BSC In Full Swing; Enrollment Reaches New High of 1900

Business, Elementary Education Graduate Program in Progress

Bloomsburg State College is now offering a graduate program designed for graduate students in Business and Elementary Education. On June 15, 1961, the college launched the program with an enrollment of 40 students in the three week pre-session. Courses were also offered during the six week main session and the post session.

The following schedule has been arranged for graduate classes beginning, Saturday, Sept. 16, and ending Saturday, January 20:

8:40-10:30 — Current Economic Problems (Business Education Students); Guidance in the Elementary School (Elementary Education).

10:40-12:30 — The Epic Tradition in Modern Literature (Elementary and Business Education).

During the second semester, Corporation Finance, Home, School, and Community Relations, Major Philosophies of Education, and Methods and Materials of Educational Research will be offered.

The graduate program has been planned to permit teachers in service to secure permanent certification and earn the Masters of Education degree without interference with normal professional duties; provide courses and curriculum specifically designed for the elementary and business teacher; provide the elementary teacher with facilities for observation, study, and experimentation which can be found only at a college with a campus laboratory school; afford the business teacher an opportunity to pursue graduate study in a newly constructed classroom building equipped with modern business machines.

Memorial Gifts of $1,750 Presented

This spring, $1,200 was presented to Dr. Harvey A. Andruss by Edwin Kusar, president of the class of '61. This amount is to be used for the microfilming of rare or out-of-print books, or for the purchase of any other items which must be secured immediately. These purchases will be presented to the school as the memorial from the Class of '61. Another grant of $50 was given to the library by the class of 1941, as a testimonial to Mr. Howard Fenstermaker.

A contribution of $5000 was given to the faculty to use as it deems best as a testimonial to the four faculty advisors of the class of

Library Adds 1,000 Volumes in Various Subject Categories

The summer exhibition of the new books in the library included approximately 1,000 volumes from 45 of the country's universities presses. There were 27 inclusive and basic areas with a range from fiction to advanced guidance, philosophy, science, and religion.

In the juvenile section, there were 15 sub-categories of fiction plus science, biography, information, aeronautics, history, social studies and a fine collection of picture books.

Lack of Facilities Presents Big Problem

Confronting Dr. Harvey A. Andruss and many others is the problem concerning the lack of facilities at BSC. "Every plan that has been made thus far," said President Andruss, speaking of the growth of the college, "has proven to be too small long before it has been executed." The first plan, developed in 1941, called for a maximum enrollment of 1200 and use of only two-thirds of a sixty acre campus. The first detailed plan came out in 1957, calling for accommodations for 2000 by 1970. The college had 1750 students last year, and it is certain there will be 1900 next year. The figure set for 1970 will be reached in 1962, and it is now estimated that there will be 3000 students by 1970.

The college president expressed hope that "as we grow in size we will also enhance the quality of our education." He also spoke of the state report which sets forth the commonwealth should provide college facilities for 300,000. In this total it is estimated the state college groups would have to take care of 60,000. Their total enrollment is now 21,000. Provided this group does not take care of 60,000 and other institutions expand according to estimate, there is still 79,000 yet to be accommodated, and these are to be cared for in community colleges which will provide classrooms but no dormitory facilities.

With the addition of over 600 freshmen the college population has been raised to a total in excess of 1900. The students living in the dormitories will amount to approximately 660, nearly 225 of these will be freshmen; 180 girls and 75 boys. The remaining 445 students will either commute or live in the private homes of Bloomsburg residents.

The approximate number of students in the curriculum are: Special Education, 47; Business, 138; Elementary, 145; and Secondary, 280.

At present, one third of the students at BSC are housed at the college, one third in town, and one third commuting.

In an effort to provide service to the new dormitories under design, those planned for the future and those currently existing, the campus service facilities are to be expanded, extended, or re-located. An increase in funds from $620,000 to $950,000 will accommodate the improved service facilities. These will include steam, water, and sewer lines and storm sewers. With these additions to the heating plant and utilities, the college will be able to provide proper facilities for 3,000 students.

Eshbach, Pullinger, Stevens, and Bruder, a Philadelphia architectural firm, is now completing the designs for the two new women's dormitories. These will house a total of 484 resident women and will cost $1,790,000. Added to the $950,000 to be spent for the extension of public utilities, the cost of the dormitories will bring the total amount approved for new construction to $2,740,000. This amount does not include the cost of movable equipment which has been estimated to be in excess of $100,000.

Many improvements have already been made during the summer. The gym floor has been resurfaced, drapes have been hung in Waller Lobby, the prop room in Carver Hall was converted to a bookkeeping room, eight faculty offices were installed on the second floor of Noetling Hall and the machine room was moved to the basement, facilities for special education have been set up in Navy Hall, the Ben Franklin playground has been resurfaced, a tape recorder now produces the music in the dining hall and new seating facilities were installed in room 22 of Science Hall.

Photographs by BSC Professor to Appear in Oct. Periodical

Dr. Barbara J. L. Shockley, professor in social studies at BSC, has taken a number of pictures featuring Pennsylvania schools. These pictures will be published in the October, 1961 issue of OVERVIEW, "a monthly periodical for Educational Executives."

The current item is called "Yesterday's Schoolhouse," and the featured schools are (1) the little white clapboard type set out in Pennsylvania farm land midst the tall grasses that grow thereabouts, and (2) the Little Octagonal School on Highway 45 which was built of native limestones and whose eight-sided plan was designed among other reasons, to ward off Indians. Dr. Shockley is particularly interested in calling attention to the Little Octagonal School, for it is one of the only two surviving schools of this type in Pennsylvania.

Students of BSC are urged to follow the writing and other contributions of faculty members to various publications.

Language Lab Open in Navy Hall

More modern facilities and techniques are to be employed in the language department of BSC. The elaborate and efficient system has been set up in room three of Navy Hall, it is composed of a series of twenty-five booths that contain individual tape recorders, ear phones, microphones, and facilities to communicate with the instructor.

The instructor has complete control. (Continued on page 6)

Loans Available To BSC Students

BSC has financial aid in the form of scholarships, grants, and loan funds available for students with satisfactory college records.

There are four loans available to students at BSC this year. These include the Bakeless Memorial Loan Fund, Kehr-Ward Fund, National Defense Student Loan Fund, and the Alumni Loan Fund.

