Backstage Observed in Action

Have you been hit by lemon meringue pie lately while strolling past the catacombs? If you have, you are not suffering from mid-semester delusion nor are the throwers crazy. They are just a few of the members of the Bloomington Players frantically working on the props and set for The Taming of the Shrew to be presented April 28 and 29 at 8:15 pm.

Unsung Heroes

When the members of the student body of BSC attend these productions, they seldom realize the hours of preparation that go into the two night performances. There are many unsung heroes in the Players whose main objective is to have the performance ready on time.

The food throwers are just a few members of the prop crew testing the artificial food they have made for the play to see if it will stand up under fire.

Crews in Action

The stage crew is in the process of building the set for the play and this explains the dying of material. They also need curtains. They will be building a banquet table and benches, unless they can find one already made in the supply of flats and material that the Players have accumulated from previous performances.

The unique posters that have appeared on campus advertising the play were not printed by a professional printing house but rather are the result of the labors of a small chain gang who work by night-light on the third floor of Old North Hall.

Old North

While you're up in Old North, walk farther down the hall and you will find Players cutting, sewing, ripping, sewing again, fitting (costumes of course). This crew has the dubious honor of clothing all thirty-five members of the play's cast.

Do you want to know how people from Berwick, Danville and Timbucktu are coaxed to come to see the play? It's easy! The job is given to the Publicity Crew that sends out news releases on the play and its actors to newspapers and radio stations in the area, and hometown newspapers.

Another important task is providing the lighting of the show. Cables, spotlights, dimmers and burnt-out bulbs are some of the elements the Light and Sound Crew has to contend with.

This is some of the work that has to be completed before a finished product evolves. The Bloomington Players is a busy group on campus working hard to provide entertainment for the student body and the citizens of the surrounding areas.

Offices Filled by Club

Piano Duo to Play Tuesday in Carver

Dallas Weekley and Nancy Arganbright, piano duetists, will present a concert in Carver Auditorium on April 21. The program of music from the master composers will be sponsored by the Civic Music Association.

Miss Arganbright and Mr. Weekley, graduates of Indiana University, pursued solo careers prior to their marriage. Since 1957, they have been performing together on one piano making four-handed music for sheer enjoyment. Their recitals have met with such success that they sacrificed their individual careers to form one of the few piano duet teams today.

A typical review for the Weekley and Arganbright team following a recent recital was headlined "Piano Duo Hailed for Varied Program, Sensitive Artistry..." Comments from various reviews have said, "Weekley and his lovely wife had ample technique to meet any and all demands made upon them by the music they played. They played sympathetically, and with a sensitivity that is all too rare. In addition, they played with a oneness that made one forget that two people were involved in this."

Tickets will be available to students free of charge in the office of the Dean of Students.

Majorette Positions Open Next September

There will be several openings in the Majorette Corps next September. Selections are based upon ability and not class standing. Any female student of any class or curriculum who can attend practice sessions will be eligible for selection.

Drum Major

Any male member of the student body, who has had experience, and would like to be considered for Drum Major for the Maroon and Gold Band next fall should contact Mr. Nelson Miller, of the music department, immediately.

Student Assistant Helps in Library

Miss Karen Zehner, a senior from Bloomington High School, participated in the National Library Week by working in the BSC library last Tuesday. As part of its observance, high school students who are interested in library work were placed in public school and college libraries as "librarian for a day."

Worked in Different Divisions

Karen worked in our college library by helping with some of the duties of the BSC students librarians. She was given an opportunity to work with Miss Smeal, the circulation librarian, to learn the method of charging out books and the operation of the reserve library.

Supervised By Miss Keefer

Karen worked with Dr. Pestel in the reference room and with Miss Reams in her work with the card catalogue. Miss Keefer supervised her day and was on hand to assist whenever necessary.

MacArthur - The Legend Lives

By Pat Rugh

Statesman and leader... soldier... hero... He stands erect in our memories, just as he did in life. Why? Who was he, this Douglas MacArthur? More than a man of daring and decision, more than a creator of history—first and foremost, he was an American.

