IBM Equipment To Be Installed Soon

The regional representative of IBM Corporation has recently notified the BSC administration that the first units of the data processing equipment will be ready for installation before the end of the current semester. It is thought that the equipment will be fully installed by the first week in July.

Between the months of March and May each student will have a conference with his divisional director and choose his electives for the fall semester. In the advance registration the student will prepare a trial schedule. His final approved schedule will then be sent to him during the summer.

In order to facilitate this program, each student will be assigned a matriculation number. Each subject will also have a code number and the schedule card form will undergo a radical change.

This system will eliminate the formerly necessary individual class cards and the yellow schedule card that is filled in at registration.

Regulations For Parking Enforced

Because of the increased number of parking violations and the continued number of illegal parking complaints by Bloomsburg property owners, it will be necessary for the College to make an all-out effort to enforce the parking regulations.

The College Campus Officer has been instructed to check closely on all cars in the vicinity of the College including Penn Street, and Penn Street extension, which runs up to the hospital. Also Light Street Road and the area around the hospital will be kept under close surveillance.

Writing Problems Cited by Enstrom

"Problems in Teaching the Left-Handed Writer" was the topic of Dr. E. A. Enstrom, Director of Research for the Peterson System, Inc. Directed Handwriting, Greensburg, Pa., when he spoke to students of the senior elementary professional practicum classes on Tuesday.

Dr. E. A. Enstrom

The classes, conducted by Mrs. Beckley and W. I. Johnson, supervisors of elementary student teachers, were invited to participate in the discussion of classroom difficulties that arise in teaching these pupils handwriting skill. They also questioned Dr. Enstrom regarding problems in the general teaching of handwriting.

Dr. Enstrom is considered an authority in the area of handwriting education, and has received nationwide acclaim in the press and in educational literature for his doctoral studies on left-handedness in handwriting. In addition to conducting and directing research and writing for educational journals, Dr. Enstrom lectures widely at colleges and universities, and before other educational and research groups in a five-state area. He is frequently booked for teacher institutes two years in advance.

Heights, New Jersey, and Dunkirk, New York.

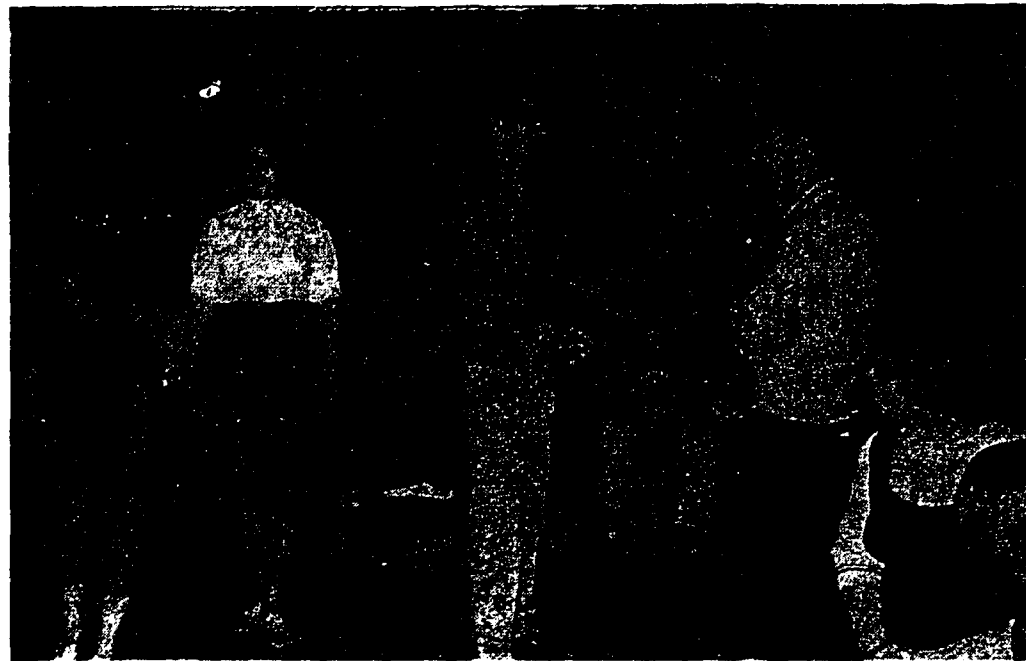

At BSC, Mrs. Sterling is teaching Fundamentals of Mathematics. She is residing in Bloomsburg at the present time.

