Miss Melinda Ann Sorber and Mr. Ronald Petruzzi were the recipients of Who's Who honors at today's commencement exercises. The names of these individuals will be included in the list for publication in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, national directory of distinguished students throughout the nation. Choice is made by the Deans and Directors on the basis of actual ability, scholastic achievement, personal traits, leadership, potential usefulness to society, and professional promise.

Miss Sorber comes from Shickshinny, Pa., and has studied Speech Correction here at BSC. She was a member of the newspaper staff, Council for Exceptional Children, and Sigma Alpha Eta honor fraternity.

Mr. Petruzzi is from Eldred, Pa., and studied General Business at BSC. He was a member of the Business Education Club, Pi Omega Pi fraternity, and helped co-ordinate the Business Contest.

Opportunities In European Travel And Work Offered

Throughout the year the M&G has received literature on the foreign travel and work. It is impossible to place all this material in our newspaper; therefore, we are placing the following information in the M&G office for student use.

AESF

The American-European Student Foundation offers the student an opportunity to come in direct contact with the people of Europe through jobs which include farm work, forestry work and child care. The pay will be according to the European wages and economy and this is scaled accordingly.

MSU

A six week language study program in either French, German, Italian or Spanish taught in the respective countries is offered by the Michigan State University.

Classrooms Abroad

Small sections of nine week classes in European universities under the direction of American and native professors are offered by Classrooms Abroad. The student will live with private families and participate in all academic and social activities of the school with the native student.

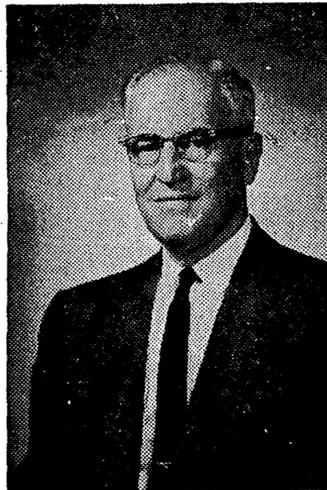

Government Scholarships

As a part of the educational and cultural exchange programs of the Department of State, the U.S. Government Scholarships provided for under the Fulbright-Hays Act are offered for the purpose of increasing a mutual understanding between the peoples of the United States and other countries. These scholarships provide for round trip transportation, a language or orientation course, tuition, books, and maintenance for one academic year.

RTSI

The Royal Travel Service, Inc., offers 57 day tours of Europe to comply with the high demand for vacation travel of this type. The tours include sightseeing with guide-lecturers and the possibility of contacting universities in Europe for further information concerning the country.

DR. HEIGES FEATURED SPEAKER AT TODAY'S COMMENCEMENT

Dr. Ralph E. Heiges, President of Shippensburg State College, was the feature speaker at the annual mid-year Commencement Convocation at the BSC this afternoon when the Bachelor of Science degree was conferred on 68 students by Dr. Harvey A. Andruss.

Dr. Heiges has been in education work since 1925; his career includes service as a public school teacher, college professor, college department head, Dean of Instruction, and College President.

A graduate of Ursinus College, he earned the Master of Arts and the Doctor of Philosophy degrees at Columbia University. Ursinus College honored him with the Doctor of Laws degree in October, 1960.

Impressive Career

Dr. Heiges began his career as a history teacher at Royersford High School. In 1934, he terminated a tenure of five years as an Instructor of Government at Findlay College, Ohio, to join the faculty of the State Teachers College, Clarion, Pa. An appointment to the Social Studies faculty at the State Teachers College, Indiana, Pa., in 1936, was the beginning of a tenure of twenty years during which he served successively as Head of the Secondary Education Department and as Dean of Instruction from 1942 to 1955. At that time, he accepted a similar position at Shippensburg, and continued in that capacity until he became President in September, 1956.

Literary Contributions

His recent contributions to professional literature includes articles in the "Educational Research Bulletin," the "Pennsylvania State Education Association Journal," the "Journal of Teacher Education," and "Readings in American State Government" by Lancaster and Brechenridge.

Dr. Heiges is listed in Who's Who, Who's Who in Education and Who's Who in the East. During the past several years, he has served with visitation committees of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education as well as the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Award Contracts For Construction Of 2 New Dorms

Contracts have been awarded for the construction of two girls' dormitories accommodating 496 at the Bloomsburg State College for a total of $1,949,000. Bids in that amount were opened by the General State Authority at Harrisburg recently and the bulk of the work goes to county firms.

S. H. Evert, Inc., town, had the low bid for general construction at $1,347,000. Other low bids were Joseph A. Rado, of Berwick, $231,300 for heating and ventilating and $191,300 for electric work, and John F. Miles Company, Kulpmont, $180,000 for plumbing.

The total was more than $65,000 under the estimate of $2,015,000. During the summer bids were opened and were over the estimate of that time. Later more funds were provided for the project.

The rooms, under the specifications, are to be provided with pre-fabricated units of closet space, bureau and mirror and these units may be moved from one room to another.

Each of the buildings will provide quarters for around 250, with 125 of those in separate four-story units. In each building there will be a connecting area between each unit. In the connection area will be quarters for the dean and a lounge; overhead will be an areaway.

One of the new dormitories will be placed on the front campus, between Science Hall and the World War I Memorial Pinery and the other will be in the area of the terraces between Noetling and Science Halls and part of it will be on the edge of the grove.

Plans call for the erection of a third women's dormitory on the present site of Science Hall so that the three will provide a U-shaped pattern of dormitories. The third building will have a capacity of the total of the two dormitories soon to be constructed and will be much higher.

LOST — A radio-active reversible BSC jacket was lost last Saturday evening in the Commons. The owner of this missing coat informed the M&G that over the holiday a small amount of radio-active materials were sewn into the jacket for medication purposes. If anyone knows the whereabouts of this coat, they are asked to please return it to the Commons in order that the radio-active material may be removed over semester break.

New Faces To Be Seen On Faculty

Dr. Louise B. Seronsy and Mr. George E. Wilwohl will join the faculty of BSC as of Jan. 24, 1968.

Dr. Louise B. Seronsy, wife of Dr. Cecil C. Seronsy, has accepted a temporary appointment as Associate Professor of Psychology and will teach three sections of General Psychology during the coming semester. Dr. Seronsy received her B.S. degree from Fort Hays College, Fort Hays, Kansas; her M.S. degree from George Peabody College for teachers in Nashville, Tennessee; and earned her Ph.D. in Psychology from Purdue University, Indiana. For the past thirteen years she has been doing Navy research work in the Bloomsburg area in association with Tufts University of Medford, Massachusetts. In 1957 she helped to organize the Bloomsburg Mental Health Association and is currently serving as president of that organization. During the past two years she has been doing psychological testing for the Vocational Rehabilitation Council at the Danville State Hospital.

