Senior Center Plans Thanksgiving Feast

by Sarah Sutton

The Sixth Annual Community Thanksgiving Dinner will be held on Thursday, Nov. 25, at noon at the California Senior Center, 750 Orchard St.

The dinner, planned for those who don't have families with whom to share the holiday, attracts area senior citizens and some others who would otherwise be alone.

"I'm always surprised by the generosity of people who sponsor meals for those less fortunate," said Betty Copenhaver, program assistant at the center.

Last year, the meal was a success with 60 people attending and 15 meals delivered to homebound residents.

Copenhaver believes the dinner will again prove to be a success with a good turnout but could not predict a set number of guests because many people sign up late.

Individuals and organizations who wish to sponsor a Thanksgiving meal for those who would be alone may contribute $5.25 per meal. A place card identifying the donor will grace the Thanksgiving table for each donation.

Volunteer workers are needed in the following areas: set up, clean up, kitchen help, serving, van drivers, and meals-on-wheels delivery.

Volunteer sign-up and sponsor forms have been distributed. Local churches will be asked to include flyers in their worship bulletins and/or newsletters. Residents of Liberty Towers, California Manor, and Riverview and California Apartments will be invited to participate. Invitations and sponsor forms may also be picked up at the senior center.

Anyone wishing to participate may deliver donations or mail reply forms to: California Senior Center, 750 Orchard St., California, PA 15419 or California Senior Center, Box 69, California University of PA, California, PA 15419-1394.

Dinner and van transportation reservations can be made by calling the California Senior Center at 9938-3554, but should be made no later than Monday, Nov. 22.

The dinner is sponsored by the California Senior Center, California University Dining Services, and M.W. Wood Co.

The Entertaining Arts Committee and Student Association, Inc. of California University will present "Serial Killers and Mass Murder: America's Growing Menace" at the Performance Center in the Student Center on Monday, November 15 at 8:00 pm.

The thrilling event, hosted by criminologist Jack Levin will allow the audience to delve into many common myths and scary realities surrounding the crimes of murderers who have plagued our country in recent years.

Levin, a professor at Northeastern University in Boston and co-author of Mass Murder: America's Growing Menace, has appeared on thousands of television and radio programs including 48 Hours, A Current Affair, Geraldo, The Oprah Winfrey Show, Donahue, and NBC News.

During the informative and entertaining event, Levin will present chilling insights into the motives, methods, and minds of such multiple murderers as James Huberty, who slaughtered 21 innocent children at a McDonald's restaurant, and serial killers like the Milwaukee cannibal Jeffrey Dahmer and John Wayne Gacy, who tortured, killed and buried under his house 33 young men and boys in the Chicago suburb of Dearborn Heights.

The lecture is free and open to the public. For any additional information, call 938-4306.

Brothers and Sisters
Fraternal Thoughts
Rowlen B. Wilson

There lies on this campus a most confusing statement amongst non-Greeks: I don't like fraternities. Black fraternities especially are being criticized. What puzzles me is why we (I am a member of Alpha Phi Alpha) are being singled out. If you don't understand us then why are you trying to give us a bad name.

The first black fraternity was started by seven young men at Cornell University in Ithaca, NY, in 1906. This began Alpha Phi Alpha. They started as a nothing more than a study group. They then wanted to join a fraternity but at that time no white fraternity would have them. So they pledged to start their own. Then, in later years, more black fraternities sprung up from Howard University, Omega Psi Phi, Zeta Phi Beta, Alpha Kappa Alpha, Phi Beta Sigma and Delta Sigma Theta. Also, in the Midwest came Kappa Alpha Psi, from Indiana University.

During the 60s and the 70s, black fraternities and sororities grew into a great tradition for black men and women. Black fraternities stood as a brotherhood/sisterhood for all younger brothers and sisters to aspire to. To join the endless names of black men and women who are members: Martin Luther King (AΦA), Betty Shabazz (ΔΣΤ), W. E. B. Dubois (AΦA), Mayor Sharon Pratt Kelly (AΦA), Michael Jordan (ΩΨΦ), Wilt Chamberlain (KΑΨ), Emmitt Smith (ΦΒΣ), Bill Cosby (ΩΨΦ), Earnest Byner (ΩΨΦ), T.J. Jemison (AΦA), T-Boz and Left Eye of TLC (ΔΣΤ), Jesse Jackson (ΩΨΦ), Joe Torry (ΩΨΦ), Scottie Pippen (ΦΒΣ), Louis Oliver (AΦA), Jesse Owens (AΦA), and Bo Jackson (AΦA), to name only a very few.