Born in 1880 into a family of professional soldiers, Douglas MacArthur began his brilliant career by graduating first in his class at West Point. Following several important appointments, including aide to President Theodore Roosevelt, he served in World War I and emerged with the rank of brigadier general. He was superintendent of West Point for a time and then spent some years in the Philippines. By 1930 he was a four-star general and held the army's highest post, that of chief of staff in Washington. Five years later he returned to the Philippines, to become military adviser to the government there; he retired from the United States Army in 1937.

The threat of war in 1941 called MacArthur back to the aid of the American forces. The subsequent action in the Far East and his famous statement to the Filipinos, "I shall return!", made him a hero once more.

Just as any great man is subject to criticism and censure, Douglas MacArthur was no exception. War in Korea in 1950 found the general on the scene again. But his military decisions aroused displeasure at home, and he was relieved of command by President Truman a few months later. The years have mellowed the situation, however. The general's greatness has been acknowledged and highly praised in the past decade.

We remember much about this man — big things and little things. The five stars and the scrambled-egg hat... the corn-cob pipe and the flare for show; they're all a part of the MacArthur story. Indeed, around the name of this man there already hovers a legend; created in the eighty-four years in which he made his mark on the American and world scenes. General MacArthur himself once said, "Old soldiers never die." Perhaps he was right.

Although most of us do not remember MacArthur while he was engaged in these history-making events, there is something we can all learn from this great man. His example of courage and integrity is one we can all strive toward, even though we may never achieve it. General MacArthur did what few men have ever done; he made a tangible contribution toward a more peaceful world.

1st Visitation Program Held; Scenes of Campus Observed

The first of four visitation programs for prospective incoming students this fall was held last Saturday. The program emphasized how parents could help their children get off on the right foot in the beginning of their college career. The entire program was under the direction of Mr. C. Stuart Edwards, Director of Admissions.

There were 195 students and approximately 350 parents present. While the students were getting their physicals under the direction of the College Infirmary and Drs. F. W. Reese and H. P. Hoffman, the parents attended a meeting in Carver Auditorium.

Senior Ball Plans Released by Class

The annual Senior Ball and Banquet sponsored by the Class of 1964, will be held May 15th at Stanley Genetti's Restaurant in Hazleton.

The Ball is open to all members of the 1964 Graduating Class (January - May - August graduates) and their guests. This is a formal affair; tuxes are required for the men — formal dress for girls.

Banquet And Dance

The banquet will begin at 7 p.m. Menus consist of a choice between roast prime ribs of beef and South African lobster tail. An evening of dancing to the music of the Gerry Kehler Orchestra will follow.

Tickets for the Senior Ball may be picked up outside Husky Lounge from April 20th to May 6th. Guest tickets will be sold for $5.50. Arrangements are being made to distribute tickets to those seniors who are student-teaching. Distribution will be made through practicum classes held on campus, in Bucks and Lehigh Counties, and in Selinsgrove and Berwick.

Choraleers Stage Musical Program

The Music Department will present a program to the student body during the assemblies on April 21 and 23.

The musical groups directed by Mr. Decker, will sing a variety of spiritual, show, and folk music. Harmonettes will present six show tunes, with the Madrigals singing spirituals, The Men's Glee Club, a new campus organization, will make their first appearance on campus with selections from the Kingston Trio Album.

The show will be presented to the students of Central High School on Tuesday morning prior to the first assembly.

BSC Chess Team Seventh at PCCC

The Bloomington State College Chess Team finished 7th in the Pennsylvania College Chess Championship held at Penn State during the past weekend. Among the teams that entered the meet were Lafayette, LaSalle, and Temple while Penn State entered 2 teams to make an even number.

In the first round BSC was matched against one of the strongest teams at the meet, Penn State's number 1 team. It was a closer match than expected with BSC losing 4-1. Edinboro State College was the Husky Rook's victim in the second round clinching the match with a 3½ to 1½ victory.

