

BSC Students Could Elect Town Mayor

By JOANNE MARRONE

Election day, November 3, will be of great importance to BSC students as the positions of mayor, sheriff, district justice and four town council members are up for election. However, many local officials wonder whether students will bother to vote despite efforts to inform them.

According to Charles Peterson, chief register of the Voters Registration Office at the Columbia County Court House, "students are not aware of the stake they have in voting for the local government officials."

Statistics show that only thirty percent of the registered on-campus students voted in the mayoral election in 1977.

Peterson said that local government officials have a great impact on the lives of college students. The mayor and town council determine policies, that students must abide by, such as parking, off-campus housing, and partying. The sheriff and district justice enforce the laws to protect them.

David E. Greenwald, associate professor of sociology and social welfare at B.S.C. and advisor to the Young Democrats, encourages college students to concentrate their voting power by registering and voting in the town of Bloomsburg.

Dr. Greenwald stated that student voting in Bloomsburg reflects students interests. In theory, college students could produce enough votes to actually elect the mayor and council of the town of Bloomsburg.

However, BSC has never had more than thirty-five percent of its eligible students register to vote.

Peterson said that one of the biggest obstacles facing most college students voting for local government officials is that they are unfamiliar with the candidates.

C.A.S. is planning to overcome this barrier by sponsoring a Candidates Night, in which students will be able to meet the candidates running for mayor, sheriff, district justice and town council.

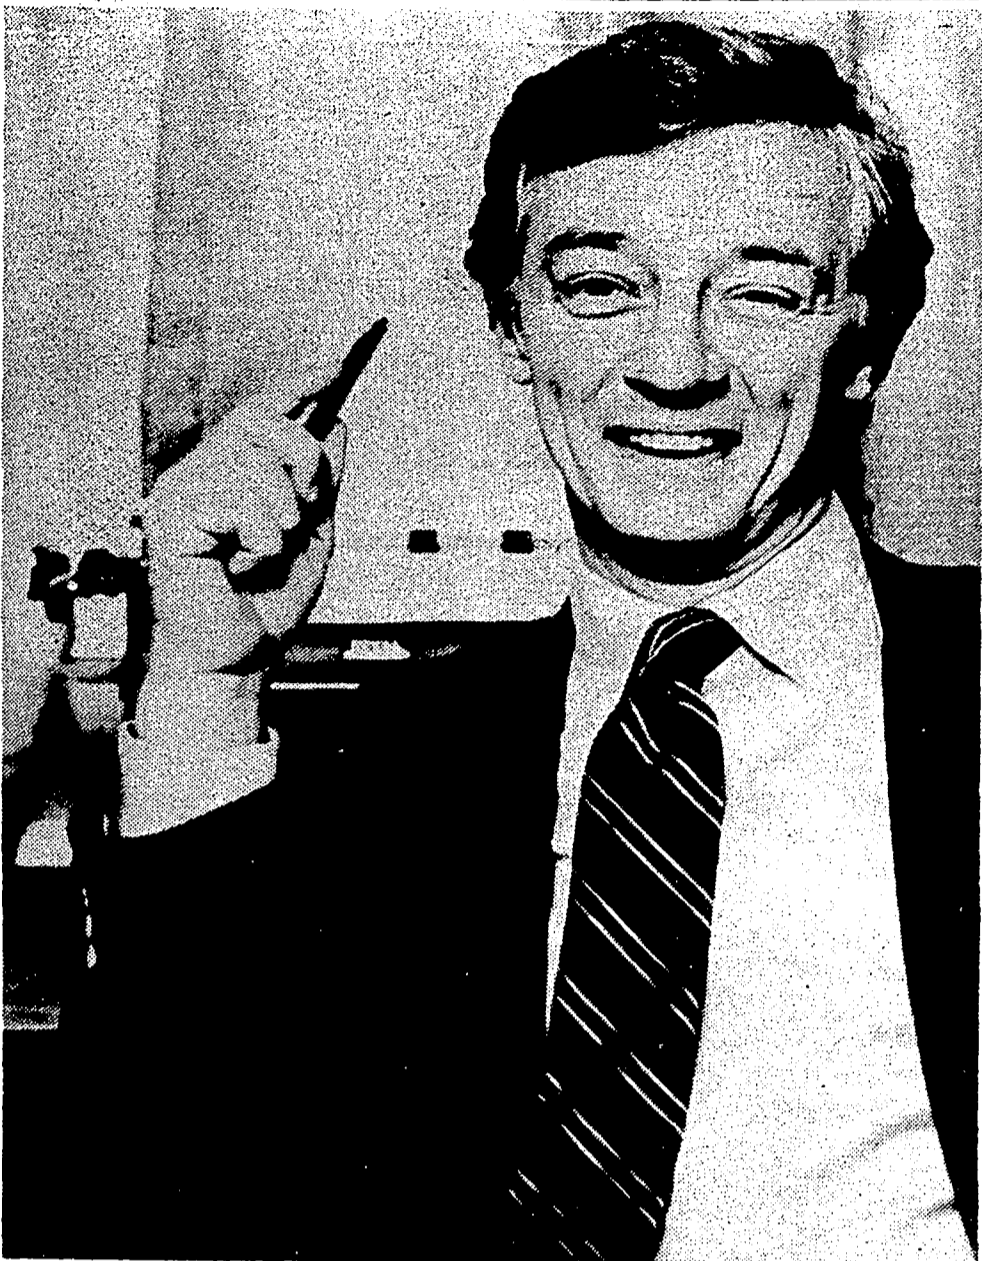

According to Michele Kessler, assistant co-ordinator of C.A.S., "This is the first time a Candidates Night will be held at BSC, and C.A.S. is psyched up about it."

As of today, C.A.S. is uncertain of which candidates will attend candidates night, but Kessler feels optimistic that the majority of candidates will be present.

The date for Candidates Night is Thursday, Oct. 22, at 7:00 P.M. in multi-purpose room A of Kehr Union. Students as well as the citizens of Bloomsburg are welcome to attend.

C.A.S. is also planning to circulate campaign material around campus to make students more aware of the candidates.

