Where Will the Money Come From?

Over $3000 Needed for Athletic Award Backlog

By JILL WANDELL

Discussion at the CGA Executive Council Meeting Monday night revealed a year-long backlog of athletic awards. An awards committee has been set up to alleviate the problem.

According to CGA Treasurer Paul Stockler, over $3,000 is needed for awards that belong to last year's teams. Even more money is required for rings to be awarded to the National Championship Varsity Field Hockey team. They did not yet vote on allocating the money since the situation has to first be discussed with the awards committee.

Dean Robert Norton stated that two fan buses may be available for away basketball games at Kutztown State and Wilkes Colleges. Students might be charged to defray the rough estimate of $250 per bus, but CGA may be asked to subsidize part of the cost.

Also at the meeting, a new project coordinator and law interns were discussed. Sally Marrazzo was chosen as the new coordinator. Two candidates for interns to work with campus lawyer Mike Lynn were also interviewed. The decision is tentative, as selection needs to be discussed with Lynn.

Executive Council Primary Elections are to take place February 17-18. Final elections will be held Wed. Feb. 24 in the C-D lobby of the Scranton Commons and in the Kehr Union Snack Bar. Petitions are available now at the Information Desk and are due no later than Mon., Feb. 15 at 4:00 P.M.

Landlord Negligence Forces Tenants to Relocate

By JUDY DAVIDSON

Fourteen Tri-Sig sisters returned home from their Christmas break, suitcases in hand, to find their house, at 373 Lightstreet Road, unlivable.

"I just couldn't believe the state the house was in when I opened the door," said Gloria Hazeltine, one of the fourteen Tri-Sig sisters who found themselves without a home. "Pipes were burst and split open, water in the bathtub was frozen, and the toilets were ready to burst because of the pressure from the ice inside them."

According to Lori Bogert and Hazeltine, both juniors who were housemanagers last semester and are now taking care of the legalities, the reason for the problems was that the oil had run out of the burner five days before they returned from their vacation.

Their landlord, Alfonso Keh, of King of Prussia, had no comment concerning the situation and has not been in touch with the girls or their lawyer. He is responsible, according to the lease, for paying for the oil. He reportedly had told the oil company that it was not to deliver oil to the house or he would sue them for trespassing.

According to Hazeltine and Bogert, Keh has been negligent for the past three years. "All he's done has been to slap a coat of paint on the walls," said Hazeltine. "The building inspector had been here in September and declared the house unlivable, so we kept our rent money in an escrow account, which Keh knew about, until he had finished all the repairs," added Bogert. None of the repairs were completed.

The girls, under the direction of Tom Richie, a local public defender, are suing Keh for their damage deposits which amount to $1,300. "We feel that this money should justify our uprooting, the lawyer's fees, and the fact that there were no damages in the house," said Renee Roessler, one of the girls who lived at the house.

Mrs. Alice Magee, owner of the Hotel Magee, and an alumna of Tri-Sig, allowed the girls to stay at the Magee for two days without charge. "I think she felt sorry for us and let us stay there for nothing—it was great!" said Hazeltine.

The fourteen girls, who had chosen to live together, are now living in seven different places. Most of their new homes are farther to campus than from their original home. They also had to move all their belongings to their new residences in the freezing weather.

For fourteen Tri-Sig sisters, the loss of their house is just the beginning. The sisters feel they must now readjust to new housemates and the fact that their landlord is keeping their money.

ISC Adopts New Pledge Rules

By JILL WANDELL

The ISC has made changes in the pledging program to take place this semester at BSC. These additions will rearrange the pledging calendar slightly and remove some of the stress of pledging.

A major change will be the lengthening of the program from four to five weeks. Kathy Boyle, president of ISC, says this was not designed to make pledging more difficult rather, to remove some of the intensity of the situation. Previously there have been very many activities, and by adding a week there will be more time to appreciate each event, hopefully making the pledging period less hectic.

Five additional study hours will be added to the existing ones already set up in ISC's pledging rules. Placement of these hours will be up to each individual group. Other rules involve events and behaviors in the Union, set up mainly to insure that activities are orderly and controlled.