Temple was pitted against BSC in the third round, and although BSC lost, they again did better than expected with a 4-1 score. Round 4 matched the BSC chessmen against Penn State's number 2 team. In the 5th round LaSalle, the victors of the Association of College Unions Tournament, was

The meeting consisted of addresses by four speakers, after which there was an open question and answer period. Dean Hoch spoke on the academic life at Bloomington State College; Dean McCauslin spoke on the non-academic life — athletics, recreation, rules and regulations, health, loans, and student employment; Deans Jackson and Hunsinger spoke on housing for women and men.

The purpose of this visitation program is to replace the programs originally held on Parents Day. It was felt that the questions previously asked by parents are advantageously answered before their sons or daughters actually entered college.

The three remaining dates for the program are April 18, May 9, and May 16. There also may be a possibility of another date in July.

Mrs. Crawford, head of the Infirmary, commented that all the prospective students were well behaved, well groomed, and mannerly.

The Admissions Office also has announced that our quota is filled for September. There will be 750 freshmen and 50 students with advanced standing joining us on campus next year.

State Legislators Visit BSC Campus; Activities Planned

The visitation of the 22 state legislators scheduled for late March has been planned for Thursday, April 23. The visit will provide an opportunity for the five senators and 17 representatives to tour the campus, observe the college plant in operation, meet administrators, faculty, and members of the student body.

10 County Area

The legislators, representing a 10 county area, will be joined by the Board of Trustees and a committee headed by Mr. Kenneth Roberts, Assistant Principal, Benjamin Franklin Laboratory School. The members include Dean Hunsinger, Dean Jackson, Dr. Rabb, Dr. Sturgeon, Mr. Creasey, Mr. Sunderland, and Mr. Dieterick. The legislators will attend the regular assembly as part of their visit.

They will also visit the Husky Lounge, and attend a discussion with faculty and administration in the Alumni room. They will then attend the evening meal in the college Commons.

Follow Up Program

The visit is a follow up to the successful get together held for the first time last year at BSC. It is hoped that the student body will cooperate with faculty and administration in making the visit successful. Students should feel free to speak to the legislators, particularly those from their respective areas.

matched against BSC, who failed to pick up any points in the round.

Liberal Arts Include Moral Virtues; Essentials Can Be Taught Indirectly

by John Jagodzinski

The merits of a liberal education have always been and always will be argued. Such an education develops the intellectual powers and cultivates the basic skills of learning. It prepares the student to become a mature and whole human being and a free and responsible citizen. It provides the preparation for specialized intellectual work and the culture that makes leisure full and fruitful.

Develop All Virtues

Education, however, is not limited to the cultivation of the intellectual powers. The Greeks, to whom we owe our concept of a liberal education, were well aware of this. They believed that education should develop all the human virtues or excellences, the physical and the moral as well as the intellectual. For the Greeks, education had three functions: the development of bodily grace and skill, the formation of moral character, and the cultivation of intellectual understanding.

Includes Moral Virtues

Plato and Aristotle put the intellectual virtues at the top. In their educational programs, however, they emphasize the moral virtues and the training of the will. They also include physical education in their curriculum — through gymnastics, dancing, and games — for they hold that bodily excellence supports moral and intellectual excellence. They connect soundness, discipline, and harmony in the mind and character with similar qualities in the body.

Practical Wisdom

Moreover, the Greeks do not limit intellectual virtue to abstract reasoning or scientific knowledge. They include among the intellectual virtues, art (the capacity to make things) and practical wisdom (the capacity to judge rightly the proper means to achieve good ends in everyday life). Practical wisdom, or "prudence," is essential to moral life and responsible citizenship. In the Greek view, education's final goal is the development of a mind which will make right judgements and discern the right order of life.

In Classroom?

Although educators have generally agreed that the formation of character is essential in education, they have disagreed about whether moral virtues can be taught in the classroom. Educators know that it is much simpler to teach a student elementary geometry or algebra than to teach him justice, moderation, and patience. We can teach college students ethical theory or the history of ethics, but that will not prevent him from cheating on their examinations — even in ethics.

