Varied Anniversary Activities Planned

President Greets BSC Alumni

Dr. Andruss

WELCOME:

This event will be notable, not only because it gives an opportunity for meeting and greeting old friends and making new friends, but also because it is a part of the 125th Anniversary of the founding of the college.

The new dormitories for women have enabled us to double the campus population, and we know that you will note other signs of growth and development in your Alma Mater.

May your visit to the campus be both interesting and rewarding.

Harvey A. Andruss

Festivities for the gala 125th anniversary celebration will start tonight with the President's Reception featuring the music of the nationally-famous Les and Larry Elgart Orchestra. This event, starting at 8:00 pm in Centennial Gymnasium, is open to all BSC students and faculty members.

Orchestra Members

Members of the featured orchestra are alumni of some of America's greatest dance bands, such as Harry James, Tommy Dorsey, Woody Herman, and many others. The brothers, Les and Larry Elgart, both started their musical career on the piano. Larry, the younger brother, later switched to saxophone and Les to the trumpet. They formed their first band in 1945 and since then, have been enthusiastically accepted as one of America's leading dance bands.

Dress for the occasion includes tux or dark suits for the men and evening gowns or cocktail dresses for the women.

Thursday

Thursday's activities will be headed by an academic convocation in Centennial. His Excellency Sivert A. Neilson, Norwegian Ambassador to the UN will be the principal speaker. The Honorable William Scranton, Governor of Pennsylvania, the presidents of Pennsylvania's colleges and government officials are among the dignitaries expected to attend.

Thursday evening, the faculty association will honor Dr. and Mrs. Harvey A. Andruss at a formal dinner in the College Commons.

Friday

The Brothers Four will present a concert at 8:00 pm Friday evening in Centennial Gymnasium.

Saturday

Saturday's activities will begin with the dedication of the two new dormitories for women. A. J. Caruso, Executive Director of the Pennsylvania General State Authority, will deliver the principal address. Miss Pennsylvania, Marilyn Cutaiar March, will also participate in the dedication ceremonies.

The annual Homecoming parade will be held after the dedication. Various campus clubs and organizations will enter floats and eight marching bands are expected to participate. Following the parade, the Huskies will take on Millersville State College in the annual Homecoming game.

Festivities will come to a close Saturday night with a dance in Centennial featuring the music of Lee Vincent and his orchestra.

Johnson Backers Organized at BSC

The Students for Johnson plan to challenge the BSC Goldwater force to a debate. A suggested format for this debate is the one followed by Senator Church and Senator Tower on their recent television appearance.

Students for Johnson was recently organized with Jennifer Smith as president, Bill Berger, secretary, Liel Slach, vice-president, and Rosemary Renn, activities chairman. Mr. Theodore Shanoski is the Faculty Advisor.

Any Goldwaterite who wants to accept this challenge may do so by contacting Mr. Shanoski.

Faculty Association Dinner to Honor President's Quarter-Century at BSC

Dr. and Mrs. Harvey A. Andruss will be honored at a formal dinner sponsored by the Faculty Association of BSC in the College Commons tomorrow.

Activities will begin with a reception in Waller Hall Lobby at 7:30 p.m. followed by the serving of dinner in the Commons at 8:00 p.m. John S. Scrimgeour, Chairman of the 125th Anniversary Committee, will give the Invocation.

During the evening, special presentations will be made by Gerald Strauss, President of the Faculty Association, and Howard Fenstermaker, President of the Alumni Association, to Dr. Andruss honoring him for 25 years of service as President of BSC.

Arrangements for the event are under the supervision of Mrs. Margaret McCern, who served in the similar capacity when the faculty honored Dr. Andruss five years ago. According to Mrs. McCern, the Board of Trustees and members of Dr. Andruss' family will be among the special guests invited.

Among those presented for remarks by C. Stuart Edwards, Master of Ceremonies, will be William A. Lank, who will speak on behalf of the Board of Trustees. Special messages of congratulations to Dr. Andruss will be received and read during the evening.

Wilson Nominations Being Accepted

Nominations for Woodrow Wilson National Fellowships are now being accepted from faculty members according to Dr. John Serff, Chairman of the Social Studies Department. Faculty members should make their nominations by Monday, October 19, 1964.

Dr. Serff, campus representative of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Committee, said that the purpose of the Foundation is to attract men and women to the profession of college teaching. In order to achieve this purpose, the Foundation annually awards fellowships to 1,000 prospective first-year graduate students and honorable mention to some 1,500 others. The winners are chosen from over 11,000 candidates nominated by college faculty members throughout the United States and Canada. Winners, or "Fellows," are fully supported for one year of graduate school through grants made by the Ford Foundation.

Prospective Members

A prospective candidate must be a college senior or graduate not currently registered in a graduate school. A candidate must be nominated by a faculty member. Faculty members base their nominations on a student's intellectual promise and preparation on the undergraduate level for graduate school. Records of the nominees are screened by Regional Boards, and the list is narrowed to about 25% of the total applicants. Interviews are then held, followed by more screening until the winners are chosen.

Although the Foundation primarily supports students in the Humanities and Social Areas, awards may also be won by students of the Natural Sciences.

Norway Ambassador Guest Speaker

The Honorable Sivert A. Nielsen, Permanent Representative of Norway to the United Nations, will be featured speaker at the Academic Convocation tomorrow afternoon at 2:00 p.m. in Centennial Gymnasium. The Convocation will honor Dr. Harvey A. Andruss on his 25th anniversary as President of BSC and will commemorate the 125th anniversary of the college. The topic for Ambassador Nielsen's address will be "Education—A Bulwark of Peace and Democracy."

Ambassador Nielsen has the distinct honor of twice serving as President of the United Nations Security Council. Acclaimed as one of the leading statesmen in international relations, he first served as Security Council President in August, 1963, and again in August, 1964 during the Bay of Tonkin crisis.

A law graduate of the University of Oslo, Ambassador Nielsen was associated with the Bank of Norway until the Nazi invasion of his homeland. With the fall of the Norwegian resistance force, in which he was a private, Nielsen was made a prisoner of war. He escaped from a concentration camp and participated in the underground resistance for almost a year before he was recaptured and sent to the Sachsenhausen Prison camp outside of Berlin, where he was retained until the end of World War II.

Serviceable Career

When hostilities ceased, Ambassador Nielsen served briefly as a Deputy District Attorney and legal officer for the Norwegian Employers Association. In 1946 he joined the United Nations Secretariat and was assigned to the Department for Security Council affairs, a post he held for two years.

