In order to meet the demands of the change-over, the executive department has been rearranged.

New Appointments

Macyle Phillips has been named assistant editor, and Dianne Campbell has moved into the vacated news editor position. Hazel Hunley will supervise photography and features under the new system. A newly-created post, editorial editor, will be manned by Frank Heller. The names of Carimar Shultz and William Martin have been added to the editorial board.

On Saturday, February 25, a debate will be held on the Bloomsburg campus between Bloomsburg and Mansfield debating teams. A debate between Bloomsburg and Bucknell will be held in the near future.

Gettysburg College library has received a three-volume history of the Scandinavian countries as a gift from these nations.

High Point College is embarking on a program of research and education in the science of leadership.

Maynard Ferguson was featured at Bucknell on February 20.

40 Revive BSC Aviation Club

The campus Aviation Club has recently been re-organized for those students who are interested in flight procedures and techniques. Mr. Sterling, faculty advisor, reports that approximately forty students have signed up for club membership.

The main purpose of the club is to provide ground school training, which is a preparatory measure in securing a private license. In addition, films and student papers will form a part of the club's activities.

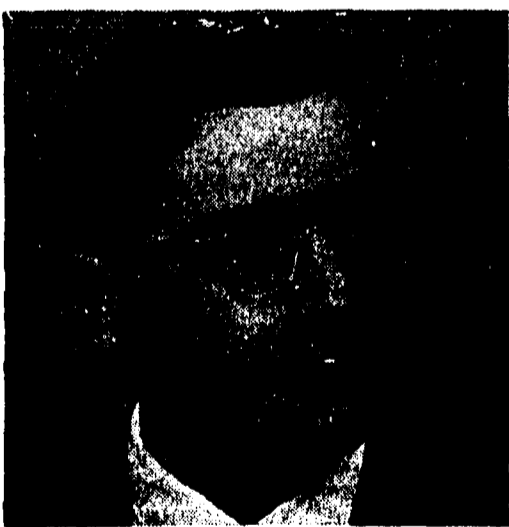

The organization meets on the first and third Tuesdays of each month.

CGA Petitions

Any student wishing to run for a CGA office must have his petition turned into election board chairman, William Kuhns, by Tuesday, February 28. The petition must be signed by five day men, five day women, five resident men, and five resident women. Nominations will be made on March 2, in a combined assembly. A primary election will be held on March 14, with the final election being held on March 16.

D'Elia Added to Teaching Staff

Mr. Donald J. D'Elia has been appointed Assistant Professor of Social Studies at Bloomsburg State College, according to Dr. Harvey A. Andruss. Mr. D'Elia, a member of the faculty of Pennsylvania State University for the past two years, joined the staff of the Department of Social Studies at Bloomsburg earlier this month.

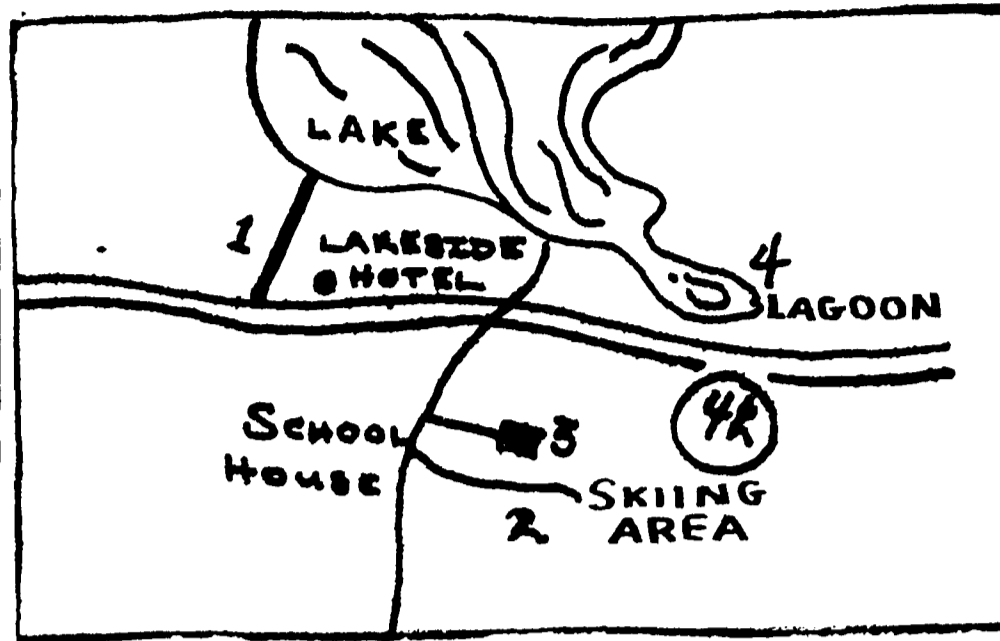

Mr. Donald J. D'Elia

He was born in Jersey City, New Jersey, and was graduated from the Ann Arundel High School, Gambrills, Maryland, before enrolling at Rutgers University. At the latter institution, he earned both the Bachelor of Arts and the Master of Arts degrees. He will continue his graduate studies at Pennsylvania State University.

