Public Speaking

The activities of the students along the line of expression through speech thus far in the current year is indeed commendable. The debates have been lively and spirited. On some programs there have been three participants on a side. Some good team work has been manifest, and with the arrangement for the inter-Normal debate, a new impetus has been given to forensics.

After a short and very satisfactory correspondence with Clarion, a debate has been arranged to take place in the California Normal chapel on March 18th. Clarion will send three picked debaters to uphold the affirmative side of the question: Resolved, that for American cities, the municipal ownership of those public service corporations which furnish water, light, and transportation is preferable to private ownership.

A preliminary debate has been arranged for Dec. 11th., at which time the Clarion-California debate question will be debated by those who desire to try out for the team that is to represent us on March 18th. In the preliminary, Marguerite Condon, Lloyd Minicks, Earl Bower, Leatta Seitz, Brice Colbert, and Hazel Williamson will support the affirmative; while Harriet Dalzell, Bessie George, Armour Haines, Clifton Van-Sickle, Tenia Zanardelli, and Marie Whitehead will uphold the negative side. Each speaker is to be allowed eight minutes, and, judging from the use that is being made of the debate table in the library, each eight minutes will be filled with eloquent argument.

A limited number of the Seniors will appear on the chapel platform at the exercises in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the dedication of the Gettysburg Cemetery, and during the winter and spring terms, every one of the Seniors will appear in original oration, essay or chosen declamation. Perhaps some school problems will also be discussed, at least, there will be a variety of performances, that will instruct, interest, or amuse.

Our Trip to Eagles Mere.

The East Central Student Conference of the Young Women's Christian Association was held at Eagles Mere Park, June 24 to July 3, 1913. This park is a beautiful and inspiring place on the top of the mountain in Sullivan County, Pa. The purpose of this conference was to lead students to a fuller knowledge, and more faithful service of Jesus Christ, to help them in facing difficulties and opportunities of College and Normal School life, and to bring before them their responsibilities for the furtherance of the Kingdom of God at home and abroad.

Our Association sent three delegates, Miss Mary Herrington, Miss Eliza Higinbotham and myself. We left here June 25, on the 5:12 a. m. train, went by the way of Pittsburgh, Tyrone, and Williamsport, and arrived at Eagles Mere about 7:30 p. m.

At the Forest Inn Hotel we were met by Miss Seely, one of the registrars, who, as soon as we had our supper, took us to our rooms in Cox Cottage, one of the most delightful places of the park. Eleven delegates and two teachers from Lock Haven Normal had rooms in the same cottage.

There were in attendance about five hundred girls from seventy-four colleges and Normals and from several states; also a number of delegates from foreign countries who had previously attended the conference of the World's Student Christian Federation.

Our program for each week day was as follows:—7:45 Student Volunteer Meeting; 8:30 Bible Classes, Our delegates studied "The Ancient Women of Israel;" 9:50 Mission Classes. Miss Herrington studied, "Korea in Transition," Miss Higinbotham, "The Country Church and Community," while my topic was "Daybreak in Turkey." 11:00 was Technical Hour; at this time the other two delegates attended the Normal School Council led by Miss Richardson, and I attended the President's Council led by Miss Burner. At 11:40 an interesting lecture course was given in the auditorium by Robert Mac Donald, a delegate from Scotland. His subject was "Our Idea of God."

From 2:00 to 3:00 p. m. was quiet hour. The rest of the afternoon was given to recreation, which could be spent in walking, at tennis, boating or bathing. One afternoon was given to aquatic sports, and another observed as College Day or Stunt afternoon. At 7:45 p. m. we had our evening lecture, at which different speakers addressed us. One of the most impressive speakers was Robert E. Speer whose subject was, "All we are one body." Another noted speaker was a young Japanese girl who told us of the conditions in her country and her struggle to become a Christian.

On the morning of July 3, we all left Eagles Mere at 7:00 a. m., had a pleasant trip together as far as Williamsport, where we had to separate to go to our respective homes.

The Northfield Conference.

Leaving California early on the morning of June 22, as a delegate to the Conference at Northfield, Mass., I arrived there about 9:30 the next morning. Northfield, a beautiful town, is located in the northern part of Massachusetts on the Connecticut river. It lies against the foot hills of the White Mountains overlooking a plain called Great Meadows. The atmosphere is clear and invigorating, making it an ideal place for a summer meeting.

This annual gathering of student workers is held at the close of the school year at the Northfield Seminary (for girls) which was founded and opened Nov. 3, 1879, by the great evangelist, D. L. Moody. There were present some six or seven hundred delegates representing the Student Associations of various colleges, normal and preparatory schools. Many of these delegates were from foreign countries, but students of schools and colleges in the United States. A few Canadian Associations were also represented.