Her husband, Mr. W. D. Sterling is on sabbatical leave from BSC. He is attending the Penn State University where he is working on his doctorate in education.

"Plain and Fancy" Coming Soon.. Largest Cast In College History

Musical Comedy Opens Thursday

by KEN MUSSLEMAN

Final rehearsals are underway as students and faculty work together in presenting polished performance for BSC and community.

The first musical comedy to be staged at BSC will have its opening performance on Thursday evening, February 15 at 8:15 in Carver Auditorium. The play, a recent Broadway musical, "Plain and Fancy," will include several members of the faculty as well as students in the leading roles. There will be two performances, the first on Thursday, Feb. 15 at 8:15 p.m. and the second on Friday evening at the same time.

BSC's first musical will also bring together the largest cast in the college's history — 35 members, plus an orchestra and chorus.

Faculty and Students Combine

William Cope, professor of Speech and director of the musical, said that "this is the first time to my knowledge that a play at BSC has combined both faculty and students." He went on to explain that combining faculty and students has been a practice at many large colleges and universities and actually helps in training the students in giving a more professional performance. However, he said that in this instance the combination was dictated by necessity.

This student-faculty cast will be portraying a story that is more "plain" than "fancy." The audience will see a typical New York native and his sophisticated girlfriend coming to the Amish country to sell a piece of property that he has never seen. The audience will laugh when they see how the New Yorker and his girlfriend react to the quaint customs, stern morals, and Pennsylvania-Dutch English of the Amish. Such melodies as "Young and Foolish," "Follow Your Heart," and "Plenty of Pennsylvania" are among the more well-known songs from the musical. When the curtain falls, the audience will be pleased to see that the metropolitan couple has arranged things so that everybody is in love with the right person.

Impressive Production

Yes, "Plain and Fancy" is a musical comedy. The music was written by Albert Hague and the lyrics by Arnold Horwitt. To put such a play on the stage requires the com- (Continued on page 4)

Co-Ed Crowning To Hi'light Dance

The main attraction of the Freshman Hop to be held on February 23 will be crowning the "Co-Ed of the Year." The dance, "Stairway to the Stars," will be held from 9-12 p.m.

Music for the evening will be furnished by Johnny Miller and "The Starlighters." This band is known as having "music with that dancing sound."

The president of the Freshman class, Thomas Miller, said that the chairmen and members of the various committees are working very hard to make this dance the greatest hop BSC has had in a number of years.

Tickets, $2.00 per couple, will go on sale Wednesday, February 14, outside Husky Lounge.

Bloodmobile Will Visit Thursday

On Thursday, February 15, the Red Cross Bloodmobile will make its twelfth annual visit to the BSC campus. The Bloodmobile Unit will be set up in Centennial Gymnasium from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. "Walk-ins" from the Bloomsburg area will be welcomed.

A student committee, headed by Betty Scaife, has been working for the past six weeks under the supervision of Mr. Russell Schleicher, Elementary Education Dept., in an effort to sign up enough faculty, students, and non-instructional employees to guarantee the set goal of 300 pints.

Volunteer donors are urged to register promptly with any member of the committee; this does not apply to "walk-ins." Committee includes: Betty Scaife, chairman; Joan Peters, Salvatore Randello, Sarah High, Charles Jasper, Susan Williams, Carol Tebbs, Bernadine Ardriere, John Rockwell, Ronald Miller, Carol DelVecchio, and William Wisor.

Name Committees To Plan Jr. Prom

Plans for the Junior Prom were made recently by the officers of the Junior class. Committee chairmen were chosen, and the budget was discussed.

Anyone interested in working on a committee should contact the committee chairmen. The chairmen are: Tickets, Ray Miller and Elizabeth Pingar; Invitations and Programs, Margie Snook; Refreshments, Lois Detato; Orchestra, Benjamin Baum; Decorations, JoAnn Kolb and Paul Bingamen; Publicity, Manny Gonzalez.

