers to the BSC tally.

After a hectic first half of play, which featured several ties and lead changes, the score read 38-32 in favor of CSC. Both teams made six free throws in the initial 20 minutes, but Cheyney owned a 16-13 advantage from the field.

In the second half, the Huskies fell behind 48-38 after Murphy swished a 22 footer with 15:10 left in the game. Following a BSC timeout, the locals started a surge that cut the deficit to one (48-47) with 11 minutes remaining.

Freshman Terry Conrad was a key factor in the BSC comeback bid. Conrad hit a field goal and two free throws and dished out two assists to Mike Wenrich.

The Huskies tried desperately to stay close in the game, but Goggins and Murphy had other ideas. The duo opened up the CSC margin again and ended all hopes of a Husky triumph.

Swimmers cop two victories; extend season mark to 3-2

by CINDY PECK

The men's swim team has brought its season record to 3-2 with a 77-36 victory over East Stroudsburg and a 66-46 win over West Chester on Jan. 23 and 26.

Winning the 400 yd. medley relay in the East Stroudsburg meet was the Husky team of Frank Jacoby, John Conte, Randy Spence and Tim Briddes. Team captain Pete Dardaris set a new team record in winning the 1000 yd. freestyle, while Reik Foust placed third.

The 200 yd. freestyle was won by BSC's Bill Wolfe, while teammate Glenn Miller took third. Spence and Jeff Ludroff placed second and fourth respectively in the 50 yd. freestyle, and Jeff Baskin and Phil Spampinato took first and second in the 200 yd. individual medley. In one meter diving, Tom Cole finished second and Scott Weigand took third.

Spence and Spampinato took the first two places for BSC in the 200 yd. butterfly, while Briddes and Jacoby placed second the third in the 100 yd. freestyle. Dardaris placed another first, in the 200 yd. backstroke, and Foust finished second.

In the 500 yd. freestyle, Baskin captured second and Wolfe placed third, while Cole and Weigand took second and Wolfe placed third, while Cole and Weigand took second and third in three meter diving. Conte won the 200 yd. breaststroke and Jacoby and Ludroff took second and fourth. Baskin, Miller, Wolfe and Foust teamed up to win the 400 yd. freestyle relay.

WEST CHESTER

At the West Chester meet, Wolfe and Miller took the first two places in the 100 yd. freestyle, and Dardaris won the 200 yd. freestyle.

Baskin placed second in the 50 yd. freestyle, and Spence, Spampinato and Jacoby took first, third and fourth in the 200 yd. individual medley for BSC. Cole, Weigand and Eric Slingerland swept the one meter diving, and Spampinato took second in the 200 yd. butterfly.

Baskin and Briddes took second and third, respectively, in the 100 yd. freestyle, and Dardaris and Spence finished one and two in the 200 yd. backstroke for the Huskies. In the 500 yd. freestyle, Foust placed second, while Wolfe and Miller took third and fourth.

Jacoby took third in the 200 yd. breaststroke, and the team of Baskin, Dardaris, Wolfe and Briddes won the 400 yd.

freestyle relay.

The Huskies travel to Shippensburg on Saturday.

Intramurals

Intramural basketball is underway and the Scorpions, the defending champions, are one of eight undefeated teams who have completed two games.

Going into this week's action, the Crusaders and Dirt Road are 2-0 in the Tens League, while AHH and LCA are undefeated in the Twenties.

In the Thirties League, DOC and the Scorpions are unbeaten and in the Forties, PSX and Maximus Super are 2-0.

Teams in the other four leagues have only played one game because of a heavy varsity athletic schedule.

Sign-up sheets are available in the Kehr Union or at Nelson Fieldhouse for five upcoming intramural events. The deadline for signing up for foul shooting, racquetball and wrestling will be Feb. 4. Sign-up deadline for water polo and one-on-one basketball will be Feb. 5. Teams may enter as many unattached participants as they wish for each event.

Women hoopsters find the new decade difficult

by KEVIN KODISH

The year 1980 hasn't been very much fun for head coach, Sue Hibbs and the BSC women's basketball team.

After starting off the season in 1979 with a 2-1 mark, the squad saw their 1980 record fall to 0-4 last Thursday as it dropped a 63-57 contest to the visiting Lehigh Engineers in Nelson Fieldhouse.

Lehigh was paced in scoring by Karen Lelinski. Lelinski netted 13 points to lead a balanced Engineer attack which featured three other twin-digit performers.

Laurie Gregg and Sharon Beltz each scored 12 points, and Helga Schlape added 10 for the visitors.

Trina Knittel had 12 points to lead all BSC scorers. Sally Houser and Hilarie Runyon each tallied 11 markers to follow Knittel.

Lehigh opened up the scoring in the game at the 19:35 mark, as Beltz dropped in a 15-footer. BSC then answered with buckets by Houser and P.C. Lyons, the latter coming with 17:35 to go in the half.

After the Engineers picked up six straight points for an 8-4 advantage, Lyons and Gail Hopkins each scored to even things up with 15:31 remaining before halftime.

Later, when Hopkins swished an eight footer with 11:49 to go, the two teams were even at 14 all.

At this point, the Engineers went on a scoring spree, hitting four field goals and four free throws for a 12-point lead, before Cheryl Sedlak connected from ten feet out for BSC.

The first half ended with the Huskies trailing by seven, 33-26. BSC shot 28 percent from the field in the opening half, while Lehigh hit 45 percent.

The two teams opened up second half action playing on relatively even terms. When Lelinski hit a free throw to complete a three-point play with 14:27 left, Lehigh owned a 46-37 lead.

The Huskies then played perhaps their best four minutes of basketball this season. Houser's foul shot at the 10:42 mark capped a nine point BSC flurry and knotted the game at 46-46.

The comeback was a total team effort, as five different players accounted for the nine points. All the locals played tough defense to hold the Engineers during the rally.

Following a timeout, the Engineers were able to regain their composure and hit back-to-back baskets for a 50-46 advantage.

BSC fought hard, but Lelinski, Schlape and Donna Leitner kept the Huskies from getting any closer than three points the rest of the game.

Lehigh canned 24 of 60 field goal attempts for the game, good for 35 percent accuracy. BSC hit 22 of 67 shots for 33 percent shooting.

The Engineers hit 60 percent of their foul shots (15-25), while the Huskies made good on 57 percent of their free throws (13-23).

The locals out-rebounded Lehigh by a 43-33 margin. The Huskies also won a category they wouldn't like to win — turnovers. BSC gave the ball up 22 times, as compared to 20 for Lehigh.

JAYVEES WIN FIRST

The junior varsity team, under the direction of Coach Lynda Wiest, won their first game of the season by downing Penn State, Worthington Campus, 66-57.

Maureen McDonald led the BSC scorers with 18 points. McDonald was joined in double figures by three other Huskies. Shelly Ressler netted 11 markers, while Julie Loucks and Diane Alfonsi each accounted for 10 points.

The Husky jayvees won the game by totally dominating the boards. BSC pulled down 53 rebounds, while Penn State-Worthington could only come up with 15 caroms.

The win evened the jayvees record at 1-1. The varsity record is now 2-5 for the season. Both teams will host Lock Haven Thursday. The junior varsity contest precedes the 6 p.m. varsity tilt.

Puhl asks for reassignment

Ron Puhl, head coach of the BSC football team, has asked for reassignment within the department of health, physical education and athletics. Puhl had served as head football coach for the past three years.