Now, in our day and age, even more black fraternities and sororities have popped up from anywhere and everywhere: the Brown and Gold of Iota Phi Theta; football frats, like Fe Fi Fresh at Howard, Ci Fi Ci, at North Carolina A&T.

Many bands at black schools have their own fraternities. Even the black women at Washington & Jefferson University have started their own sorority. And never forget Groove Phi Groove.

Black organizations give bothers and sisters a friendship that is never broken; a bond with a brother or sister that is more than just a wave. No matter where you are, your fraternal brothers and sisters are always there for you. A friendship may be broken, but a fraternal bond is forever.

Campus Ministry Presents: UPWORDS
September, TV and Reality
V. Rev. Fr. George Alberts

Back in September our "regular" way of life resumed after summer vacation. We had a new beginning, so to speak. September also brings new beginnings for the mass media, television, in particular, which presents a "Fall Line-up" for our viewing pleasure (or displeasure, as the case may be). This year, like every other year brought us new and exciting programs to choose from. The question is, new and exciting in whose opinion?

All of us heard first-hand reports and interviews with those fortunate enough to preview and critique the coming fall line-up. This year perhaps more than ever there was strong media hype about pushing the limits of broadcast TV in its competition with cable channels. We were told that the new move is towards "reality" shows; shows that were true to real life. It seems that the true-to-life series begun last year were so popular that the executives decided to make new series truer to life than ever.

You may have heard of these programs and probably have seen them. These are my questions. "Are they true to life? Is life really like what they portray? And why are certain aspects of "real life" chosen to be portrayed while others are not?"

Producers and station executives stress their rights to show the "true" violence that occurs in our society. They stress their rights to show the "true" sexual attitudes of our society. They stress their rights to give viewers the "true" picture of what life in the United States is all about. If you were to suddenly come from a far away place and viewed these "real life" "true" shows, what would you think about our society? First, you would think all Americans from the law enforcement officers to the man in the street are violent people who wait for situations to occur and then settle them by violence. Violence seems to be the acceptable way for Americans to solve all of their problems according to the media "real life" viewpoint. Next, you would think that our sexual attitudes are such that we are ready to have sex with anyone, at anytime, in any situation, with people we just met and even people we don't even like. And what about married couples? If this is "real life" media, then there does not seem to be any sex between married people in our society at least according to what we see in the media! Most disturbing of all is that in all of this "reality", no goodness is shown! Does this mean that there are no good people left in our country today? Does it mean that to subscribe to different values and beliefs from those portrayed by reality TV makes us "unreal" people? This seems to be what we are being told. "If you don't want to watch what we are presenting to you and acknowledge it as real, then turn the dial and change channels or turn the TV off and go back to your unrealistic dream world!"

The media view of violence, sex and the American way is not only looked at by those outside of our society but also by our children within our society. What are they being told? Look at the increasing number of young people who are solving their problems through the use of violence. Look at the spread of AIDS among teens, unwanted pregnancies, abortions, rape, suicide, etc., in our society today. Does the media "truly" reflect this "reality" or is this "reality" a reflection and a product of what is being taught to us and our children as being "reality" by the media?

The Anatomy of the Citibank Classic card: a body of services and peace of mind for students.

For years, scientists could only theorize about the Citibank Classic Visa® card, unable to actually observe anything below its epidermal surface (i.e. the plastic). Surely, the highly intelligent services were evidence of an advanced brain. But with the latest advances in x-ray technology, and when the light could catch the various parts just so, it was confirmed: the Citibank Classic Visa card is head to toe more evolved than ever imagined. ¶ At its backbone are 3 services to cover the purchases you make on the card. Starting at the Lower Costal Spine, we see Citibank Price Protection can assure you of the best price. All you have to do is discover the same item advertised in print for less, within 60 days, and Citibank will refund the difference up to $150! Along the Oops-It-

Scientists theorize that the mind of the Citibank Classic Visa cardmember (Fig. A) is secure because it receives superior service: the mind of the non-Citibank Classic Visa cardmember (Fig. B) is not secure because—could it be—it has a screw loose!