The class president, Lee Jackson, would like to remind the class members that there will be no more orders accepted for class rings this year. Those wishing to buy rings may get them next year.

Instructor Speaks To Special Groups

Miss Elinor Keefer and Mr. Michael Flanagan took part recently in two separate programs off campus.

Miss Elinor Keefer, BSC head librarian, pointed out the advantages of a library and enumerated some of its uses at a recent meeting of St. Columba's School Parent-Teachers Council. "Books," she said, "must create a challenge to learn, promote an interest in reading, and promote creative writing by a child. A library background gives a child the knowledge of how to use books for reference materials and will further increase his vocabulary."

Pure enjoyment was stressed by Miss Keefer as one of the main advantages of reading. "A good book" she explained, "can take a child into the world of adventure and travel into foreign lands, thus activating his imagination."

Mr. Michael E. Flanagan, assistant professor of physical education, served as a member of the committee on Physical Education and Athletic Policies at the Pennsylvania Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation. The convention's purpose was the eval-

BS Band Members Chosen for AIBF

Four members of the BSC Maroon and Gold Band have been selected from 245 applicants to participate in the Fifteenth Annual Intercollegiate Band Festival. Rose Marie Fisher, tenor saxophone; Cathy Lesevich, bassoon; Karen Evans, string bass; and Edward Fox, cornet will take part in the 132 piece band representing 30 Pennsylvania universities and colleges, which will form at Slippery Rock State College March 29, 30, and 31.

Leonard Falcone, cornetist, will be the guest soloist. Mr. James Dunlap, director of Penn State's Blue Band, is to be the conductor.

Library Receives New Subscriptions

Two one year subscriptions have been received by the BSC library. Lars Edburgh, 1961 Pennsylvania Target Champion and a sophomore at BSC, has donated a year's subscription of the magazine Bow-Hunting to the library in order to create an interest among other students in the field of archery and bowhunting. Two issues of this magazine are on file in the library.

Also, the Delta Chapter of Gamma Theta Upsilon, national professional geography fraternity, has renewed the college library's subscription to the Geographical Journal. The library has issues of this magazine on file dating back to March, 1960.

and improvement of the state programs. Mr. Flanagan helped review and evaluate the level of the physical education and athletic policies in colleges.

A Government--Of, By, and For Letter

R. BARRETT BOWER

The Community Government Association of Bloomsburg State College is one of the most powerful organizations of its kind. It has control in almost all areas of student life and represents the students in all aspects of college administration. In form, it is a representative democracy; therefore, it is the responsibility of each student to choose qualified and competent students to represent them and to carry out the responsibilities of student government.

Student Leaders in Demand

Each year there is increasing reluctance on the part of the students to nominate individuals for the officers of College Council. If this situation continues to exist, the College administrators will be forced into a situation where no controls by the student will be possible — simply because of the lack of student leaders. If the students of Bloomsburg State wish to retain the freedom they now hold in matters of student administration, they must continue, as they have in the past, to nominate the people that are vitally needed in the field of student administration.

Nominations Are Students' Duty

The student body has many qualified leaders who are willing to work. It is the responsibility of the students to recognize these leaders and nominate them for the offices of College Council or otherwise face the alternative of having no representation in the affairs that govern student life.

Nomination petitions for the offices of College Council can be secured at the Council office outside Husky Lounge. The petitions are due on February 23, 1962, and nominations will be held on March 1, 1962. The primary and final elections of CGA will be held on March 13, 1962 and March 27, 1962, respectively. — R. Barrett Bower

Application for PCEP Internships

The Pennsylvania Center of Education in Politics is currently accepting application from college students for internships this summer in the Washington, D.C. offices of Congressmen.

The internships will begin on June 11 or as soon thereafter as possible and will be completed on August 8. Students will be paid at a rate of $60 per week. Arrangements have also been made with the Democratic and Republican State Committees for summer internships on the state and county levels.

All three types of internships are open to students not graduating in June, 1962. Those graduating in June, 1962, may apply for the Washington and Harrisburg internships only.

