Stan Freeman to Present Concert in Convocation

Stan Freeman

Stan Freeman, piano virtuoso and musical satirist, will appear on Tuesday, November 21, at Convocation in Centennial Gymnasium. A radio, television and recording artist, Stan Freeman won the 1941 Macdowell Club Award as the outstanding young American pianist of that year. In the Army, he was first introduced to do popular music which marked the beginning of his diversified musical style. In addition to performing with the United States Army Air Force Symphonic Band, he joined Tex Beneke's Glenn Miller Army Band, and became one of their chief arrangers. In addition to innumerable shows of his own on every major network, (Piano Playhouse, ABC, Candelight Revue, NBC, The Stan Freeman Show, CBS) he has been a frequently invited guest on such shows as the Kate Smith Show, This is Show Business, Steve Allen, Robert Q. Lewis, Tex and Jinx, and the Milton Berle Show. He is now starring in his own CBS radio series.

His albums for Columbia records include "Piano Moods", "Com-on-a-Stan's House" (harpsicord), "Stan Freeman plays Rodgers and Hart" and his latest releases "Stan Freeman Swings 'The Music Man'" and "Stan Freeman plays 'Oh Capitan.'"

"Plain and Fancy" Will Be Presented By Choraleers and Dramatic Club

Open auditions for the production "Plain and Fancy" will be held December 6 to 18 in Carver Auditorium. The two act contemporary musical comedy containing a large cast of dancing and singing characters is being presented by the Bloomsburg Players and College Choraleers. Participation, however, is not limited to members of these organizations.

The story revolves about a sophisticated New York couple attempting to locate a property in an Amish community, Bird-in-Hand, near Lancaster, Pa. The conflict arises when the couple interferes with an Amish marriage that is about to take place.

The general theme is stated very simply through the title of one of the songs in the play, "City Mouse—Country Mouse." Two other popular tunes are, "Young and Foolish" and "Follow Your Heart."

Miss Bigrove, Mr. William Cope, and Dr. Charles Carleson are in charge of the production.

Civic Music Association to Present Ludwig Olshansky, Concert Pianist

Ludwig Olshansky, young American pianist, will present a concert on November 30, in the Bloomsburg High School Auditorium under the auspices of the Civic Music Association. BSC students will be admitted free of charge upon showing their identification cards.

Olshansky was born in New York City and received his musical training at Juilliard School of Music on a scholarship. While attending Juilliard, Olshansky was awarded the two highest honors the school offers — The Frank Damrosch Award given "to the student with the highest rating in the graduating class" and the Loeb Prize given "to the pianist most excellent in talent and achievement." He completed study for his Bachelor's and Master's degrees as a piano pupil of Irwin Freundlich. Last year he won the auditions held by "An Hour of Music, Inc."

Prior to departing for his second tour, Olshansky presented his Eu-

BSC Debate Team Ties for Fourth Place in Tourney

In a three-state tournament recently held at the University of Pittsburgh, the BSC Debate team tied for fourth place with a score of 4 wins and 4 losses. The team, Edward A'Zary and Tom Peifer (affirmative) and Bill Martin and Bill Mattern (negative), spoke on the national debate topic, "Resolved, That labor organizations should be under the jurisdiction of antitrust legislation." The teams defeated by BSC were Duquesne, 28-22; St. Vincent, 32-29; Geneva, 31-23; and Allegheny by forfeit. Two other matches were won over BSC by only one point, University of Pittsburgh, 35-24 and Heidelberg, 30-39.

Many Colleges Compete

In addition to those previously mentioned, the colleges in competition were Washington and Jefferson University, Mount Union College, West Virginia University, Grove City College, Lehigh University, Carnegie Tech, Clarion College and Western Reserve College. West Virginia placed first with a score of 7 wins and 1 loss; in second place were the University of Pittsburgh and St. Vincent University with a score of 6 wins and 2 losses; a second team of St. Vincent University and Mount Union College scoring 5 wins and 3 losses; BSC and four other teams took fourth place with scores of 4 wins and 4 losses.

