BSC Graduates Eighty-seven At Commencement

Various Awards To Be Presented at Commencement

Outstanding graduates will be honored at the Commencement exercises, January 26, for academic excellence and outstanding service to the college community. Included in the awards will be certificates for seniors who were selected to be included in "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities," service keys, and band awards.

The following seniors will be graduated with honors: (magna cum laude) Carol S. Hoover, Huntingdon; Dorothy C. Weaver, Lewisburg; Carol Necci Straub, Milton; Alice Ann Halowell, Williamsport; and Gail A. Glass, Catawissa, (Cum laude); Doris A. Farenkopf, Palmerton; Sharon L. Acker, Pottstown; Diane Wallace Davala, Simpson.

Four January graduates have been chosen for inclusion in the 1965 publication of "Who's Who."

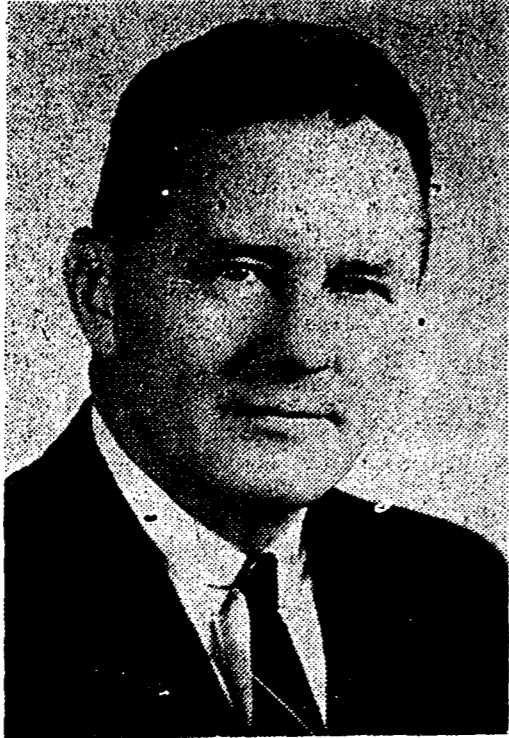

Roberta Caroline Kitsler is a major from Meyerstown, Pa. Her activities include vice-president of Waller Hall Governing Board and member of CGA committees.

Carol Necci Straub is from Milton, Pa., and is in the secondary curriculum. Carol's activities included Waller Hall Proctor, and the Harmonettes as treasurer and president.

Ann Carol Raynock from Weatherly, Pa., is majoring in the secondary curriculum. Carol was active in Phi Kappa Delta as secretary and treasurer, B club president, a Junior Resident Advisor, debating club secretary, and women's intramurals.

Carolyn Ann Wood from Bloomsburg, Pa., is enrolled in the elementary curriculum. Her activities include CGA committees, Day Women's president, Harmonettes and the MAROON & GOLD.

There will be a slight delay in processing the grades for reporting to the students and parents. The course cards are due in the processing center before Monday, February 1, but registration and schedule change after registration will force a delay in sending out the grades to students and parents. Grades should be available by February 15.

Dr. Weber

Charles Steiner, BSC Trustee Dies

Charles D. Steiner, Sr., a member of the Board of Trustees of Bloomsburg State College for nearly thirteen years, died at his home in Shamokin, January 13, 1965. He had served on the Board of Trustees from 1945-57, and was appointed again to the board during the summer of 1964 by Governor William W. Scranton.

Steiner was born in Luzerne County on September 21, 1903 and was educated in the public schools at Cooperstown, New Jersey, and at Ohio State University.

Survivors

He is survived by his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Richard Yost, Bloomsburg; a daughter, Charlotte, at home; a son, Charles D. Steiner, Jr., who is a freshman in Liberal Arts at Bloomsburg State College; two brothers, Floyd and Albert Doty, five sisters; and two grandchildren.

USMC Interviewers Look for Candidates

The Marine Corps Officer Selection Team will be at the local Marine Recruiting Office, Masonic Temple Building, Sunbury, Pa., on 29 January, 1965, to interview college students, male and female, for officer training. A class will convene in March for graduates desiring immediate enrollment.

