President Lists Challenges.

Dr. Andruss

Welcome to 2,800 Students On Campus:

A college newspaper has an important responsibility in keeping the lines of communication open for all members of the college community of students, faculty, and administration.

With more than 3,000 students enrolled, this is a challenge to both the Maroon and Gold and also the students who will do well to read it carefully.

Class of 1969 Ends Orientation; Numerous Activities Highlighted

Tribunal and dink burning ceremonies held last Friday evening marked the end of Freshmen Orientation for 1965. The period was highlighted by numerous lectures, dances, programs, and tests.

Early Arrival

The "frosh" arrived on Tuesday, Sept. 7, a week before the majority of upperclassmen. This was an innovation in the orientation program. Its purpose was to give freshmen a better chance to become acquainted and to facilitate the testing programs. The next morning they picked up dinks, name signs, and other paraphernalia and officially started orientation. That day they took tests, physicals, had their ID photos taken, and attended an open-air concert.

Tests and Introduction to College Life lectures took up much of the time for the "frosh," but they had several diversions. A number of dances, mixers, and movies were held in order for the class of '69 to get to know one another.

Orientation Hazards

Orientation had its hazards too, in the form of arm-banded members of the Orientation and Pep committees. Committee members were always at hand to aid and find activities (cheering, etc.) for any freshmen who looked confused or who just happened to come along.

On Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 13-14, the rest of the upperclassmen arrived and the "frosh" had to become accustomed to their existence, too (Buttons Frosh).

Then on Wednesday, the "frosh" learned an awful fact of college life — you have to attend classes and study!

On Friday, orientation ended with a flourish. The class assembled at Ben Franklin parking lot. There they witnessed the meteing out of punishment (see picture) to some of their classmates who had committed a number of offenses.

"Frosh" Get Revenge

The "frosh" finally got their chance after the bonfire and dink burning ceremonies. Scores of upperclassmen were disrespectfully hauled out and dumped in mud puddles surrounding the construction site of the new library. Thus, in a night of punishment and revenge, the class of 1969 took its place in the BSC community.

Two Posts Filled And One Created In Administration

Three new members joined the administrative staff for the first time this summer while another assumed new and additional duties.

Paul S. Riegel, a graduate of Middlebury College and formerly Assistant Registrar at Teachers College, Columbia University, is the new Dean of Students, replacing Dr. J. Alfred McCauslin who resigned in May.

New Admissions Officers

John L. Walker, who served until recently as Assistant Director of Admissions at the University of Pittsburgh, has assumed the duties of Director of Admissions. Serving as his assistant is Robert L. Bender who for the past five years has been school psychologist for the Williamsport School District.

Comptroller Post Created

W. Horace Williams, who has served during the past 10 years as manager of the College Store and Snack Bar, has been appointed Comptroller of Community Activities Funds, a new position approved recently by the Board of Trustees.

Good luck to all members of the BSC community in the forthcoming school year.

Selective Service Policy Announced

In an announcement this week, John A. Hoch, Dean of Instruction, clarified the Selective Service policy for BSC male students. Dean Hoch advised all students registered with Selective Service boards to take note of the policy.

New Policy

Under the new policy, the Dean of Instruction's office must report the academic standing of all male students registered for the Selective Service to their local boards. This must be done at the end of each semester. A statement of campus citizenship must also be filed. An example of this would be all social probationary cases and suspensions.

Steps To Be Taken

Dean Hoch also reminded students of the steps to be taken to comply with the Selective Service law. First, students should be registered and have a Selective Service number. Second, students should request a deferment from their local boards in writing. Some boards may require oral requests. Third, students should procure an SS form 109 from Dean Hoch's office or the office of the Registrar, Mr. Bunge. New forms must be filed each year with the Dean of Instruction. THIS IS NOT A REQUEST FOR DEFERMENT; it is merely a certification of enrollment. These forms will be processed and mailed to local boards.

