Co-ed-Of-Year Nominees

Nominations were held last week for the Co-ed-of-the-year Contest, which is sponsored annually by the Obiter, BSC's yearbook. Each class chose two candidates. Elections will be held on Monday and Tuesday, February 15 and 16. The winner will be crowned Co-ed-of-the-Year at the Freshman dance on Friday, February 19.

Seniors nominated are Nancy Raub an Elementary major from Hatboro, and Marilyn Rink, also an Elementary major, from Glenside.

Nominees of the Junior Class are Ellen Czajkowski, from Wilkes-Barre majoring in Speech Correction, and Jean Zenke, a Secondary Math major from Scranton.

Sophomore candidates are Diane

DeFrancisco, a major in Special Education from Bethlehem, and Judy Neill, a Business student from Willow Grove.

The Freshmen nominated are Jacklyn Kemp, an Elementary major from Berwick, and Barbara Leta, an Elementary major from Williamsport.

Carr Listed 'Fair' Following Mishap

BSC freshman, Thomas Carr, who was involved in an automobile accident, along with Keith Taylor, Donald Smith, Roy Zimmerman, Joe Gerst, John Ford, and Coach Gerald L. Maurey, was listed in fair condition at Reading Hospital as of Monday, February 8. Dean Elton Hunsinger, in a memorandum to all residents of Waller and New North Halls, requested that everyone, regardless of his own religious faith, offer a prayer for Tommy.

The Dean, who spent Saturday afternoon in the hospital with Mr. and Mrs. Carr, stated that, although Tommy's condition is a very serious one, it is not a hopeless case. The Carrs expressed their appreciation for the thoughts and flowers, and have requested prayers, for, in the words of Dean Hunsinger, "Many times where medical help has failed, prayer has been successful."

The accident in which the six Jayvee wrestlers were involved, occurred early on Wednesday, February 3, when the station wagon in which they were riding collided with a truck at Pottsville. The other five members of the team and the coach suffered lacerations and bruises of head and face.

Sports Attendance Policy Announced

A new rule governing attendance at home athletic events has been set up by the Athletic Committee upon recommendation by the College Council. The rule states as follows: "Bloomsburg State College students and faculty and holders of complimentary tickets, upon presenting their identification cards and complimentary tickets, may enter the student-faculty gate prior to the opening of the main door for admission to home athletic events in Centennial Gymnasium. One half hour prior to the starting time of the main events, admission tickets will then be placed on sale at the main door providing there is available space for non-college sports fans."

"Snowball" Plans; Dance Is Feb. 19

The Class of 1968 will present the "Freshman Snowball" on Friday, February 19, in Centennial Gymnasium. President Nelson Ramont has announced that preparations are now in their final phases and that he has received assurance from Vice President Robert Boose, Chairman of the dance, that everything will be completed ahead of schedule. At the same time, Ramont announced that Mel Wynn and the Rhythm Aces have been contracted to provide music for the event. In regard to dress for the dance, he said, "semi-formal has been defined by the dance committee as being sports jacket and tie for men, and suit, sheath, or other dinner dress for women." He also stressed the role of each freshman in this venture by saying that "only with the co-operation and support of each freshman can we hope to make the Freshman Snowball a success." He added that upperclassmen support is also being solicited.

Gretchen Volk and Sue Saurman, heads of the Decoration and Refreshment committees respectively, report that the work of their committees is progressing rapidly. They both state the need for additional volunteer workers, however.

Scott Clark, chairman of the Publicity and Tickets, has announced that tickets will go on sale on Monday, February 15, at 9:00 am. Tickets will be $1.50 per couple. He also stated that "stag tickets will be made available if a sufficient demand for these materialize, however, attendance by couples is strongly recommended."

If you can get amusement out of your follies, you should be able to work up a smile almost any time.

BSC and PSMLA Plan To Conduct 2nd Summer Study Abroad Program

Bloomsburg State College will conduct its second annual Summer Study Abroad program this year in conjunction with the Pennsylvania State Modern Language Association. The Study Program will be under the direction of Dr. Carl Bauer, Chairman of the Department of Foreign Languages, BSC, with the tentative dates being July 15 to August 31, inclusive.