Slipped Disc, Buyers Security™ can cover those purchases against accidental damage, fire or theft, for 90 days from the date of purchase<sup>1</sup>; and Citibank Lifetime Warranty™ allows one to extend the warranty for the expected service life of eligible products up to 12 years<sup>2</sup>. So if you ever buy a walkman, a stereo, whatever, it will be reassuring to know that Citibank can bend and be flexible while still lending support.

¶ The backbone is then connected to the cranium or headbone. You can actually see it on the top left hand corner of the card. Look at the bottom of the page. The Citibank Photocard has the head of the cardholder on it, as well as his or her own signature, right on the front. That way, it will help prevent fraud.

It will make a good form of ID as well, since you get to choose your own photo. ¶ But what about the Nervous System? The fact is, it doesn't have one, not in the spinal cord nor in the brain. What it has is the Very Calm System. Because even if your credit card gets stolen, or gets lost, an involuntary muscle called the Extendus Anewardeus activates the Lost Wallet™ Service which can replace your card usually within 24 hours. ¶ As suspected, there's another involuntary muscle: the heart—a beating and caring heart, big enough to give students special discounts and savings. You'll receive a $20 Airfare Discount on domestic flights<sup>3</sup>; savings on mail order purchases, sports equipment, magazines and music; a low variable interest rate of 15.4%<sup>4</sup>; and, no annual fee. (In other words, the card itself doesn't cost a forelimb and a hindlimb.) ¶ Naturally the heart of the Citibank Visa card pumps life and personalized customer service into all its parts, 24 hours a day. So no matter what the question you might have concerning your card, you need only call the 800 number. Citibank representatives each have a neck they are eager to stick out for you. They will always lend an ear. Or a hand. They will keep an eye out for you. They will put their best foot forward. Etc. ¶ So call to apply. You don't need a job or a cosigner. And call if you'd like your photo added to your regular Citibank Classic Visa card. The number is 1-800-CITIBANK (1-800-248-4226), extension 19. ¶ If we take an overview of the whole body of services that make up the Citibank Classic Visa card, and consider that it will facilitate building a credit history, then you must shake a leg, flex your index finger and call today.

Not just Visa. Citibank Visa.

The Registration Game

Equipment:

1 die
No more than 6 tokens (we suggest coins of various denominations)

Rules:

1. To begin play, roll the die to determine class rank; seniors go first, etc.
2. Starting from the Information Desk in the Student Union lobby, players must move their tokens the number of spaces indicated on the die.
3. Movement along the paths is restricted by the directional arrows.
4. When a token lands on a specialty space, the player must ascend or descend the full length of the sweep arrow.
5. Administrative crossroads (Info Desk, Academic Records, and Noss Hall) count as spaces. When leaving these spaces, the player may choose his exit route.
6. Play ends with the first successful registration. Exact roll required to win.

Students Learn About How to Meet the Needs of the Disabled

by C.R. Bennett

California University's Office of Services for Students With Disabilities presented "Understanding and Meeting the Needs of Students with Disabilities" Tuesday in observance of Disability Awareness Month.

Two distinguished speakers posed challenges and provided inspiration by explaining how we, as a society, need to change the attitudes we have about people with disabilities.

Ms. Dolores Rozzi, currently at CU on an executive loan program from the U.S. Department of Energy, presented "The Americans With Disabilities Act - What Does It Mean To Us?"

In her speech, Rozzi explained that if people do not change their apathetic attitudes about those with disabilities into active ones, the ADA will be rendered ineffective.

"There should be more people here today," she said, "(the attendance) says a lot to me about the attitude on campus. There are so many opportunities to be educated, and yet people simply do not take them."

Additionally, Rozzi explained some of the reasons why she thinks some ignore the disabled.

"It takes no thought, no planning and no special effort, and we suffer no personal harm."

By ignoring the situation, we are effectively stifling the opportunities of the disabled, at an approximate annual cost of $60 billion, she added.

