

NOW Pres. highlights CAS conference

by JIM PEFFLEY

Hoping to "explode the stereotype of student apathy," Bridget Whitley, president of Pennsylvania NOW (National Organization of Women), spoke to students Saturday on the topics of divorce reform, reproductive rights and the draft registration.

Whitley was the keynote speaker at this weekend's conference of statewide CAS (Commonwealth Association of Students) representatives.

The conference included forums with U.S. Senate candidates Warren Williams and Norman Bertasavage, workshops, and a CAS policy setting session.

COMMITMENTS FOR LIFE

Appealing to the "younger people who have the drive and strength," Whitley discussed NOW's views of divorce reform. Presently, according to Whitley, divorce laws in Pennsylvania are "the worst in the nation." There is little alimony legislation and no provisions for distribution of marital property. "In today's marriage, one member must be seen as the victim and must be innocent."

Whitley theorized that breakdowns in marriages are in actuality a chain of contributing factors. To aid NOW's cause for reform legislation, Whitley related several areas being worked upon: expansion of public relations and awareness, the need for aggressive financing and NOW's involvement in electoral politics. Currently, the group has political action committees and participates in national conventions, selecting delegates, demonstrating and lobbying.

NOT JUST ABORTION

Dean Wolfe resigns: relocates in Washington

Dr. Richard O. Wolfe has resigned from his position as Dean of the School of Extended Programs at BSC effective May 30, and will become Associate Dean for Doctoral Studies and Professor of Education at Gonzaga University, Spokane, Washington beginning June 15, 1980.

Wolfe's duties will include directing a new doctoral program in educational leadership which will be implemented at Gonzaga this summer. Thirty-eight students have been admitted to the program and will start their studies in early July. Wolfe first became acquainted with Gonzaga during the 1972-73 school year, when he served as a visiting professor to that institution while on leave from Bloomsburg.

"As an alumnus and administrator, I've enjoyed my association with the Bloomsburg College community immensely," Wolfe stated. "However, my new position will afford me the opportunity to be creative in directing the new program and also to do some teaching, research and writing that I just didn't have the time to do in recent years. I'm looking forward to the exciting challenge."

Wolfe joined the faculty at BSC in 1967 as an assistant professor of education and was promoted to the rank of associate and full professor in 1970 and 1972 respectively. He served as Dean of Continuing (continued on page eight)

New Academic Policies explained

Recently the Coordinating Committee on Academic Affairs and the Representative Assembly approved three new policies dealing with course repeats, pass-fail courses, and course withdrawals respectively. The policies are described below. Each of the policies is to become effective at the beginning of the Fall Semester of the 1980 - 81 academic year and will be included in the official BSC Bulletin for next year.

PASS-FAIL POLICY

After attaining sophomore standing, a degree student may elect courses on a pass - fail basis until the final day of registration in accordance with the following rules:

A maximum of two courses (not more than seven semester hours in total) may be included as part of the minimum graduation requirement of 128 semester hours. No more than one pass-fail course may be taken in any one semester.

The courses must be electives in disciplines beyond the requirements of the student's specialization. Specialization includes a major and any course required in conjunction with the major. Suitable courses outside the specialization taken on pass - fail basis may be applied to the general education requirements.

The instructor is not informed that the course is being taken on a pass - fail basis; grades of A, B, C, D, or E are translated later into grades of P or F, with the grade of P recorded for a grade of D or higher and the grade of F recorded for E.

The grades P and F do not enter the computation of or quality point average.

If, subsequent to completion of a course on a pass-fail basis, the student should change his - her major to one in which the instructor's original grade is required, he - she may request that the chairperson of the academic department be notified of the actual letter grade earned.

A student who has received a grade of E in a course may not take it later on a pass - fail basis.

The student may not revoke a decision to take a course on a pass-fail basis. NOTE: This policy is effective 1980 - 81 academic year for all entering and transfer students. Other students may choose to abide by these regulations or the pass - fail regulations that prevailed at the time of their entrance into college (i.e., four instead of two pass - fail opportunities.)

WITHDRAWAL FROM A COURSE

A student may change his - her semester schedule (drop or add courses) prior to the close of two weeks of classes of the (continued on page nine)

Are you considering Grad School

This is the time of year for those students who are anticipating graduation in May to think about applying for Graduate School and for Graduate Assistantships. Since the hearing impaired program, the speech-language pathology program and the audiology program admit students this summer you will want to be sure to consider these programs and to advance application for admission and for an assistantship.

Please be informed that assistantships are only granted for the Fall or spring semesters. Both applications are available from the Office of Graduate Studies. Applications for admission are returned to the Office of Graduate Studies. Applications for Graduate Assistantships are returned to the Office of the Department Chairperson.

You will also want to write a letter to your curriculum coordinator expressing your intentions of applying. The curriculum coordinator in the Audiology program is Mr. Miller, the curriculum coordinator in the speech-language pathology area is Mr. Champoux, and the curriculum coordinator for the education of the hearing impaired area is Mr. Slike. Please feel free to stop by and discuss these matters further.

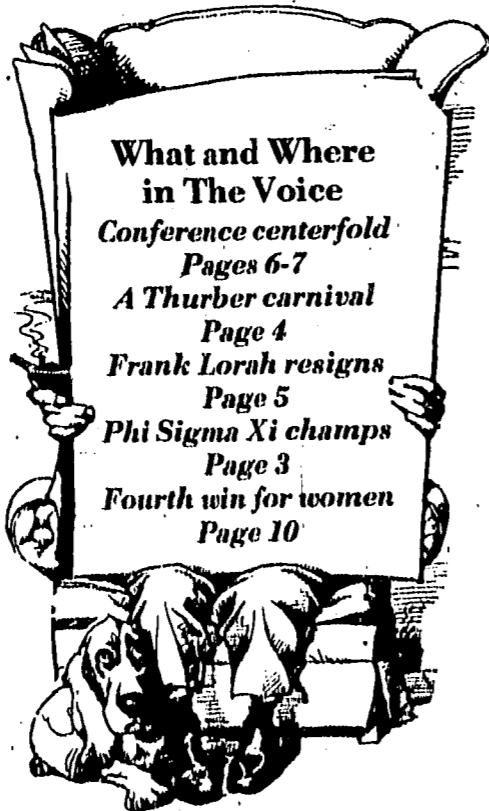

Thornburgh requests BSC budget

An allocation of $15,092,000 from the Commonwealth and a total operating budget of $26,520,000 are projected for BSC in the 1980-81 budget request submitted by Governor Dick Thornburgh. Local receipts from student fees federal funds and other sources are estimated at $11,428,000.

The governor also requested the legislature to approve a Capital Budget that would include a $6,406,000 Human Services Center, and $3,850,000 for five other renovation projects for BSC. Capital Budget projects are financed through long-term bonds issued by the Commonwealth.