The central idea of the whole Conference was "The World for Christ." John R. Mott, an aggressive leader in this movement, presided at many of the meetings held in the auditorium and on Round Top. Part of the schedule of Conference Sessions was: Mission study at 8:40, a. m.; Bible study at 9:35; Platform meetings in auditorium at 11:30. In the evenings the Round Top meeting at 7:00 and at 8:00 the platform lecture. At these last meetings, some of the foreign delegates, especially those from South America, spoke through an interpreter; but, in general, the foreign delegates spoke good English and told of the great things Christianity was doing in their countries, especially in the heathen land.

When the week came to a close, most of us departed very reluctantly, although we felt that we had gained much that was of great value. And in this closing paragraph, I wish to thank the California Association for the privilege of attending those inspiring sessions of this great Conference.

General News

The Student Board has organized for the year 1913-14 with Eudore Groleau as president and Marguarite Condon as secretary. The new members elected are as follows: Guy Suter, Marie Whitehead and Elsie Chandler, representing the Senior class; Bruce Colbert and Marie Hill, representing the third year class; Mary Purdy, representing the second year, and Mildred Hackney, the first year. Thus far no new rules have been formulated by the organization. The aim of the present body is to bring the Student Board up to a higher standard, to command the respect of the students, and to extend the Honor System into other activities of school life.

The Kindergarten

This new department, though still in its infancy, is proving worth while. The attendance is excellent and the number of children larger than was anticipated or even desired. The problem which now confronts us is to refuse to admit any more children at the present time. The preparation of morning talks, stories, songs, games and directed plays requires time and patience, yet we have a number of earnest young women, who are most willing and glad for the opportunity which it has opened to them. Those assisting in the work are, Misses Mary Glunt, Ruth Bradshaw, Louise Pirl, Grace Collier and Leatta Seitz.

The school is fortunate in having a complete Kindergarten equipment, consisting of the gifts according to Froebel and much other related material, such as: The Kindergarten Guide, The Paradise of Childhood, Daily Program of Gifts and Occupation Work, Outline of a Year's Work in the Kindergarten, In the Child's World, Stories for Wakeland and Dreamland, School Room Plays, etc. The Kindergarten Review, a magazine devoted to educational literature for the kindergartner, the primary teacher, and the mother, is used for reference and for study.

The Kindergarten suggests activity, the first law of childhood; and through the songs, games and plays, such relations are established as kindness, justice, purity and chivalry; such traits as unselfishness, obedience, and self control are strengthened. In all the exercises the intelligence of the child is appealed to in a way that will lead toward mental growth and will fit him to enter the first grade, with his experiences out of which his new interests will grow.

A brief sketch of a days program may prove interesting. The first period of the day is given to morning songs, followed by the morning talk which relates to the home, the school, the child's varied interests, and to the outside world. Simple stories relative to the season of the year are told in an interesting and concrete way, the children taking part in the discussions. A quiet period follows in which the children are given lessons in form and color, such as the coloring of fruits, and just now the pumpkin. Next they are divided into groups for carefully directed work. The first, second and third gifts are now being used and will be followed by the others as the children are able. Free play follows the more formal work, in the way of marches, games and bodily exercises. The Story period is completed by simple dramatization into which the children enter heartily. In the last period the children choose the stories, songs and games, which they like best. Other lines of interesting occupation work are stick laying, pasting, modeling, the peg boards and the sand table.

Miss Susan Blow, the well known Kindergartner, says: "The Kindergarten is a world where small virtues are nursed into strength by exercise, where small faults are gradually overcome, because their efforts are clearly seen, and where character is harmoniously developed, because the same truths realized as law, are felt as love."

Faculty Items

Mrs. W. S. Hertzog and daughter Virginia, who have been visiting friends in Harrisburg for the past two weeks, returned home October 25.

Miss Anna B. Thomas was in Meyersdale, October 22-24, where she did some special work in reading for the teachers of the primary grades of that town. Miss Thomas taught some model lessons for the teachers, and gave talks on the methods of teaching primary reading.

The Senior class of the Normal School attended the faculty meeting Tuesday, October 7, when the problem of the rural school was the topic for discussion. Mr. Field discussed the question of the large percentage of illiteracy in western Pennsylvania, and Miss Buckbee pointed out the special need for carefully arranged programs of study and recitation in the country schools.

