Tony the Baker honored by CGA

By CURTIS THOMPSON

The CGA meeting of Dec. 8 passed a motion to give Anthony Cusatis, better known as "Tony the Baker," a lifetime Community Activities pass for over 20 years of service to BSC. He has been Marshall of the Homecoming Parade and was praised for his willingness to go out of his way to help students.

The unwritten practice of giving a refund to students who attend BSC activities without their ID cards and activities stickers was removed. Students who in the past have had their $1 refunded the next day, will no longer be able to do so.

An ice skating rink may be ready for operation by the beginning of the second semester it was announced at the meeting. The liner has been ordered and will be installed at the tennis courts.

Funding of up to $25,000 was allocated for the Alumni reception room. The funds will be used for carpeting, lighting, furnishings and the construction of interior paneling to match the existing paneling.

The Forensic Society was allocated $3066.40 to send 10 members and two coaches to the National Individual Events Tournament. The tournament will be held at Western Kentucky University from April 24-27, 1981.

WBSA will receive $1185 for a new sound system to be used at the dance marathon beginning Jan. 30, 1981.

Also passed at the meeting was a motion to allocate $200 for the lawyer services of Michael Lynn in the Cardine vs. CKS apartments case. Added to this motion was a stipulation that Lynn make monthly reports in cases handled for CGA.

Funds for the Dental Vision Care Plan, not to exceed $1,000, were passed for the fiscal year ending June, 1981. The plan will cost approximately $800 per year.

Other motions passed at the meeting include $75 to the Bloomsburg Players-Summer Theatre for a royalty payment; $218 to the Karate Club for four sets of sparring equipment; $105 to buy Christmas trees for the dorms; and $108 to the Table Tennis Club for four table tennis nets.

The next meeting of the CGA will not convene until the spring semester.

Former beatle, John Lennon murdered in New York

By RICK DiLIBERTO

John Lennon, former member of "The Beatles," who changed the complexion of American music during the '60's and early '70's, was killed Monday, Dec. 8, by an assassin's bullet. Lennon was killed in NY, by a man police described as a "local weirdo." No apparent motive for the slaying was determined at the time of this writing.

Lennon was a tremendous musician that no one will easily forget. The untimely event happened during a period when Lennon was reportedly making a comeback. His newly released single, "Starting Over," has soared to the top of the music charts.

As the nation mourns the death of Lennon, we recall other such painful losses we have suffered in recent years. Buddy Holly, John Bonham, Keith Moon and Elvis Presley have all died, but none in the tragically violent way that Lennon did. These musicians are all gone from this world, but their music is still here for us to cherish. That is at least a redeeming factor.

No one can ever change what has happened to Lennon, and we must all accept his death, as we would with the death of a member of our own family. There are some fans who did love him as a member of their own family - and they will suffer. But remember, although Lennon is gone, his music will never be gone. Nothing can erase the mark that Lennon's music has left on the hearts of Americans.

There will be a large, empty space in the music world this Christmas, the space occupied by Lennon.

Thomas R. Manley retires

The request of Thomas R. Manley, professor of biology and allied health science at Bloomsburg State College, to retire at the end of the 1980-81 academic year was approved at Wednesday's Board of Trustees' meeting. He will be completing a total of over 30 years of teaching, including 17 years at BSC.

Prior to coming to BSC in August, 1964, Professor Manley was a teacher in the Selinsgrove Area School District for eight years, and in 1963 was named Pennsylvania's Outstanding Science Teacher. In 1964 he was Pennsylvania Teacher of the Year and was one of the ten finalists in the National Teacher of the Year program. His outstanding teaching ability was again reflected at Bloomsburg where, in 1976, he received one of three of the college's distinguished teaching awards and was named a Commonwealth Teaching Fellow, receiving an award of $2500. He also competed for the Commonwealth Teaching Chair Awards that year.

Who's Who lists 53 BSC students

By CASEY McKEOWN

Fifty-three students from BSC have been named to the 1981 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

The 53 finalists were picked out of 170 applications submitted. Making the selections were Deans Macauley, Forsyth and Rarig; Dr. Mulka, Jeff Ringhoffer, Beverly Howard, Pat Tenorè and Dean Norton.

According to Norton, membership in the organization "looks good" on a resume. Hiring industries find it a very meaningful plus for students named to "Who's Who."

In selecting the finalists several criteria were used as a guide. The student's academic achievements, extracurricular activities, personality, among other qualities were all considered.

"Leadership is a major criterion", Norton added. "Students should have proven they can lead others." Officers in clubs and organizations or editors of campus publications are prime examples of leadership.

Norton also felt that not enough qualified people are taking advantage of "Who's Who." The procedure is simple, however, only seniors are eligible. Simply go to several of your professors and have them fill out nomination forms. If you are qualified academically (usually a 3.0 GPA or better) and otherwise, then you're in the running. If selected, your names will be entered in the next catalog of "Who's Who" along with elite students from over 1300 institutions nationwide.