Director Pleased

Dr. Hopkins, Director of Debate, accompanied the debators to Pittsburgh and acted as judge for tournaments not involving BSC teams. In the words of Dr. Hopkins, "I am very pleased with the initial performance of the Club. They did quite well against stiff competition and BSC has reason to be proud."

BSC Instructors Cover Activities Throughout State

Professors at Bloomsburg State College, in addition to their regular instructional duties, have been engaged in various activities throughout the state.

Nine members of the Bloomsburg State College faculty participated in the Higher Education Conference held in Harrisburg this month. The conference was sponsored by the Pennsylvania State Education Association.

Participating in the section meetings were the following: Dr. Carl Kendall, science; Mr. James Letzel, mathematics; Mr. Richard Savage, English; Mr. Francis Albert, languages; Mr. Henry George, social studies; Mr. Otto Harris, creative arts; Dr. Martin Satz, behavioral sciences; Mr. C. Stuart Edwards, Administration. Mr. Boyd Buckingham, Director of Public Relations, presided at the sectional meeting of the English group.

Dr. C. C. Seronsy, chairman of the BSC Department of Communications, attended the Pennsylvania Council of Teachers of English Convention held recently at Wilkes College (Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania.) Mrs. McKeehan participated in one of the general sectional discussions; dealing with the reading of college themes. Other members of the English department who attended were Mr. Strauss, Miss Rus-

BSC Future Plans Include IBM Machine, Courses, Staff

The installment of IBM data processing equipment and the addition of three new courses in the field of speech arts was announced by the Dean of Instruction, John A. Hoch.

Preparations for 'Olympian' Starts

Roger Breidinger

The staff of the Olympian which has been newly organized consists of Rodger Breidinger, editor; Paul Bingaman, art editor; Linda Schlegel, business manager; and Marty Moyer, head of the editorial board. Mr. Strauss is the advisor to this year's staff.

The Olympian is an outlet for the literary and artistic talents of the student body. The Olympian staff is accepting not only prose and poetry, but also illustrations and other art material.

"I would like to encourage students to contribute to the Olympian this year. This is the students' magazine, and their contributions determine its success," stated Rodger Breidinger, editor of the literary magazine.

A Pre-Holiday dance will be held in Husky Lounge tonight from 8:00 to 10:30. The Kasuals, a local instrumental group, will be featured at the dance. The five-man team harmonizes an electric accordion, drums, saxophone, electric bass, and left-handed guitar and stick strictly to rock 'n roll.

The Kasuals have recently appeared at the University of Maryland, Penn State, Lehigh University, and Bucknell University.

Jazz Combo To Rock Gym

A dance featuring the Royal Aires, stars of stage, radio, coast to coast TV, and night club entertainment will be held on Friday evening, Dec. 1 in Centennial Gym.

The group, instrumentalists of Rock n' Roll, Rhythm n' Blues, Standoves, Ballads and Latin American music, have been featured at the Cornet Lainge in Tan-

Dr. Harvey A. Andruss, President, has approved recommendations made by the Offices of the Dean of Instruction and the Business Manager for this new time-saving equipment. The new office machines will consist of a key-punch machine, interpreter, a #402 accounting machine, and a card sorter. The addition of these devices will enable the rapid and efficient completion of such tedious tasks as class scheduling, grade reporting, billing, the preparation of master enrollment lists, probationary and Deans' lists.

Because of a seven-month delivery date, installment of the IBM equipment will not be completed until second semester. The machinery will be operated on a full-time basis during the summer months of 1962.

New Courses to be Offered

Efforts are also being made to secure the approval of the Instruction Committee of the Board of Presidents on the addition of three new courses in speech arts; Fundamentals of Acting, History of the Theater, and Children's Theater. If permission is obtained from the state-wide group, Fundamentals of Acting will be offered as an elective during the second semester.

Additions to BSC Staff

The instructional staff of BSC may also increase in number to 119 members. With the cooperation of the respective departmental chairmen, two new faculty members may be added to the staff. Additional instructors in the departments of mathematics and chemistry may also be appointed.

Dean Hoch also announced that BSC's administration staff is invited to attend the evening session of the Department of Higher Education of the Pennsylvania State Education Association on Monday, November 27. The guest speaker for the program will be Dr. Jonas Salk.