Mr. Biddle, Mr. Shultz, Mr. Wentzell, Miss Livingstone, and Miss Buckbee attended the Conference of College, Normal and Secondary teachers which was held at the University of Pittsburgh, October 24-25.

Mrs. Noss and Miss Noss were in Pittsburgh Tuesday and Wednesday, October 21-22 to hear Miss Geraldine Farrar at the Carnegie Music Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rowan Hunter of Sewickly, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Dumette Hunter, to Mr. L. O. Kirberger of Dunkirk, New York. Mr. Kirberger was recently coach and athletic director for the men at S. W. S. N. S.

The vesper services of the school have been of unusual interest during the past month. October 5, Mr. Biddle spoke on "The Abundant Life." Miss Thomas took for her subject, October 12, "The Life of Tolstoy." October 19, Mr. Shultz discussed the subject of "Self Mastery." At the regular monthly musical, October 26, Mrs. Marguerite Scott Springer, Miss Mildred Underwood, and Mr. Dobson favored us with vocal solos.

Dr. J. B. Smith was in Pittsburgh, Oct. 16, to attend the banquet of the Past Regents' Association of the Royal Arcanum held at the Monongahela house.

Mrs. Frank Field, who has spent the past two weeks at her home in Waynesburg, returned to the school October, 24.

Principal W. S. Hertzog was one of the speakers at the Pittsburgh meeting of Secondary Teachers. Mr. Hertzog spoke on the subject, Economic Status of Teachers in Normal Schools, Miss Anna Shutterly attended the annual meeting of the Keystone State Library Association which was held in Erie, October 9-10. Among the speakers present were Thos. H. Montgomery, State Librarian, and Mrs. Semple, former president of Federation of Woman's Clubs. About one hundred librarians from different parts of the state were in attendance at the Erie meeting. Miss Shutterly paid a short visit to the Edinboro Normal School, and spent Saturday and Sunday as the guest of Miss Mabel McCarnes, the librarian of the Slippery Rock Normal School.

Dr. Charles Veon visited his home in Beaver Falls, Saturday and Sunday, October 25-26.

It has been very gratifying to us during the past few weeks to receive so many renewals and new subscriptions from alumni. We thank you for your loyalty to the Normal and for your interest in our enterprise. May we not also look forward to a more generous response on the part of the recent graduates in giving us, as the older alumni are doing, their aid in making this the best Normal monthly in the state!

At the Alumni Reunion in 1911, it was decided by the alumni present to organize, and collect a sum of money which should be used to aid worthy students who found it necessary to supplement their own resources. This fund was to be created and developed as a memorial to the name of our former Principal Theodore B. Noss.

As the time approaches for another Triennial Reunion, it is fitting that this matter be once more brought to the attention of the alumni in order that a more active campaign may be undertaken in the near future worthy of this matter.

A large number of young people make application every year for opportunities to help themselves. As a matter of course, the number of such opportunities is somewhat limited within the school. The fund once established, loaned out on interest with such security as the alumni should direct would become a growing fund. It would not be many years until this sum would double itself and multiply the good that it would accomplish. The Principal knows of five or six prospective students at this time, who might enter if they could have some assistance. People who are willing to help themselves, and who do not have sufficient backing to carry them through school, would be greatly benefited.

The product that goes out from an institution like this would be sufficient security for the repayment of the loans. Many of the alumni who secured aid in one way or another, and realize the difficulties connected with the securing of an education, would doubtless be glad to contribute to such a worthy cause. Probably few of the alumni would be willing to become responsible for the needs of an individual. By contributing to a common fund the small gifts of many contributors would be able to accomplish a vast amount of good. What more fitting memorial could be imagined, than an active growing fund worthy of the memory of the man in whose name it is created, whose benefits would be so far reaching? Can we not so organize this matter within the current year that the fund may be a reality before the opening of another school year?

Athletics

California Normal and Charleroi High School played a 6-6 tie at Charleroi Saturday, Oct. 11, in a downpour of rain. There was little chance for the teams to show their relative merit, for luck was the predominant element in the fray. However, since the Charleroi team is much better than last year, the outcome of the game affords the Normal the satisfaction of finding themselves much stronger than last fall when Charleroi decisively defeated them in the early part of the season.

"Hughie" Wilson was the star for the Normal, while Dunn and McKenna also showed to good advantage.

A 45-yard run by Captain Stahlman of Charleroi in the first minute of play gave Charleroi their first score. The Normal held on and in the third period "Hughie" Wilson negotiated a forward pass for a touchdown. Right here a goal would have given the Normal another victory, but the ball was too slippery to handle successfully.