The M&G wants to print more news about the activities of the various organizations around the campus. News should be sent to the MAROON & GOLD, Box 58. Deadline for news and announcements is every Monday, at 4 p.m.

Photographers and Reporters needed for the MAROON AND GOLD. Sign up in the M&G office, basement of Science Hall or just be present on Monday night 6-11.

Association of Women Undertakes Third Annual Leadership Program

"Change: A Challenge to Leadership" was the theme of the third annual Leadership Training Program held by the Association of Resident Women on Saturday, September 12.

This relatively new program, initiated in 1963 by Dorothy Eisenhart and Miss Ellamae Jackson, Dean of Women, was held so that the new leaders could become better acquainted with the new government being initiated in the fall. Each girl gained a knowledge of the Association framework as a whole, and an understanding of her particular position of leadership.

Panel Discussion

At the main session of the meeting, Jean Zenke's opening remarks and Dean Jackson's welcome were followed by a discussion of "The Old Foundation and the New Changes." Participants were: Jean Zenke, past President of Governing Board; Kathy Dean, President of Executive Board; Ceil Mistal, past Vice-President of Governing Board; Lois Moyer and Linda Stahl, past Proctor Chairmen; Donna Boris, past Big Sister Chairman; and Grace Moyer, Junior Resident Advisor.

After refreshments were served, the girls broke up into their committees to discuss individual problems and plans. Executive Board presiding officer was Kathy Dean, Jean Zenke was moderator, and Dean Jackson was advisor. Leatrice Sunaoka presided over the Judiciary with Mrs. Kenny as advisor. Pat Zelner, Big Sister Co-ordinator, headed the Counselor's meeting, with Donna Boris as moderator and Dean Jackson as advisor. Ceil Mistal was moderator of the Committee Chairmen, Mrs. Hoke was advisor, and Carol Michael (over-all chairman) was Election head.

Election Plans

Proctor Co-ordinators, Sandy Updegraff (West Hall) and Margaret Chrismer (East Hall) headed the Proctors with Linda Stahl and Lois Moyer, moderators, and Mrs. Kenny, advisor. Dean Jackson advised the Junior Resident Advisors meeting and Grace Moyer moderated the twenty-one JRA's in attendance.

On Thursday, September 23, all the residents of West and East Hall held preliminary elections for dorm officers. The results of the election will be announced in the next edition of this newspaper.

Gockley Welcomes Students to BSC

Fellow Students,

I would like to take this opportunity to welcome all of you back to Bloomsburg State College. The Orientation Period, which involved the Freshman Class plus approximately seventy upperclassmen, was well handled by Skip Bracken and Toni Taft, Orientation Committee Co-chairmen.

A workable line of communications between the various governing groups on campus, students making use of their representatives on College Council, and College Council members speaking on business of any degree are goals I would like to see become a reality. For College Council to accomplish anything noteworthy, co-operation with the students, whom we represent, is a necessity.

I anticipate a good year at Bloomsburg. Continue to support our social and athletic events, and our Big Name Entertainment programs, one of which will be the Four Seasons for Homecoming. This will add to an enriching experience throughout the duration of your stay.

Gil Gockley

Sincerely,
Gil Gockley

Paper Welcomes BSC Community; Progress Through United Effort

The MAROON AND GOLD would like to take this opportunity to welcome back all returning students, faculty, and administration. A special welcome is in order to the Class of '69, the largest in the history of BSC. We also welcome the new faculty members and administrative personnel. We sincerely wish an enjoyable and rewarding year for everyone, a year marked with social and academic progress.

United Effort

It is our opinion that progress can only come through united efforts by all. Last year over one thousand of us showed what the possibilities were of joining together in a united effort. As we stood (or sat) together in Centennial Gym, we felt a unity rarely before achieved on this campus. Besides material results, we gained more respect and showed the tremendous potential of combined effort. This year, as we strive for more social and intellectual freedom, we should remember this potential. [Not necessarily for sit-ins, but for united action.]