The Bakeless Memorial Fund and the Alumni Loan Fund are each granted on the same stipulations; however the Kehr-Ward Fund is an emergency loan and the National Defense Student Loan Fund is sponsored by the Federal Government and the College Book Store.

These loans are granted on the approval of the Faculty Committee of Scholarships, Grants and Loans. Any student desiring additional information or application blanks for the loans should contact the office of the Dean of Students.

Ben Franklin School Makes Staff Changes

Benjamin Franklin, BSC's laboratory school, is keeping up with the college's trend to make additions and changes in its teaching and administrative personnel.

Mr. Donald Vannon, new to the staff of the school, will teach in the fifth grade. Miss Jean McCue is returning from a year-long leave and will resume her duties as the instructor of first grade. Mrs. Edwards, who taught first grade during Miss McCue's absence will now instruct second grade. Mr. Roberts, the former fifth grade teacher is now teaching the sixth grade; he is also the new assistant principal. Mrs. Beckly, a former second grade teacher and Mr. Warren Johnson, sixth grade teacher, are supervisors of student teaching.

Publications' Staff '61-'62 Announced

Bill O'Donnell, Obiter

William O'Donnell, a senior in Secondary Education, has been appointed Editor of the Obiter for the 1961-62 college term. Carol Edwards, a sophomore, Secondary Education, will serve as the Assistant Editor. Business Manager will be Margaret Bower, a senior in Secondary Education. Other officers will be appointed and announced in the near future.

Dr. E. T. DeVoe, advisor, states, "Our major hope is for a good year-book. If possible, one better than last year's."

Hi! and welcome back . . . from the inside looking out. Quite a few new faces among those already familiar. Whoosh! and the crowd is drawn to the "haven of cordiality and pinochle," Husk Lounge . . . all those "dinked" frosh and occasionally we see a new "prof." We extend a hearty welcome to the administration and faculty as well as all students, noting a bigger mass (1950 enrolled) for our M&G (part of the college media.) The Struggle for Survival

Editor's Note: The following was taken from a speech given by Dr. Harvey A. Andruss to the June graduating class of Benjamin Franklin University at the Statler Hotel, Washington, D.C. — a challenging and thought-provoking message.

"The struggle for survival in the world is primarily economic. Moon shots, inter-continental missiles, wars and rumors of wars, are merely symptoms of a struggle for higher standards of living.

If our country is to survive as a primary world power, we must first make our citizens economically literate. They must understand our system of earning, spending, saving, and investing money. The total income must provide wages for workers, profits for owners, taxes to run the government, and add to the sum total of human welfare in terms of customer satisfaction. To provide automatic mandatory cost-of-living increases to workers and employees, without regard to their productivity or efficiency, kills individual initiative, and produces inflation which, in turn, reduces savings to the extent that capital, for expansion of facilities, is not forthcoming.

No one group — capital, labor, government, customers, or the public — can be favored at the expense of the other if our democratic system of controlled free enterprise is to be, in the future as it has been in the past, an example for the whole world.

Accountants, business advisers, executives, and administrators are charged with the responsibility to do more than review records and reports, and recommend wage rates, dividends, and investments. They must feel responsible for wages that are fair, recognizing and rewarding the more productive, for distributing profits as dividends in relation to the future of the business and the worth of money in the market place, for reporting taxes in an accurate manner — all with due regard to continued customer demand if our American system of free enterprise is to continue.

"If we fail to accept these responsibilities," Dr. Andruss stated, "Russia will not need force to conquer us from without; 'dry-rot' will render the United States defenseless from within!

Education, hard work, and dedication to our economic system, based on an understanding that all must prosper if we are to continue, are necessary if America is to be a model for mankind."

What Is a Man?

A man is what his education is. Education will determine the limits of his entire life, or frontiers of his soul. With education, we can remain free and be secure in our freedom; without it, we will be slaves to our own ignorance. We, the future members of the teaching profession, have as our responsibility, the education of all who need: ourselves, and our students. We must challenge our student to conquer the greatest enemy of the free world today — ignorance. We must enable the individual to bear the responsibilities which our society says are his. We must take as man's education; his knowledge and respect of the past, his responsibilities and privileges of the present; and his hopes and ideals for the future.

The Keys of the Kingdom

On a day in May, four years from now, President Andruss will present us with keys to the kingdom. The keys will be the knowledge gained from education and the realization of the unknown. The kingdom will be the world and its happiness. In turn, each one of us will pass on these keys to the students we are privileged to teach.

We are not to open doors for them, even though the temptation will come, but rather we are to instruct and guide them to the use of the keys, and allow them to unlock the doors of the future themselves. This is our greatest privilege—to give them the keys of the kingdom, for the greatest educational value is gained from opening doors.

Do You Know Why?

As we come to BSC this year, we should stop to ask ourselves why we are here. For most of us, college will take four years of our lives. Why are you willing to sacrifice four years for a college education rather than immediately beginning to earn a living?

Most students will reply that they are preparing for their life's work. They are preparing to enter the teaching profession and are gaining knowledge for this work. For many this is the only reason that they come to college.

However, a diploma should be more than a union card. A college education should be more than a mere passport which will allow the student to make more money than he would as a common laborer.

The Bloomsburg student should realize that the knowledge gained here is an end in itself. The student will be a stronger person and will be better able to cope with life because he has this knowledge, whether he uses it in his teaching career or not. The student who says, "Why should I have to take this course—I'll never use it, does not realize the full goal of a college education—does not want an education but merely training. To him college is nothing more than a trade school. The teacher who only knows the subject which he is teaching is not only a weak individual, but is also a poor teacher. As subject matter is becoming more inter-related, it is necessary for the teacher to have a broader knowledge of the world. Therefore, the student today does not know what knowledge he may or may not use tomorrow.

Knowledge for knowledge sake should become the byword for every BSC student. In this way he will become a better person, a better teacher, and a credit to his alma mater.

At BSC . . .

As Summers Go

The campus on the hill was not at all devoid of extra-curricular activity during the past three months. Ask any summer student.

In July, Dean Stradtman, greeted the members of the Pennsylvania Science Teachers Association in Carver Auditorium. Dean Stradtman was the co-ordinator of the four-day conference concerning the "New Experimental Approach in Science Education."