Applications and additional information may be obtained from Dr. B. J. Shockley. Applications must be completed and returned by March 15, 1962.

Job Directory Is Now Available

A directory which lists summer jobs for college students throughout the United States is now available.

The SUMMER EMPLOYMENT DIRECTORY gives the names and addresses of 1,367 organizations which want to employ college students. It also gives the positions open, salary, and suggestions on how to make application—a sample letter of application and a personal data sheet.

Students wishing summer work may make application to the employers listed in the directory. Employers are included at their own request, and they invite applications from college students.

Students who wish to have a copy of SUMMER EMPLOYMENT DIRECTORY for their own use may obtain one by sending $3.00 to the publisher: National Directory Service, Dept. C, Box 32065, Cincinnati 32, Ohio.

'King Cold' Brings Seasonal Ailments

Well, it looks like the old sovereign of winter infection, "King Cold," is here again. An average of about 20 cases of his naughty tricks are being reported to the College Infirmary daily. However, the other members of his royal, infectious court are not remaining dormant as totals ranging from 60 to 125 patients who have visited the infirmary every day in the past week.

The infirmary staff includes three nurses, Mrs. Caldwell, Mrs. Gilbert, and Mrs. Roth. Their 16-hour day has been quite busy with administering treatment and medicine to the many students and faculty members smitten by the viruses, aches and pains which always reign supreme during the winter months.

IT'S A DAY

It's a day, when Mountains lift Heavy arms against Translucent light, Diffused by men Whose eyes dissolve Rays of morning. And Great Owls float alone and lost.

It's a day when Lions come down Hollow paths of Earth, and murky Water reflects shaggy Things and fills pads Of Death, in a time When Lambs are on A far shore, safe, It's a day then.

BSC To Host State Association Conf.

BSC will host the pre-planning conference of the Pennsylvania State Association of Student Governments March 31 and April 1. The President and Dean of Student Affairs or the organizational advisor of each of 13 state colleges will be in attendance to strengthen as well as revise the governmental structure of the state association.

This event will mark the creation and the future of a new state association.

... to the Editor

Over a period of a few days, the old fountain on campus became a spectacular sight. Students, faculty members, and visitors commented on its beauty. Some could hardly believe their eyes as they asked others in astonishment, "When did this happen?" As you may recall, they were given some flippant answer like, "Oh, last night it was so cold it just froze over."

Winter Fantasy

When I hear an answer like that, it makes me stop and shudder! I go to all the trouble to give the Bloomsburg State Collegians something real pretty to look at and to help brighten their dreary days, and do I get any credit? I should say I don't! I imagine that I spent almost a week just convincing Old Man Winter to keep up the good work and keep the temperature down. You see, he was becoming exhausted and was about to go on strike for a few weeks. However, I won the battle, and Old Man Winter consented to help me for another month or two just so I could give my favorite campus a little treat.

I knew I was really going to have to work fast if I wanted to have a surprise of any considerable size. I completed the job in five days. I don't know when I have ever been so tired! I made all sizes and shapes of crystal clear icicles and placed them neatly in order on the fountain; but upon completion, I realized something was definitely missing. I studied the problem all that day and just as the old town clock struck midnight, I knew where I could find my answer. Sure enough, after having a cup of "ice-cream" with pretty Miss Suzy Snowflake, she gladly offered her services and promised me she would scatter her dainty snowflakes over my carefully made icicles the very next day.

The next morning while giving the fountain its final check up, I heard the students exclaim, "Isn't it beautiful!" Of course, I felt as proud as an icicle, as I was positive they would know who was responsible for decorating the old fountain. It was then I received my big let down, and I'm still trying to recover. I just can't seem to make myself believe that the students at BSC would forget me and not include me in their affairs at the only time of the year when I can visit them. You would think they would pay me a little respect if they're depending on me to make their party at Eagles Mere a big success, now wouldn't you? I hope they have a change in attitude soon, or they'll be sorry!!! JACK FROST

by SUE HALKYARD and LARRY RECLA

Grading systems, of much controversy among educators, have changed in much the same way as our philosophies of education. At present, education is directed towards the development of the whole person — his attitudes, interests, and other aspects of his behavior, as well as academic goals of education. Efforts are being made to teach the student "how" to think rather than merely "what" to think.