He was then named Second Secretary and later First Secretary, for the Norwegian Embassy in Washington, D.C., a position in which he became familiar with Washington's outlook on world affairs.

In 1950, Ambassador Nielsen returned to Norway and was associated with the Norwegian defense effort for the next eight years. He first served as Chief of Section, Norwegian Ministry of Defense, and from 1951 to 1952, he was Director of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) International Staff. During this time he was also secretary to "The Three Wise Men" (Averill Harriman of the United States, Britain's Lord Plowden, and Jean Monnet of France) and helped develop an integrated program for the defense of NATO, which is still the only such defense program within the organization. Nielsen was also responsible for the negotiation of the Command System for Northern Europe under NATO.

Norwegian Representative

From 1952 to 1955 he was Chief of Division, Norwegian Ministry of Defense, and was named Under Secretary for Defense in 1955, serving in that post until 1958. In 1959 Nielsen was named Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary, Norway's Permanent Representative to the United Nations.

As chief representative of the Norwegian Delegation, one of the most active delegations in United Nations' affairs, Ambassador Nielsen has seen the UN grow from 80 countries to the more than 110 nations that now hold membership. During this time he has actively participated in UN attempts to solve many of the world's tensions, including the Cuban Crisis, the Cy-

National Teacher Exams Announc'd

Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey, has announced that the National Teacher Examinations may be taken by college seniors enrolled in education on any one of four different dates each year. These new dates are December 12, 1964, and March 20, July 17, and October 2, 1965.

Scores on the National Teachers Examinations are used by many large school districts for employment of new teachers and by several states for certification or licensing of teachers. Lists of these school systems are distributed to colleges by ETS, a non-profit, educational organization which prepares and administers these tests.

On each full day of testing, prospective candidates may take the Common Examinations, which measure the professional and general education of teachers, and one of thirteen Teaching Area Examinations which measures mastery of the subject for which they are preparing.

prus problem, the "Troika" proposal, the Congo problems, and other crises which have beset this world organization.

BSC Gov't Organization Is Unique; CGA Includes All College Community

Six years ago at BSC, slacks and bermudas were worn only in girls' dormitory rooms. At the same time, dances were few and far between—perhaps one a month with luck, and even then only a record dance. Although BSC has not achieved that state of blissful dishevelment enjoyed by some college students, our social life has obviously improved.

Governing Body

This improvement is due largely to the efforts of College Council, the governing body of the CGA. College Council acts as the legislative, judicial, and executive body of CGA, which in turn is composed of every BSC student, faculty member, and non-teaching personnel. CGA is unique from other colleges in this respect, as most college governments are comprised solely of students.

From the larger body of CGA, certain representatives are selected to serve on College Council. Tom Miller, CGA president, stated that CGA and College Council are much like the U.S. government on a smaller scale. The citizens of Pennsylvania, for example, elect a representative to the U.S. House of Representatives in order that he may voice their opinions and try to carry through certain legislation that his constituents want. Likewise, the members of CGA elect representatives to College Council to execute the same type of duties.

Members of CGA

There are twenty-seven members of College Council. These include CGA officers (who are also the officers of College Council), the CGA advisor, the president and the man and woman representative of each class, the president of the Day Men's and Day Women's associations, the presidents of both the Men's Resident Council and the association of Resident Women, editor of the Maroon & Gold, Dean of Students, the Deans of Men and Women, Dean of Instruction, and the Director of Public Relations.

Working with College Council are fifteen standing committees. These committees are for the purpose of carrying out the programs of College Council.

When Council Meets

College Council meets twice a month—every second and fourth Monday. All measures passed at these meetings must then be approved by the President of the College, who has veto power over all measures. However, Dr. Andruss has always been very cooperative in working with College Council, and has never vetoed any reasonable measure. If the President does veto something, it is usually a partial veto, and a compromise is worked out.

College Council is, and always has been, a progressive organization. Its accomplishments depend upon the quality of the officers and the support and cooperation of the members of the entire CGA.

Oh, To Be Back In Old Waller Hall!

Due to the recent invasion of Waller Hall by the male element, a herd of Bloomsburg women have been pushed into the waiting arms of Junior Resident Advisors in downtown houses.

Antiquated Furniture

There are naturally some hardships to be endured. These come in many forms, such as the landlady's lopsided card tables, attics inhabited by rats, and heat registers that shoot water all over the deluxe (?) beds.

Whenever there is a need for repair work, you hear a cry all over the house . . . "Man coming, man coming through" . . . a loud whistle . . . a hurried rumble of feet . . . and then the all-clear signal.

One of the biggest disappointments is the fact that we don't have lounges in which to receive men callers. Our dates are forced to wait on the porch for us rain or shine, heat wave or blizzard . . . that is if they're lucky, because our landlady frowns on male species cluttering the porch.

This over-cautiousness may be due to some harrowing experiences the previous year with her male student tenants who literally wrecked the house . . . fist holes in the walls . . . dents in clothes lockers . . . etc.

The whole situation leaves us with a limited course of action . . . either study on the weekends . . . go out with the girls . . . or stir up the landlady.

What would be your choice??

"It takes the average housewife about four checkbooks to fill one stamp book!"

Sticker on suitcase of hitch hiker: "Undecided voter. Pick me up and convince me."

"There would be fewer pedestrian patients if there were more patient pedestrians."

"There is nothing wrong with a good political joke—unless it gets elected."

Float Hysteria Hits BSC Students

Homecoming is upon us again and suddenly the trucks of Bloomsburg and surrounding areas have performed a disappearing act! Nowhere is there to be found an available flat-bed truck longer than twelve feet. The cause of this mass loss? Homecoming floats!!!

Group Participation

Once again every club and organization of BSC are about to swamp the town with concoctions of cardboard, chickenwire, staples, paint, tape, and miles upon miles of crepe paper.

However the procuring of this material is the least of the problems, although it does cause a predicament for the stores, whose stockrooms are suddenly as bare as Lady Godiva. The biggest drawback is time. No one seems to have enough of it. Homecoming week itself is full of activities, not to mention studying for classes, quizzes and tests.

No matter how early each group attempts to construct their float, something always turns up to thwart their efforts. The normal occurrence is usually that all the work done beforehand has mysteriously become undone. The tacks have come out, the tape has lost its sticking power and the crepe paper has stretched to unimaginable lengths. If the float survives all this, it usually collapses on the way to Centennial to join the parade lineup.

Wisest Course

Therefore almost all groups have found the wisest course is to construct the float on the day of the parade. So bright and early, about 5 or 6 o'clock, everybody is at the Centennial parking lot and hard at work.