Students should call the local recruiter for an appointment.

Main Speaker Is Dr. G. W. Weber

Dr. Gustave W. Weber, President of Susquehanna University, will be the featured speaker at the annual mid-year Commencement Convocation at BSC on Tuesday, January 26, 1965 at 7:00 p.m. in Carver Auditorium. At this time Dr. Harvey A. Andruss will confer the Bachelor of Science degree on 87 seniors and will award the Master of Education degree to a graduate student majoring in Business Education.

Academic Procession

An academic procession of faculty and seniors will precede the exercises in Carver. The invocation will be given by President Andruss. The selection "The Heavens Are Telling" will be presented by the College Choraleers followed by the address by Dr. Weber.

Awards will be given to seniors who are being honored for outstanding service to the College Community. Included will be certificates for seniors who were selected to be included in "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities," service keys, and band awards.

Hart To Present Seniors

Gerrold W. Hart, senior advisor, will present the seniors who will receive the awards from Dr. J. Alfred McCauslin, Dean of Students. John A. Hoch, Dean of Instruction, will present the 87 members of the class who will receive degrees and diplomas from President Andruss.

William Decker of the Department of Music will serve as organist and chorus director. Dr. Louis F. Thompson, Chairman of the Department of English, will be the honorary commencement marshal.

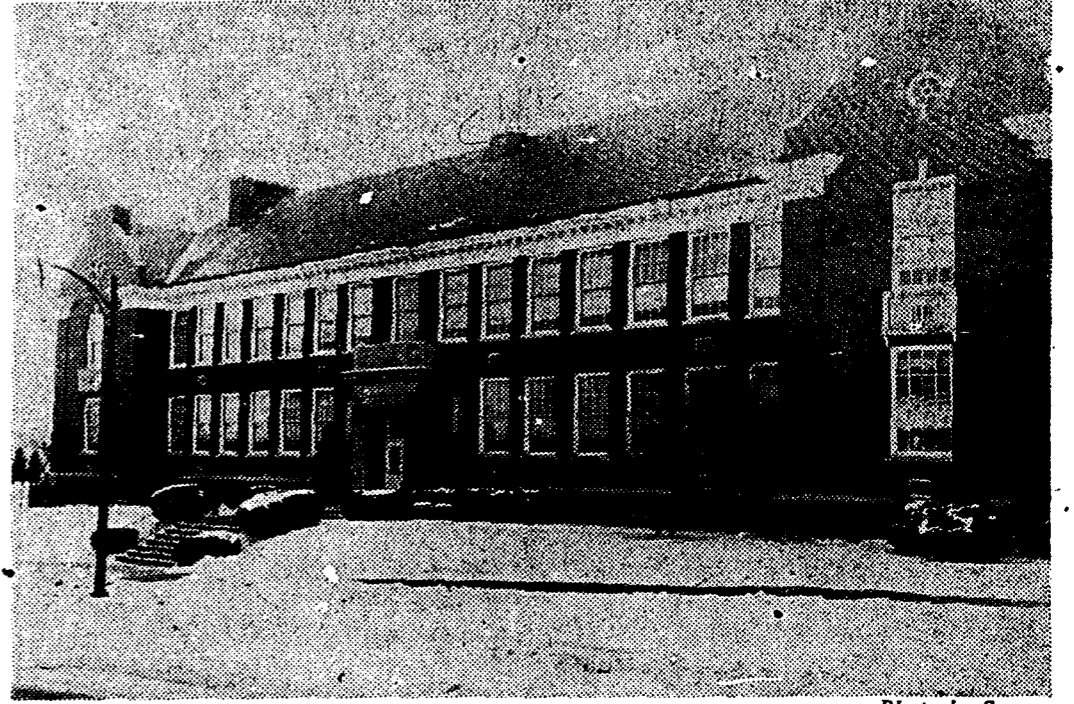

Dr. Weber

Dr. Weber, a native Austrian, was graduated from Allentown High School. He earned the Bachelor of Arts degree from Wagner College, the Bachelor of Divinity and Master of Sacred Theology degree from the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Philadelphia, and the Doctor of Theology degree from the Episcopal Divinity School, Philadelphia. Wagner College honored him with the Doctor of Divinity degree in 1961.