Bigger and Better BSC

A united student body working through and with College Council will be able to achieve its ends. This year we have the biggest enrollment in the history of this institution. A united college community can make a bigger BSC a better BSC.

Express Opinions On Orientation; New Policies Sign Of Growing BSC

At this time the MAROON AND GOLD would like to express its views on this year's Freshmen Orientation program. We feel it was well planned and well done. The chairmen and members of the Orientation and Pep committees, along with the student body, conducted the program in a manner befitting a growing college. The new BSC policy of having freshmen report a week prior to upperclassmen is a good one, as it gives the "frosh" a better chance to get acquainted with one another and, under the guidance of the committees, to become assimilated into the college community.

Closing Ceremonies In Good Spirit

Last Friday night's activities climaxed a well planned and well conducted program. We feel that all concerned had a good time, and that both the "tribunal punishment" and the ensuing freshmen "revenge" were carried out in the right spirit. Dink burning provided the "frosh" with an opportunity to "blow off steam" after two weeks of upperclassmen-directed orientation.

Welcome class of 1969 and thank you Orientation and Pep Committees for a job well done.

Good Luck To Fall Athletic Teams!

Tomorrow night's football contest with Lock Haven marks the beginning of the Fall Sports Program at BSC. We would like to wish Coach Houk, the coaching staff and the members of the team good luck tonight and throughout what we know will be a successful season. Best wishes also go to the freshmen team, coached by Mr. Mentzer.

Let's Go Harriers

We forecast another successful season for Coach Brady and the Cross Country team. May natural ability, teamwork, and spirit combine to produce victory.

We urge all BSC students to come out and support these teams. These men are representing you and your school; they deserve your support.

Comments And Criticisms Solicited As M&G Begins Year Of Publication

As we start a new year of publication with a new staff, we feel that it is time to remind the student body and faculty that the Maroon & Gold is your paper. You pay for it; you read it, and it is written to keep you informed.

We would appreciate any comments, criticisms, or suggestions from you, our readers. We will consider, for publication, any opinions you may have concerning this paper or other newsworthy campus topics.

As always, letters to the editor and guest editorials will be welcomed. At all times, letters to the editor must be signed. However, in exceptional cases the name will be withheld in print upon request of the author. A paper becomes an effective medium of communication only through the interflow of ideas between readers and staff. We, therefore, solicit your support, your opinions, and your comments.

Positions are still available in all departments of the MAROON AND GOLD. Any student who may have missed our organizational meeting may still gain a position on the staff.

Note: Student Poets — If you wish to have poems published in the Student Poetry Column of the M&G, submit your work to the Student Poetry Board, C/O Luton Houtz, Box #440.

Strange Invasion Hits BSC Campus; Attack Of-Dinks?

by Howard V. Kearns

Are you scratching more and enjoying it less? Well, you're not alone friends. There seems to have been some sort of mass immigration of the fly community into the Bloomsburg area. Now flies are no dopes. In fact, they are a pretty hep group that just can't seem to take no for an answer. Between our swatting and scratching, we came to the conclusion that these nasty pests knew where the action was, and BSC consequently became a disaster area of old and crippled flies. But, don't sell our tiny friends short — they've had their say about things and then some!

New Breed

Not only are we infested with flies, but we nearly had a nervous breakdown upon our return to BSC where we found some other sort of creature roaming the campus in astonishing numbers. We were surrounded by dinks, dinks, and more dinks — whatever they are.

Now, if you think flies are bad, wait till you get the low-down on this adventurous group. Like the locusts that set out to plague far distant lands, the dinks caused near havoc at BSC. These odd looking creatures seemed to cover every part of the campus and trounced about in some kind of stupified frenzy, without any real sense of direction or familiarity with their surroundings. They set out to cause their yearly turmoil.

