The 6th grade class of Benjamin Franklin recently completed nine weeks of typewriting in Sutiliff Hall. This program was made possible by the cooperation of Mr. Kenneth Roberts, 6th grade teacher, and his student teachers, James Burke, Carol DeVecchio, Carolee Jones, and Betty Kane.

The class was taught by Jean Alkey, Jeanne Fischer, Lois Rathmel, Garry Schell, and Mr. Clayton Hinkel.

Departments Divided to Accommodate BSC's Growing Faculty and Anticipated Liberal Arts Specialization

Departmental divisions have been made in the fields of social studies, communications, and science. The growth of the college faculty and the preparations for the anticipated liberal arts program have been cited as the reasons for the separations.

History-Geography Split

Dr. Bruce E. Adams, newly-appointed chairman of the geography department, said that they were now planning to increase the course offerings available to social studies and elementary education majors. The geography and mathematics departments are developing a course in earth and space mathematics which will become a part of the proposed earth and space science curriculum.

Leitzel, Jordan Head Departments

Mr. James Leitzel, recently selected chairman of the mathematics departments, stated that a course in advanced calculus will be offered to senior mathematics majors having the proper prerequisites beginning with the fall term.

The science department directed by chairman Robert Jordan, has added three new courses to its curriculum to be offered in September.

These include: Introduction to Atomic Physics, Entomology, and Radiation Biology. Eventually the department plans to include courses in histology and evolution.

Speech Is Separate Department

The English department is under the chairmanship of Dr. Cecil C. Seronsy. The main goal of the new program is to reach a balance of professors in all areas of literature and between the undergraduate and post-graduate instructors.

Dr. Melville Hopkins will direct the department of speech. Presently the department is strong in theatre and oral interpretation, and Dr. Hopkins is planning to strengthen it in the area of public address.

Dr. Adams, Mr. Jordan, Mr. Leitzel, and Dr. Seronsy will each head a department under the recent division. Dr. Serff and Dr. Hopkins, not present, head History and Speech.

Student Leaders Recognized for Service to College

Myles Anderson

Carol Bendinsky

Roger Breidinger

Dick Lloyd

Macyle Phillips

Mary Somerset

Six BSC students have been chosen as the outstanding leaders of the college community. They were chosen in the Student Leaders Contest sponsored by the Maroon and Gold on the basis of their contributions and services to the college.

Myles Anderson has demonstrated outstanding leadership as president of the Community Government Association. A major in the elementary curriculum, Myles hails from the metropolis of Dresher. He will become part of the BSC administrative staff next year.

Another leader in the College Council has been Carol Bendinsky who has served well as recording secretary. Carol, from Mildred, is a junior and is studying mathematics. She also served on the Hospitality Committee and the Spring Arts Festival Committee.

Dick Lloyd is most justifiably associated with basketball, but he has also been the able president of the Senior class. Dick is a business education major from Upper Darby. He will join the BSC staff this fall as basketball coach.

As editor, Roger Breidinger was responsible for the success of the Olympian. A very enthusiastic leader, he was chairman of the Social Recreation Committee and member of the Pep Committee. "Rog," a junior in social studies, also led in organizing the parade to honor our NAIA champions.

Mary Somerset gave outstanding service to the women residents as president of the Governing Board of the Waller Hall Association. She is in the elementary curriculum — from Glenside. Mary is also noted for her musical talent, a contribution to many organizations and activities.

Macyle Phillips is a junior studying English. She was an active leader in college publications, serving as the editor of Maroon and Gold and as head of the Olympian editorial board. Macyle also teaches the fourth grade pupils at Benjamin Franklin Training School.

Less-Than-Willing Audience?

Our assembly programs have been the source of much student criticism during this school year. Frequently voiced complaints are that they are "boring," "unmeaningful," "timeconsuming," and "irrelevant to student interests."

Why, Oh Why!

Why are students compelled to attend these weekly "educational expositions?" "I can use the extra credit" is the reason most often stated by the students themselves. The administration states that the assembly programs enrich the curriculum by providing additional, more cultural opportunities, which cannot be included within the regular curricular offerings, and also that they are a necessary and convenient way to make official announcements. Both the student and administrative explanations have merit.

Do Our Assemblies Serve Their Purpose?

According to many of the less-than-willing audience, they do not. Many assemblies appeal only to a minority of the group. The subjects of many speakers are not relevant to student needs or interests. Armed services recruiting interests only a few of the student body, and those of the faculty who are still eligible have, for the most part, already served their term.

However, the most vehemently criticized portion of the assemblies are the "announcements." These are often as long as a major address. Most students can read — why not print the many notices that pertain only to a small number in the Maroon and Gold and place them on the bulletin boards? The elimination of announcements should not include those official ones which concern the entire student body.