College Career

As an undergraduate student at Wagner, Dr. Weber was a leader in student affairs. In addition to serving as President of his class, the Student Council, the Debate Council, and his social fraternity, he also won nine varsity letters in football, basketball, and baseball, and was active in dramatics throughout his four years of college. He was graduated as salutatorian of his class.

Since taking over as Susquehanna's eleventh President, he has instituted a vigorous program of advancement at the 106-year-old liberal arts institution.

Phaseout of BSC Laboratory School Planned To Avail Classroom Space

Dr. Harvey A. Andruss, in a letter to the Bloomsburg School Board, announced the intention of BSC not to conduct a kindergarten class at the Benjamin Franklin Laboratory School during the 1965-1966 school year. The first grade may also be closed as part of a plan to eventually phase out the school.

Gradual Phase-Out

The phasing-out of the school will be done in a series of steps so that the local schools can absorb the elementary pupils, and so the college can reassign those faculty members who wish to remain on the college staff.

Additional Classrooms Needed

The main reason given by Dr. Andruss for this phasing-out plan is that of providing additional classroom facilities for the increased enrollment expected in September. Because the nearest completion date for a classroom building is approximately three years away, it was determined that the need for classroom space justified the initiation of the phase-out program.

Role of Lab School Changed

John A. Hoch, Dean of Instruction, stated a number of other considerations in phasing out the laboratory school. He said that, while he was not decrying the usefulness of a laboratory school, its role in teacher education has changed. The improvement of transportation facilities make it no longer a necessity for student teaching. The lack of adequate funds prevents a utilization of new laboratory techniques. Dean Hoch also added that no teacher education institutions throughout the country are planning construction of new laboratory schools or expansion of present ones.

Committee Appointed

The Bloomsburg Joint School Board appointed a committee of four directors to discuss the programs with Dr. Andruss. Also, the BSC Board of Trustees is expected to consider additional classroom space at their next meeting.

Schools Committee Extends Invitation

The National Schools Committee for Economic Education has extended a membership invitation to Dr. Harvey A. Andruss, President of Bloomsburg State College. The invitation was received from Morgan S. A. Reichner, Secretary and General Manager of the Committee which numbers 140 educators from varying parts of the country, including outstanding consulting economists.

The organization is essentially a research panel for testing and evaluating teaching ideas and materials for all school levels. Proposed ideas, scripts, etc., are submitted for evaluation, criticism, and comment to those committee members whose field it most concerns.

Since its origin in 1953, the Committee has been sponsored by the American Economic Foundation, a non-profit, non-partisan, non-endowed, research institution.

Players Produce The Wizard of Oz

Two special performances of The Wizard of Oz, production of the Bloomsburg Players, will be held for children on Saturday, February 27 at 10:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. Regular performances for the college community will be held Thursday and Friday evenings, February 25 and 26 at 8:15 p.m. in Carver Hall.

Special Price For Children

A special price for children has been set at 35c and the accompanying adult will be admitted free.

Scenery Designed

Mr. Richey, director of "The Wizard of Oz," has had members of the Children's Theater Class design and build the scenery. Luton Houtz is musical director and Ann Marie Rapella is choreographer.

Reservations Available

For the Thursday and Friday performances the regular student and faculty ticket policy will be observed. However, for the Saturday, reservations should be made and tickets secured in advance.

M&G Announces Contest Deadline; Philosophy of Contest Is Also Noted

The MAROON and GOLD reminds student organizations that the deadline for the Best Dressed Co-ed contest is February 4. The contest is being sponsored in conjunction with the national "Ten Best Dressed College Women" contest held annually by Glamour magazine.

Gift Certificate

The winner will receive a gift certificate from a local fashion shop and will also receive the opportunity to compete in the national contest. The February 4 deadline cannot be extended due to the necessity of meeting the national deadline of March 8.

