Many New Buildings Planned for Future Campus

BSC IN YEARS TO COME

Not yet to the planning board are several new buildings for the BSC campus. Only preliminary plans have been made, and the location, construction dates, and architecture of the new halls are still undecided. The drawing above shows the approximate location and size of the additions. Students wishing to get dimensional view of the future campus can do so by looking at the model now displayed in the lobby of Carver Hall.

The key to this map follows: 1 Steam plant; 2,3,4 Dormitories; 5,6 Maintenance buildings; 7 Laundry; 8 Dormitory; 9 Navy Hall; 10 Auditorium; 11,12,13 Classroom buildings; 14 President's home; 15 Carver Hall; 16 Dormitory; 17,18 Dormitory; 19 College Commons; 20 Ben Franklin Laboratory School; 21 Library; 22,23 Classrooms; 24 Gymnasium; 25 Field House; 26,27 Dormitories.

Name Journalist M and G Advisor

Mr. Richard C. Savage, newly appointed Assistant Professor of English at BSC, will also serve as advisor for the Maroon and Gold.

Mr. Savage has worked on the Saturday Evening Post since 1958 as editorial assistant. Prior to that position, he worked at the rewrite and copy desk of the Springfield, Massachusetts Union and as a general reporter for the Transcript-Telegram of Holyoke, Mass.

Four of his short stories and an editorial were accepted for publication in the Saturday Evening Post. "Problems of the College Newspaper" appeared in Review, May, 1957. He is a member of the Association for Education in Journalism.

Pres. Andruss In Penna. Group

For the fourth time, President Harvey A. Andruss of the Bloomsburg State College will be a member of the group representing the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at the Air Force Association Reunion in San Francisco to be held from September 20 to 25, 1960.

Doctor Andruss has previously attended similar meetings at Dallas, Texas; Las Vegas, Nevada, and Miami, Florida, as the guest of the Air Force.

Bloomsburg State College is one of the pioneers in the field of aviation, having begun to train people to fly more than twenty years ago. During the period of the war, the College co-operated with the Army, the Navy, and the Department of Commerce in offering various types of aviation programs, including the Flight Instructor Programs. Out of this activity the town of Bloomsburg was encouraged to purchase the Airport, which now has become an important part of the industrial and economic life of the community.

Dean Lane Will Guide BS Women

Ellen K. Lane recently began her duties as Dean of Women at BSC, following her appointment by the Board of Trustees and President Harvey A. Andruss.

Miss Lane earned the Bachelor of Science degree at Bridgewater Teachers College and the Master of Education degree at Harvard Uni-

Country Club Site Is Chosen As Location Proposed Jr. College

Plans for a junior college at Bloomsburg were outlined recently by President Harvey A. Andruss.

The first step, according to Dr. Andruss, is to acquire additional land so that the new campus will be self-contained, yet close enough to the main campus to use facilities such as the library, auditorium, gymnasium, athletic field, and laboratories.

The proposed Bloomsburg Country Club site would add forty-seven acres to the present campus of sixty acres. The College Board of Trustees has authorized the Department of Public Instruction to recommend the purchase of the Country Club for an amount not to exceed $100,000. This compares favorably with the purchase thirty years ago of 18.5 acres of land between Spruce Street, Second Street, and Light Street Road, for which the Commonwealth paid $75,000.

When the 1957 Bloomsburg Campus Plan is revised to increase the student capacity from two thousand to over three thousand, requests will be made for a minimum number of buildings to begin a junior college accommodating one thousand students, with an eventual enrollment of two thousand in 1980.

Appropriations must be made and architects appointed to plan for the following buildings if a junior college is to be ready for operation in September, 1965:

1. A heating plant and utilities, costing $944,000.

2. A classroom and laboratory building of at least fourteen rooms with a library wing, costing $1,182,000. When a separate library building is constructed, a student community center could then occupy the library wing.

Approve BSC for Masters Degree

The Bloomsburg State College has been given approval by the Pennsylvania State Council of Education to grant the degree of Master of Education in the elementary and business fields, beginning in the summer of 1961.

A reference librarian has been added to the present four-member staff of the BSC library, and additional expenditures will be made to increase the library holdings. Recently, the first payment on a contract between Bloomsburg State College and the Bloomsburg Public Library was made to compensate in part for the service rendered by the local library to college students.

Dr. Thomas B. Martin has been appointed Director of Graduate Studies and Business Education for the college year beginning June 1, 1960, and will be responsible for developing policies, plans, curriculums, schedules, and instructional personnel for this new phase of college education.