On the Other Hand

We have had many interesting and enjoyable programs in this past year. The concerts by Stan Freeman and Mr. Fred Houser, the lecture on "Driver Safety" by the state police, and the Judo exhibition were all very well received. Still the complaints mount...

Is There a Solution?

Several might be acceptable. First, attendance could be made voluntary rather than mandatory. The argument against this proposal is that few students would be sufficiently motivated to attend of their own volition.

Perhaps a better solution would be to offer the students a chance to constructively evaluate the programs and offer suggestions for future presentations. This could also present one solution to a related problem, that of the consistently poor attendance at special programs, some of which were offered in the evening.

A Possible Solution

A number of these special offerings were both interesting and informative, yet they failed to attract a sizeable audience. Perhaps it would be possible to schedule some of these during the regular weekly assemblies. Thus, the programs would be more interesting to the students and the resulting larger attendance more gratifying to the speaker or performer.

On thing is certain —

criticism of our assembly program is on the increase, and some action must be taken to remedy the situation if we are to prevent a potentially enjoyable and worthwhile learning experience from becoming a very deep-seated smoldering resentment. The old adage "You can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink," could readily be applied to our assemblies. The students go... sit... study... write letters... read... or just "tune in a deaf ear." Call it disrespect — it might be more appropriately termed disinterest. It may well become discontent.

IN THE COMMONS

by Jinny Hesel

As manager of the College Commons, Mr. Thomas Phillips has become a well-known and appreciated member of the College Community at Bloomsburg.

Before coming to BSC, Mr. Phillips attended Pennsylvania State University and graduated with a B.S. degree in Hotel Administration. However, most of his courses at Penn State were in the area of food service operation. Upon graduation from the University, Mr. Phillips became assistant manager for Slater Food Service at the Labor and Industry Building, Harrisburg, Pa. After two more promotions and the managership of the Slater-run cafeteria at the General Electric plant in Erie, Mr. Phillips arrived at Bloomsburg last year to manage the College Commons.

Mr. Thomas Phillips

Innovations, Improvements

The management of Mr. Phillips brought several innovations through his continuous efforts to improve the food service. This year students enjoyed many new ideas and a greater variety of food than ever before. Mr. Phillips says that the key to good food service is, "to give the students a proper nutritional diet as well as to maintain the aesthetic enjoyment of dining." Mr. Phillips also added that he feels that it is his responsibility to educate the students in new foods, and to expand their knowledge of good food and food variety. He says, "The key to good management is to know what is going on."

In his leisure time, Mr. Phillips enjoys swimming, bowling, and dancing. He finds Bloomsburg to be a very friendly town and the people to be warm and hospitable.

Jello Next Year Too

Mr. Phillips has also remarked that BSC is the best place that he has ever worked. He enjoys the campus life and feels that the college students are very well-mannered and polite. He is quite pleased and proud that the students are very easy to cater to and that they seem to appreciate every thing that is done for them by the food service. When asked about any plans for next year, Mr. Phillips said, "They are not available for publication yet, but we are going to serve gelatin next year!"

Letter

... to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I suggest that a room be provided for typing purposes in the library. Since there are a great amount of books that must be used in the library, a room set aside for the sole purpose of taking notes would aid the student and discourage the present problem of book theft.

This room should be used for library work only with each student providing his own typewriter.

Rowe Carries BSC Beauty Tradition

by Kathleen Roselli

Barbara Rowe

Statistics prove that the beauty of our Bloomsburg beauties is unsurpassed by their brains, as coeds from our campus have been selected Miss Greater Shamokin for the past two years. They are Marty Moyer, 1961, and Carole Bowman, 1960. This year another lovely lady from BSC can be added to the long list of beauty contestants as Miss Barbara Rowe will compete for the crown of Miss Northeastern Pennsylvania. The winner of the Miss Northeastern Pennsylvania contest will then compete for the title of Miss Pennsylvania in West Chester in June.

5'2", Eyes of — brown

Representing the Berwick area, Miss Rowe will contend for the crown at the annual contest pageant against eleven other contestants from Wyoming Valley. All girls in the contest were selected after being screened by the Selection Board Committee. Selection was based upon beauty and talent. Talented Classical Soprano

Miss Rowe, a classic soprano who studies under Miss Laura Herring of Bloomsburg, has studied voice for the past seven years and has appeared in many church and social functions in the area. As her contest selection she has chosen the semi-classical "Spring of My Heart."

When notified of her selection to compete in the contest, Barbara stated, "It really is wonderful to be asked to participate. Even if I don't win, I am looking forward to the fun and experience of the competition."