At this time the MAROON and GOLD would like to make known the philosophy behind this contest, as quoted directly from Glamour magazine:

Philosophy

"We feel the years when a young woman is in college are the most formative years of her life. The education she gets during these years should mold her into a well-rounded, intelligent, independent, interesting, attractive person. Through this contest it is our hope to show that being well-dressed and well-groomed is an integral part of an education that develops the well-rounded mind. We also hope to show that these attributes are not a question of money or an extensive wardrobe. They depend, rather, on the development of good taste and an intelligent interest in one's appearance.

All students in the secondary education division who expect to complete their student teaching during the Fall Semester, 1965-66, are required to attend a meeting in Carver Hall Auditorium, Tuesday, February 9, at 4:00 p.m. Applications for student teaching will be taken at the meeting.

Comments and Recommendations Compiled From Examination Results

At this point, exam week is nearly half over for most students. Much comment, pro and con, has been voiced by students and faculty. Everyone has thus far been urged to try exam week as scheduled and save all comments and criticism until everyone has experienced it.

Thorough Pre-Planning

The faculty committee that drew up the guidelines, and Dean Hoch who did the scheduling, seems to have done an excellent job in arranging the various aspects and details involved with this task. For example, Dean Hoch reported to the M & G that he has only found one student having four exams in one day. The pre-planning has been thorough in all respects.

That which remains is the true test of this advance preparation. This week and next week will show the results — good or bad.

Exam Provides Unification

Students are reminded that examination week was designed to give the student an opportunity to unify the complete course, instead of only dealing with it in part. The examination week is purely experimental and after a trial of two semesters, the students and faculty will evaluate the method of testing.

Comments Invited

Thus equipped with these facts, the students of BSC are invited to voice their comments through the editorial columns of the M & G. We, however, reserve the right, should we receive excessive material, to use representative samples of any material received. We also request that comments be kept brief and to the point.

BSC Commuters Play Important Role Despite Handicap of Transportation

by Donna Bogard

Why is it that day students seem to be everybody's target? I'm sure I don't understand, unless it's the usual persecution of a minority group. I, myself, have run into prejudices against day students in some surprising quarters.

Prejudiced Professor

These prejudices include those held by certain professors as was indicated by a lecture I heard during an early part of my college career. During a discussion of college life, he informed us that he did not approve of day students. Continuing, he said that by not living on campus, the commuter is missing an important part of his education. With this I agree. But, he then said, in effect, that day students contributed nothing to the college. This alone bothered me, but I was particularly displeased with the smug, satisfied nods given by some of my classmates.

Opinion Presented

Some time later, I moved into the dorm for a short time to be closer to an extra curricular activity (which, according to some sources, I couldn't have been involved in). While eating in the commons, a conversation began on the subject of day people. She knew I was a day student, but urbanly tossed off the fact that she greatly disliked day students. I asked her (for me the characteristically leading question) how she could dislike an entire group made up of so many different people. She looked at me as if I was ridiculously stupid and said, in a condescending tone, that she liked some individual day students, but that as a group they were terribly dull and never contributed anything to intramural sports or other college activities. She obviously felt she had just made a distinction as important as Swift's, so I stopped arguing.

Day Student Opinion

The most recent person I have met who seemed prejudiced against day students was — a day student. This girl was a transfer from dorm life at another school. I met her walking down college hill and asked her if she had enjoyed a college sponsored activity presented the night before. She laughed, an educated, superior laugh and said that she didn't stay on campus any longer than absolutely necessary. There was a world of meaning in her short statement. However, she was in a class by herself; not a day student, but an hour student. I'm sure her attitude reflects prejudice instilled in her mind as a member of the majority at the other school.

Well, I hate to disappoint people of such experience and learning, but day students have been known to contribute some small services to our college community. Of course, as in any group, you can find the student who is so involved in study, outside work, or some activity at home, that he never finds time to develop an interest in extra-curricular activities here. Also, day students have the added problem of transportation which often discourages them from participation. On the whole, however, day students will admit a feeling of belonging to college life. If it's true, as we've been told, that no one can feel he truly belongs to any organization unless he contributed to it, I conclude that day students must contribute something as a group, and individually.

Mlle. Ghislaine Launay Finds US Land of Strange Concepts

by Dean Long

By sheer coincidence, France is presently represented at BSC. It was through the Bloomsburg Abroad program of study last summer that acquaintance was made with Mademoiselle Ghislaine Launay.