Artist-Lecture Series

The Artist and Lecture Series which extended through the summer sessions, presented people from many fields. A world-famous at BSC in June for the first of the evening programs. Craig Coleman, hypnotist, Howard Klein, appeared a bass baritone, presented the second program of musical comedy, operetta and concert selections. Mr. Coleman is a native of Bloomsburg and a graduate of the college. Others in the series were Sigurd Anderson of the Federal Trade Commission; Stan Freeman, a piano satirist; Ali Shapurian, press attaché of the Embassy of Iran; Joe Soprani, accordion soloist and recording artist, Anne Sexton, poet and lecturer, and Mrs. Alba C. Thompson, U.N. Representative for the National Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

President Andruss At Conference

Neither does our college president retire for the summer months. In July, Dr. Andruss was a member of the faculty at the annual Parent-Teachers Association Leaders conference at Gettysburg College. He gave instructions in international relations and parliamentary procedure. Dr. Andruss also urged the association to encourage the exchange of foreign students on the secondary level.

High School Wrestling Clinic

More than 300 high school wrestlers and high school coaches from 85 different schools in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Ohio, Michigan and Illinois attended one of the two-week sessions of the Second Annual Wrestling and Coaching clinic at Bloomsburg State College. Russell Houk, BSC wrestling coach, was the clinic director. He was assisted by Michael Flanagan, assistant wrestling coach.

Two alumni of Bloomsburg State College returned this summer to cut the scholastic ribbon of the newly initiated program of the graduate studies. Miss Helen Grim of Millintown was the first to register in the Elementary Education Division. She received her Bachelor of Science degree from Bloomsburg in May 1960. Joseph R. Butz, who received his degree from Bloomsburg in May 1959, entered graduate studies in Business Education.

"Uncle Sam"

Between legislative measures to increase foreign aid and extend the draft, one Bloomsburg professor was concerned with a proposal for "Uncle Sam" this summer.

Dr. Almus Russell, professor of English, joined a group of five historians who testified at a Senate Hearing in Washington, D.C., in July to support a measure to have the grave of "uncle Sam" Wilson declared a national shrine. According to Dr. Russell, Samuel Wilson was the progenitor of the nation's symbol and sobriquet of "Uncle Sam." The grave is located at Oakwood Cemetery, Troy, New York.

Dr. Russell, who is the author of more than 250 published articles in the fields of American Literature, history, and education, is considered an authority on the life of Samuel Wilson.

As one of the five historians, he testified before the Senate Com-

The Commuters

From the office of . . . Maroon and Gold

The Maroon and Gold is beginning the 1961-62 term with an executive staff of several promotions and new members. In accord with this fresh start, most of the reporters have been put on new beats.

Macyle Phillips, the executive editor, is beginning her term by instituting new policies to increase the efficiency and coverage of the newspaper staff. She will explain these at the general staff meeting on Monday, September 18. Macyle is a Junior in the secondary curriculum and is coordinator of "College Corner," the college activities program on WBRX.

Hazel Hunley, the feature editor, is in charge of page two. She will approve editorials, letters to the editor, and features. Hazel is a Junior in the secondary curriculum.

The news editor, Dianne Campbell, is in charge of issuing beats and stories. Reporters should contact her for help with any problems concerning their news articles. Dianne is a Sophomore in the secondary curriculum.

Other members of the editorial staff are: Carimar Shultz and Bill Martin, copy editors; Ron Bower, advertising manager; Bob Steinhart, business manager; Paul Bingaman, art editor; Nelson Swarts, circulation manager.

The Reporters and their beats are: Larry Recla — offices of Dr. Andruss, Dean Hoch, Mr. Edwards, Mr. Martin; Sandy Thornton—CGA and all committees; Shirley Klock — offices of Mr. Buckingham, Dean Jackson, Dean Hunsinger, Library, Waller Assn., Resident Men's Assn.; Nancy Pickering — Council Exceptional Children, Kappa Delta Pi, Dr. Maietta, Sigma Alpha Eta; John Lashay — Business Department, Business Education Club, Pi Omega Pi, office of Dr. Martin; George Hanna — office of Dr. Seronsy, Mr. Hopkins, Mr. Piotrowski, Mr. Fenstermaker; Sally Creasy — Dean McCauslin's office; Paul Brosious — Secondary Education, Department of Science and Math, Science Club; Mary Tomzack — Department of Education and Psychology, Phi Sigma Pi; Albert Hoffman — Buildings and Grounds, Fire Brigade, Parking Policy; Molly Clugson — Class news; Barbara Kolet — Commuters, Day Men Association, Day Women's Association; Shirley Kline — Religious Organizations; Robert Hensley — English Club, College Players, Alpha Psi Omega, Debating Club; Joanne Herb — Atheneum Club, Choralists, College Band, Art Department; Elaine Chute — Evening entertainment, Civic Music Assn., Kappa Delta Pi; Bill Herald — Chess Club, Vet's Club, Aviation Club, Gamma Theta Upsilon.

mittee to the historic authenticity of the claim that Samuel Wilson is the prototype of "Uncle Sam." Dr. Russell was born, and spent his pre-college years in the town of Mason, New Hampshire. This village was also Samuel Wilson's residence in his youth from 1780 to 1789 before he settled in Troy, New York. Consequently, Professor Russell has had an unsurpassed opportunity to collect unpublished and little-known source materials, based upon old manuscripts, letters, news articles, and interviews with old town residents.

Band Camp

Fifty-two Bloomsburg State College students reported to the campus September 5 for three days of intensive drill and practice at the Summer Band Camp. This group was joined on September 12 by approximately 20 more members, bringing the 1961 Marching Band to a total of 70.

Another school term is beginning — my last on this campus. It's good to see the Frosh looking forward to their college careers. A rule of thumb to follow: be sure to read our campus paper—where else can you read all the news that's really news in such short order? Your suggestions and opinions are always welcome in this column, too.

Changes, changes, changes!

As usual there have been many changes over the summer months. The homemaking room in Navy Hall (room) is no longer a classroom. It has become the language laboratory . . . a very nice laboratory indeed.

BSC is a fine example of a progressive modern college. Also the Speech and Hearing Department has completed its move to the rooms on the lower floor of Navy Hall. The new furniture in the reception lounge area is very bright and comfortable. I sat for a minute in each chair to try them all out.