BSC to Become BUP?

By MICHAEL HALLOCK

A bill to remove the 14 state owned colleges in Pennsylvania from the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania Department of Education, and setting up a Board of Governors and a Chancellor in its place is one of the major provisions of the State System of Higher Education (SSHE) bill that will be discussed in the Pennsylvania State senate and House early this month. Also included is a status change for all state time those powers are spread throughout individual state departments including the Governor, Office of Budget and Administration, the Secretary of Education and the Department of General Services.

The new procedures in the bill will save money by removing much of the red tape currently encountered.

The changing of state colleges to state universities is also a provision of SSHE. This change to university status is, according to the Commonwealth Association of Students' state organizer, Eric Stonecipher, "primarily a recruiting tool to increase enrollments."

He added that he also sees as a possible result the increased quality of offerings and more standardization among the state run schools.

This change in the higher education's power structure will also change the system from a political one, run out of the Governor's office through his Secretary of Education appointee, to an apolitical one, run by a public non-profit organization.

The SSHE bill is Senate Bill 506 and House Bill 1949. Anyone interested in this bill should contact their State Senator or Representative.

owned colleges to university standing.

Currently, the Secretary of Education is responsible for the state owned institutions, as well as all educational enterprises in the Commonwealth. This limits the time available for the important business of higher education.

The new board will consist of 20 individuals, including three students, and a Chancellor chosen by the board whose only job will be higher education. This board will handle administrative duties including fiscal, personnel and educational policies. At this

Best Story Wins Prize

There will be a contest for all writers. A $5.00 gift certificate to Berrigans Sub Shop will be awarded for the best news, feature or sports story. All entries must be submitted by Feb. 14 to the Campus Voice, box 96 KUB. All entries must be typed and the winner's picture will be taken to run beside their winning article. Articles may be no more than 400 words. They will be judged by the staff on originality, timeliness and accuracy. Good luck writers!

Letters to the Editor

Keep kids home

Dear Editor:

I was at the Dance Marathon over the weekend, and I was shocked to see young kids about 8 or 9 years old running around Centennial gym at 2 and 3 in the morning. Of course I wondered what kind of parents would let their children out this late, unattended, but I also wondered why the people in charge didn't do something about this.

I feel whoever plans the marathon should monitor who comes in and make sure that children are either accompanied by an adult or taken home. Letting them wander around and sleep on the bleachers overnight makes the college authorities look incompetent.

I hope at next year's marathon children are not allowed to roam in off the streets at any hour.

Wash day protest

Dear Editor,

I just thought I'd add my two cents to the laundry letter that appeared in the paper last week. I am an off-campus student and I usually do my laundry on the weekends in Elwell Hall, (it's the closest for me and many other off-campus students). I was also told that I could not do my laundry on that day, and was told to come back on the specified day. Well I did come back on Monday, the designated day, and the laundry room in Elwell was swamped by students, residents of off-campus and residents of Elwell Hall. It took me two and a half hours to do one load of laundry, which would usually take me 40 minutes.

If these ridiculous rules must be enforced, I suggest that on the designated off-campus days, the residents of the dorms should not be permitted to do their wash on that specific day. After all, we all pay the same tuition and activities fee.

More on laundry

Dear Editor:

I can't believe that they are restricting when off-campus students may do their laundry. It's bad enough that they restrict our parking, partying and visiting hours. We are all supposed to be adults, but they treat us like babies.

Since I don't have a car to drive to campus, I either have to beg a ride or lug my laundry bag up College Hill. I can't always get a ride for the specified days and I don't especially like my clothes wadded up inside a laundry bag once I've just washed them.

Another thing I object to is being restricted on weekends. This is the prime time for most off-campus people to do their wash, and it is unfair to be showed the door just because you are wearing a coat, carrying your laundry (his shows that you are an "outsider"). We don't object to dorm students frequenting our off-campus streets do we?

I have heard that the reason for this is to keep the laundry rooms from being overcrowded, but when I went to do mine I had to wait for over an hour to get a washer.