Soon after we were established at the University of Dijon, Monsieur Herard, director of the summer course, approached Mrs. Mary Lou John and Mr. Frank Albert, our advisors. Arrangements were made for a dinner engagement with Monsieur Launay, a Dijon rotarian, who customarily entertains foreign visitors to the university.

Interested In U.S.

Following several visits with the Launay family, Mrs. John learned that Ghislaine was interested in coming to the United States. M. Launay had spent 3 weeks at a trade conference in Dayton, Ohio the previous summer and had traveled through the states. With his impression of the U.S. and the descriptive information he was hearing about Bloomsburg State College, he granted permission for Ghislaine's 3,000 mile voyage to BSC.

Receives Degree

Ghislaine, having received her equivalent to a bachelor's degree in Business Administration through the Chamber of Commerce of Paris, was interested primarily in becoming a bilingual secretary. She had also studied pharmacy and medicine and is qualified to teach lycee (high school) in France.

Since arriving here she has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. John, Jr., 425 Iron street. Upon questioning Mr. John, it is apparent that he enjoys immensely the French cuisine she has prepared. Their son Eddie finds Ghislaine a great help with the high school French assignments.

Impressions

She was surprised to see so many wooden homes with porches and no fences surrounding the lots. She finds Americans much less

Intensive Survey Discloses Various Stocking Opinions

by Richie Benyo

There is no doubt that you have, in your wide travels (?), noticed the trend in woman's apparel this past year. Of 1964's innovations, perhaps the most controversial has been an improvement (?) in woman's hosiery; the textured stocking.

Various Opinions

Each person, as is human nature (What these days isn't?), has his own candid (and usually censored) thoughts, known only to himself and to a loyal friend or two. But, he puts on a front and gives an opinion to the world, too (Human nature again?). Herein are presented some from both sides, some candid and some public knowledge. You guess which is which:

Pros

In favor of — a young, budding female student, quite calmly says: "They seem to be in good taste for dressing, as long as they are the simple crisscross pattern." Others, a male this time, did not get quite as technical: "...saxy..." Of course there is the type who is not a middle-of-the-roader in anything, and his reply comes with a nod of the head, a wink of the eye, and shrug of the shoulders.

Cons

Opposed to — A co-ed observes that, "certain types look hideous..." while a male expresses it by saying, "they're OK if the girls formal on a first name basis. Complimentarily, she says that the neighborly attitude is one of greater concerns for the other's needs. The people are friendly; therefore, one gets to become familiar with many.

Ghislaine's impressions of the college and students are these:

- (1) There is more student recitation in American colleges than in European colleges.
- (2) There is less learning by rote memory here.
- (3) Textbooks are permitted open during class sessions.
- (4) Students live closer together — Husky Lounge.
- (5) American professors are interested in the individual and try to draw the most and the best out of them.
- (6) Students dress more com-

Slippery Slopes Slay Stoic Students; Snow Starts Certain Slide Stimulus

by Luton Houtz

A sinister laugh, a shrill scream, and another "snow bunny" is initiated as the annual BSC frolic of the snow begins. That soft white stuff that has been absent for so long has finally put an end to its sabbatical in the north and has returned to teach us the joys of being kids again. No matter how sophisticated we all try to appear, the snow, paradoxically, seems to melt our masks and for one of the few times in our short college years we let ourselves go.

Football? ?

Notwithstanding that the college nurses may have a sudden run on cold tablets and hot water bottles, the men and women of our campus have decided to make the most of the white bounty. Not a few passers-by were amused at the don't want to be admired." Another fellow looked around suspiciously, to see if anyone was watching, and then confided that "they seem to be too much at one time."

Indifference

Middle-of-the-fence views — one young, seemingly energetic guy said, "I'm completely indifferent to them," and added, "I don't lie." Another of the same sex stated: "Actually, it depends on where they are worn." (He sounds like he could be easily swayed if someone would wear them at a certain place, at a certain time, and when he is there to offer judgment.)

