Choral Ensemble features various songs

BY DAVID S. WILLIAMS

Attention all music lovers! On Sunday, April 20 at 3 p.m. BSC Woman's Choral Ensemble will hold a concert in Haas Auditorium to entertain the general public.

The woman's repertoire will extend from the Classical art music of Mozart, Morly and Brahms to a few more well known tunes from the famous Muppet Movie. Also included in the program will be a medley of songs recreating the mood of the 1960's.

Directing these young ladies will be Dr. Richard J. Stanislaw.

Accompanying the Women's Choral Ensemble will be the BSC all-male Husky Singers and the Brass Sextet.

The Woman's Choral Ensemble was organized at BSC approximately fifteen years ago and has been going strong ever since. This past year the women enjoyed an eight-concert tour in Boyertown, Milford, various Allentown Malls and high schools in the area.

They have been very well received at all of their performances and enjoyed doing them all.

According to Dr. Stanislaw, "Our performance will be varied and will be accepted by both the young and the old."

PA. primary is April 22

BY LEE G. VIVIAN

On Tuesday, April 22, Pennsylvania will hold its presidential primary. Along with voting for presidential candidates, various senatorial and congressional positions will be voted for. The results of these elections will determine the candidates who will represent the parties in the general election in November.

It is important for students to vote in this primary. It is through this primary that their voices can be heard in Washington. In past elections, a great deal of student apathy has been evident. At the recent special congressional election held, only 10 percent of the registered students voted.

On campus students who are registered to vote can do so in the Kehr Union Multipurpose Room C. Off-campus registered student voters in the designated areas of their respective wards. If students do not know where they are to vote, they can call the Columbia County Courthouse.

Once again, students are URGED to vote on Tuesday, to let their voices be heard in Washington. Voting begins at 7:00 a.m. and ends at 8:00 p.m.

Students learn about sex discrimination

In response to the evidence of sex discrimination in education, Congress passed Title IX of the Education Amendments in 1972. In brief, Title IX states:

"No person in the United States shall, on the basis of sex be excluded from the participation in, be denied the benefits of, or subjected to discrimination under any education program receiving federal financial assistance."

This past weekend five students from BSC learned how to initiate activity at the campus to achieve sexual equality in education. The conference is a model training program designed to evaluate the usefulness of the project workbook and its effectiveness as a training tool for students. The conference was sponsored by the Commonwealth Association of Students. CAS has been actively involved in this issue.

Approximately 50 students and staff from post-secondary institutions in Pennsylvania were selected to participate in the program.

There were five persons representing Bloomsburg State College, among them were Willard E. Bradley, CGA president and Susan Appleby, CASFound project coordinator. Bradley, stated upon return that "the conference was well worth the time spent. I now understand it means to enforce Title IX regulations and how difficult it is."

He continued, "this law serves to protect the educational community from (continued on page 2)"

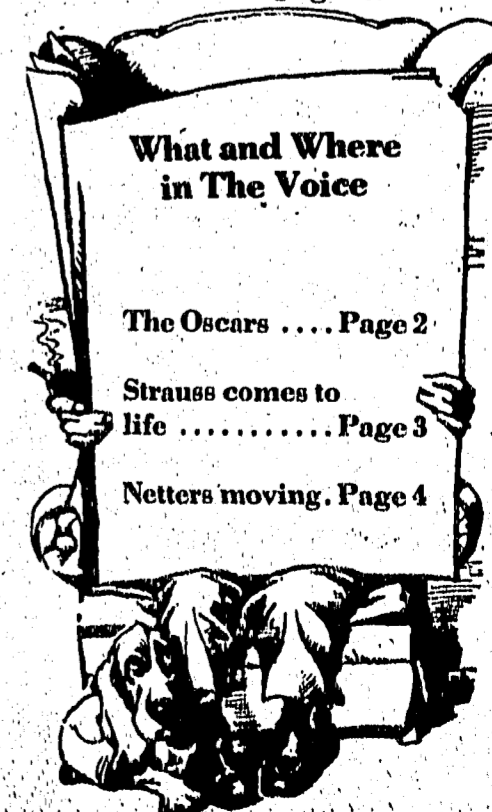

Requirements could change

The next meeting of the Representative Assembly, slated for Wednesday, April 23, will concern changes and additions to the General Education requirements.

All faculty members have been asked to attend. Also, since the policies to be discussed are of utmost concern to the student body, all students are urged to attend.

This will be the only meeting where all students present will have a chance to voice their opinions about the changes and additions to the policy.

The meeting will be held in Multipurpose room A of the Union at 3 p.m.

Finance Committee approves funds

The approval of the finance committee report and discussion concerning next year's budget comprised the recent meeting of the Community Government Association (CGA).

The finance committee has been given approval to finance the following projects: $1,125 to Phi Beta Lambda for a National Leadership Conference in Washington, D.C.; $1,300 to support Earth Day '80; $1,800 for two film projectors for athletic team use and approximately $1,400 for swim benches.

Defeated by council was the allocation of up to $100 for a calculator for the athletic department secretary.

Discussion over the budget was given, but no approval was voted upon due to the lack of a quorum at the meeting's close. Of primary interest to council were the athletic budgets and the allocation for WBSC, campus radio station. Although given $5,000 (half of their request), members of WBSC pleaded with council for a reconsideration and possible increase for next year's budget.