Taught Indirectly

Learning to be good and to do right is quite different from learning how to read and write and think correctly. Moral virtue is not intellectual perception or practical skill. Character is a quality of the whole person. It is unlikely to be built through memorizing copybook maxims or listening to sententious moralizing. It seems that moral virtue cannot be taught directly.

Are there any indirect ways?

One long-favored way of developing moral character is the force of example. It may be through the example of the teacher, parent, or some other elder, or of a great character found in history or literature. Many of us remember teachers who communicated something of their own moral substance to us, although they never gave us direct moral instruction.

Dewey's Belief

Also, in the process of learning itself, students are called upon to exercise temperance and fortitude, patience and perseverance; they, in turn, expect justice and consideration from teachers and administrators. That is why John Dewey feels that moral training might take place in the classroom. Character is formed in the normal learning process, says Dewey, and opposes the separation of moral and intellectual virtues, he considers moral virtue a form of knowledge that can be taught, though indirectly.

Letter From Elected CGA Officers

Those of us who have been elected as next year's officers of CGA would like to take this opportunity to thank the students for their support in the recent election. We are well aware of the responsibility which we have toward you in return for your support.

The opportunity to work with and for the students of BSC — not prestige — has been our motive in seeking these positions. Because of this, we would like to encourage you to submit any suggestions which you might have. A close relationship between the students and officers of CGA is essential if we are to accomplish as much as possible in the coming year.

Winter Co. To Perform In Festival

As part of the BSC Spring Arts Festival, the Ethel Winter Dance Company will perform "The Miracle of Movement." For most, this will be a new adventure into the field of serious modern dance. Modern, or contemporary, dance is an art form that uses movement as a medium of expression. Modern dance is based on two main parts, or areas, improvisation and composition. Improvisation provides a background of experience to draw from when composing a dance, a resource for composition. By sensing and feeling, the dancer can find the movement which is necessary to express the idea behind the dance. Composition is the means by which this movement can be expressed.

Versatile Soloist

These movements are expressed most vividly by the versatile soloist of the company, Ethel Winters. Ethel Winters has toured the U.S., Europe, and the Orient. She also has a varied background in solo work with the New York City Opera Company, performances in summer stock productions, and appearances in several Broadway and television shows. She has an equally varied teaching career at Bennington College, New York University, and Adelphi College. When not on tour with her own company, she teaches at the Juilliard School of Music and the Martha Graham School.

Additional Members

Ethel Winter's company consists of four dancers other than herself. Stanley Berke, Egyptian born, has a degree in dance and is now a member of the Ethel Winter Dance Company after having danced with the Charles Weidman Dance Theater Company, in off Broadway productions, and many other appearances. Another member of the company is Lynne Kothera, who began a career in dance with summer stock productions of "South Pacific," "Oklahoma," "Brigadoon," and "Midsummer Night's Dream." Miss Kothera received a Bachelor of Arts degree in theater and dance from Denison University, Granville, Ohio.

Richard Kuch joined the company after studying at the Martha Graham School and subsequently toured Israel with the company. In addition, he has appeared on television for John Butler, in "Camelot" and other musicals and television shows. The final member of the company is Molly Moore, who majored in modern dance at Bennett Junior College. After graduation, she taught under Steffi Nossen and then performed with Deborah Zall and Jeff Duncan.

Wide Acclaim

The Ethel Winter Dance Company has performed on many college campuses and received wide acclaim as did Ethel Winter herself for her brilliant performance as a dancer. Her company leaves a path of applause behind them as they dance in their own "miracle of movement."

Politics Interest Of New President

by Jennifer Smith

Tom Miller, our newly elected president of CGA, does not limit his interest in politics to student government. A native of Centralia, Pennsylvania, Tom has been active politically in Columbia County. He is a second semester junior, and, despite his inclination toward politics, is majoring in physical sciences. Tom attributes this to the fact that he finds something fascinating about science.