It was quite surprising how unbiased and straight-forward the answers were (sic); this attests to the fact that students of BSC have an overall objective attitude toward "heated" issues, which was not a part of the survey, but which seems like an interesting side-light.

OK now, I've got a question for you: "What do you think of texture stockings?"

"SONNET TO A SMILE"

Connie Bryner

A smile is a gift, given or received
To one who is happy or one who's bereaved.
It can be small and shy on your face,
And it oftentimes a word will replace.
A friend may give it to one who is dear,
Or a stranger when passing by one who is near.
It's born in the heart and proceeds to the eyes,
Then moves to the lips and never dies.
A smile is remembered when words' echoes fade,
And the receiver will cherish it, Never to trade.
It costs not a penny, but it's worth so much more,
For it's a gift of Man, be he rich or poor.
Life can be hard — it holds many a trial,
But great is the man who wears a smile.
(Inadvertently, the poet of last week's contribution to this column was omitted. The poet of "The Decoy" was Connie Bryner.)

fortably during leisure hours — monogrammed sweat shirts.

Enjoying Stay

As Bloomsburg has favorably impressed Ghislaine, so we have been impressed by her charming personality and interest in learning the English language. Ghislaine also expresses the same enthusiasm in her course studies of shorthand and typing here at college.

"football" game taking place on the terraces in front of East Hall. Others just ducked their heads and ran for fear of being tackled by mistake.

Snowball Battles

On the other side of the campus, in front of Waller Hall, the good old fashioned snowball battles were taking place with the snow flying and spattering in every direction.

Even during classes, snow becomes an integral part of our lives. Each walk becomes a slide and you can get to class twice as quickly (that is, if the class is down hill!) Classes that are at the top become a challenge to the winter sport enthusiast as he slips, slides, and crawls to class with his ropes, snowshoes and spare rations.

Ice Prohibits Travel

This weather changes the time schedules of everyone since you can never depend on your feet to take you where you want to go. You may be about to grasp the door handle of Ben Franklin when your feet start sliding back down to the Husky. If you are going down hill you usually get down sooner than expected, leaving a trail of books, papers and notes as you whiz by. Going uphill is just the opposite. Every step forward takes you back two or three, but since you wanted to do some shopping down town anyhow...

Young At Heart

Snow brings some fun and some trials to BSC, but it is a time which is liked by many and if it were absent would be missed by many more. When, after a frolic in the snow, everyone congregates in the Husky with a rosy glow on their cheeks and laughter fills the air, we might say that snow brings out the young in the young at heart.

The Husky Tankmen dropped their first home meet at, and their third of the year, to the Marauders of Millersville State College by a score of 56 to 39.

Jim Young Returns

Jim Young, from Upper Darby, swimming for the first time since a knee operation, won the 50-yard freestyle, was second in the 100-yard freestyle and swam on the winning 400-yard freestyle relay team. Other members of the relay team are, Jerry Loomis, Ray Fox, and Regis Sterling. Also Jerry Loomis took a first in the 100-yard freestyle event, and Dick Stidel took a second in diving.

Frosh Over Millersville

The Frosh tankmen dumped the Millersville Frosh by a score of 70 to 13. The Frosh took every event and improved on a varsity record in the 400-yard freestyle relay.

The BSC Freshmen tankmen defeated Glassboro of South Carolina by a score of 67-21. The Glassboro defeat made the third win for the

Grapplers Defeat Appalachian State

The Bloomsburg State wrestlers ran their victory string to six last Friday night with a decisive victory over Appalachian State College at Boone, N.C. The Huskies preserved their unbeaten record by setting down the Appalachian matmen twenty to six and winning six of their matches.

In one of the top matches of the evening, Ed Taylor, 147, decided his opponent with an eight to two advantage in a fast-moving match. Rocco Forte, 157, also wrestled a good match but went down to a strong Appalachian opponent in one of the two defeats. Grant Stevens, 123, and Bill Paule, 167, both won their matches by decision.

Defensive Strategy

The Appalachian strategy, according to coach Houk, was largely defensive in character, making it quite difficult for the stronger Husky squad to get many pins. The only pin of the evening came when Tom Vargo, 177, nailed his man at 2:47 of the second period. After being dazed by a hard knock in the first period, heavyweight Lee Viard continued his match but lost a close decision.