As of the previous college year, 1959-60, thirty-seven faculty members with the rank of Professor or Associate Professor were available for assignment to teach graduate courses. Of this number, nineteen held Doctor's Degree and sixteen held the Master's Degree. With the expansion of the faculty from 83 to 105, it is expected that the number of advanced degree holders will be greatly increased. At the time the college was re-accredited by the Middle States Association in February, 1960, there were 23 holders of the doctorate out of a total staff

Johnson Receives Doctorate at D.S.U.

Royce O. Johnson, Director of the Division of Elementary Education at Bloomsburg State College since September, 1958, was awarded the Doctor of Education degree at the Pennsylvania State University during the summer commencement exercises on Saturday, August 12. Dr. Johnson recently completed the requirements for the degree with a dissertation involving "An Historical Study of the Pennsylvania School Journal with Reference to the Enactment of Educational Legislation, 1852 to 1952."

Dean of Students Added to Staff

Mr. J. Alfred McCauslin has been appointed Dean of Students at BSC. This position is an addition to the administrative staff, required by the increased number of students. The new dean's duties will include the supervision and coordination of non-academic student activities.

Mr. McCauslin holds a Master of Arts degree in Sociology and a M.S. degree in Education. In preparation for his work with college personnel, he majored in guidance and psychology.

Auditorium Gets Top Priority on Request to State

When the legislature of Pennsylvania convenes in January, 1961, requests will be considered for new buildings to be constructed on campuses of the fourteen state colleges.

During the last decade, the private arts colleges have increased 25 per cent in enrollment, Pennsylvania State University 53 per cent, while the State (Teachers) Colleges have 63 per cent more students than in 1950. It is evident that continued increases in the enrollment of college students will be met largely, in the future, by state-owned and state-supported institutions of higher education.

Meet at Harrisburg

A meeting with Dr. Harold Alderfer of the Department of Public Instruction was held in Harrisburg on June 24 with President Harvey A. Andruss, Mr. Paul Martin, Business Manager, and Mr. Thomas Gorrey, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, representing the Bloomsburg State College. Requests for new construction, land purchases, and extension of campus utilities were made for the next three bienniums (1961-1967). An agreement was reached on the name, number, and estimated costs of new buildings to replace outworn structures and to expand the size of the present college, and also the order in which construction is to proceed. A two-year period for construction would make the first of these buildings available for use not earlier than September, 1963.

Over 1700 Register For Fall Semester

The comprehensive yearly enrollment of Bloomsburg State College for the period beginning June 1, 1959, and ending May 31, 1960, has been filed with the Department of Public Instruction, and shows a total yearly enrollment of almost 1,700 students.

An examination of the enrollment in the various divisions shows that the largest division is secondary education, which numbers more than 700 students, while business has 442 students and elementary education 487. There are 44 in the field of special education.

The previous majority of male students is gradually being whittled away. After World War II, when the G.I.'s were on campus, there were 600 men and 300 women. There are now 912 men—this is hardly 55 per cent of the total. In fact, this year, there were only 49 more men than women. This number may increase proportionately with the opening of the new men's dormitory for 200 students. It will mean also that the total enrollment will probably be 130 more than last year.

With an expected September, 1960, enrollment of 1,700 to 1,750 there will probably be 1,000 men and 700 to 750 women.

A Word about the Maroon and Gold

When the Ratsheet first hit the stands last spring one would have thought by reading it that the Maroon and Gold is carefully pre-read and thoroughly censored by the administration before it goes to press. This is not true, but it serves as an example of one of the misunderstandings of the policies and procedures of this paper. At the opening of the 1960-61 college year we would like to explain briefly something about the objectives and operation of the Maroon and Gold.

The Maroon and Gold is your paper. Every person who pays activities fees helps in its support. The college newspaper receives an allotment from the Community Government Association based upon its needs. Because each student is partially financing the paper this editor will turn away no reader who wishes to offer criticism or suggestions.

No staff member receives pay for working on the Maroon and Gold, although at many colleges money is paid for newspaper work. Our organization is completely voluntary.

This paper is not necessarily anti-administration and pro-student body. Editorially we are not bound to follow the dictates of any administrative or student group. We are bound, however, to collect all available facts and analyze them before we rush our views into print. Seemingly unwise decisions are sometimes made by both students and administrative officials, but often clear reasoning lies behind the action and becomes apparent later. We wish to avoid this trap, yet present our opinions with speed and accuracy. If undesirable conditions exist we must feel free to comment upon them, but, on the other hand, we must not allow beneficial changes to go unnoticed.