Mr. Wilwohl of Pittsburgh has accepted a position as Assistant Professor of Health and Physical Education. He received his B.S. degree from Slippery Rock State College and his M.S. in Education from the University of Pittsburgh.

For the past two years Mr. Wilwohl has been Director of the Health and Physical Education Department at Herron Hill Junior High School in Pittsburgh. Prior to this he taught physical education in the William Vann Elementary School, coached varsity track and directed swimming programs in the Pittsburgh area.

Halkyard, Wilmarth, Moyer, Geasy Receive Honors At Commencement Exercises on Academic Achievement

A single student, Miss Suzanne Halkyard, received summa cum laude honors at the commencement exercises today. Three other students were also cited with cum laude honors. They were: Miss Ruth M. Wilmarth, Miss Ruth A. Moyer, and Mr. Albert W. Geasy. Miss Halkyard, a former M&G managing editor, was the only student to receive the honor of summa cum laude bestowed by President Andruss. The qualification for graduating summa cum laude is a cumulative academic average of 3.75 or better. Magna and cum laude honors are scaled from 3.3 to 3.75.

Sue came to BSC in the fall semester of 1961 with a broad educational experience as a transfer student from Bucknell and Columbia Universities. She spent the first three years of her college life at Bucknell University at the end of which she went into nurses' training at Lankenau Hospital in Philadelphia. Upon graduation, Sue enrolled in Columbia University for one year and then transferred to BSC.

Sue's extracurricular activities reflect her love for her major areas of English and French. She helped organize the French Club at BSC, was an active member of College Choraleers, and the managing editor of last year's M&G. Her other academic achievements include membership in eight national honor societies including the National English, National French, and National Sociology Honor Societies.

Upon graduation, Sue plans to teach for one semester. After touring Europe this summer, she will begin her graduate studies in the field of International Relations at the American University at Washington, D.C.

Ruth M. Wilmarth, cum laude graduate, is a secondary education major from Kingsley, Pennsylvania, who majored in mathematics and minored in physics. Her extracurricular activities include the Maroon and Gold Band, Choraleers, S.P.S.E.A., and Student Christian Association.

Cum laude honors were also awarded to Ruth A. Moyer, elementary education major from Berwick. Ruth was a member of the Athenaeum and Science Clubs, and was elected to membership in Kappa Delta Pi.

Albert W. Geasy, a secondary education major from Bloomsburg, was the third cum laude graduate. Al came to BSC as a transfer student from the University of Denver where he majored in Electrical Engineering for two years. His majors at BSC included science and mathematics. A navy veteran and father of three sons, Al has been a Dean's List student and a member of the Chess Club.

Relaxing More - - Accomplishing Less

It's still the middle of the winter and the snow is on the ground, but in reality, an aspect of Spring at BSC should be well under way. Not only hasn't Spring Weekend begun to germinate, but at this point, there is no evidence that the seed has even been planted. Without the aid of an exceptionally good growing season, a blight may be expected in May...

The presentation of Big Name Entertainment for Homecoming and Spring Weekends has been the subject of various forms of discussion since the inception of the idea three years ago. In general the idea has not been viewed too favorably in a few circles because of the financial insecurity of each venture, the occasional deficits, and even one instance of a disappointed audience because of an extremely poor performance. With the conclusion of each weekend, College Council apprehensively adds the columns and solemnly vows that the next event will be heralded with an extensive program of thorough preparation. It is to be hoped that these preparations for BSC's Spring Weekend have been begun—though as yet there seems to be no sign of this. The growing season has long been under way.

This year College Council is comprised of many individuals whose potential for leadership is far above average. But no group, no matter how often or regularly it meets can accomplish anything without some source of incentive.

Spring Weekend Not Alone

College weekends are not the only appendages of Council that have been stunted. Other well-established organs also show signs of being devitalized. True, some life exists in these organs, but in all due consideration they leave much to be desired in the opinion of the Maroon and Gold. For instance, in the interest of team spirit our Pep Committee's early endeavors met with little success, but they haven't been heard from since. What happened to that "good old college try"?

Although the Husky Lounge annexes are considered a fire hazard, the lounge itself has been subject to but one poorly executed fire drill. Admittedly, the dormitory occupants are well-versed on evacuation procedures; however, fires do not limit themselves to late evening or early morning hours.

Some Have Laurels

Last spring, the Library Policy Committee executed the admirable feat of extending the hours that students could utilize the resources there. However, this does not mean that all possibilities for improvement have been exploited. One accomplishment is never enough to allow us to rest on our laurels! For instance, what has been done to safeguard the books which are constantly doing a disappearing act?

Then, there is the perpetual question about improving the caliber of our assembly programs. Has the travel time to and from assemblies as compared to the length of the programs ever been calculated? In the effort to keep students informed, much consideration has been given to provide attractive and conveniently located bulletin boards. Therefore, perhaps more reliance could be placed upon the efficacy of the bulletin boards. Short programs of interest and educational value could be presented through the efforts of the assembly committee to give the weekly pilgrimage more consistent values.

Not all CGA Standing Committees have become lackadaisical. The activities of organizations such as the Dining Room, Social Recreation, Hospitality, and Decoration Committees have been commendable. It is to be desired that this vitality spreads not only to the blossoming of Spring Weekend, but also to many other parts of the organism.

How To Be "Bookish" On A Budget

by Linda Williams

BSC students have a phobia about buying new books at the beginning of the semester, and its no wonder! The cost of new books ranges from $3.00 to $13.00 a copy, and the cost of seven books at these prices can really take a big slice out of the semester budget! BSC students aren't in college for nothing, however, and there are several methods of cutting down the book bill.

The Exchange System

The easiest and cheapest way to obtain a new set of books is to exchange with someone who needs your books. This is ideal—provided you can use their books, which is not always the case. A great deal of confusion can result from this system unless the exchange is complete. Usually, you need four of theirs while they can use only two or three of yours. In cases like this, fair exchange is impossible.

Rent-a-Book

Another convenient system is called "rent-for-one-semester." This is wonderful provided the owner doesn't charge you a fortune in rent. Make sure you agree on an amount before the deal is set. You may end up paying more than the original cost of the book. Another disadvantage of this system is the fact, that because the books aren't yours, you have to be twice as careful with them. It is not possible to underline important points, make notes in the margin, or even doodle a little.

If, on the other hand, you want to rent your books, it is an excellent way to earn a little money and still be able to keep your books. You'll get them back eventually—only a "little" worn.