I would really like to hear why dorms started this new policy without even announcing it to off-campus students. I pay my tuition and activity fee and I don't want to be excluded from something as menial as doing laundry.

An Offended Off-Campuser

Reply to "Injured"

Dear Editor:

This is written in answer to "An injured and embarrassed student" who wrote to the paper last week complaining about the icy walks. First of all, I think the writer slightly exaggerated when he/she said that "three people in front of me suffered broken bones, concussions and ripped clothing."

Secondly, one incident doesn't deserve criticism of the BSC maintenance department. They were apparently unprepared and did their best as fast as they could. I think "Injured" should be a little more tolerant and understanding. Either that or he/she should get out there on those cold, windy days and shovel off the snow and ice themself.

New coach praised

Dear Editor:

I am glad to see that BSC finally did something about shaping up the football team. I watched every week while the team lost and I wondered if anything was going to be done to improve the program. I even became so discouraged that I stayed in my room and began to do my class assignments instead of going to a game I was sure we were going to lose.

I think the new coach, George Landis, will be a big help this semester. He played for Penn State and coached a prestigious school like Dartmouth; hopefully he'll bring some prestige to Bloomsburg.

I think college officials are to be commended for their excellent choice of coaches. I can't wait to become a "real" fan again.

Student editors sue to see files

Campus Digest News Service

Student editors of a Boston college newspaper have filed a suit charging that University officials refused to let them see police logs.

Massachusetts law is unclear about whether university police records fall under the category of municipal documents, which are open to the public.

University officials are considering changing the way information is put on the logs so they can be opened to the public without showing the names of alleged criminals and victims.

There will be a Campus Voice Staff meeting on Feb. 10 at 9 P.M. in the C.V. office News Reporters welcomed.

CCM Plans Convention

Catholic Campus Ministry commenced its spring campaign last Thursday night with a general meeting for all members. The gathering was held at the CCM house located at 353 College Hill.

Several events and programs were proposed for the upcoming months including a picnic, a Valentines Day brunch, a rollerskating party, and Catholic Campus Ministry's massive undertaking for this semester, the Pennsylvania Newman Province's annual convention which will be held in March.

Fr. John Coyne, a chaplain for the ministry, has announced that this year's theme for the convention will be "Outreach to the Poor and Underprivileged." "The programs will center on the aging, physically and mentally handicapped, and the poor," commented Fr. Coyne. "We hope to initiate more involvement in social outreach programs by the students and townspeople of Bloomsburg."

Student Masses will once again be held at St. Columba Church in Bloomsburg Sundays at 11:15 am and 6 pm. Masses are also held at the CCM center everyday at noon, and Wednesday nights at 10 pm. Catholics and non-Catholics alike are welcome.

ASPA to Meet

Counseling Center Focuses On Needs

By KIMBERLY M. BOSLEGO

The Counseling Center was added as a service to BSC students in 1968. Over the years this facility has expanded, adding developmental and service programs to its list of activities. Several years later, to compliment this expansion of programs and services, the name was changed to Center for Counseling and Human Development.

The Center focuses on all types of personal problems ranging from difficulties in interpersonal relations such as homesickness, nonassertiveness, and roommate concerns to sexuality issues such as birth control, abortion, and marriage to general adjustment to college life. Outreach and group seminar-workshops are offered throughout the academic year. Workshop topics include assertiveness communication, drug and alcohol, racism, stress and relaxation and study skills. Any individual interested in having a workshop presented individually or to a group is encouraged to contact the Center for more information. Also, the Counseling Center provides withdrawal information and processing to students taking a leave of absence, withdrawing, or transferring from BSC.

Although the Center offers a wide range of services, about half of the time is devoted to working with students individually to resolve their own unique concerns. Last year over 2,000 contacts with students were made in the Center's facility located in Room 17, Ben Franklin Building. It is open Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to noon and 1:00 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., including a 24 hour crisis intervention seven days a week. If you would like to schedule an appointment, please stop in or call. The Center's telephone number is 389-3718.

