Stipends for graduate training in social work are granted by the Office for Children and Youth to persons who are interested in seeking professional training for work in Public Child Welfare in Pennsylvania.

Applications may be submitted by persons already employed in County Child Welfare Services or other agencies and by students who are graduating from college in 1962, providing they are interested and able to accept a commitment for employment in Public Child Welfare in Pennsylvania after training.

Positions in the Public Child Welfare programs for which students may qualify after training are located in the various County Child Welfare Services, the Youth Development Center at Canonsburg, and Forestry Camps for juvenile delinquents. Specialized and related experiences and training may qualify graduates for positions in the regional or headquarters offices of the Office for Children and Youth.

Many Weary Hours in Store

This is what those of you who have not as yet accomplished the feat of advance scheduling have to look forward to! Students in the Special Education curriculum will register December 11-13. Headquarters will be in the Special Education Center. Dr. Maletta, Director, Elementary students will register December 14-19. Headquarters will be in the Basement of Benjamin Franklin School. Dr. Johnson, Director.

A Gruelling Experience

Advanced scheduling proved to be a rather gruelling experience as students crowded the offices and entrances of Old North Hall and Navy Hall for hours of waiting last week. Scheduling required more than hours of this time-consuming wait because many students did not complete their schedules until after several days of approving, reapproving, adding and changing. Could not much of this unnecessary stress and strain be eliminated?

In considering the time consumed and the hours spent in scheduling this semester we think not just of the students involved but the lone faculty members who "manned" the offices to accommodate hundreds of students. This certainly involved a great deal of pressure and work for the heads of the various departments of Secondary Education. In reviewing the scheduling system used one can see that the offices, in many instances, were understaffed and overcrowded. Why were there only one or two faculty members present in each department to schedule required and elective courses for a large number of students?

Choosing electives was the first step in making out a schedule before adding required courses. Students who were getting elective and required courses approved often had to wait in the same confused line to see the same department head. The student who wished to choose elective courses was often detained in completing his schedule by waiting for others who were getting required courses approved. Students were also detained in Navy Hall where they had to wait to receive a list of the courses that they must complete before graduation.

One cannot expect a perfect system that would involve a limited number of problems. There are many details included in scheduling—time conflicts, required courses, credits, and elective courses. However, the long periods of waiting could be partially eliminated by having an adequate staff, better organization and more adequate space in which to work.

He Said It Best!

This is what the beloved Will Rogers thought of the weekly newspaper:

"Take away my ham, take away my eggs, even my chili, but leave me my newspaper.

"Even if it has such a purely local news as 'Jim Jones came home last night unexpectedly and bloodshed ensued,' or 'Jes Bushyhead, our local M.D., is having one of the best years in his career, practically speaking—but they just won't pay him when they get well,' and 'election ain't far off, and everybody is up for office that can sign an application blank.'

"Now all that don't seem much news to you. But it is news, especially when you know the people and they are your own folks. So, no matter how punk you think your local newspaper is, let them take it away from you for a while and see how you feel. The old newspaper, I think, is about our biggest blessing.

"So let's read and be merry, for tomorrow the paper may not have enough ads to come out."

Former Post Editor Now Teaching at BSC

by Harry Humes

A telephone call to Mr. Richard Savage, then an editor for the Saturday Evening Post in Philadelphia, from Mr. John A. Hoch, Dean of Instruction, Bloomsburg State College, started the chain of events which brought him to BSC. He joined the faculty as Assistant Professor of English in 1960.

Here is a glimpse of what preceded that telephone call, and what has happened since in the life of Mr. Savage.

Becomes Journalist, Teacher

Born in Minneapolis, Minnesota, he attended the University of Minnesota from 1940 to 1942, majoring in journalism. He left there to enlist in the Navy for four years, spending part of this time on a submarine tender in the North Atlantic. Resuming his education after leaving the Navy in 1946, he entered the University of North Carolina, where he received a BA degree from that school in 1948. Next came a year at Columbia, where in 1950 he received his MA. Then at Edinburgh University in Scotland, he worked for a year on his Ph.D. Returning to the United States, Mr. Savage accepted a position as Public Relations Director at Champlain College, the Liberal Arts College of the State University of New York, and worked there between 1951 and 1952. From 1952 until 1958 he taught English and journalism at the University of Massachusetts. During his six-year stay at the University, he also wrote feature articles for area papers such as the Springfield Union, Boston Globe, and the Amherst Journal. He worked part time on the copy desk of the Springfield Union and as a rewrite man for that paper. During summer vacations, he worked as a general assignment reporter for the Holyoke Transcript, Holyoke, Massachusetts.

Editor for the Post

In 1958 Mr. Savage left the University of Massachusetts to accept a position with the Saturday Evening Post, remaining with that magazine for two years. Then in 1960 he returned to teaching by joining the English Department of this college. This brings us to the present time.