The Big Swindle

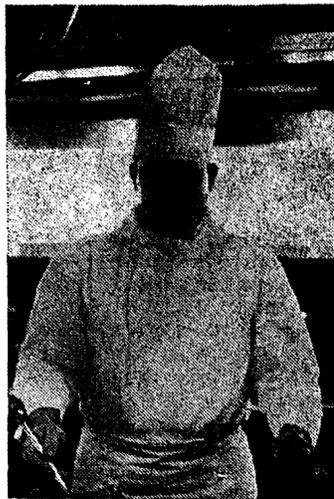

By far, the most popular method of obtaining books is to buy them—second or third-hand. In this instance, real business sense and the ability to talk will come in handy. If you are buying, the idea is to make the owner believe his book is worth little or nothing to you, but you'll do him a favor, and take it off his hands. When selling your own books, it is necessary to make your prospective customer realize what a big favor you'll be doing him when you knock off a third of the price—even if the book has been used for three semesters and is practically falling apart.

Buyers Beware

When buying, keep your eyes open for bargains, and be careful not to be "taken in." Word usually spreads rapidly, when a book will only be used for one more semester, and this can be a bargain. You may be able to pick it up for $.50 or $1.00, for, if the owner doesn't unload it, he'll be stuck. Be very careful to make sure the book you buy will be used in your course. In some courses, textbooks change often, and you may buy a book you don't need.

More buying and selling often takes place in Husky Lounge than in the College Book Store so be sure to stay alert. If you have all your books lined up for next semester—Congratulations! If you are still looking, don't give up. It might even be possible to find someone who is so sick and tired of a course that he'll give you his book just to get rid of it!

Reinaker Becomes New Chief Chef For Food Service

Most everyone enjoys eating—especially we college students. In fact, during exam time, the prospect of a meal is one of the few bright spots in our tedious, nerve-racking day. Because of ravishing hunger, however, we BSC students often fail to notice some of the people who make this experience possible.

Mr. Donald Reinaker, the new head chef at the commons, is one of the people who make the three daily meals that we eat possible. Mr. Reinaker undertook his new position upon the transferring of Marvin Welsh, the previous head chef at BSC. Speaking for the Slater Service, Mr. Thomas Phillips feels that Mr. Reinaker, a man of great potential who will go far in his field.

Diversified Experience

A native of Bloomsburg, Mr. Reinaker received most of his basic training in the culinary arts during his four years in the Air Force. While stationed at Scott Air Force base in Illinois, our chef attended classes which taught the basic skills and phases of cooking. To apply these skills, the students worked in the dining hall during morning hours.

Besides his position with Slater Service at BSC, Mr. Reinaker's services have also been utilized extensively by the ARA Slater School and College Service which selects a certain number of its employees to assist in such special food services as parties, banquets, and camps. Mr. Reinaker particularly enjoys preparing these banquets.

Cooking Is Pleasure

When asked about his feelings about serving college students, our head chef answered positively. Heckling the food is natural among students, and those who do this are usually good-natured about it. Mr. Reinaker particularly enjoys cooking for students because he gets great pleasure out of watching people enjoy food.

As a sidelight, Mr. Reinaker mentioned that he does not do the cooking at home, for his wife is also a good cook. Occasionally he might take over the preparation of hollandaise sauce—that's his specialty.

Announce National Defense Fellowships

Next year a number of American universities will again offer graduates in such areas as English, graduate in such areas as English, history, economics, and government. Most of these are National Defense fellowships which cover a three-year period and range from $2,000 to $2,400. For further details consult the bulletin board in the lobby of Old North Hall.

To Pass Aquatics Or Drown Trying

by Jennifer Smith

Does your schedule for next semester have "Aquatics" on it? Fine! That's what somebody decided to call swimming class, and we have here a few words of encouragement and explanation for those to whom this applies.

Swimming sections are usually divided into three groups: beginners, intermediates and advanced. One is as bad as the other, except that the beginners class is a good one for students who already know how to swim. Anyone who can't should just say his prayers, and try not to think about it.

Orientation

The first phase of learning to swim consists of "getting used to the water". This means indulging in several activities such as the jelly-fish float and prone float, chasing hockey pucks, and doing bobs. We won't explain any of these things because it's much nicer to be surprised. During this period, one usually learns to hate the water. Also, after swallowing enough water containing varying concentrations of chlorine, one soon develops a taste for clorox. Watch out for this; it can become a habit.

Swim or Sink

Next, one learns to kick and thrash about, preferably not wildly, although this is frequently the result. During this process, a swimming teacher can find more things wrong with one's form than there are days in the year. Don't worry about this. Just worry about getting out of the deep water before you collapse.

By the end of the semester, swimming students are expected to jump in the deep end of the pool and swim its length. One should do this at all costs, even at the expense of his life. Otherwise, he will flunk the course. Actually, they won't let one drown. That would be bad publicity.

Letters To the Editor . .

Dear Editor,

A year ago at this time, I was a freshman at a small Liberal Arts college and about to face my first week of finals. The thought alone sent terror into my heart, but I lived through it somehow. Fortunately, I had enough time to study for each test, all of which were comprehensive, two-hour exams. Each professor picked out the highlights of the course and included no insignificant details. Of course we all felt that we were the victims of an unjust ordeal, though.

When I began to make plans to transfer to my hometown college—BSC—I inquired as to the administration of finals here. I was thrilled to find that there was no final week.

Therefore, when I read your first editorial on the subject of a final week, I thought you were mad. I had, however, never faced a BSC final week. Now I would like to offer my support for a final week with comprehensive tests and no classes. I might point out that this is the system employed at most good colleges.

Advantages

There are advantages to both systems, I suppose, but I feel that a week of only finals has more. Let me enumerate: (1) Sufficient time is available to study for and take the exam. (2) An overall impression of the course sticks with you, which is, after all, the purpose of college. (3) Since there are no classes to prepare for, special, individual attention can be given to each exam. (4) It's easier on the teachers too, since they don't have classroom preparation and can take the time to thoroughly correct the papers. I shall list the disadvantages also, so that my argu-

Dear Editor,

I enjoyed the "Letter to Santa" editorial in the December 14 issue of the Maroon and Gold, parts of it were nearly like a prayer. You really hit upon a need, or needs, that fit most of us.

I've also enjoyed your sketches of the faculty. I'm sure that many students now look upon them with more respect.

Peggy Kreisher

ment does not appear one-sided: (1) Study is essential and time-consuming since the entire course must be reviewed. (2) It is a time of tension and bad tempers due to the Pressure.