Mr. D'Elia is a veteran of active service with the United States Armed Forces, and is currently a member of a reserve military unit. He is a member of Phi Alpha Theta, the National Education Fraternity, and the Pennsylvania State Education Association. His wife is the former Margaret Cingel of Clarence, Pa., and they have a 2½ year old son, Keith.

Eagles Mere Trip Opens Week-end

Above is a sketch of Eagles Mere resort showing the location of activities planned for the winter week-end. (1) The toboggan slide. Tobogganing is free to those who have purchased week-end tickets. (2) Ski run. Any student who wishes to ski must pay extra fees directly to the manager of the ski lodge. (3) Ski lodge. Dancing will take place here during the evening hours. Students may also eat box lunches here if they desire. (4) Skating area. Weather permitting, the area will be cleared for use.

March 21 Set for Battle of Classes

"Who is the present Premier of France?" This is typical of the questions which will be asked during the annual Battle of the Classes sponsored by Phi Sigma Pi, Men's Professional Education Fraternity. The battle is to be held March 21, in Carver Hall, during the regular assembly period.

Questions from Time

A man and woman will be chosen to represent each class by the class officers. All of the questions asked will be taken from the last two issues of Time. Dean John A. Hoch will serve as quizmaster. The four individuals rated highest in the contest will each receive a free subscription to Time.

Extra Seating Available

According to Dick Lloyd, chairman of the affair, all members of Phi Sigma Pi work on the project in some way. Extra chairs will be set up in the auditorium for those other than freshmen and non-teaching seniors who wish to see the event.

Try-outs for Skin Of Teeth Continue

This year's spring production of the Bloomsburg Players will be Thornton Wilder's satire, The Skin of Our Teeth. This play humorously traces the history of the human race from prehistoric times to the present day.

Mr. Wilder is one of the foremost American playwrights and novelists today. He is also the author of the play, Our Town, and of the Pulitzer prize winning novel, The Bridge at San Luis Rey.

The production is under the direction of Mr. Godwin and Mr. Cope. Auditions for the play were held February 21, 22, 23. Final try-outs will be held this Monday, February 27, at 7 p.m. in Carver Auditorium. Any student member of the college community is eligible to audition.

M & G Sends Three Representatives to CSPA Convention

Three Maroon and Gold staff members will travel to New York City, March 9, to represent BSC at the thirty-seventh annual Columbia Scholastic Press Association convention. Macyle Phillips, assistant editor, Mr. Richard Savage, faculty adviser, and Harry Cole, editor, will attend the three day conference on the campus of Columbia University.

The CSPA, the largest convention of editors in the world, is designed to assist editors in improving the appearance, content, of student publications. More than 150 meetings, discussions, and conferences will be offered during the three days. At the 1960 meeting, 5,136 delegates attended.

The Maroon and Gold will be judged at the convention, and following the convention the newspaper will receive a booklet giving detailed suggestions for improvement.

College Will Host Business Students

The twenty-seventh annual high school business education contest will be held at BSC on May 6, 1961.

Approximately 270 students will compete for individual and team honors in bookkeeping, business arithmetic, business law, shorthand, and typewriting. Mr. Creasy, faculty coordinator for the event, has said that more than seventy high schools have already requested entry blanks; however, due to limited facilities the number of teams has been limited to sixty.

The tests will be administered in the second floor classrooms of Sutliff Hall.

Alumni Assn. Honors Language Professor

Mr. Fenstemaker, present instructor of French and German, will be the guest of honor at the Columbia County alumni dinner February 28. This June will mark his thirty-fifth year of service at BSC.

Events of the evening will be the unveiling of an oil portrait by Mrs. Ralph Herre, and an address by Miss Lucy Valero, assistant Executive Secretary of the PSEA. A Fenstemaker Library Fund is being established by Mr. Fenstemaker's former students.

