

Over 200 students to be awarded at Convocation

On Sunday, April 27, the Eleventh Annual Awards Convocation will commence at 2:00 p.m. in the Haas Center for the Arts. The keynote address will be presented by Dr. Gilbert Gockley, an alumnus of the Class of 1966.

Gockley is a school counselor, career education coordinator, author, consultant, and college professor. His areas of expertise are affective and humanistic education, career-life education, and education for the gifted.

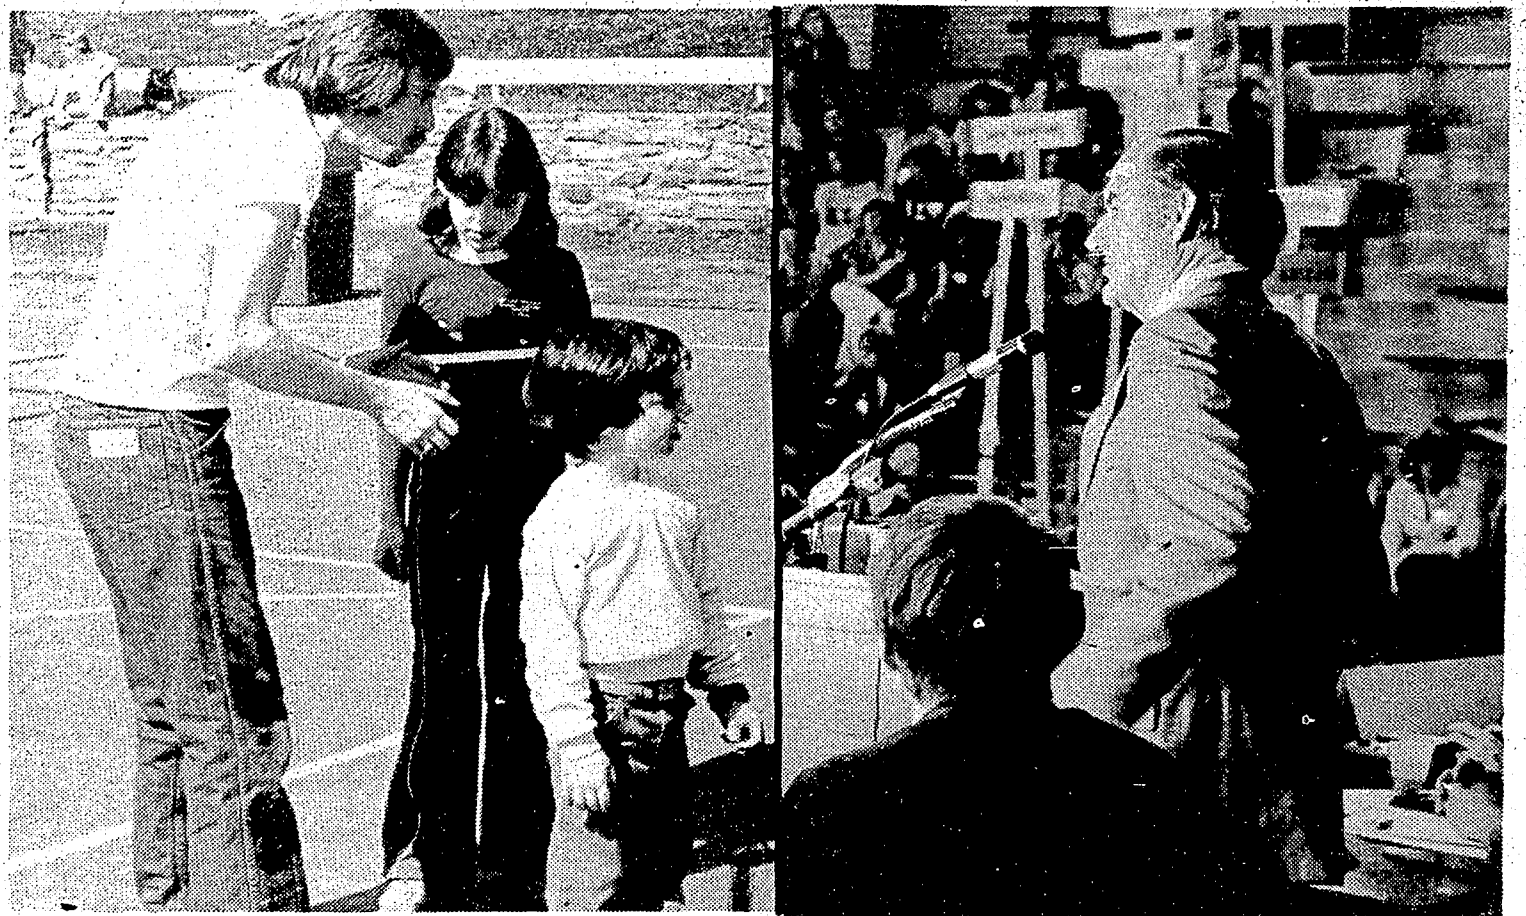

Most recently, he successfully co-authored a five-year federally-funded career education grant totaling approximately $400,000 for the Pittsford Schools in Pittsford, New York, and was hired as a consultant in guidance and special education to the Second Annual Conference of Eastern European Schools held in January at the American International Schools in Belgrade, Yugoslavia.

More than 200 students will be recognized for their various achievements in scholarship, service, leadership, and athletics.

In addition, Certificates of Appreciation will be presented to Mr. John Kubejka, Mr. Jeffrey Hunsicker, Mr. Richard Walton, and Mr. William Zurick, all former members of the Board of Trustees, Mrs. Dorothy Thomas, SAGA employee, Mr. Elton Hunsinger, Administrator for Grants, Mr. Donald Watts, Executive Director, Alumni Association, and Dr. Richard Wolfe, Dean of Extended Programs.

Following the convocation, a reception for the recipients and their parents, spouses, and friends will be held in the Kehr Union Multipurpose Room.

Following the convocation, IMAGE will perform a sign language interpretation to music in Carver Auditorium. Admission is free.

LAST WEEKEND was an eventful one at BSC. The campus was invaded by little children for siblings weekend and big children for the mock convention, all playing various types of games. On the left, George Kirlin, Dean of Luzerne Hall, and chairman of Siblings Weekend explains a strategy to Lisa Steckel, niece of BSC junior Barb Steckel, and on the right, Sen. George McGovern speaks to the delegates at the Convention, where John Anderson was elected to serve as the Republican nominee for the U.S. Presidency.

Secretary's day focuses on employees