In the annual football clash with the Waynesburg College team at Waynesburg during the Green County Teachers' institute week, the Normal boys lost by the score of 23-7. The score by no means shows the comparative strength of the teams, for the Normal boys played a stronger all-round game than the Collegians leading with a 7-0 score for almost three quarters, when the unexpected happened again—stars of yesteryears college days were trotted into the game to play havoc with Normal, and they did. They not only defeated the locals by the score of 23-7 but laid out four of the best men Coach Sharadin had in the varsity lineup. Sportsmanship of that nature never wins friendship nor games; to date this is the only game won by the "Collegians" as they call themselves in Waynesburg.

Oct. 24, the Monessen Collegians were met on their grounds in Monessen for a battle royal, and a battle royal it was in a veritable sea of mud and rain, but who ever read of a football game being called because of rain or a muddy field? The Normal boys, led by Capt. "Abbie" Wilson, went after those collegians like a house afire, winning by a score of 7-0. The score might have been larger but for the fact that several of the Reserves were tried in this game, who, however, gave a fair account of themselves. Here again McKenna, the Wilson brothers and Groleau were in the limelight with stellar defensive as well as offensive work.

Our annual clash with the Normal stars of yesteryear took place on Nov. 1, in place of Thanksgiving Day. As predicted the old time stars were unable to check the rapid-fire of the varsity backfield. The new plays developed by the varsity during the previous week were a complete puzzle for the "old-timers." Time and again the ball was carried for 30 to 40 yard gains through the clever headwork of Capt. Wilson from the quarter back position.

The line up follows:—

HARRY F. WERNER, '15, Editor

The attendance at the Sunday morning meetings has been greatly increased, owing to the change of the place of meeting from Philo Hall to the Men's parlors of South Hall. The seating capacity of these rooms is not as large as that of Philo Hall, and may soon become insufficient; but should it become necessary, other changes can be made.

Some of the programs thus far have been intensely interesting. The Missionary program which had "The Apostle St. Paul," as the special topic, was presented in a very pleasing and practical manner. R. H. Sprowl talked of St. Paul's missionary journeys and showed to us the importance of such faith as Paul had. Other members of the association also gave valuable lessons connected with the career of the great Apostle and our own everyday lives.

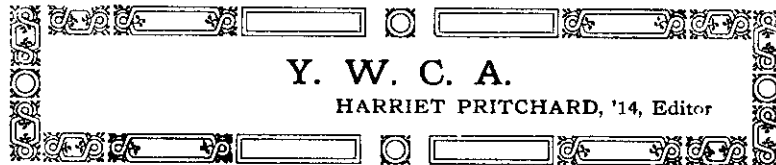

The meeting of Oct. 26, was conducted by the vice-president, Guy Suter, in the absence of the president. At this meeting, Brice Colbert gave a discussion on the subject, "Our Spiritual Rebirth." A special feature of this program was the music rendered by the male quartet consisting of Suter, Walker, Bower, and Werner.

Professor Wentzel, one of the faculty advisors, has shown much interest in our work, and has arranged to conduct a Bible Study class, beginning November 2. The study this year will be based upon the Life of Christ. The fourth chapter of the gospel of St. Matthew has been assigned as our first lesson. We do not as yet have a special text for the work. It is the intention, however, to procure a good book later, and in some way connect this study of the Bible with the other programs.

Let us all take an active part in the work and continue to make these meetings as interesting and profitable to all as possible.

I am not bound to win, but I am bound to be true; I am not bound to succeed, but I am bound to live to the best light I have.

—Abraham Lincoln.

Y. W. C. A.

HARRIET PRITCHARD, '14, Editor

The progress of the Y. W. C. A. thus far has been very gratifying to all. The most encouraging feature is the enrollment of a great number of new girls. There are at present nearly one hundred girls enrolled as members in the Association. The attendance is excellent and great interest is shown in the work.

A mission class has been organized with Miss Dalzelle as chairman and Mrs. Noss as advisory chairman. During the fall and winter terms, the class intends to study from a book by Barton, "Daybreak in Turkey." The second Missionary program was given Sunday, November 25. Mrs. Noss our leader, discussed conditions existing in Turkey and several girls added interesting facts. Mrs. Brown, a classmate of Mrs. Noss, gave a very interesting account of her travels in Palestine.

The sandwich social, held under directions of the social committee, was quite successful. Miss Stonesipher, chairman of the social committee, with her aids, is conducting the work in a very enthusiastic manner.