Weather Is Key to Success or Failure

Winter weekend activities, sponsored by the Waller Hall Association and the Maroon and Gold, will be highlighted by a trip to Eagles Mere tomorrow.

Buses Leave at 4:15 P.M.

Buses will leave for Eagles Mere on Friday 24, promptly at 4:15. This is the only time buses will leave. Students must show tickets before embarking, and everyone must have a ticket, including those riding in cars.

The Lodge will be open all day Friday for those who want to ski. The skiing price is $1.50 for skis, $1.00 for boots, and $.50 for poles.

There will be tobogganing before supper and then a dance. Students may also toboggan until 10:30 P.M. Buses will return about midnight. One-thirty lates are only for those going to Eagles Mere.

Movie Saturday

"Hit The Deck", starring Jane Powell and Russ Tamblyn, will be shown Saturday night at 7:30, followed by a record dance in Husky Lounge at 9:30 P.M.

Carol Bendinsky, general chairman, cautions, "Temperatures are always very cold at Eagles Mere, so dress warmly."

Committee heads are: Pat Earyes and Gail Allen, Tickets; Theresa Biagiotti, movie; Susan Williams, lunch; Jean Kropa and Peggy Coole, dance; Hazel Hunley, advertising; and Ann Weed, chaperone arrangements.

Student Donators Top BSC Record

Because BSC students donated to this year's Bloodmobile, Bloomsburg is once again in the first priority rating. Bloomsburg broke its previous record of 186 pints by the 1961 donation of 188 pints. Last year only 174 pints were donated.

Batty Scaife, chairman of the Bloodmobile Committee wishes to thank all those who gave blood and those who wished to do so, but for various reasons were turned down, for their cooperation. Any students who were unable to participate in this visit of the Bloodmobile are urged to give blood in the spring when the Bloodmobile will be at the Elks Club in Bloomsburg. BSC will receive recognition for these donations.

Alpha Psi Omega Schedules Show

"New York, New York" was chosen as the theme of the annual Alpha Psi Omega Variety Show scheduled for late in March. Program coordinators Lolly Niehoff and Bob Deibler have announced that nearly a dozen campus organizations will present acts for the show. Organizations which did not return forms indicating whether they wished to participate may still do so by contacting either of the coordinators. Acts will be accepted until February 28.

Carol Mazza will supervise scenery construction, and Robert Hensley will be in charge of lights. Judy Wolf will handle Publicity and programs.

A shipment of nine radio-active isotopes has been received by a member of Millersville State College. They will be used for Lab work.

Grapplers End Season Undefeated

Courtmen Now 8-4 As They Win 73-57

The "new-look" Husky basketballers brought their over-all record to eight wins-four losses with triumphs over Kutztown State College (78-66) and East Stroudsburg State College (73-57). Before the East Stroudsburg game, the Huskies were in third place in league play, hot on the heels of second place West Chester, which was trampled by Mansfield.

The East Stroudsburg game was close until the final three minutes of action. The play became so heated in the first half that a little fisticuffs broke out under the backboard, but it was hastily broken up by both coaches and the referees. The see-saw battle saw East Stroudsburg walk off at halftime with a 27-25 lead.

Lloyd Starts Drive

The second half started out the same way until, with six minutes remaining and the Warriors from East Stroudsburg leading 48-45, Dick "Dino" Lloyd hit a lay-up and a jumper to put us into the lead 49-48, then Freshman Fran Curn swished two jumpers to put us into a 53-48 lead—a lead we never relinquished. Gary Rupert turned in another one of his exciting, all-around performances, scoring 25 points and handing off innumerable assists. Lloyd contributed 19 points and Flip Houser added 14.

J.V.s Lose To East Stroudsburg

The J.V. shooters defeated Kutztown S.C. but lost to East Stroudsburg after blowing a big lead. The J.V.ers were scoreless for about three minutes late in the second half. East Stroudsburg kept picking away and finally went ahead in the final minute of play. Jeff Garrison sank a three-quarter count set shot at the buzzer, but it wasn't enough as the score showed, East Stroudsburg 65-Bloom 63.

The Huskies have four games remaining including the final home game of the season against Cheyney, Monday, February 27. That Deepest sympathies to Joyce Kilmer and Mr. Lyttle's Modern Poetry classes. Our audience reaction meter rates "Trees" very highly, but then perhaps Mr. Lyttle didn't have to memorize the poem in the fourth grade. Or maybe he did?