The governor has requested a total appropriation for the operating budgets of the state-owned colleges and university of $206,457,000, an increase of $11,692,000, or six percent, over the 1979-80 appropriation. Income from student fees and non-Commonwealth sources was estimated at $151,427,000, an increase of $13,864,000, or 10.07 percent, over the current year. It is expected that the basic fee for students at all 14 institutions will be increased by (continued on page eight)

Whatever happened to energy?

Once upon a time, students fought tooth and nail for privileges, activities and events. Although the struggle seemed long and hard, improvements were made and students were given more.

Gasoline used to be plentiful also. Suddenly, prices soared and resources of energy dwindled. How coincidental, that with the loss of energy came a loss of student energy.

Take, for instance, the upcoming Mock Convention. For several years, it has been one of the most eagerly-awaited events on campus. Once, every four years, students would flock to Centennial Gym for the event. This year's convention is coming soon and it seems no one is interested; the delegation is coming soon and it seems no one is interested; the delegations formed are few in number.

But surely students would attend something! This weekend, for instance, CAS held a state wide conference and ran workshops on various student-related topics. Although BSC was host and should have had a large student turnout, the only one's who attended were CAS members.

But what about clubs and organizations? Wrong again. Memberships and involvement in organizations have dropped steadily and no one seems to have the energy to attend meetings.

Well, at least we have spring break this week. Hopefully students will reserve some of the energy they plan to use over break and return in March able and willing to help the college out. Who knows, the students lack of energy may turn out to be a hoax!

Movie review

Bo's a "10"

by DICK DILIBERTO

A rich producer finds a beautiful girl, decides America needs a new sex symbol, builds her up as a perfect "10" and makes a movie. This is apparently how "10" came about.

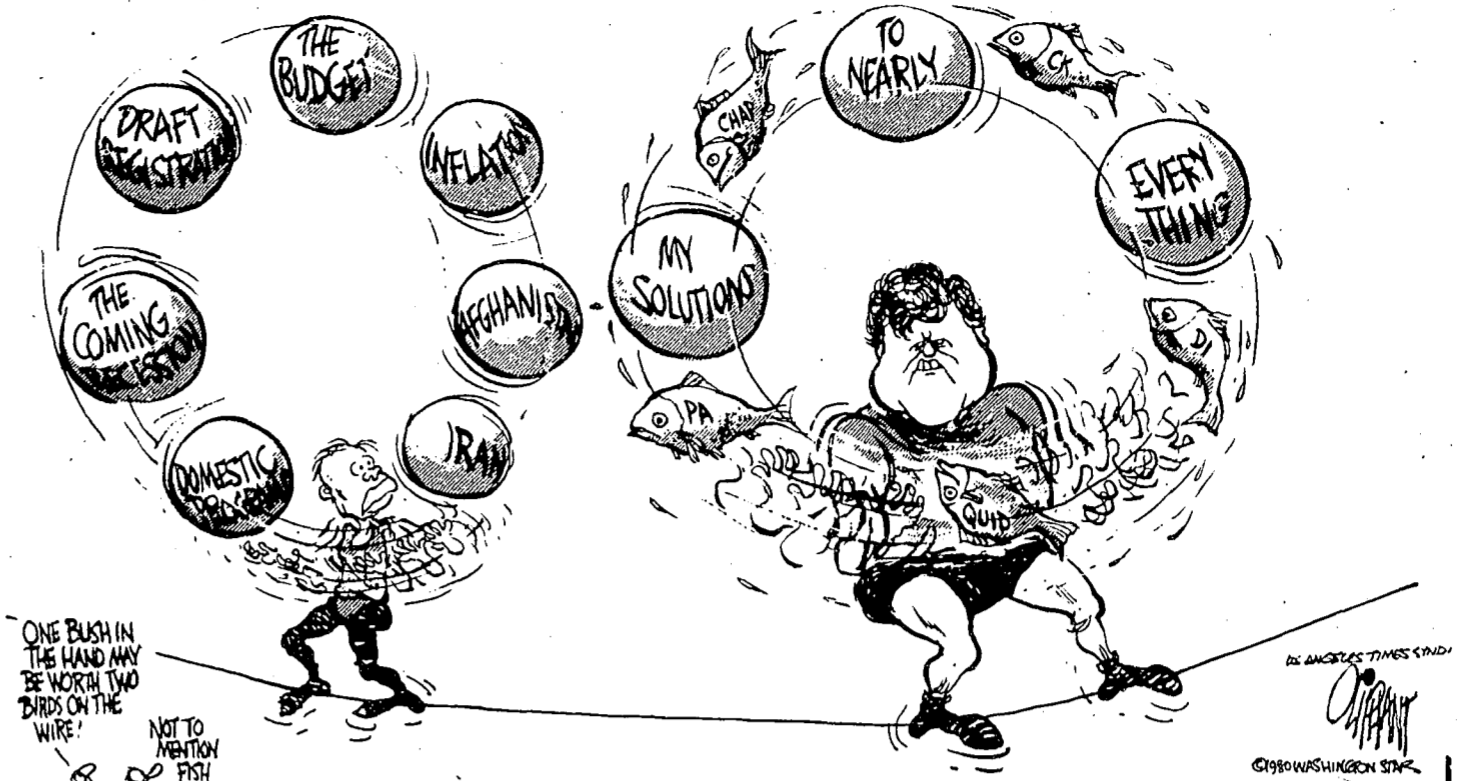

Bo Derek, who plays the perfect female, is at the least gorgeous. But, one beautiful girl does not make an entire movie.

Dudley Moore, is an aging song writer who provides comic relief in his attempts to capture Bo's attention. These antics to win her, although somewhat humorous, begin to try the viewer's patience after the first hour.

Julie Andrews, whom one may remember from The Sound of Music, plays Moore's jealous girlfriend. She still is fairly attractive for a woman her age. However, all male eyes (the group that the film appeals to) were not on Julie, but rather on the voluptuous Bo Derek. The film is obviously a turn-on flick for guys.

It cannot honestly be said that (continued on page 10)

Which countries will come out clean?

By CHARLES WARNER

Americans seem to want to come to the aid of Afghanistan's people, supposedly because the Afghanistans are having their rights infringed upon by the Russians. A curious situation, considering the American Government has been accused of supplying and supporting the regime of a possible bloody empire, that of the Shah of Iran. Some have accused the United States of having great financial investment in the Shah's regime. The people of Iran cried out for help, but supposedly, this country remained silent as the profits rolled in.

After a time, the people of Iran rose up and toppled the empire. The Shah left the country, and upon proving that he needed medical attention, was granted political asylum in the United States. The people of Iran were appalled and pleaded with the United States to return their deposed Shah. The United States government replied that they had no right to do so as it was their duty to grant asylum to those who needed it.

In the past, it has been the policy of the United States to grant asylum to those who needed it. These people were most always heavily screened and not all of them got into the country. Could the fact that the Shah had much money and still much political clout have much to do with his entry? Did his regime have any support, or return support to the United States, and if so did that have anything to do with his entry?

Following World War II, it is doubtful that the United States would have granted asylum to Herman Goring or Adolf Hitler no matter how ill they were. Goring was executed and this country lost no sleep over that.

