School Representatives To Visit BSC To Interview Seniors For Positions

The Bloomsburg State College Placement office is now scheduling campus interviews involving school administrators from an eleven state area. Last school year approximately 200 representatives from school districts visited our campus in an effort to recruit prospective teachers from our four curriculums. Eighty-six of these visited Bloomsburg from out of state, including representatives from both California and Florida. Last year it was necessary to cancel fifty-six interviews due to lack of student interest and this year the advance requests for visitation have far surpassed previous years.

Interview Procedure

Dean Hunsinger, Placement Director at BSC, listed the following steps required to be taken by seniors in regard to campus interviews:

- 1) Check campus interview folder at the window of the Placement Office or as listed in the Maroon and Gold.
- 2) If the school district, area open, and salary appeal to you, turn to the sheet in the campus interview folder listing that district and sign your name, post office box, and curriculum.
- 3) Make a written note of the time of the interviews for your information.
- 4) Campus interviews listed as "all areas" should be checked several days before the interview to make certain your area is listed.
- 5) Arrange with your supervisor, if student teaching, to be relieved at the time of the interview. The college supervisors are very cooperative. (Please do not take advantage of their good nature.)
- 6) Be certain to report to the Placement Office at least 15 minutes prior to your scheduled interview. Be dressed appropriately.
- 7) WHEN YOU HAVE SIGNED FOR AN INTERVIEW, YOU ARE OBLIGED TO ATTEND. UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES SHOULD YOU DISAPPOINT THE VISITING ADMINISTRATORS.

Dean Hunsinger suggests that since these interviews usually come but once a year Seniors who have not started student teaching should also attend the interview of any school in which they may be interested in teaching.

The Placement Office reminds seniors not to sign a contract on campus but to visit the school in question.

Phi Sigma Pi Frat. Picks S. Berkoski

Sandy Berkoski

Miss Sandy Berkoski, a nineteen year old junior from Duryea, Pa., has been chosen this year's Phi Sigma Pi Sweetheart. Sandy was chosen on the basis of her academic record and social standing at BSC. Prior to Homecoming, the members of the fraternity nominate the girls who best represent the college academically and socially. They later select one girl from the list of candidates. Selection is based on the girl they feel the student body would choose.

Interests

Sandy is an elementary major with geography as her area. Her interests include traveling, reading, cooking, and sewing.

At BSC she is active in the Harmonettes, a member of the House Committee, and secretary-treasurer of the Dormitory Council for East Hall. Sandy is also treasurer of Gamma Sigma Sigma and a member of Gamma Theta Upsilon.

Faculty Members Advance In Rank

Promotions in rank for fifteen members of the faculty were announced October 1 by Dr. Harvey A. Andruss. Recommendations for the promotions were presented by President Andruss and approved by the Board of Trustees.

Those named to full professors were: Dr. C. Stuart Edwards, professor of education; Dr. Charles C. Kopp, professor of English; Dr. Margaret C. Means, and Dr. Robert C. Miller, professors of education.

Promoted from assistant professor to associate professor were: William K. Decker, music; Craig L. Himes, biological science; A. J. McDonnell, education; Lola E. Maxwell, assistant librarian; Charles R. Reardin, Jr., chairman of the Department of Mathematics; Robert D. Richey, speech; William C. Roth, English; and Mordecai D. Treblow, physical science.

Promoted from instructor to assistant professor were: Mrs. Virginia A. Duck, English; Gerald L. Maurey, education; Ronald W. Novak, mathematics.

Dr. Cecil C. Seronsy Has Article Published

A recent article by Dr. Cecil Seronsy, Professor of English at BSC, has appeared in the August issue of Notes and Queries. The article features for the first time the text of an autograph letter by the poet Swinburne from the collection in the Edinburgh University Library.

Council Discusses Variety of Topics

Revision of the by-laws of Pi Omega Pi and Alpha Phi Omega, a report on a contribution by ARA Slater, along with Communication and Fund Raising Committee reports, highlighted the second regular meeting of College Council held last Monday night.

The meeting opened with approval of the minutes of the last meeting, roll call, and the reading of the President's reply to the minutes.

New Business

The report of the Committee on Fund Raising Events was tabled until ambiguities in the wording of their proposal could be clarified.

Tony Cerza stated that the Communications Committee would report at the next meeting. Any suggestions on improving communications between Council and the student body should be placed in box 428.

Council then gave tentative approval to a number of changes in the by-laws of Pi Omega and Alpha Phi Omega.