The three universities at which study will be conducted are the University of Mainz, Germany, the University of Dijon, France, and the University of Madrid, Spain. Six credits will be paid for by the program and may be granted by BSC upon completion of courses.

Dr. Andruss Announces Plans For BSC's Future

Mr. Creasy

Creasy Assumes New Campus Post

James B. Creasy, a member of the faculty of BSC since September 1960, has been appointed Assistant to the President, according to an announcement by Dr. Harvey A. Andruss. Mr. Creasy began his new duties Monday, February 1.

Mr. Creasy was born and educated in Bloomsburg, and attended BSC from 1949 to 1951. He then served four years with the United States Navy. Following his discharge from the Navy, he resumed his studies at the college, and completed the requirements for the Bachelor of Science degree in Business Education. He earned the Master of Science degree in Business Administration at Bucknell University and is now continuing his graduate studies at the Pennsylvania State University.

"By 1980 Bloomsburg will accommodate 6,000 students," stated Harvey A. Andruss at the first convocation of the second semester. Nearly 2,000 members of the college community attended the convocation last week.

For twenty years, attempts have been made to map an adequate program for the growth of BSC. The plans for a 1600 student college twenty years ago has now grown to 4800 students, and Pennsylvania anticipates that the figure will be raised to 6,000. Increase in enrollment is now four years ahead of the building program. As a result, there is a pressing need for facilities.

Soon A University

State Superintendent of Education, Charles H. Boehm, and President Andruss are now thinking in terms of Bloomsburg State College becoming a state university.

Dr. Andruss continued to point out that more applications are now received earlier in the year and that Bloomsburg had to choose 275 dormitory women to enter in September, 1965, from among 1,000 applicants. The enrollment at the end of the first semester was only 1 per cent lower than at the beginning of the semester. The beginning of the second semester for 1964-1965 shows the largest enrollment in the school's history.

Increasing Applications

"It is likely that many Pennsylvania high school graduates will not have an opportunity to enroll in college and this number will probably grow from September to September for at least five years. This is graphically demonstrated by statistical reports which show that while only 1/3 of Pennsylvania's high school graduates go on to college the number in some states approaches 50 per cent. It seems to me that 50 per cent more college students can be expected to enroll if opportunities are provided either in community colleges or state colleges or other relatively inexpensive institutions, which students can afford to attend."

1980 — BSU!

These factors indicate that a new blueprint must be drawn for the continued development of BSC. It must provide for increased enrollments, more buildings, and faculty members who are both better educated and better compensated. Dr. Andruss closed by saying that by 1980 he expects Bloomsburg to be a state university with an enrollment of 6000 students.

Sr. English Majors Given Opportunities

Senior English majors interested in doing graduate study in the fall of 1965, should ask to see the folder of graduate study opportunities in English in Dean Hunsinger's office. Several announcements are received each week from universities throughout the nation. These programs frequently pay tuition and stipends which may be as high as $3000 per year.

Additional literary contributions are needed for the Olympian. Anyone who would care to submit original works to the magazine may do so by addressing them to Randy Romig, Box # 696.

Mr. Dennen

BSC Adds Dennen To Faculty Roster

John E. Dennen, a cost accountant of the Armour Leather Company, Williamsport, has been appointed an Instructor in Business Education and joined the faculty at BSC on February 1.

A native of Exchange, Pa., Mr. Dennen received his Bachelor of Science and Mathematics. In the near future he will complete the requirements for the Master's degree in Business Administration at Bucknell University.

Kutztown Photos Displayed At BSC

Pictures taken by a photography class at Kutztown State College are now being displayed in Waller Hall Lobby. Professor John Lachtefeld instructed the class in the use of chemicals and diverse lighting during the development of the negatives in order to produce the effects of abstraction and realism. The display portrays the use of the camera in creating a work of art.

Does The Mass of Students Educated Merit Quality Of Education Given?

A university of 6,000 by 1980! Growth much faster than planning! Admission demand at present is far above its capacity!

These were the headlines made at last week's convocation at which President Andruss addressed the present BSC community of 2,000 members. Stressed was the fact that the college is constantly growing far ahead of the plans, despite the fact that there has been a continual shortage of space.

Crowds, Crowds . . .