People say that the Nazis killed Americans and that someone had to be held accountable. Is an American life any more important than the life of another man? Is the life of a Christian more important than that of a Moslem?

The Shah's regime has been accused of numerous tortures, murders, and other hideous crimes. By allowing the Shah asylum, the Americans seem to cast approval toward him. The Iranians asked for help and this country and president seemed to turn a deaf ear.

Americans were taken hostage in a desperate attempt to cause the United States to open their eyes and act. The President and the government, instead of examining the Iranian point of view simply stated that "We don't bargain with kidnappers". The President had his people do their best to get the Shah out of this country, thinking, rather naively, that the hostages would be released upon the Shah's departure.

Each side has a point. Each side presents its story in the news, and if one is able to examine the United States point of view and the Iranian point of view, then sort out the facts from the manure of propaganda presented by both sides,

Black woman survives sexism and racism

by LINDA NATTER

This article is one in a series of articles featuring famous black women. The Affirmative Action - Desegregation Office has picked this special group to report on because not only are these women discriminated against because of color, but they are also in the minority with regards to their sex. As a result of this, very little is known about the black woman who has achieved against the odds of race and sex barriers.

Who is Patricia Roberts Harris? In her own words, she says, "I'm a black woman, daughter of a dining-car waiter... (If) my life has any meaning at all, it is that those who start out as outcasts may end up being part of the system. I assure you that while there may be others who forget what it meant to be excluded from the dining room of this very building, I shall never forget (Fortune, November 6, 1978)."

Patricia Harris, born in 1924 in Matton, Illinois, has been the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (HEW), the government's biggest department, since September 1979. Prior to this placement, Harris held the position of Secretary of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

She feels both HUD and HEW have the same type of clientele: the poor, the elderly, the sic and the handicapped. Upon joining HUD on January 23, 1977, Harris was the first black woman to serve in that capacity.

Harris has come a long way by being assertive and standing up for what she believes in. Those who know her might use adjectives such as strong-willed, tough, outspoken and a real fighter.

Harris graduated first in her class at George Washington University Law School. She taught at Howard University Law School, became a partner in a well-known Washington law firm, held impressive directorships with Chase Manhattan, I.B.M., and Scott Paper, worked in Lyndon Johnson's presidential campaign and became U.S. Ambassador to Luxembourg during his term. Harris is also recognized as the first black woman to be appointed as a U.S. ambassador.

True to her word, Harris will never forget "what it meant to

Coalition urges passage of university bill

Representatives from Pennsylvania's state colleges and Indiana University called recently for the swift passage of legislation needed to grant university status to the 13 state colleges and create a system of higher education independent of the Department of Education.

Members of the Pennsylvania State College and University

'Coalition announced their "overwhelming support" of Senate Bill 542 and House Bill 1995.'

(PSCU) Coalition, representing students, faculty, presidents, trustees and alumni of the state-owned institutions, announced their "overwhelming support" of Senate Bill 542 and House Bill 1995 during a news conference held in the Capitol Rotunda.

"Indeed, it is the brightest, if not the only hope for the future of public higher education in Pennsylvania," said Joseph Archut, legislative director for the Commonwealth Association of Students (CAS), the student lobby for the 14 campuses.

Archut said the creation of a statewide university system independent of the Department of Education will "cut down on costly overregulation of the colleges by state agencies" since "the schools have often found themselves strangled by bureaucratic red tape in attempting to meet the needs of a more sophisticated educational society."

At the same time, members of the coalition said the establishment of the state-owned university system will be a "significant inducement for students to stay home and add to the development and growth of our Commonwealth."

If the Senate and House approve this legislation within the next few weeks, the state colleges will have university status beginning this July.

"Today we are calling for the immediate passage of the bills," Archut said, "any delay will promote the further decay of the public higher educational system in Pennsylvania."

Phi Sigma Xi is College Bowl Champ

Phi Sigma Xi is the winner of BSC's College Bowl Competition for the second year in a row.

Brian Moore, Rick Morgans, Barry Grimm and Guy Campbell were the team members who beat the Forensics Society in the best out of three games in the final competition last week.

Phi Sigma Xi will compete again in Pittsburgh this weekend against colleges from four east coast states.

Other teams they competed against were: Phi Sigma Pi, CARC, Neuman, Campus Voice, Red House I, Red House II, Zeta Psi, and Pi Omega Pi.

The competition was hosted by the Program Board, Roberta Clemens, chairperson and Marianne Montague, advisor.

Public Program will increase seat belt usage

A new public education program to increase seat belt usage in Pennsylvania was announced recently by State Transportation Secretary Thomas D. Larson.

The Governor's Traffic Safety Council will direct the program said Larson, who serves as the Council's chairman. The program will consist of television, radio and print messages which feature testimonials from Pennsylvanians who have survived serious automobile accidents because they were wearing seat belts.

A research study on seat belts being conducted for the Council recently revealed that only one in every six Pennsylvanians wear seat belts. Yet, Larson said, seat belts are the best known way to prevent injuries and deaths in traffic accidents.

"If the new education program can increase the use of seat belts by just five percentage points, more than 64 lives, 4,172 injuries and $320 million in damages could be saved in Pennsylvania this year," Larson said.

In addition to mass media messages, the new seat belt program will include a speakers' bureau in the four-county test area of Dauphin, Cumberland, Lancaster and York. Members of the speakers' bureau will make presentations before social, civic and church groups as well as schools.

A new film called "Room to Live" will be an important part of these presentations, Larson said. Education materials are also being distributed to elementary school children. All materials will admonish drivers and passengers to "snap it up."

The $97,000 project is 100 percent federally funded and administered by the Council. The program will run from January through July.

The success of this endeavor, especially in southcentral Pennsylvania, will be measured by both telephone and observational surveys conducted by an independent research company for the Council, Larson said.

"Carnival" reviews Thurber works

by LINDA WRIGHT

"A Thurber Carnival" will be staged in Carver Hall the week of March 11:

Thurber Carnival is not a play but a conglomerate of skits and monologues of James Thurber, the poet, writer, and playwright. The show is also a review of Thurber's works. Students in the show, in alphabetical order, are Joan Davis, Greg Gianuzzi, Cynthia Graboski, Eric Harris, Dave Hill, Laurell Hobyak, A.J. McIvor, Shaun Metzgar, Gary Miller, and Karen Pinger.

On March 17, William Windom will stage a performance acting as James Thurber. Windom will act out Thurber's works.

Dates for the Thurber Carnival will be posted. People are needed for technical work on the set of the show. Anyone interested should call Mr. Michael McHale or Karla Blankenhorn in the theatre department.

BSC education advertised

At the turn of the century, with the acumen and inspiration of a Madison Avenue pitchman, Bloomsburg State Normal School boasted that its services were a good value for the education consumer of the region. It took out a full page ad in the official program of the 1902 centennial celebration of the town of Bloomsburg to say the following:

The Bloomsburg Literary Institute and State Normal School prepares for: Teaching for College, for Business, for Life. Music Courses prepare for Conservatory. Course in Physical Training prepares for Gymnasium Directorships. Nearly 800 students during past year. Over 300 in State Examination. None rejected.