When asked why he returned to teaching, choosing Bloomsburg to do so, he gave two reasons. First, he told of his love of the rural countryside. He dislikes metropolitan areas, and he feels that the country is an ideal place for children to live. (Mr. Savage is married, and has three children, the oldest of which is in the first grade at the Benjamin Franklin School.) The second reason is a genuine desire to teach English.

I questioned his leaving the Post, noting that many men with the same decision to make, would not leave the glamour and excitement that such a job obviously offers. To this he simply replied, "Well, it is all a matter of what one values." This is a rare thing to discover in a man today, and I have never heard a more eloquent statement so sincerely spoken.

Continues to Write

Referring to one of his stories which appeared in the Post this past summer, I was prompted to ask if teaching allowed any time for writing creatively. He said that teaching, unlike an eight-to-five kind of job, is more consuming, with respect to both time and the individual. However, since he has been at Bloomsburg, he has written three stories, the latest of which was accepted by the Post this past Saturday. Altogether, he has had eight of his stories accepted by the Post, and, in his own words, "has had several rejected." His first success in writing came before the war, when a magazine in the Midwest accepted one of his stories. Incidentally, the first story that he submitted to the Post was coldly received, and it was suggested that he give up trying to write.

Commends BSC Students

When asked about his impression of BSC students, he maintained that students here were pretty much the same as others he has known. "Some do not have the background, but this should not be the primary concern of the teacher. Rather it should be the willingness of the student to learn; that should be of prime importance." He went on to say that he thought that an encouraging number of students at Bloomsburg are sincerely and enthusiastically interested in the education process.

One point he stressed was that extra-curricular activities are not way out of proportion at this college. "They have not reached the point where they are considered to be on the same level as academic activities. This is a healthy situation." He realizes that extra-curricular activities are a "wonderful thing," and he participated in many when he was an undergraduate. But they cease to be wonderful when they are emphasized to a point of distraction, making harmful inroads on a student's time.

Likes Russian Writers

Mr. Savage likes to fish, and hopes to pursue this sport next spring in the several streams in this area. Another interest is Russian Literature. In his undergraduate days at the University of Minnesota, he heard a friend talking quite excitedly about Dostoevsky's Crime and Punishment. He read the book, and according to Mr. Savage, "I have had a love affair with Dostoevsky ever since." His interest became so intense that he studied Russian while at Minnesota and Edinburgh, simply because he wanted to be able to read Dostoevsky in the original. Naturally enough, Mr. Savage is teaching a course in Russian Literature this semester.

Mr. Savage has shown his complete and intense interest this semester while introducing his class in Russian Literature to Tolstoy, Dostoevsky, and other Russian writers.

CONTEST

The Maroon and Gold is sponsoring a Letters to Santa Contest and is offering cash prizes for the most novel letters. All entries are due December 10, and the decision of the Judges will be final.

Society, and the American Oriental Society. Her hobbies include collecting and studying Far Eastern stamps; Korean and Tibetan coins; Japanese and Korean sword guards; jade; and Buddhist statues. Mrs. Shampson has also written several books concerning the Far East.

Essay Contest Now Open To Students

The 1961 Edward P. Morgan Essay Contest is now open to all undergraduate students in universities and colleges throughout the United States. This year, the subject of the contest will be "Youth's Role in U. S. Foreign Policy".

A panel of eminent Americans including Chester Bowles, J. W. Fulbright, Everett M. Dirksen and R. Sargent Shriver and radio newsman, Edward P. Morgan will serve as judges for the contest.

Prizes for the contest will include scholarships for graduate study to the male and female first-prize winners. Money towards the winners' tuition to post-graduate school will be contributed by stations of the ABC Radio Network, by the AFL-CIO, which sponsors the weeknight "Edward P. Morgan and the News" program and by Furman, Feiner and Company, Inc., agency for the sponsor. The authors of the top prizes will be chosen from ten semi-finalists. All ten of these semi-finalists will receive complete sets of the 1962, 24-Volume Encyclopedia Britannica.

Writers of the winning essay will also be awarded a three-day expense-paid visit to New York and Washington where they will meet and visit with the policy-making leaders of government, labor and the broadcasting industry.

Each contestant may submit any number of essays with a maximum of six hundred words each.

NOTES and QUOTES

by SUE HALKYARD

by Sue Halkyard

The menace of Communism is closer than most Americans believe for the real battle begins here in the United States and not on the far-reaching parts of the world. The Communist goal has long been apparent to Americans for there has never been a shortage of information on Communism. They themselves have publicly and emphatically made it known that their strategy is directed toward one objective: world domination. Their methods are simple, deadly, and effective—the "cold war"—an insidious chipping away at one weak spot after another and the creation of crisis upon crisis. Witness the recent H-bomb tests culminating with the "giant bomb" which threw many nations into panic and caused more than one hasty conference in diplomatic circles. Yesterday it was the Congo, before that, Cuba and now, once again, Berlin. What will tomorrow bring?