Issues and concerns may be dealt with individually by a counselor or on a group basis. All contacts made by students with the Center facility are strictly confidential. No record or notification of a student's visit is made to anyone outside the Center. The Center faculty adheres to the American Psychological Association's professional standards and code of ethics.

In addition to providing personal counseling and educational services, the Center is the coordinator of two major programs on campus. One of these programs, the Orientation Program, is responsible for offering campus information and values clarification in the areas of decision-making, choice of major, schedule planning and personal adjustment to college life to transfer students and new freshmen. This program is directed by John Scrimgeour. Along with this, he also serves as Academic Grievance Coordinator. Mr. Scrimgeour is especially interested in helping students with study skills, decision-making, choice of major, life planning and personal adjustment during their educational experience.

The other major program sponsored by the Counseling Center is the Testing Services Program. This program offers information and testing services for the Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT), Graduate Record Examination (GRE), Law School Admission Test (LSAT), National Teachers Examination (NTE), CollegeLevel Examination Program (CLE), and the Miller Analogies Test (MAT). Bob Davenport directs this program. His interest areas involve organizing activities which are designed to help the individual interact with others in non-traditional situations, along with marriage and interpersonal relationship counseling.

Vincent W. Jenkins is a new member to the Counseling Center. He joined the staff in June 1981 as a psychological counselor. He also works closely with the Center for Academic Development, devoting half of his time to this program. He received his Master's of Education degree in Counseling from Lehigh University. Prior to coming to BSC he worked at Mansfield State College. Mr. Jenkins is particularly skilled in dealing with drug and alcohol issues. His interest areas include values clarification in-

ROTC Awards 2 and 3 Year Scholarships

Army ROTC now has full three- and two-year tuition scholarships available for qualified students' in addition to the full four-year scholarships.

All Army ROTC scholarships are awarded solely on merit. To be eligible, students should rank in the top of their class and be involved in athletics, or other extra-curricular activities that show leadership potential. They don't have to be enrolled in ROTC, either.

In addition to full tuition, the scholarships also pay for text books, lab fees and up to $1,000 per year for each year the scholarship is in effect.

Many students do not know that two- and three-year scholarships are available. This means that a student can apply for a scholarship after his first year of college, and that students who attended junior or community colleges where ROTC was not available still have the opportunity to compete for a two-year scholarship in order to finish college.

A bill increasing the number of available Army ROTC scholarships to 12,000 has been passed by Congress. This almost doubles the number of scholarships presently available to qualified students. Currently, there are six cadets on Army ROTC scholarships at BSC.

Over the past several years there has been an increasing interest in the scholarships offered by Army ROTC. There are plenty of scholarships available to students who can show a pressing financial need. However, ROTC scholarships are awarded on merit alone, and that has caused many parents, as well as students, to take a closer look at what Army ROTC has to offer.

Students or parents interested in finding out more about the two- and three-year scholarships offered by Army ROTC should call the Financial Aid office, 389-3908, or call collect, Army ROTC, 524-1100.

Literature Lives in Collection

By MICHAEL HALLOCK

Outstanding persons are remembered for many reasons. Some of these men create their own legacies, while others have legacies erected or dedicated by those who seem to be drawn to such men of greatness. Some of these men have statues erected of them, others have buildings or streets named after them, still others leave works of art behind when they die.

Bloomsburg State College had on its faculty such an outstanding person- Dr. Cecil C. Seronsy- and in honor of his achievements as a teacher and a scholar the Seronsy Renaissance Collection was created by some of his colleagues at the time of his retirement in 1973, in order to perpetuate his contributions to the teaching profession and to literary scholarship. Though Seronsy died in October of last year, this collection is in Andruss Library to use and learn from, as if he were still teaching.

The Renaissance was that great revival of art, literature and learning that occurred in Europe through the 14th, 15th and 16th centuries. This was an age of such literary giants as William Shakespeare, John Milton, Christopher Marlowe and many others, and it was the period of literature that Dr. Seronsy loved the most.