Fall Freshmen to Visit BSC Campus

In case you noticed the droves of quite young females swarming over the campus recently — feel no alarm. They were merely freshmen visiting the campus for physical examinations and campus tours.

The basis of the program was physical examinations. Since it has been necessary in the past for parents to return to the campus and have thus been inconvenienced by waiting, it was decided to utilize the time for the benefit of the student and parents. During the orientation period for the parents in Carver Auditorium, Dean Edwards delivered the welcome address which was followed by a discussion on the academic area of college by Dean Hoch. Dean Edwards also spoke on the financial details and Dean McCauslin spoke on the non-academic student personal services.

The hospitality committee, under the direction of Judy Fox, conducted tours of the campus. Future dates of orientation are May 19, June 16, 23, 30, and July 14, 21. The program is under the direction of Dean Jackson, Dean Hunsinger, Dean Edwards, and Dean Hoch.

Reviewing the Arts Festival

by Dianne Campbell

The first BSC Spring Arts Festival was an event that can be viewed with mixed emotions. The quality of the features was excellent, but the attendance displayed the usual BSC attitude — apathy and indifference. Culture has come to be a trampled word here.

The works of Emlin Etting drew many odd expressions and humorous remarks from those passing by on their way to class. But those who took the time to study them objectively discovered a great deal of perception and true artistic ability. An interesting feature of the works was Etting's continuous use of black, brown, gray, and white. Another was his adept expression of action and balance. The few pictures with color were mainly pastoral and orange with yellow in themes such as "Vincent's Field," "Autumn Sun," and "Let the Fields Rejoice."

In his lecture on Thursday, Mr. Etting proved not to be the "oddball" that so many labeled him as they viewed his works. Later in the

Spies of the Revolution

by Blair Hartman

Truth is stranger than fiction . . . sometimes. "Spies of the Revolution" is based on actual facts about our country's early struggle for independence. The authors have attempted to present the stories of men who are relatively unknown in the present wealth of historical lore.

Few people know of the man who saved America from destruction at the hands of the British. This was Henry Dawkins. Dawkins became involved in a counterfeiting scheme and through this one of the great ironies of the Revolutionary War developed.

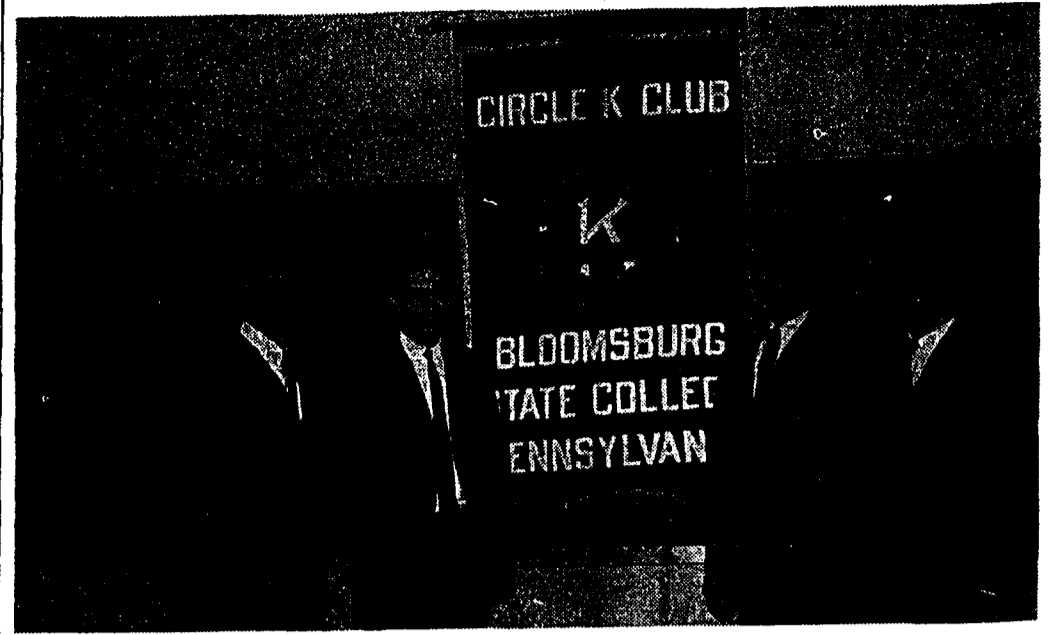

His scheme was prematurely discovered and he was sent to jail where he learned of Tory plots against General Washington and the Continental Army. No lofty motives inspired Dawkins. Attempting to save his own skin, he acted as a "stool pigeon." As a result, America was saved from immediate destruction. This story is just one example of the many unknown facts presented in the book.