The following is a list of the 53 BSC students appearing in the 1981 edition of "Who's Who":

Marci L. Basham, Joann B. Borski, Diane L. Boston, Judith M. Brlansky, Tania M. Butrej, Mark A. Cable, Karen Caswell, Scott E. Cheek, Lania Colombo, Barbara M. Considine, Richard J. DiFrancesco, Angela S. Dotoli, Amy H. Dougherty, Joan

M. Dule, Pamela J. Ellis, Ann C. Fadner, Linda A. Fangio, Michael J. Ford, John P. Flynn, Jamie L. Freezer, Suelen F. Gluckow, Michael A. Goc, Keith A. Gogel, Elaine P. Gregory, Chesley A. Harris, Preston J. Hay, Carol A. Hermes, Marta

Letters to the Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: Letters must be typed on a 60-character line and be in the Voice Office no later than 6 p.m. Tuesdays to be included in Friday's edition. All letters must be signed, with a phone number enclosed. Names will be withheld upon request, at the discretion of the editor.

Parker replies

Dear Mr. Lyman,

I read your letter to the editor of Dec. 10th in reply to my recent letter with great interest. Not for what your letter said or how well you wrote it, but because it achieved my purpose in writing in the first place. The reason I wrote what I did was not to express an opinion or advocate any action on the part of the military, but apparently you failed to realize this. I wanted to stir controversy, to stimulate reader interest in the Campus Voice (which needs all the help it can get), and I needed a topic that would incite students into responding, thereby creating interest in reading and, hopefully, participating in the student paper. You, at least, had the "guts" and fortitude to answer my challenge.

Your letter is something else. My topic was not a personal attack against any one person, and was not even serious, but you failed to perceive that. You chose to attack me personally. I will not lower myself to your level by attacking you in print, but I do want to respond to one rather base innuendo that you made. I never brought up the subject of racism or religion, so why do you accuse me? Could it be that you are the insecure one? Do you even know the meaning of the word prejudice? I suggest, for your own

*The reason
I wrote was to express

benefit, that if you ever decide to respond to another letter, that your first read it for what it says, and if you don't understand any part of it, I will be glad to explain it to you.

William V. Parker
P.S. I was a Drill Sergeant in the army, and I am retired due to a physical disability, so I cannot re-enlist. You don't know as much about me as you thought.

Who's Crazy?

To the Editor:

I have always been led to believe that the Campus Voice is a quality college newspaper. An organization of your size would hardly be expected to display either a great lack of intelligence or an incredible genius to so accurately misconstrue the basic purpose of a college education. According to Lance, this writer represents a member of an "undeveloped nation" by virtue or the fact that he does not find it within his interest to lower himself to the child-life insecurity or any clique which must set itself apart in its search for recognition.

As for "pledges" I don't feel I am alone in the idea that it is somewhat inconsistent that an individual be humiliated for a given time period only to be recognized by his (store-bought) "friends." Lance seemed to praise this idiocy.

Furthermore, I suppose that the fact that some students have a minor interest in the achievement of scholastic aptitude renders them "boring" or at least to Lance, who should obviously scrutinize his own objectives as per the apparent misuse of both his funds and time. While I personally do not care what John does with his produce half the newspaper that you currently do. I also agree that a newspaper of small scale is destined to put out a somewhat localized and narrowly ranged product. There is, however, no excuse for the type of lunacy which appeared in the Friday, Nov. 14 issue of the Campus Voice in the form of an article dealing with "craziness" by John Lance, a member of your staff.

In his writing, Lance life or whether or not his so called "independent nations" ever exist. I resent the fact that he includes me and others like me in his revelous utopia and I feel that a quality newspaper should not allow this type of nonsense to sully its columns. Happy to bring this to your attention, I am

Sincerely
Chris Cusatis

More art displayed in Haas

The Community Arts Council will sponsor a symposium on the Dada Surrealist American painter Man Ray on Thursday in Haas. The symposium will be conducted by professors A. B. Charley of Clarion State College and Percival Roberts of the BSC department of art.

Man Ray was recently featured in art world news when his painting "A L'Heure de l'observatoire: Les amoureux", a huge horizontal rendering of Kiki's floating lips was sold for $750,000, the highest price ever paid for an American Surrealist's work.

Charley, an eminent authority on Man Ray, owns a sizeable collection of the artist's memorabilia, including letters and correspondence he conducted while in Hollywood in the 1940's with such literary luminaries as Henry Miller and where he photographed many famous actors. Man Ray's last file produced in Hollywood was based on the legend of "The Flying Dutchman" and starred Ava Gardner as Pandora.

Charley was born in Chicago and received his B.S. and M.F.A. degrees from Southern Illinois University in Carbondale. His sculptural work in cast bronze has been exhibited world-wide. His next speaking engagement on Man Ray will be held at the San Francisco Art Institute in conjunction with an exhibition he has organized there on Man Ray.

The public is invited to the Man Ray Symposium without charge.

Hope for abused women

In the time it takes you to read this article, one woman will have suffered some form of abuse. However, only one in 270 cases of abuse is ever reported. Why do women, particularly married ones, resist reporting abuse?