Dr. Gerald Strauss, professor of English and one of the unofficial trustees of the Collection, said, "The Cecil Seronsy Renaissance Collection was intended primarily to consist of books on the open library shelves and available to all students and faculty for normal use."

The initial purchases for the Collection were a few rare books, but now, because of the rising cost of rare books and in order to increase the use of the Collection by larger numbers of students, the books are now all bought for the open shelves. The Collection has grown from a few rare works to more than 100 volumes, which are distinguished by bookplates inside the front covers identifying them as part of the Renaissance Collection.

The rare books, maintained in the library vault, are used primarily to provide students in BSC's Bibliography courses an opportunity to study the history of book production and printing.

"The study of old books," according to Dr. Strauss, "can reveal where the book was published, by whom, when, how it was made, and even the typesetter." The rare books in this Collection are also occasionally used in library exhibits.

Dr. Cecil Seronsy, who retired in 1973 after 21 years at BSC, left behind a long list of accomplishments. He was the first chairman of the English Department and was responsible for the inception of many of the English courses still being taught. He was also a fine teacher and an active participant in many campus activities as well as being involved in increasing the breadth and scope of books maintained in the Harvey A. Andruss library.

However, Dr. Seronsy's contributions did not confine themselves to the BSC campus. He is well known and highly regarded throughout the country as a highly respected scholar of the English Renaissance. His book, Samuel Daniel, a critical and biographical study of the Renaissance poet, critic and historian, was published in 1967. In addition, Dr. Seronsy published many articles in such scholarly journals as the Journal of English and Germanic Philology, Modern Language Notes, Philological Quarterly, and Shakespeare Quarterly.

"The Seronsy Renaissance Collection was thought to be a good way to recognize Dr. Seronsy's contribution to BSC, his literary scholarship, his love of teaching and literature, as well as a way to perpetuate his name," said Dr. Strauss.

The continuance of the Renaissance Collection is primarily in the hands of the three people involved in its creation in 1973. These three are: Dr. Gerald Strauss, Dr. Susan Rusinko and Mr. Richard Savage. All three are members of the English Department faculty at BSC. Those three, joined by Mrs. Louise Seronsy after her husband's death, are currently involved in plans to formalize the workings of the Collection. The plan involves forming a perpetual trust with Mrs. Seronsy, three members from the college community and two members from the non-college community as trustees. The group is also trying to set up by-laws to guide the handling of the Collection in the future.

The most difficult and important decisions to be made for the Collection are the choices of books to be bought. Currently, books for consideration are usually passed to the group from Mr. Aaron Polonsky of the library's Acquisition Department. He chooses the books from the Library of Congress cards he receives that he feels will be of interest to and within the aims of the trustees of the Renaissance Collection, but that the library would probably be unable to purchase for various reasons. These cards are then reviewed by Dr. Strauss and discussed with the other members of the group.

The actual criteria for choosing the books are at present unsettled, but there were three guidelines set down at the last meeting of the group: 1) facsimiles of Renaissance books or complete collections of certain writers; 2) older editions of standard texts; 3) standard critical material published by major Renaissance scholars that the library cannot buy.

48 Complete Marathon

Forty-eight exhausted dancers completed the 8th annual dance marathon, held this past weekend in Centennial Gym. Nearly $8,000 was raised for the Bloomsburg Chapter of the American Red Cross, the money pledge from 203 total dancers.

"BSC Goes To the Movies" was this year's marathon's theme, which was sponsored by the Kehr Union Program Board. Gayly dressed dancers depicting famous movie characters enhanced the first hour. Bonnie and Clyde; Dorothy and the Tin Man; the Pink Panther and Inspector Clossseau; and the Elephant Man danced, enhancing spirits and competed for prizes.

Other prizes awarded by the Program Board, which were given away at the end of the 50 hours, were trophies for the three most enthusiastic dancers who competed the marathon. The winners were: Lauren Meymaris, Bucky Dewitt, and Ann Couturier. Other prizes will be awarded at a reception on Feb. 17, after the pledged money is turned in, according to Program Board officials.