We are not a censored press. Only the advisor and staff members read the copy before it is sent to the printers. When the paper appears, however, we are responsible to the study body and to the administration for every article printed. Therefore we cannot present poorly informed opinions or accept "Letters to the Editor" which are cloaked in anonymity.

One of the purposes of the Maroon and Gold is to inform students of the happenings on and off campus, but often we are unable to print all the information handed to us for publication. At times we must print "all the news that fits," and some news must remain unpublished. Contributors must understand and accept this condition, but we will do our best to achieve complete campus coverage within our pages.

With these few notes of explanation we would like to begin a year of service to you, our readers. Any comments or suggestions will be willingly received.

THANKS . . .

The staff members of the Maroon and Gold would like publicly to thank Dr. Cecil Seronsy for the time and work he devoted to the paper while serving as advisor. His dependability was unflinching—Dr. Seronsy has a way of getting things done which no one else could duplicate. For his perceptive criticism we are thankful. For his assistance we are in his debt.

"What's In Store This Year??"

Soup and Sandwiches At Midnight — New North Hall Is Open At Last and Filled to Its Capacity

Finally! The North Hall is occupied. Two hundred BSC men have moved into the building they will call home for the next nine months. Most were impressed by the modern and attractive decor, and Waller Hall women curbed their jealousy except when in their aged quarters.

Previous to the opening of the fall semester the dorm was run somewhat like a hotel. It seemed strange to hear Dean Stradtman talking of "check-ins" and "check-outs" at the "desk." First to "check-in" to New North Hilton were one hundred ten Navy veterans with their wives and children. The men had been on campus during the war years of 1944 and 1945 and were trained as Navy personnel under the V-12 program and returned for a reunion during the last week-end in July. (Although the group claims the distinction of being the first to sleep in the dorm, some suspect that Dean Stradtman himself was the first inhabitant.)

Business picked up during the last summer session when seven college men and approximately one hundred wrestlers and their coaches moved in. They were followed by the pre-season Husky football squad on September 5, and by the male members of the Maroon and Gold band on September 6.

Is Filled to Capacity

With the opening of fall sessions the dorm is filled to capacity, and the oversights and minor problems are being discovered and, as quickly as possible, repaired.

Descending into New North Hall one finds a spacious public business lobby lined by neutral bricks. A stairway bordered by poles leads from the lobby into the upstairs living area. Passing to the rear of the main lobby one enters the main dorm lounge where there is a television set, card playing and study areas, vending machines, and a view of the rear plaza. At any time of day or night the resident men will be able to buy coffee, soup, sandwiches, candy, cigarettes, or soda. The vending machines are supervised by the Husky Snack Bar, and profits will eventually benefit the student body. More lawn chairs may be purchased later for use in the plaza during spring and early fall. Regrettably, co-eds will not be permitted to use the lounge, canteen, or lobby areas.

Also on the ground floor is the apartment of Dean of Men George Stradtman and family. The apartment is compact, well-planned and tastefully furnished. Dean Stradtman's office is but a step away from the apartment in the short row of offices behind the post office which will serve dorm students.

Storage Space in Rear

In the rear of the ground floor are ample storage rooms, plumbing and heating utilities and a large laundry room in which, it is hoped, coin-operated washers and dryers will be installed in the future. At present, men will place laundry in the locker room behind the Dean's apartment to be gathered by the college laundry staff.

Pictured above are two views of a typical room in the dorm. All walls are of painted cement block and have attached to them a metal frame upon which to hang paintings, pennants, and pictures normally found in men's residences. Two unusually high beds are provided in each room to, as Dean Stradtman says, "permit easy and frequent sweeping." Each room also has two study desks with chairs, one easy chair, and a chest of drawers. Lamps are not furnished by the state, but dorm residents must rent them from the Bookstore for three dollars per year. Men will not be permitted to use their personal lamps. This is an attempt to secure standardization, reduce fire hazards, and require adequate lighting for study. Each room is equipped with two large closets faced with light maple folding doors. The upper space of the closets are compartmented for easy storage of luggage, hats, packages, etc.

Resident Counselors

Two counselors live on each of the two upper floors in rooms near the end of the halls. There they can keep watch on the study rooms, regulate the thermostat for their wing, and communicate with the Dean through a speaker installed in the room. Other resident men can receive messages through the speakers placed throughout the halls.