Provided that no one falls asleep in the chicken wire, the foundations are built and everybody gets a chance at stuffing the crepe paper. A few exclamations inappropriate for professional people are heard as well-pleased hammer blows hit misplaced fingers.

Last Minute Work

Of course, in the last minute rush, everybody is trying to correct everybody else's blunders and few are those who don't receive a dash of paint or get stapled to their clothes.

Eventually, however, the float is on its ways, (even though people are still stuffing crepe paper and tacking flowers in place) and will join Bloomsburg State College's 125th Anniversary Homecoming Parade.

Ole! Anybody Want El Toro's Ear? Bullfight Attended By BSC Students

by Gertrude Fisher

Ole! Ole! shouted the crowd with approval in las Corridas de Toros. In the midst of the throng, BSC summer students abroad in Madrid, Spain added their "Oles!"

Students In Spain

Yes, here we were, four BSC students viewing an actual bull fight and sitting in what our Spanish friends consider the best seating for the colorful spectacle—the shade!

Lady Luck had been with us that day and before the arena opened, a Spaniard, Senor Eduardo, had offered to see us to our seats and show us thru the arena museum to view costumes, paintings, and accounts of famous festivals in the ring. As it turned out, the Senor was a member of the Secret Police and knew several of the ring personnel; hence, we were ushered into the dressing room as honored guests.

Dressing Room Tour

The first man we encountered here was the Bleador. Then in their beautiful outfits came the Toreros, who in the ring will stab the bull with colorfully decorated banderilleros. Finally came three young matadores, and Senior Edwards personally presented us to them. Later, one of them was gored, but bravely returned to fight his second toro. The one whose autograph we collected did well and received the honor of having the crowd's white handkerchiefs waved at him (caught without one, we used our white sweater sleeves).

After the bull fights, our escort took us to a room—behold! the slaughter bulls! And here we received one of the greatest honors of the bull fight. One of the young matadors presented us with the ear of the bull he killed. Unfortunately, we could not take this honored treasure back to our dormitory room at the University, so, we gave the ear to a young Spanish girl whose family was delighted and quite honored.

The Bull Fight

But the most exciting bull fight was in a small town where the custom is for the men and boys to run the bulls thru the streets. Actually, the men and boys run ahead, chased by the bulls into the arena where each has his moment as a matador. The trick being that ladies sit in the audience and not run madly about in the ring. Leave it to Gertie to end up in the ring and that's where I was high heels and all! And when the first bull came charging in followed by his comrades of the hoof and horn, I had no intention of becoming an American lady matadonna. Therefore, it was with great bravery that I jumped behind the fence in the arena and watched the town bullfighters have their day as matadors, OLE!

Twenty-five Years Shows Progress For BSC Students

This year marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of Dr. Harvey A. Andruss as president of Bloomsburg State College. Now seems an appropriate time to evaluate how much has changed in the last twenty-five years of Dr. Andruss' reign.

Change Of Reign

Today there is much ado about the celebration of the President's anniversary, while a quarter of a century ago there was a stirring on campus as the Dean of Instruction, a Dr. Andruss, was to become acting president in the place of the resigning Dr. Haas.

Over 2,000 students are now being educated at Bloomsburg, where the cries of overcrowding and insufficient facilities are heard all over the campus. In answer to the pleas, two new dorms were erected and the land owned by the Country Club purchased. In 1939 there were 666 students enrolled at Bloomsburg where their synonomous cry of overcrowding was also answered, by the building of an ultra-modern gymnasium, plus the acquisition of the land Dillon House now stands on. Feel better now students?

Commuters Woes

The commuter today constantly arouses our sympathy with his tales of "near death" coming over the Catawissa mountain through ice and snow. Twenty-five years ago two thirds of the college enrollment commuted, and came over the Catawissa mountain in Model T Fords without power brakes, power steering, or power heat. And through the same ice and snow. Feel better now commuters?

Ask any "Cathy Co-ed" you happen to meet her opinion about the restrictions on hours and lates and your ear will ring like Big Ben for days. Twenty-five years ago, however, the girls were not allowed off campus after dinner. Furthermore girls had to be properly chaperoned when going from Waller Hall to club meetings held in the evenings in Science Building. The rule stated, "Girls are to walk in groups followed by the boys at a respectable distance, as to prevent any molesting." Feel better now girls?

Dinks Unsophisticated

In the last issue of the Maroon & Gold a freshman iterated the complaint of his classmates that they were too sophisticated for name signs and that buttons or pins with their names on would be much more apropos. Looking back two and a half decades, frosh were being thrown a "Kiddies Party" where they would dress as a youngster under ten years of age and play such games as: Farmer in the Dell, Drop the Handkerchief, and Pin the Tail on the Huskie. Feel better now frosh?

Homecoming Entertainment

Entertainment for Homecoming this year will include receptions, teas, and big name entertainment in the form of the "Brothers Four." It would be safe to assume that the "Brothers Four" will attract a larger audience than will the teas. However, twenty and five years ago the "big name" entertainment only drew half as many people as the teas did; the teas attracting three thousand people. How do you explain this? Easy, you see, the big name entertainment was "Maroon & Gold" Band.

It shouldn't be hard to follow an act like that. Feel better now "Brothers Four"?

A good politician is one that can step on your toes without messing up the shine; get into your pocket-book without a gun, and make you think he is the original Santa Claus.

Life In Spain Reviewed By Students; Social and Collegiate Life Described

Editor's Note: Following is the first of a two part letter to Bloomsburg State College from Judith Ann Applegate, who is presently studying at the University of Valladolid, Spain. She will return in January to complete her Senior year at BSC.

After being here in Spain since the end of June, I feel a little sad writing this first letter, knowing that you have all begun the fall semester and are keeping the usual breakneck pace with classes, football games, Husky Lounge dances, and of course the usual residence hall activities. But January and my return to BSC will come soon enough. What I hope to do in this first open letter to you all is explain our "Pennsylvania-Valladolid Study in Spain Program," our University program, and if time and space permit, a little about our residences and what "life is really like" over here.

To begin with, there are 35 Americans here in Valladolid unless an occasional tourist passes by on his way to greener pastures in Madrid or southern Spain. We are in the principal city of austere "Castilla la Vieja," which has over 150,000 inhabitants and about 7,000 students enrolled in the University of Valladolid, established in 1715—very old and very Baroque! We American students are from colleges all over Pennsylvania and there are a few from New York and West Virginia. The program itself is under the direction of Indiana State College and carries with it 30 credits toward completion of an undergraduate major. There are 24 girls and 11 boys, but since the man is respected far above the woman over here, the boys are quite contented with the odds!