The World I Face

"America, wake up!" Shake off the course of inaction that is giving the forces of evil the right of way in this world! Face up to the blunt fact that we are now engaged in a real war and it must be fought and won.

To hope for a miracle is only to fall more inextricably into the Communist trap. Instead, the United States must provide world leadership. Its firmness, rooted in the strength of the character of its citizens, is today the free world's only insurance against the further spread of Soviet tyranny. Its faith that all men are equally entitled to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness gives us a national purpose to inspire all mankind to answer to the pretensions of red despotism. If it wavers in its devotion to these ideals, Communism will surely engulf the human race.

It is plain to all Americans that Russia is bent on world domination. It is also plain that her leaders can not be trusted. Krushchev's American tour is a good example. The dictator, whose whole life has been devoted and will be devoted to the destruction of every human right of the free world, was hopefully welcomed as if he were a gentle dove of peace. How gullible can the American people be?

Need U.S. Offense

There is only one war—war to the finish, whether it be through propaganda leaflets or a murderous smile and a handshake. The Communists are always on the offensive. The United States has been on the defensive too long. We have given the Communists every advantage and every opportunity to throw us off balance, by their every increasing propagandist crises—labeled, "Made in Soviet Russia." When will the United States realize that the cold war is a real war and that we are certain to lose if we do not take the offensive.

Soviet propaganda has been so widespread as to create revolts and red upheavings of many countries. To make matters worse, Communist propaganda is allowed to undermine public morale and sow confusion in the United States itself. Yet, the United States takes the whipping, while the Soviet Union is praised for its accomplishments.

Must Defeat, Not Resist

There are many solutions to these problems facing the United States. A global campaign should be mounted on a scale to outmatch the Communists. It must be resourceful, aggressive, and unafraid to turn its weapons and infiltrations against them. This will never be done unless the people of the United States recognizes the necessity of defeating Communism—not resisting it, but defeating it. Only then can the real truth be told as effectively as the enemy tells lies.

What I have said here does not apply only to the America, which I love and admire, but to all free nations. To have a world half-slave, half-free is only the road to surrender and defeat. You must fight fire with fire; therefore, the foe must be defeated with its own weapons of propaganda and infiltration by experts in the field of cold warfare. We must develop a massive plan of offense and threat to stem the tide of Communism. — Merilee Jiunto

Longer Hours?

A recent proposal to College Council concerns the extension of the library hours during week nights and Sunday afternoons. The Library Committee is studying this proposal before Council takes definite action. This change will involve finance since it requires additional personnel. However, this is a consideration of need seen by the faculty and students.

Students find that there is only a short time to use the library facilities week nights between dinner and the closing hour. Usually by the time that the girls change clothes and boys go to the dormitory to get their books they can spend little more than an hour and a half in the library. The early closing hour is also a disadvantage to student employees—those who work in the Commons have even shorter study time since they finish work later than seven o'clock.

The library is an excellent study area mainly because it is well-lighted and, in contrast to the dormitory, is much quieter. The dorms are not sound proof. Even though there are efforts to limit the noise in the dorms there are distractions and disturbances. Women who live in three- to six-girl rooms often find study difficult.

The library is not only a convenient study area, but students need time to use reference and reading materials. Research papers, reports, and outside readings require time to make proper use of these materials. Many students must use the same reserve books which can only be checked out for an hour. This means that usually one student can finish an outside reading on a week night.

Action should be taken to close the library during the dinner hour and to extend the closing hour to 10 o'clock on week nights. Another change to be considered is opening the library earlier Sunday afternoons.

Many new books have been purchased and continuous improvements are being made in the library. If the closing hour were extended there may be a greater effort on the part of students to use the library.

Thanksgiving Day 1863

There seems to have been little recognition on the part which Abraham Lincoln played in nationalizing Thanksgiving Day, yet in the year 1863 he captured the New England spirit of "fruitful fields and healthful skies" and incorporated it in a proclamation which designated the first annual national Thanksgiving Day.