Battered women are often trapped. They lack the money to escape with their children, cannot earn a living and have lost hope of regaining control of their lives. Many hide the fact that they accept abuse in order to save the family.

Recently, the public has begun to recognize this problem. Today there are more than 300 refuges and even more crisis hotlines nationally. But what happens on the inside of these centers to help abused women?

The Women's Center in Bloomsburg is only one of the many organizations which offers support to women who have been either mentally or physically abused or sexually assaulted. CGA recently gave the center $2500 which is open to Bloomsburg students. The center has a hotline 24 hours a day and is connected with Bloomsburg and other area hospitals, police and clinics.

A woman and her children can stay at the home for a maximum of 30 days, needing only to supply her own food.

While at the center, she can receive counseling and participate in the four programs it offers. The programs are mainly sharing groups directed towards helping abused, divorced or separated women and single mothers learn to accept their situations and how to cope with it. The center also has a program termed "Life Skills" to inform women trying to start over about possible careers.

Colleen, a volunteer from the center, spoke of the way in which clients are handled. "You know how you feel when you're older and you try riding a bike for the first time in years and you get on and you wobble around until you get the feel of it? Well, here at the center we help the woman through the wobbly part."

Besides counseling them about emotions, the center also offers legal advice. At the present time the best form of protection available to women is a Protection from Abuse Order. This order protects a woman and her children from physical harm by a husband or boyfriend no matter where she goes. If he breaks the order, the court considers it a crime and place the violation upon his record.

The order can be obtained from a lawyer or District Magistrate for a fee. It lasts for one year and allows time for the woman to file for divorce, legal separation and custody of children.

The center never tells a woman what to do. The volunteers and employees offer little advice and listen a lot.

"The women ask, what should I do? When inside they know what to do. Our job at the center is to bring it out," stated Joanne, the head administrator. "The women need their self-ego built up. They need courage not to go back to the abuse and start a new life over."

Recently the center's success rate with women returning to the abuser has been relatively low. Since they do most of their counseling through telephone calls and some of the clients never return, it is difficult to have exact figures, but they estimate that half of those counseled return to their boyfriends and husbands where they will again experience more abuse.

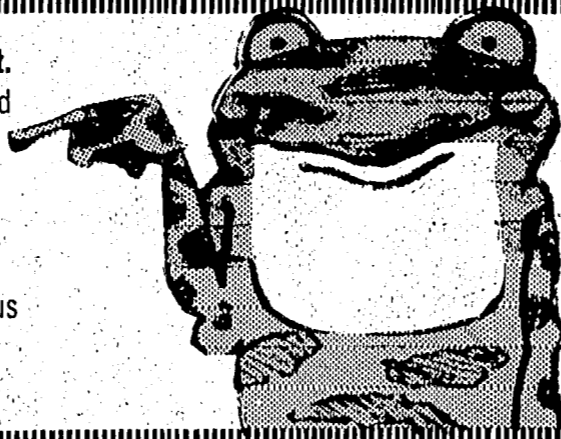

On Oct. 21, the Women's Center established a walk-in center on campus, in Columbia Hall from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. for women students desiring support in crisis situations, information and referrals, or help in other areas. Also they will be providing educational programs for women and men in residence hall settings including rape prevention, dealings with sexual harassment and abuse in heterosexual relationships.

Education Technology Task Force Formed

Secretary of Education Shirley M. Hufstедler announced the formation of a Departmental Task Force on Learning and Electronic Technology.

The task force will develop a comprehensive plan to encourage a stronger relationship between education and technology. It will focus on the preparation of school children and adults for the increasingly technological world in which they live and the expanded use of electronic technology for improving the quality of American education.

More specifically, the task force will examine:

various technologies and their current use in education, particularly to improve educational instruction; future uses of electronic technology in education; current federal support of education technology, such as the television programs Sesame Street and the Electric Company, closed captioning of television for the hearing impaired, the Kurzweil Reader for use by the blind and video discs for educational programs; and the need for future federal support of educational technology.

Task force efforts will also concentrate on cooperative relationships between the private sector, the nation's learning institutions and the federal government. Cooperation will be solicited from the private sector and educational institutions in developing the task force recommendations and proposals.

Dr. F. James Rutherford, assistant secretary for Educational Research and Improvement, will serve as chairman of the task force. Nathan W. Garner has been named task force director. Garner is on a one-year leave of absence from his post as marketing director of Time Distribution Services, a division of Time Inc.

Additional information about the Task Force on Learning and Electronic Technology may be obtained from Garner, U.S. Department of Education, 400 Maryland Avenue, S.W., Room 3073, Washington, D.C. 20202.

Holtz dolled up for Razorback football fans

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (CH) — When University of Arkansas fans say football coach Lou Holtz is a real doll, they're absolutely right.

The familiar face of Holtz, who has already branched out into the field of entertainment as a comedian-magician-dinner speaker, now adorns a doll, which comes with the coach's familiar sweater and checked pants.