The material of the book is presented in a well-organized pattern. The authors obviously did a great deal of research in assembling the material for this book. The choice of words is good, and this makes easy reading. The book is well developed and written in an interesting fashion. Fact becomes fiction and the reader is soon lost in mystery and intrigue.

The author of "Spies of the Revolution" is the son of the late Oscar Hugh Bakeless, a member of the BSC faculty for 30 years. Dr. John Bakeless has been a reporter, lecturer, soldier, editor, and college professor, as well as author.

His wife, Katherine, is an author, teacher, and pianist. She has collaborated with her husband on one earlier book and has helped him criticizing scripts on others.

Circle "K" Installs '62-63 Officers

Newly elected officers were installed at the regular meeting of the Circle K Club by Mr. Howard F. Fenstermaker who has been a Kiwanian for the past 35 years. This club is sponsored by the Berwick and Bloomsburg Kiwanis Clubs.

Noted Speaker Ley At Assembly

Dr. Willy Ley, authority on rockets and space travel, spoke to a combined assembly recently. Born in Berlin in 1906, he studied at the Universities of Berlin and Konigsburg in East Prussia, concentrating on paleontology, astronomy, and physics.

Willy Ley planned to be a geologist, then he read the fundamental book on rocket theory by Prof. Hermann Oserth in 1925 and became interested in the theoretical work being done on rockets and space travel. A year later he published his own first book in Germany "Trip Into Space," which was concerned with rocket ships.

He won the interest of other German scientists in forming a pioneering rocket research organization, the forerunner of the present German Rocket Society, of which he is an honorary member. In cooperation with other experimenters in the group, he helped to build and launch the liquid fuel rockets. He introduced to the organization Wernher von Braun, who later headed the project that created the German V-2 rocket and who today heads the Army project at Huntsville, Ala.

In 1941 he wrote "The Lungfish, the Dodo and the Unicorn: An Excursion into Romantic Zoology." In 1949 Ley's "The Conquest of Space" was called "in many respects the most fascinating account of space travel."

He is a fellow of the British Interplanetary Society and the Meteoritical Society, American Rocket and Military Engineers Societies, member of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences, and American Association for Science Advancement.

Inhumane Tactics Disturb Students

Mr. Francis Albert, Professor of French at BSC and Jere Hauk, a student in the French curriculum, attended a conference of the Modern Language Association of the Philadelphia Chapter held at Swarthmore College.

Mr. Albert and Jere attended a meeting in which the speaker, Professor Paul Jinat of Temple University, delivered a French lecture on the topic "La Jeunesse de France." With main emphasis on the 20-25 age bracket, he stated that youth have a strong interest in Americanization — they are interested in American clothes—blue jeans for example, jazz, the calypso, and the twist.

Algeria Important

Presently the Algerian War is the most important factor in their lives. When France was involved in previous wars, the men were volunteers under an 18 month conscription; however, with the Algerian conflict, a draft has been imposed and the conscription has been lengthened to 32 months in some cases.

Another problem confronting France is the disillusionment of the young people, they see the inhumane tactics used in dealing with the Algerians as a failure of the educational system and cultural methods of the past. They are now "Sars Pacines" without roots, and there is a strong division between the students as their sentiments are either extreme right or left.

Senior Class Trophy Case Memorial To Be Constructed in Alumni Room

Dick Lloyd, Joanne Hagenbuch, and Elaine Anderson check with Mr. Gorrey on the exact location of the Senior Class Memorial — a trophy case.

The 1962 class memorial, a trophy case, will be constructed in the Alumni Room. The wall on the right side of the door will be replaced by a glass paneling so that the case will be visible from the room and hall. It is hoped that the trophy case will be finished for Homecoming next fall.

The Memorial Committee will make all necessary arrangements. Mr. Gory, superintendent of buildings and grounds, is in charge of the actual construction. Plans are now being drawn up and it is expected that construction will commence in June.

"Not Good Enough -" Club Wants to Extend Chess Knowledge on Campus

BY KEN MUSSELMAN

BSC's two-year-old Chess Club has compiled a record this year that speaks well for the school. If the Bloomsburg chess men can inflict a double loss on Lafayette in the final match of this season, they will receive a second-place trophy. Still Not Good Enough

However, Mr. Treblow (Mr. Treblow and Dr. Selders are faculty advisors to the club) has reported that the BSC chess men are not satisfied with their already fine record; the club plans to extend knowledge of the game to college students and to elementary students. Under this program, any people in the college community interested in chess would receive free instruction from members of the Chess Club. Students in elementary schools would become enlightened in the ways of the game when BSC Alumni who had belonged to the Chess Club during their college years would offer instruction to students of these grade levels. Mr. Treblow feels that offering chess to elementary students "is a rich and untapped field of chess activity. The potential is not only great, but is well proven since there are many children under 12 who become fascinated with chess, play in adult games, and play a good game." Mr. Treblow continued by saying that if the club should be successful in this endeavor, they would be making a real contribution to The National Chess Program, and Bloomsburg would become noted in the chess field.