We left the United States on June 10th on a Spanish cargo ship called the "Guadalupe" where we got our first tastes of olive oil, the famous fish and eggs diet (every night here is like BSC on Friday night), and real living and breathing Spaniards and Mexicans, who astounded us with their congeniality and willingness to help poor, struggling American college students! We were at sea nine days, where we quickly learned the word "mariada," known in the States as plain, old seasickness! But with shuffleboard tournaments, "fiestas" and the Captain's Dinner we landed in Santander (after stopping in La Coruna and Gejon) with light hearts and lots of optimism for the forthcoming six months.

Almost immediately we discovered some differences between the youth of the United States and the youth of Spain. The Spanish youth of 19 or 20 does one of two things: He either works or is a student. A parent's job over here is to provide for his children the necessities, including a university education if he should desire so. It is therefore considered an insult to the father's ability to make a living if the student has to work. They find it hard over here to accept the fact that Americans work part-time and go to school, too.

There are no extra-curricular activities connected with the University, and social activities consist of movies, walking (the Spanish national pastime!), private dances (they "twist," "hulley-gulley" and "pasadoble" — sort of a slow-type two-step!) or going to a "bodega" (wine cellar, bar or restaurant) where talk, wine, and guitar music flow in great abundance. The Spanish student never becomes intoxicated, as he may "nurse" a glass of white or red wine all evening. In such surroundings, we exist.

The Gossip Increases As Enrollment Rises Sharply

by Judy Gers

From 1839 to 1964, Bloomsburg State College has made great strides forward. One of the many great advances is in enrollment. One could hardly believe it is possible that this community of enlightenment was once a small academy on the hill.

Husky Lounge

One can note the expanding pace in Husky Lounge. Today, the Husky is the equivalent of any central meeting place in a community. There one can learn the newest, but not necessarily the truest, happenings of the day. Although the inhabitants are a little more sophisticated is OK. But, it is hardly anyway to get to know your steady. Even good-nights are frowned upon. Saying "Good-night" in front of the new girls dorm is about as private as being on wide screen, ticated in their approach and set-

Science Fiction or Prediction?

by G. P. K. Obert

What happens when we try to return to the past, to the good old days? This question is answered with the return of the BSC Alumni during Homecoming week. Many of our former students have not been on our campus for quite a few years and they are amazed and pleased to see the transformations that have occurred during their absence.

Alumni Reactions

Former men students are surprised to find Old North Hall converted into offices and many former women students get a rare shock when they go in to view the remains of their "home-away-from-home" and find a boy sleeping in their old bed.

With the rate of expansion of our college, we try to imagine what the campus will look like when we return for Homecoming in, say, 25 years. The campus consists of only classroom and office buildings most of which are 15 to 20 stories high. The dormitories have been replaced by a jet landing strip because everyone now commutes. This plan would be great for efficiency but the week-ends would be even more dead than they are now. (I think.) Our 10 year old Student Union Building food service has replaced Slater Agency's Common's food. We get luscious steak and turkey dinners with vegetables, potatoes and apple pie for $.50. Of course these foods are condensed into tasty little pills that can be popped into your mouth between classes. Card playing is of course allowed now and if you don't have four players for a good Pinochle game, the college provides an electronic brain for the job.

Moving Sidewalks

No more worries about being late for class. Installation of new elevated moving sidewalks have solved the problem and winter snows or spring rain are no longer excuses for being late for class. We are now Bloomsburg "under glass", for a dome now controls the weather of the main campus.

Everyone would be fighting to be admitted to our University—after all, we would offer fifty courses of study and our football team and swimming team rank first in the nation.

Dreaming Too Much?

Maybe we're carrying this dream a little too far, but the changes that have occurred on our campus in the last 25 years are an indication of what's ahead, we can't be too far wrong. Then, we were a very small teacher's College with a very limited enrollment. Can you imagine the reaction of a member of a class of 300 when he sees our freshman class of 896 coming at him full force? Will our reaction be any different when we see a class of 8,960 coming at us?

All in all, we conclude that growth is good and the changes are for our benefit. A larger school, giving more people a better education can only lead to a more peaceful world. From the past into the future and all this from Bloom!

"He who hesitates is lost — except bachelors."

Buildings Indicate Progress At BSC

The spirit of growth is the symbol of the 125th Anniversary. The acquisition of the buildings on the BSC campus signifies this spirit. Carver Hall was erected in 1867; this inspiring building was planned and contracted by Henry Carver, the first Principal, as an essential step to the development of the Bloomsburg Literacy Institute. In 1875 the existing dormitory was destroyed by fire, so the next year brought the construction of a larger building which constituted the first part of Waller Hall. During the principalship of Dr. D. J. Waller Jr., beginning in 1877 and lasting 13 years, the east wing of Waller Hall was built and another addition was built during the administration of Dr. Judson P. Welsh. During Welsh's administration a gymnasium was also built adjoining Waller Hall. This gym is now Husky Lounge. Noetling Hall, built in 1886, was named for the head of the Department of Pedagogy from 1877-1900, William Noetling.

Old North Hall

Old North Hall was constructed in 1894 as a men's dormitory; it will be razed this year to make room for a new men's dorm. Science Hall was built in 1906, but was remodeled during Dr. Francis B. Haas' Administration. The Benjamin Franklin Laboratory School was added to our facilities in 1930, as was a new laundry building. Dr. Haas' Administration saw many buildings remodeled besides the addition of 18 acres of land and the construction of new buildings including Centennial Gymnasium in 1939.

Navy Hall was so named because it was made available to the U.S. Navy for V-12 officers training program during World War II. It was built in 1939.

Newer Buildings

In 1956 the College Commons was completed. Other more recent additions to the campus have been New North Hall in 1959, William Boyd Sutliff Hall in 1959, and the two new dorms, East and West Halls in 1964.

What is Being Done With Your $50 Activities Fee?

Study of Community Government Association Reveals That 1964-65 Budget Resembles A Small Corporation

by Ann Shepherd

CGA is big business at BSC. With a budget of over 120 thousand dollars for the 1964-65 academic year, the financial dealings of the Community Government Association clearly resemble those of a small corporation with a Dun & Bradstreet rating.