Discussion of Iranian Situation

perhaps one could look at this objectively.

This situation seems politically to fit right in. The American Press presents the President as a leader and it is thus the public perceives him. An amusing fact considering the way he sidestepped the issue by allowing the Shah to leave the country. Most political leaders ignore the accusation that perhaps the United States meddled in the Iranian government and economy and got burned.

All these things weigh heavily in the up-coming election.

An International trial and an admission of guilt stated on the part of the United States in Iran has been proposed to be acceptable by the Iranians. The American Government agrees with the trial of the Shah, but not their admitting guilt.

Perhaps, the Shah and the part the United States played should be tried and the truth established through evidence. The Shah's innocence or guilt, and the part the United States government has in his regime could haunt our political future, as badly as the spectre of Watergate still haunts the halls of Washington.

Now, Russian troops have invaded Iran's neighboring country of Afghanistan and the Iranians are feeling threatened. They fear they may be next on the Russian menu. Fortunately, for the Iranians, the United States is very displeased with this brash act on the part of the Russians. The Press presents the picture that the United States should aid Afghanistan and Iran in order to avoid dangerous Russian expansion in the Middle East.

Is this to be a humanitarian act or are we acting out of the economic necessity to keep the valuable Middle East oil fields out of Russian hands? What will be the outcome? Time will pass and the truth will come out of the fog. It remains to be seen which countries come out clean when the fog clears.

Harris was an early civil rights activist with the NAACP, joining sit-ins at segregated restaurants in the Washington, D.C. area. To the equality a step further, she became the assistant director of the American Council on Human Rights.

Her efforts did not stop there. In 1963, John F. Kennedy appointed Harris to the unpaid position of co-chairperson of the National Women's Committee for Civil Rights, where she worked with women's groups to create civil rights legislation. In 1966 and 1967 Harris was appointed as alternate representative to the United Nations. (It should be noted that the above list of contributions and achievements by Harris have only brushed upon the surface of her life.)

"Although some strides have been made and although black women have produced and continue to produce more works in the arts and social sciences than anyone can hope to index completely, there is still great reluctance to recognize the humanity of American black women. Despite the widespread consciousness-raising activities of feminists and black civil rights advocates, there is an overwhelming failure to transfer the new awareness to black women (Williams, American Black Women In the Arts and Social Sciences)." It is up to us, leaders of the future, to become aware of the humanity of American black women.

Lorah resigns as business manager

by LINDA WRIGHT

Mr. Frank Lorah, comptroller of Community Activities and Kehr College Union, resigned from his position for a job in California.

Lorah, a BSC graduate, has been the business manager in Community Activities for the past five years. He was given an opportunity to extend his career at California State University at Northridge, California in the middle of January. Northridge, located right outside of Los Angeles, offered Lorah the same duties as he had at Bloomsburg, only on a much larger scale. He starts the position on Feb. 25.

His duties at Bloomsburg included controlling funds from Community Activities fees, handling the dispersment of funds to student organizations, and anything else involving the student control of funds. Lorah was also the Zeta Psi fraternity advisor.

"I enjoyed my eight years here as a student and staff member," Lorah said. "I will be in contact with people here when I get my new address."

Mike Azar, a BSC senior, will replace Frank Lorah until the end of the semester. Azar was an intern in Community Activities last semester and worked with Lorah.

Azar was enthusiastic and expressed appreciation for the valuable experience he will receive as comptroller. Azar's position is temporary; he will be business manager until May. He emphasized the strong communication bonds of his staff and the support they give him.

Mr. Mike Sowash, assistant director of the Union, will take Lorah's place as the Zeta Psi advisor.

FRANK LORAH recently resigned as business manager of BSC to join the business staff of California State University. There, Lorah will hold the same position but on a much larger scale. Bloomsburg wishes him luck!

Symphony ball celebrates 50 years

The Bloomsburg Branch of the American Association of University Women is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary as a local organization by co-sponsoring the Symphony Ball with the department of music at Bloomsburg State College.

Funds from the Symphony Ball will be used to provide scholarships to graduate women through the AAUW Educational Foundation Program (EFP). Jane Gittler, the local AAUW branch president, stated, "EFP is one of AAUW's most important programs and during this 50th Anniversary Year for our branch, we would like to make an important contribution to this scholarship fund. Attending the Symphony Ball is one way that the community can support higher education and have a wonderful evening at the same time."

The AAUW Educational Foundation Program sponsors scholars internationally including a specific program for African educators interested in visiting the United States to study American educational institutions.

"Project Renew" is a program designed to provide financial assistance to American women who have been unemployed or underemployed and who want to return to school to develop skills that would allow them to enter the job market. Scholarships are also available to graduate women who are completing doctoral, post-doctoral, or professional programs.

Public Service Grants are awarded to AAUW branches or individuals who are involved in community improvement projects. The Bloomsburg Branch of AAUW has received two Public Service Grants during the past five years. The first grant was an award to assist in the establishment of the Women's Center, and the second to help the Bloomsburg Theatre Ensemble with its Theater Arts in the Classroom program.

Taking a stand on the draft

BY BOB KLEIN

Registration for the draft; will it affect your education? The Commonwealth Association of Students seriously examined this pressing issue throughout their statewide conference held at BSC last weekend.

Should CAS assert a position dealing with the draft? The question was raised frequently. The student representatives felt the fear of losing their credibility as student leaders of the PSCU system by taking a position on the draft.

Furthermore, the realization that most campuses are split on the issue is certainly a dilemma that can invoke CAS opposition either way.

Is the draft a social issue or does it borderline as an educational issue? Upon consideration of the draft as strictly an educational issue affecting all students and the entire PSCU system, the reps disclosed a variety of facts on the impact of the draft to the PSCU system.

Defining the registration of the draft as a single entity, not reflecting any kind of consideration of the present political situations, is a crucial understanding that the students must be aware of.

After examination of the draft and its damaging impact on the educational system, CAS adopted the following resolution;

Whereas a draft system has the potential of depriving the state college system of large numbers of students, thereby creating great financial difficulty for the system, and

Whereas any governmental attempts at bringing back military conscription through registration of a draft would seriously disrupt the life styles and careers of the students of the PSCU system, and

Whereas there has not appeared, to date, any conclusive evidence that the military draft is necessary for the maintenance of national security, and

Whereas a draft system will deprive students of their rights to a college education,

Be it resolved that the Commonwealth Association of Students opposes any attempts to reinstate the military draft and the registration system during PEACETIME.

general. Currently the organization is working for the passing of several bills. Three of the bills deal with reformed reproductive health education, to extend to schools, couples and agencies.

Also, the group is concerned with proper penalties for sterilization abuse and medical negligence. The establishment of Obstetric - Gynecological units in all counties is another matter of interest with NOW.

With a discussion on the Equal Rights Admendment (ERA), Whitley explained the 59 cent wage difference on the average between men and women. NOW is continuing on the ratification of the ERA in three other states.