Wednesday, April 23, National Secretary's Day — BSC's Symposium III is the Third Annual Professional Development In-Service Day for clerical employees. Presentations by familiar personalities include: John Walker, Donald Bashore, Kay Camplese, Anne Laubach, Debbie Chiodo, Joanne Day, Phil Krause, John Scrimgeour, William Williams, etc. The keynote speaker, Marilyn Lauffer, will discuss, "The Psychological Effects of Stress and Tension: How to Cope." Her presentation will begin at 11:30 a.m. in the President's Lounge.

The luncheon that is usually held for faculty and staff in the Faculty Dining Room will be held in Dining Room A at a cost of $2.50 beginning at 1:00 p.m.

The symposium is coordinated by Joan Walton, Administrative Assistant in the Academic Affairs office and by Maria Schrade, a student intern in the Office Administration curriculum.

At 3:15 p.m. Lanier's No-Problem typewriter and Dictaphone Corporation's up-dated equipment will be on display.

Faculty and Staff are welcome to attend any or all of the presentations during the day. If you would like to attend any session, please contact Mrs. Walton's office at 2422 in order that ample seating may be provided.

BSC Grad is Awards Speaker

A 1966 alumnus of Bloomsburg State College, Dr. Gilbert C. Gockley will give the keynote address at the Eleventh Annual Awards Convocation on Sunday, April 27, 1980, at 2:00 p.m. in Haas Center for the Arts. Since 1977, Dr. Gockley has been the school counselor at the Jefferson Road Elementary School in Pittsford, New York. He also serves as the Career Education Coordinator for the Pittsford Elementary Schools and is a part-time faculty member in the graduate school at Nazareth College of Rochester.

During his undergraduate years at Bloomsburg, Gockley distinguished himself as an outstanding student leader. Among other activities, he was elected President of the CGA and received BSC's Service Key Award, as well as being selected for inclusion in the 1966 publication of Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

After receiving his Bachelor of Science degree in Elementary Education, Gockley taught in the Governor Mifflin School District in Shillington, Pennsylvania, and in 1970, became the guidance specialist in the Gates-Chili Central Schools in Rochester, New York, following the completion of his Master of Education degree in Guidance and Counseling from the University of Rochester. In 1973, he received his doctorate in the field of Guidance and Counseling from the same university, and in 1977, earned the Certificate of Advanced Study degree in Educational Administration from the State University College at Brockport, New York.