It was a great disappointment to the girls to hear that Miss Richardson, State Secretary for the Y. W. C. A., could not be with us during October. Word has been received from Miss Richardson that she and Miss Field, formerly a superintendent of schools in Iowa, now working in connection with the rural problem and small town life, will visit us in January. We anxiously await her coming and know that her visit will be profitable to us.

Program cards for meetings of the Association are now being prepared. Also, the program cards for prayer meetings have been distributed to the members.

One of our graduates, Miss Carrie Kenyon, will sail next Saturday for Singapore as a missionary. Members of the Association are contributing toward a "Sunshine Bag" which we hope will help to cheer her on her lonely voyage. We wish her God-speed in the great task she is undertaking.

CLIO NOTES

MILDRED BLACKBURN, '14, Editor

It hardly seems proper, being classmates in school together, that we should criticize each other and pick out the weak points yet—following the old maxim, "If we could see ourselves as others see us," we might be able to tell others where in they are lacking and thus help them to do better. The great underlying truth then and the only word which will spell success for Clio, now and next June, is, "Co-operation." The splendid spirit already shown by Clionians in every respect is a sure sign of co-operation. Our programs are becoming better every week, calling forth from every one who does his duty, that which will help both him and Clio.

To speak of our possibilities and resources would require much space, but we can mention a few of them. We have many talented singers and players as well as some good speakers in society. Each evening we have a vocal solo, and usually a reading, which help to balance the heavier work in debate and oration. For the debating team in the preliminary contest for the Inter-Normal Debate, we have furnished some of the very promising members, one or more, of whom, we are confident, will be chosen for the final debate.

To pass over to another phase of our school life, we are well represented in athletics. We have several splendid tennis players as well as members of last year's winning hockey team. Much good material is present for a basket ball team, and we challenge Philo to a game whenever their team is organized. And last but not least, we have some stars of the gridiron, so that the Blue and Gold is well represented on the athletic field.

To say that Clio is improving rapidly, would be the shortest way in which her progress could be expressed. As yet we have had no centralized program, but we hope to in the near future. We are planning now for a joint meeting with Philo to be held this term. We have had with us this year, several alumni, who have given their opinion that Clio stands well in the line of advancement.

PHILO NOTES

C. E. D., Editor

Since the beginning of our school term the increase in numbers of Philo Society has been noted by all. Ninety persons have chosen Philo as their Society Home. Abundant talent has been early discovered among our new members. The readings and a few orations given by some of the new members, are worthy of note. Our main hope and wish is that Philo will still continue to hold its high standard in a high plane.

The talent of Philo members is shown by the representation in the preliminary debate for the contest with Clarion State Normal School. The persons taking part are: Marie Whitehead, Hazel Williamson, Marguerite Condon, Brice Colbert, Earl Bower and Clifton VanSickle.

On the evening of Oct. 17, a motion was unanimously passed that Article 4, Section 2, of the Philomathean Constitution should be changed. This article did not seem to fulfill the ideals of Philo Democracy. After being amended, it now reads as follows: "All officers shall be nominated directly from the floor by members of the society." In accordance with this amendment, new officers were nominated, and on last Friday evening, the following were elected: President, Brice Colbert; Vice President, May Sincock; Secretary, Bess Richie; Treasurer, Irene Dickson; Critic, Ethel DeVore; Attorney, Horace McKee; Marshall Charles Moore.

We are looking forward with great interest to a joint meeting of the Philo and Clio Literary Societies to be held in the chapel on Nov. 21. We believe that this meeting will do much to further the friendly relations now existing between the Societies.

From the present aspect of affairs, we prophesy that Philo will not be lacking when it comes to the final test in June.

"Go make thy garden fair as thou canst,
Thou workest never alone,
Perchance he, whose plot is next to thine,
Will see it and mend his own."

Ovid's Ode to Dawn.

"What, Aurora, is your hurry?
Stay, and let the pearly dew,
Mother's tears to Memnon's ashes
Sorrow's sacrament renew.

Now is sleep the most delightful,
But the air is chilly cold,
Let the nightingale make music
From its slender throat of gold.

You are first to see the toilers
Hoe the ground between the corn,
First to call the lingering oxen
To the yoke at early morn.

Will you cheat a boy of slumber,
Send him early to the school?
There to stretch his hands so tender
To the master's birchen rule?

O! how oft I've wished with longing
Night would fail to own thy sway,
That the stars, their courage keeping,
Would refuse a place to Day!

I have longed that from thy chariot,
Winds would tear a wheel away,
Or thy horse on moonbeams tripping
Might at least cause some delay."

When I finished my upraiding,
You could see that Dawn had heard,
For she blushed so. Yet the daylight
Came as if nought had occurred.