Subversive Tactics

It seems they started with our beloved Husky. For years this has been a students' home away from home — meeting place and social outlet. The dinks set upon it in full force and made it an unbearable, clustered, and confused area of conflict. Their tactics were dirty, if not inhumane. These vile wretches simply used all oxygen available and replaced it with carbon dioxide which drove all human life into retreat from this holocaust of the dinks.

Starvation Ahead

Next battle area was our dearly beloved food lines. Like rampaging maniacs, they struck out at the very heart of life at BSC.

For hours upon hours, we attacked these lines of resistance and each day when the smoke of the battle rose, we were able to feed our tired but hungry bodies.

Next, the Dinks hit the Book Store. They ate nearly every book available and drove another stake into the heart of the scholastically-minded BSC students.

Victory

On they went, leaving a trail of destruction in their wake. On Thursday, Sept. 16, the Dinks made a forced march upon the sanctuary of the beloved one's — the girl's dorms. For hours they chanted their war songs but these castles of old seemed invulnerable to attack. Alarmed and battle weary, the students of BSC at last met the enemy in a final conclusive battle. Friday, Sept. 17, after one week of furious turmoil, the battle was won — the Dinks were burned out of existence.

Transformation

The Dinks are gone though they may again return. However, the frosh are here to stay and we want to welcome them and wish them the best of luck at BSC. We are sure those dinks — oops — sorry frosh, will find BSC a wonderful, rewarding experience. Believe us, with those dinks gone we can all breathe a lot easier and get down to the work at hand — another enriching and success-filled semester. Now, if we could only get rid of those pesty flies.

Lost: M&G Office Staff Needs Home

by Judy Gers

Upon returning to Bloomsburg one idea was foremost in the minds of the upper-classmen. After unpacking and scheduling, they planned to meet their friends at the old meeting place. The staff of the Maroon & Gold was no exception to the rule. But, when we rushed to the office, it was no longer there, outside Husky Lounge.

The Quest

Bewildered and dazed, we tried to find each other and the missing office. After many questions and few reasonable answers, most of us returned to the normal activity of standing in lines. Here we picked up many valuable leads as to the whereabouts of the missing office. But, others exhaustedly returned to Husky or their rooms to think about the whole situation.

Wild rumors were flying around the campus as to the missing office. Some of us heard that we had been moved to a dungeon. Others thought we had been exiled to Dillon House. We had been stationed outside of Husky for as long as — and considered it our home. But, the need of office space forced our migration. Now, all we had to do was find it.

The Discovery

After several days of fruitless search we finally found our new home located in the old and venerated Science Hall. Nevertheless, unrenovated as it was, it was still ours. After several days of painting, the moving in of desks, typewriters, and assorted pictures along with the installation of the phone, our new home was ready for occupancy?

Now that we are settled and enjoying something besides wall to wall elbows, we are making this strange new place our home away from home. We look forward to a good year, and hope that all of you have a successful one also.

The Week's Agenda

Activities for the coming week as listed by Frank Milauskas, Social Recreation Chairman, and the school calendar are as follows:

- Tonight: Band Dance, Centennial Gym (8-11)
- Tomorrow: Football, Lock Haven (Away). Record Dance, Husky Lounge (8:30-11:30)
- Tuesday: No Assembly, Bloomsburg Fair Day
- Wednesday: Movie, Carver Hall, 7:30
- Thursday: Assembly, combined, Centennial, Nila Magidoff, "My Discovery of America." Cross Country, Susquehanna University (home)
- Friday: Band Dance, Centennial Gym (8-11)
- Saturday: Football, Mansfield (away). Record Dance, Husky Lounge (8:30-11:30)

Check Husky Lounge bulletin board for any additions or changes.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of the M&G staff may apply in the newspaper office, basement of Science Hall. Reporters and photographers urgently needed.

IF YOU HAVE A HEAD, suggests Mr. Treblow, join the BSC Chess Club. The club meets every Thursday from 3 to 5 in the Social Room, ground floor, Science Hall. Chess is a co-ed sport. Beginners are especially welcome, as instruction will be offered. Candidates for the Chess Team are chosen from members of the Club.