Interest In Politics

Tom's political affiliations are with the Republican Party, for which he has done volunteer campaign work in past elections. He intends to continue this work during the political campaigns this summer. Next year, Tom plans to organize a chapter of the Young Republicans on the Bloomsburg campus. Tom prefers to have a direct voice in events, rather than an indirect one, which is one of the attractions which the field of politics holds for him. Instead of depending upon asking someone else to do something, he would rather do these things himself. He feels that a person in political office is in a position to do this, more so than someone who is less directly involved in government.

Armed Forces

After his graduation next year from Bloomsburg, Tom has considered joining either the Air Force or the Navy. He has chosen these two branches of the service because they are, in his opinion, the most outstanding representatives of the armed forces. If he joins one of the armed forces, he plans to take advantage of the officer training programs offered by them. As an alternative to this, Tom has also considered the possibility of attending a seminary after his graduation, and entering the service as a chaplain. This, he feels, is an excellent way of "working with and for people."

Musical Talent

Tom is talented in the field of music; he plays the clarinet, piano and organ. He was an active member of both the orchestra and

TO SOMEONE.....

Yours is a warm and gentle kind of face
 (A face that I could love perhaps)
 But you are far more precious to me now
 A breeze from all the places
 I have known
 That covers me when I am only human
 And cleanses me when I am less
 I will give you
 what is mine
 A part of mind, an ounce of thoughts
 That we will share
 And half an ounce of heart
 Which, my dear, is

Letters To The Editor

(Letters to the editor are an expression of the individual writer's opinion and do not necessarily reflect the views of the newspaper.)

Dear Editor:

Things have deteriorated considerably over at the College Commons since our former assistant manager, Mr. Fraizer, received his promotion. While he was here at Bloomsburg, his main interest was seeing that the students received as much to eat as possible.

Seconds Sought

Now that he has gone, things are quite different. On Saturday, and Sunday nights, the popular saying is: "I'm sorry, but there aren't any seconds right now. Maybe there will be some around six o'clock." Meanwhile, by six o'clock, you will be lucky to get what was featured on the menu, let alone seconds, since very seldom is enough food prepared. One very effective way for getting seconds has been discovered by a few people. They claim that they are sick and receive seconds gladly because the infirmary is already overcrowded with more serious cases; there is no room for someone with a simple case of malnutrition.

Blameless Help

One thing I would like to set straight. When the student help says that there will not be any seconds, this information comes from someone higher up, and not from us. It doesn't seem fair for us to take all the criticism and complaints for something over which we have no control. The students are right in complaining, but these complaints should be directed to someone who can remove them.

band of the Ashland Area Joint High School, from which he graduated. Currently, he is the organist at the Centralia Methodist Church, which he attends. He is also an Eagle Scout, and in addition to this, has received several other scouting awards, including the bronze and gold palms, and the God and Country award.

Hunting And Swimming

Sports is another area in which Tom has demonstrated his ability. He is a fine swimmer, and holds the rank of water safety instructor. Last year he was a swimming instructor at BSC, and has had experience as a life guard. Tom also enjoys hunting, and is especially interested in guns, of which he is an enthusiastic collector.

Musical Concert Scores Success

by Robert Ople

Earl Wrightson and Lois Hunt, a duo of distinguished artists, presented an evening of music at BSC recently. The program was presented by the Endowed Artists and Lecture Fund of the college.

In Wednesday evening's performance, they presented a pleasing combination of entertainment and information interspersed with spontaneous comedy and interpretive narrative. Especially well received was their professional attitude toward the audience.

Mr. Wrightson opened the show with Lerner and Loewe's "Every Day Is Lady's Day With Me" from Camelot. Miss Hunt made her first appearance as Musetta of Puccini's La Boheme singing "Musetta's Waltz."

One of the highlights of the program was a George Gershwin piano medley by the duo's accompanist, Fred Woolston.

Mr. Wrightson opened after the intermission with a solo from Camelot, followed by Miss Hunt's wonderful number "A Person Can Develop A Cold" from Guys and Dolls, in which she portrayed a woman inflicted with all kinds of symptoms resulting from her love life.