On October 3, 1863, Lincoln issued a Presidential proclamation setting aside the last Thursday of November as a day of Thanksgiving, according to Dr. R. Gerald McMurtry, director of The Lincoln National Life Foundation, Fort Wayne, Indiana. This day was designated because it is the last feast day prior to the observance of Advent by the Churches of America. Lincoln repeated his act in 1864 and every year since then, the President of the United States has issued a proclamation establishing a Thanksgiving Day in November.

According to Dr. McMurtry, prior to 1863, only two Presidential proclamations for Thanksgiving observance had been issued—one by George Washington in 1789 and the other by James Madison in 1815.

COUNT YOUR BLESSINGS

—G.S.H.

In the next week articles will appear in nearly every newspaper and current periodical telling us just what we should be thankful for. I am blessed with life; in this troubled and chaotic world it is good just to be alive in a land where most people have at least enough to eat. I am thankful to be an American; my opinions may not be those of the masses but I am allowed to think and voice them. Most important, I have the right to be an individual—to worship as I please, to live my own life in the way of my choice. For these, my greatest, blessings, I am thankful.

Academically Blessed

So here I am, a poor insignificant BSC student listening and reading about all my blessings. First I am blessed with endless and innumerable tests (sometimes called "evaluative exercises" by the more subtle profs.). And then there are a few outside readings to be read and summarized—say 20 or 30 in each of about five courses, not to mention special projects such as bulletin boards, art projects, map-drawing, and that very special report on the social habits of the Timbuctoo Eskimos. In return for this minute amount of extra effort, I am thankful to be told what to wear to class so that I can be stamped "approved Grade-A quality teacher."

I am grateful for the opportunity to gain an education, whatever the method may be. If they do wipe us out with a "big bomb" I shall at least die "educated," thankful.

FRENCH TABLE

Parlez-vous Francals? If so, you may converse with real gallic verve and elan during dinner every Thursday night in the Commons. Register with Miss Egger in the Dean of Women's Office. You need not be proficient in this language—how little or how much French you know is not important. However, if you are interested, regular attendance is important. Refer your questions to Jessey Reppy, Box 377, who is directing this project. It is for les messieurs et les dames.

NOTES and QUOTES

by SUE HALKYARD

In response to the question offered in this column in the last issue of the Maroon and Gold, we are presenting the following opinions concerning the feasibility of incorporating an honor system at BSC.

I know it would work in a class of similar interests and superior students.

Miss Susan Rusinko
(Dept. of English)

No, for it solves no problems. There are those people who will cheat under any circumstances and those who will not. Cheating cannot be wiped out; it can only be controlled. Perhaps the best answer to the problem of cheating are tests which require correlation and understanding of the material, rather than mere memorization and repetition.

Lawrence Recla (Sophomore)

No, if it didn't work at West Point where it is part of a long-standing tradition, it would not work here.

Chet Choplick (Junior)

As school teachers, you have to keep faith in the fundamental goodness of people. Any college that can testify to a successful honor system must admit that it is the result of a long period of development. In other words, no college can suddenly in one year adopt an honor system and expect it to work satisfactorily. An effective honor system must have tradition in back of it and this means many years of performance.

Dr. Ernest Engelhardt
(Dept. of Education and Psychology)

The honor system in any institution is a fine idea, but it can't be used here because the integrity of the students would reduce its effectiveness. This college isn't progressive enough, particularly in the area of social policy. I refer you to Walter Lipman's work in "The Age of Anxiety."

Sam Keiser (Sophomore)

As long as cheating is socially acceptable, an honor system would not be feasible at this point.

P. K. Adams
(Dept. of Social Studies)

To me it doesn't seem likely that it could work here. At this college cheating has become "an art." The requirements for entrance are not high enough to attract people of the quality that would adhere to the system.

Dianne Campbell (Sophomore)

Cheating seems to be the rule rather than the exception here at BSC. I see people who cheat with such cleverly devised systems that I wonder how well they would do it if they spent as much time studying. I doubt if any honor system could function here.

Gayle Richards (Freshman)

I'd be all for the honor system if I could sit next to a brain. It would work like a Volks Wagon motor in a Cadillac.