Meticulous Preparation

The preparation of the budget is a meticulous process which begins at the end of each year. The Joint Student-Faculty Committee on Budget, chaired by the Dean of Students Affairs, Dr. J. Alfred McCauslin, sends forms to each organization requesting an audit of income and expenditures for the college year. At the same time, requests for estimated income and expenditures for the coming college year are made. It is that allocations to organizations is on the basis of these figures and activities are established. It is entirely possible that an allocation to an organization may be increased or decreased over the previous year; this is due to increased or decreased expenditures in the organization.

Source of Monies

What is the source of the monies which are distributed among eight major areas by the CGA? A major portion of this money comes from the 50 dollars paid by each of 2450 BSC students. The remainder is supplied from the activity fee of $12.50 paid by 147 faculty members and from the 20 non-instructional personnel. CGA receives no state funds for its use.

In addition to the fees paid by faculty, students, and non-instructional personnel, money is also collected from admissions to athletic contests, the sale of football programs, the advertisers who provide the college desk blotter, the Homecoming Dance, and use of the college Station Wagon.

Where Money Goes

Approximately one-third of the gross income received by CGA is delegated to athletics and recreation. Each major sport receives an allocation to cover the cost of new equipment, transportation to away contests, and institutional laundry services. In addition, both Men's and Women's intramurals receive money.

After it has satisfied the sportsman of BSC, the budget committee next turns its attention to those who thirst for culture. Finances for both Afternoon and Evening Assemblies come from the activity fee. Students will recall the Spring Arts Festival, the presentation by the Canadian Players, and the History of Film programs presented last year.

Accident Insurance

It is in the area of College and Community service that the greatest benefits to the students and faculty occur. Of interest to both these groups is the accident insurance program which provides coverage for accidents and illness incurred from September 1 to June 1 of each year. Students are insured during holiday vacation periods, on or off campus during the nine-month period. The policy is also applicable to athletes participating in inter-collegiate contests.

A contribution each year to the Bloomsburg Community Ambulance Association for service to any student requiring transportation due to illness; in addition, this contribution covers the cost of having an ambulance present at all home football contests.

Money For Publications

Every student and faculty member receives a copy of each issue of the college paper, a copy of the Pilot, and the yearbook. These publications derive the major portion of their funds from CGA allocations. The literary magazine is also provided with money.

Faculty and students also receive college desk blotters and identification cards. An item little known to the student body is the college station wagon, which is available for use by organizations. This, too, is financed from the fees paid by faculty and students at the beginning of each year.

Of interest to all members of the college community is the Big Name Entertainment program which makes it possible to have major stars of the music world on this campus each year. The program is self-liquidating. Allocations from CGA also provide funds for the All-College Picnic, held at the end of the Spring semester.

For $50.00

Athletics, assemblies, ambulances, reading matter—is this all we get for 50 dollars, you ask. No, CGA looks out for more than your physique, your health, and your interest in current events. Music is an important item of the budget. Money is earmarked for use by the Maroon & Gold band, the Choraleers, the Harmonettes, and the student band which will be playing occasionally for Wednesday night dances in Husky. Transportation costs and the needs arising from an expanded repertoire are allayed by allocations from the budget committee.

Keeping Bloomsburg State College on the map is another important function fulfilled by the Community Government Association, which provides money for publicity services on radio and television, as well as in the local newspaper.

Self-Liquidation

Any organization which benefits the entire college community is eligible for CGA funds, although all are self-liquidating.

College Council itself is allocated money for its social and recreational programs; the remainder of the sum provided for Council is divided among the other committees.

Those organizations which provide the college community with programs of interest are the Bloomsburg Players, which produces three major plays during each college year; the Chess team, which in the past has sponsored inter-collegiate matches; and the Forensic Society, which has held major tournaments on this campus. In addition to these organizations are the Cheerleaders, who receive money for their uniforms and transportation. Funds are also available to Day and Dormitory Associations, to the Freshman,

Fifteen CGA Committees Performing Legwork For Student Organization

In the past the bourgeois has always come to the fore to make decisions for itself. In the beginning, of course, things are run by those at the top, but sooner or later people learn that to get things the way you want them, they must work them out themselves. At Sophomore, Junior and Senior Classes as dues; and to the Student Christian Association. Student employees at Bloomsburg State College have the cost of their Social Security taxes defrayed by the CGA.

Every Student Benefits

It is impossible to list each individual allocation. CGA affects every individual on this campus in one way or another. Every student, faculty member and the non-instructional personnel as well, is a member of the Community Government Association. Whenever anyone asks the question "What do I get for $50.00," he need only look at his calendar, at his favorite sport, or at any of a hundred activities on this campus. Although it may hurt at the time, in paying your activity fee you are probably getting the biggest bargain of your lifetime!

BSC, the bourgeois has taken the name of Community Government Association.

The Committees

Who finally sets into motion the wishes of the bourgeois? The CGA Committees, mainly. There are fifteen of them, and they work in conjunction with College Council. It is the duty of the vice-president to see that these committees are operating smoothly.

Social Recreation

Social Recreation Committee makes sure you don't sit in your room with nothing to do. This committee, headed by Frank Milauskas, sponsors movies, record and band dances, and is in charge of Spring Weekend, Winter Weekend, and the College Picnic.

Hospitality

All those prospective freshmen you see being led around campus aren't playing "follow the leader;"

President of CGA Extends Welcome

Welcome To Alumni:

On behalf of the Community Government Association, I take this opportunity to extend a most sincere welcome to the alumni of Bloomsburg State College returning this year to celebrate with us the 125th Anniversary of the College, the 25th Anniversary of Dr. Harvey A. Andruss as President of the college, and as always, the Annual Homecoming Day festivities.

I am quite sure that the year 1964 will go down in the book of Bloomsburg State history as the greatest year since the college began in 1839.

The 125th Anniversary committee, chaired by Mr. John Scrimgeour, worked throughout the summer months making the necessary arrangements for speakers, a big name band, dignitaries, and special guests.

A second hard-working group is the Homecoming Committee chaired by Mrs. Mary Lou John, which has done an outstanding job planning and carrying through the events on Homecoming Day.

And last but not least, a great deal has been done by the student body. Without student help, the events could not be.

Only the combined efforts of the administration, faculty, and student body will make the year 1964 go down in history as the greatest in the history of this great institution which we call Bloomsburg State College.

Thomas J. Miller, President

Honored Guests Attend Assembly Thursday In Gym

Educational, civic, and political organizations will be represented by 200 distinguished guests at tomorrow's Convocation at which time BSC will celebrate its 125th anniversary and the 25th anniversary of Dr. Harvey A. Andruss' tenure as President.