Some of our January recruits are still in a tizzy. Relax, kids! You'll soon be in Husky Lounge with the veterans. One of these new students came out of the fog for a moment to ask us, "Who's this man Jackson?" We couldn't resist temptation so we said, "This man Jackson is a mean man with a history book." Now that the poor student is properly shaken, may we say, "Listen and you shall learn."

One of our Seniors (yep!) forgot her mailbox combination, so she went to the window and asked the switchboard operator to please look it up and put the number in her mailbox. Honest, that's the way we heard it.

Since we're student teaching in the Memorial School, many of us have called or written home to ask what childhood diseases we didn't have. Some have even searched frantically for old texts such as Child Development and Health in the Elementary Grades. If, by chance, you don't hear from us for a while, we probably have the mumps, measles or the chicken pox, or maybe all three. Good Grief!

Don't forget to buy Girl Scout cookies. They are guaranteed not to make noise when eaten during lectures.

Matmen Await State Tourney

It was a night of decisions for the Husky grapplers as they faced arch-rival West Chester before another capacity crowd at Centennial Gymnasium last week. The Huskies dominated the match as they shut out the Golden Rams 24-0, winning every weight class by decision. The team, incidentally, went into the contest without the services of regulars, Hughes, Gorant, Sarinelli, and Steumpffli. But Coach Houk went to his reserves and got outstanding performances from four promoted J.V.'s, pointing out once again the tremendous strength and depth of this year's team.

Meletski Wins His Second

Joel Meletski, Hughes's replacement, gained his second win in as many strts as a Varsity performer, downing his man 4-1. Joel shows great promise for the future, considering that he is only a Freshman.

Bill Wyland, another Freshman, took over Captain Gorant's position and racked up a neat 6-2 decision for his first Varsity win. Wyland may be seeing a lot more action if Gorant's arm trouble persists.

Dick Scarese at 137 kept the ball rolling for Bloom by shutting out his man 5-0. Scarese commanded the match entirely and often seemed on the verge of showing his man the lights.

Wright Wins Easily

Gerry "Legs" Wright clamped a powerful figure-four on his opponent and applied enough pressure that his foe nearly exhausted himself trying to gain an escape. In fact, Wright had to help his man off at the end of their bout. The score in this one was 5-1 in favor of Bloomsburg.

In the most exciting match of the evening, popular Tony Lingen-

Swimmers Downed 55-40 by Lock Haven

The Husky swimmers, who once again showed improvement but lack of depth and experience, were defeated by the Lock Haven team, 55-40.

The Huskies, who haven't won a meet in their two years of competition, were on the brink of victory last week. They trailed by only 9 points late in the contest.

The big point makers for the Huskies were ever-dependable Don Young, who won the 50 yard and 100 yard freestyle events; flashy Nelson Swarts, who swimming the backstroke and individual medley, set new pool records, and the Relay Team, which consisted of Little, Young, Swarts, and Jasper.

The team will make their final outing this season against Lycoming College, who defeated them earlier in the campaign. However, the Huskies have purchased new equipment which has stepped up their training program in an attempt to break into the winning column.

felter pulled out a decision in the closing seconds. The score was all even with 54 seconds remaining and the visitor on top piling up riding time. Tony freed himself for an escape and the deciding point, needing only to avoid being taken down by back-peddling. But Tony is not one to run and he went back into battle and got a take-down.

Gene Dixon was his usual steady self as he gained another decision for the home forces by a 5-0 score also. Gene is one of three wrestlers undefeated at home.

Poust Beats Former Victor

Don Poust at 177 ran into a real cocky boy from West Chester but the Golden Ram, undoubtedly, left for home a bit less so as Don thrice came within seconds of pinning him. This was the same boy that pinned Poust last year but Don has improved considerably since then.

Bill Garson finished off the night by running the string to eight decisions by winning 5-1. Bill seems to be gaining confidence with each match and is a much better wrestler for it. He is also undefeated at home.

Your next chance to see the Huskies will be in the State College Wrestling Tournament on Friday and Saturday, March 3 and 4. The tournament will be held at Centennial Gym and it will feature the best wrestlers in the state.

SPORTS SHOTS

by
WAYNE T. MORRISSEY

How's this for balance? Flip Houser, 15.6; Dick Lloyd, 15.5; Fran Curran, 11.5; Gary Rupert, 11.1; and Norm Shutovich, 10.2. (These are the latest averages released by our Public Relation's Office). Look's to me as though we have one of the most balanced and precisioned teams in the league.