Planning To...

Other future plans include BSC joining the Inter-Collegiate Chess League of America and the United States Chess Federation. The Inter-Collegiate Chess League of America is a national organization with some 43 clubs as members. This national organization is run entirely by students and publishes information concerning all colleges having chess activity.

Finally, the BSC Chess Club plans to initiate an all-State College Chess league which would insure inter-collegiate competition among Pennsylvania's fourteen State Colleges.

Spring Arts Review

Gallery Talk held in the College Commons, Mr. Etting displayed his amiable personality in an informative discussion.

Moliere's "The School for Wives," presented Thursday and Friday evenings, was rather well presented. The rapid motion and fairly resque humor of the first act continued through and held interest up until early in the third act when the pace of the play became slower. This was in contrast with the quick summation of Agnes's life history in a single speech by Chrysalde. These, however, were faults in the play itself.

Matteo, the dancer, was quite adept, not only in his art but also in holding audience attention. He did this by explaining and demonstrating the dance as an expression of emotions. His methodical division of the body into three basic parts—intellect, emotion, and vital parts—was probably the key to the lucidity of his lecture. Interest was further heightened as he brought his explanation of body expression down to the everyday level by demonstrating personality betrayal through a simple handshake.

The Sunday afternoon presentation of chamber music was a first for BSC. The program was quite well received. The Madgrigal Singers were the most favorably received with the "Echo Song," the highlight of the program. A great deal of work went into this since precision was of prime importance.

Although the majority of the features were not well attended those who took advantage of the opportunity realize that their time was well spent for the programs were not only entertaining, they were educational and informative as well. Perhaps the festival should not be suspended in the future because of the small amount of interest displayed this year. If there is a festival next year and the features are of this year's quality, I'm sure the interest will be greater.

Savage to Have Story Published

Mr. Richard Savage, instructor of English and Maroon and Gold advisor, will have a story published in the May 29 issue of The Saturday Evening Post.

"Wind in the Heather" is a modern day story that takes place on the Culloden Moor. This is the site on which Bonnie Prince Charles, the Scottish pretender to the throne, rallied his forces in the last great battle between England and Scotland. Mr. Savage was stationed in this area during World War II and later returned to do graduate work at the University of Edinburgh.

A second story is tentatively scheduled for publication this fall. It concerns an old lumberjack who had been active in the great logging drives during his youth and is now faced with the struggle to adjust to the more serene, less vigorous life of an old age spent in a greatly changed world.

Three of Mr. Savage's stories have now been translated into four languages—Danish, Swedish, German, and Dutch—and have been published in leading magazines in these countries.

Morales Leaving BSC

Saturday was the last day that Mr. Carlos Morales was on the BSC campus. While visiting the M&G office he stated that he "Wanted to thank the faculty and students of BSC for an enjoyable and profitable stay" and promised to send some Guatemalan textiles and "Tourist Propaganda" to the library in September.

He also extended a general invitation to the students and faculty to come to visit him in Guatemala. After visiting the West Virginia Communications Workshop and Penn State University, Mr. Morales will return to Guatemala in August. So—whenever you are in Guatemala just look up:

BSC Science Club Visits Philadelphia

Fifty-five members of the Science Club at the Bloomsburg State College, accompanied by Dr. Harold Lanterman and Mr. Tobias Scarpino, of the college faculty, visited the Franklin Institute and the Academy of Science in Philadelphia recently. During the day, the college students had an opportunity to observe many points of interest in the fields of chemistry, physics, and botany.

The trip was highlighted by the demonstration lecture in the Fels Planatorium, which was of special interest to the students because of the recent efforts of the United States Armed Forces to land a rocket on the moon.

Lanterman Conducts Sixth Grade Lectures in Chemistry and Physics

Dr. Harold Lanterman, of the college faculty, recently conducted a series of lectures on elementary chemistry and physics for the sixth grade of the Benjamin Franklin Training School. The lectures were arranged by Mr. Kenneth A. Roberts, regular teacher of the class.

Due to a lack of proper equipment in the training school, the lectures were conducted in Sutliff Hall. The children were instructed in basic molecular structure and

A newly-organized trio of BSC students known as "The Townsmen," have made several appearances on and off campus in the past few months.

Gordon Reed, banjo picker and piano plunker of the group said in a recent interview, "We enjoy writing our own music, including words, music and arrangements." He further said, "One of the main objectives of all of our shows is to make sure that the audience has as much fun as we do." It is perhaps to this last statement that "The Townsmen" owe their great popularity.