The candidates for the Nov. 3 election are: Allen L. Remley (Rep.) and Dan Bauman (Dem.) for mayor, Paul C. Boone Jr. (Rep.) and Victor B. Vandling (Dem.) for sheriff, Donna J. Coombe (Rep.-Dem.) for district justice, Edward T. Kitchen (Rep.), Charles C. Housenick (Rep.), Angelo P. Scheno (Rep.-Dem.), Charles H. Learn Jr. (Dem.) and Jeffrey S. Trump (Dem.) for the three four-year council seats and Stephen Beck (Rep.) and L. Keller (Dem.) for the two-year seat in council.

Former English Dept. Chairman Dies

Memorial services for Cecil C. Seronsy of 14 Central Avenue, Carroll Park, Bloomsburg, will be Thursday at 11 a.m. from the First Presbyterian Church in Bloomsburg, with the Rev. David C. Kingsley officiating. Burial will be in the Creveling Cemetery at the convenience of the family.

Mr. Seronsy, 73, died at Bloomsburg Hospital on Sunday. He was an internationally recognized scholar in Renaissance literature.

An emeritus professor of English and former chairman of the English Department, he retired in 1973 after 21 years at Bloomsburg State College. Before that he was an instructor in English at Purdue University and a teaching fellow in general education at Harvard University.

He was educated in the Lowellville, Ohio schools and later earned his B.A. at the University of Virginia and his M.A. and Ph.D. from Harvard University.

His professional society memberships included the Modern Language Association of America, the American Association of University Professors and the Renaissance Society of America.

His book, "Samuel Daniel," a critical and biographical study of the Renaissance poet, critic and historian, was published in 1967. In addition, Dr. Seronsy had published many articles in the most highly respected scholarly journals, such as the "Journal of English and Germanic Philology," "Modern Language Notes," "Philological Quarterly," "Shakespeare Quarterly," "Keats-Shelley Journal,"

Patricia Campbell Crowned Queen

Tradition was broken this year at BSC when Patricia E. Campbell captured the title of Homecoming Queen.

Campbell, a sophomore from Philadelphia, represented the Third World Cultural Society.

First runner-up was Miss Tau Kappa Epsilon Kim Gohora, a junior from Levittown. Marie Hoffner, Miss Delta Pi and a senior from Blue Bell, was second runner-up; Annette Ashcroft, Miss Zeta Psi and a junior from East Stroudsburg, was third runner-up; and Cheryl Snyder, Miss Delta Epsilon Beta, a senior from Glen Mills, was fourth runner-up.

Carol Perlinsky, from Dunellen, N.J., was recognized as this year's freshman sweetheart.

Honors for winning float in Saturday's parade went to Chi Sigma Rho and Sigma Iota Omega for their theme "Sousa — the Music Man." Second place for "A Tribute to Rodgers and Hammerstein" went to Phi Sigma Pi and the Commuter's Association. Third place was captured by Phi Iota Chi and Delta Omega Chi for the theme "The Wizard of Oz" and fourth place for "Thank You for the Music" went to the BSC Concert Choir.

The winning dormitory float was made by Montour Hall and had the theme "Broadway Shows." Runner-up honors went to Lycoming Hall for "Evolution of Music."

The Inter-Sorority Council Award to the sorority with the highest academic average went to Alpha Sigma Alpha, while Lambda Chi Alpha copped the Inter-Fraternity award.

The ISC and IFC Involvement Awards went respectively to Sigma Sigma Sigma and Delta Pi for outstanding involvement in activities outside the sorority or fraternity.

Testimonial Dinner Planned For Vice President

A testimonial dinner is planned for Sunday, October 18, by friends and colleagues of Boyd F. Buckingham, vice president for administration at BSC, who is retiring after 36½ years in the field of education.

The dinner is scheduled for the Scranton Commons on campus at 6:00 p.m. Dr. John A.

Hoch, BSC faculty emeritus and well-known area speaker, will serve as toastmaster.