Once again the Houkmen have ridden rough-shod over the opponents in the State Conference. As the State Tourney starts they are heavy favorites to walk off with the championship. However, the Huskies are heavily laden with injuries and some matches may be decided only by support of the local fans. Nothing is better news than to know that the gym is packed with your loyal and enthusiastic fans. Don't miss this one — the boys will be riding high as usual.

The mermen had acquired new equipment this week comparable to that won on TV's "Sea Hunt." This is possibly one of the best things for the men as I understand that it requires much more intensive training to be able to swim properly in these suits. To be more specific, it's comparable to the basketball player who ties weights to his belt, so that when he takes them off he will be able to jump much higher with the same effort.

BACK-STAGE FRIGHT

by HAZEL HUNLEY

What are celebrities made of? . . . if you'll excuse the prepositional ending so that I may use the cliché. For this was the question uppermost in my mind as I dashed backstage to interview Basil Rathbone.

With a cub reporter's apprehension I entered backstage. I kept telling myself, "This man isn't that much bigger than I am even though he was a football player in college!" However, I could picture myself tackling Mr. Rathbone, twisting his arm and begging him for the answers to a few questions. Then I could just imagine chasing him to the Magee just for an interview — in spike heels on the icy sidewalks of Main Street.

After half-convincing myself that he wouldn't bite, I finally approached the actor who was about to give some autographs to other students. It was then that I gave myself away. Mr. Rathbone asked if anyone had a pencil. I just couldn't lie. So, with my pencil (and who, other than a reporter, would be carrying a little stub of a pencil) he signed autographs.

Now somewhere I had gotten the idea that one also had to beg an actor for an autograph. Not so. Mr. Rathbone grabbed my program before I could say I didn't want his autograph — to say such didn't seem advisable just the same — and signed his name. It was right then and there that I looked straight into his blue-gray eyes and began my interview. And he must have read my inquiring mind for he said, "Oh yes, you are the interviewer."

He was quite pleased that I enjoyed his performance. He also noted that he gains great personal satisfaction in presenting poetry dramatically, to not only college students, but to many people in many places. However, he attached much value to dramatic presentation in college lectures by himself and other artists, "for college dramatics should be greatly encouraged."

"Amateurs don't teach amateurs!" was the emphatic comment Mr. Rathbone made when asked about drama in the college curriculum. He does favorably recommend drama in the college program but adds, "It is a great pity that colleges have no professional actors to teach it." Mr. Rathbone went on to say that there is no real achievement made when amateurs teach amateurs, just as an amateur golfer cannot give professional training to another golfer. In making this analogy he reveals his enthusiasm for sports — he also plays golf and is a baseball fan.

The latter half of "An Evening With Basil Rathbone" included the works of William Shakespeare. A great part of Mr. Rathbone's career has included his portrayals of Shakespearian characters, not to mention "hiccoughing Iago." In an apprenticeship in London, he played 53 roles in 23 of Shakespeare's plays. Discussing the playwright just before soliloquizing Macbeth and Hamlet, he gave this brief analysis, "Shakespeare has been given to us like the theory of relativity — we aren't to know it, but the intellectual will tell us."

The dramatist did not hesitate at all when asked about his most enjoyable role. He stated, "No other role comes comprehensibly near to that of Hamlet."

Mr. Rathbone seemed to be able to give comment to most questions asked. But to my surprise he had no real plans or roles in mind for the future. He whimsically commented that "it must come out of the air."

And so, with due thanks, I ended my interesting "Evening With Basil Rathbone."

Russian Education Viewed

by CARIMAR SHULTZ

The hardy students and faculty members who were able to struggle through the snow-drifts to reach Science Hall, Room 22, at 10 a.m. on the Saturday morning of the "big snow" heard Mr. Wilmer E. Shue's impressive lecture on the Russian Educational System. Mr. Shue, Superintendent of Schools in Newark, Del. visited our campus to interview prospective teachers; while here, he consented to share his views on Russian Education.

He said that the Russian six-day school weeks sound impressive; however, one should realize that the students attend school in two four-hour shifts daily, and that in Grades 9-11 (public education ends at Grade 11) they work two days a week. In their free hours the students are sent to Young Pioneer Palaces at which they receive thorough indoctrination in Communist ideals.

Mr. Shue supplemented his comments by showing colored slides of his tour. These pictures emphasized the friendliness of the common people (the educators were not received by any Russian government officials) and the well-equipped state of the schoolrooms, especially the science laboratories where models of rockets and sputniks were conspicuous.