In case you haven't read through the guidebook, I would like to quote a few paragraphs found on page 18 on the new 1961-62 Pilot: "In order that all Seniors in the Secondary Division will have the same opportunities which Seniors in other divisions enjoy of a student teaching experience in at least two schools, the student teaching program is being divided into two areas.

The Bloomsburg Area includes Berwick, Danville, Milton, and other adjacent schools, and the Bucks County Area at present is comprised of the Bristol-Delhas Joint School District and the Neshaminy Joint School District.

All Senior students will be assigned for approximately nine weeks in the Bloomsburg Area.

This change in the placement policy for student teaching has brought a good deal of griping on the part of students. Our college is expanding; this new program is a necessary part of the change. Don't try to hinder this plan, but rather accept it and make the best of it. A change of face will do us all a world of good.

In case you're planning to elope, please note: "Any student intending to be married during the school year must inform the Office of the Dean of Students to that effect at least one week before the date set for the marriage. Failing to do this, the student may be asked to withdraw from college for the remainder of the semester and must apply for reinstatement to be admitted."

Good grief, Dr. Herre! 37 years at BSC. Our congratulations to you. Keep up the good work.

In this column I usually comment on campus events, instructors, etc. Since this is the first issue there are a few remarks I would like to direct to the new Frosh. You'll meet new people and make new friends at BSC, but more important, you will learn. Some of the instructors may seem hard and mean in your eyes . . . quickies every day, oral exams, practical exams, homework by the carload. Try to keep one thing in mind; they're not trying to beat you down or make you drop out of school. They're college instructors trying to prepare each one of you to become a first rate teacher. If you can accept this discipline and study during your stay in college, you will probably be intelligent men and women when you graduate. By accepting your instructors for their knowledge and abilities, you will certainly gain in your own understanding.

Your Community Government Association

1961-62 C.G.A. Officers: Myles Anderson, president; Bill Griffiths, vice-president; Carol Bendinsky, secretary; Dale Anthony, treasurer.

Myles Anderson, a senior in the Elementary Education Curriculum, is President of the Community Government Association for the 1961-62 term. As president, Myles calls and presides at all C.G.A. and College Council meetings, represents the student body on all public occasions, and sees that the business of the Association is carried on properly. The president also appoints all standing and special committees.

The Vice-President of C.G.A. is William Griffiths, a junior in the Business Education Curriculum. Bill supervises the work of the standing committees and presides over meetings in the absence of the president.

Carol Bendinsky acts as Secretary of C.G.A., who is a junior in the Secondary Education Curriculum, keeps records of the proceedings at all meetings, has custody of all papers of the College Council, and conducts all correspondence. She also appoints the C.G.A. Office Committee.

The Treasurer of C.G.A. is Dale Anthony, a junior in the Business Curriculum. Dale has charge of all finances of College Council and reports regularly concerning the financial status of Council.

J. Alfred McCauslin, Dean of Student Affairs, will serve as Advisor to the Community Government Association and the College Council.

The life and times of . . .

MISTER PRESIDENT

In 1927, four months after the Bloomsburg State Normal School became Bloomsburg State Teachers College, a committee of students and faculty members began drafting a constitution for the Bloomsburg Community Government Association. By February 22, 1928, the constitution was approved by both students and faculty, and the first Bloomsburg Student Council was in operation. Thomas Welko was elected the first president.

The main concerns of the first Council was the establishment of various student committees, more and better student organizations and campus improvements.

Welko was succeeded by George A. Matthews. During 1929-30, Edgar F. Reichard was president. Professional fraternities were introduced and day students became an integral part of C.G.A. C.G.A. in 1930-31, under the leadership of Thomas L. Henry, helped to install the Maroon and Gold band, Kappa Delta Pi and Phi Sigma Pi. Succeeding Henry were Henry T. Warman (1931-32) and Charles Hensley (1932-33). In 1933-34, while Alfred Vandling was president, the key system for honoring outstanding students was initiated.

John T. Beck was President of C.G.A. in 1934-35. In 1937-38, during Clyde Klinger's presidency, the student council of BSC became a true college council with students and faculty members meeting together. The first May Queen was selected that year.

Ray McBride was president in 1938-39. He was followed by Norman Moza (1939-40) and James Dolly (1940-41). In 1942-43, Boyd Buckingham was president. His administration was interrupted by his leaving to join the service, and Jeanne Fick, who later became Mrs. Buckingham, became the first woman president of C.G.A. During their presidencies, the Navy's officer training program (V-12) came to BSC, football was discontinued, and the College Council of Defense was formed.

Edward Mauley and Julian Zinzarella were presidents during 1943-44. In 1944-45, Mary Lou Fenstermaker, now Mrs. Harry G. John, Jr., an instructor in French and social studies at BSC, became the second woman president of C.G.A. She was succeeded by Helen Wright (1945-46). William Horvath (1945-46) became the first GI president. He was also the first married C.G.A. president. Horvath was succeeded by Harry Reith (1947-48). During his term of office, BSC added extra-curricular activities for the returning GI's.

In 1948-49, during Thaddeus Swigonski's term, voting machines were used for the first time in C.G.A. elections. In that year, the first Olympian was published. The next presidents were Richard Wagner (1949-50) and Anthony Grabowsky (1950-51). During Grabowsky's term, it was first suggested that big name entertainment should come to BSC.

1951-52, C.G.A., under Russell Looker, began the Student Talent Show and the Hiking Club. Edwin Cunfer was C.G.A. president in 1952-53, when TV was first installed at the college and a record and sound system was put in the Husky Lounge. Michael Crisci followed in 1953-54, Edward Conolley, 1954-55, and Robert L. Evans, 1955-56, when the remodeling of Husky Lounge was completed.

The Social Usage Club was formed during William Kautz's term in 1956-57, and the C.G.A. State College Convention met on campus during Luther C. Natter's administration (1957-58). Ronald Hornig was president in 1958-59, and Joseph Zapach in 1959-60. During Zapach's term, BSC became BSC and C.G.A. initiated "big-name" entertainment by bringing in Louis Armstrong.

Gary Reddig presided over C.G.A. during 1960-61. The Debate and English Clubs were formed that year, the "big-name" entertainment continued, and new furniture was purchased for student use.

Myles Anderson was elected to head C.G.A. for the 1961-62 term.