Mr. Wrightson took a cue from Professor Higgins of My Fair Lady fame to sing "I've Grown Accustomed to Her Face", followed by "They Called the Wind Maria", which, by audience reaction, was the best received number of the show.

As a wrap-up, the musical team combined for a swivel-chair medley of old favorites including "With A Song In My Herat", "My Funny Valentine", "Blue Moon", "Bewitched, Bothered and Bewildered", and "Manhattan".

After a generous applause from the audience, Miss Hunt and Mr. Wrightson returned for an encore entitled "Wunderbar".

Dean of Instruction Speaks at Hazleton

John A. Hoch, Dean of Instruction, BSC, spoke at the Penn State Center at Hazleton last week. Dean Hoch, who represented the fourteen Pennsylvania State Colleges, talked on the instructional programs offered by these colleges.

Girven & Hoffman Elected To Council

BSC students Betty Girven and Bill Hoffman were elected to the Middle Atlantic Region Student Council of the YWCA and to the Pennsylvania Student Council of the YMCA, respectively, at the Regional Assembly held at Camp Hilltop in Downingtown, Pennsylvania, last week. ESC was also represented by Doris Farenkoph, Jean Weisenfluh, Larry Drum, Herb Frederick, Jim Russell, and Mr. C. Hinkel, Instructor in B. Ed.

Colleges participating were from: Delaware, New Jersey, District of Columbia, Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia and Puerto Rico.

The main theme, "The Challenge to Serve", was covered by ten work groups. They consisted of Human Relations (2 groups), International Students, Religious Emphasis, Commuters, New Student Orientation, Vocation Interests, World Awareness, Political Action, and Social Service.

Rhetorical Group Visits Washington

Last week, the Rhetorical Club of Bloomsburg was in Washington, D.C., on a field trip. The group inadvertently became representatives of the College to the ceremonies concerning the homage being paid to the late General MacArthur. "All due respect was given this man by his Country"; this was the consensus of opinion among the members.

Accompanied by their moderator, Miss Short, a member of the Speech Department, the group spent considerable time in attendance at the Senate filibuster on civil rights. The members had the uncommon chance to speak with Senate majority leader, Mike Mansfield. To the rhetorical group, the filibuster presented an interesting and, at times surprisingly amusing picture of parliamentary procedure and public speaking.

Class To Crown Princess At Ball

Elections were held Monday and Tuesday of this week for the annual Laurel Princess. Five junior girls competed for the title: Sandy Daskalos, Sharon Fehr, Lorraine Lutz, Carolyn Quay, Marilyn Rink, and Barbara Scymanek.

The Laurel Princess will be crowned at the Junior Prom tomorrow night by Ron Lewis, class president. She will represent the junior class at the Laurel Festival during the week of June 11th at Camp Camelback in the Poconos. The Queen will be chosen from girls attending the Festival.

Wenzel Completes Recruit Training

Ronald Wenzel of Willow Grove, Pennsylvania, was one of fifty-five high school and college students who gave up their Easter vacation period to attend the special Airman Recruit 14-day training cruise aboard NAS, Willow Grove.

Ron, who attended BSC, graduated from this class and will be advanced to Apprentice Airman. Training started Monday, March 23 and was completed Sunday, April 5th.

Hints on Bridge, The Game of Wit

Recently a "new" game has appeared on campus. As the BSC student walks into Husky, and listens to the familiar sound of the shuffling of cards, he no longer hears the words "save" or "twenty-five." A "foreign" language is now the prevailing tone—words such as "double," "finesse for the King," or "who's dummy?" This is the language of Bridge.

Contrary to popular belief, Bridge is not difficult to master; it is one of the few games that requires you to think. Once the student learns to bid properly, he has the game well in hand.

Like to try your luck? The next time you walk into the lounge, sit down with some Bridge players and ask them to explain what they are doing as they play. In a short time, you will be able to take part in the game and join the new trend at BSC!