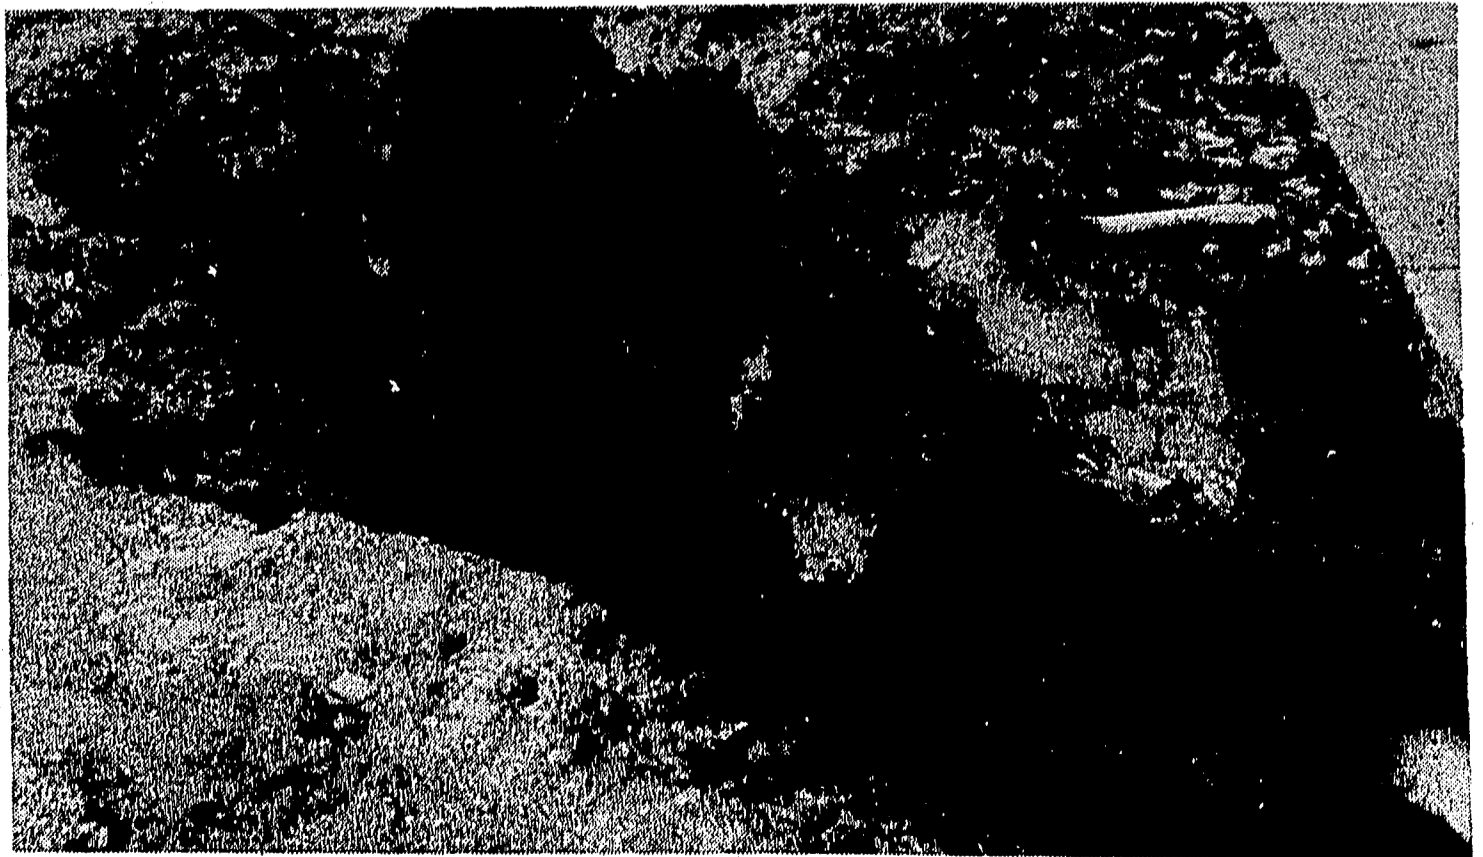

There is a charge to cover the expenses of this special event. Interested persons, who have not already been contacted, may call 717-389-3919 for reservations.

Fire Awareness in Student Housing

A fire gutted a portion of a house on E. Third St. early Sunday morning, causing extensive damage to a section of the home, and smoke damage to the rest of the dwelling. The alarm was sounded at approximately 4 A.M. and firemen responded to the temporary home of 10 BSC students, located at 427 E. Third St.

The occupants of the home reported that a visitor of one of the residents first discovered the fire when he got out of bed to use the bathroom. He then alarmed the rest of the occupants who were sleeping. Approximately 30 seconds after the fire was discovered, a smoke detector, which had been installed the Wednesday before, rang.

No one was injured, WE were lucky... Yes, I said WE were lucky, it was my home.

Many homes in Bloomsburg are old wood structures, housing a good percentage of BSC students. My roommates and I said it about our house and also said it about the house where most of us lived last year -- "This house is a firetrap." But we always thought that a fire would never happen to us. Well it did. Now we are being extra careful, and now the landlord is making necessary repairs, but it took a near catastrophe for this action to happen.

The damage at our house was inspected by the state police fire marshall. He concluded that the probable cause was a cigarette or some sort of flame was accidentally dropped into a box of blankets and papers. He also said that it smoldered for approximately four hours before lighting a flame. That's another thing we all thought could never happen, a little cigarette can't cause a major fire.

I am urging all students who live off campus, especially in those ancient wood structured homes - be aware of the dangers of fires, be careful with cigarettes and matches; insist that your landlord make your home as safe as possible.

What Does a Classically-Trained Musician Have to Do With "Sha-Na-Na?"

Some people know John Bauman as a mild-mannered graduate of Columbia University, a classically-trained pianist who studied at the Julliard School of Music.

But, since 1970, Bauman has been wearing black chino pants, a black T-shirt, greased-back hair, and working under the assumed name of Bowzer for the 1950s rock revival group, Sha-Na-Na.

"Bowzer was created from my closet in 1970," Bauman said in an interview for "Erlanger's Rock Classics to Come" radio series, sponsored by Jos. Schlitz Brewing Company.

"I approached my character as an entertainer would, and figured I had to be funny because I was funny looking to start with at 6'2" and 127 pounds. So I wore all black to look as menacing as I could, but I actually looked unmenacing. To top it off, I sang bass."

The group itself started as an outgrowth of the Columbia University Kingsmen, because "you can't revive anything but the '50s. Face it, sit-ins during the '60s were not that funny. When you were in college in the '60s your hair was long, the campus had just been overthrown and you were running in and out of buildings not knowing what would happen next. It had been a turbulent decade with tremendous progress but tremendous, and sometimes frightening changes. There was also tremendous social consciousness.

"The '50s were very funny socially. I mean, you couldn't even believe you were alive," he said in his Bowzer voice. "You were a nice kid with a crew cut just trying to get into college so you could become a physicist because that's what everybody needed in order to fight the Russians. There was humor in the posturing, boredom and supposed simplicity of the '50s.

While Sha-Na-Na had a great time poking fun at the '50s and recreating the music of that decade, the group didn't really make it until it got its own television show.

"There was no reason for anyone to buy one of our records because they could just as well buy the originals," Bauman said. "We just try to do faithful reproductions of great songs while entertaining people."

Sha-Na-Na revived not only the sound of the '50s, but the idea that performers should entertain.

"About 10 years ago, most recording artists really could not perform at all," Bauman said. "There was no performance value to live shows. When we started our act, most of the other groups were just standing around on stage playing their hits to audiences that were very stoned and casual.

"That's why Sha-Na-Na was so successful, because our first and foremost consideration was putting on a dynamic stage show, which was unheard of at the time."

"We were innovative in that even though we were looking back musically, we were among the first of what then became a revival of stage shows like Alice Cooper and David Bowie."

What does a person famous for playing old songs think about music now and in the future?

"I don't have a prediction, but I'm not that fond of what's going on right this second," Bauman said. "I've kind of lost track of what's happening in the music world, but it seems to me that there is somewhat of a recycling of the simplicity, and some variations on the energy of early rock and roll."

"Today's rock seems to be more of a bourgeois recreation of rock and roll. There is no more working-class element. What's going on now somehow lacks the energy and intensity of the beginning of rock in the '50's. There's less to rebel against now. Back then, you had a tremendously repressive society, but now there's lots of freedom, a lot less to complain about and a lot more outlets for energy."

Letters to the Editor

Commending Student Letter to the Editor.