Throughout the 50 hours, dance contests and special costume and music hours were featured. To pass the time, for example, dancers competed in disco and pogo dance contests, a Beatles hour and a beach hour which featured BSC grad, Jim Lyman dressed in Rock Lobster attire. Lyman was the Master of Ceremonies throughout the marathon.

Fusco Joins Mass Comm Team

By LINDA R. FEGLEY

The Mass Communication Department has added a talented new professor named Ms. Margie Fusco to teach public relations and advertising.

Ms. Fusco attended the University of Pittsburgh where she received her Master's degree in writing. She was previously employed for two and a half years at Geisinger Medical Center where she worked as news editor and internship supervisor. Now, she works part-time at BSC teaching such courses as Design and Advertising, Public Relations, and Persuasion and Advertising. In addition, Ms. Fusco is self-employed at her Milton business called Wordworks, where she performs writing and editorial services.

When Ms. Fusco was asked about her expectations of teaching before she began. She replied that her biggest worry was, "How do you fill fifty minutes?". However, after one semester, she finds it hard to stop talking at the end of the class period, and is very stimulated by teaching interested students.

Ms. Fusco believes her recent job experience at Geisinger has given her some knowledge which she tries to stress to her students. She is aware of the value of research and management in public relations, and is in favor of a direct, journalistic approach in advertising.

When asked about the future for students seeking jobs in the area of mass communication, Ms. Fusco commented that while advertising can be a stressful job, it probably has the most openings. She believes though that jobs in public relations are beginning to appear more frequently for young graduates.

To gain a competitive edge in the field of mass communications, Ms. Fusco would like students to take as many courses as possible within their major and apply their skills through activities and organizations. Also, she believes internships give students much needed experience and hopefully some contacts for the future.

When asked about her general impressions of BSC, Ms. Fusco seemed pleased with the sound economy of the institution and very impressed with her students who seemed genuinely interested in their schooling.

This dynamic professor hopes to return next fall to continue teaching and preparing students for their various careers in public relations and advertising.

Board plans events

By MICHAEL HALLOCK

Wait! Even before the heels of the marathon dancers have cooled down, the Kehr Union Program Board is busily working to present its next program of fun and entertainment.

The Program Board, advised by Tammy Chacona, is responsible for many of the great activities that have happened and are happening at BSC. A short list of events that come about through the hard work of the Board include: Fall Jam/Loree, Dance Marathon, Sibling Weekend, Renaissance-Jamboree, first-run motion pictures, Coffeehouse performances, KUB Dances, Dating Game and others.

The Program Board is not funded out of the Community Activities fee but receives its money primarily from the games room and the Bookstore. The Board is not affiliated with the Bloomsburg State Concert Committee.

The Program Board is made up of six committees: publicity, recreation, special events, dance and mini-concerts, Coffeehouses and movies. Anyone who wishes to join a committee is welcome and the only pre-requisites are interest, enthusiasm and a desire to keep program quality high.

"The Program Board is not funded by Community Activities but rather from the Games Room and Book Store."

If one desires to join a committee or obtain more information drop in at the Program Board office on the left side of the games room and ask for Tammy.

BSC Track...Women Victorious

The Bloomsburg State Women's Track Team opened the 1982 season with a victory Saturday in a four team meet at Lafayette College. Bloomsburg scored 145 points to defeat Lafayette College (136), Kutztown State (75) and St. Joseph College (38).

The Lady Huskies led after the first event (high jump) and relinquished the lead once during the entire meet. Bloomsburg and Kutztown each had five first place finishers, but Bloomsburg's depth accounted for the victory. Sophomore Vicky Amici won both the one mile and two mile run to pace the Huskies. Amici also ran the anchor leg on the second place two mile relay.

Other first place finishers for Bloomsburg were freshman Pam Sobchak (long jump), Sue Schenck (440), and the mile relay quartet of freshman Denise Beckerich, freshman Ann Norris, Sophomores Kim Kinney and Sue Schneck.

Kinney displayed fine early season form by finishing second and fourth respectively in the 60 yard hurdles. Junior Beth Banaszak scored 22 points by finishing second in both the 60 yard dash and the 300 yard dash, and third in the long jump.