Class travelled from as far as St. Petersburg, Florida; Geneva, New York; and Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; but most of them came from sections of the Delaware Valley Area. They were under the guidance of Lt. Cmdr. R. E. Morrison, USNR-R, Officer-in-Charge of the Recruit Training School.

School's Out.

Right now, graduation seems way off in the wild blue yonder. But it's not too early to start planning. In the future, you'll look back on decisions you make today with satisfaction... or regret.

What can an Air Force career mean to you in tangible gain? The opportunity to take on executive responsibilities you might otherwise wait years to attain. And a head-start into one of a wide range of possible careers in the exciting Aerospace Age.

As an Air Force officer, for example, you may be flying a supersonic jet...helping to keep America's guard up. Or you may be in an Air Force laboratory, working to solve an intricate scientific or technological problem.

Doing jobs like these, you can hold your head high. In addition to being essential to your country, they're the beginnings of a profession of dignity and purpose.

For more information, see the Professor of Air Science.

If there is no AFROTC unit on your campus, contact your nearest Air Force recruiter.

It's a bird! It's a plane! No, it's Bob Herzig going over the crossbar! Bob was one of the few Husky victors against West Chester State College.

The Rams of West Chester State College bullied their way to a victory over the Huskies on Wednesday afternoon in a home encounter, 98½ to 41¼.

Prosseda Is Double Winner

The Huskies showed great power in the field events and the distance runs. Jan Prosseda, the Junior from Milton, who is an outstanding distance runner, won the mile and two mile without any trouble. Jan was the only double winner for the Huskies of Coach Wilwohl. Gary Edwards, suffering a muscle pull, took the shot put, but was second in the discus, as a defending state champ.

Bob Herzig took individual scoring honors with 11 points. Bob gathered a first in the high jump and second places in the triple jump and the broad jump.

The Husky Track and Field Team journeyed to Susquehanna University on Saturday and came home with a 99 to 32 victory and five new records at Susquehanna.

Jan Prosseda broke two Susquehanna records and also set a new Bloomsburg record. In the mile, he broke his own Bloomsburg record and clipped 10 seconds off of the Crusader's records.

Bob Herzig in the broad jump and Wayne Thomas in the 440 each broke S.U. records. The mile relay team of Reifinger, Robinson, Young, and Thomas also set a new record for the Crusader's track.

Jim Young was high scorer with 12 points as a result of a win in the low hurdles, a tie for first in the javelin, and a second in the high hurdles.

Other individual winners were: Joe Figliolino in the pole vault; John Zarski took the shot put; Otis Johnson in the high jump; Paul Clemm, the high hurdles; Fred Rapp, the 880, and Tom Fowles the discus.

Last week, as a different line of thought, I discussed the conditions confronting the track squads here at BSC. I think the evidence that these poor conditions exist was shown at Susquehanna, when our track team improved nearly all their marks.

This week I took a consensus of a number of students concerning three more controversial issues that are present on campus. The first is, how can we promote interest in our tennis team when lack of participation creates disinterest? One of the main qualities of a winning team is that they always have their fans behind them. At Bloomsburg there is a lack of the facilities which would enhance students to take active participation in the sport.

Jessie Owens Is Featured Speaker

Jessie Owens, considered in many athletic circles as the best track and field star of the half century will be the featured speaker at the annual BSC All-Sports Banquet.

The former Ohio State and Olympics champion who is a partner of Owens-West Associates, a public relations and consultant firm, devotes much of his time to under-privileged youth. Mr. Owens fits this bill perfectly. His past record in athletics provides a very able stimulus to the under-privileged.

Owens established records from Junior High School right through the Olympics. At Ohio State he set world marks in the dashes as a freshman and sophomore. He had the distinction of being the only athlete ever to set three world records and tie a fourth in a single meet. In the 1936 Olympics, he won three firsts and was on the relay team. His individual titles were the 100 meters, 200 meters, and broad jump.

In 1960, Mr. Owens was acclaimed "The Champion of the Century." His acclaim comes not only from athletics, but also for his many and varied activities in community service. His major concern is doing his full share to make available better and more complete educational opportunities for all youth. It is for this reason that the "Jesse Owens Educational Foundation" was established.