This fact has been especially noticeable to the student body currently witnessing this rapid growth. Crowded lounges, especially Husky, a crowded dining hall, crowded conditions at athletic events have been felt by the students. Most important of all: crowded classrooms are contributing not simply to discomfort but to a potential downgrading of the quality of work required of the student.

Is it right that students and faculty should be subjected to these conditions at the expense of merely becoming a university by 1980? We are wondering why this expansion must continue at such a rate when to continue will inevitably be at the expense of the students enrolled, who are not likely to get the quality of higher education that would be theirs if the size of the classes were kept at a manageable number. When classes get so large that the instructor simply does not have the time or energy to give to a careful consideration of student papers, then it is the students who suffer more than the instructor, for he cannot maintain the quality of work necessary to the students under the pressure of numbers. Quality is sacrificed for quantity. The democratic ideal of "education for all" becomes in the end education for none.

Slow Expansion Rates

Who is responsible for this slow expansion rate of building new facilities? The answer lies not in any one person, but in the system of procedure required to place a new facility from the drawing board to actual use. This procedure requires many long and drawn-out steps so that it takes several years for a planned building to come into existence. This required procedure is the cause of delay in most of the planned buildings here and at other state institutions.

What can be done to speed up this process? The answer here again is not an easy one to find, but it appears that if there were more legislators and other politicians genuinely interested in education possibly more could be accomplished to improve our educational facilities.

Adequate Preparation

We are not saying that becoming a university is bad; we are, however, stating that we feel that doing so at the expense of others is bad. What effects will crowded classrooms have on us as future teachers? Will we be adequately prepared to meet the challenge of teaching when we enter the field? Will a lack of classroom time and facilities hinder us in any way in preparing us for our teaching experience? These are questions that should be answered by all before rushing the idea of expanding.

Dr. Andruss also stated, "It is likely that many Pennsylvania high school graduates will not have an opportunity to enroll in college and this number will probably grow from September to September for at least five years. . . It seems to me that fifty per cent more college students can be expected to enroll if opportunities are provided either in community colleges or state colleges or other relatively inexpensive institutions, which students can afford to attend."

Higher Educational Demand

We here also realize that the demand for higher education is present, but we also have been told by guidance personnel that there are other good colleges that are not working to full capacity. Maybe today's youth cannot enter the college of their choice but they can usually find an institution of higher education where they can receive the education they desire.

We realize that the whole thing is a complicated problem, but we come back to the original question: "Is it right to crowd the classroom at the expense of the quality of instruction? The mere weight of numbers can destroy in the end the traditional quality of higher education!"

This question is not one to be given a simple answer. It is one however that should receive much consideration as we continue toward that goal of becoming a university. The idea is a good one, but should not be undertaken at the educational expense of anyone.

Rapid Registrat'n Indicates Change

Who said that registration would take two days? Who said it would require hours of standing? Who said it was an ordeal to be completely avoided (if that was possible)?

We don't know who said it, but if anyone did they were probably thinking of the situation as it existed several years ago. Since then we have come a long way in our procedure for registering students.

This past week the entire student body completed registration in a day and rather smoothly. Everyone who did what he was supposed to when he was supposed to, found that the new and improved process was much better than it used to be.

As we progress, so do our methods and to the benefit of everyone. This is possible through the careful planning and supervision of our administration. All are to be commended for the efficient (and almost pleasant) carry through of registration.

Board Recognizes Charles D. Steiner

Charles D. Steiner, Sr., a member of the Board of Trustees of Bloomsburg State College from 1945-47, died at his home in Shamokin, January 13, 1965. The Board of Trustees has issued the following proclamation in recognition of the services rendered to the college by the late Charles Steiner:

WHEREAS, his long association and interest in the institution and its activities, and his counsel, advice and understanding of the problems following World War II, when the institution provided education for many Service Men who were more mature than the average student,

BE IT RESOLVED that his spirit of service and interest in our college should be recognized by the Board of Trustees in such a manner that the Alumni, Faculty, and Students be made aware of his passing and the loss we sustain.

Next deadline for the Maroon & Gold is Monday, February 15, at 4:00 pm. Next issue will be Friday, February 19.

Pres. A. Lincoln's Century-old Goals Still Unfulfilled

by Judy Gers

Who among us has not heard and formed in their hearts an idea and a respect for Abraham Lincoln, whose birthday we observe today.