Whitley then mentioned the proposed draft registration. NOW stands opposed to the policy since "the response stimulates an environment for war," said Whitley. She felt that too many are willing to battle with other's lives; and, more importantly, claimed the government has been biased concerning women in the military.

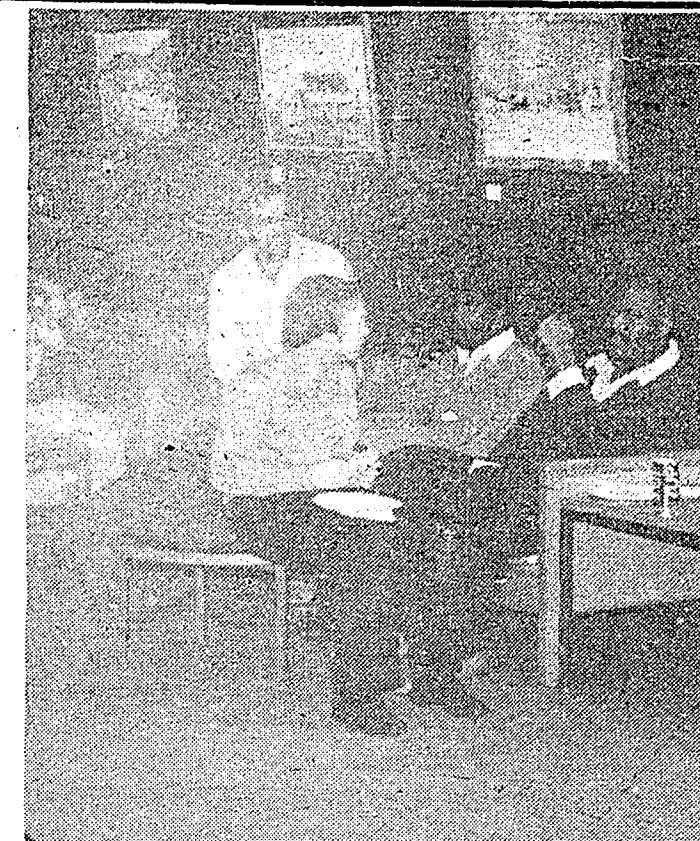

Whitley said that women have always served in the military, but have been under a stereotype that women could not fight. With today's technology, said Whitley, there is a greater need for brain than brawn, and a greater increase of women in the reserves could offshoot many problems.

The discussion ended with Deb Young, campus organizer for NOW, seeking help from the student body. Services are needed in the areas of support and organization. A student activism kit was delivered explaining methods of setting up a women's group on campus.

WORKSHOPS GALORE

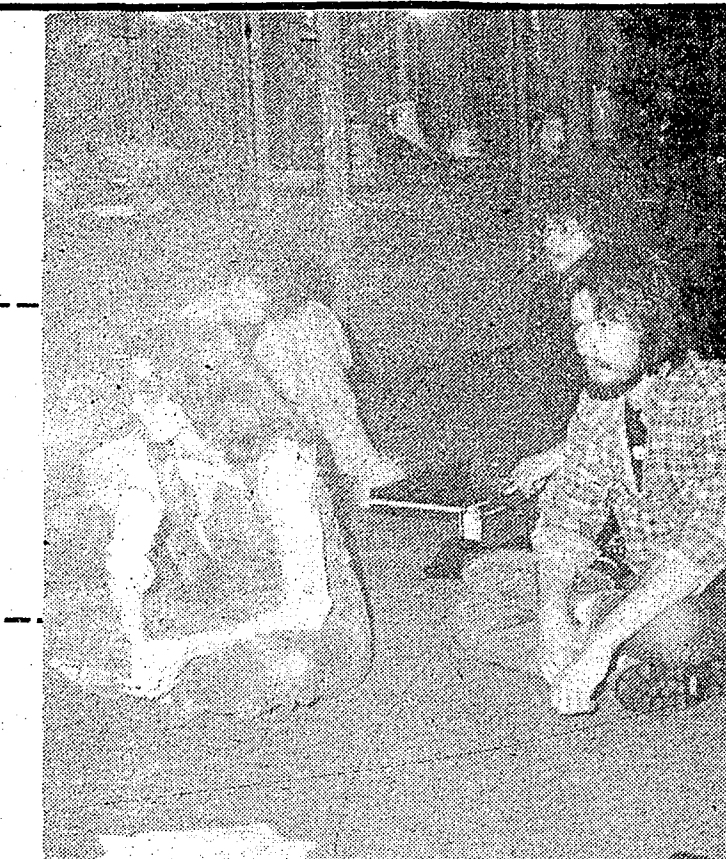

Saturday afternoon, the CAS representatives broke into small groups to discuss various topics. Workshop topics included a Women's Task Force, a Handicapped Task Force, Gay Rights, search warrants and student insurance.

Approximately 42 representatives attended the conference. All state colleges and Indiana University were represented.

FROM WORKSHOPS TO SPEECHES, the group of students were kept busy with discussions on a wide range of items pertaining to the state colleges.

STARTING WITH EXECUTIVE SESSIONS, the conference ended with a plenary policy-making meeting on Sunday. Topics for approval included taking a stand on the proposed draft registration.

Governor Thornburgh requests budget

 at least $150 per year, raising the fee to $1,100.
 A footnote points out that the appropriation total does not include a pending request for a $2,700,000 deficiency appropriation for the current year. BSC is projecting a balanced budget for this year and will not receive any deficiency funds.
 It was also noted that the proposed distribution of the requested 1980-81 appropriation is based on an allocation formula developed by the Pennsylvania Department of Education (PDE). The amount designated for BSC is 7.31 percent of the total appropriation. Fall enrollment reports show that BSC has 8.17 percent of the system's total full-time equivalent students. Bloomsburg called attention to inequities in the distribution of appropriated funds in 1975 when the college had 7.52 percent of the FTE students but received only 6.68 percent of the available funds. Some adjustments were made on a year-to-year basis and by 1978-79 BSC's percentage share had been increased to 6.99 percent. Last year the PDE adopted a distribution formula based on credit hour productivity, projected faculty and support service needs, and physical plant costs. Since it was assumed that the smaller institutions cannot be operated as efficiently as the larger schools, an "economy of scale" factor was included in the formula. It was also determined that the formula would be implemented in stages over a three-year period, and last year Bloomsburg's share was set at 7.14 percent. In 1981-82, when the formula will be implemented fully, Bloomsburg's percentage will be 7.48 percent, according to current projections.

 The allocation recommended for this year by the governor for BSC is $700,000 higher than it would be under the percentage used in 1978-79.

Library provides more space

Do you need a quiet place to study? Does the library seem over-crowded, especially on Sunday nights? Library officials are planning an experimental idea which could alleviate this problem.

Beginning March 3, Room L-35, the mini-auditorium on the first floor will be open to students for studying purposes. The room will be open Sunday through Saturday after 6 p.m.