At $8.95, this novelty item is more expensive than past Razorback souvenirs, which include the ever-popular plastic hog-hat with a flask built into the nose. But despite the price, Lou Holtz dolls are proving very popular in Arkansas country.

Other coaches might be flattered by this kind of adulation, but Holtz takes it in stride. One reason for the high sales volume, he comments dryly, is that "a lot of my players are buying them so they can stick pins in them."

Members of the BSC Forensic Society traveled to Towson State University, Towson, Maryland, this past weekend (Dec. 5-7, 1980) to compete in the 10th annual H.L. Mencken Individual Events and Debate Tournament. The team did well by returning to campus with three awards, including the Spirit of the Chesapeake Award.

This is an honorary award given to the team best exemplifying the true spirit of forensic competition.

Leading the Huskies in a strong team showing were Sandra Smith and Lynn Pezak who captured the 5th and 6th place awards in Salesmanship respectively. The Dramatic

"Anything Goes" with Circle K Club

The Circle K Club is once again sponsoring its annual Anything Goes Competition on Jan. 20.

Twenty teams of six members (three guys and three girls) will compete in 10 events of skill, courage, daring-do and sometimes just plain insanity. A registration fee of $6.00 per team is required with all proceeds benefiting Easter Seals.

Last year, some of the events included water relays, jump rope races and shaving cream battles; and this year's plans include even more adventuresome activities. The winning teams receive T-shirts as well as a chance to compete at state-wide levels. But, more important, it's an evening of fun and enjoyment while benefiting Easter Seals.

Registration forms are available at the Information Desk and will be accepted on a first-come, first-serve basis. For further information, contact John Bell at 389-2230 or any Circle K member.

Lennon: remembering younger days

By J. MAYNARD LYMAN

"She said, I know what it's like to be dead"

"But when you talk about destruction, don't you know that you can count me out."

As is often the case where an artist's words turn out to be prophetic, this trend continues with John Lennon. One of the best known and most respected members of the music world, Lennon was gunned down outside of his New York apartment on Monday night by a man that police described as a "local screwball.;" It was an utterly senseless and brutal murder of one of the most influential men in the history of rock 'n' roll.

"Instant Karma's gonna get you, gonna knock you right in the head. Better get yourself together, pretty soon you're gonna be dead."

Lennon had, indeed, gotten his life together. Best known as a member of the Beatles, he continued, as did the other members, with a solo career after the band broke up, but stopped recording in 1975 so that he could raise his son. In the past month though, he released "Double Fantasy," which he recorded with his wife, Yoko Ono, and which has been receiving extensive critical acclaim for the fact that he had returned simply as the extraordinary musician that he was, and not as a philosopher or political spokesman.

"Happiness is a warm gun"

"I read the news today, oh boy..."

...he blew his mind out in a car"

"Our life together, is so precious, together, we have grown ... we have grown"

I'm writing this two hours after I first heard the reports, and it's still hard to believe. Lennon and the Beatles were one of the bands we grew up with, and their music is still played regularly and has a profound effect on many people. When I got the news, I proceeded to get into an argument with my neighbors, who were upset that I showed more emotion at the fact that he was dead, than at the announcement that one of them had just gotten engaged. "Who's John Lennon?" is what one said.

That statement floored me completely. It is beyond me how someone can reach the age of 20 and say, "Who's John Lennon?" and be totally serious!

The radio is on now, playing one Lennon song after another. As I sit here, I realize that I'm reliving my youth again. Thinking back to the days spent sitting in my room in Montrose, N.Y., listening to WABC, and then WPLJ and WNEW-FM, and hearing all of the Beatles' and their solo music, and remembering how they affected me, and how I changed along the way. Then I think about "Who's John Lennon?" and it makes me sick. I'm not normally a violent person, but I was tempted when I heard that to deviate from my normal behavior.

For the reason that I normally write the music reviews for the Campus Voice, I felt that I should contribute something about Lennon's demise. I'm also doing it because I'm a musician and fan of his, and of music in general; and there isn't a performer alive who can truthfully say that the Beatles didn't touch him in some way.

When things like this happen, people are moved in different ways. Me...I'm just totally shocked and stunned. I was never a "Beatles freak," but there is no denying the influence they had on me. Now, hearing all of their songs as the radio continues its tribute, I wonder what my life would have been like had there never been a Lennon or the Beatles.

"Who's John Lennon?" Those words keep echoing in my head, and I still can't believe that the girl actually said it and was serious! "Unbelievable" is the word the DJ used, and that just about sums it up. Lennon is dead.

In the January issue of Playboy, he talked about how he hated the worship of those who have died. "I worship the people who survive ... I'll take the living and the healthy." But now, he, himself is gone.

He will survive, though, as long as there are records and the radio. Even though he did not advocate the admiration of the dead, he will now be the object of that adulation. I can only hope that the commercial garbage that followed the death of Elvis Presley will not follow Lennon, and that the money-hungry vermin in our society do not cash in on our loss.

"I think I'm gonna be sad, I think it's today."

Begin housing search Now!

By JOHN LANCE

As the spring semester draws near, many upperclassmen are thinking about where they want to live in the fall. Finding a good place is not as easy as it sounds, though. Here are some things to take into consideration when looking for your new quarters.