Freshman Problems Plus Some Solutions

Because this is the first installment of our column, it somehow seems fitting that we should devote it to another first installment for this year — the Freshmen.

Yes, they've been here over two weeks, so we should do something that everyone else does not seem to be doing. Yes, strange as it may seem, we are going to try to help you, Freshmen!

We've selected several areas where you may find problems, and looked at them from both of our angles, and here's what we've come up with:

To many, commuting back and forth can be advantageous, but it has its drawbacks. Discounting that adventurous type of person who drives to and from college every day with nothing more than a radio for company, we find that the common form of transportation shapes up into a car-pool. So, for you people, we offer these suggestions: Be discreet in whom you take into a pool, trying to get riders and drivers that are on time both to leave home and to leave school at the pre-arranged time; come prepared to spend time in the lounge or the library on days when other members have early or late classes, as the arrival and departure times must be arrived at by the extremes in a pool; don't try to use wooden nickels to pay the gas station attendant for the gasoline (it does nothing to improve public relations).

Dorm students, of course, can't take a car through the floors of the residence halls, (tho some might try) but they have problems of other sorts, especially so when it comes to roommates who promise to wake you up at a specific time the next morning, and then either oversleep themselves or completely forget about it. It isn't always their fault, but it often pays to be a little independent in college, depending on your own reliability to wake up or remind yourself of something important. Too many slept-through classes look bad on a prof's roll book.

That, too, is a problem for commuters, either because of bad weather, someone being late in the car pool, or car trouble. But the dorm student has a big advantage. The resident student can always go quickly to his room and pick up something if he forgets to take it with him in the morning. However, a commuter can't easily return home after discovering that he has forgotten something of importance for that day. Best thing in that case is to either pile everything up that you'll need for the next day in a convenient place before you go to bed, or to make a list and be prepared to assemble all of it properly in the morning, provided that the house doesn't have mice who'll either eat your note or pack off your pile of essentials and replace them with something worthless to your college career.

That's very true. Some dorm students don't have to worry about mice, tho, as the rodents would be

Before we start the fall sports program, there is still some unfinished news from last summer. While the majority of BSC's students were planning a summer filled with parties and a generally good time one person was planning a trip to South Dakota, and then to California. His main interest was not in having a good time, but instead to establish himself as the greatest runner in the history of Bloomsburg State College.

Jan Prosseda left here intent on setting new school records of a 4:10 mile, 9:05 two mile, and 17:15 three mile run. Jan was aiming high, and counting on the excellent competition in NAIA and NCAA meets to help him reach these goals.

He went out west and literally "burned up the track" establishing himself in these national championships as one of the nation's finest runners.

Most of the other long distance runners competed in only one race or at most two. However, Jan ran in three events. His eighth place mile, seventh place three mile, and fifth place steeplechase finishes gave Bloomsburg a second place team finish in the NAIA's.

Jan could have done better at this meet, but was saving for the bigger NCAA meet the following week. This was good reasoning for he did an even better job at Berkeley, California than he did in Louis Falls, South Dakota.

He won a two mile open race in the middle of the week, and set a new school record of 9:02. Then, on Friday he won his trial heat for the mile run with an amazing time of 4:07.7!

INTRAMURALS

The Intramural Program at BSC will soon be under way. Rosters for this year are due at the Intramural Office by Oct. 1, 1965. The teams will consist of at least 15 and no more than 20 men.

Team captains are requested to utilize the roster cards provided at Office #5, Centennial Gym. Please include the proper first names of the team members and whenever possible their P.O. Box numbers.

Freshmen Requested To Join

Freshmen are encouraged to participate either by joining existing teams or organizing new ones.

Membership in the Intramural Council is an automatic responsibility of all team captains.

No Football

Because of the lack of facilities on campus due to construction, there will be no touch football this fall.