What is the Community Government Association?

Standing Committees

Customs Committee

The Customs Committee, under co-chairmanship of Sandy Thornton and John Baylor, is in charge of Freshman Customs. College Customs are traditional requirements to orient the incoming students to life at BSC. Hazing in any form is not permitted. All freshmen, with the exception of veterans, transfer students, and those over the ages of 21, are required to participate in customs regardless of any extra-curricular activities with which they are associated.

Social-Recreation Committee

The Social-Recreation Committee, William Griffiths, chairman, supervises the wide variety of activities which make up the social life of the student body.

The Pep Committee

The Pep Committee, April Wilson and Richard Phillips, co-chairmen, handles pep rallies, works with the cheerleaders, and plans student trips to out-of-town games.

The Hospitality Committee

The Hospitality Committee, Julie Snyder, chairman, welcomes college guests and conducts campus tours for prospective students.

Election Board

The Election Board, Barret Bower, chairman, supervises all student elections. The final C.G.A. election is conducted in the manner of the county political elections in order that BSC students may learn correct procedure. The official blanks, voter lists, voting booths, and ballot box are loaned by the Columbia County Election Board and a voting machine is supplied by the Luzerne County Election Board.

The Fire Drill Committee

The Fire Drill Committee, Ken Robbins, chairman, has charge of fire drills in all campus buildings. A fire-fighting squad of dormitory men students is trained to the care of emergencies.

The Dining Room Committee

The Dining Room Committee, Betty Scaife, chairman, has charge of social affairs, seating arrangements, and general student welfare in the college dining room.

The Assembly Committee

The Assembly Committee, Myrna Bassett, chairman, works with the faculty committee on all matters concerning assembly and evening programs. Committee members act as presiding officers at assembly, plan student talent programs, help select movies and other special features, and provide organizers and ushers. The Campus Criers make assembly announcements and assign the place and time of meetings held after assembly.

The Furniture Committee

The Furniture Committee, Joe Enney, chairman, selects furniture for the lobbies and social rooms.

The Big Name Entertainment Committee

The Big Name Entertainment Committee, with the vice-president of CGA as co-ordinator and the treasurer of CGA in charge of finances, has the responsibility of contracting student-chosen big name bands and of carrying out the planning and programming of the entertainment.

The Intramural Committee

The Intramural Committee, Mr. Robert Zeigler, chairman, plans the calendar of intramural events, keeps the program in order, and takes care of student requests.

Office Committee

An Office Committee assists the CGA secretary in looking after the

College Council

The legislative, executive, and judicial functions of C.G.A. are entrusted to a college council, the officers of which are also the officers of C.G.A. The council consists of the following members: Myles Anderson, President of C.G.A.; William Griffiths, Vice-President of C.G.A.; Carol Bendinsky, Secretary of C.G.A.; Dale Anthony, Treasurer of C.G.A.; Dr. J. Alfred McCauslin, Advisor of C.G.A.; Dick Lloyd, President of the Senior Class; Lee Jackson, President of the Junior Class; John Baylor, President of the Sophomore Class; Penny Harvey and Bob Strunk, Senior Class Representatives; Patricia Biehl and William Hughes, Junior Class Representatives; Barbara Chyko and Chuck Jasper, Sophomore Class Representatives.

Anne Golder, President of the Day Women's Association; Merrill Meneeley, President of the Day Men's Association; Mary Somerset, President of Waller Hall Association; Thomas Hixon, President of Men's Resident Council; Macyle Phillips, Editor of the Maroon and Gold; John A. Hoch, Dean of Instruction; J. Alfred McCauslin, Dean of Students; Ellamae Jackson, Dean of Women; Elton Hunsinger, Dean of Men; Lloyd Buckingham, Director of Public Relations.

It is the duty and responsibility of Council members to represent the members of C.G.A., formulating their policies, and administering their approved policies. Council recommends and approves plans for general supervision of all student organizations, and recommends all necessary changes in the Constitution. It may act as the judicial agent of the association on its own initiative or at the request of the College President. Before becoming effective, all measures passed by Council must be approved by the President of the College.

Customs Com. Stresses Education

Customs, long dreaded by all Bloomsburg Freshmen, has taken a new and upward trend. Instead of the traditional hazing there will be added stress on educational excellence.

The C.G.A. Customs Committee has planned many activities this week for the new students. Their time will be spent making new friends and learning more about the college and the community.

Upperclassmen will still play a part in Freshman Customs and their cooperation is urged. "BUTTONS FROSH".

CGA offices, its files, and miscellaneous property.

Finance Committee

A Finance Committee aids the treasurer of CGA in dealing with budgets and other matters of finance.

The Library Policy Committee

The Library Policy Committee is composed of both students and faculty members. Its main purpose is to improve and promote library facilities for the benefit of students and faculty.

The Pilot

The Pilot is the student handbook which acquaints incoming students with the history, rules, songs, and other pertinent information about BSC. This year the editor was Warren Ozmanski with Margaret Stiles the associate editor.

WHO and WHAT

All students and members of the faculty at BSC are members of the college CGA, the Community Government Association. The object of this organization is to co-operate with the administrative authorities in promoting personal and group responsibility in the guidance and regulation of those student affairs and activities coming under college jurisdiction.

An effectively run CGA enables student affairs to be conducted in an efficient, orderly, systematic manner, defines clearly student desires, privileges, and responsibilities, and offers valuable training and experience in self-government. At least three open discussion meetings are held each year during assembly to assure each student the opportunity to voice his ideas before his fellow members.

Many Activities Planned for Year

This year C.G.A., under the leadership of Myles Anderson, plans to emphasize "the importance of the students' point of view." C.G.A. will attempt to give the students more chances to develop maturity in various campus activities. Freshman customs activities are developed for the purpose of preparing the freshmen to become a mature college student.

C.G.A. will again bring "big name" entertainment to BSC. On Homecoming Friday, October 27, Count Basie will perform in Centennial Gymnasium. If this event is successful, a Spring Weekend will also be planned.

C.G.A. will also plan more and different weekend activities similar to the trip to Eagles Mere last year and will attempt to get other campus organizations to sponsor more activities. C.G.A. will sponsor inter-mural student-faculty athletic events for the first time this year.