Education Is Complex

When one considers individual differences, the task of evaluation has become a very complex and difficult task. It is much easier to measure the tangible aspects of the learning process. Thus, learning is usually evaluated by means of the "curve" or "straight" percentage methods. These systems often place the major emphasis on memorization and the performance of academic skills. Students soon aim to give the most importance to a grade in the course — they are learning "what" to think, not "how" to think. It seems that a grade is primary and mastery is secondary.

Other Ways of Grading

Some schools have tried other systems such as the "pass-fail" type and "satisfactory-unsatisfactory." The argument against these types is that they fail to provide a competitive challenge. Bright students will do only enough work to pass — their potential will never be achieved in this way.

Are our present grading systems an adequate and just evaluation of a student's learning? Here are some of the responses made by faculty and students:

I feel that the teachers I have encountered have used just systems of grading to obtain letter grades. This includes both percentage and curve systems. However, I think some distinction should be made between high and low letter grades.

Neil Belles, Sophomore

Evaluation of student progress has always been difficult, and it has attracted much criticism from faculty and students. At BSC each member of the faculty is responsible for explaining to students the system of grading that is used in his classes, and the administration encourages the use of various kinds of systems. The reason behind this policy is this: prospective teachers should be informed of and have experience in seeing a variety of evaluative techniques in action. Our present grading system is adequate if the policy is carried out fairly and objectively.

John A. Hoch, Dean of Instruction

Of course, much depends on the particular instructor, but I feel that too much emphasis is placed on striving for the grade rather than on the broadening of our education. However, a suitable solution that meets the needs of both the instructor and the students is going to be difficult to establish. Actually, who can determine how much a student really learned? To me, the only real test is how well he can apply what he has acquired to his environment. Perhaps the only solution is to have the professor flip a coin to see if the student gets an A or B!

Roger Breidinger, Junior

No! I knew of two students who both received C's in the same course of study. The one maintained a B average throughout the course, earned a D in the last test and scored a C for the semester. Another student, who had maintained a strong D average, came through with a C on the last test and scored a C for the semester. Perhaps both students did earn C's but the one who nearly earned a B did not deserve to be put on a par with the D student! I believe we might remedy the situation by substituting the actual number (or per cent) evaluation for the inefficient letter system.

Ken Musselman, Sophomore

I trust that the educators of yesterday and today have toiled with this problem of just grading systems, and I feel that learned men have sacrificed many man hours in the development of our systems of grading. Today's systems are hardly infallible, but they do satisfy the needs of the mass of the people which is the basis of our entire government. I, as a student, can hardly consider myself qualified to advise any educator, a novel method of grading.

College life might be paralleled with the game of life. As in all games, someone wins and someone loses. It appears to me that the people who complain the most about grading systems are the people who are losing one or both of these games.

Barry Grouse, Freshman

I believe our present grading systems are adequate measures of student progress. However, it is important that the student know each instructor's "ground rules" in marking so that there will be no misunderstanding as the semester progresses.

In teacher education it is important for students to be exposed to various systems of evaluation — testing and marking — as a help in developing their own procedures after beginning teaching.

C. Stuart Edwards, Dean of Admissions and Director of Secondary Education

Each subject and each group of students presents different factors which must be considered. There is no one in a better position than the instructor of the course to know what these factors are. However, it behooves each faculty member to continually evaluate its criteria and explain it thoroughly to the student.

Carol Davenport, Junior

Bloomsburg Cagers Have Ups and Downs; Dick Lloyd Plays Consistent "Good Game"

Captain of the Husky basketball team, Dick Lloyd, is shown here with his coach, Bill Foster. In the game with Shippensburg, held in Centennial Gym, Dick broke three college records — most minutes in play, most foul shots made, and the individual scoring record. Husky fans eagerly anticipate further action by this outstanding senior.

Basketball Team Wins and Loses

BSC's basketball team has won only two of its last four games. Mansfield State College avenged an earlier defeat on January 20; after this our cagers bounced back with a win over East Stroudsburg on January 27. Our next game, January 31, was at West Chester where we lost and we then defeated Shippensburg at home on February 3.