The Invocation will be given by Dr. Gustave W. Weber, President of Susquehanna University. Following the introduction of platform guests by Dr. Andruss, the Honorable William W. Scranton, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, will address remarks to the expected 2,100 students, faculty, and guests who will fill Centennial Gymnasium to capacity.

Invited guests include dignitaries from federal, state, and local government levels. Federal, state, and local educational levels will also be represented. Delegates from the student teaching centers serving BSC as well as Presidents of Pennsylvania Colleges have been invited.

Invitations have also been sent to the Board of Trustees, the Executive Board of Trustees, Alumni Association Officers, Alumni Association Board of Directors, Retired officials, and a number of Learned societies, Accrediting Agencies and Professional Organizations.

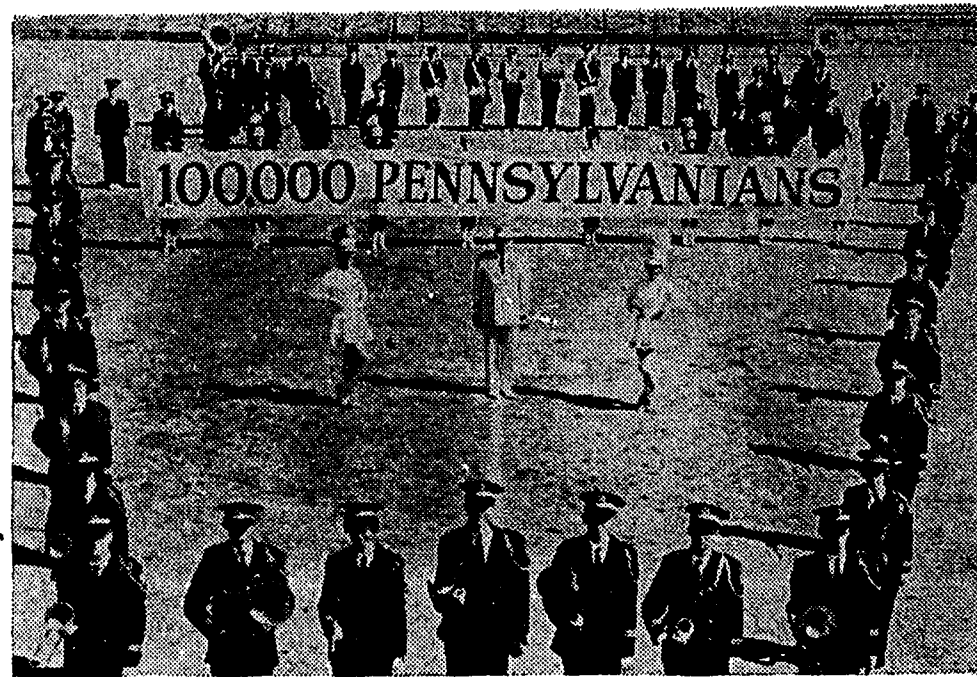

The Honorable Sivert A. Nielsen, Norway's Permanent Representative to the United Nations and featured speaker, will be introduced by Mr. William A. Lank, President of the BSC Board of Trustees.

The College Choraleers, directed by William Decker, will present the selection "Choose Something Like A Star." Singing the Alma Mater by the entire group will conclude the program. The benediction will be pronounced by the Reverend Lane Kilburn, President of King's College.

John A. Hoch, Dean of Instruction, has been designated as Marshall for the Academic Procession preceding the Convocation.

feels the need for a little cosmopolitan influence on campus, we have the International Program Committee, which is planning a program to bring a foreign student to BSC.

The Pilot Staff, also considered a CGA Committee, compiles and edits the college yearbook. Editor of this year's Pilot was Dean Long.

M&G Band Featured In Magazine

BSC's Maroon and Gold marching band was featured recently in the fall edition of the Pennsylvania Ambassador, published seasonally by the "100,000 Pennsylvanians."

The band appeared in conjunction with a salute planned for the executive committee, which exists for the promotion of economic growth in our Commonwealth.

Dr. Charles H. Carlson, director, has been coordinating the activities for the 65 band members who will march in the Homecoming Parade.

Other participants will be the Millersville State College band and marching units from the Ashland area, Benton, Bloomsburg, Central Columbia Jointure, Danville, and Millville.

During half time of the Homecoming game between BSC and Millersville State College, the eight bands will play two combined numbers. Over 500 musicians will participate in mass renditions of the King Cotton March and Colnel Bogey March.

Phi Sigma Pi Chooses Sweetheart; Gunnel Johnsson To Reign As Queen

Miss Gunnel Johnsson, a twenty-one year old junior from Port Trevorton, Pa., has been chosen this year's Phi Sigma Pi Sweetheart. Gunnel was chosen on the basis of her academic and social standing at BSC. Prior to Homecoming, the members of the fraternity nominate the girls who best represent the college both academically and socially. They later select one girl from the list of candidates. Their selection is based on the girl they feel the student body would choose.

Gunnel is originally from Skalderviken, Sweden. Two years ago, she was a foreign exchange student at Selinsgrove. Gunnel is enrolled in the elementary curriculum and has chosen French as her area.

At BSC, she is a member of the International Relations Club and the Student Christian Association.

Gunnel Johnsson

Her interests include batik, a type of painting on fabric material, music, sports, and sewing. After graduation, her plans include teaching and marriage.

Committees Performing CGA Work

they're taking one of the Hospitality Committee's tours. This committee provides visitors at BSC with tours of the campus.

The Orientation Committee creates its biggest splash, both literally and figuratively — during Orientation Week. They put the freshmen through their poses in an effort to let them know they're now college students, and what's expected of them as such.

All those people who were ever forced to flee from their rooms wearing hard-soled shoes and carrying towels have Bob White to thank. As Chairman of the Fire Drill Committee, he must make certain that all students can leave the buildings quickly and efficiently in case of fire.

Singing the praises of CGA and the program it sponsors is the purpose of the Publicity Committee, CGA's newest standing Committee, when you can't see the bulletin board for the signs; the publicity committee is probably putting on another saturation campaign.

Attempting to make the in-flow of books equal the out-flow is one of the major projects of The Library Policy Committee. They also work with the librarians in increasing the convenience of the library.

The Pep Committee is expected to work everyone into a proper state of enthusiasm for BSC sports events. For those who wish to watch our athletics fight it out on enemy ground. They sponsor buses to away games.

Every aspect of life at BSC is overseen by a committee. "Keep Our Lounge a Decent Place to Live," is the motto of the Husky Lounge Committee, while the Dining Room Committee looks after your welfare in The Commons.