He was like us when young. Perhaps, Lincoln also asked questions and found no answers, doubted and despaired as to his future, and was mildly interested in politics. But unlike us, he had an unquenchable thirst for knowledge.

As he grew older and passed from youth to adulthood, one question, without an answer, remained in his mind: How can the United States be a stronghold of freedom if men within it are slaves? As time progressed, so did Lincoln, but the quandry still remained unanswered.

Upon becoming President, he was confronted with his unanswered question. The question had now evolved into an issue—an issue of war. What should he do? How could he abolish an old institution? Lincoln tried many solutions, but all had failed. The ultimate one had to be utilized. No one realized more than he that it was a start not a final solution, as he had hoped to find. On New Year's Day, 1863, he signed the Emancipation Proclamation. Lincoln's signature is now a part of history. But his pessimistic "But anyway, it's going to be done" has been dismissed. Yes, he was pessimistic over what is recorded as one of his greatest contributions because he had not found the answer.

Today, 100 years later on the day of his birth, Lincoln's question is still present. It's wording has been changed but the racial question remains. His trials and tribulations and quest for knowledge, for a solution to this problem are now handed down to this generation.

Lincoln in his own eyes had failed, but in his failure made a start. Many people have toiled to find the solution but so far have just gotten to the middle of the answer. Who will finish the task? In Lincoln's words, "It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated to the unfinished work which they have, thus far, so nobly advanced."

Weather Station Is Class Project

The physics classes of Eugene Steinruck, a 1964 graduate of BSC, have opened a classroom weather station as a current project. Steinruck who majored in physics and mathematics while at BSC, has arranged for his students to study weather conditions and predictions through active participation in the use of weather instruments.

In addition to posting their predictions on the door of the classroom, also known as "Gettysburg Weather Station No. 1," the local radio station, WGET, cooperates by allowing a student to call the station. The student's report is recorded and the station plays the track as a "condition" weather report.

Although the students do not have the complete facilities to form long range forecasts, they are able to make a five-or-six-hour forecast with reasonable accuracy. Steinruck finds that the students have a greater interest in his class and hoped to continue "Gettysburg Weather Station No. 1" for six or seven weeks. He and his class will also use the data to study weather characteristics and trends over the period.

The weather has been getting up into the 50's this last week, which may mean that the Big Prediction is all a hoax.

THE VOICE

Dennis Reedy

There, along the ever flowing waters,
Stood a most beauteous creature.
Long flowing hair, the color of chestnut;
Graceful thin arms—a loving enchantment;
Eyes so deep, so clear, so crystal.

Slowly she bent to the bank.
Below her lay the figure of a man,
Asleep on the waving grasses.
Softly she kissed his brow—then his lips.
He stirred slowly—then rose.

He looked into her face,
And she grew frightened—pale—white.

Then, he spoke; the words were soft and calm,
"You are to love and to live,
But your heart shall never be true."

Then off he walked—across the waters.

She started, then stood—staring into time;

For she never knew him and never did.

Silently she left across the fields,
And soon was joined by many young men.

They laughed—they joked,
But in her mind's ear a voice was speaking;

The words were soft and calm,
"You are to love and to live,
But your heart shall never be true."

Churchill's Legacy Is Gift of Greatness

by William Jones

"Let us therefore brace ourselves to our duties, and so bear ourselves that, if the British Empire and its Commonwealth last for a thousand years, men will say: 'This was their finest hour.'" With these words Sir Winston Churchill closed a speech in 1940, at the beginning of the Battle of Britain.

On the 24th of January, 1965, this great figure of the twentieth century and voice of Britain during World War II passed away. In the weeks to come, Winston Churchill will be evaluated and commented upon by many historians. As these historians reflect upon Churchill's life, we as college students should also reflect upon this great man and his works.

Good Qualities Displayed

Sir Winston's life was full of many fine hours, not only for himself but for the world. What was it about this man; what does his passing mean to us? Was it his personal qualities that made him great? Perhaps these qualities are things we should try to create within ourselves? Some of the most important of these are—daring, devotion and determination. Churchill's possession of these qualities was tested during two World Wars, and he proved to the world that he had the courage to face world problems—something we as Americans must also display.