Women swimmers/ Bucknell

by CINDY PECK

The women's swim team fell to Bucknell by a score of 84-56 on Tuesday.

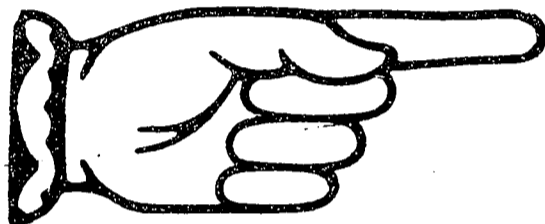

Taking a third for BSC in the 500 yd. freestyle was LeeAnn Pietrzykoski, while Linda Smith and Lori Danner took first and third, respectively in the 200 yd. individual medley relay. Leah Stratton placed second in the 100 yd. freestyle, and Ann Fadner took third.

In the 50 yd. backstroke, Joanne Kitt finished first, Vicki Orme took third in the 50 yd. breaststroke, while Sue Brophy and Sherry Hildebrand took first and third in the 100 yd. butterfly. Donna Glass came through with a second in one meter diving, and Patti Iezonni took third.

Leah Stratton placed second in the 50 yd. freestyle, and Fadner followed with a third. Two first place finishes came to BSC through Kitt's win in the 100 yd. backstroke and Smith's win in the 100 yd. individual medley. Leah Stratton contributed a first in the 200 yd. freestyle.

In the 50 yd. butterfly, Hildebrand took third, and Iezonni finished third in three meter diving. Orme scored another first for BSC in the 100 yd. breaststroke. The 200 yd. free relay team of Kitt, Brophy, Fadner, and Smith took first.

Saturday's home meet with Indiana was postponed because of snow. The women travel to Millersville today.

Pres. McCormick warns about education problems

Educators should be planning how to cope with the problems being predicted for higher education in the next two decades, Bloomsburg State College President James H. McCormick declared in a panel presentation at the Southeast Pennsylvania area Conference of Student Affairs Professionals at Valley Forge, Pa., recently. McCormick spoke as a representative of the public colleges and universities. Others on the panel were Dennis O'Brien, president of Bucknell University, representing private colleges and universities, and Allen T. Bonnell, president of the Community College of Philadelphia, representing the two-year colleges. The conference was attended by student life professionals and college administrators from a three state area. Citing "some gloomy predictions" of enrollment declines, budget constraints, and government regulations, McCormick commented that everyone in higher education must come to grips with these concerns immediately or "face discouraging alternatives in the future." He referred to the conference theme, "Changing and Rearranging," and commented that "if institutions of higher education are to survive to meet the 21st century, we are indeed going to have to do some changing and rearranging — of a substantive nature."

McCormick pointed out that concerns about the future must be dealt with by the entire higher education community, and he urged the student life professionals to participate as active partners in efforts to design quality programs that will meet the needs of the increasingly diverse student population.

Others from Bloomsburg who attended the conference were Jerrold Griffis, vice-president for Student Life; Robert Norton, dean of Student Life; John Mulka, director of Student Activities; and Jennie Carpenter, assistant dean.

Paintings on exhibit

BY KATHY ARVIA

Do you think that bowl you made in ceramics is pretty good, and that silkscreen print you pulled in Graphics seems to improve with age? Well, now is the time for you to put your talents to a test by entering your art work in the BSC Student Art Show. The show is open to all BSC students who wish to show quality work in this annual exhibition.

If you are going to enter work in the show, get an enterant's sheet before you go home for Spring Break so you will have time to frame your work. All artwork must be brought up to Haas Gallery to be entered into the show on Wednesday, March 5 from 12-4, and Thursday, March 6 from 1-5.

You can obtain enterant's sheets for the Student Art Show from any art professor or at the Art offices on the third floor of Bakeless, out of the packet tacked to the Student Art Association bulletin board.

Bike Hike is April 12

The 1980 Bike-Hike, sponsored by the Columbia Association for Retarded Citizens (C.A.R.C.), will be held on April 12 and will begin at the town park. Participants may bike or hike 20 miles and start anytime between 9 and 10 a.m. The goal for this year is $10,000.

Proceeds from the Bike-Hike will go to Camp F.U.T.U.R.E. The camp itself was established in 1976. F.U.T.U.R.E. stands for Fun and Understanding Through United Recreational Experiences. This camp is the only summer camp program for school-age special education children in the area.

The camp offers an opportunity for personal growth of each child by giving them the experience of attending a "real camp." Sessions at the camp begin at 9 a.m. The average day consists of six activities: physical education, music, nature study, arts and crafts, dance and drama, and a special activity.

Groups and organizations are invited to participate in this annual event. Prizes will be given to those bikers or hikers that pledged the most money on their sponsors sheets when they turn in their money. Some of the prizes will include bikes, T-Shirts, and certificates for food from the area restaurants.

This year's Bike-Hike committee members are Mary Kay Rigano, Lisa Yocum, Anita Deller, Shelly Reichl, Lisa Keglovits, Brian Farrell, and Todd Moyer.

Husky tracksters maul Lock Haven

by KEVIN KODISH

Capturing first place in 11 of the 13 events, the BSC men's track team smashed visiting Lock Haven 86-29 in an indoor meet last week.

Dan McCallum and Ray Distasio gave the Huskies a one-two finish in the shot put. McCallum's best heave was 52'1 1/2", while Distasio's put of 46'10 1/2" earned him the second slot.

Joe Cecchetelli registered a first place in the 50 yard high hurdles. Cecchetelli bested Baxter of Lock Haven by a tenth of a second for the top spot. Dan Calhoun picked up third place in the event for BSC.

Robert McIntosh and Joe Miller placed in the 50 yard dash. McIntosh won the event with a time of 5.65, and Miller claimed third with a 5.73 clocking.

John Feeley led a Bloomsburg sweep in the mile run with a time of 4:24. Ken Latch and Bill Harte picked up the second and third positions, respectively.

Scott Feinstein and Kevin Anderson achieved the top two spots in the 440 yard dash. Feinstein won the event with a mark of 53.4. Anderson followed in second with a 53.6 mark.

Bob Feeley topped all participants in the 880 yard run. His time of 2:01.74 led the Huskies to another sweep. Teammates Tom Fager and John Deininger followed right behind Feeley.

Chris Grega topped the field in the 1000 yard run. The junior's time was 2:26. Brian McIntosh claimed third for BSC in the event.

Robert McIntosh came back after the 50 yard dash title he won to conquer the field in the 300 yard dash. McIntosh sprinted to the win in 33.57.

The Huskies had a good night in the two mile run. Steve Johnson and Tom Groff shared top honors, tying for first with a time of 9:43.5.

The BSC mile relay team of Miller, Anderson, Mark Kendzor and Robert McIntosh put together a time of 3:34.87 to defeat the Bald Eagles.

Harte, Latch, Bryan Hughes and Bob Feeley teamed up for a winning time of 8:36.4 in the two mile relay.

The two events that Lock Haven won were the high jump and the 600 yard run.