Counter-Strategy or Domination?

The most pressing problem is probably not what is in the future, but "how" can we combat this master plan of world domination and "how" shall the responsibility for initiating and enforcing the counter-strategy be faced? Are we merely to continue retreating and accepting our losses to Communism? For 15 years we have been rationalizing these losses, conferring with our allies, appeasing and placating the Russians with mild diplomatic maneuvers and gradual withdrawing from areas of conflict. The possibility of further retreat is not infinite; this can only serve to push us into a position of fight or be dominated.

The military and diplomatic strategy should be left to experts who are presumably able to direct these areas. Our efforts, as American citizens and future teachers must be utilized in fighting Communism on the home front. This task is not the job of a few interested people, but the responsibility of each and every one of us. The very least we can do is to make ourselves well-informed.

This involves exposing ourselves to views and opinions and above all seeking the truth amidst these oft-confusing and contradictory interpretations. Ask yourself, "What is the John Birch Society?" Our generation has seen the ideas of Marx, Engels, and Lenin turn into a multi-billion dollar weapons system aimed by Moscow at every major nation of the West. We must have a full realization of global affairs.

Grapplers Open Season Tomorrow; Coach Calls Picture "Promising"

Only two seniors were among the group of forty men who reported to Coach Russell Houk for pre-season wrestling practice on Oct. 16. At first glance, this may have seemed to be an item of concern to the fans who have watched the Huskies rise to national prominence in the mat sport in the past several years. Actually, the picture is quite different, and the 1961-62 outlook was described recently by Coach Houk as "promising."

Young Team

Looking at the record, we find that the Huskies lost no lettermen last year via graduation. The team is still relatively young as it was last year. The most outstanding group will be composed of juniors and will include Gene Dixon (157 lb. NAIA Champ), Bill Garson (191 lbs. NAIA Champ), Bill Hughes, a 123 pounder who missed many of last year's matches because of a dislocated elbow, Don Poust, 177 pounder, and Bob Hall, 177 lbs. The remainder of the squad will be made up of sophomores Dick Scorese (137 lbs.) runner-up in the Pa. State College Conference), Dave Stuempfle (157 lbs.), Howard Hunter (heavyweight), Joel Melitski (123 lbs.), and Bill Wyland (130 lbs.)

Two freshmen are top contenders for starting berths in the 130 and 147 lbs. divisions. They are Ed Taylor and Charles Houk.

The Huskies will open the 1961-62 season with a contest at C.W. Post College, Long Island, tomorrow, Dec. 9, at 2:00 p.m., and will begin their home stand against Winona State College, Minnesota, on Tuesday, Dec. 12, in Centennial Gym.

Basketball 1961 - 62

With last Saturday's 88-73 victory over Geneseo S.C. (N.Y.), the Huskies basketball squad of BSC had a string of seven consecutive victories dating back to Feb. 5, 1961. The string was started on that date with a 78-66 victory over the cagers of Kutztown S.C. By coincidence, the Huskies hosted Kutztown Tuesday night, Dec. 5, in Centennial Gym.

In the first meeting of the two teams last year in January, the Huskies won the game by a 56-54 margin in the last 13 seconds of play on a shot by team captain, Dick Lloyd.

Starting Line-up

Coach Bill Foster announced on Monday that he will probably start Dick Lloyd and Jim McKinley at forward, Jerry Doemling at center, and Jeff Garrison and Gary Rupert at guard. Fran Curran, who won his first varsity letter as a freshman last year, should be back in action after recovering from a bad sprain suffered in the scrimmage against Bucknell University on November 20.

6'1" Average

Statistically, both teams used a starting line-up averaging 6'1". The tallest man on the Kutztown squad was Yelinko at 6'3", while Doemling of Bloomsburg was 6'4".

BSC To Host High School Wrestlers

Wrestling fans in the Bloomsburg area will have the opportunity to see some of the top contenders in high school competition on Friday and Saturday, December 15 and 16, when the Fourth Annual High School Invitation Wrestling Tournament is staged at BSC. Two hundred twenty-eight grapplers from District 4, P.I.A.A., representing some of the best wrestlers in Pennsylvania, will participate in the two-day event.

Semi-final matches will get underway at 2:30 p.m., Saturday afternoon with the two mats in continuous service in the main gym. Activities will reach a climax Saturday night at 7:30 with the beginning of the 12 championship matches.

Russell Houk, BSC wrestling coach, acting as tournament director, announced that beautiful trophies will be awarded to the top three teams and to each of the 12 winners in the individual weight classes. Medals will be awarded to the second, third, and fourth place individual winners.

Slogan, posted on wall of college student's lounge: "I know all the answers—it's the questions I don't understand."