The next meeting of CGA is scheduled for April 28.

Terms papers

The Consumer

“Academic Research Papers: Improve Your Grades,” say the ads in college newspapers and such national magazines as Rolling Stone. “Send $1 for catalogue of topics.” It is research that is for sale, but it is research that can be handed in to a professor as a term paper with little more than a re-typing.

Nobody knows how many of these papers are bought by college students, but it is easy to see that the companies in the term paper business are making out well. Since their beginnings in the early 1970s, such companies as Research Assistance of Los Angeles, and Collegiate Research Systems in New York have expanded their services with national advertising and catalogues of pre-written papers which number in the thousands. If just one-half of one percent of college students bought a 10-page paper annually, the companies would take in over $2 million.

While it's difficult to find out how many papers are being sold, or to whom, the quality of those papers can be investigated. A situation presented itself where a reporter, who is also a senior at the University of Arizona, had been assigned a 10-page term paper in his modern dramatic literature course. Plans were quickly drawn up to buy a paper to turn in to the professor without his knowing it. The student's own, self-prepared term paper would be left with a department head and turned in after the purchased paper was graded.

The first thing to do was get a catalogue. There was a nagging question of whether or not the companies actually were selling honest - to - goodness term papers. After all, when interviewed by reporters, most deny that the purpose of their business is to fulfill students' needs.

“We hate that term (term paper mill) being applied to us,” said Michael Spencer of Research Assistance. “Most of our service is sold to businesses. We don't even know how many students use the service. We're just selling information; the (continued on page three) morality lies with the student." But the myth was quickly dispelled by one phone call by the student - reporter.

"Hello, I need a term paper fast," said the student to the gentleman who answered the phone at Research Assistance. "Okay, when is your paper due?" he asked. "And what is the subject?"

After noting that the paper wasn't due for three weeks, the gentleman said there was plenty of time to order the catalogue by mail. "And if you need the paper shortly after you get the catalogue, just call us and order it by phone."

One dollar, and about five days later, the catalogue arrived. In "Drama: World" there were 60 papers to choose from, not to mention the many titles that could be found under comparative literature and other drama subsections. The choice came down to two papers: First, there was "Satre's Concept of Freedom as Realized in 4 Plays," a 13-page paper complete with footnotes and bibliography. And second, there was "Brecht: Contends that the purpose of his theatre was to instill in the spectator a sense of discrepancies in his social environment," a 10-page paper with footnotes.

The cost for these pre-written catalogue papers is $3.50 a page. Original research will be done for $8 a page. The prices keep going up as the degrees involved get higher. For $12 a page, one company will do Master's theses, and for the big one, the doctoral thesis, the company will charge a mere $30 a page. The reporter chose the 10-page Brecht paper, because it was cheaper.

As for the equality of all this, nine states have outlawed the selling of materials which the merchant knows will be turned in for academic credit. No such law exists in Arizona. And, of course, if any student was caught buying and turning in such materials verbatim, he or she would probably face plagiarism at school.

To get around the "knowingly - turned - in" rule, the companies require most purchasers to sign a disclaimer saying that the materials bought would not be used for academic credit. But the University of Arizona student signed no disclaimer.

Women bow in track action

BY KEVIN KODISH

Despite setting four school records, the BSC women's track team finished third in a tri-meet held last Saturday in East Stroudsburg.

The host Warriors captured the top spot, amassing 153 total points. Temple tallied 126 markers for the runner-up position, while the Huskies scored 69 points.

Beth Banaszek set a new mark in the 400 meter dash. The freshman sprinted to a time of 61.51, good for third place.

Deb Sabalesky established a new standard for the discus. Her throw of 35.58 meters earned second place laurels. Helen Yencha took fourth in the event with her best attempt going 31.50 meters.

The mile relay team of Lisa Hague, Wendi Farrell, Terri

Purcell and Banaszek placed second with a time of 4:22.

The Huskies had two runners place in the 3000 meter run. Sophomore Ann Grab covered the distance in 11:40 which gave her the second spot. Lauren Meymaris ran a 11:53 to place fourth.

Laurel Mowery came up with a third place in the 100 meter hurdles and a fourth in the 400 meter hurdles with times of 16.4 and 72.7, respectively. Connie McFeathers placed Mowery in the 400 meter hurdling event, as she took third with a 71.9 clocking.

Marie Hoffner had a good day in the javelin finishing second. Her best throw was measured at 31.64 meters.

Bonnie Albertson heaved the shotput 10.64 meters to end up fourth in that event.

Farrell participated in the 800 meter run and finished fourth for BSC. Farrell's mark was 2:35 in the race.

Diane Alfonsi ran a 27.7 in the 200 meter dash to take fourth place.

Bloomsburg established a new record in the 400 and 880 medley relays, but failed to place in both events.

The 400 meter relay team of Mowery, McFeathers, Alfonsi and Banaszek teamed up for a time of 51.59. The first three runners of that quartet were joined by Sabalesky in the 880 medley. Their time was 1:56.3.

The season record now stands at 3-2. Coach Carolyn Wernstadt and her team return to action Saturday at the Mason-Dixon relays.