Lloyd Breaks Records

Senior Captain Dick Lloyd has been on the rampage in destroying records lately. During the Stroudsburg game, he rewrote the individual scoring record by scoring 45 points, 26 of which were in the first half. The Shippensburg game saw him break the record of minutes in a Husky uniform. He has worn the uniform 2267 minutes; the old record was 2231 minutes. He also made a new record of foul shots; the previous one was 227, Dick now has 229.

We won the Stroudsburg game 99-87. Near the end of the first half, ESSC took a one point lead but lost it quickly as we had a 12-point lead by half-time. Bloomsburg controlled the scoring for the remainder of the game. Lloyd was high scorer for the evening with his 45 points and Scott Weaver, ESSC, was next with 24.

West Chester Game

West Chester defeated us on their own court 62-51. This destroyed our first place tie in the PSCC Eastern Division with Mansfield State College. WCSC took the lead in the beginning and held it throughout the game. Lloyd was high for BSC with 18 points.

The Shippensburg game was a different story. We took our fifth PSCC victory by beating them 74-56. During the first eight minutes, we held complete control, the score being 25-5. Our next game will be at Lock Haven on February 13, and we play Cheyney here on Feb. 14.

which will guarantee an enjoyable evening of entertainment. The show will be free to students with activities tickets and will be open to the public at $1.00 per person.

BSC Swimmers Swimming

The Bloomsburg swimmers have been steadily improving, but have lost their last three meets. On January 20, they met Lycoming; East Stroudsburg was the next opponent on January 31, on February 3, they met Lock Haven.

The Stroudsburg meet ended with a score of 62-33 and with them taking 9 of the 10 events. Our first place win was in the 400 yard free style medley made up of co-captain Tom Little, Chuck Jasper, Hayden Jones and Don Young. Stroudsburg set four new records for our pool in the 400 yard relay medley race, diving, 200 yard butterfly and the 200 yard back stroke.

Great Improvement

Fans who attended the Lock Haven meet saw the greatest improvement in the BSC swimmers. At the end of the seventh period, the score was tied at 30 points for each team. The final score read 56-38, but the meet was a big step towards the win column for our mermen. This was only Lock Haven's second meet of the season and the loss of both medleys by Bloomsburg helped to make it their second win.

Individual Efforts

Floyd Grimm took a first in the 200 yard individual medley. Co-captain Nelson Swarts was first in the 200 yard individual medley and also took a second in the 200 yard packstroke. Don Young took the 100 yard free style and gained second place in the 50 yard free style. Ron Lazarus and Dan Rice took second and third respectively in the diving event. Lou Konetski had a second and a third place in the 220 free style and the 440 free style. In the 200 yard butterfly, Harold Ackerman took second place and in the 200 yard breast stroke, Bill Billet had a third.

The next meet will be on February 15, at Morgan State College and on February 19, we will meet Lycoming again in our pool for the fourth time in our team's history and possibly a win.

Grapplers Rival Out for Blood

The big sports event of this week, as far as the Husky fans are concerned, will take place tonight when the undefeated Yellow Jackets of Waynesburg College meet Coach Houk's varsity grapplers at 8:00 p.m. No JV matches are scheduled.

BSC Called "Tough"

In a release coming from Waynesburg College, Bloomsburg has been pointed out as the toughest opponent on the Yellow Jacket schedule. Apparently, Coach Bucky Murdock's charges would enjoy defeating Bloomsburg more than any other team on their schedule, since the Huskies are the only opponent to defeat the Yellow Jackets three years in succession. In last year's meeting, BSC handed the Jackets their worst defeat in 15 years. Coach Murdock, during his 15 year tenure, has had six undefeated seasons, and one of the best records of any Pa. wrestling coach.

String Broken

The wrestling team had their string of 15 consecutive dual meet victories broken Jan. 29 when they traveled to Lock Haven. This match pitted two of the top 20 wrestling teams in the country against each other and received not only local, but nationwide recognition, and it was quite a blow therefore when Bloomsburg fell 16-12. Gene Dixon recorded the only pin for BSC in the meet.