A lounge equipped with telephone booths and easy chairs is located in the center of each of the floors for relaxation. Smoking in the dorm is restricted except in the lounge areas.

Country Club Site

3. A field house of 50,000 square feet costing $986,000 and providing space for future construction of a swimming pool.

With these buildings, a junior college could be operated for five hundred commuting day students; another five hundred students could find living quarters in the town of Bloomsburg until the following were constructed:

4. A dormitory to house two hundred fifty women and a dining hall to seat six hundred students at a cost of $1,377,850.

5. A $904,000 dormitory to accommodate two hundred fifty men.

The cost of dormitories would be self-liquidating through fees paid by students. The Commonwealth would be providing buildings costing about three million dollars, and students would pay for dormitories and dining hall costing over two million dollars.

Faculty of Fifty

A faculty of at least fifty, an equal number of non-instructional employees, and an annual payroll of $500,000 would be necessary to provide services for the first thousand students.

The building of a junior college will mean that more young people can have an opportunity for at least two years of college education while living at home. Still others could have a four-year college education — two years while living at home

The COMMUTERS

Welcome back everyone. Our campus has that bright new look. (Handy Andy does the job.)

There have been so many changes on campus that we feel we should help you notice them. One in particular is the establishment of the Business Education Department in the new science building. Suggestions for placement of the Science Department will be appreciated.

We have it on good authority that all the new trees and shrubs on campus are going to be classified by Dr. Hohn and his Botany classes. Don't they call that making use of community resources?

The new men's dorm is finished and ready for occupancy. Maybe this will eliminate the migration off-campus weekends. We'll be observing this closely. . .

Faculty members seem to be younger every year. In fact, it's difficult at times to distinguish faculty members from students.

Summer field courses are going to be required of all students in the field of science. Basic equipment will consist of insect repellent, hip boots, and a crash helmet. Enroll now and avoid the rush.

New leases for the trained lawn mowers were requisitioned last May. They'll be all ready by the coming spring. That is Efficiency with a capital E.

We feel it is our duty to inform you that the parking policy has been firmly established. No fines will be contested before they are paid. Seems like a "shoot first and ask questions later" deal, but we would never question authority.

We expect Dr. Rabb's flowers will bloom with a boom after his radioactive summer.

Even the library has a revised policy. Instead of closing twenty minutes before the stated time, the library will close ten minutes before the stated time, giving the student every possible opportunity to make the best use of our library.

and two while living on another college campus.

For more than a decade, almost half the material, as shown by the course titles in the curriculum for educating teachers for the secondary or high schools, has been in general education or the liberal arts. Only one course in the first two years has treated education as a professional field or teaching as a process.

Few Class Changes Needed

English (composition and literature), science (biological and physical), social studies (history and geography), mathematics, physical education, art, music, and speech are presently studied by freshmen and sophomores. By substituting two courses in foreign languages for two other courses, one of which is professional orientation, a junior college curriculum could be begun. Bloomsburg State College is ready to offer junior college freshman and sophomore courses as soon as funds are provided for buildings and faculty.

Humanities & Arts Stressed for Frosh

Dean of Instruction John Hoch has announced that minor changes will be effected for freshman courses during the fall semester. Larger and more comprehensive changes can be expected for the second semester. Greater stress will be put on the humanities and the appreciation of the fine arts. The music department will be supplied with a new and more complete record library to be used during the fall

New Customs Policy Is Effective Now

Customs, the week set aside to acquaint Freshmen students with classmates, faculty, cheers, songs, etc., has become an important part of college tradition. During the week September 13-23, Freshmen are subject to regulations established by the Customs Committee.

These regulations are:

1. Freshman student over 21 years of age, and/or Veterans will be excused from Customs.
2. Name cards and dinks must be worn at all times. They will be furnished at the end of the registration line. The Pilot must be carried. Customs will begin when the Freshman leaves the registration line.
3. The night of September 13 will be designated as "Rabble Rouser Night." Freshmen will meet in Carver Auditorium with members of the Customs Committee. The band and cheerleaders will be present to acquaint students with songs and cheers. This will be followed by a record dance in the lounge for Freshmen only.
4. On September 23, a pep rally will be held for the football game the following day. At this time Freshmen will burn their name signs and dinks at a formal ceremony and customs will be officially over.
5. All freshmen are expected to stay on campus the first weekend. Valid reasons for leaving campus will be determined only by the Customs Committee.
7. A daily meeting of the Customs Committee will be held to hear reports of violators. A faculty member will be present at this meeting to impress the offender with the seriousness of the violation. Punishment of these persons is left to the discretion of the Customs Committee.