To give students notice of coming events, C.G.A. has published a college calendar, listing activities, and has put a bulletin board in Husky Lounge which will also list coming events.

In March, 1961 the State College Student Council Planning Meeting will be held at BSC. Student Council presidents of the other State Colleges will be given the opportunity to observe the unique system of community government at BSC.

C.G.A. will also continue the purchasing of furniture and new equipment for the students.

C.G.A. was organized at BSC for bettering the life of the Bloomsburg student and to give him a voice in college affairs. To accomplish this, it needs the enthusiasm and support of the entire student body. Without it, C.G.A. will become nothing more than an organization to enhance the prestige of few students, and its officers will become nothing but figure-heads.

Students should always be aware of the activities of C.G.A. They should join, if possible a committee, and co-operate with C.G.A. in every possible way. They should know their C.G.A. officers and representatives, and should give them any ideas they might have on improving college life.

The Maroon and Gold again pledges to keep the students informed of all C.G.A. activities. The rest is up to you. With your continued interest and help, BSC is certain to have a strong and active C.G.A. again this year.

MEET THE COLLEGE ADMINISTRATION

Dr. Harvey A. Andruss, President

Greetings:

A hearty greeting is extended to all returning students who, I am sure, join me in welcoming the incoming Freshmen.

During the summer our campus and buildings have undergone some renovations, and plans have progressed for two new dormitories, all of which will in time enable us to provide more comfortable facilities for the present enrollment.

In the meantime, your patient cooperation will be appreciated by all members of our college community as well as by

Harvey A. Andruss
President

Dr. Harvey A. Andruss, President of the College, has been at BSC since 1930. During that time, he has also served as Director of the Department of Business and Dean of Instruction. He has been President of BSC since 1937.

President Andruss received his A.B. degree from the University of Oklahoma and his M.B.A. from Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois. He earned a Ed.D. at Pennsylvania State College.

In 1945 he served as Consultant and Department Head at the First American Army University at Shrivenham, Berkshire, England. He has served as special lecturer, visiting professor, or consultant at Oklahoma A. and M. College, Teachers College, and the University of Oklahoma. Dr. Andruss is the author of four textbooks on business and business education. He is a member of the President's Council and the American Institute of Management.

As President of Bloomsburg State College, Dr. Andruss is responsible to the Board of Trustees for the general administration of the college and is also responsible for the education of teachers for the public schools of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Andruss' offices are located on the first floor of Carver Hall.

Dean John A. Hoch Instruction

John A. Hoch, Dean of Instruction, earned his B.A. from PSU, M.A. from Bucknell University. He has done further graduate study at PSU. He joined the BSC staff in 1946 and became Dean of Men in 1947. He became Dean of Instruction in 1955.

Dean Hoch was active in founding the Pennsylvania State College Athletic Conference and is a member of Kappa Phi Kappa, and Pi Gamma Mu.

The Dean of Instruction is responsible for the overall undergraduate instructional program. This job includes the selection of courses for each year's program, the making of the master class schedules, the assignment of courses to faculty members, the coordination of the instructional program with the student teaching program and the interviewing and recommendation to the president of the College of all new faculty members. These duties are carried out with the cooperation and help of the departmental chairman.

Dean Hoch is also responsible for the assignment of class rooms and other college facilities for instructional and extra-curricular purposes, the preparing of the college calendar, and keeping records of all students. He is an ex-officio member of all college committees, a member of the College Council and the Administrative Council, and is Chairman of the Academic Council.

Mr. Paul G. Martin Business Manager

Mr. Paul G. Martin, Business Manager of Bloomsburg State College, graduated from BSC. He was employed at the Farmer's National Bank and served as a State Bank Examiner. He served in the U.S. Navy during World War II. He has been Business Manager at the college since 1950.

The Business Office handles all financial transactions for the college. Equipment for the college is ordered through, and all bills are paid to this office. Students may cash checks not exceeding the amount of $20 in the Business Office which is located on the first floor of Carver Hall.

Mr. Thomas A. Gorrey Buildings, Grounds

Thomas A. Gorrey, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, came to BSC in 1959. Previously he was an independent general contractor in Bloomsburg.

The Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds is responsible for the general maintenance of the campus and all buildings. To carry out these duties, Mr. Gorrey has a staff of 73 members. This staff includes carpenters, electricians, plumbers, ground crew, housekeepers, janitors, painters, plasterers, watchmen, and the parking police. His office is also in charge of the laundry, the heating plant, switchboard, and the post office.

Dean McCauslin Student Affairs

J. Alfred McCauslin, the Dean of Students of BSC, earned his B.A. from Rollins College, his M.A., M.S. from P.S.U. and has recently completed his doctoral dissertation. He has previously served as dean of students at Presbyterian Junior College, Maxton, N.C., and dean of students at Wilmington College, Wilmington, Ohio. He became a member of the BSC staff in 1960.

Dean McCauslin is a member of the American Personnel and Guidance Association, the Ohio Association of Student Personnel Administrators and the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators. He is listed in "Who's Who in American Education."

The position of dean of students was created in April of 1960. The purpose of the office is to coordinate the non-academic life of the college, including the offices of the deans of men and women. The dean of students is in charge of all non-academic student activities on campus. Folders listing detailed information on the non-academic life of each student are filed in his office. He is the advisor to the Community Government Association and a member of all standing committees of the college.

Dean McCauslin

Some of the matters handled by Dean McCauslin's office include; loans and scholarships, student employment on campus, the Pilot, identification cards, parking fines, requisitions, and chaperons for student activities. He is an ex-officio member of all allied committees, a member of college council and the administrative council as well as the chairman of the faculty committee for scholarships, grants and loans.

Mr. Edwards, Acting Director, Sec. Ed.

C. Stuart Edwards, Director of Admissions and Placement, and Acting Director of Secondary Education, is a graduate of BSC and was awarded the M.Ed. from PSU. Mr. Edwards joined the BSC staff in 1958.

As Director of Admissions, Mr. Edwards is concerned with the answering of all inquiries and collecting applications for admissions, interviewing and evaluating all applicants. He then recommends their acceptance or rejection from the college and notifies them of it.

The Placement Service of BSC was established to aid the public schools of Pennsylvania in securing candidates for vacant positions and to help graduates of the college secure teaching positions. A placement brochure is prepared and distributed which presents information related to seniors available for teaching positions. He compiles a list of vacant teaching positions and recommends candidates for each position. He also counsels with seniors concerning the preparation of credentials and the techniques of applying for a position. His office conducts a follow-up study of all BSC graduates each year.