Other scores for Bloomsburg were Junior Terri Purcell (second - 880 yard run, third - 1 mile run, and second - 1 mile relay); freshman Barb Docherty (third - 3 mile run, second - 2 mile relay); Sophomore Sue Line (third - 600 yard run, second - 2 mile relay); freshman Marie Monroe (fourth - 440 yard dash); freshman Mindy Harris (second - 1000 yard run); sophomore Kelly Kessler (fifth - 2 mile run); and, freshman Pan Sobchak (third - high jump).

Coach Dick Daymont was very pleased by the team's first place finish. Daymont felt that the Bloomsburg women competed very well and looks forward to the Cortland (N.Y.) State Invitational on February 13, when the Women's Track and Field team faces some top competition from New York and New England.

The Most Valuable Team Competitor of this meet goes to Vicky Amici who won two events and ran in the two mile relay team, which placed second.

Womens Swimmers defeated

By TINA KLAMUT

After coming back a week early to train during break, the BSC Women's Swim Team has compiled a pair of wins and one loss during their second half of season competition.

The wins were against Lycoming and Glassboro State, in which the Huskies dominated both meets. The women suffered their first loss against Clarion 80-59. Clarion is a Division II powerhouse, winning the National crown two years in a row.

The match between the Golden Eagles and the Huskies proved to be very competitive for both teams. Three new BSC team marks were set and personal best times for some of the girls were performed.

"We had some excellent competition in the meet," said coach Mary Gardner. "Our team made its finest showing ever against Clarion and I was very pleased with everyone's performance."

Sue Boyer once again bettered her times to set two new team records in the 50 and 100 yard breaststroke events. Team captain Linda Smith and Tina Klamut both recorded their personal bests, Smith in the 50 freestyle and Klamut in the 100 and 200 yard individual medleys.

Another team mark and highlight of the meet was the 200 yard medley relay consisting of a team of Gwen Cressman, Sue Boyer, Sue Young and Linda Smith.

The women have two of their toughest opponents, Shippensburg and Bucknell, still to go. Both teams beat BSC last year in close matches.

The Huskies travel to Shippensburg today and will conclude their season with two home meets, one on Tuesday February 9 at 4:00 p.m. against Bucknell, and one Saturday, Feb. 13 at 2:00 p.m. against Indiana. Both meets will be held at the Nelson pool.

Intramural Finals Slated before Pitt Match

By DAN CAMPBELL

The Pitt Panthers come into town tonight to take on the Husky wrestling team at Nelson Fieldhouse. The Huskies have had good success against the Panthers in the past and tonight promises to be no exception. Last year the Huskies beat them at Pittsburgh and two years ago swamped the Panthers in Nelson fieldhouse.

The varsity action starts at approximately 8:00 pm, but you'll want to get there before that.

The reason is that the preliminary bouts will be the campus Intramural wrestling finals. Weighins are at 5:30 and the first match will be at 6:00.

The finals promise to be quite exciting as the tourney has come down to a battle of two teams.

Bung's Bar and Grill, and Doc have five finalists each, with two of the matches being head to head meetings between the two teams.

Ron Puhl, Intramural director, was very pleased with the way things went with this year's tourney. He put the wrestling team in charge of the tournament and made Don Reese tournament director.

"Donnie and the wrestlers did a good job," Puhl said. "That's the way we'd like to run things in the future," Puhl indicated, referring to having varsity teams run intramural competitions.

Coach Puhl also pointed out that all wrestlers should remember that weighins will be at 5:30, "in order for things to run more smoothly," Puhl concluded.