ELIGIBILITY

Freshmen at BSC who are under 21 years of age must reside in residence halls with the exception of commuters. According to the Pilot, "Men and women who have lived on campus for two full semesters, attained sophomore status, or are 21 years of age or older, are eligible to live off campus." A student may stay on campus up until his or her senior year.

WHERE TO START

on the top floor of Ben Franklin, should be the first stop on your journey. The office has pamphlets dealing with the task of finding an apartment. They cover what to ask landlords, how to read leases, tenant rights and other topics.

There is also a book that contains off-campus housing offers and inquiries. This is a list of people who are offering housing and who are looking for housing. Also available are lists of landlords' addresses, phone numbers, and the houses or apartments they own.

Finally, ask among friends. Maybe you could team up with them to go hunting.

CALLING AROUND FOR OPENINGS

The ideal time to start calling landlords for a house near campus is surprisingly, about one and a half semesters before wanting to move in. However, there are some landlords who start to take names at the beginning of the semester preceding the one in which there will be openings. For example, some landlords will take names at the beginning of January for openings in the fall.

LOOKING AT THE APARTMENT

The very first thing that must be done before looking at an apartment is to find enough people to fill it that won't back out at the last moment which, needless to say, can be very embarrassing.

Secondly, one must consider the location of the apartment - house and what bills he is obligated to pay. Amount of rent is one of the most important things to consider. The amount of rent that everyone involved is willing to pay should be talked out and agreed upon far in advance.

If the place and rent are suitable to everyone, the next problem is frequency of payment, either by the month or by semesters. It is a good idea, if possible, to talk to the current tenants to see if the landlord takes care of any problems that occur and more importantly if there are any problems.

Finally, it doesn't hurt to make sure your landlord likes and trusts you and that you like him. The better he or she remembers you, the better your chances are of getting the apartment.

With these tips and help from the Housing Office, finding a place will at least be less frustrating. So good luck and happy hunting!

Abused

Centers like the one in Bloomsburg are a major step but still only a beginning to helping the problems of battered women. They are now spending time counseling the abused themselves, but until the problem is traced to the roots, many women will suffer beatings and abuse.

Black poets to talk on life

It's not too late to plan ahead and so a look at future events to be scheduled for next semester.

Festival 81: Minority Awareness a Multi-Cultural Experience will take place on the BSC campus March 9 - March 20 and will feature two black speakers.

Vinie Burrows will perform a program entitled "Sister, Sister," which focuses on women of all ages and backgrounds in the Union on March 11 at 2 p.m. B.F. Maiz will also recite poetry depicting different elements in the life of man such as death, struggle and birth in a program entitled "Let Us Poet." This program is scheduled for March 12 at 8 p.m.

MORE ABOUT VINIE BURROWS

Burrows, as a solo artist and concerned U.S. citizen, has been described as "funny, gutsy, ironic and colorful." She is closely involved with African concerns, women's issues and disarmament and often blends these issues in her performances. In addition, she is a non-governmental representative to the United Nations.

As a performer, Burrows made her Broadway debut with Helen Hayes in the Wisteria. Since then she has performed in a number of successful plays on and off Broadway with Ossie Davis, Mary Martin, Ben Gazzara and Cicely Tyson.

However, she gave her career a new direction as a solo artist after realizing that parts for serious black actresses were rare to sustain as a career. She began as a solo artist at Antioch College and has since created seven different one-woman shows for the college and national theatre circuit. She has also performed these shows on the Merv Griffin Show, Camera Three and the Today Show.

B.F. MAIZ

Headlines depict Maiz as "a poet unlike a poet." Why? Because he found his interest, or rather his inspiration, for life in poetry and philosophy while serving time in prison. And because he is a man of understanding, a man of rude sophistication, a man of profanity and vision? Rather, it is a combination of the two that makes Maiz "A man poet unlike a poet."

Because of his experiences in the ghettos of Chicago, jails, correctional institutes and classroom as a teacher, Maiz has gained a wealth of knowledge that could teach practically anyone about the raw life of living. And Maiz does teach his audiences when reciting his poetry.

Maiz began writing while in the U.S. Penitentiary at Leavenworth in July, 1966. Here, he organized the first Black Symposium and instituted an annual Poetry Memorial Service for Martin Luther King in 1969. When released from prison in March, 1974, he received an appointment as special consultant to the Vice President for Academic Affairs at North Texas State University where he served for six months. "This experience provided a constructive bridge to my new life in society," said Maiz. "I am sure that I got more than I gave, but that's true of all good experiences."

In addition to reciting works in the union on March 12, Maiz also will be available for classroom visitation on March 11. Topics discussed for classes include "Prison," "The Ghetto," "A Poet" and "therapy and Drug Addiction."

Manpower provides jobs over Christmas break

About 10,000 college students will earn extra spending money and acquire on-the-job skills this holiday season as temporary workers for Manpower, Inc., the world's largest temporary service firm.