Quote Ross Nevel, the collegiate wrestling expert historian from Lock Haven: "Wrestling fans in this area are talking already about next February's Bloomsburg at Lock Haven match. Both teams are 'loaded.' We'll have more than 5,000 easy for that one. It could be the top meet in the East this winter."

By the time the three mile race came around on Saturday he was exhausted from the previous two weeks of competition. However, the thought of his five years of extensive training, and his pride in Bloomsburg State College kept him going. He also knew that this was his race. He had trained more for this distance than any other distance he had run. This was the climax of his career, and he would have to make it good.

Jan ran well, by far the best he had ever run, and turned in a time of 14:16.9 and another record.

The heartbreaking part for him was the fact that somebody had run two tenths of a second faster and just beat him to the tape. The race was so climatic that the winner was voted the most outstanding athlete of the NCAA Track Meet. Jan really felt badly because of this defeat, and decided to come home instead of running in the NCAA University division of competition.

Later on in the summer Jan was named to the NCAA All-American Track and Field Team — the only BSC track man to be named an All-American. Even though he isn't running this semester, he will always be remembered as "Bloomsburg's most outstanding runner."

BSC Bows to Shippensburg; Season Opens Against LHSC

The Husky football squad played its first practice game and suffered its first loss on a warm Saturday afternoon at Shippensburg. The score was 21-0 and the Red Raiders, fresh from their victory over Gettysburg, outplayed the Huskies in the air. Shippensburg scored all three of its touchdowns on passes, indicating that the Huskies will need to sharpen their pass defense as well as their offense before the regular season begins. The Husky passing game was not too effective, giving away two interceptions. On the ground they did considerably better, but still did not come up to expectations.

In The Heat

With the hot, humid weather, the Raiders had a decided advantage in depth with their 50-man squad as compared to the Husky's 34. This became very apparent early in the game when Bill Herold, the giant tackle, and Paul Zenhu, an end, fell victim to the heat and spent the remainder of the game on the bench. Bill Greco, stalwart lineman for the Huskies, saw some action but was handicapped by chest injuries and probably will not play the next game.

Season Opens Against LHSC

Saturday night the Huskies open their regular season play at Lock Haven. According to Coach Houk, however, they will have had to have worked hard this week for a chance at the Bald Eagles.

Four Husky Stars Now In Pro-ball

At least four former BSC football stars are playing professional ball in the Atlantic Football League. Fred Stoicheff, who will graduate in January, '66, plays for the Harrisburg Caps; Gary Barnaka, (BSC graduate in '64), Trevor Carpenter (BSC graduate in '63), and Rick Rohrer (BSC graduate in '62), are with the Scranton Miners. All four are seeing heavy action. Fred Stoicheff is a flanker-back, Rohrer a quarterback, and Barnaka and Carpenter are linemen.

Let's get behind the Huskies in Football and Cross Country.

Capable of speeds better than 2,000 mph, the YF-12A is the hottest aircraft around. Now Maj. Walter F. Daniel, test pilot for the YF-12A, answers your questions about the world's fastest manned airplane and America's Aerospace Team.

(Maj. Daniel, a test pilot since 1954, is a member of the Society of Experimental Test Pilots. He received a B.S. degree in Aeronautical Engineering from the University of Oklahoma. In February 1962, he set world class time-to-climb records in a T-38 jet trainer.)

Is the YF-12A the world's fastest manned aircraft?

It certainly is. On May 1 of this year the YF-12A (formerly known as the A-11) reclaimed the world absolute speed record from the USSR. It was clocked at 2,062 mph over Edwards Air Force Base.

How big is the YF-12A?

The exact dimensions of the YF-12A have not been released yet. But it's approximately 100 feet long, with about a 50-foot wingspan. That's half again as big as our present interceptors!

Is the Air Force training many men as pilots these days?