I would publicly like to acknowledge and thank a BSC student for her honesty.

While driving a car in the homecoming parade on Saturday, Oct. 10, 1981, a check of mine, which was placed on the visor, blew out of the window without my being aware of it. Thanks to the honesty of Miss Carol Davidson, Lycoming Hall, BSC, my check was returned.

She is certainly an asset to the college community, and stands out as a fine example of the majority of BSC students.

My Sincere Thanks, Again,
Mr. William Gipple,

I have a question about last Friday's "Campus Voice." Was there a purpose to the chaotic order of your pages?

I thought that you had more pride in your paper than to belittle it with nonsense! After all, where does our Community Activities payments go?

I certainly hope that this was in fact a mistake, and will never happen again!

"Arthur" Is Artful

By RICK DILIBERTO

Don't look now Bloomsburg, but a movie may just have hit town which can appeal to all. Arthur will make the young and old alike laugh, cry, yearn, and wish with all their hearts.

The story of an eccentric millionaire (Dudley Moore) and a common, but lovely waitress (Liza Minnelli) inspires the viewer to dream back to the days of Gary Grant, Rosalind Russell, John Wayne, and Claire Trevor, where love conquered all - and it still does.

Don't be turned off by Moore's initial image as a waste of human life. His uncontrollable drinking problem, coupled with his childlike, immature needs make him seem unbearable at first. Hang in there! You'll love him by the end.

Moore is coerced into proposing to a woman he does not love, even though she is rich, attractive, and the daughter of a gangster who once stabbed a man to death in his kitchen before his sixteenth birthday - and is willing to give Moore the same treatment. Besides, if he doesn't marry her, his grandmother will cut off his allowance - to the tune of $750,000,000.

Director Steve Gordon sets up the perfect interruption to the unreal romance. Enter Liza Minnelli, the poor waitress Moore falls in love with and is willing to give up his wealth (and almost his life) for.

"Modern Language Review," "Notes and Queries, the Explicator," and the "Harvard Library Bulletin." His wide-ranging literary interests included Swift, Dryden, Wordsworth, Coleridge, Jane Austen and Poe.

Recognition of his work took the form of a 1964 grant from the Huntington Library and Art Gallery in Pasadena, Calif.

One of those rare scholar-teachers, whose love of literature and ideas was shared with students, friends and colleagues, Dr. Seronsy will be remembered by them as a teacher who was inspiring, a scholar whose intellectual curiosity was constant, and as a Renaissance man whose wit and humor will remain in the memory of those who knew him.

When he retired from Bloomsburg State College in 1973, a Seronsy Renaissance Collection of rare books was established at the Harvey A. Andruss Library.

The son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Seronsy of Lowellville, Ohio, Dr. Seronsy is survived by his wife, the former Louise Baird, who retired from the Psychology Department of Bloomsburg State College in 1973.

Party Policy Discussed

By DEB BERKLEY

Parties will not be monitored at BSC, explained Dean Robert Norton at this week's CGA meeting. "It's more important to develop an awareness about Alcohol Abuse," said Norton.

General Council members concerned about recent party busts raised questions during the meetings' open forum. Dean Norton commented that this is much more than a disciplinary problem.

The biggest concern is the serious injuries attributed to alcohol abuse. He cited such examples as: someone falling off a porch and losing the hearing out of one ear, a number of sexual abuse cases and automobile injuries.

Alternate programming of social activities will be the concern of the Alcohol Awareness Committee.

The committee is made up of students, faculty, staff and administrators. A meeting was held Wednesday in the Green and Blue rooms. The next meeting will be announced and all those concerned are urged to attend.

According to CGA president Karen Chawaga, there are still committee openings. Two representatives from North Hall, one from Lycoming, two off-campus and five commuters are needed for Representative Assembly.

There are also openings on the Traffic committee and Academic Grievance Committee. Any students interested should contact Teresa LaForgia.

Grant Will Provide New Faculty Member

BSC recently received notice of a $35,690 training grant from the Office of Special Education, U.S. office of Education, which will fund Master of Science programs in Audiology, Speech-Language Pathology, and Education of the Hearing Impaired, in the Department of Communication Disorders. This is the first of a three-year funding for the program to serve the communicatively handicapped. Grant funds will be used to provide a faculty member of the new Educational Audiology Program and graduate fellowships.

The Project Director, Dr.

Gerry Powers, said that past grants have been extremely helpful in the development of the training curriculum. He noted that training grants for Master level programs in Communication Disorders and Special Education are rare, adding that the grant was awarded because of the Department's unique emphasis on the hard of hearing child, preschool programs for the communicatively handicapped, and mainstreaming components under several settings. The Department of Communication Disorders was the only Department in the state college system to receive such a training grant. Students in the training programs receive preparation which emphasizes clinical and educational practice.

Part of the training grant funds will be used to institute a program for Educational Audiologists. Educational Audiologists are professionals who serve the diagnostic and therapeutic needs in the audiology areas in the public schools.

Engineering Teachers Are Now in Demand

Engineering schools across the country face critical faculty shortages which may limit the number of engineering graduates at a time of peak demand, say delegates to the conference of the American Society for Engineering Education.

About 2,500 faculty members are needed to teach engineering. The supply is low because most undergraduates walk immediately into industry careers and few go on to graduate schools. And many who do become faculty members succumb to the temptation of higher salaries in industry.

Another problem is that many of the top engineering graduates do not go on to graduate school, as they are the ones most sought by industry.

Officials say that if the trend holds, there may not be enough engineers on the market to meet the nation's need, and that America may fall behind in the world technological race.

Steps are being taken by some groups to turn the tide. For example the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges will soon hold a conference to explore ways that higher education, government and industry can use to turn out more engineers.

The society hopes universities will begin to make salaries more competitive with industry. But they aren't optimistic. Major cutbacks are being enacted in universities across the nation as state and federal government officials react to the Reagan administration's philosophy of fiscal conservatism.