"Recent studies show that students are spending at record levels and many students will be looking for ways to pay for their new 'essentials' such as stereos and ski trips," said Mitchell Fromstein, president of Manpower, Inc. "We offer a wide variety of Christmas sales assignments and post-holiday inventory jobs during college vacation times."

In addition to providing extra income and experience, temporary work offers flexible scheduling, variety and the opportunity to preview possible summer or full-time work while still in school.

Students interested in holiday employment as a temporary worker may contact their local Manpower office for an interview to determine their marketable skills. Applicants will be interviewed on work attitudes, abilities and "hidden skills." The following list contains some examples of the most common hidden skills:

Liberal Arts: General office, junior typist, statistical typist, invoice typist, statistical clerk, receptionist, receptionist, switchboard, duplicating machine operator, addressograph operator.

Business Admin. Acct.: Adding Machine - 10 key operator, payroll clerk, assistant bookkeeper, accounting clerk (junior and senior).

Computer Sciences: CRT typist, control clerk, magnetic tape librarian.

Marketing: Demonstrators, detailer, survey interviewers, comparison shoppers, samplers.

Vocational - Trades: Painter, tradesman's assistant.

Nursing: Nurse's aide (with certification), licensed practical nurse (with completion of educational sequence), admitting clerk and ward clerk.

A toll-free Employment Hotline (800-331-1000) is offered by Manpower to schedule the initial interview.

Hike proposed for Community activities fee

Inflation is taking its toll at BSC. The Community Activities fee, payed by all students each year, may be raised.

CGA has planned to raise the Activities fee from $35 a semester to $40 a semester per student. All that is needed to make the increment official is the approval of President McCormick and the Board of Trustees. If approved, the hike will become effective in the 1981-82 school year. Also raised was the faculty fee from $7.50 to $12.50 and the family fee from $12.50 to $17.50.

According to the Community Government Association (CGA), projected income for this year $329,000 comes from the student's fees, $4500 comes from the faculty and staff fees and CGA projected an income of $10,000 from football, basketball and wrestling events. CGA's money is used to benefit the students and faculty in a number of ways.

For example, 33.2 percent of CGA's budget is allocated to the athletics programs; 39 percent is used for college and community services including commencement, Pilot, Campus Voice, Obiter, Homecoming events, and Parents' Weekend; 4 percent is for music; 2 percent is used for publicity such as radio, tv, and school publications; 3 percent is given various clubs. In addition to these services, CGA also provides a vehicle fleet of four vans, two station wagons and two Citations which may be reserved by any organization for $.18 per mile.

CGA does benefit the students by providing extensive services. Nevertheless, because of inflation, CGA is finding it difficult to continue providing its services. Last year many organizations including BSC photography club, BSC Circle K, Marketing Club and Student's Speech and Hearing Association had to have their activities cut because of the lack of funds.

Right now, the activities fee hike is only a possibility. The fee, however, has not been raised in three years. BSC presently has one of the lowest activities fees in the state, and according to the president of CGA, Jeff Ringhoffer, "This hike is needed if CGA is to continue to provide services and funding to all organizations on campus."

Wrestlers finish 4th

By DAN CAMPBELL

This past weekend the Bloomsburg State wrestling team put five men in the finals of the Billy Sheridan Invitational at Lehigh University, enroute to a fourth place finish.

There were eight teams in all, three of which held national rankings. Those three predictably took the top honors, with Cal-Poly amassing 124½ points on their way to the team title.

Host Lehigh took second with 113¾ points, while Kentucky University came away with 101½ points.

BSC had 86¾ for their fourth place finish, with Slippery Rock next- 71¾ points - followed by North Carolina State's 68 points, Hofstra's 62 and Lafayette's 34.