In addition to being a counselor in public schools, Gockley has taught graduate courses in the areas of guidance and counseling, education, and psychology at the University of Bridgeport and the State University College at Oswego. Moreover, he has served as a consultant to numerous school districts, BOCES organizations, and the Time Share Corporation in the areas of affective education, self-concept development, career-life education, and education for the gifted, as well as facilitating several workshops in humanistic and wholistic education. In January, 1980, he was hired as a consultant in guidance and special education to the Second Annual Conference of Eastern European Schools held at the American International Schools in Belgrade, Yugoslavia.

Among numerous publications, Gockley, in 1973, co-authored the Career Insights and Self Awareness Games, a series of six career education games published by the Houghton Mifflin Company.

Editorial

Anderson vs. Mr. Bill

It first appeared as a chaotic mass of screaming students. Soon, the only intelligible words were "We Want Bill" or "Anderson for President." State delegates passed, placed nominations or succeeded to another state. Sound like the conventions on television? Well, almost. The annual Mock Convention, this year Republican, got off to a rousing start Friday night to the rousing sounds of Carleton Whittington and "The Battle Hymn of The Republic."

Interspersed with sounds from "The Last Chance Band," the convention was a bit hectic at times. Friday night's discussion on the proposed platform, for example, was difficult to follow and down right confusing. Between the roar of the crowd and the screech of the loud system, little was heard.

However, Saturday morning brought on a speech by Senator George McGovern and the final approval of the platform. Then came the real learning experience. Nominations were made for President, ranging from Bush, Anderson and Ford to Abbie Hoffman, Mr. Bill and the American Gigolo. State delegates marched and pranced around the gymnasium, waving valiantly their signs of support. Through the two voting procedures, John Anderson was nominated for the Republican candidate, with Mr. Bill a close second.

Finalizing the event was the nomination of John Heinz for the Vice-Presidential candidacy.

Although many participants were outraged at the thought of Mr. Bill entering the race, it was soon made clear that any candidate nominated was valid, including the much-abused puppet. And besides, he was the only strong runner-up.

Many delegates were missing and the apathetic turnout for the convention was readily noticeable. However, those who took the time to participate found an event that was not only entertaining but also instructional. Our hats go off to all people behind the convention, including the student steering committee and James Percey.

Letters to Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: Letters must be typed on a 60-character line and be in the Voice Office no later than 6 p.m. Tuesdays to be included in Friday's edition. All letters must be signed, with a phone number enclosed. Names will be withheld upon request, at the discretion of the editor.

Thanks given

TO THE EDITOR:

I once noticed a sign over the entrance of a doorway which read: "No matter how hard you try to please everyone, there will always be someone unhappy."

I firmly believe your staff has done a commendable job in regards to the publicity received by the men's swimming and diving team of BSC. Cindy Peck is perhaps one of the most reliable reporters I have worked with. She took the factual information given and presented it to the reader the way it should be reported. My hope for the future is that this will continue. Over the years I have learned to realize there is more than just one sport and I am not sold on the idea that one is major and the other is minor. In my opinion, they are all very important. I realize others will disagree and that is their prerogative. I feel we can be proud of all the teams and their achievements regardless of what their record may have been. I am sure there has never been a team at BSC that attempted to lose.

Please convey my sincere thanks on behalf of all the members of the men's Intercollegiate Swimming and Diving team to your staff for all their efforts.

SINCERELY,
ELI MCLAUGHLIN
HEAD COACH OF SWIMMING

Another side

TO THE EDITOR:

Since the attack on Ms. Donatelli's letter has already begun I feel it necessary to let her and (and those who feel as she does) know that they have support.