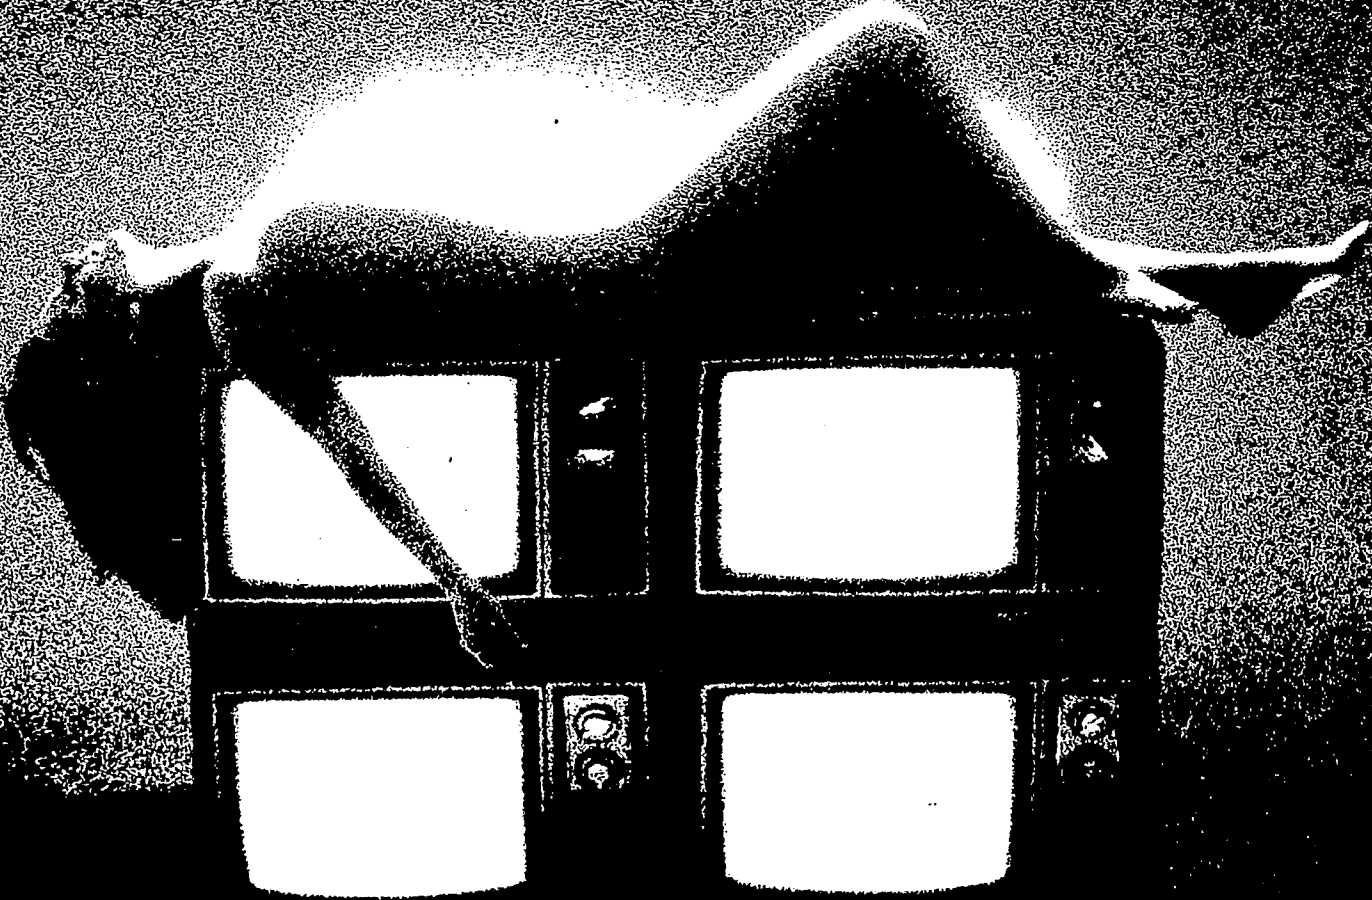

CAS Office Relocated

The Commonwealth Association of Students has relocated the central office in Harrisburg, announced Joyce Cheepudom, executive director.

The new CAS office is located at 219 Pine St., Harrisburg. The office formerly was located at 240 N. Third St., Harrisburg.

Ms. Cheepudom said the new office will more fully service the needs of the association. "The space is a significant improvement over our last residence."

CAS Replaces Organizer

The Commonwealth Association of Students (CAS) announced the appointment of Eric Stonecipher as organizer. Stonecipher replaces Jeff Hunsicker, a graduate of Bloomsburg State College who had held the position since 1979.

Stonecipher, a native of Paul's Valley, Okla., is majoring in sociology and business at Emporia State University, Ks. He served as student body president for two years at Emporia State and was a member of the Legislative Assembly of the Associated Students of Kansas. ASK is the association for students in the state universities of Kansas.

Stonecipher began his duties on Sept. 21 and worked with Hunsicker for the past two weeks.

COFFEEHOUSE PERFORMED Rod MacDonald (above) performed a coffeehouse in the union Sunday night.

MacDonald Brings Folk Music To Life

By JIM LYMAN

Rod MacDonald brought his strong brand of folk music to the Coffeehouse in the Kehr Union Sunday night, and left everyone there convinced that that genre is very much alive today.

Accompanied by bassist Bill Merchant and mandolin - flutist John Kruth, MacDonald performed a two hour set consisting of original compositions in the mold of Bob Dylan and Steve Forbert. His own songs, though, stood very much on their own despite the similarity in style to other artists.

Many of the tunes contained a dry, unassuming wit, with lines like, "a girl lay in my arms - telling me about her boyfriend - who's got too many girlfriends." Also, his songs could tell touching and poignant stories, such as "Dear Grandfather,"

"Hard Times A Comin'," in fact, was the highlight of the evening, telling a tale of being on the verge of poverty and living in New York City at a time when the city was going through the very same crisis.

Other highlights of the show were "Blues Forever" and "Running For Your Life," but it was hard to single out individual moments when the whole evening was so high.

Although he is still performing at the coffeehouse level, MacDonald seems destined to move on to bigger things. His smooth voice, moving songs, and a fresh, loose style seem to be the right combination for him to break into the recording world.

Women in the work force

Campus Digest News Service

Various statistics are showing the trends of women in the work force today.

According to the Labor Department the earnings of women were just 54 percent of the earning of men in 1978. In 1968 it was 52 percent.