Hunsinger, Jackson Assume Positions as New Deans

This year BSC will have both a new Dean of Men and Dean of Women.

Mr. Elton Hunsinger, the Dean of Men, will also hold the rank of assistant professor. His main duties are the guidance of men students and the co-ordination of freshmen into college life. He will use no "big-stick" in discipline policies. Dean Hunsinger's duties also include assignment of men's dormitory rooms and downtown housing agreements.

Dean Hunsinger graduated from East Stroudsburg State College and received his M.Ed. from Bucknell University. He has taught and coached, soccer, football, basketball, and baseball at Ashland H.S. and Conyngham H.S. previous to his coming to BSC. Dean Hunsinger is also a qualified baseball umpire and is an active participant in many other forms of athletics.

Mr. Hunsinger's office is located on the ground floor of New North Hall, adjacent to the lobby.

Miss Ellamae Jackson, the Dean of Women, earned her B.S. at West Chester State College, and her M.Ed. from P.S.U. She has also studied at the Student Personnel Workshops of Columbia and Syracuse Universities. Miss Jackson has taught at East Greenville High School, Greenburg, Pa., and William Penn High School, Harrisburg, Pa. She has served as Assistant Dean of Women at P.S.U. and as Dean of Women at Mansfield State College. She has traveled in Middle and Far East, the Scandinavian countries, Hawaii, and Alaska, and served with the American Red Cross in World War II. Miss Jackson is a member of the National and Pennsylvania Associations of Women Deans and Counselors.

The Dean of Women is in charge of the general welfare of all women students. She counsels with the girls, serves on various committees, is the advisor to the women's governing board, and contributes to the personnel records kept by the Dean of Students.

Dean Jackson's office is located on the first floor of Waller Hall off the lobby and she hopes that all women students will feel free to call upon her there.

Mr. B. F. Buckingham Public Relations

Boyd F. Buckingham, Director of Public Relations, graduated from Bloomsburg State College. He earned his M.S. in Education from Bucknell University and has done further graduate study at P.S.U. He joined the staff of BSC in 1953 and became Director of Public Relations in 1955.

The duties of the Director of Public Relations include the preparation of all college news and publicity, coordination of all programs, and arrangements for photographic coverage of all important college events. Mr. Buckingham also coordinates the civic music programs, secures speakers for commencement and baccalaureate exercises, sports brochures and football programs, and arranges tours of the campus for high school students and civic groups.

Mr. Buckingham's office is located on the first floor of Waller Hall off the lobby.

Mr. Horace Williams College Bookstore

College Bookstore and Lounge, managed by Mr. Horace Williams since 1955, is a Community Activity sponsored organization located on the first floor of Waller Hall. The College Bookstore supplies all of the textbooks and necessary supplies for the students. The College Store and Husky Lounge pay no rent, light, or heat, and is tax free.

The profits of the Bookstore and the Snack Bar, with the recommendation of CGA and the approval of the president of the college, are used to pay the College's share of the National Defense Loan Fund and for purchasing items for the students beyond what the state will furnish.

College Instructors Serve as Assistants to Dean of Men, Women

The Deans of Men and Women each have two assistants who aid in carrying out duties. The assistants are also college instructors.

The Assistants to the Dean of Men are Dr. Ralph S. Herre, and Mr. John S. Scrimgeour. Dr. Herre received his B.S. from Colgate University, M.A. from Teachers College, Albany, N.Y. He has done graduate work at N.Y.U., Clark University, and the University of Buffalo. He earned his Ed.D. at P.S.U. Mr. Scrimgeour received his B.S. at B.S.C. and has done graduate work at P.S.U. Dr. Herre's office is office number 92, second floor, Noetling Hall. Mr. Scrim-geour's office is number 13, Science Hall.

The Assistants to the Dean of Women, Miss Mary E. Macdonald and Mrs. Elizabeth B. Williams. Miss Macdonald received her B.A. from the University of Michigan and her M.A. from Columbia University. She has done further graduate work at Columbia University. Mrs. Williams graduated from S.R.S.C. and earned her M.Ed. from P.S.U. She has done further graduate study at Syracuse University. Miss Macdonald's office is located in the offices adjoining the Day Women's Lounge, Noetling Hall. Mrs. Williams' office, Room 77 Noetling Hall.

PARKING POLICY

The following parking policy, adopted by a joint faculty-student committee, became effective March 1, 1960.

1. Freshman, Sophomore and Junior students are NOT permitted to bring automobiles to or drive them in Bloomsburg unless distance traveled daily makes them necessary.
2. Resident women are NOT permitted to have or operate cars on campus or in the town of Bloomsburg unless permission is granted by the Dean of Women.
3. All automobiles driven by students in Bloomsburg must be registered with the College by September 18. Previous registrations are void.
4. Automobile owner's cards must be presented at the time of registration.
5. Registration stickers will be issued without cost to those students who are entitled to park on campus or are permitted to have automobiles in the town of Bloomsburg. Stickers must be affixed to windshields behind rear view mirrors. (This location for the sticker is approved by the state.)
6. All students are issued green and white parking stickers. Students are required to park their automobiles in the lots at Centennial Gymnasium or on the two lots on Pine Street paralleling East Second Street. Students are NOT allowed to park any place else including city streets, reserved areas, and areas marked with yellow lines.
7. Students are required to park their cars on campus areas designated in Item 6.
8. Violations of regulations will result in penalties as follows:
First Violation: One ($1.00) dollar fine. Five ($5.00) dollars for failure to have car registered or to display sticker.
Second Violation: Three ($3.00) dollars fine. Ten ($10.00) dollars for failure to have car registered or to display sticker.
Third Violation: Five ($5.00) dollars fine.
Subsequent Violation: Suspension from college upon recommendation of Dean of Men or Dean of Women.

The Dean of Students administers the parking policy. Penalties may be contested only after the fine has been paid.

Dean of Women Introduced at Tea

Dean Ellemae Jackson was honored at a tea held recently on the Waller Hall patio. The purpose of the gathering was to acquaint Miss Jackson with members of the college staff and students. Mrs. Harvey A. Andruss, counsellors, C.G.A. representatives to Waller Hall, the governing board, officers of Waller Hall Association, and student officers were introduced.