Professional orientation will no longer be a three-credit course. Orientation classes will be held once a week for the freshman class, and introduction to education will fill the place once occupied by pro-

The BSC Frosh What Is He?

What is a freshman made of? He may seem like a complex organism, but he can easily be produced by a simple recipe with minor deviations. To one fresh, know-it-all high school graduate, add a sparing amount of money, a How to Pass Entrance Examinations workbook, an electrographic pencil, and a Pilot. Mix in a small portion of motherly pride, a heaping cup of fear of flunking out, a tablespoon of a desire to get away from home, and a teaspoon of Navy Hall mud. Fold in a quart of first week confusion, a pint of last minute preparation, and a case of "end of the semester" jitters. Beat with professional unconcern and letters from parents asking about grades. Allow to stand till uppermost section jells, then place in oven of final exams for several hours. Remove carefully to avoid breaking. Cut in small pieces during next class period and serve with a C. Optional, but interesting, are the results when one adds a smidgen of Husky Lounge life, a dash of alcohol, or a pinch of love.

Many New Buildings

first building on this list is an auditorium to seat two thousand. Authorized by the legislature five years ago, the capacity was fixed at twelve hundred. However, funds were not available after the construction of the Sutliff Classroom Building and (New) North Hall. Increasing the size of an auditorium is impossible because of fixed location of the state, acoustics, and other factors such as visibility, ventilation, and heating. If this auditorium had been built, it would have been outgrown before it was completed, since enrollment has doubled and is now on its way to being tripled.

The 1961-1963 list of requests for new buildings follows:

1. A $1,631,000 Auditorium with two stories to provide first floor and balcony and room for 2,000 seats.

2. An athletic field to be developed in area between Chestnut Street Extension and Light Street Road and to include farm land around the President's House. Space for football and baseball fields, track, tennis courts, and playing fields would be provided at a cost of $320,000.

3. A field house, 200,000 square feet, two stories high, to be built for $1,400,000 on Chestnut Street Extension with facilities similar to those now provided in the Centennial Gymnasium except swimming pool.

4. Classroom Building No. 2 to cost $800,000 and match Sutliff Hall. It would be located between Spruce Street and the Centennial Gymnasium. Additional land may need be purchased in the areas of Spruce Street across from the Benjamin Franklin Laboratory School and along Second Street.

5. Dormitory No. 2 for two hundred fifty men to be situated between New North Hall and the College Commons. The building would occupy the site of Present Old North Hall, would be known as South Hall, and would cost $1,000,000.

6. A $160,000 maintenance building to be constructed in line with the laundry and present maintenance building.

For the two-year period, 1963-65, buildings are arranged in a preferential order as follows:

7. Men's Dormitory No. 3 for 250 men to cost $1,000,000 and be located on present site of Science Hall.

8. Library (with possible future expansion by adding wings) costing $1,000,000, to seat five hundred student readers and shelve one hundred thousand volumes. It would be located on present athletic field facility.

Grid Forecast: Good Season Ahead

Blair Is Aided By Host of Returnees

September 5th marked the opening day of pre-season practice for the local eleven.

With a whole host of returning lettermen available, head coach Walter Blair is expecting to mold a team that should stir up a lot of trouble in the State Conference this year and could possibly walk off with top honors.

Heading the list of backs will be Joe Rishkofski, honorable mention, All Conference last year; Ed Cocco a transfer from PMC where he made honorable mention, Little All-American; dependable John Johnson who went both ways last year; Dick Rohrer, a standout quarterback who made the varsity as a freshman last year; and defensive backs Bud Gruber, Moses Scott, and Freddy Fry.

Notables returning in the line will be such stalwarts as Bob Warren, returning after sitting out a season with injuries; Dick Dennick and Gary Stackhouse, standouts as freshmen last season; Bob Christina, an outstanding defensive center last season; George Nayce and Frank Sorochak, two men big and rough enough to play in any man's league; and Rollie Cunningham and Stan Hugo, ends with three years of varsity experience.

Coach Blair's one big weakness should be depth in the big Husky forward wall, since he lost the services of eight of last years regulars. However, the JV's chalked up an impressive record last year and some help might be acquired from them.