Of the 43 million disabled people in this country, 12 million people of working age want to work rather than collect disability and welfare.

Yet we continue to shoot ourselves in the foot by not making an effort to mainstream these people into the work force - looking at what they cannot do, rather than what they can do.

What can I do? you ask. Rozzi explained that there are many things we can do individually to help change the attitudes about the disabled.

Emphasize the people, not their disability. Find out what terms are acceptable to the disabled, stop using offensive ones.

Open your eyes and see how the disabled are discriminated against, and most importantly, change your attitude about all people.

The second speaker, Mr. Henry Holden, presented "Attitudes Are The Real Disability." This was a humorous, light-hearted look into his life and the reasons why we, as a society, have negative views of the disabled.

Holden used humor throughout his presentation to get his point across but keep the theme light. Holden opened with: "The reason why I use crutches is because I'm the Pope's first miracle. I went to him with a hearing impediment and he cured me."

Recalling a change he made in his life, Holden said, "I remember the last time I cried about my disability, it was snowing and everybody was sledding, I felt sorry for myself. I put on my coat, threw off my crutch, slid down 19 steps on my keester, and went sled riding. And that was the last time I cried about it."

He added that he wanted to be part of everything, playing football with the kids, being in plays, never letting his disability become his main focus.

And that is exactly what he did. Holden has ridden in the National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden, learned how to downhill ski in Colorado, and recently was certified in Scuba diving.

He also has a 145 bowling average and takes great pride in being on the Eastern Paralyzed Veteran's Association's Wheelchair Basketball team.

But his greatest love is acting, having played in such television shows as T.J. Hooker, Hill Street Blues, Divorce Court, and Knots Landing, as well as starring in the Emmy nominated rock musical, I Got News for You.

Holden is particularly concerned about how people with disabilities are portrayed by television and the media in general.

"There's not one character on a prime-time show with a disability," Holden said.

A University of Pennsylvania study determined that people with disabilities are shown 1.5% of the time on television, and that in an average household, the TV is on seven hours a day.

Holden explained that because there are so few people with disabilities on TV, they are perceived as pathetic, needy and unappetizing to the mind.

In order to be a positive role model, both for children with disabilities and without, Holden takes his greatest pride in starring as a clown in a recent episode of Kids Incorporated, a Disney Channel show.

He believes that portraying a happy and acrobatic clown signifies everything that is opposite about how one is to feel about someone with a disability.

Holden takes great pride in his accomplishments, and is not afraid to tell you either, as he travels around the nation to schools speaking in classes or doing his comedy act, trying to touch as many people as he can.

Both Ms. Dolores Rozzi and Mr. Henry Holden have a message that is perfectly clear: Let's have a healthy attitude toward everybody no matter what the situation. And let's focus on the person, not their problems.

Who Says There's a Parking Problem?

By Lance Martin

Although many students complain about parking at California University, one administrator feels that the university serves commuting students well.

Dr. Allan Golden, vice president of administration and finance, believes the university has done an adequate job of providing parking space for students.

Three new student lots have been constructed in the past six years. These include the University Express lot, the lot behind the Student Center, and the lot across the tracks on the east end of campus.

"I don't think there is a problem. I think parking is one of those issues that you can never satisfy everyone on," Golden said. "The norm seems to be that people aren't always happy about parking, whether it is at California University or any other institution, for that matter. My own sense based on the additional parking that we have provided over the years, is that I am not aware we have a parking problem."

Lelia Burke, secretary of commuter council, sees things differently.

According to Burke, one problem related to parking is inadequate lighting, contributing to increased incidence of female students being assaulted.

Another problem is a poor job of upkeep on lots, such as cleaning broken glass, Burke said.

"We have 4,000 commuters coming to this school and on average we have no where near that amount of parking places," Burke said.

"One complaint a lot of commuters have is that half of the spaces are being taken by drivers who leave their cars parked indefinitely."

California Gets $23,286 Local Boroughs Receive Money

Auditor general Barbara Hafer distributed monies to local boroughs, benefiting municipal employees pension plans.

California Borough received $23,986.30. West Brownsville and Speers boroughs both received $1,230.71. Centerville borough received $5,059.93.