Yes, very definitely. In spite of all you hear about unmanned vehicles, the human pilot is still very much in the picture. As a matter of fact, the Air Force pilot quota is on the increase.

What other kinds of jobs does the Air Force offer?

Since it's one of the world's foremost technological organizations, the Air Force has plenty of openings for scientists and engineers. There are also many challenging and varied administrative-managerial positions.

What do I have to do to become an Air Force officer?

Air Force ROTC is the best way to get started as an

Air Force officer. The new two-year Air Force ROTC program makes this method available to men who have already completed a year or two of their college education. For college graduates, if you did not take advantage of ROTC, you can still get started through Air Force Officer Training School (OTS), a three-month course open to both men and women.

Can I keep up my studies while I'm in the Air Force?

The Air Force encourages its men and women to continue their educations. For instance, you may qualify to study for a graduate degree during off-duty hours, with the Air Force paying a substantial part of the tuition.

What kind of future do I have in the Air Force?

A bright one. As we move further into the Aerospace Age, the Air Force is going to grow even more important. And you can grow with it!

Stuart Edwards Earns Doctorate

Dr. C. Stuart Edwards

C. Stuart Edwards has been awarded the Doctor of Education degree with a major in administration from the Pennsylvania State University. The degree was conferred at Commencement exercises conducted on September 4th.

Dr. Edwards, who has served as Director of Admissions since coming to BSC in 1958, as Director of the Placement Bureau from 1958 to 1961, and as Director of the Division of Secondary Education since 1961, began devoting full time to the latter position when John L. Walker assumed the Admissions post this summer.

A native of Edwardsville, Pennsylvania, Dr. Edwards graduated from BSC in 1941, and received his Master of Education degree from Penn State in 1950.

If you have not filled out an activities form for the 1966 OBITER, please do so immediately in the yearbook office. The photographer from Merin Studios will be on campus October 7 and 8 for the convenience of any senior who has not yet had his picture taken for the yearbook. If you are one of these students, inquire in the OBITER office as to time and place for your sitting.

Let's make a bigger BSC a better BSC.

Dean Supervises Annual Meeting Of Resident Men

The annual men's resident meeting held in the gymnasium recently was under the supervision of Dean of Men Elton Hunsinger and was attended by approximately 1,000 resident men.

Staff Introduced

Dean Hunsinger introduced the members of the Dean of Men's Staff which includes Dr. Ralph Herre, Assistant to the Dean in charge of commuting men; Mr. John Scrimgeour, Assistant to the Dean in charge of student teachers living off-campus; Mr. Gerald Maurey, in charge of housing in the town of Bloomsburg; and Mr. David Shaffer, resident adviser in Waller Hall. All spoke briefly in regard to their respective duties.

Mr. Paul Riegel, Dean of Student Affairs, was introduced to the group and gave a few remarks, as did Gil Gockley, president of CGA, who spoke on the new dress policy.

Guest speaker for the evening was Mr. Pat Haggerty, the new Chief of the Bloomsburg Police Department. Chief Haggerty discussed the relationship existing between the town of Bloomsburg and the College, parking in Bloomsburg, and demonstrations. He went on to congratulate the college on its spirit and assured the men of his full cooperation.

The meeting adjourned with a short address by Dean Hunsinger, which included a reminder of the new Selective Service policies regarding draft status for college students.

Proctors Named In Men's Dorms

The following men have been assigned by Dean Elton Hunsinger as Proctors in the men's dormitories for the 1965-66 school year.

Mike Bonacci and Joe Fazzari will serve on the first floor and John Whitelock and Bob White will serve on the second floor of New North Hall.

Waller Hall proctors include: Jack Mulka, John Zarski, and Bob Letcavage, second floor; William Troutman, Paul Zenyuh, and Mike Heitz, third floor; Sam Bashore, Ken Cromwell, and Ray Buckno, fourth floor.

Bonacci, White, and Bashore served in this capacity last year. The proctors will interview each man on their individual floors and will maintain discipline, offering guidance when needed.