To begin, it is not necessary to agree with her exact estimate of the degree to which respect for things academic has fallen on this campus. To argue this evades the issue which she raises. The fact is that one who has open eyes can see the obvious: classes missed during "pledge time" (now behind us, fortunately); lectures, plays and debates sparsely attended; library periodicals cancelled; athletics generously funded while and "austerity" budget is supposedly in effect; and, most painful of all, I think, the lack of a true academic community, where things artistic, intellectual, and scientific are pursued and enjoyed, books are discussed, and ideas are exchanged. (I'm anxious not to be misunderstood. I have reference to faculty and administrators as well as students.) I don't feel that Donatelli's letter is properly answered, either, by calling to mind exceptions to her criticism. I have no trouble in conceding the great number of fine students and faculty at Bloomsburg. They are a cause for joy and they may, in fact, be a majority. (I like to think so.) The problem is that these are the very students and instructors who are least recognized and appreciated. They must survive in an atmosphere that makes quiet, sensitive responses to ideas and to the feelings expressed in music, books, and art well-nigh impossible. Who speaks for these people? I'd appreciate an answer.

SINCERELY,
WILLIAM C. ZEHRINGER

"I hear your hands" is theme for IMAGE concert

Image, a group of 10 BSC students which interprets modern songs through sign language, will be performing at BSC on Sunday, April 27 at 3:30 p.m. and Monday, April 28 at 8 p.m. in Carver Auditorium. Admission to these performances is free and open to the public.

The group is composed of Sue Aten, Charlotte Brady, Cathy Flynn, Mickey Magri, Barb Miller, Kathy Riley, Roberta Schultz, Kathy Staab, Kim Stephens and Gayle Weisenfluh.

Almost all of the members of Image are presently enrolled in the Department of Communications Disorders at BSC. G. Donald Miller, the director-producer of Image, is also of the Department of Communications Disorders.

Image performs a variety of different types of music including songs sung by popular artists. This year's repertoire of 20 songs feature "I Just Want", by Barry Manilow, "Show the People," by James Taylor, "Somewhere Over the Rainbow," by Judy Garland, and "The Rainbow Connection," by Kermit the Frog.

Since Image originated at BSC in the fall of 1976, the group has traveled to Chicago, Philadelphia and New York and has been invited to other colleges and conventions to perform their show.

The theme song of the group is "I Hear Your Hands" by Dan Robbins whose words "speak signs in the air." It appropriately states the purpose of Image, to present an image through sign language to the audience.

For further information contact G. Donald Miller at 389-2217.

May is Speech & Hearing Month

Editor Note: This is a guest article submitted by IDAR. PEDERGNANA

We tend to take our speech and hearing abilities for granted, even though we spend a majority of our lifetimes speaking and listening to each other, and to our world. Communication is vital in our society and it is up to each of us, as individuals, to make our communication as effective as possible.

America's number one handicapping disabilities are speech, hearing and language impairments. In fact, eight and one half million Americans have some degree of hearing loss, and approximately one percent of our population (or 280,000 people) have a stuttering problem.

The earlier that a communication deficit is detected, the better the chances are that it can be corrected or at least minimized. If you think that you may have a little difficulty hearing your professors or friends, or if you seem to trip over your words a little too often, please make use of the services available to you on campus. The Speech and Hearing Clinic in Navy Hall is a multi-diagnostic and therapy clinic, and you can make an appointment to see Mr. Angelo to take a screening test by calling 389-2217. It will only cost you a few minutes of your time to ensure that you enjoy a lifetime of clear communication.

May is better Speech and Hearing Month, and its purpose is to make people more aware of their speech and hearing, and the effects of their environments on them. If you have any questions, feel free to contact the clinic or visit the Curriculum Materials Center (GMC) in Navy Hall.

It is important to remember that prevention is the best cure. So, keep your stereos and televisions at a comfortable listening level, and do not sit in front of the speaker at a rock concert, if at all possible. Try not to strain your voice very often, and have small speech problems taken care of while they are still small. It is much easier to prevent a communication disorder than to deal with one.

Vance leads netters

by CINDY PECK

The men's tennis team now stands at 20-2 for the year after defeating Lock Haven 6-3, Oneonta 9-0 and East Stroudsburg 7-2.

Lock Haven had been undefeated before losing to BSC. The win over Oneonta, who is the SUNY Conference Champion, was the twelfth shut-out of the year for the Huskies.

Because both the Lock Haven and Oneonta matches took place on Thursday, half the team went to each match, giving each player two matches, including the East Stroudsburg match on Saturday.

Team captain, Rob Vance, went undefeated in his two matches, bringing him to 2-6 for the year. Ken Grove, who went 1-1, is 18-4 for the year. Craig Diehl and Marty Coyne each won both of their matches, bringing them to 24-4 and 20-4, respectively for the year.