Two Newcomers Win

Two members of the Jayvee squad, Don Sholley, 130, and Francis Decembrino, 137, were moved up to wrestle with the varsity and both made good showings by decisioning their opponents.

The end of the road is always the easiest; it's getting started that takes work.

To be a conformist these days is definitely to be different.

from the ... SIDELINES

by John Murtin

Recently, I was talking to a friend of mine who had the experience of attending the Lock Haven, Yale wrestling match a few weeks ago. He told me a story that I thought would make interesting reading, especially to our wrestlers.

While sitting at the match, as any fan would do, he happened to strike up a conversation with the fellow sitting next to him. My friend said, "The Bloomsburg-Lock Haven wrestling match should be a pretty good one this year." The gentleman from Lock Haven quickly replied, "Personally, I don't see how they can win a match from 137 pounds up." My friend, a little shocked, picked Ed Taylor as an example and said, "What's wrong with Ed Taylor? Don't you give him any credit? Why won't he win?" Mr. Lock Haven answered, "He won't win because I'm going to wrestle him. I've wrestled him four times so far, and I've beaten him three times." The gentleman I speak of was Bill Blacksmith, one of Lock Haven's big mouthed wrestlers.

This fine lad went on to tell how all their wrestlers are going to have an easy time with ours. He told Mr. Eisenhower will knock off Bill Paule this year, and how Tom Vargo and the rest of our heavyweights do not stand a chance. I realize our match with Lock Haven is still a little under a month away, but I hope that this article will add a little push to our guys. I can't see the likes of BSC wrestlers losing to the likes of loudmouths like Bill Blacksmith.

Women Schedule For '65 Basketball

Miss Eleanor Wray, women's basketball coach, has released the following schedule for the women's extramural basketball season. Seven games, four home and three away, are presently scheduled.

- Thursday, February 4 — 4 p.m. Penn State, Away.
- Tuesday, February 16 — 4 p.m. Misericordia, Away.
- Thursday, February 18 — 4 p.m. Lock Haven (two games), Home.
- Wednesday, February 24 — 4 p.m. Susquehanna, Home.
- Wednesday, March 3 — 4 p.m. Wilkes, Away.
- Tuesday, March 9 — 4 p.m. Muhlenberg, Home.

Hoopsters Lose Two on Road Defeat E. Stroudsburg, 87-79

Early last week the cagers of BSC lost two non-league games. On Monday, the Huskies played Alliance in a rematch after first taking the first game at home, 89-70. This time the Huskies were unable to stop Alliance's 6-8 Garnet, who scored 34 points, and Alliance got their revenge in an 83-79 win. Garnet was the difference as he controlled both backboards and collected 30 rebounds. Once again the Huskies felt the loss of Bob Herzig, who injured his wrist during the game; although he still managed to score 16 points. Ed Beck played a fine game, scoring 21; as did Blue and Farina with 11 and 10 markers respectively.

Lose To Gannon

BSC then traveled to Erie, where they met an extremely strong Gannon team. The Golden Knights are carrying a 13-1 record and are ranked among the top 10 small college teams in the nation. Although the Huskies played one of their best games of the season, they were simply outplayed and lost 76-54. Bob Herzig led all the scorers for the night with 25 points in the losing cause.

End 4 Game Skid

The Huskies of Coach Norton evened their conference record at 3-3 at the expense of the Warriors of East Stroudsburg on Saturday night.

Gene Miller and Bob Blue, along with the ever dependable Bob Herzig, ended a 4 game losing streak of the Huskies. When the gun sounded, the Huskies had won 87-79.

The game got off to a slow start with neither team displaying much scoring power. After about 6 minutes of playing time had elapsed, the Huskies started to hit the scoring column.

Miller and Herzig led the Huskies in scoring in the first half with Gene getting 13 and Bob dumping in 14.

Ed Beck played his consistent fine game along with Farina who set up many 2 pointers with his fine ball handling ability.