Ken Jones and Jim Nash followed behind Andy Herbster of Lock Haven in the high jump, while Cecchetelli and Kendzor picked up the second and third spots in the 600 yard run.

Coach Carl Hinkle is pleased with the efforts of his team so far this season. The squad is now idle until after the spring break.

Women 'five' tally fourth straight win

by KEVIN KODISH

The Bloomsburg State women's basketball team continued their late season blitz last week by downing the Bucknell Bisons 75-61 at Nelson Fieldhouse.

The assault on Bucknell was the fourth straight triumph for the Huskies and improved their season record to 7-8.

P. C. Lyons and Hilarie Runyon each netted 16 points to share scoring honors for the winners. Cheryl Sedlak followed with 12 markers, and Gail Hopkins hooped 11 points.

Laurie Rabenold topped all players in scoring. The Bucknell standout pumped in 21 points. Henry and Boldry also reached double digits for the Bisons. Henry hit for 16 markers, while Boldry chipped in with 10 points.

Sally Houser hit a 10-footer with 19:47 to go in the opening half to give the Huskies a 2-0 lead. After a BU free throw. Sedlak dropped in a shot from 15 feet away to make the tally 4-1 Bloomsburg.

Boldry of Bucknell and Mindy Lerit of BSC exchanged buckets before Sedlak drilled another jumper for an 8-3 BSC advantage. Henry swished a 14-footer for the Bisons to reduce the Husky lead to three, but Lyons responded with a 12 foot bucket of her own to give Bloomsburg their five point lead back, 10-5.

Lyons added two more field goals and Hopkins hit a free throw to boost the Husky pad to 15-5 with 14:02 left in the period.

The Bloomsburg lead stayed in the 8-10 point range for most of the first half until Runyon took over the spotlight. The freshman poured in 12 of the Huskies final 14 points in the half and powered BSC to a 43-29 halftime bulge.

Lyons and Sedlak each scored buckets to open the second half and Bloomsburg looked good as gold at 47-29.

Coach Sue Hibbs' crew extended the lead to as many as 22 points and coasted to the victory. The big lead enabled all 11 players to see action, and nine of the 11 scored points.

Lyons had an outstanding evening. The senior, aside from scoring 16 points, pulled down 12 rebounds and made some passes that would have made Larry Bird smile.

The Huskies hit 54 percent from the field in the opening half (20 of 37) to achieve their best shooting half in two years. The locals hit 43 percent in the final canto to finish the night with a sizzling hot 49 percent shooting effort.

Saturday's game against IUP was postponed because of inclement weather. AT presstime, it was hoped that the game would be played Thursday night at Nelson Fieldhouse.

BSC icers skate to tie

The Bloom Hockey Club skated to a 4-4 tie with the second place Mount Nordsmen on Monday night.

The first period was highlighted by a Jenny Valletta backhander which was good for a goal. The score evened things up at 1-1.

In the second period, Captains Mike Grady and Valletta scored for Bloomsburg. The Nordsmen scored a goal in the period also. After two periods Bloom led 3-2.

The third period featured tight checking and fast skating. The Nordsmen scored halfway through the period to knot things at 3-all. The Nordsmen tallied a goal again with 1:50 left, but Grady scored for BSC on a pass from Deal Bertch with just 16 seconds to go. The score enabled Bloom to even things up before it was too late.

BSC weightlifters fare well at Kutztown

by MIKE CERONE

Keystone Hall Gymnasium, located on the Campus of Kutztown State College, was the site of the 1980 Pennsylvania State Collegiate Powerlifting Championships. On Sunday, Feb. 10, 150 lifters competed for trophies in six different weight categories. Spectators from all over the state - operated colleges cheered on the competitors. Total attendance was estimated at 1,530 people.

BSC was represented by five young men in three different weight classes. They were Dan McCallum in the 220-lb. class, of Wyomissing, Pa.; Dino Darbenzio in the 198-lb. class, of Old Forge, Pa.; Shaun Serfoss, 181 lbs., of Wind Gap, Pa.; Kevin Ford 181 lbs., of Allentown, Pa.; and Jim Kardos, 181 lbs., from Old Forge, Pa.

The contest consisted of three types of lifts: the Bench Press, the Squat, and the Dead Lift.

Each lifter could attempt a weight three times. If he didn't lift the weight he forfeited that specific event, but throughout the afternoon there weren't many misses.

According to Darbenzio, a junior, and a member of the football team, "Our lifters made a very good showing. We held our own, and with the facilities we have and the short span of time we had to train for this meet, we did very well."

Darbenzio did very well in the 198 lb. class. His best lifts were 360-lb. Bench Press, 470-lb. Squat, and a 540-lb. Dead Lift. His total points amounted to 1370 lbs. which was good for a third place finish.

Darbenzio said, "I'm happy with my finish. I expected to win, but I've only been training for seven weeks and my lifts were better than last year."

Another lifter, who probably had the best day of all, was Jim Kardos, a junior. Kardos competed in the 181-lb. class and his lifts of 285 in the Bench Press, 450 in the Squat, and 575 in the Dead Lift, were good enough for a first place finish for BSC. Kardos was very poised throughout the meet and he appeared to be very confident throughout the day.

Kardos said, "Last year I came down here and fouled on a couple of my lifts. This year I made up my mind that wasn't going to happen. I did make one bad lift when I tried for 500 lbs. in the Squat and didn't go low enough, but other than that I am extremely happy."

Kardos was one of the most impressive lifters of the day. The spectators really enjoyed watching him use his leg strength to lift those amazing weights.

Dan McCallum, a senior, also made a very impressive showing. This was Dan's first appearance at the Powerlifting Championships and he pulled out a second place finish. McCallum, who competed in the 270-lb. class, made lifts of 520 in the Bench Press 520 in the Squat, and 565 in the Dead Lift., for a total of 1505 lbs.

McCallum has been very active in athletics during his stay at BSC. He has competed in football, baseball and track and did exceptionally well in all. He is presently training for the Division III National Championships in which he will put the shot.

"I never really trained for this type of competition before," McCallum said. "I enjoy lifting, but I'm really working hard for track. There's nothing I want more than to win the competition at Nationals. As far as the contest went, I'm very happy with my lifts. I was optimistic going into the meet and I am very happy with my outcome."

Bloomsburg was also represented by two other first-time competitors. Serfoss and Ford are members of the BSC football team. Serfoss had lifts of 320 lbs. in the Bench Press, 335 lbs. in the Squat and 440 lbs. in the Dead Lift in the 181 lb. class for a ninth place finish. Ford, also in the 181 lb. class, had lifts of 300 lbs. in the Bench Press, 320 lbs. in the Squat, and 440 lbs. in the Dead Lifts, for a tenth place finish. Both were pleased with their showings in their first appearance in powerlifting competition.

Overall, the consensus was that the Bloomsburg lifters represented the college very well. Darbenzio said "after the showing that we made, maybe the college will support some sort of weight lifting club. With some support and organization we can come home with five first place finishes next year."