Steve Blechschmidt kept his undefeated record unblemished; he stands at 12-0 for the spring. Dave Superdock, who won both of his matches, stands at 17-5, while Gary Golbitz added a win to his record, making him 8-2 for the year.

Tim Blanchard dropped his record to 4-1, while Chuck Tirendi and Mark Raynes also lost one match each. Dave Williams and Rick Willders now stand at 3-0 and 1-0, respectively, after their wins.

Vance-Grove earned victories in doubles, bringing their tally to 9-2 for the year. Coyne-Diehl now stand at 14-1, while Golbitz-Willders are 8-2 for the year. Blanchard-Raynes are 3-0.

The netters travel to Penn State Thursday and will have home matches April 28, 29 and 30. The state conference championships will be held here on May 2 and 3.

Women's softball

Huskies win doubleheader

BY KEVIN KODISH

Despite being out-hit on the day, the Bloomsburg State women's softball team swept a doubleheader from host, Wilkes College last Thursday.

The Huskies captured the opener 7-6 before topping the Colonels 10-6 in the nitecap.

Wilkes out-hit Bloomsburg in the first game by a 13-7 count, but it was the ability to bunch hits that won the game for BSC.

The Huskies opened the scoring with two runs in the first. Cheryl Sedlak doubled for the only hit of the frame. The two-bagger followed a base on balls to Gail Geberich and preceded sacrifices by Bert Spezialetti and Beth Rohrbach.

The Colonels responded to the BSC challenge immediately, as they slashed five hits in their half of the first. The result was a 3-2 Wilkes lead after one.

After Wilkes added a run in the second to make it 4-2, Bloomsburg had a big fourth inning. Three runs were plated in the canto, and the Huskies never trailed after that point.

Sally Houser, Jay Mitroka, Carolyn Bartoni and Donna Bonfiglio all accounted for hits in the big Husky fourth. Mitroka's hit was a double, while the big blow of the inning was a round-tripper socked by Bartoni.

Bloomsburg tacked on two additional tallies in the fifth on two hits and a Colonel error. Houser doubled and Rohrbach singled in the BSC cause.

GAME TWO

A pair of three run innings and a four run frame highlighted the come-from-behind Husky win in the second clash.

BSC fell behind by a 5-0 score after three innings, but the Colonels should have hoped for a cloudburst because that is all that could have stopped the flood of Husky baserunners in the innings to come.

No less than 15 Bloomsburg batters reached base in the last four innings. The Huskies did just that and took advantage of opportunities to streak to the victory.

Houser was the top hitter, as she went three-for-four. Roni Grube and Bartoni each had two hits, Bartoni's both being doubles.

PRIOR ACTION

Before the Wilkes sweep, the Huskies dropped a tough doubleheader to Scranton by scores of 8-7 and 3-2.

Though they scored seven runs in the opener, Bloomsburg could come up with but six hits. Five of the BSC hits were singles, with the only extra-base hit being a double by Spezialetti.

The Husky bats were silenced even more in the second game, as they were limited to three singles.

BSC bounced back after the two losses by topping Millersville 6-5 in the first of two games last Wednesday. Rohrbach had two hits to pace the Bloomsburg bat brigade. Sedlak had the only extra-base hit for the Huskies, a triple.

Millersville won the nitecap 10-3 behind the great pitching of May Artlip.

BASEHITS

Sue Kelly has been the team's pitching workhouse, throwing in all eight games for a total of 40-2-3 innings...

Sally Houser is hitting .448 on the season...

The team's next outing is set for tomorrow at Luzerne County Community College...

The CV staff wishes the team the best of luck in the remainder of the season.

Women's tennis

The BSC womens' tennis team captured two victories recently.

The women defeated Susquehanna 6-3 in a match played at BSC and traveled to Shippensburg where they defeated the Raiderettes 8-0 in a rain-terminated match.

With the two victories the women of coach Michael Herbert set their Spring record at 3-0 and extended their record for consecutive wins in dual matches to 10 straight.

Debbie Orendorff at number 4 singles and Ellen Williams at number 5 singles remain undefeated in singles competition and extended their dual match records to 10 consecutive victories. They both share the school record for the most consecutive wins in dual matches. The previous record was 7 set by Marylou Hnatin during the Spring season of 1979 and tied by Debbie Gundrum during the Fall '79 season.