Washington County municipalities received a total of $895,892.

Act 205 of 1984 provides for these allocations to aid police, paid firefighters and non-uniformed pension plans. The commonwealth funding originates from revenue generated by the state's two percent gross premiums tax levied on fire and casualty insurance premiums collected by foreign (non-Pennsylvania based) insurance companies.

Individual allocations are based on municipal employee pension plan costs, unless these costs exceed a unit value cap. Act 205 sets a cap on these allocations based on the number of employee units of a municipality. This limit or cost cap on allocations is necessary due to variations in municipal pension costs. The limit prevents municipalities with exceptionally high pension costs from receiving a disproportionate amount of annual funds available.

Hafer is required to annually distribute the state funding that benefits the municipal pension plans. Additionally, the auditor general's office is required to audit the pension plans to ensure the funds properly being used.

If administrators of the pension plans do not comply with audit recommendations, the department will withhold future state aid.

"As a result of these audits, on payments totaling more than a million have been returned to the commonwealth since I took office. These refunds are put back into the funding system and redistributed.

Hafer will be distributing more than $121 million to 1,107 municipalities statewide.

Congratulations! Lori Jansante from the revenue office receives an "I Made A Difference" pin from Stacey Durzo, a graduate student in Business Administration and member of the Adult Learners' Task Force. The pins were part of the ALT workshop where Durzo was one of the featured speakers. The pins are scattered in different locations across campus and adult learners are encouraged to give one to a faculty or staff member or an administrator who has helped them. As a member of the ALT, Stacey received a call from a student praising Lori for her enthusiasm and helpfulness. Stacey substituted for the student and "pinned" Lori. Special congratulations go out to all the caring and concerned recipients of the pins. The ALT hopes that everyone on campus would eventually be the proud recipient of one of the pins, indicating that everyone is aware of the needs of the adult learner. Photograph by Ed Dunlevy

UPDATE

There will be 20 men's basketball and 16 women's basketball games at Hamer Hall this winter along with four wrestling meets and two huge grappling tourneys. The madness begins this Thursday when wrestling hosts UPJ at 7:30 p.m. The Lady Vulcan Tipoff tourney will start on Friday (6 & 8 p.m.) and finish with Saturday games at 1 and 3 p.m. The Vulcan men will beat the Slovaks on Sunday at 2 p.m. as the winter games begin.

Cal Crushes Lock Haven, Wins Second Straight

The California Vulcan seniors. STANDING: John McGowan, Wayne Hixenbaugh, Brian Ward, Scott Boyer, Steve Ritenour, Chris Edenfield. Kneeling: Tracy Latham, Shawn Keller, Scott Hoover, Tony Woods, Jerry Snyder. Photograph by Ed Dunlevy.

Winning three straight games for the first time in seven years, finishing with a .500 divisional record and honoring 11 seniors will be three top priorities that await the Vulcan football team as Cal prepares for its season finale against Shippensburg.

"It was kind of fun and I felt really good for our seniors," said Cal first-year head coach Kevin Donley. "You can see the confidence developing in our players. The staff and I have felt all long that we were doing the right things but you begin to question things after you drop a few and now we've sort of been justified. What's important is that we are getting better each week and the attitude and adrenaline was something to see last Saturday."

The 11 seniors that Cal will honor prior to Saturday's kickoff are: offensive lineman Scott Boyer, linebacker/special teams Chris Edenfield, defensive lineman Wayne Hixenbaugh, running back Scott Hoover, cornerback Tracy Latham, middle guard Shawn Keller, linebacker John McGowan, tight end special teams Steve Ritenour, safety Jerry Snyder, defensive end Brian Ward, and defensive end Tony Woods.

"I guess what appears to be an ending is also a new beginning in a way," Donley said. "Hopefully this year has been a rewarding experience for our 11 seniors and I am sure they will succeed in whatever it is that they choose to do. We intend to send them out with a victory on Saturday."

California will hope to continue its steady improvement against Shippensburg. Last week, the Vulcans rolled up 624 net offensive yards, the highest single-game, total yardage output in the PSAC this season. Cal pounded out 285 net rushing yards as 10 Vulcans carried the football. Freshman Michael Zellars led all Cal rushers with 86 yards on 11 attempts, while sophomore fullback Eric Carter gained 73 yards on 15 carries and scored his sixth rushing touchdown of the season. Though 10 games, Carter has rushed for 706 yards.