For the Huskies, it was Todd

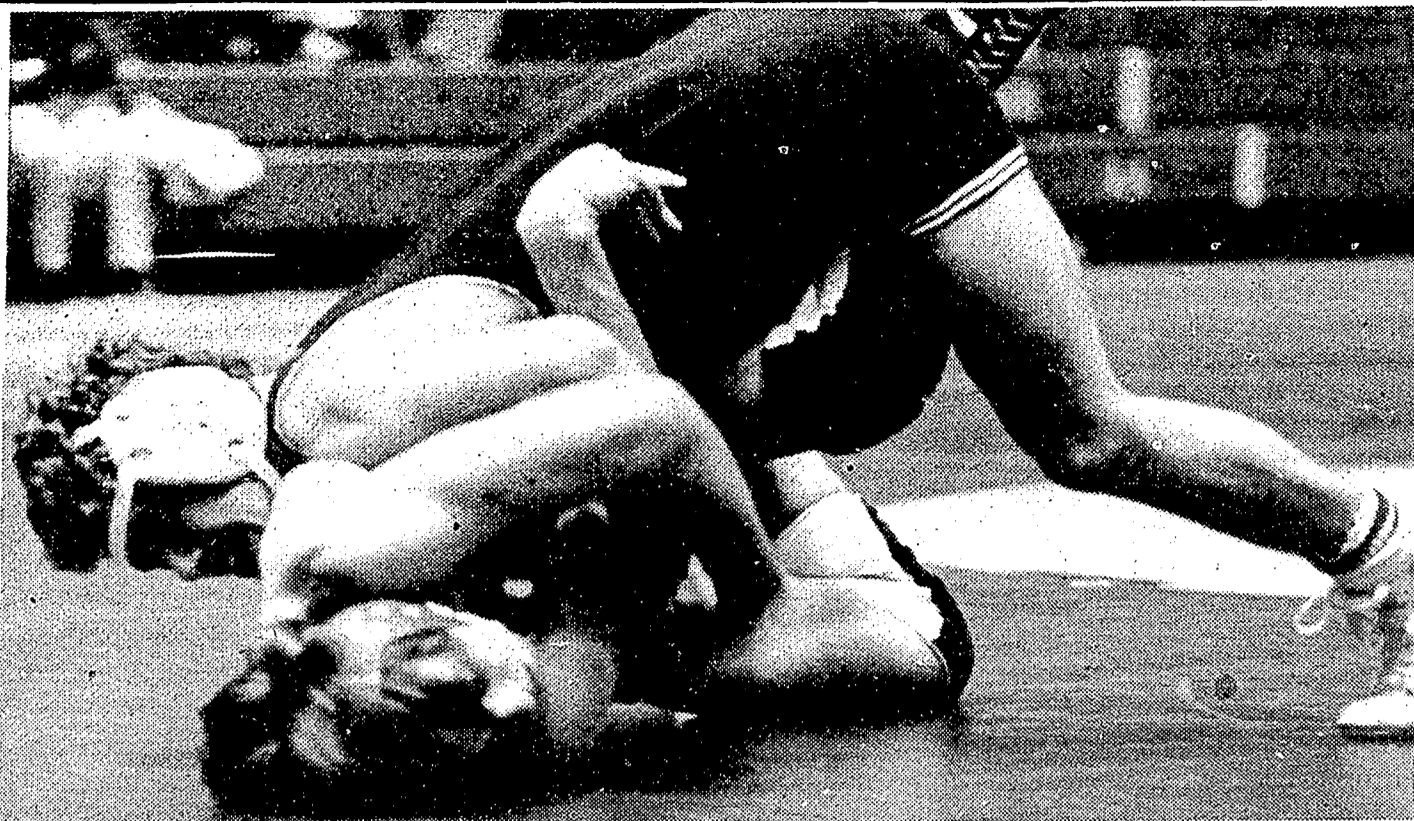

Cummings at 118 pounds. Todd beat his Cal-Poly opponent in the semi-finals by the score of 5-3, but lost in the finals to his Lehigh opponent 21-5.

At 126 lbs. it's was Don Reese, who pinned Tony Arema of Hofstra in 1:50 in the semi's but lost 26-12 to the wrestler from Kentucky.

Ed Fiorvanti, the 134 pounder also won big in the semifinals beating John Sanders of Kentucky 10-3. But Fiorvanti also lost a tough one in the finals, 18-6 to Darryl Burley of Lehigh. All three losses came against wrestlers who were nationally ranked going into the tourney.

Al McCollum and Butch Snyder also made it to the finals at 142 and 190, respectively. McCollum was just nipped by his Slippery Rock adversary, 5-

Lady hoopsters open season

By KEVIN KODISH

Sparked by Hilarie Runyon and Kathy Palubinsky, the Bloomsburg State women's basketball team opened up its 1980-81 home season with a victory, a 73-61 dumping of the visiting Marywood Pacers.

Runyon, a sophomore center, netted 20 points to lead the Husky assault. Palubinsky followed her teammate with 17 markers. Both players drilled shots at critical times in the second half when Marywood threatened to overtake the Huskies.

Tina Holnberg of Marywood led all the scorers with 28 points. Holnberg hit on 10 shots from the floor, and was a perfect eight for eight from the charity stripe.

BSC led 41-35 at halftime and added a 32-26 advantage in the second half to record the final count.

The Huskies got good performances from three players who just missed double figures. Guards Mindy Lerit and Sus Hicks, plus forward Trina Knittel combined for 26 points in the win. (Lerit and Hicks 9, Knittel 8.)

The locals registered an impressive 47-30 edge in rebounding, with Runyon leading the way with 16. BSC shot 38 percent from the field, compared to 34 percent for Marywood.

Head coach Sue Hibbs was pleased with the first win of the young season. "We did ok. Things are starting to happen. We are still having problems with the tempo of the game. At this point we are reactors rather than initiators."

The win followed a tough weekend at Salisbury State, Maryland, where the lady Huskies lost a pair of games.

In the opening game of the tourney, BSC lost to Salisbury 93-76. Palubinsky and Lerit scored 21 and 16 points respectively to lead BSC.

Delaware State downed the Huskies 90-76 in the consolation game on Saturday. BSC had three players hit double figures in that battle. Runyon had 15 markers, while Knittel scored 11 and Lerit 10.

The Huskies return to action Jan. 13 at Lehigh.