On Re-bound

On the re-bound, two days later, the Huskies recorded a 31-2 triumph over East Stroudsburg. Two of the most fantastic matches of the night were in the 167 pound classes and the unlimited class. Bob Hall pinned his man in 20 seconds, and Gene Dixon, usually 157, came out against East S. heavy-weight, and pinned him in the second period to climax the victory.

bined efforts of students and faculty. Miss Mildred Bisgrove supervises the singing portions while Dr. Charles Carlson directs a college orchestra. Miss Helen Kelly is publicity manager, and Miss Mary Homrighous is costume director. Bloomsburg State's first musical comedy will be staged and choreographed by Mr. Cope. The college Choraleers, in addition to other members of the cast, will also be there to add to the impressive production.

When so many people are involved in a college production, complications make themselves evident. The time element affords a cramped practice schedule. The numerous scripts and the quantity of sheet music required produce a financial drawback. Finding enough talent to fill so many parts is difficult. Again, overcoming the physical limitations of the stage requires calculation.

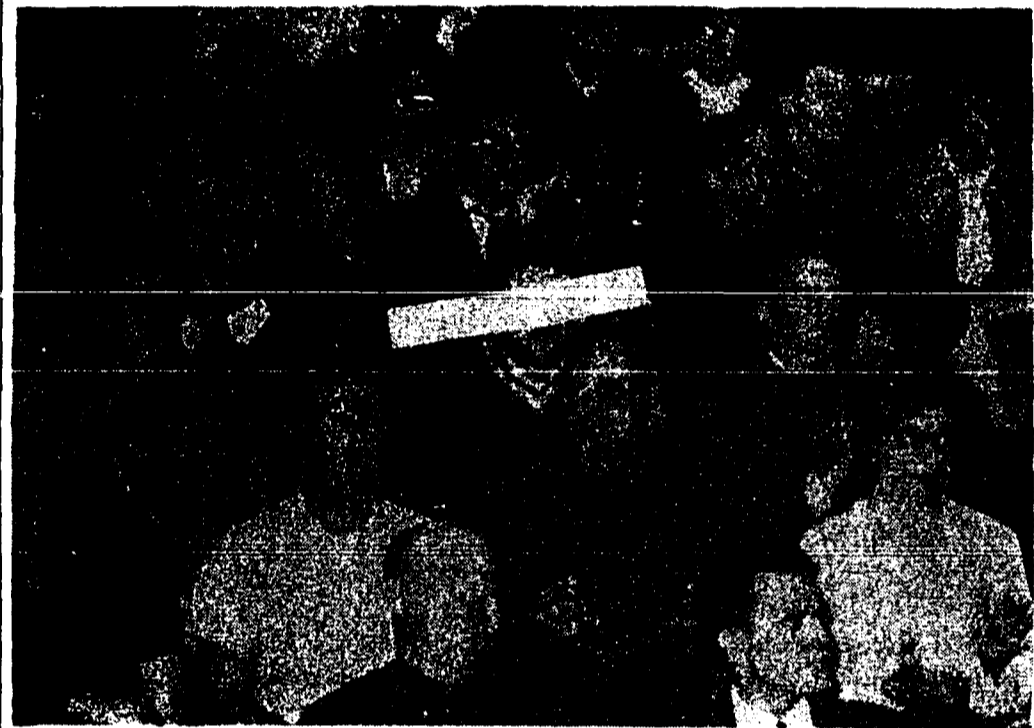

Cast

The leading roles are portrayed by: Theresa McHugh as Katie Yoder; George Weigand as Peter Reber; Karen Hoffman as Hilda Miller; Donna Lore as Emma Miller; and Andrew Hainichar as Ezra Reder.

Other members of the cast are: Doris Talley, Diane Wind, Mary Ellen Horner, George Strine, Sterling Smith, Mr. Donald Vannan, Mr. Craig Himes, Mr. James Leitzel, Mazie Benfield, Billy Lerhard, Robert Hensley, Dean Long, John Sills, David Allspaugh, Jean Valentiner, Evelyn Rink, Marilyn Rink, Mary Ann White, June Getz, Carol Ammon. Despite the many difficulties, the people involved have overcome adversities to prepare a performance