BSC Enrollment Shows Increase

Enrollment figures released last week show that BSC has a population of 2,862 students. There are 883 freshmen making up the largest freshman class in the college's history. Upperclassmen number 1887 including 13 part-time students.

Forty students have transferred to BSC this semester while 48 nurses are attending classes as part-time students. BSC's enrollment also includes students returning after an interruption in their education, part-time freshmen students, and several students who are unclassified.

PSPA Convention Features Savage

Mr. Richard Savage, BSC English Professor and M&G advisor, will be a featured speaker at the 1965 Convention of the Pennsylvania School Press Association. The convention will be held in Williamsport, October 1 and 2.

Publication staffs from nearly 1800 schools have been invited to attend the convention. Mr. Savage's topic will be "The World the Reporter Creates."

Richey Announces Players Tryouts

Mr. Robert Richey, advisor to the Bloomsburg Players, announces tryouts for the first production of the season. Tryouts were held last night and are being held again tonight in Carver Hall starting at 7:30. Newcomers are welcome.

Because of legal commitments the name of the play cannot be officially released until October 1. However, it is one of the most popular modern comedies of the last two years. There are roles for five students. For further information contact Jan Feimster or Mr. Richey.

Charles Jackson Furthers Studies

Charles Jackson, Associate Professor of Social Studies, will be on leave of absence during the 1965-1966 College year pursuing graduate studies towards his doctorate at the Pennsylvania State University. Returning from a sabbatical leave spent at Penn State will be Nelson Miller, Associate Professor of Music; Craig Himes, Assistant Professor of Biology has returned from a leave of absence at the University of Pittsburgh.

ETS Lists Dates For Examinations

College seniors preparing to teach school may take the National Teacher Examinations on any of the four different test dates announced by the Educational Testing Service.

New dates set for the testing of prospective teachers are: December 11, 1965; and March 19, July 16, and October 8, 1966. The tests will be administered at nearly 500 locations throughout the U.S.

Results of these examinations are being used by many large school districts in the selection of new teachers and by several states for certification or licensing of teachers.

On each full day of testing, prospective teachers may take the Common Examinations, which measure the professional and general preparation of teachers, and one of 13 Teaching Area Examinations which measure mastery of the subject they expect to teach.

Prospective teachers should contact the school systems in which they seek employment, or their colleges, for specific advice on which examinations to take and on which dates they should be taken.

A Bulletin of Information containing a list of test centers, and information about the examinations, as well as a registration form, may be obtained from National Teacher Examinations, Box 911, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

afraid to venture into one of their rooms. They can survive it, I guess, along with some of their regular friends who are afraid to say anything about it for fear of losing that friendship. Which brings up the point that it is sometimes easier to make friends as a dorm student than as a commuter. Right?

Right you are. The dorm student is exposed to other dorm students all day long, so he can more readily make acquaintances, where a commuter only sees them in classes or in the lounge during the day.

True enough. That also brings up another advantage of the dorm student: He's right at the college in the evenings, and can more easily take part in college-sponsored activities, from clubs to dances, to the Bloomsburg Players.

Yes, just imagine some of the problems that a commuter could have getting back to the school after supper to participate in activities.

Yes. I suppose that he has problems at home at night anyway. I know I couldn't study properly at home with all of the distractions at my house, not to mention the fact that I'd be away from all reference sources if I needed material for a report or paper.

I guess that most commuters manage to adjust to it. I know that I don't, tho.

I can see how you couldn't. But, in the end, it is all part of college life, whichever way you play it from.

Right. And just think of all the specific problems both resident and commuting students are faced with.

That's no lie. I'll bet if we wanted we could expand this column into an eight-page issue.

Well, let's not try! I think they get the idea.

Which is - - - ?

Plan ahead, whether a dorm or commuting student, and try to both foresee and cope with the problems that face you.

Amen!

Welcome to the Class of 1969.