Bowlers post fifth win

By GARY KOCHINSKY

Undefeated Villanova invaded Bloomsburg last Saturday and left later that same afternoon with their first loss. The men's bowling team downed the Wildcats 11-8 to earn their fifth win of the season.

Gary Mochinsky (236), Mark Brichta (234) and the consistency of Jack Steele and Gary Gershenson led the Huskies to victory.

The following afternoon the Huskies buried visiting Lincoln University by a 16-3 score. Leading the way were seniors Steve Sneiderman (213, 233) and Jeff Young (191, 193). Rounding out the easy win were Floyd Moyer (209) and Gershenson (206, 212).

This impressive win brought the men's record to 6-3. Their next home match is this Sunday against Temple at 1 p.m.

The women's team also looked sharp as they handily

Hoopsters undefeated; trounce Lock Haven

By BILL TILLMAN

Although the Bald Eagles of Lock Haven State came into Nelson Fieldhouse with an impressive 4-1 record, the BSC Huskies deflated their record to 4-2 with a resounding 74-66 victory. At the same time, the Huskies improved their record to 4-0, off to one of their best starts in recent years.

The Huskies rambled off to a quick 14-2 lead. With expectations of a blowout, a sudden surge by Lock Haven brought the score to 20-15. John Bardsley and Mike Wenrich responded with a couple of baskets each to keep the Husky's momentum.

With six minutes to go in the first half, the Huskies had a 25-17 lead and decided to run a deliberate offense. Halftime brought a 34-19 score.

The beginning of the second half saw a continuation of the first half's slay as Bloomsburg pulled out to a 15 point lead. With ten minutes to play, Wenrich summoned the loyal fans' attention with a crowd arousing dunk.

With overly aggressive play, Lock Haven surmounted a fleeting comeback, coming within 6 points of the lead. Bill Tillman stopped the Eagle comeback with a three-point play with three minutes to play in regulation time.

Leading the way in scoring for Bloomsburg was Wenrich with 24 points followed by Bardsley who poured in 17 points and 14 assists. Tillman led the team with 10 rebounds. For the visiting team, Doug Legette paved the way with 17 points with Kenny Richter following with 16.

KUTZTOWN GAME

Last Friday the Huskies advanced their record with a 72-55 decision over the KSC Golden Bears. The Huskies took advantage of Kutztown's frigid shooting maintaining the lead from the first quarter on.

Kutztown shot just 29 percent in the first half and was only 30 percent for the game.

The games top rebounder was B.S.C.'s Wenrich with 12 rebounds. He was responsible for nine points of the overall tally.

Four Huskies made double figures in the game. Tillman was tops with 18. Doug Greenholt, filling Casey's spot, added 16. Bardsley had 15 and freshman Barry Francisco had 10 plus nine rebounds.

On Wednesday night, the Huskies entertained Mansfield. They were a tough opponent last year. So far this year, Mansfield's accomplishments include a win over Cheyney State and a third place spot in the Governor's Classic.

Hockey Club at 8-2

By MARC MANFREDI

The Bloomsburg State Hockey Club improved its record to an impressive 8-2 mark and regained sole possession of second place with a 7-2 victory over Wilkes College Monday night.

After losing to the Nordmen last Monday night 9-5, the team went back to their winning ways last Wednesday by crushing Kings College 12-1.

Bloomsburg exploded for seven first period goals against Kings and the game was never really a contest.

Mike Grady had the hat trick, while Dean Bertsch and Jim O'Neill each chipped in two goals apiece to lead the Husky scoring attack.

John Scavilla played well in the nets, only giving up one goal, filling in for the injured Jose Corrales.

Bloomsburg made it two in a row with four shorthanded goals against Wilkes. Grady tallied four goals and O'Neill added three more to account for all the Husky scoring.

The victory Monday night moved Bloomsburg into second place in the standings, two points ahead of the Nordmen and four points behind league-leading East Stroudsburg State College.

The Northeastern Pennsylvania Amateur Hockey League will discontinue their schedule for the Christmas holidays since the league predominantly consists of college teams. The next Husky game is Jan. 13 against Suds Inc., at the Wilkes-Barre Ice-A-Rama, at 7:00 p.m.

Wrestling

4. Snyder lost to Wayne Christian of Cal-Poly, 16-4.

Wrestling for fifth place were Bloomsburg's Mike Lynch at 158 pounds and Brian Jeremiah at heavyweight. Both lost decisions, Jeremiah by the score of 9-8.

Rounding out the tourney were Tom Fiorvanti at 150, Tyrone Johnson at 167 and Greg Sacavate at 177, all taking seventh place finishes.

Assistant coach Cal Walker was quoted as saying that the team did better than they expected to.

Bowling

disposed of Lincoln by a 14-5 score.

Cindy (Marsha) Norman (234) and the trio of Roxanne Teahl (515), Cathy Zahradnick (514) and Mary Ford led the lady Huskies. This victory brought their record to 6-1.

The women will attempt to avenge their lone loss, which came at the hands of Temple, by hosting the Temple Owls this Sunday at 1:00 p.m.