Disadvantages

Now let's look at our own finals at BSC. Advantages: (1) You really don't have to remember what happened in the course in September, because your test is only on the last little unit. (2) After your final you don't need to pay attention in class anymore, because it can't affect your grade. Now to the disadvantages: (1) Classes and finals must be prepared for—you're going to lose somewhere. (2) The course remains forever a thing in pieces, there is no comprehensive whole. (3) This system also creates bad tempers and tension, due again to the pressure which is probably greater.

I think it's evident to all concerned that a week devoted to comprehensive finals is much more beneficial and less strenuous.

I support you in the cause, and I hope that the M&G can be the first link in a chain of reactions leading to a sane, well-scheduled week of finals.

Sincerely,
Priscilla Greco

European Travel Offered By BSC For Summer School Enthusiasts

For those who are interested in a new twist in summer school, a foreign travel course is being offered by Bloomsburg State College this summer from June 20 to July 24. "The Life and Culture of Western Europe" will be seen in the countries of Holland, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, France, and England. The tour will comprise history, government, science and industry, fine arts, and social studies.

See It All

Americans going to Europe for the first time want to see as much as possible of as many places as possible. To the extent that all travel is broadening and educational, this is a worthy purpose. Fundamentally, however, this course is planned with the objective of understanding. In today's world it is important to understand that culture, history, and current movements of the countries to be visited. This important dimension is an integral part of the trip. Members will meet and participate in discussions with students, officials and natives in their own environments. Thus it is hoped that a sense of identity with other lands and peoples may be achieved.

George Directs Tour

Professor Henry R. George, Department of Social Studies, Bloomsburg State College, will be the tour director. Prof. George has had extensive experience in observing and studying world cultures. His services as consultant to foreign governments, contributions to publications, and lengthy residences in Europe, Africa, Asia and the Arctic have greatly enriched his cultural studies. His experience and enthusiasm eminently qualify him as an outstanding director for this study project. Professor George will be accompanied and assisted by Mrs. George.

Interested students may contact Professor George for further information concerning the trip and its requirements.

Exam Policy Stated

Reasons for final exam schedule changes at Oregon State U. include: the student has four finals in one day; the exam conflicts with the working hours of a job which the student has held during the term and for which a suitable new schedule cannot easily be made; the student is a Seventh Day Adventist and has a Saturday final; the student needs more time to study; the student has an exceptional hardship case.

Answers Queries On Must-Go-Or Else Assembly

Perhaps you may have been wondering why you were required to attend the commencement exercises in Centennial Gymnasium today. When consulted, Mr. Anderson, Assistant Dean of Students, gave the following explanation:

The commencement ritual has been declining in importance. Many people only attend their own graduation activities. In the last few years only seniors were required to attend the January graduation, however, this year the mid-year commencement will be the largest in BSC history.

To Honor Graduates

The commencement exercise is planned to project the true solid academic importance of the institution. It is a symbol of the attainment of a BS degree in education by the participating graduates. In the January commencement exercises the special honors and awards are presented at this time, while in May there is a special honor assembly. Thus, attendance at these programs gives the undergraduate the privilege and opportunity to honor the graduates.

Outstanding Speakers

Speakers obtained for the commencement exercises are outstanding individuals and receive from $500 to $1000 for the engagement. Their words of wisdom can be useful to the undergraduate as well as the graduating students. There is also the opportunity to see the heads of various departments

English Dept. At Language ConFab

Three members of the English Department, Dr. Seronsy, Miss Susan Rusinko, and Mr. Gerald Strauss attended the annual meeting of the Modern Language Association held recently in Washington, D.C. Over 6,000 members gathered in the Statler Hilton and Mayflower Hotels there.

In addition to their attending several of the meetings, they heard Under-Secretary of State Cleveland announce officially that the State Department will now require every person assigned to the foreign service to have a sound knowledge of the language spoken in the country to which he is assigned.

along with the Dean of Students, Dean of Instruction, and President of the college.

Colorful Ceremony

Since the entire faculty is required to wear their graduation gowns and academic colors at graduation, it is possible for the students to recognize their importance and degrees. Another significant part of the commencement is the ceremony of the presentation of the diploma. During this phase of the exercise the departmental heads present their students to President Andrus who in turn awards the diplomas.

It is the only commencement we can attend at BSC without an invitation and as future teachers we must become affiliated with the commencement procedure since we will participate in the graduation exercises at the schools where we teach.

Active In Debate Second Semester

The BSC Forensic Society plans to enter tournaments in the state, outside of the state, and present debates to high school assemblies during the second semester.

Varsity debaters will enter tournaments in February at Kings College on the 8 and 9, and at Mt. Mercy in Pittsburgh.

A Switch Tournament will be held at the University of Pennsylvania, and a two man team from BSC will debate both the affirmative and negative.

Franklin and Marshall will hold a tournament at Lancaster in March, and the first out of state tournament may be attempted at New York University in April.

The Forensic Society will travel to St. Joseph's in Philadelphia during April 4-6 representing BSC in the State Championship. The society hopes to enter a debate team in both the oratorical and extemporaneous speech contests.

Intraclub debates before high school assemblies will be held by the Forensic Society during the second semester.

The Forensic Society sponsored a debate last year between Princeton and Bucknell, and this year it will be Princeton or Lehigh — the Villanova tournament being won by Lehigh.

Dr. Hopkins, advisor to the Forensic Society, points out that the extensive debating schedule draws heavily upon membership of the Forensic Society. He would like all persons interested in debate to join the ranks of the debating society and they can be assured of intellectual and stimulating activities.

Hectic Schedule For Drama Club

"Busy" has been the word for most BSC students recently, but "Hectic" better describes the lives of the dramatic group as they start working on their second production of The Warm Peninsula.

This ambitious undertaking depicts the adventures of a young girl who goes to Miami Beach and mingles with unusual resort characters. The Warm Peninsula, by Joe Masteroff, has had a successful Broadway run with Julie Harris as its star. At Bloomsburg the cast consists of: Priscilla Greco, Dolores Keen, Ann Marie Rappela, Don Hopkins, Henry Fetterman, Robert Hensley, and Dennis Reedy; and will be directed by Mr. William Cope.

The play will be presented in Carver Hall Auditorium on February 14 and 15 at 8:15. Students and faculty will be admitted free on the presentation of their activities card.

Dr. Seronsy Attends Penn State ConFab

A three day Conference on Bibliography held at Pennsylvania State University was recently attended by Dr. Cecil Seronsy. About 125 persons from various colleges and universities in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania were present.