Bosses who are female are, in general, more accessible to those under them than their male counterparts are, according to San Diego State University researcher Natasha Josefowitz writing in the Harvard Business Review.

The top female earners in the country in a publicly held firm are Katharine Graham, Chairman of the Washington Post who earns $361,700 and Marion Sandler, financial president of Golden West, at a salary of $211,633. These are the findings of Heidrick & Struggles.

Board Plans Agenda

By DEB BERKLEY

High on this year's Planning Commission agenda will be the development of a four-year plan to redistribute undergraduate degree students.

At Monday's Commission meeting, President James McCormick addressed the group and outlined his goals and objectives for the 1981-82 academic year. "The high priority will be the retention and recruitment of students," said McCormick. "Hopefully, this will continue on our agenda as unfinished business."

The fall semester enrollment report was given by Mr. Thomas Cooper, Dean of Admission and Records. Programs of study available at BSC affect the male-female ratio. The nature of our institution also affects this ratio, giving females the advantage. "Parents are more apt to spend $8-9,000 on education for a son than a daughter," said Cooper.

Selling classes

Campus Digest News Service

Some students at Eastern Illinois University found a new way to save on college expenses—they sold their places in classes.

Openings in many business courses at the university are tight, so some students sold their seats in class for as much as $70.

Officials say they will change registration procedures in the spring to put an end to the practice.

ASPA Presents Award

By DENNIS BEAVER

This week, for the fifth consecutive year, the American Society for Personnel Administration, better known as ASPA, presented to Dr. Bierly, Chairman of the Business Administration Department, the Merit Award they received last May at the ASPA National Convention held in Miami Beach, Florida. The Outstanding Merit Award was presented to Dennis Beaver and Tom Trainer, respectively, who were able to attend the convention.

ASPA membership includes Personnel Directors from all across the United States and around the world, and is highly respected in the business community. Over 2,000 of these directors attended the convention and witnessed the student chapter awards presentation. The Outstanding Merit Award is given to chapters for chapter membership, workshops, speakers, trips, and delegates that attend the Regional and National Conferences. B.S.C. student chapter, along with the other student chapter winners, were also mentioned in the Action Newsletter which was sent to all ASPA members.

The convention enabled students not only to learn about personnel and leadership, but students were also given the opportunity to help promote B.S.C. to the business professionals. They also found opportunities to share their student chapter achievements and discuss chapter problems with national officers and fellow students to help them improve their own chapters.

The student chapter at B.S.C. tries to keep students updated in personnel related subjects with a regular subscription to the Personnel Administrator and monthly newsletters supplied by the national organization. Other chapter activities include, in-plant tours, trips, speakers, and this fall, a stress-management workshop at B.S.C.

Students of any major interested in joining ASPA should attend the meeting on Wednesday, October 14, at 7 p.m. in Room 83 of Hartline Science Center. Yearly dues of $20 will be collected, and there will be a speaker on resumes. If you cannot attend the meeting but are interested in joining ASPA, please call Dennis at 784-3252 or contact Professor Gallagher in the May Building.

Fire Awareness

Install smoke alarms all over the house. They are inexpensive and very effective. It was the smoke alarm that made my roommates realize that that person screaming fire was not joking. If that person had not gotten up, especially at 4 A.M., the smoke alarm would have been our sole saviour.

With fire comes fear of losing property, losing a security deposit, smoke and water damage, but more seriously, the fear of losing a life. Over the summer, two sisters visiting their brother at Millersville State College were killed when the apartment in which the MSC student lived was destroyed by fire. It happened to them, it happened to me, it could also happen to you.

'Kevin's Korner'

BY KEVIN KODISH

It's final four time in major league baseball. The Oakland A's and the New York Yankees are slugging it out in the American League, while the gutsy Montreal Expos are taking on the never-say-die LA Dodgers in the senior circuit.

I must admit that I really like the Dodgers in the NL. The Hollywood boys really did a job coming back against the pitching-rich Astros. Tommy Lasorda never lets the Dodgers die, and I think Montreal will go down in five. (By the time this paper hits the stand, I could look like a real fool!!!)

I think the American League's playoff will go the distance also. I have to go with Billy Martin's A's to win it, because they are a young and hungry bunch of ballplayers.

PHILLIES TO CHANGE

I can't wait to see what the 1982 Phillies look like. Owner Ruly Carpenter is going to sell the club, Dallas Green is supposedly headed to Chicago, and even broadcaster Harry Kalas is rumored to be heading to the windy city to replace the retired Jack Brickhouse.

Bake McBride, Del Unser, Bob Boone, Garry Maddox, Sparky Lyle, Mike Proly, Larry Christenson and Ramon Aviles are all said to be on the way out of the city of brotherly love.

I feel that the Phils must make some changes to be competitive next season. Guys like Bob Dernier and Len Matuszek are ready to play in the big leagues now, plus pitcher Marty Bystrom should be back in form in 1982.

I'll keep you updated on rumors coming out of Philadelphia pertaining to the 1980 world champions.

In predicting football games, last week was my worst to date. I finished with a dismal 9-6 mark, and that lowered my season log to 42-16-2. OUCH!

Hopefully, this week will be different! I'm psyched for this week's contests. Here goes:

IOWA AT MICHIGAN: The Wolverines are on a roll now, and Iowa will not be able to cope with Bo's boys at Ann Arbor. Give Michigan a 31-20 win.

WISCONSIN AT MICHIGAN STATE: I can't believe the Wisconsin Badgers! What drugs are they taking, anyway?? The Spartans are a good group of men, and I think this one will be a battle to the end. MSU throws a monkey wrench into the BIG TEN standings with a 24-23 upset!!!

NORTH CAROLINA AT NORTH CAROLINA STATE: AH! I like this one! This game will be the closest the Tar Heels have been in all year. NC will slip away with a SLIM 17-15 win.

FLORIDA STATE AT PITTSBURGH: Coach Bobby

Vowden and his Seminoles continue their "Octoberfest" this week with a visit to the Panthers. So far, the FSU unit is 2-1 on the trip. I must admit, I'm very surprised. Pitt will win this close one by a 28-24 count.

PENN STATE AT SYRACUSE: The Orangemen will have the home-field advantage and that's all! PSU will have a big advantage on the scoreboard come game's end! Joe Paterno's gang, 38-10.