Herzig scoring two against ESSC,

BSC won 87-79. when Miller got into foul trouble, and proved again that he is a dependable performer. Herzig led all scorers with 24 points followed by Miller with 16.

Pups Win

In the preliminary contest, the Husky Pups of Coach Davies brought their season to mark, to 4 wins and 3 losses by soundly whipping the "little" warriors 96-79. Joe Alansky was high with 24 points.

Students are again reminded of the necessity of registration on Tuesday, February 2 within time blocks indicated in a previous M & G issue and in notices sent out to all students. If students will report to the rear of the gym to form lines one-half hour before; this will facilitate the operation. If registration time is missed, students will not be admitted to the lines, but will be allowed to register on Tuesday at 3:30. Freshmen and new students will also register at 3:30.

BSC Varsity Debarots To Represent College At Kings Debate Tournament

Two BSC students, John Nattras and Bill Rowett, will represent BSC at the annual Garbey Debate Tournament to be held at Kings College, February 5 and 6.

The tournament is to be a switch-side debate consisting of two debates on each team instead of the usual four. Both members of the team will alternate with the opposite team in debating both negative and positive stands. The topic on debate is "Resolved: that the Federal Government Should Establish a National Program of Public Work for the Unemployed."

Rowett, a junior from Conyngham, Pa., is a Secondary Social Studies Major. Nattras, a junior from West Wyoming, Pa., is enrolled in the Secondary math curriculum.

Maietta Attends Temple Meeting

Dr. Donald F. Maietta, Director of Special Education, attended a meeting of the Subcommittee on Technical Review and Program Design of the Pennsylvania Comprehensive Mental Health/Mental Retardation Plan at Temple University in Philadelphia on January 19, 1965. Technical review was given to 15 papers presented by task forces on mental retardation throughout the Commonwealth, and recommendations will be made to the Committee on Comprehensive Mental Health and Mental Retardation, appointed by Governor Scranton, in terms of program of design and proposed legislation to implement the various programs.

Geographers Plan Spring Conclave

Plans for the twelfth annual Spring Conference of the Pennsylvania Council for Geography Education featuring "Geography Education in the Limelight" have been released by Dr. Bruce Adams, Chairman of the BSC Geography Department and President of the Council. The program will take place at West Chester State College April 30 and May 1, 1965.

Other members of the BSC faculty participating in the conference are Dr. John Enman, a member of the PCGE executive board, and Mr. Lee Hopple who will conduct one of the sectional meetings.

Dr. Richard Hartshorne, author of The Nature and Perspective of Geography, will be the feature speaker, the second day of the conference.

Geography students interested in attending any or all of the sessions will be most welcome.

E. R. Keefer, BSC Librarian has announced that the 1965 edition of the Summer Employment Directory is available in the library. Students may ask for the volume at the Reserve Desk.

Council Discusses Variety of Topics In 7th Meeting

The seventh regular meeting of College Council was held January 11, 1965. Several items of importance to the student body were discussed. A brief summary of the items contained in the minutes follows.

Hot Plates

A motion to accept a bid to place several hot plates in the dormitories was heard by Council. The Maroon & Gold then presented its announcement of a contest to find the "Best Dressed Coed."

Minutes

In the next item of business, Council decided to place a copy of the minutes of each meeting in the Faculty Lounge. The members of Council then discussed the problems and possible solutions to the overcrowded conditions at athletic events in Centennial Gymnasium.

Letter

Just prior to adjournment, a letter to Council was heard in which several students voiced their appreciation to CGA for their support of the Civic Music programs.

Dean Announces Rm. Change Plan

Dean Hunsinger has made the following announcement:

Because of the number of occupants in certain rooms in Waller Hall being decreased, we are asking some of the students to change rooms. If you are one of these students, please have your room checked by the Proctor and bring the slip and your room key to the Dean of Men's office to be exchanged before you leave for the semester break.

If you are planning to leave the dormitory because of student teaching or commuting, please have your room inspected and bring the slip together with your room key to the Office of the Dean of Men for your refund.

A film concerning stock entitled "What Makes Us Tick" was shown at the last regular meeting of the BSC Business Education Club. Plans were also discussed for the club's trip to the World's Fair scheduled for April.