The lineups for the finals and the teams represented are as follows:

- 120 Ray Dalessio, FSC vs. Mark Innan, Bungs
- 130 Jeff Leberfinger, Bungs vs Bob Braun, Pumas
- 140 John Duvernois, Delta Pi vs Phil Conner, Doc
- 150 Kevin Mitchell, Doc vs Bruce Richie, Demons
- 160 Scott Wood, Doc vs Brian Chidster, Bungs
- 170 Steve Meszaros, Bungs vs Bob Crawford, Monarchs
- 180 Eryc Christofes, Teke vs Mike Hamer, Doc
- 190 Tim Jones, Sal Val vs Ken Jones, Misfits
- HWT Kevin Hargreaves, Bungs vs Mike Bakik, Doc

Mrs. Seronsy explained one problem that the book choosing process faces; "The purpose of the Collection is to add books to the library that are in the field of the Renaissance, and we must decide if it is going to be comprised of books that the library may purchase, or books that the library would not normally buy."

Funds for the Collection are solicited periodically and the amount currently available, which was much increased following Dr. Seronsy's death, is $1,032. The English Department, as well as many of Dr. Seronsy's friends and acquaintances, made donations to the Renaissance Collection instead of sending flowers to the funeral.

Dr. Rusinko said they were considering the development of a program to be run every April, around William Shakespeare's birthday, to commemorate the Collection and to renew interest in the

Huskies Loose in Overtime

By ROBERTA CLEMENS

In a highpaced but heart-breaking game the BSC women's basketball team lost in overtime to the University of Scranton Royals, Monday in Scranton. The Royals were last year's third place winners in Division III of the Association of Intercollegiate Athletic for Women (AIAW).

BSC was trailing at the half by nine points, 33-24. But Bloomsburg took charge of the second half by outscoring Scranton 36-27, tying the score three times. After putting in three unanswered baskets in the last two minutes of the game it was Bloom's ball with three seconds left. As the official clock struck 1 second, freshman Jean Radcliff turned around with a jump shot that circled the basket and dropped in, sending the BSC fans to their feet.

But the overtime play was in favor of Scranton, the Royals scored 13 points to Bloomsburg's 6, the final score being 73 to 66.

Radcliff was high scorer for BSC with 24 points, followed by sophomore Mary Hassenplug with 14 (many from way outside the key). (Cont. on Page 8)

Bloomsburg State's ninth-ranked basketball team rolled to its sixth straight win with a 66-57 thrashing of Lock Haven State College Monday night at the loser's home court.

The final score is somewhat misleading, as BSC led by 17 points in the second half, giving coach Charles Chronister the chance to play everyone currently on the roster.

Lock Haven did pull to within one, 32-31, early in the second half, but the Huskies gradually pulled away and never looked back.

Mike Wenrich turned in his second straight 20 point night, and also his second straight Time Markets - McDowell Oil player of the game award. Wenrich connected on six field goals and was eight of nine from the foul line.

Jon Bardsley also hit six shots from the floor, with two free throws for 14 points. He also dished out six assists. Reserves Terry Conrad, Ron Zynel, Doug Greenholt and Wes Wright added to the Bloomsburg scoring total by combining for 18 points.

Lock Haven was led by Doug LeGette with 14, Jeff Corson 13, and Terry Gilman 10.

Barry Francisco came up with a clutch steal near mid-court in the final seconds and raced down court to score a layup, giving the Bloomsburg State Huskies a hard-fought 61-59 win at Clarion State College Saturday night.

Clarion had led 59-53 with just 1:44 to play but the Huskies poured in the final eight points of the game for the victory. After BSC had tied the score at 59, the Eagles held the ball for the final shot; however, Francisco dashed any hopes for a Clarion upset.

Bloomsburg began their late rally with a Francisco jump shot at 1:31. Jon Bardsley then hit from 18 feet with 49 seconds left. After Clarion's John Calipari missed the front end of a one-and-one foul, Bardsley was fouled and connected on both free throws to tie the score at the 38 second mark, setting the stage for Francisco.

Husky coach Charles Chronister felt his team played with a lot of poise, and that a key to the win was not panicking when BSC fell behind by 11 early in the second half. He also cited Mike Wenrich, Bardsley and Francisco for their clutch play.

Wenrich led all scorers with 21 points, earning him the Time Markets - McDowell Oil player of the game award. Bardsley was next in line with 16, followed by Francisco's 11.

Clarion was led by Joe Malis' 17 and Chris Roosevelt's 16. Jacques Flemmings added 11.