The date of the All-Sports Banquet is Monday, April 20, 1964, and it will be held in the College Commons. This distinguished guest should provide a wonderful evening for the athletes of BSC.

Students To Stage "Piano Paradise"

Tonight will be the second performance of the water ballet "Piano Paradise." The ballet, under the direction of Dottie Moyer and Barrie Brittingham, is done entirely to piano music. Huskies Drop Season Opener

The Huskies of BSC lost their opening game of the current baseball season to East Stroudsburg State College. The Warriors are the defending conference champions.

The Huskies lost the game by a score of 4 to 3 after leading 3 to 0 for five innings he was untouchable. It appeared that By tired out in the late innings, but with a little sounder fielding, the Huskies would have won the game. All in all Hopkins' pitching job was very commendable and he aided his own cause by blasting out a triple in the fourth inning which drove in two runs.

Both the Huskies and the Warriors looked good considering this was the first game for both clubs. However, the rough edges can be trimmed up some more.

In the hitting department the Huskies soundly whipped the Warriors, 11 hits to 4. Pacing the BSC attack was first baseman Ray Emma with four hits. Ray is the lead-off batter and he did a very commendable job. In all, seven Huskies got base hits. We would like to see hitting like this continue all year.

ESSC was trailing 3 to 0 going into the home-half of the sixth inning when they scored two runs by way of Washburn's home run. In the seventh inning the Warriors tied the game due to some faulty fielding by BSC. It was in the eighth inning that they scored the winning run.

The Huskies made a few mistakes and E. Stroudsburg took advantage of them.

On Wednesday, April 22, we are playing host to Mansfield so for all you students who want only winning teams, support the Huskies, for support helps make a winning team.

BSC Golfers Lose Opener To ESSC

The BSC stickmen lost their first outing to a strong East Stroudsburg State College golf team by a score of 16-2.

Bill Bloom and George Miller were the strong contributors to Huskies score. While shooting an 85, Bloom contributed ½ of a point to the Bloomsburg cause and Miller after being down one hole at the end of the first round came back in the second to beat his opponent on the second round. This added another 1½ points to the score and was all the scoring the Huskies did.

John Kwasnaski shot an 88 and lost to Barniak in two very close rounds. Ray Hebert shot a good first 9 holes with Landus but lost on the second nine. Jim McKinley lost both rounds by one hole. Philip Haile played against Ster (ES's top man) who shot a 39 and 35 for a total of 79 to add another win for ESSC.

BSC TENNIS TEAM DEFEATED

The BSC tennis team dropped its second match of the season and suffered a shutout 9-0, at the hands of the Red Raiders of Shippensburg State College, in a match held at the BSC courts.

INTRAMURALS

All male students of BSC are urged to check their mailboxes within the next few days for an important notice concerning a change in the structure of the Men's Intramural Program. This change has been unanimously approved by the Intramural Council and should result in increased participation in intramural activities.

Softball

The intramural softball tournament is well under way. All participants are urged to check the bulletin boards frequently for possible schedule changes.

Badminton

The first games of the badminton tournament were played on Thursday, April 9. The participation in this tournament has been very poor; in a schedule of eight games, six were forfeits.

Recreational Swimming

The recreational swimming that is sponsored by the intramural department on Tuesdays and Saturdays is sometimes canceled in favor of other groups that use the pool. Please check the bulletin board in Centennial Gym for notices of any cancellation.

Second, most of the students have noticed the situation existing on the baseball field. Is the infield fit to play on or not? If you are running the bases in beach shoes, you may stand a chance. Seriously, the infield is slow for running and ground balls, but it is playable.

Then last and least, to satisfy our coeds and give them equal voice I asked them what their problems were concerning girl's athletics at Bloom. The most frequent answer was muggy conditions in the girls shower room in Centennial. It seems that there is a lack of hair dryers and generally inadequate facilities for our females. By the way—these were reports, not an eye-witness account!