Contribution

Mr. Riegel informed Council of a $1500 contribution to the International Student Scholarship Fund by ARA Slater. The money is going to Leatrice Sunaoka this year (see related article).

Discussion then centered on the contribution of $25 to the James Bonder Memorial Scholarship Fund of West Chester State College. This is to be given in memory of the late WCSC football coach.

Coast Guard Rep. Will Visit Campus

Ensign William Smolinsky of the United States Coast Guard will be on campus to discuss officer candidate school with seniors, graduates, and other interested men on Friday, October 22, outside of Husky Lounge.

Peacetime Service

Essentially a peacetime service, the Coast Guard is charged with the duties of protection of life and property on the high seas and inland waterways. Service in the U.S. Coast Guard, the nation's oldest sea-going service,

Singers Prepare For Busy Season

The BSC Madrigal Singers, under the direction of Mr. William Decker, are preparing for one of their busiest years. Three performances are already scheduled for the month of October, including music for the BSC Education Conference.

Members

New members this year are Gail Bower, Jane Hartman, Sharon Bergeron, and Robert Smith. Former members include Karen Leffler, Sue Harper, Jan Space, Ralph Miller, Leland Smeltz, Ray Schneider, and John Wise.

Four Seasons, Parade, Game To Highlight Homecoming

The Four Seasons

Homecoming Weekend with its many activities begins tonight. The Four Seasons, one of the most popular singing groups in America, will start the Homecoming Activities at 8:30 in Centennial Gymnasium.

Homecoming Parade

Tomorrow the Annual Homecoming Parade, with colorful floats entered by the various organizations, classes, and fraternities, will begin at 1:00 at Centennial, proceed down Second Street and College Hill to the Square, down Market Street to Seventh Street and on to Athletic Park.

At the field, the Huskies of BSC will play the Rams of West Chester State College, who are fresh from a 13-7 loss at the hands of ESSC and still mourning the loss of their coach.

Rams Experience

The youthful Rams, having 24 sophomores and only 11 seniors will carry a 1-1 league record into the game and will be depending on the fastest team in West Chester history if not the most experienced.

Leading the Rams will be Don

Ferguson whom many believe to be little All-American material at his left end position. Also held in very high esteem by the West Chester fans are Bob Hyatt and Cal Ritter who seem headed for berths on the All-Conference team.

The Rams bring to BSC a team that their coach believed could win the division title. The situation has changed drastically though and the Rams will be out hoping for a big win on Saturday.

Half-Time Entertainment

During half-time the Maroon and Gold Band, under the direction of Nelson A. Miller, will provide entertainment. The climax of half-time will be the crowning of the "Sweetheart of Phi Sigma Pi", who will reign over the remaining activities as Homecoming Queen.

Evening Entertainment

After the game there will be an informal "get together" of alumni, students, and friends at Husky Lounge.

Concluding the festivities of the day, there will be a dance at 8:30 in Centennial Gym featuring Lee Vincent's Modernaires.

Topic: School Spirit

Last Friday night saw a genuine display of real pep and school spirit displayed by the student body of BSC. Those who attended the game showed the enthusiasm for which BSC has been known throughout the years. Coach Houk has stated on numerous occasions that a team is able to perform much better when the psychological factor of student support is present.

Pep Committee

This year's Pep Committee is really on the ball. Chairmen Bosac, Buckno, and Derr have some great ideas about how to generate student spirit in support of BSC's athletic teams. We would like to congratulate them on their efforts so far, and to encourage them to continue in their strivings for 100% student support. Remember, your support, your spirit, your enthusiasm are needed in order for BSC school spirit to maintain its present high level.

Team Earned Victory

Our team played well the other night, and they earned their victory. We congratulate them on this victory and wish them continued success tomorrow and throughout the rest of the season. We were very impressed about the student spirit both during the game and in the pep rally held after the game in Husky Lounge. Let's keep up the good work, and let's encourage others to join us and BACK THE HUSKIES.

Topic: Reply To Mr. Percey

In reply to Mr. Percey's letter (see letters section). We did not, by the statement "We hope there are few students in our midst who would take an active part in denouncing U.S. policy in Vietnam..." mean to discourage the free exchange of thought and opinion on this matter. We support United States policy in Vietnam and we believe this policy is the only possible solution to the problem. But we fully realize that some in our number may be opposed to this policy. By taking an active part in denouncing U.S. policy we were referring to the number of demonstrations, draft-card burnings, and the like which have been going on throughout parts of this nation. We are opposed to such actions, and we feel that in this time our nation must present a united front in meeting this challenge to freedom. Another point is that the image of the American college student is seriously damaged by demonstrations of the above type.