Volleyball Looks to Three-peat

Strong finish coupled with a help from Slippery Rock has the Lady Vulcan volleyball team on course to possibly win an unprecedented third straight PSAC championship. Coached by Karen Fetsko, Cal reached the regular season with a hot and hectic 3-2 win at Lock Haven. That win coupled with Slippery Rock's 3-0 home win at Edinboro has set-up a one-match playoff for the PSAC's second and final playoff match. Slippery Rock has won the west division 9-1 while Edinboro finished with a 7-3 mark. Cal played a five-match at Edinboro last week and the winner will advance to the PSAC Final Four this week and Sunday at Edinboro. Cal-Boro survivor will play champion Millersville, while Slippery Rock will open the tourney by playing either Shippensburg or East Stroudsburg, also squared off in a Thursday sudden death special. California won the 1991 and 1992 PSAC Final Four tourneys by beating Shippensburg and Edinboro.

"We're ready to face the challenge," said Fetsko, whose Lady Vulcans have won 19 of its past 24 matches to finish the regular season with a 27-10 overall record. "Physically we are prepared. We need to unite as a team and get the job done." Cal's quest for a rare three-peat almost ended at chilled Lock Haven. After losing the first game 15-8, Cal rebounded with wins of 15-11 and 15-4. In the fourth game, Cal squandered a 10-3 lead and gave up 12 unanswered points. But the Lady Vulcans won the deciding fifth game, 3-2 to take the match. "Lock Haven's number seven killed us in the back with her serving," Fetsko said. "She singlehandedly tied that game with seven straight points but we pulled it out in the last game."

California Men's Basketball Preview

An eighth straight winning season, fourth straight PSAC-West championship, third consecutive trip to the NCAA II playoffs and attaining a national ranking for the fifth year in six seasons will be several goals of the 1993-94 California University men's basketball team. Coached by eighth-year veteran Jim Boone (153-53), the winningest coach in Cal athletic history, California returns four of five starters from the 1992-93 squad which rolled to a 23-6 overall record en route to winning a third straight PSAC-West title and fifth west crown in Boone's seven years. Last year's team was ranked 10th nationally in the final NCAA Div. II top 20 poll and reached the PSAC finals and NCAA II East Regional. Optimism for continued success is understandable as the Vulcans return a well-balanced attack. Headlining California's list of returning vets is senior forward Chad Scott. An all-conference selection in 1992-93, Scott averaged 15.1 points and 7.7 rebounds per game. A sure thing inside, Scott led the entire nation in fieldgoal percentage last winter as he shot a PSAC record 70.6% from the floor by converting an amazing 173 of 245 attempts. Scott was Cal's leading rebounder 12 times last year and scored a career-high 27 points against Indiana last January.

Two other returning sharp-shooting post-players are senior Malloyd Brown and junior Jeremy Golden. Last season, Brown averaged 12.5 points and 8.1 rebounds a game while shooting 60.7% from the floor. Brown also led Cal in blocks with 36 and shot a fine 72.5% from the foul line. Brown's finest game from a statistical standpoint last year was a dominating 23-point, 18-rebound effort in a 91-89 win at Edinboro Univ. Golden, a first-year player last year, contributed with quality minutes coming off the bench and averaged five points and nearly five rebounds a game while shooting 53% from the floor. On the perimeter, Cal returns juniors Darnell White and Todd McLoughlin. White, the point guard, averaged 9.2 points and 3.3 rebounds a game while leading the Vulcans in assists (249, 8.6 apg) and steals with 77. White's assist total was the best in the PSAC and fourth best in Division II. McLoughlin, the Ohio Class AAA Player of the Year during his scholastic days, averaged over eight points and five rebounds a game last year with 110 assists and 44 steals. Also a dangerous shooter, McLoughlin netted 26 of 52 three-point attempts last year. California will also benefit from two impressive first-year players who could both make immediate impacts. Redshirt freshman Derrick Scott, an All-State player from PIAA state champion Duquesne High School, and Matt Kerns from Bridgeport, WV, who was named the Most Valuable Player of the West Virginia State Tournament (all three classes), will join the team this fall. Other top returning perimeter players include sophomores Candice Pickens (4.5 ppg, 82 assists) and Brent Kincaid (4.0 ppg, 27/59 3FG's). Sophomore Chris Callender and redshirt freshman Robert Jones add depth inside. Also looking to contribute on the perimeter is junior Levon Kincaid. The Vulcans, who have been nationally ranked in each of the past three final national polls (10th, first & 20th), will open the regular season on November 23 by hosting WVIAAC tourney champion Charleston. The Vulcans will begin the season by hosting the Slovakian National Team on Sunday, November 21 at 2 pm. Cal will begin PSAC-West play by hosting Slippery Rock on January 12. Under Boone, the 1992 and 1993 PSAC Coach of the Year, Cal has compiled an impressive 63-19 cumulative record against the PSAC-West and the Vulcans are 75-15 (.833) over the past three years. Cal has also won 30 of its last 32 home games.