Frank Berginski (Sophomore)

Among the opinions received, these represent a cross-section that shows the students and faculty seem to feel that we are not ready for an honor system. There are many reasons given for this; one most expressed is that we lack maturity. We have not yet learned to think for ourselves. If this is the answer then the solution to the problem lies within the individual. Maturity and integrity are not a common denominator but are inherent. A great American had this advice to give:

"Men are not led by being told what they don't know. Persuasion is a force, but not information; and persuasion is accomplished by creeping into the confidence of those you would lead. Their confidence is gained by qualities which they can recognize, by the things which find easy entrance into their hearts and are easily transmitted to the palms of their hands or the ends of their walking sticks . . ."

Woodrow Wilson

In The Commons

by JINNY HESEL

A typical procedure for fulfilling one of the basic biogenic needs—hunger—is witnessed daily in the College Commons. A student makes a record-breaking run to the Commons, throws coat and books on a lobby chair, and skids to an abrupt halt at the end of a long line. Straining his eyes to see the entrance to the cafeteria, he calculates his waiting time—"approximately 20 to 25 minutes . . . and I've got a one o'clock class!"

Perhaps four out of five resident students experience this aggravation every day. To help you avoid ulcers, class cuts, and late arrivals to class, the managers and cafeteria employees have some helpful suggestions.

Plan to eat before or after your class and don't wait until the crowd is the largest and the line the longest. Be considerate of those who just have an hour to eat between classes. Eating lunch provides a break from a busy schedule and a chance to relax and socialize. When you have a few classes, eat later when you know that there will be a smaller crowd. A smaller crowd makes the line move more efficiently. When cafeteria help is not under pressure, the service is better and you get

Application for Admission Upped

"There is an increase of thirty per cent in the number of applications for admission to BSC over last year," stated Mr. C. Stuart Edwards, Director of Admissions and Placement. The trend this year, more so than ever before, seems to be toward early applications; more people are planning to take their College Boards in December. Although there is a great onrush of early applications, the Admissions office plans to admit two sections of freshmen consisting of fifty to sixty students in January, and approximately six hundred students in September. The September enrollment will be relatively the same as this year's enrollment.

A cloakroom is provided for these articles and they should be put there. The Dining Room Committee headed by Betty Scaife is working to keep the lobby neat and comfortable for students and visitors. Your cooperation will be appreciated.

The regular monthly meeting of the Alpha Delta Chapter of PI OMEGA PI was held recently in the Day Women's Lounge.

Six pledgees who had participated in a week of pledging activities were formally initiated into PI OMEGA PI; Edward Allen, Garold Newman, Carol Burnard, Lois Rathmell, Garry Schell, and Bruce Van Housen. Requirements for membership are two years in the Business Education Club and a cumulative scholastic average of 2.8.

Plans are in progress to place a plaque in Sutliff Hall listing the names of the past presidents of PI OMEGA PI.

Jack Maddox reported progress on the New York Stock Exchange trip sponsored by the fraternity and the Business Education Club.

Dr. Andruss stated that business education was originally used to educate commercial employees only. As this type of education developed, it was used to educate those enrolled in the high school commercial departments. Now, the ultimate goal for business education is to teach students in all the high schools.

Huskies Feel Might of Rams

Peffer receiving the kickoff and returning it 20 yards to the 30 stripe.

West Chester State College displayed its power on Mount Olympus Saturday, November 11, by beating the Huskies 26-7. All four Ram TD's were the results of the teamwork displayed by quarterback Vince Bonkoski and Billy Gray. The only Bloomsburg touchdown was made by Don English with Moses Scott kicking the extra point. West Chester fumbled five times and four were picked up by our alert Huskies. Taking credit for this were: Jack Currie, Don Denick, Bobby Christina, John Sills and Gary Barnaba. Roy Peffer also deserves credit for gaining 84 yards, returning a kickoff 20 yards, and handling the kicking for the afternoon.