Dr. Seronsy reports "several stimulating papers were read, covering such topics as the establishment of a valid literary text, the relationship between internal and external evidence in texts, and a proposed project that would integrate all literary bibliographies by computer machines."

The Beginning Of The End To Teach Or Not To Teach

by Sue Halkyard

"Student teaching is a blast!" ... at least that's the general consensus that is passed down to those who are about to go from those who have "went." A "blast" it may be, but it all depends upon whether one is standing in front of the blast or creating it! "We who are about to die salute you!" Those Romans really had something... unfortunately, it takes about 17½ weeks for the average student teacher to realize how prophetic these words are, for contrary to popularly expressed opinion, student teaching is anything but a "blast."

In the beginning... there's orientation — two days of hard seats, good advice, filling out forms (in quadruplicate), and "do not's." At last you're on the way, equipped with all the reference materials, supplies, and lists of requirements that will possibly fit into one room. After satisfactorily adapting to your new environment — away from all those bothersome regulations that govern you on campus — you are ready for the big day.

What's In A Name

That first day as teacher — introductions to the superintendent, supervising principal, assistant supervising principal, secretary (s), custodians (i.e. janitors), librarian... and finally, the master of your fate, your "co-op." Somewhere along the way, you come to the realization that there are students in this school, even if you don't formally meet them for a few days. Introductions over, you are escorted on a grand tour of the physical plant (the school), including that revered sanctuary of all teachers — the faculty lounge. This is the one place that you will frequent least and long for most.

But When Do We Teach

Then it starts... lesson plans, unit plans, case studies, observations, professional readings, faculty meetings, departmental meetings, in-service days, back-to-school night, parents' night, early bus duty, late bus duty, lunch duty, hall patrol, and other small chores. Occasionally you clean the chalkboard, clap the erasers, police the classroom, and empty the wastebins. In your spare time you prepare for the daily lesson, create bulletin boards, arrange for film showings, correct papers, and sleep.

Why Teachers Get Grey

There are problems — even the very best teachers have problems. Other than maintaining discipline, and motivating the students, you may have to solve such dilemmas as a flooded classroom due to a plugged-up water fountain — said fountain plugged by one of your students. And there you are, no life preservers and half the little darlings can't swim! Or you may be in one of those classrooms that have two doors — back and front — and you never can keep an accurate count of all the students present at any one time in the class. These are but a few of the minor catastrophes that could happen — and have!

Basic Do's and Don'ts

Make no mistake, student teaching is a learning experience. Some of us learn the hard way, others the easy, but all of us learn. There are a few pitfalls that the beginner had best be aware of:

1. Don't be too eager to show all your knowledge and/or talents. It's your grade, but someone else's ego. Anyway, if you've got it, they'll find it.
2. Never complain, except to your most trusted friends. Complainers are troublemakers, and schools do not hire troublemakers.
3. Do not make the faculty lounge a student hangout. Remember, the weather is, and always has been, the safest topic of conversation. Of course, there are those who will argue over this as if it meant life or death.
4. The grade you save may be your own. It's not the grade that counts, but that's what you "gets."

It's not all work, believe it or not, You can laugh at your mistakes (after they are a day or so old), cry when you think you've accomplished nothing (the day you correct that unit test), wish you'd never embarked on this career — and pray you'll never leave it. You are never alone in your misery, almost every other student teacher before, with, and following you will go through the very same ordeals.

Is it worth all the tears, late hours, soul-searching, and tension? To anyone who sincerely wants to teach children, all the ordeals are but small nuisances that are just a part of the teacher's life. The joy and sense of fulfillment that come if you can teach one child one thing, will be a reward without measure.

Books Being Sent To Philippines For Peace Corp

A total of 1589 books have been collected for the Philippines as a result of a recent letter to a BSC student from Peace Corps volunteer, Linda Henry. Miss Henry's letter mentioned that many books in any area were needed to assist the Peace Corp's obligation in teaching the people of the Philippines. The combined result of an article in the Maroon and Gold, and her correspondent's contacting several campus fraternities and organizations will bring her this truckload of books.

Many Books Collected

Mr. Craig Himes, of the BSC faculty, has been in charge of gathering the books. Types of material collected were spelling, reading, science, music, English grammar, fiction and a few manuals. The BSC Honor Society, Kappa Delta Pi, is planning to pay shipping charges on the books. They are planning to seek help from the Bloomsburg Community to seal the boxes with metal bands to insure safe shipping. Mr. Himes said it is hoped that the books can be mailed before January 19.

Other Clubs Contribute

Other organizations and individuals sending books are Dr. Harold Lanterman, 300 books, to be shipped by SPSEA; B Club, two boxes; and the International Relations Club, eight boxes.

It is estimated that an eventual 2,600 books will be sent. In addition, SPSEA collected several hundred pencils and some tablets as admission for a dance held before the holidays for the Peace Corps project.

BSC Chess Team Gains Experience

The BSC Chess Team entered competition in the National Intercollegiate Team Chess Championship at LaSalle College in Philadelphia during Christmas vacation. Although the team failed to win a match, it is felt by their advisor, Mordecai Treblow that they gained valuable experience.

The tourney consisted of six rounds with each team fielding four players per match. Bloomsburg lost to MacMaster University (Canada) 0-4; to Boston University 1-3; to Florida State University 0-4; to Wright Junior College (Chicago) ½-3½; to LaSalle College B team 1-3; to Cornell University B team 0-4. Scores of individual BSC players: Dan Marks on first board ½-5½; Richard Roke on second board 2-3; Robert Raup on 3rd 0-2; Jerry Cooper on 3rd 0-3; Gary Deets on 4th 0-2; Robert Schlotzhauser on 4th and 3rd 0-6.

Civic Music Features Bernard Izzo of Lyric Opera, Jan. 29

The Civic Music Association will offer its third program of the season with the presentation of Bernard Izzo, baritone soloist, on January 29 in Carver Auditorium. He is now in his sixth season as baritone solo artist with the Lyric Opera of Chicago. Each season finds him singing in at least twenty states and Canada.

For four seasons he was the director of the "Theatre Men" with personnel from that company, and is one of the busiest artists of the Midwest. He has appeared with various symphonies, and has now appeared ten times in oratorios accompanied by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. He appeared nine times during five successive seasons with the Indianapolis Symphony.

While serving with an infantry division in the Pacific during World War II, Mr. Izzo had his own radio program "Studio Concert" over the Armed Forces Network, broadcast from Osaka, Japan. Since then he has made over 300 radio and TV broadcasts, including "Chicago Theatre of the Air," Mutual; "Club Time," ABC; and "Garway at Large," NBC-TV.