Cal U Lady Vulcans/Vulcans of the Week

For the eighth straight week, California University has announced Vulcans and Lady Vulcans of the Week for the entire 1993-94 athletic year. These weekly awards are given to athletes who display all-round qualities such as good sportsmanship, hard work and team-oriented actions as opposed to just impressive statistics. The eighth Lady Vulcans and Vulcans of the Week are: Bobbie Burton (women's soccer), Kevin Roadarmel (men's soccer), Eszter Botos (women's cross country), Matt Seibel (men's cross country), Georgette Crawford (women's volleyball), and Scott Hoover (football).

Burton is a 5-4 freshman midfielder from Elizabeth, Pa., and Elizabeth Forward High School. This past season, Burton was Cal's second-leading scorer with six goals, eight points and 20 points. Aided by Burton's solid all-round play, the Lady Vulcans finished with a 10-10 overall record. "Bobbie had an outstanding freshman season," said Cal veteran head coach Dennis Laskey. "She adjusted well to the collegiate level and proved to be one of our conference's top scorers." Roadarmel is a 5-10, 160 freshman forward from Orangeville, Pa., and Millville High School. In 1993, Roadarmel scored one goal with three assists for five points as Cal enjoyed its best season since attaining varsity status in 1984. Cal went 13-4-2 overall this past fall and advanced to the PSAC Final four for the first time ever. Cal was eliminated by Lock Haven in the PSAC semifinals. "Kevin Roadarmel had a very solid and consistent season for us," Laskey said. "He is very knowledgeable about the sport and does a lot of positive things that do not show up on the stats." Seibel is a senior from Upper St. Clair High School. At last week-end's NCAA II East Regional in Springfield, Ma., Seibel finished 125th with a 10 k time of 35:54. "Matt was a football linebacker in high school who has transformed himself in the last few years into a distance runner," said Cal second-year head coach Joe Compagni. "He works extremely hard and was our third man at the Regional, which was his last collegiate race." Botos is a senior from Budapest, Hungary. At the Regional, Botos placed 104th with a time of 21:22. "Just like Matt Seibel, Eszter is another athlete we wish we had for a few more years," Compagni said. "This is her first full season of cross country and she really ran well for us all year." Crawford is a 5-11 junior outside hitter from Kingston, Jamaica, and St. Hughes High School. One of the PSAC's premier players, Crawford has helped Cal become the third-ranked team in the entire NCAA Division II in terms of hitting percentage. Coached by first-year leader Karen Fetsko, the Lady Vulcans are 26-10 overall. "Georgette is a very good player," said Fetsko. "She has the ability to dominate a match when she is at the top of her game and we're fortunate to have her back next year." Hoover is a 5-10, 190-pound senior halfback from Tyrone, Pa., and Tyrone High School. In last week's 56-14 road win at Lock Haven, Hoover gained 49 yards on nine rushes with touchdown runs of two and 17 yards. He also caught five balls for 68 yards with a three-yard scoring pass. Hoover, who leads the team in individual scoring with 56 points, also caught a two-point pass. He is Cal's second-leading rusher and receiver this fall and was a 1992 All-American.