Bonkoski and Gray Click

Three of West Chester's touchdowns were made during the first half. During the opening quarter, Bonkoski hit Gray with a 21-yard TD pass and Jim Pribula converted to start the scoring at 7-0. Bonkoski, Gray and Pribula repeated their performance during the earlier part of the second quarter to make the score 14-0. Later in the second segment, Gray hooked another Bonkoski pass and made it pay off. Pribula's attempt failed.

English Scores During Third

Bobby Christina picked up a fumble on West Chester's 33-yard line to begin the Huskies' TD drive. Ed Cocco gained a yard and Ken Dries took the ball 15 yards more. After Dick Rohrer gained two yards, English went the rest of the way to score. Scott then kicked the extra point and the score stood 20-7. Later during the third period, Billy Gray took another Bonkoski pass for the Ram's final score of the game. Pribula's kick again failed and the score ended at 26-7.

Senior Huskies

Playing on Mount Olympus for the last time were: Co-Captains Mel Montanye and Glenn Gruber, Freddie Frey, Ed Cocco, and Clyde Baker along with Frank Creneti who dropped from the squad two games ago for personal reasons. These boys deserve a lot of credit for the many hours put in with the football team, as do all the members of our 1961 edition of the Husky squad.

Repeats in both Europe and America are becoming a habit for Olshansky; last July he gave his third recital in the Gardner Museum in Boston and at Bennington College. He has also appeared on programs

Intramurals

Basketball

Intramural basketball is now officially underway according to Mr. Robert Zeigler. Rosters for tentative teams must be in by 4:00 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 21. Team membership must consist of a minimum of five and not more than ten. Registration will take place at Office #5 in the gymnasium. Games will be played between the hours of 7 and 9 p.m.

Please make sure all rosters contain the full name of each member and post office box number of the chosen captains.

All men interested in being referees of intramural basketball contact Mr. Zeigler at his office, #5 in the gym, as soon as possible.

Intramural Swimming

Intramural swimming and water polo are now in progress. Information on the schedule is posted on the Centennial Gym bulletin board.

Physical Fitness Program

After the Thanksgiving vacation, Mr. Zeigler said he will begin classes in physical fitness. These classes will be held in the evenings. Intramural credit will be given to those who put in the required amount of time. In this program the participants will have full use of the college weights, expansion springs, stall bars and light punching bag. If members don't know how to use this equipment properly, Mr. Zeigler will be on hand to give instruction, or he will have instruction sheets written up for each of the exercises.

Bowling League Standings

The Team standings for the intramural bowling league are: Snappers, Nationals, Maidenforms, Alleycats, Ball Busters, Fireballs, Tappa Keg, and the Rebels. The top three individual bowlers are: Mayan, Criswell, and Dantas.

Indoor Sports Anticipated

With the football season ending in many colleges, sports enthusiasts are looking forward to the late fall indoor variety of sports. Bloomsburg's Athletic Department has set up a very good competitive sports schedule for the complete academic year. At the present time wrestling is beginning to take shape and should prove to have an interesting season as in the past.

Nick D'Amico

The Husky grapplers with a nucleus of seven veterans are entering their sixth week of practice in preparation for a tough 61-62 campaign.

"The coming season," Coach Russ Houk, Husky mentor, said, "should be a highly successful one, but I do not think that we will go undefeated." He stated that the schedule was extremely tough and would probably bring at least one defeat. He further stated that he was pleased with this year's turnout of freshmen and that possibly two or three of them would make the squad.

Wrestling Meets

The Huskies will have only 4 home meets this season. The first will be against a strong Winona team, which the Huskies downed by the close score of 15-13 last season. Coach Houk rates this team, along with Lock Haven, as his team's two toughest opponents. They both have most of last year's squads back.

Other opponents to appear on the local mats this year will be East Stroudsburg, Shippensburg, and Waynesburg.

The locals will open up their regular season at C.W. Post. This squad was champion in their division last season and is expected to be a tough competitor again this year. Their other matches will include such perennial foes as: Lincoln, Rochester, Millersville, Lock Haven, Appalachian and West Chester. They will participate in the Wilkes Tourney, the State Championships at Lock Haven and the N.A.I.A. Championships at Wilnona. The Huskies may also send representatives, if any, will be determined by Coach Houk.

Letter Man