Legacy to Posterity

In the powder keg world we live in, we as the leaders of tomorrow should emulate the qualities of this great man. Be devoted to a just cause, determine to see it accomplished and daring enough to achieve it. I believe if we gain these things from Sir Winston Churchill, we can fully appreciate his legacy of a freer world and pass it on as a legacy to generations to come.

This Year Groundhog Day Could Be For The Birds!

by Richie Benyo

Is Groundhog Day groundless? Some people don't think so, including Mr. Marmot himself, for he shows up for the occasion every year—always on time. This year has been no exception.

February second arrived, and so did the burrowing barometer. However, after taking a look over his left shoulder and seeing his shadow he decided not to hang around, where upon he made a mad dash back down his hole.

This, as the assumption goes, means six more weeks of winter weather. Should we take his word and prepare for the six more icy weeks? Or should we hope for the best?—spring.

There is a groundhog at Potlicker Flat called Sir Charles Terraswine who believes in it sure enough. He saw his shadow and decided to lay low for the next six weeks in a warm, well-provisioned burrow. The neighboring people seem to be taking his word for it too.

Most people don't seem to be bothered one way or the other, though, for they still go on living their lives, hour by hour, day by day not worrying what some hacked-out marmot has to say about the next six weeks. And who can really blame them these days? Who has time to listen to an animal?

There may be some fact to it though, as the winter did start late this year. Perhaps this is what Sir Charles and his serfs are counting on. We'll have to wait about a month yet to see if they are right

Huskies Win Two At Home; Bow To CSC and WCSC

Cheyney State College's basketball team used its height advantage to record a 78-65 victory over our Huskies at Cheyney. The Wolves continued their reign as the only unbeaten college team in Pennsylvania.

BSC Loses to Cheyney

The cagers of Bloomsburg were hoping for an upset over the highly ranked Wolves. Although they were able to hold 6'9" Booker to 6 points, their hopes of victory were shattered when 6'7" Williams, who just became eligible over semester break, scored 23 points. The Huskies were in the game until near the end when they began to tire as they began missing key shots and lost the ball on passes that were thrown away.

The Huskies performed well against a superior team as Herzig hit for 20 points with Beck and Miller marking 16 and 10 points respectively.

In the Freshman game, the BSC Huskies defeated Cheyney by a score of 79-72. Scoring was led by Joe Slansky who accounted for 29 points and Bob Schaefer took care of the boards.

Huskies Defeated by WCSC

The Rams of West Chester defeated our Huskies at West Chester by a score of 83-76. It was a very close game with neither team leading by more than 7 points, until Bob Herzig fouled out with 1:30 left. Bob Blue and Mike Morrow were also victims of the foul rule. Bloomsburg was in best form during the first half but the Rams began piling up the winning margin from the free throw line.

Kratz of West Chester was high for the night with 38 points. Ed Beck scored 20 points with Herzig, Miller and Morrow all hitting double figures for the Huskies.

In what was probably the best game of the year, as far as the Huskies were concerned, a highly touted Quantico team went down in defeat at the hands of the Huskies by a score of 104-81.

Paced by Gene Miller, who scored 25 points, and the ever reliable Bob Herzig, the Huskies unleashed an attack, which many considered as the finest effort for the Huskies all year.

Quantico entered the contest with a 14-1 record, and had recently won a holiday tournament, composed of some highly regarded teams. Quantico was paced by Brian Sheehan, and ex-All American.

Swimmers Win; ESSC First Victim

by Irwin Zablocky

Recently the Bloomsburg swimmers met East Stroudsburg in one of the hardest-fought away meets of the season. In addition to numerous second and third placings, Bloomsburg took firsts in the 400 yard medley relay, the diving event, the 550 yard freestyle, and the 200 yard breaststroke to win by a score of 52-43. Coach McLaughlin considers this victory to be the finest performance of the season for the Husky swimmers.

Stirling in Freestyle

In taking 12 seconds off of his best previous time in the 500 yard freestyle, Regis Stirling won this event, which, with Bill Billett's first in the 200 yard breast stroke, were the decisive factors in the meet. Other firsts were taken by the following: Don Beltz, Bill Billett, Ray Fox, and Jerry Lomas in the 400 yard medley relay, and Dick Steidel in the diving.