Free Discussion

Free discussion is something never to be tampered with if a nation is to remain a democracy. We were NOT condemning discussion of the Vietnam situation, rather we were concerned with that action against U.S. policy which is not going through the proper channels and tends to be violent in nature. This paper will try to be more clear on such matters in the future.

"Just human endeavor"

The second part of Mr. Percey's letter is concerned with the statement "... we can understand the efforts made by students to avoid the draft by keeping their grades up." Well we can understand these efforts because this is as we stated last week "just human endeavor." We can also understand Mr. Percey's feelings about the present draft law. We respect these opinions.

Topic: Letters

In our last issue of the M & G we find we diverged a bit from the newspaper's established policy in regard to publishing of Letters-to-the-Editor. We stated without qualifications that "names will be withheld from print on request of the writer." However, the M & G does not wish to encourage students to write letters requesting that their names be withheld. The policy of the M & G in this respect is to withhold a name upon request only in exceptional circumstances. This means, for example, that if the writer of a letter must reveal some aspect of his personal life that might prove detrimental to him in order to support a general argument, then the withholding of the writer's name might be considered desirable.

In general, however, we believe that the withholding of names of the writers of Letters-to-the-Editor is unhealthy and only encourages a secretive, "underground" atmosphere which a newspaper should not foster. The writers of letters should have the courage of their convictions and be willing to openly uphold their viewpoints by having their names attached to a letter. The element of fear that students will suffer some kind of retribution for an honest and sincere expression of opinion on a subject concerning them is something that should be overcome. The M & G would like to help in this respect and encourage open expression of opinions within limits of newspaper policy, for such expression is evidence of a healthy student community.

Letters To the Editor

Dear Mr. Howells:

I am writing to advise you of my strong objection to a statement made in your lead editorial of October 8th. Specifically I refer to the sentence that "We hope there are few students in our midst who would take an active part in denouncing U.S. policy in Vietnam, but we can understand the efforts made by students to avoid the draft by keeping their grades up."

Your statement seems to encourage or condone silence on one of the great issues of our time while at the same moment blithely endorsing one of the most unjust laws now enforced in the United States. It seems to me that you would better fulfill your function by encouraging both faculty and students to engage in a free and frank (and hopefully objective) discussion of these important issues.

For the record I would like to make my position clear. First, I believe that American involvement in Vietnam is an utmost necessity. I also believe that American citizens should be free to object to this position if they see fit. Second, I believe that our draft laws have become outmoded and have been amended to include enough loopholes to allow both the professional students and the Casius Clays of our country to avoid their civic responsibilities. I would favor a universal, rather than a selective, draft law.

Very truly yours,
James W. Percey

To The Editor:

Why can't the book store learn to count? Under ordering repeat editions may be good economy; there are usually enough students who wish to sell old books to balance out a small order of the new ones. But under ordering new editions, in full knowledge that there can't possibly be a single copy of the new book on campus, is sheer idiocy. The American Literature books are a new edition; the book store was asked to order fifty-five. The number ordered? — thirty-five. The World Literature books are also new, but thanks to under-ordering, there are (at the writing of this letter) over one hundred students without Lit. I books. As one student put it: "I can hardly wait to get my Lit. Book. I'll need it for next semester, because I'll be repeating the course. I'm going to flunk it this time, because I don't have a book."

Why don't we have the books we need when we need them? If this happened only occasionally — say just every other semester — and if nobody complained, the situation might be excused. But it happens regularly, like the changing of the seasons, and people do complain, from professors to students. So it must follow that the book store knows of the problem.

Why not change the ordering policy just a bit? It's difficult enough to learn and to teach most subjects without the further obstacle of being without books.

L. Young

Dear Editor,

We, the undersigned students of BSC, wish to express our agreement with the opinion expressed in the editorial appearing in the October 8 edition of the M&G concerning cuts. We also feel that a definite and uniform policy concerning cuts should be set forth by the administration. We suggest the following policy:

1.) That freshmen be permitted as many cuts as there are credits in the course.

2.) That medical or other acceptable excuses not be counted as cuts.

3.) That there be no limit to the number of cuts an upperclassman may take, but that an excuse must be presented for absences from examinations.

4.) That excuses may be obtained only from the Dean of Students or some other designated person who will decide at that time whether or not an excuse is legitimate.