The other two members of the trio are Joe Haluska who plays tenor guitar and bass fiddle and Tom Kachimba who is proficient in all the stringed instruments. The music presented by the group follows the trend found on many campus folk music and ballads. But the group's program usually includes many of their own material, a few of which are: "We've Come a Little Too Far," "Ali Baba," "What Her Name?" "The Love Song," "Jump Back Rabbit," "Nellie Dugan," and "Da-Neyt."

Plans for this summer include recording contract with H&M Recording studio, Leyncore, Pa. with public appearances scheduled for the Harrisburg-Philadelphia area.

Maietta Elected to Executive Council

Dr. Donald F. Maietta, Director of Special Education at BSC, has been elected to the Executive Committee of the Central Pennsylvania Council for Research in Mental Retardation. This action, along with other business, was the result of the first semi-annual meeting of the Council recently held at Bucknell University.

The Section devoted to research consisted of a main address given by John Hottel, Associate Professor of Education at Penn State University, and the presentation of five scientific papers. Dr. Maietta and Mr. Donald Austin, Director of Education at Selinsgrove State School and Hospital, presented a paper which is entitled "A Preliminary Report of a Five-Year Study on Speech Therapy."

made atom models from wire and styrofoam balls to make their studies more meaningful. The class included other basic chemistry, in addition to a demonstration of the Gieger counter, as the members of the group studied radioactivity in the area of physics.

The twenty-three members of the class reportedly were very interested in the in the lectures, and also seemed to enjoy working in their science areas.

From a Diary

BSC Players production of the "Crucible"—thought it was very well done. Beat Cheyney; West Chester clobbers us! Now they're announcing this bit about "advance scheduling ... among the 1001 other announcements at assembly ..."

November 22, 1961 —

The one and only Stan Freeman... Great! Automation has set in... Now we register by IBM machine, or something like that... sounds like a real jazzy process. All the profs have flown the coop... temporarily... there's the conference in higher education... on lower education (that must be us)... and the one on how to make basket-weaving an integral part of the curriculum...

December 8, 1961 —

Christmas is coming... it's a good thing... I spent all of Thanksgiving trying to get those eight small (2000 words each) term papers done. More tests and those inevitable, interminable "quickies"—an institution that is unique to BSC—I think? The "Silver Bells" rang out at the Soph. Cotillion. I finally got pre-pre-registered — or whatever they call it. And it only took me three days... skipping classes that is!"

January 19, 1962 —

"Lots of lists... graduation list for outstanding January graduates... 247 freshmen on the first semester probation list... and my you-know-what-list, headed by my Hindu-tani professor — that's what it sounds like he's speaking. BSC wins $150 in Basie suit. Wrestling and basketball now in high gear..."

February 9, 1962 —

It snowed today... again... waded through ten inches of snow on the sidewalks to get to class... one of these fine days they'll find a way to remove snow from sidewalks — I hope! Things look pretty rough... all the profs seem to be in league—or rather—competition—to see who can give the most amount of work and tests in the shortest amount of time..."

"Wrestling team wins NAIA title... we get a day off to celebrate. Much talk about BSC's eventual transition to a liberal arts school... don't know about that "liberal" part... did anyone tell the profs?"

April 4, 1962 —

"Spring weekend over... Dave Guard... the Hill Singers... Kai Winding... the inevitable round of term papers and tests..."

May 10, 1962 —

"Another year almost over... May Day was lovely... the Fine Arts Festival... a trial run... moderately successful. Elections... CGA... class... club. Olympian great! Obiter coming out... graduation... tests... summer registration... and the IBM machine again... Wonder if I'll make it... A grand lam finish to a great year!"

Record of 5 Wins, 5 Losses Goes To Baseball Team

A record of 5 wins and 5 losses has been compiled so far for the Husky baseball team. Looking back over the season, Coach Zeigler pointed out that many of the losses were due to critical errors in fielding and hitting slumps at a time when hits were badly needed. Coach Zeigler, however, expressed a note of optimism in view of the fact that the entire ball club is made up of sophomores, with the exception of two juniors, Gary Rupert and Don Springer. Zeigler feels that his club will be considerably stronger in the next two years as the sophomores gain experience and polish their techniques.

Lose Double-Header to Mansfield

The Huskies met Mansfield SC on May 1, at home in a double-header. During the third inning of the first game, Mansfield scored three runs on a hit, a walk and a triple. In the fourth inning, Gary Rupert singled and then scored on a fly ball to left field which was hit by Gene Kapes. The second game saw BSC tie twice only to lose by a 6-2 score. Mansfield had four unearned runs at the top of the ninth which sent the game into extra innings. Rupert led in the hitting department going three for four throughout the game.