Winning Frosh

In the Freshmen meet, several team records were broken. These are as follows: Anderson, Fischl, Johnson, and Biggs in the 400 yard medley relay (4:17.9), Poehmann in the 200 butterfly (2:46.5), Biggs in the 500 yard freestyle (6:05.0), and Fischl in the 200 yard breaststroke (2:43.0).

Frosh Defeat Elizabethtown

The Freshman swimmers defeated the Elizabethtown frosh by a score of 62-28. Highlights of this meet was a new record of (2:47.5) by Walter Fischl in the 206 yard butterfly and (0:53.2) by John Biggs in the 100 yard freestyle. Bloomsburg also placed first in the 400 yard medley relay (Bandy, Jones, Fischl, and Johnson), in the 50 yard freestyle (Biggs), in diving (Beaulieu), in the 200 yard backstroke (Johnson), and in the freestyle relay (Nester, Jones, Fischl, and Biggs).

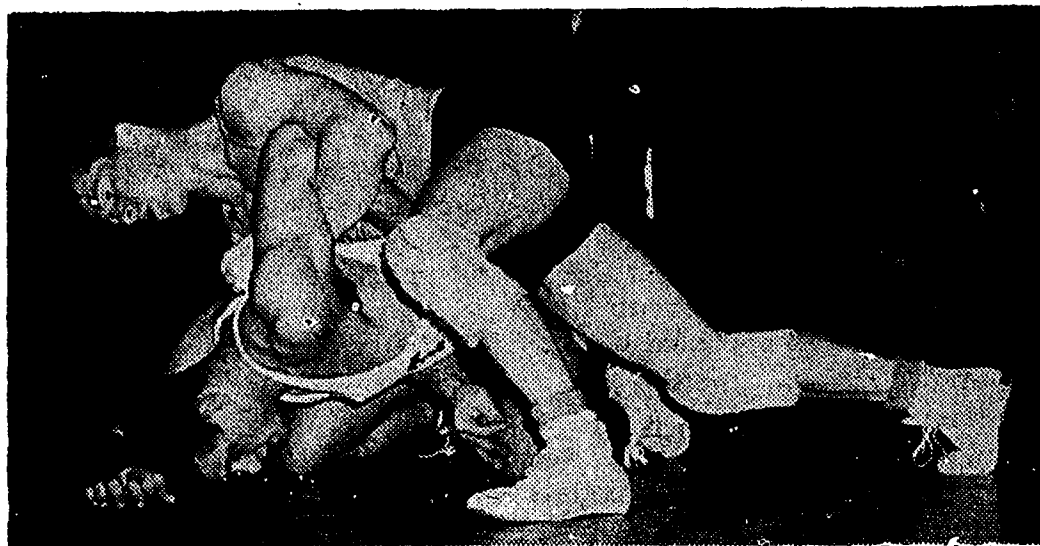

standing game pulling down 23 rebounds and chipping in with 26 points. Herzig, Tezik, and Farina led the second half onslaught as the Huskies outscored Shippensburg 50-47.

The Huskies hit the century mark with about a minute and a half remaining.

Shippensburg was led by Ron Weiss, who scored 27 points and set a Shippensburg career mark of 2005 points.

At this time the Huskies have an overall mark of 6-8 and a conference mark of 4-5.

The Bloomsburg State College wrestling team defeated Rochester Institute of Technology by a score of twenty-eight to zero in a match here on January 23.

Grant Stevens, wrestling at 123 pounds, won by a fall over his RIT opponent by employing a cross-body ride. The fall came in 2:21. Bill Robb, 130 pounds, worked his opponent into a cradle hold, pinning him in 1:50.

Jim Rolley, 137, Ed Taylor, 147, Rocco Forte, 157, and Bill Paule, 167, all decided their RIT opponents by decisive scores.

One of the top matches of the evening was in the 177 pound class. Tom Vargo decided his opponent by a seven to three score. Tom gained three takedowns in the first period and another in the second period after gaining an escape.

The Bloomsburg State wrestlers won their seventh straight victory of the season on Friday, January 29, by beating East Stroudsburg 20 to 8.