SC's Split Into Two Divisions

This year, for the first time in conference history, Pennsylvania's fourteen State Colleges will have an Eastern and Western Division Football Champion. These two teams will determine the conference championship on Saturday, November 19 on the home field of the Western Division winner. Each team must play four other State Colleges in its respective division to qualify for a chance at the crown. However, a team may play additional games with teams in the other division.

Bloomsburg will play its four contests (Eastern Division) in the last four games of the season, meeting Mansfield on October 22 (at home), East Stroudsburg on October 29 (away), Cheyney on November 3 (at home), and West Chester on November 11 (away).

While serving with the U.S. Air Force, he was a varsity member of the Fairchild Air Force Team at Spokane, Washington.

In addition to his coaching career, Mr. Foster serves as co-director of Jim Pollard Basketball Coaches Clinic and co-director of the Pocono Mt. Basketball Camp.

Many New Buildings

9. Dining hall and kitchen to cost $600,000 and be located on present site of Waller Hall.

10. Classroom Building No. 3 to be located on Second Street or on present Athletic Field parallel to Light Street Road and to cost $800,000.

These four buildings if ready for occupancy by September, 1965, will provide for an enrollment of three thousand students on the present campus. Of this number, five hundred men will continue to live in town, seven hundred in college dormitories on campus and twelve hundred women on campus, if a portion of Waller Hall continues to be used. A third Women's Dormitory is deferred until the 1965-67 biennium.

These plans have been presented by President Harvey A. Andruss for the Bloomsburg State College for the six-year period beginning in 1961 and ending in 1967 with the approval of the Department of Public Instruction for the consideration of the Governor of the Commonwealth. The Capital Outlay Budget will be recommended by Governor Lawrence to the Legislature when it convenes in January, 1961, so that the General State Authority may issue bonds for the construction of buildings. These proposals will amount to $10,000,000; $3,000,000 of this amount will be used for building dormitories which will be self-liquidating out of fees paid by students.

SPORTS SLANTS

by

WAYNE T. MORRISSEY

Well, once again it's pigskin-passing time around the old ballyard, and here at BSC can be heard the "grunts" and "groans" of the 1960 edition of the Husky grid-squad running through their paces in preparation for the coming season.

Coach Walt Blair has assembled one of the smallest groups ever to come to fall practice, but local sports enthusiasts (including yours truly) feel that it is also one of the best. It is a veteran-laden squad with a burning desire to win. What more could a coach ask for?

And incidently what more could you ask for? If this team doesn't bring you out to the games, someone might get the impression that you came to college to study.

Things To See in Sports This Season:

1. Last year's freshman football players wearing their new football letters.
2. Coach Blair's smile if the team wins the Scranton scrimmage.
3. The new freshman girls in the lounge. Oops! Forgot — in some circles that's not a recognized sport.

Our Pick of the Week

The sports staff of the M and G this year will endeavor to pick for you ten winners in national football competition each week and will start by choosing what we consider the top ten teams in the country. We realize that this may be an unprecedented thing to do; but we feel if Stanley Woodward can do it, so can we.

Our Picks

- |                 |               |
|-----------------|---------------|
| 1. Mississippi  | 6. Georgia    |
| 2. Illinois     | 7. Ohio State |
| 3. Syracuse     | 8. Penn State |
| 4. Northwestern | 9. Washington |
| 5. Pittsburgh   | 10. Purdue    |

Well, that's it for this week in sports. We'll be back in the next issue with the latest in sport's happenings on the local scene and some chit chat about the national scene. In the meantime don't forget we have an outstanding ball club this year. Get out and support it!

August Wrestling Clinic Draws Nearly Four Hundred Enthusiasts

More than four hundred wrestling coaches in high schools and preparatory schools in Pennsylvania received invitations to attend the First College Wrestling and Coaching Clinic which was held at the Bloomsburg State College on Monday, August 1 through Friday, August 5, 1960. The clinic was directed by Russell Houk, head wrestling coach and Athletic Director, and Michael Flanagan, head track coach and assistant wrestling coach at BSC.

Purpose of Clinic

The clinic provided instruction which would enable high school coaches and wrestlers to learn some of the finer techniques of the sport as presented and demonstrated by a staff of outstanding high school and college coaches. The clinic staff included:

4. "Gus" DeAugustino — Wrestling Coach at the North Allegheny High School, Pittsburgh, Penna.; member of the 1952 U.S. Olympic Wrestling Team; former National Collegiate Champion; former Pennsylvania State Teachers College Conference Champion; former P.I.