Win Against Kutztown

On May 12, BSC hosted Kutztown and sent them home with a 13-1 defeat. Jim McKinley won his first game of the season as he gave up 7 hits, 1 run and struck 6 out. Every inning brought at least one more Husky point. Ev Viera, Rupert, Larry Tironi, Art Tinner, and McKinley each had two hits apiece. Viera and Rupert also drove in two runs each. Rupert was 2 for 3 to bring his batting average to .400.

Golf Team Wins Five in a Row

The BSC golf team went to the Clinton County Country Club at Lock Haven to play both Lock Haven and Mansfield. The Huskies won over both teams with scores of 17-1 over Mansfield and 12-6 over Lock Haven making it five wins in a row. George Gensemer was medalist with a 75, and he was followed by George Masich (80) and captain John Yurgel (82).

At the States

Out of the twelve teams entered in the state meet, BSC came in 7th. The meet was held at the Caledonia Golf Club and Shippensburg SC was the host team. Slippery Rock was awarded the championship and Indiana and California were tied for 2nd place. Gensemer was sixth out of the 45 entered players with a 75. Yurgel shot an 81, Masich was next with 83, and Joe Rado followed with 86.

Fine Performances

Coach Satz has been particularly well pleased with the performances of Gensemer and Masich, both freshmen, and Yurgel, a junior. Gensemer has been medalist in many of the matches, and has

Jim Brown Speaks At Awards Dinner

Jim Brown

Jim Brown, All-Professional full-back of the Cleveland Browns, National Football League, was the featured speaker at the Annual Athletic Awards Dinner. The dinner program was held in the College Commons.

Brown has been a star athlete since his early teens in Manhasset, Long Island, New York. As a high school athlete, he won 13 varsity letters, was rated a high school All-American fullback, and was named Long Island's Outstanding High School Athlete. Earmarked for collegiate athletic greatness, even before he entered Syracuse University, Jim's outstanding feats on the athletic field went far beyond the highest hopes of friends and supporters. An all-around athlete, he was All-American in football and lacrosse at Syracuse University, and was equally outstanding in baseball, basketball, track and field, and golf.

Jim Thorpe Trophy

Brown has been a perennial All-Professional League Selection since he entered the National Football League. He was won pro football's outstanding awards, including the Rookie of the Year Award, has been rated Outstanding Player of the Year by Associated Press, United Press International, and the Sporting News, and won the coveted Jim Thorpe Trophy as the NFL's Premier Star in 1958. He holds the National League's ball-carrying record for a single game, and, in 1961, won the season ground-gaining title for the fifth consecutive year.

Also in Business World

He is taking the fullest advantage of the education and training that his college degree symbolizes to put himself on the right road toward equaling his athletic success in the world of business. He is currently in his fourth year as a member of the Marketing Department of the Pepsi-Cola Co. His off-grid hours are spent working with the Company in NFL cities on a variety of marketing projects. He also has his own radio program sponsored on an exclusive basis by Pepsi Cola Bottlers across the nation. Jim presently makes his home in Cleveland, Ohio, with his wife and three children.

scored consistently in the 70's for the 18 holes of competition.

Peffer, Cocco and Edwards Lead Track Team to Victory

The Huskies took their second state championship of the year this past Saturday at Shippensburg SC. In a tremendous team effort, the BSC track men were awarded the winner's cup for first place in the State Colleges Conference Championships. Three men, Roy Peffer, Ed Cocco and Gary Edwards, took five first place slots between them to lead the Huskies to the victory. West Chester State College entered the meet for the first time in thirteen years but the Huskies managed to hold on to the title for the second consecutive year. Bloomsburg finished with 46½ points and West Chester followed with 43½ points. Third place went to Slippery Rock with a 42 point effort; Shippensburg and East Stroudsburg gained fourth and fifth places with 26¾ and 17¾ points respectively. Also entered in the meet were Millersville, Kutztown, Lock Haven, Edinboro, Cheyney and Indiana State Colleges.

Peffer Leads Scoring

Peffer, a junior from Cumberland Valley, led the Husky scoring by gaining a total of 15 points. For the third straight year, Peffer has topped all scores on the Maroon and Gold squad with an average of 18 points per meet. Last year, he was just behind Ed Cocco in the 100-yard dash, and the two men have repeated the 1st-2nd place pattern all this year. At the state meet, his slightly below average total was the result of winning first place honors in the 220-yard low hurdles, second place in the 120-yard high hurdles and third place in both the broad jump and the 100-yard dash. Termed by Coach Mike Flanagan as "the most versatile athlete in the college," Roy's time in the low hurdle event was 0:24.3. Bill Lewis, standout Shippensburg performer, edged Peffer out in the high hurdles with a time of 0:15.1. Russ Hopewell jumped 23'10" to win the broad jump and teammate Cocco came up first in the 100-yard dash.