Women's JV hoopsters on top

by KEVIN KODISH

The women's varsity round-ball team isn't the only women's hoop squad putting wins on the board for BSC. The jayvees, under the guiding hand of Lynda Wiest, have quietly posted two straight impressive victories to pull within one game of an even slate for the season.

ROMP OVER BUCKNELL

The latest jayvee victim was Bucknell. The game was close for the first nine minutes, but the Huskies went on to blow the visiting Bisons right out of the gym 78-50.

Coach Wiest had the pleasure of watching her reserves start the second half and actually add to the 12 point intermission advantage.

Bloomsburg had a trio of double figure scorers with Julie Loucks leading the way with 15 markers. Deb Thom was right behind with 14 points, and guard Maureen McDonald tallied 13 points.

Parks led BU with 11 points, while teammate Straub chipped in with 10 markers.

MILLERSVILLE WIN

The locals built a 29-18 first half lead and coasted to a 66-54 conquest of the Millersville State Marauders.

Thom racked up 15 points to lead the Husky point getters. McDonald and Diane Alfonsi followed with 14 and 13 points, respectively.

Ann Nespoli drilled in 17

'I think our team has definitely come a long way since the beginning of the season. Since the JV team consists solely of first year players an adjustment had to be made as to playing with all new teammates.'

markers for MSC. Nespoli was the only Marauder to reach twin digits, as Kelly was second in the scoring line for Millersville with nine.

Thom and Alfonsi ruled the boards. The two combined for 28 rebounds, with Thom registering 15 and Alfonsi 13.

COACH SPEAKS

When coach Lynda Wiest was asked about her team's progress from the beginning of the year, she replied, "I think our team has definitely come a long way since the beginning of the season. Since the JV team consists solely on first year players, an adjustment had to be made as to playing with all new teammates. I feel they have had little difficulty making the adjustment."

The coach attributes the recent success of the team to development. "The team has finally begun to play much closer to their true ability. The first few games were very evident of freshman playing their first college games. We were definitely hurt by the fact that they were not yet ready, due to lack of experience, to handle the pressure situations."

Wiest was asked to comment on any key players on her team.

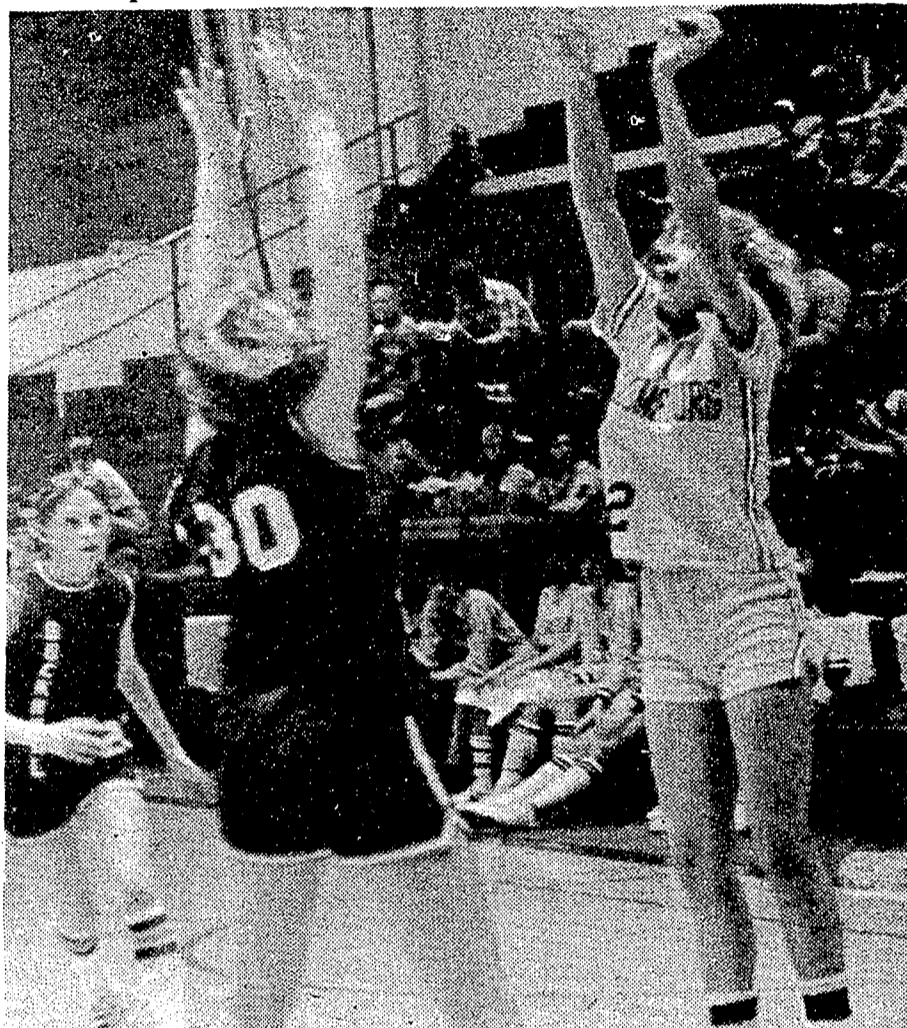

"I can honestly say that every player on my team can be considered a key part. I would like to note, however, that Diane Alfonsi deserves particular mention. After seven games, she is leading the team in rebounds and assists, while tying with Julie Loucks for highest number of steals. She is also second in scoring behind Maureen McDonald. Captain Deb Thom also adds to our attack in rebounding and scoring, while serving as a very good team leader.

Wiest noted that she feels her team has a special personality. "The JV team has remarkable enthusiasm. The team has had no interpersonal conflicts and are very team oriented. The players all came into the season with a great deal of talent and they have been very responsive to coaching. They are a great team to work with."

The jayvees record after the two victories stood at 3-4. Like the varsity, the junior varsity hopes to host IUP before spring break.

Dardaris places first; BSC bows to Clarion

by CINDY PECK

The men's swim team suffered a loss Tuesday to defending league champion Clarion by a 62-42 score.

Bill Wolfe placed third in the 1000 yd. freestyle, while Baskin took third in the 200 yd. freestyle. Also tallying a third place was Tim Briddes, in the 50 yd. freestyle.

Captain Pete Dardaris placed first in the 200 yd. individual medley, while Phil Spampinato took third. Dardaris was also the victor in the 200 yd. backstroke, an event which he remains undefeated. Reik Foust added a third place in the race.

In both 1 and 3 meter diving, Tom Cole and Scott Weigand placed second and third, respectively. In the 200 yd. butterfly, Spampinato took third, and Briddes placed third in the 100 yd. freestyle.

Baskin and Wolfe took second and third in the 500 yd. freestyle, while John Conte came through with a second in the 200 yd. breaststroke. The team of Baskin, Briddes, Dardaris and Frank Jacoby won the 400 yd. free relay.

"Clarion swam very well," commented coach Eli

McLaughlin. "I think they will be in the driver's seat to defend the championship that they've held for the past 9 years."

The team travels to Penn State today and to Indiana on Saturday.