PURDUE AT NORTHWESTERN: The Wildcats long season will get longer this week. Purdue will win handily, 42-7.

STANFORD AT USC: The Trojans will be in a terrible mood after getting upset last week, and Stanford will pay for it! USC, 31-10.

MIAMI AT MISSISSIPPI STATE: The Hurricanes will win. That's all I have to say. Color it Miami, 21-17.

CLEMSON AT DUKE: The Clemson season is going great at the present time, and the Blue Devils don't have enough to spoil it. Clemson makes it six straight with a 23-9 triumph.

BLOOMSBURG AT MILLERSVILLE: The Marauders are loaded, and that's bad news for Clark Boler and the Huskies. The score of this game will depend on how the Millersville coach feels on Saturday. If he has a headache, the score could be about 67-6 Marauders. Hand him a bottle of aspirin before the clash, Huskies, and play your best!

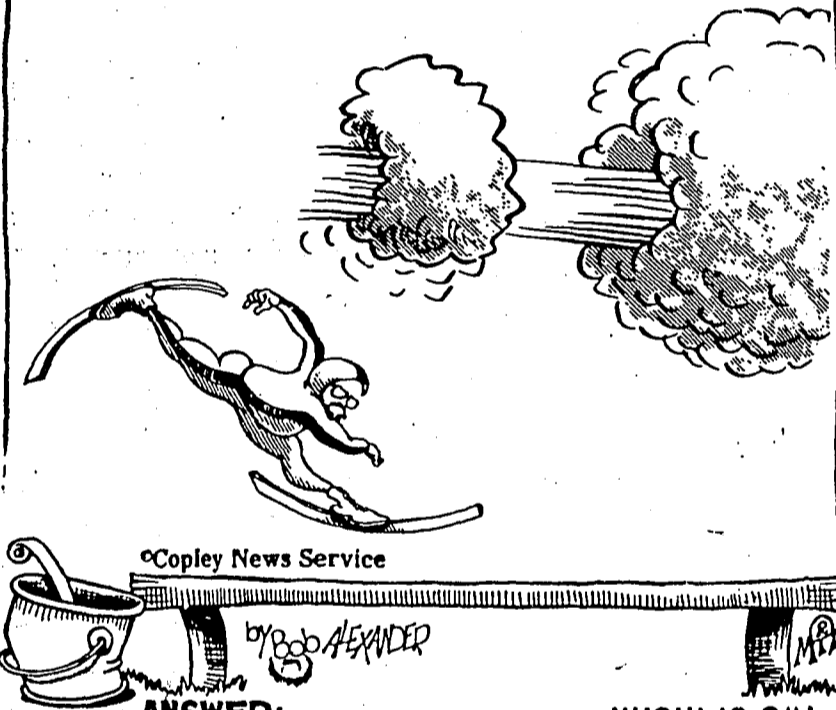

THE REST: Oklahoma 31 Kansas 10; LSU 17 Kentucky 10; Texas Tech 27 Rice 20; Texas 22 Arkansas 21; ARMY 35 Princeton 24.

BENCHWARMER'S SPORTS TRIVIA

In what events did Eric Heiden win his 5 Olympic gold medals at Lake Placid?

ANSWER:

Heiden, a speed skater, won the gold medal in all of the men's events... the 500, 1000, 1500, 5000, and 10,000 meter race, setting Olympic records in all and world records in two of them.

Men's Intramural Report

By DAVE HUGHES

Carter White and Chris Grega led Delta Omega Chi to an impressive win in the Men's Intramural cross country race held last week.

White and Grega tied for first with a time of 12:45 for the 2.47 mile course. Also figuring in the scoring for Doc was Joe Cechetelli (3rd) and Ed Fiorvanti (5th).

The Marauders finished second in the team standings as Sam Ruvvico led the way with a seventh place finish. Bung's Bar and Grill placed third.

In other intramural action, softball is in its second to last week with the playoffs just around the corner. As of this writing, FCA, Phi Sigma Xi, the Marauders and Bung's Bar and Grill are leading their respective leagues.

Other teams vying for a playoff birth are the Monarchs, Doc I, The Scorpions, SIO-Reds, Bagoda Lodge and the Misfits.

Once the four leagues complete a round robin tournament, winners and runners-up will participate in a double elimination tournament to determine the overall champ.

Some of the highlights of the tournament thus far include the pitching of the Scorpions Kenny Rosenkrause who has given up just two hits this season as the Scorpys have not given up a run in their last five outings.

The Marauder's ten run inning against previously undefeated SIO - Red locked up a 21-6 win and first place in the 30's league. Kraze Kodish's pitching and Ron Zgnel's timely hitting were also highlights.

Ron Puhl, the director of Men's Intramural sports is quite pleased with the way the tournaments are going thus far. He indicated that "This year is better than the previous year because we don't have a really dominant team like the Scorpys last year. From what I've seen, there are five or six teams that have a legitimate shot at the title."

Other tournaments going on are tennis doubles and golf doubles. See the intramural boards in Nelson Fieldhouse and KUB Info Desk or call the office for details.

Record Now 10-1-1...

Husky Hockey Team Wins Two More

By MARY HASSENPLUG

The BSC field hockey team raised its record to 10-1-1 with two big wins last week. The Huskies defeated Susquehanna University and Shippensburg State College by identical 2-1 scores.

Bloomsburg quickly attacked SU, and with less than two minutes gone posted their initial score. De Long fired in the first goal on a penalty stroke. The pace of the game slowed down, however, and the play began to look sloppy.

Coach Jan Hutchinson commented, "It was a rather poor game. Things kept going back and forth and we were passing sloppily. We weren't challenged and so we didn't put out our best effort. We have to start playing to our full capacity no matter who the opponent is."

With five minutes left in the first half, Jeanne Fetch knocked in the Huskies second goal unassisted. Susquehanna scored midway through the second half to pull the score a bit closer, but BSC had little problem controlling the game. The Huskies outshot SU 18-2, and corners showed BSC ahead 18-5.

Bloomsburg won a very important game in their 2-1 victory over Shippensburg. Both teams came into the game with one loss; each falling to Trenton State. The win put BSC one step closer to qualifying for a place and ranking high in the seeding of the state tournament.