Cocco Wins Dashes

Ed Cocco had two first places in the 100-yard dash and the 220-yard dash. His times for the events were 9.9, for the 100 and 21.7, for the 220. Gary Edwards, a sophomore from Allentown, won top honors in the discus throw as a freshman and repeated again this year with a heave of 142' 2½". He also took the shot put event by throwing 45' 9".

Jan Prosseda finished fourth in the mile race and third in the two mile race. Jan came from behind to finish third in the two mile run. Moses Scott tied for third place in 880-yard run with Jim Waldorf of Slippery Rock. The Husky relay team finished fourth and Howie Hunter came in fifth in the javelin throw. Joe Enney also took a valuable fifth place in the discus.

Close Call

After the relay race, West Chester had to take both first and second places in the high jump to tie for the championship. They got the first place but missed the second and also the sharing of top honors.

Kutztown Visits

The track team also won over Kutztown in a meet on May 4, by a score of 90-41. Twelve of the fifteen events fell to the Huskies as they took 11 first places. On May 1, the team hosted East Stroudsburg and won, 80-51. During this meet, the BSC old high hurdle record fell to Peffer making it the fourth to go to him this year. His new time is 12.9; the old one was 13.1. At least one member of the team placed in each of the events of this meet and the boys captured 10 first places.

Coach Flanagan, assistant Coach John Scrimgeour, and the team are to be congratulated on their fine performance and adding another state championship.

BSC Tennis Team Looks to Future

The Husky tennis team, suffering from an inexperienced squad of players, met East Stroudsburg on April 30, and lost 9-0. They then played Shippensburg on May 5, and hosted East Stroudsburg on May 10, to make up for the May 8 contest which was postponed because of rain. On Saturday, May 12, the team made its last home appearance on the Bloomsburg Tennis Club court against Kutztown State College. So far this year, Coach Craig Himes' racquet wielders have fallen before Millersville, Shippensburg (2), and East Stroudsburg (2). They won their opening contest of the season on April 5, at Kutztown SC.

New Varsity Sport

Considering the fact that this is the first time in nearly 20 years that tennis has been rated as a varsity sport at BSC, the tennis team is to be commended on a tremendous effort.

Debate Season Ends; Mattern Top

The BSC Debating Club climaxed its debating season with its annual intra-club tournament. Bill Mattern came out on top as the outstanding debator of the year.

The teams competing in the tourney were the affirmative teams of Charles Scarantino and Robert Brann, and Ray Oman and Judy Applegate who opposed the two negative teams of John Natras and Lucy Zablocky and Edward A'Zary and Bill Mattern.

At the conclusion of this tournament the negative team of Bill Mattern and Ed A'Zary were declared victors of this contest. They went through the entire tournament undefeated.

Judges for the tournament debators were Mr. William Bannum and Miss Elaine Anderson, members of the debate and argumentation classes; Mr. William Eisenburg and Mr. Gerald Strauss, members of the college faculty. The final debates were judged by Dean Hoch and Dr. Charles Halstead.

Editor Discusses Paper Problems

"Being half nuts is the initial requirement for anyone interested in the newspaper business," stated Mr. Edward F. Schuyler, Editor of the Morning Press, as he spoke to the BSC Journalism class.

He explained that each newspaper has its own problems to face and since it "cannot be all things to all people" its first step in solving the problems is to determine a general editorial policy. Because the Morning Press is serving a largely rural area, the major problem confronting it is that of personal journalism; space must be allotted to local news at the expense of a more important story.

Mr. Schuyler is a graduate of BSC, however, he noted that when he left, it was still a State Normal School. He has been with the Morning Press approximately 35 years, working initially under Mr. Paul Trescott, who left the Morning Press in 1937 to be on the editorial board of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, the evening paper with the largest circulation in the United States.

Seniors Had Ball, Honor Advisors

The Senior Class of BSC recently held its annual banquet and ball at Genetti's Lodge in Hazleton. A semi-formal dance to the music of Stan Fields and his orchestra followed the dinner.

Special recognition went to the four faculty members who served as advisors to the class. Mr. Scarpino received a certificate for a science book, Mr. Scrimgeour received a leather brief case, a pen and pencil and personalized note paper was presented to Mr. Bashore, and Mr. Cope received two dress shirts. Mr. George, chairman of the commencement policy committee, was presented with a wallet; Dr. Thoenen, chairman of the commencement activities committee, was given a two year subscription to "Current Affairs."