He has appeared with many leading choral organizations of the Mid-West and South, including the Apollo Musical and the Swedish Choral Clubs of Chicago. He is particularly well known for his interpretations of the "Elijah," "Messiah," Brahms "Requiem" and "St. Matthew Passion."

In August of 1954, he was soloist for the World Council of Churches great "Festival of Faith" in Chicago's Soldier Field, before 125,000 people.

Mr. Izzo was born in Rochester, N.Y., and received the Bachelor of Music degree from Heidelberg College, Tiffin, Ohio, and the Master of Music degree from the American Conservatory in Chicago, where he is now a member of the faculty.

The title and custody of the Harold Phillips trophy was won by Brooklyn College with 5 match points and 18 game points of a possible 24 game points. Other Pennsylvania colleges in the tourney were Penn State, Temple, LaSalle, and Ursinus. Twenty-eight teams entered including two Canadian universities, University of Puerto Rico, and Los Angeles State College among the far away colleges.

Barb Szymanek SPSEA Candidate For State Office

At the recent Student PSEA meeting, members were requested to accompany Barbara Szymanek to the Regional Conference at Wilkes College, to act as voters for the BSC chapter. Miss Szymanek, a sophomore enrolled in the Special Education curriculum, was selected as a candidate from BSC to the state office of Vice President of Student PSEA. The conference will be held on Feb. 9, 1963. All meals and transportation costs will be paid by the BSC Student PSEA organization. Twenty-one members must be present to be counted as voters.

Guidance Movie

After the business meeting, an Armstrong Circle movie, "The Case for Room 310" was shown. Room 310 is a child guidance clinic in one of the New York City schools. The movie shows the need for understanding and effectual guidance directors in our nation's schools.

SPSEA Dance Well Received

The success of the Student PSEA Christmas dance will probably encourage another attempt at this type of activity. The pinata proved an unusual highlight as five hundred balloons descended during the dance. The request for tablets and pencils for a Philippine school was well received, and as a bonus, free sodas and pretzels were provided for the students attending the dance.

Flanagan Resigns To Take State Job

Michael E. Flanagan, a BSC faculty member for three years, has resigned his position to join the Department of Public Physical Education and Recreation in the Pennsylvania State Department of Public Instruction. Mr. Flanagan, who has been the coach of BSC's Pennsylvania State College Conference championship track and field team of 1961 and 1962, will assume his new duties January 24.

Experience

A native of Clearfield, he is a graduate of Lock Haven State College and received his Masters of Education degree at the Pennsylvania State College. He has taken graduate work at both Springfield, Massachusetts, and Ithaca, N.Y., Colleges.

Prior to coming to BSC he taught and coached in the public schools of DuBois, Curwensville, and Bellefonte. While an undergraduate at Lock Haven he was student coach of the college wrestling team that won a PSC championship in 1942.

Coaching Record

His overall record in wrestling is 43, 19, and 1. In his years as track coach, both in high school and at the local college he compiled a record of 27 wins and a single loss in dual meets. At Bloomsburg his team had a 15 and 0 record over two seasons and at DuBois the tally was 12-1.

He was a member of the track, football, and wrestling teams at Clearfield High School and on the same teams at Lock Haven State College throughout his collegiate career, being captain of the football team as a senior.

SWIMMERS FIGHTING

Centennial pool was filled with a capacity crowd on Wednesday evening to watch the Huskies and Nelson Swarts (who finished a fine collegiate swimming career) defeat Millersville. The next home meet will be against Lock Haven on February 2, at 2:00 p.m.

Reflection From Past and Present Upon Graduation

by Mel Martin

"How does it feel to be graduating?"... This is the one question most often asked those fortunate people who have reached the end of their undergraduate career. And the end is filled with mixed emotions... with happiness and some sadness. We feel happiness in looking forward to the fruits of our education—to our very first paycheck; in looking forward to graduate studies, or, perhaps, to a career outside of the teaching profession. We feel sadness because, in a special corner of our memories, we've reserved the hazed images of dark corridors, of coffee at the Grill, of cokes and cards in the lounge, of sweating exams, of 8:00 classes with eyelids that are half-closed, of dances, and cheering the team on to victory, of friendships—the wonderful thoughts of things left behind.

But on graduation day we not only look behind, but we look forward, too. Even though we've successfully passed student teaching, we wonder if we're going to make those first few weeks on our own. When we leave with that diploma in our hands, we realize that an undergraduate has much more to learn—all that can't be learned in four short years, for education is not a matter of a minute, an hour, a day, or years spent in one school. Education is time and life—when we stop learning we stagnate.

Upon graduation we realize, more than anything else, that we bear the responsibilities of life ourselves. We have a responsibility to the school district we're entering, to the formative minds we'll be working with, and have a responsibility to, and a bond with, all that we've left behind...

BASKETBALL TEAM

the Bloomsburg power took shape. Jim McKinley made use of his driving ability, and Fran Curran made use of his hot hand to help Bloom pull away.

In the second half, the Huskies found little resistance and went on to win the game easily by the final score of 70-58.

Junior Varsity action found Coach Dick Lloyd's team getting back on the winning side by defeating Kutztown, 75-72, in overtime. By Hopkins put on a tremendous exhibition by making 16 for 26 from the floor and 5 foul shots for a total of 37 points.

Alpha Psi Gains New Members

Four new members have been installed into Alpha Psi Omega, the college dramatic honor fraternity. Pictured above are the new members, Henry Fetterman, Secondary, Science; Judy Balestrini, Secondary, Math; Maxine Johnson, Business; and Christine Mavreles, Secondary, English.

The qualifications for membership in this organization include—three semesters of outstanding work in the Dramatics Club and a high scholastic standing of at least 2.0 cumulative average.

Internal Revenue Agent Speaks To Business Ed. Club

Mr. Gerald Murray, an Internal Revenue Agent for the Scranton District, was the guest speaker at the Business Education Club meeting held recently. A film by the US Internal Revenue Service, "Push Buttons in Taxes," was shown. The film showed how the amount of paper work involved in collecting taxes is mounting, and how the Internal Revenue Service is gradually reverting from the manual process of handling this paper work to a newer process called ADP (Automatic Data Processing). This is a system whereby the Internal Revenue can provide better service to the taxpayers.

Following the film, Mr. Murray spoke on the career opportunities in the Internal Revenue Service. He discussed the qualifications to become an Internal Revenue agent, a tax technician, and a Revenue officer. Mr. Gerald Levans, a graduate from BSC, who is now working as a special agent for the Internal Revenue Service, spoke about his job and the requirements necessary to attain this position.