Arrangements for the tea were completed by Mrs. Hoch and Miss Egger for 35 guests. Joanne McAfee, Mrs. Mary Hoggerty, Janet LaCoe, and Emily Shultz served.

Football . . . from a Coed's View

by SHIRLEY SEGIN

In early evening I presented myself on the practice field behind New North Hall, and within minutes I was informed that this was strictly off limits for a coed. It was only after explaining my errand that I was allowed to stay.

What was football practice like?

Well, the team was separated into two groups, the linemen occupying the upper end of the field and the backfield at the lower end. The linemen caught my attention first, and no wonder! They were working with a blocking dummy. They really go at that bag with a force and determination that sent a thrill through my 110 pounds. My sympathy is with the unknown person who takes the place of the dummy at a later date.

The backfield, meanwhile, had completed its calisthenics and was concentrating on the art of walking in various directions and still keeping the goal post in sight. "Keep your eyes on that goal," emphasized Coach Flannigan. "Now to the left." The backfield then began to run through their various plays with the quarterback calling the signals loud and clear.

Occasionally a blue and yellow uniform with orange headgear emerged from the trees and crossed the field. To my great relief, I was informed that these were members of the Rams and not our Huskies. Those little five foot, 120 pounders in the strange colors were not exactly confidence inspiring.

Our new line coach, McLaughlin, had given the orders to abandon the blocking dummy and was giving the linemen instruction and encouragement on their various blocks. Coach Ziegler dropped by to watch the boys and I felt sure that Coach Blair was somewhere, although I couldn't pick him out.

When I left the field the Huskies were still practicing, not hampered so much by the sun as they were earlier in the day. Music from our Maroon and Gold Band was drifting across the field and this coed felt the excitement of looking forward to our first football game of the season

"Lonely-End" System; Blair's New Attack

"Great" was the word used by Coach Blair for this year's edition of the Husky grid-squad. He feels he has the "horses" to go all the way this year. His squad showed up for early practice in near perfect condition and their attitude is championship quality.

However, Coach Blair and his squad of twenty veterans and new hopefuls from last year's J.V.'s are not anticipating an easy schedule. The league seems to be more balanced than it has been for years. West Chester is once again a powerhouse and still rates as the team to beat. East Stroudsburg, who edged the Huskies out by one point last year, promise to be even stronger this season. Lock Haven, who captured the Western Division Championship last year, has most of their "big men" back, and the Huskies have the misfortune of playing them at Lock Haven. This has always been a tough field for the Huskies to win on. But the Huskies do have the schedule advantage in playing both West Chester and East Stroudsburg at Mt. Olympus. Even the great "Rams" have been known to lose on the Huskies' home grounds.

To prepare for this "no-relief" schedule, Coach Blair has introduced the "lonely-end" system, which was so effective at Army under Coach Blake. Moses Scott, fleet-footed pass-receiver deluxe, has been assigned to this post. This seems to be an excellent move by Coach Blair as "Scotty" is easily one of the best pass receivers in the league. In this system, Scott never comes into the huddle and

Practice Sessions Promise Action

Since September 4, the Bloomsburg Huskies have been going through practice sessions twice daily from 9:00-11:00 AM and 5:30-7:30 PM at the practice field behind New North Hall. They have also been having "Chalk Talk" from 1:00-2:00 PM every day since practice sessions started.

The Maroon and Gold Gridders will be at home for the season opener on Saturday, September 23, when Shippensburg comes to Mt. Olympus at 2:00 PM (DST). The following Friday, September 29, Blair's Huskies will meet an old rival, King's College at 8:00 PM (DST) at the Bloomsburg High School Athletic Park.

Other games scheduled include: Sat., Oct. 7 — Cortland, away Sat., Oct. 14 — Lock Haven, away (night game) Sat., Oct. 21 — Mansfield, away Sat., Oct. 28 — East Stroudsburg (Homecoming), home Sat., Nov. 4 — Cheyney, away Sat., Nov. 11 — West Chester, home Sat., Nov. 18 — State Playoff (Eastern Site).

With the tentative schedule as it is now arranged, football should prove to be a successful and exciting season, so let's all get behind our hard-working players and give them our fullest support. Plan to be in attendance for the opener with Shippensburg and all the games.

Huskies in Action

Coaches Hopeful; Veteran Players, Frosh Prospects Bolster 1961 Team

Looking forward to another successful season, Coach Walt Blair and his able coaching staff, Backfield Coach Mike Flanagan, Line Coach Eli McLaughlin, Freshman Coach Don Bashore, and Trainer Bob Zeigler, hope to mold the upperclassmen into the kind of hard-running, alert and spirited team that won six of its eight games last year.

Since there will not be student managers this season, three student trainers will be aiding in the endeavor to produce a fine and championship team. The trainers are Sophomores Steve Jackson, Dick Lochart, and Walter Getchal.

Sparking the hopefuls will be 20 returning lettermen—five tackles, four guards, six backs, three quarterbacks, one center, and one end.

Gary Barnaba, Junior, 220 powerhouse from North Binghamton, N.Y.; Bill Garson, Junior, 191 pound conference wrestling champion, and Fran Gurski, Senior, a 230 pound pillar from Coal Township; Trevor Carpenter, Junior, West Scranton; Gary Stackhouse, Junior, Pen Argyl; Larry Tironi, Sophomore, Morris Plains, N.J., will join Sills as top contender for the guard posts.

Back to direct the attack for the Huskies will be veteran quarterback Dick Rohrer, Junior, Mechanicsburg; Ken Robbins, Junior, Williamsport, and Bill Moran, Sophomore, Lewistown.

Cocco should receive plenty of help in the backfield from Fred Frey, Senior, Tunkhannock; Glenn Gruber, Senior, Highspire; Mel Montanye, Senior, West Pittston; Ken Dries, Sophomore, Mahoning, and Gary Sprout, Junior, Lewis-town.

Gary Rupert, Junior, Bloomsburg, who did a good job handling punting assignments last year, should be back to challenge the leaders in the nation's small colleges.

Bolstering our fine Husky team will also be 27 members of last year's freshman team. Incidentally, this freshman team had a very successful season and these members will prove a tremendous asset.