The Election Board is responsible for supervising fair-and-square elections at Bloomsburg. Assembly programs are planned by the Assembly Committee, which also sponsors the All-College Christmas program.

Frank Arlotto, chairman of The Decoration Committee, adds the final touch to CGA dances with balloons and crepe paper.

The Awards Committee keeps touch of all those hard-earned activity points you piled up in your college career. For anyone who

Wilson Presents Art Work at BSC

Mr. Kenneth Wilson, Assistant Professor of Art at BSC, is displaying his recent paintings and drawings this month in the lobby of Waller Hall. This one-man show will mark the first of a series of exhibitions to be held here during this year.

Mr. Wilson, who has been a member of BSC's faculty since 1963, has been classified by some art critics as a romantic realist. All of his paintings center around nature, many of them being landscapes from the Bloomsburg area.

Other Exhibits

Mr. Wilson's art has been featured in many shows, both national and regional, including the Butler Mid-Year. Last spring, a French art magazine, La Revue Moderne, ran a review of two of his paintings in their February issue. Many of Mr. Wilson's paintings have been bought by private collectors.

Regional Teachers Attending In-Service Biology Institute

Twenty-five area teachers are attending the In-Service Institute at BSC during the 64-65 school year. The In-Service program is sponsored by a grant of $7,500 from the National Science Foundation.

The purpose of the institute is to give the biology teachers in commuting distance of the campus an opportunity to learn of the newer emphasis of modern biology and become acquainted with the philosophy and techniques of BSC's Biology.

Areas of modern biology selected for consideration in the institute are: molecular and cellular biology, microbiology, physiology, ecology, botany, genetics, and evolution.

The studies will be administered by correlation of the topics with the Yellow Herson text and participation in representative BSC's laboratory exercises.

Lectures will include Dr. Donald D. Robb, Director, Dr. Michael Herbert, Mr. Robert W. Jordan, Chairman, Department of Science. Off campus lectures will include Dr. James R. Voughan, Muhlenberg College, and Mr. Richard Smith, BSC's biology teacher, Marple-Newton Joint School District.

In-Service Program

The In-Service program began with a two-week session in late August, 1964, and will continue Saturday mornings throughout the fall and spring semesters of 1964-65. The following area biology teachers are participants in the program: Gerald M. Antonelli, Gilbertsville Central School, Gilbertsville, New York; William C. Brown, Milton Area Senior High School, Milton, Pa.; Gerald Dalton, Cass Township High School, Minersville, Pa.; Mary Ann Fleck, former teacher at Danville Senior High School, Danville, Pa.; John R. Fletcher, Berwick Area Senior High School, Berwick, Pa.; Paul Franklin, Benton Joint School, Benton, Pa.; Fred Frey, Kingston High School, Kingston, Pa.; Buddy M. Hartman, Central Columbia Joint High School, Bloomsburg, Pa.; John C. Jenkins, Lake Lehman Area High School, Lehman, Pa.; P. Walker, Shamokin Area High School, Shamokin, Pa.; John Furgel, Foster Township High School, Hazleton, Pa.; Tom De Groziano, Lab assistant, senior at BSC.

Summer Phase Of Program

Those who participated in the summer phase of the program but were unable to continue during the fall semester are: Mr. James I. Ritter, Bloomsburg Area High School, Bloomsburg, Pa.; William E. Shadle, Mahanoy Joint School District, Herndon, Pa.; Mr. Paul Yucka, Trinity High School, Camp Hill, Pa.

Special Education Grants Awarded BSC for the Training of Teachers

President Harvey A. Andruss has announced that two grants totalling $27,000 have been awarded by the Division of Handicapped Children and Youth of the U.S. Office of Education to Bloomsburg State College toward the preparation of teachers of mentally retarded children. The grants are in recognition of the curricular program in mental retardation developed by faculty in the Division of Special Education under the direction of Dr. Donald F. Maietta, Divisional Director.

Five Traineeships

One grant of $18,000 provides five undergraduate traineeships for seniors enrolled in special class curriculums during the 1964-65 academic year beginning September, 1964. An additional grant of $9,000 will award five summer-term traineeships to seniors enrolled in special class curriculums from June 1, 1965, to August 31, 1965.

President Andruss has announced the five winners of the $18,000 grant traineeships. Dr. Andruss, Dean Hoch, and Dr. Maietta were the members of the committee that evaluated a number of applications and awarded traineeships to Marianne Haswell, Williamsport; Judith Jenkins, Danville; Lorraine Lutz, Springfield; Diane Sheridan, Obelisk; and Barbara Szymanek, Warminster. The winners are currently enrolled at BSC as seniors in special class education.

Eligibility

To be eligible for traineeships, individuals must (a) be seniors enrolled in special class curriculums in mental retardation, (b) give evidence of professional promise or ability to enroll in graduate study leading to advanced degrees, (c) have above average undergraduate grades, (d) be satisfactorily adjusted or emotionally stable, and (e) have a high recommendation from the director of their curricular program or dean of instruction.

Seniors in the special class curriculum of any approved college or university in the United States are eligible. Students not enrolled at BSC may apply for admission through Mr. C. Stuart Edwards, Director of Admissions, and may make application to Dr. Maietta for financial awards.

Speaker Defines Educational Ideal

"What you are, coupled with what you know," was the definition of a teacher given by Dr. Clara Cockerille in a recent assembly. The topic of her talk, "An Answer to a Question and a Way of Teaching," centered around the American ideal of education.

Because of the rapid changes in American education, today's teachers must be well equipped to meet challenges. Dr. Cockerille stated that every teacher must be able to live, to work, and to communicate with people, and to recognize and respect the differences that exist among them.

By Examples

Dr. Cockerille also stated that the best way to teach is by example. Therefore, each teacher needs a broad field of education and a philosophy of life. She emphasized the importance of future teachers attending college, not for a diploma or a salary increase but for the educational value.

Dr. Cockerille, better known as "Miss North" of the PSEA Journal, was also the featured speaker at last year's Education Conference at BSC.

BSC Loses Third Straight; Brockport Tops Huskies 26-10

Brockport, N.Y., State College opened football relations with BSC on their home gridiron by blasting the Huskies, 26-10. They did this with three long second half runs after the Huskies had engineered a 10-3 lead by intermission.

Brockport may have a passing game. It didn't use it much and had only fair success when it did go to the overhead game. But it does have a running attack. To that the Huskies can attest.