Composition Policy

Queens College is in the process of invoking a new English composition policy to improve the literacy and check the careless writing habits of upperclassmen. The program will apply to incoming freshmen in that they will be required to take two semesters of composition work. If the freshman completes his first semester work with a "C" average, he may be exempt from semester two. The first semester may also be omitted if the student qualifies in his college boards.

Brace yourself: The average elephant's eyelashes are four to five inches long...

Former BSC Members Received Recent Honor and Citation

Two former members of the BSC college community have been advanced in the teaching profession. Mr. Kenneth D. Wagner, a graduate of BSC, has been honored as one of California State Junior Chamber of Commerce's five outstanding young men of 1962. Dr. Honora M. Noyes, a former faculty member of BSC has accepted a position as associate professor of business education at Ball State Teachers College, Muncie, Indiana.

Mr. Wagner has developed new, low-cost techniques in plastic embedding of display methods and X-ray photography techniques. Dr. Noyes has prepared a course of study for business English for the Pa. Department of Public Information.

Number and Type Degrees Revealed By BSC Survey

A survey of 125 members of the BSC faculty was made recently to find out the number and type of degrees held. This survey was made to disprove a commonly held belief among some colleges and universities that state colleges will have to revamp their faculties in preparation for the forthcoming liberal arts program.

The following figures were secured by Dean Hoch: The 125 faculty members hold a total of 266 degrees. Of these 53.6% or 67 faculty members hold degrees from liberal arts colleges; and 30.4% or 38 members have taught a total of 172½ years in liberal arts colleges.

Dean Hoch reported that the administration will continue making appointments of faculty members who have earned their degrees in specific academic subject matter fields from liberal arts colleges or who have taught there.

The survey shows that BSC is well-prepared for liberal arts, as far as the faculty is concerned.

Annual Winter Slosh Will Be Held Feb. 8, 9

"Freezing can be fun" for those hardy souls who brave the elements to slosh in the snow at BSC's annual Winter Weekend to be held on February 8 and 9.

The fun-in-the-snow weekend will commence with the Friday night showing of a feature film on the BSC campus. A dance will follow the film.

Afternoon Festivities

Busses will depart from the campus continuously from 12 to 2 p.m. on Saturday afternoon carrying the revelers to Eagles Mere. During the afternoon the "snow bunnies" will have their choice of tobogganing or ice skating free-of-charge. More adventuresome spirits may go skiing at their own expense. For those who prefer a more sedentary life, there will be dancing to records and indoor sports at the Eagles Mere Community Hall. Hot coffee, chocolate, and donuts will refresh the hungry sportsters during the afternoon.

Dance to Glentels

Following a buffet dinner from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m., the weekenders will dance to music provided by the Glentels from Hazleton. Refreshments will also be served during the dance.

Tickets for this not-to-be-missed festivity are $1 per person including students, faculty, and guests. An extra charge of $.50 will be assessed to those who do not eat in the Commons. The tickets can be obtained outside of Husky Lounge beginning Monday, January 30.

BSC Faculty In Science Listing

Dr. Martin A. Satz, Department of Psychology and Education, and Dr. Barbara J. L. Shockley, Department of Social Studies, both members of the Bloomsburg State College faculty, and included in the 1962 edition, "American Men of Science," the social and behavioral sciences publication, published by the Jaques Cattell Press, Inc.

Criteria for inclusion in "American Men of Science," is based on the following:

Achievement, by reason of experience and training, of a stature in scientific work at least equivalent to that associated with the doctorate degree, coupled with presently continued activity in such work.

Research activity of high quality in science as evidenced by publication in reputable scientific journals; or, for those whose work cannot be published because of governmental or commercial or industrial security, research activity of high quality in science as evidenced by the judgment of the individual's peers among his immediate co-workers.

Attainment of a position of substantial responsibility requiring scientific training and experience of approximately the extent described for the above qualifications.

Basketball Team Downs Kings from the SIDELINES

Swinging back into action after the Christmas holidays, the Huskies, under Coach Bill Foster, opened with an impressive 63-62 victory over the Monarchs of Kings College.

Fran Curran opened the action with two quick buckets and gave Bloom a 4-0 lead. Kings fought back, and it was not until midway through the half, that the locals came to life with a seven-point spurge by Bob Herzig and Fran Curran. The Monarchs battled back again and were only down by three points, 33-30, as time ran out in the first half. Bob Herzig led the half-time scoring with 13 points. Fran Curran and Gary Rupert followed with 8 and 6 points respectively.

Kings opened the second half by quickly jumping into the lead. With 16:30 left, they built up their biggest margin, 42-37, and held it until midway through the period, when the overflow crowd saw the Huskies, with great team effort, work back into a 47-47 deadlock. Then with 7:13 left, a field goal by Bob Farina and a three-point play by Bob Herzig, gave Bloom the lead, 53-49. In the remaining time, the Huskies, with Bob Farina making six consecutive foul shots and a field goal at crucial times, and Bob Herzig and Ed Beck controlling the boards, were able to build up a lead that the Monarchs could not overcome.

In prelim action, By Hopkins was the high man for Bloomsburg with 28 points, but Kings were high scorers in the game and ended up on top 73-71. It was nip and tuck all the way, but the junior Monarchs had the power and breaks in the end to stop a late Husky drive and win the game.

Moving to Mansfield last Wednesday, the Huskies went down in defeat for the second time this season by a 69-66 score. By winning the game, the Mountaineers remained on top of the PSCA Conference.

Fran Curran started hot once again, but the strong Mansfield team quickly built up a 14-3 lead. Bloomsburg pulled back into the game but was still behind 36-31 at the end of the first half.

The Huskies came back strong in the second half and pulled within two points of the Mountaineers, 42-40, when Bob Herzig fouled out with 11 minutes remaining in the game.

Bloom pulled ahead in the late minutes, but Selsburg, with a hot hand, put his team back in the lead 69-63, with six straight foul shots and two field goals. Ed Beck dropped in a field goal and then made a foul shot for the final points of the game.

Fran Curran led the scoring for the locals with 19 points. Ed Beck followed close with 17.

In the JV game, a strong Mansfield junior varsity defeated Bloom by a score of 72-62.

Give Kutztown Defeat
Anxious to get revenge for last week's loss at Mansfield, the Huskies journeyed to Kutztown State College on Saturday and defeated them 70-58.

For the locals, it was probably their best performance of the year on both offense and defense. Bloomsburg's "shifting defense" kept Kutztown so bottled up at times, they had trouble taking a shot. This, and Ed Beck and Bob Herzig controlling the boards, made the Huskies look tough.