The Huskies gained their revenge over Stroudsburg, previously unbeaten in dual competition, who shaded the Huskies in the Wilkes Tournament last year. BSC's Bill Robb won an easy victory at 123, while Stroud's Bob Guzzo, a Wilkes Tournament champ, decided Ed Taylor 8 to 4. Tom Vargo won a re-match with Stroudsburg's Dick Bell, to whom he lost last year at Bloomsburg. Vargo was hurt in the last period and dropped 3 points, but went on to win 10 to 8. Bill Paule, 177, decided previously unbeaten Roger Bogart, but Dave DeWire was defeated by Stroudsburg's Miller, a 190 lb. Wilkes champ. Also for BSC, Jim Rolley won a 7 to 0 decision, Rocco Forte drew his match, Roy Zimmerman won a close decision, 2 to 0, and Lee Viard won his match in the unlimited category.

Last Friday at Waynesburg, Pa., the Husky wrestlers' eight game win streak was snapped as they were held to their first tie in Coach Houk's thirteen year career at Bloomsburg State. Both teams went into the match with identical records of 8 wins and 0 losses against dual competition this season. Before a packed house the Huskies battled to a 12 to 12 draw in a match that could easily have gone either way.

Grant Stevens lost a 1-point decision in the first match of the evening, and Bill Robb at 130, unbeaten in 7 matches, won a 6 to 3, decision. Jim Rolley, 137, lost a close match, 5 to 3, to one of Waynesburg's better wrestlers. Ed Taylor, 147, won his bout 5 to 4 by gaining a reversal in the last 5 seconds to come from behind. Bill Paule won a 1-point decision and Tom Vargo took an easy win, 7 to 0 in the 177 lb. class. Rocco Forte lost the 167 lb. bout by decision. The outcome of the match was decided when heavyweight Lee Viard was outpointed by his Waynesburg opponent, 7 to 3, in the last bout of the evening.

Bloomsburg State has outstanding intercollegiate athletic teams which all the students should be proud of. But who cares!

Do we, the students, attempt to psyche-up our teams several days in advance of a meet or game? Do we send bus loads of supporters to some of the big away events? Do our athletes get any kind of recognition?

Nationwide Recognition

Our wrestling team was rated 10th in the nation at one time last year. We won the state championship for the last three years. We were N.A.I.A. champs and won the Wilkes Tournament. We are rightly respected nationwide, yet the wrestlers are just taken for granted at home.

We have one of the finest basketball teams in the state, even though our record isn't too impressive. If given more push, I'm sure they'd do better. Look how they played against Shippensburg and Quantico at home.

The freshman swimming team had a five and one record while the varsity pulled a surprise victory against East Stroudsburg.

Support Our Team

Our winter season is far from over. We still have some big meets coming up. A question to consider is whether our athletes have any reason for winning. Does the student body really want to beat Lock Haven? Are we going to get behind our wrestlers 100 percent from here on out and give them the spirit and support to win the state championship again?

Our coaches can only do so much to inspire our boys to win. The rest is up to us to make sure they know we really want victories!

Let's Advertise

Let's plaster our dorms and campus with signs telling of coming events. Let's become more acquainted with the individuals on all the teams and show them that we care. It wouldn't even hurt to advertise downtown a little.

It's everybody's duty to support our teams. Go to the games! Cheer at the games! Do anything, but get behind the athletes 100 percent. Let's make sure that we can be proud of our teams when the season's over.

Advisory System Being Established

An advisory system for English majors and concentrators will be initiated by the English Department this semester. Each student will be assigned to a faculty member for advice as to course scheduling and academic and professional matters in the field of English.

The system is being established to help each student develop for himself a sound program in English electives and related matters, such as the choice of courses in other disciplines to complement his study in English. It is hoped that by two weeks before advanced scheduling, each student will have his program for the coming semester established so that he will be able to be admitted to the courses of his choice.

Through this system students can indicate preference for courses in future semesters and thus permit the Department to gauge demand and set up courses in relation to it.

Names of the students and their assigned advisors will be released as early as possible.

Anyone wishing to run for an office of the Community Government Association for the 1965-66 term can pick up their petitions in the CGA office. All petitions must be returned by Saturday, February 22, 1965. The offices are president, vice-president, corresponding secretary, recording secretary, and treasurer.