During the afternoon Tony Badallato, a junior from Watertown, N.Y., carried the ball forward for 181 yards which was half of his team's total and a net that topped the ground achievement of all the Huskies.

Opie Stands Out

Standing out for the Huskies was the "little" sophomore quarterback Bob Opie. What Opie lacks in size, he makes up for in determination and spirit.

Each of the teams scored a field goal in the first period and each of the goals was booted by an athlete named Perry. King Perry for the Huskies put on his act first from 20 yards out. Before the period was over, Don Perry of Brockport booted one from 15 yards out.

Schraeder Scores

In the second period the Huskies drove 75 yards for a T.D. with the score made by Gerald Schraeder, who took a 5 yard pass in the end zone from Opie.

What happened after the rest period provided many memories for the Brockport boys but some nightmare material for the Huskies. In the 3rd period, a 34 yard jaunt by a Brockport back made the score 10-9. Cox then ran it over for 2 points and Brockport led 11-10.

In the final period Cox, got loose on the second play after a punt, and raced 76 yards to "pay dirt." Brockport's final score came after a Husky pass went astray. Savilli took it around end from 4 yards out, giving Brockport a big lead which they never relinquished.

Huskies Place In Weight Contests

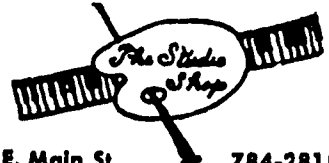

Two Bloomsburg State College men were active in the weightlifting scene this summer. Joe Figliolino of Fords, New Jersey entered two contests and Bob Eifert of Bloomsburg, Pennsylvania entered one.

Players of the Week

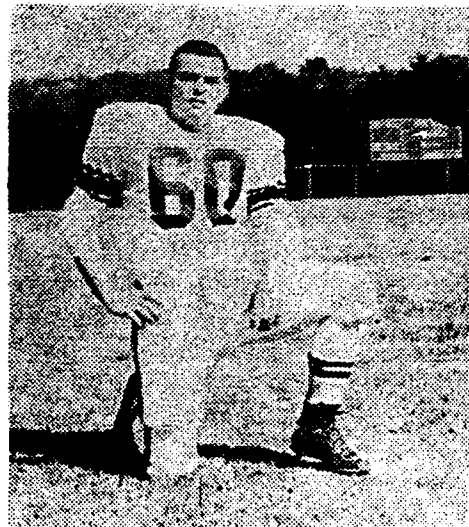

Hal Arnott

After a week of absence, the players of the week again return to the MAROON AND GOLD sports page. The "Back of the Week," chosen by the Husky football coaches, is Hal Arnott. Hal receives this honor for his brilliant display of running in the Huskies 26-10 loss to Brockport.

Arnott, running from his half back position, was the Huskies most consistent ground gainer on plays run up the middle. Several times Hal made gains of over ten yards and provided the spark in the Huskies offensive drive.

Hal is one of the smallest players on the Husky squad, measuring only 5' 6" and weighing 160 pounds, but he has shown that he is one of the hardest runners.

Jack Mulka

Congratulations are in order to Jack Mulka who was chosen "Lineman of the Week" by the Husky Football Coaches. Jack played a tough game despite a 26 to 10 loss at Brockport. Playing guard on offense and end on defense; Jack played one of the finest games of his college football career. The injury ridden Huskies found a real stopper in Jack, but it was not enough to pull out a victory.

Swimmers Start Official Practice; Seventeen Freshmen Will Try Out

The Bloomsburg State College swimming prospects have officially started preparation for the 1964-65 season. Physical examinations were administered to thirty-two men interested in performing for the Husky swim teams. Of this total, fifteen were upper-classmen who will be competing for a varsity position while seventeen were freshmen who will tryout for the Freshmen team.

New Freshman Rule

This season, the college swimming program will operate under the Freshman rule. Hence, no freshmen may perform as a varsity team member.

During the next several weeks, the entire squad will concentrate basically on conditioning. Then they will work on their specialties. Coach McLaughlin has noticed a tremendous amount of interest in competitive swimming over the past few years and is looking forward to even greater interest.

The swimmers will work-out daily in the college pool from 3 p.m. until 5 p.m. All students interested in seeing how a swimmer develops are invited to watch these men practice.

Varsity Returnees

Cross Country Is New Sports Event

Last week, a new sport at BSC, cross country, made its initial appearance at our college. For those of you who may not know too much about it, cross country consists of a five mile run. The course laid out here in Bloomsburg is, without a doubt, the most difficult in the state. Starting at the west end of Mt. Olympus, the speedsters turn up Light Street Road for two miles, turn around and come back up Spruce Street to Mt. Olympus. The first five men to finish on each team are given a rating from one to ten. The team having the lowest score wins. Time required to complete the event is approximately 31 minutes.

Track Stand Outs

The Huskies squad consists of a number of last spring's track standouts. Foremost among them is Jan Prosseda from Milton, Pa., state champ in the mile and two mile events for the last two years. Two other bright prospects are Irwin Zablocky from Central Columbia, who was fourth in the two mile event last year, and Joe Faz-

by John Murtin

This Saturday, the Huskies, in an attempt to make Homecoming a big success, will try to knock off the Gold & Black of Millersville. This will be the third consecutive year Bloomsburg has met the Mauraunders in a Homecoming duel. Two years ago the Huskies guided by quarterback Dick Ruhner, swamped Millersville 34-14 on Mt. Olympus, but last year, on Biemesderfer Field, Millersville retaliated with a 6-0 decision. So up to now each team has been making the other's Homecoming a happy one.

Mauraunders Favored

The Mauraunders will come to Bloom this year as slight favorites. Prior to last week, they had an 0-2 conference record with one non-conference win. This was one more win than BSC's hapless 0-1 conference record and 0-3 over-all season record, and should definitely give them the edge.

Like Army-Navy Game

Two years ago the contest was picked as a toss-up, and last year we were the favorites, which goes to show that once a game gets under way between these two schools it's like an Army-Navy game where anything unexpected can happen. So lets get out to the game on Saturday, give all our support to the Huskies and hope for the unexpected.

zari, a native of Woodbridge, New Jersey, are up-and-coming distance men. Other team members are Skip Hutterman, Tom Diehl, Joe Schein, Fred Rapp, Gary Horn, Dick Fulmer, and Bill Gerling.

Outlook Is Excellent

The outlook for this season's squad is excellent according to Coach John Brady. Not only does BSC have a top squad in its own right, but the leading point getters in the distance events in last year's state meet have graduated with exception of Prosseda and Zablocky.