The first half was all nip and tuck until the late minutes when

Swimmers Fighting For Best Showing In History of BSC

by Fred Saxton

Centennial Gym was filled with an over-capacity crowd — people were sitting on the floor for there was not one seat left in the stands — and the wrestlers from Southern Illinois University had to weave their way through spectators to get to the mats.

You could feel the tension mount as the hour hand on the clock approached 8:00. No one in the gym had any idea what the outcome of the match would be. Everyone knew that the team from Illinois was the sixth-ranked team in the NCAA. Could the Huskies, coached by Russ Houk, make a good showing against this powerful team? No one knew, only Coach Houk and the ten men who were to wrestle. With a greater desire to win, the Husky grapplers made more than a good showing. They won six out of ten matches to come out on top, 18-12.

The win gave the Husky wrestling team their sixth victory of the '62-63 campaign, beating Wisconsin University and Indiana State in a round-robin tournament, defeating C. W. Post, winning the Wilkes Tournament over the Christmas holidays, mauling Millersville, and winning the big one last Saturday night, edging out S.I.U.

Not only has the wrestling squad been successful in their endeavors this season, but the other Husky teams are also enjoying successful campaigns. Coach Foster's Husky basketballers are currently sporting an 8-2 record, losing only to strong West Chester and Mansfield quintets. Both losses were suffered on the road. The dribblers have yet to lose at home this season. It is also interesting to note that the courtmen did not meet defeat on the Centennial hardwood last year either.

The swimmers of Coach McLaughlin are on their way to the most successful season in the history of BSC varsity swimming. To date, the mermen boast two victories and no losses this season.

On Saturday, January 5, the swimmers journeyed to Howard University and returned with a 61-34 win. On the following Tuesday, Millersville invaded Husky waters and were turned back, getting their fins clipped to the tune of 60-35. This was the first victory for the BSC swimmers in the Centennial Gym pool.

In recent articles the men's intramural program was discussed. However, the girls' athletic program has not been mentioned. Sorry, girls!

This column's thanks to the M&G's Bette for informing us that this year BSC is going to have a

Nelson Swarts — Co-Captain

After returning from the holidays, Coach McLaughlin wasted little time in getting the Husky tankmen prepared for the opening meet with the Bisons of Howard University. Prior to the holiday, there was little doubt in Coach McLaughlin's mind that his charges would defeat the Bisons. However, at conclusion of the last day of practice before the meet, Coach McLaughlin was doubtful of what the outcome would be.

The transportation by bus eliminated a fatigue factor that teams generally suffer when traveling by automobiles. This was the first time the team had traveled by bus, which appeared to benefit their performance.

New Record Set

In the 400-yard medley relay event Harry Ackerman, Don Beltz, Bill Turley, and Jim Seybert (3 Freshmen and 1 Sophomore) turned in a fine performance as they set a new Howard pool record and a new Bloomsburg team record with a time of 4:34.6. The 200-yard free-style event was won by co-captains Don Young and Lou Konetski; Don set another Howard pool and Bloom team record in 2:11.0.

Distance Changed

The next two events—ordinarily the 50-yard freestyle and the 200-yard individual medley — were shortened to 50 yards and 160 yards respectively, because the pool was only 20 yards long. Placing for Bloom in the 60-yard freestyle event was Jim Seybert and Jim Young, who took 2nd and 3rd places respectively. Co-captain Nelson Swarts took the 160-yard individual medley in 2:01.0 and Chuck Jasper placed second.

In the diving event Dick Steidel and Dan Rice placed second and third.

girls' intercollegiate basketball team. The girls' varsity is holding daily practice sessions. The team, coached by Miss McComb, will journey to Lock Haven on February 1 to open the season. Good luck, girls.

Bette also informed us that girls' intramural basketball and ping-pong tournaments are in full swing with volleyball and badminton — singles and doubles — scheduled to begin after the semester recess. These activities are open to all girls interested in participating. And, remember girls, you don't have to be "B" Club members to participate.

LET'S GO BOWLING AT
BLOOM BOWL
BLOOMSBURG, PENNA.
ROUTE 11, NORTH

Harry Ackerman placed first in the 200-yard butterfly event with a time of 2:59.5, being pushed all the way by "Ironman" Floyd Grimm who took second place. The 100-yard freestyle event was won by Don Young in 56.5 seconds; also placing second in the event was Jim Young. Don Beltz in winning the 200-yard backstroke event in 2:41.6, beat out teammate Nelson Swarts by only a hand touch.

Setback in Breaststroke

In the 500-yard freestyle event Floyd Grimm placed second. The 200-yard breaststroke event, which Coach McLaughlin expected Bill Turley and Bill Billett to place at least first and second, received tough competition from Howard competitors and consequently Bill Turley had to settle for third place and Bill Billett failed to place. The 400-yard freestyle relay, being the last event of the meet, was composed of Jim Seybert, Jerry Lomas, Russ Clugston, and Don Young placed first setting a new Howard pool record and establishing a new Bloom team record in 4:01.0. The Huskies in winning this meet not only avenged a defeat suffered to Howard University last year (59-35), but in doing so beat last year's CIAA champions.

Huskies Defeat Millersville

In their first home meet the Huskies in the 400-yard medley relay were Don Beltz (backstroke), Bill Turley (breaststroke), Harry Ackerman (butterfly), and Jim Seybert (freestyle) who took first place in a time of 4:35.9.

In the 200-yard freestyle again co-captains Don Young and Lou Konetski were used to add more points to the score by taking first and second place. The winning time in the event was 2:10.6 recorded by Don Young which erases his old record of 2:11 established two weeks ago against Howard University.

Jim Young Wins in Upset

The most surprising event of the meet was the 50-yard freestyle event in which Jim Young sprinted to victory in the winning time of 26.1 seconds. Also in this event Jim Seybert placed third; normally he has had no trouble defeating his teammate Jim Young.

Co-captain Nelson Swarts, swimming for his last time in the 200-yard individual medley, took a second place while Chuck Jasper placed third. In the diving event, freshman Dick Steidel placed third. In the 200-yard butterfly event, Harry Ackerman took second while Floyd Grimm placed third. In the 100-yard freestyle event, Don Young and Jim Young (not related) took a first and second with a winning time of 56.6 seconds. Again in this event, Jim Young provided the fans with a lot of come from behind and second effort. Nelson Swarts took the 200-yard backstroke in 2:43.8 while Don Beltz placed second.

To assure the Husky victory over Millersville, Floyd Grimm added three points by placing second in the 500-yard freestyle event. In the breaststroke event, Bill Turley and Billett placed second and third. Jim Seybert, Jerry Lomas, Russ Clugston, and Don Young provided seven more points by taking the 400-yard freestyle relay.