A singing telegram dedicated to coach Hutchinson helped to open the game and psyched the team up right from the beginning. They came out strong and quickly tested the Shippensburg defense. It met the challenge for 17 minutes, until Long drove in a beautifully controlled corner for the Huskies first score.

Huskies Face MSC

BSC Huskies will travel to Millersville's Biemesderfer Field this Saturday to take on the Pennsylvania Conference Eastern Division leading Marauders as part of MSC's Homecoming activities. Game time is set for 1:30 p.m.

BSC, which is still in search of its initial win this season, stands at 0-5 and is in the midst of a seven-game losing streak dating back to October 25, 1980, when the Huskies registered a 5-3 victory at Cheyney.

Last Saturday the Rams of West Chester ruined BSC's Homecoming celebration by handing Bloomsburg a 56-8 shellacking. After a scoreless first period, West Chester scored three times in the second quarter to take a 21-0 lead into the intermission. The Rams of Coach Otto Kneidinger took over where they left off after halftime by scoring the first four times they had the ball. BSC's only score of the afternoon came after WC had built an insurmountable 35-0 lead. Quarterback Kurt Werkheiser hit tailback Steve Meszaros with a pass and the speedster outran the opposition 47 yards for the score. Werkheiser ran for the two point conversion and the Huskies were through for the day.

Runningbacks Ron Perkins and Mike Irving scored three touchdowns apiece for the Rams, while quarterback Ron Gaynor completed 13 of 22 passes for 238 yards. Offensively WC outgained Bloomsburg with 504 yards as compared to BSC's 238.

Millersville put itself in the Eastern Division top spot by handing Mansfield a 28-21 loss. The Marauders have a 4-1 mark including wins over Slippery Rock (20-12), Kutztown (50-7) and West Chester (41-14) as well as Mansfield, while their lone loss was in the season opener to Towson State (42-20).

MSC's attack can be summed up in one word - RUN! Coach Gene Carpenter has a four-way threat in the backfield. The leading rusher is sophomore Bob Coyne. He has carried the ball 77 times for 495 yards an average of 99.0 yards per contest. Against Mansfield, the runningback gained 168 yards and preceded that with a 106 yard performance at West Chester. Backfield mate Brent Thomas has rushed 63 times for 430 or an 86.0 average, while quarterback Luther Roberts, who also had over 100 yards at West Chester, has gained 212 yards on 47 rushes for a 57.0 average. The fourth back, freshman Ricky Stonewall, has lugged the ball 44 times for 283 yards, an average of 56.6.

The Marauders put together devastating ground games against West Chester and Mansfield, gaining 373 and 348 yards respectively to up the per game average to 306.8 which, along with their 42.8 passing average, gives them an average total offensive attack of 349.6. Coyne was chosen as the Pennsylvania Conference "Player of the Week" for his efforts in the Mansfield game and has been named to the ECAC "Honor Roll" three times this season.

The score remained 1-0 throughout the first half, but BSC moved very well and played aggressive hockey. The attacking line did a fine job of coming back and helping out the deep defense after losing the ball. The defensive line of Karen Nilson, Sharon Rush, and Bev Sprout cleared the ball very well, quickly stopping the Shippensburg offense.

BSC dominated the second half as well. Everyone moved well to the ball to maintain control for the majority of the half. At 14:40 Jeanne Fetch made a quick pass inside to Linda Hershey who forced it in for the score. The Huskies took a 2-0 lead which they held until SSC scored with less than two minutes to play.

Overall, the game was not as close as the score indicated. BSC had 13 shots to Shippensburg's 5, although the opponents held an 8-6 advantage in corner shots. The Shippensburg goalie was forced to make 9 saves while BSC keeper Laurie Snyder had to stop only two shots.

Senior captain Joan Mahoney added her comments on the game, "Everybody is really happy with the win. We needed to get back on the track. The players were starting to get down because we haven't been playing our best. But today we proved to ourselves that we are a talented team."

Mahoney also commented on the great spirit of the JV team which helps to keep the varsity psyched throughout the game. "The JV's help us a lot. They push us and keep us fighting. They are a great team and work really hard; we owe them a lot."

The Huskies next meet Bucknell on Tuesday, October 13. A victory would put them even closer to a spot in the state tournament.

Gridders: 'Receive Rich'

By DAN LOUGHLIN

Depth is usually a problem for a football team at a small college such as Bloomsburg State. However, for this year's Huskies pass receiving corps, it is more of an asset.

According to receiving coach Bill Derr, in his seventh year as a Husky assistant coach, "We have great depth. We really don't have any 'stone hands' out there. Our freshmen show super potential and I have complete confidence when we put a youngster into a game."

Two freshmen who see a lot of action are Joe Dowd and Dan Wiley. Both are fairly small (6'0"; 160 lbs.) but are extremely quick and have excellent hands.

The starting receivers are junior tightend Mike Blake, sophomore wide receiver Stan Kucewicz, and junior splitend Steve Moran. All three are returning lettermen.

Coach Derr has nothing but praise for these veterans. "Mike Blake has made an outstanding mark for himself in the short time he's been at BSC. He's our biggest and most durable receiver. He can catch the ball in a crowd, take a hard shot and still hold onto the ball. He does just about everything you can want from a receiver."

"Steve Moran has excellent speed, good hands, and a knack to get into the open very quickly. Stan Kucewicz makes some super catches and runs the ball extremely well after he gets it. Both have good overall ability and game experience."

Derr also expressed confidence in Bloomsburg's running back's pass-catching abilities. All of the backs get into the passing attack.

Sophomore tailback Steve Meszaros' hands are better than average. In fact, Meszaros' receiving abilities are so impressive that the coaching staff tried to convert him to a wide receiver slot. However, the staff felt Meszaros would be more valuable as a running back.

Blake and Kucewicz are currently among the leaders in Pennsylvania Conference receiving. "We have one of the best receiving corps in the conference. As of right now, our receivers are probably the strongest part of the team," Derr stated.

With all of these young and talented receivers, the future appears bright for the BSC football program. Coach Derr said, "Our backfield and receivers will be a strong suit for a long time to come, and it's beginning to show already. Although we have yet to win a game, the improvement in our passing game is very noticeable."