We feel that the above policy is reasonable, allows for freedom of judgment by the student, and will prevent abuse of the privilege. We ask that our fellow students work through their CGA representatives in an attempt to have this or some similar policy adopted by the administration. We also encourage them to write to the M&G and express their opinions, pro or con, publically.

Respectfully
Ten Students (Names withheld upon request.)

Mrs. John and members of the Assembly and Evening Entertainment Committee:

We would like to express our appreciation and the obvious appreciation of the majority students for the assembly featuring Miss Nina Magidoff and her experiences as an American from Russia.

We feel that more assemblies of this type would be greatly welcomed by the student body as a means of enriching our understanding of others and widening our scope of knowledge of other people of this sort.

Respectfully Yours,

Sec. 1, Phonetics

Dear Mrs. John,

On September 30th, a most unusual event occurred at Bloomsburg State College — the student body witnessed a most refreshing assembly. Mrs. Nila Magidoff, the Russian speaker, actually held her audience spell-bound for an entire period. Credit should be given to you and your committee, who made such a stimulating program possible.

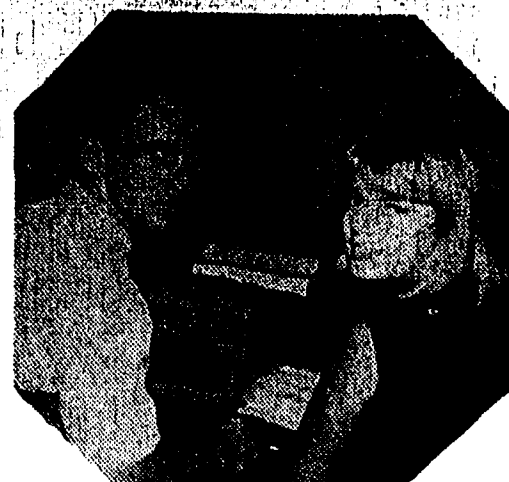

We realize that most of the arrangements for this year's assemblies have already been made. However, if there are any open dates, we feel that due consideration might be given to such an area of interest. Why not leave the involved science lectures for the science teachers and give the informative thought-provoking lectures to the college community?

We offer these suggestions as a possible solution to the indifferent attitude which many students hold and often display toward assemblies. If we could find a way to have more assemblies like this one, we're sure that we wouldn't have to reward the students with quality points, but would probably have to turn them away at the door. Assemblies should be an enriching part of every student's education. If so much money is spent for these programs, it seems a shame that they aren't fulfilling their intended purpose.

If the tremendous response of the student body was any indication at all, we can assume that they were well-pleased and considered it an hour well-spent. Why not try to keep up a good thing?

Sincerely yours,
Diane Boone

Memories Are Made Of Our Homecomings

Well, that time of the year is upon us again, when the weather can't quite make up its mind if it wants to hold on to the last vestige of summer, or take the final plunge into the chilly abyss of a severe winter. It is also the time of year for the annual Homecoming games, parades, balls and dances, and the madness which accompanies it all. As usual, it seems that BSC (Long may it wave . . . !) is leading the regional 'packs.'

Psyche

The campus is busy getting psyched up for the big game, the big parade, the big dance, the Big Name Entertainment, and perhaps the Big Freeze from a Jack Frost in the cloudy rafters. The Maroon & Gold issues a special 6-pager for the occasion, with all the latest news; the bulletin board in Husky shouts of the weekend's events; students search for last-minute dates for those same events; and there is a general feeling of activity that is the kind of thing every college and university needs to retain sanity among its student body.

BUT, who, at this time of year, ever takes a little time to look back, just for a few minutes, to past Homecomings at BSC, or BSTC as it was then? Well, while the rest of the college looks ahead, and while the M&G thinks ahead, we have decided to take a look in both directions before crossing into the festivities.

War Years

How many of us remember BSTC's Homecoming in 1943? It was a rainy day, during the Big War; but even though the game was only an inter-team struggle between the "Reds" and "Whites" made up of Navy trainees (the V-12's) the field was packed; and few left the field until the final whistle, signifying a win for the "Reds" by a score of 6-0, blew its resounding 'twerp.'

And what of the following year? It was the classic day when BSTC whipped Drexel into the mud by a score of 20-6.

Decade Of Battle

Or, who remembers the Homecoming contest of '46, when a new assistant coach by the unlikely name of John Hoch began a career at BSTC with a win over Kutztown by a 19-0 margin?

How about the '47 contest, with Coach Hoch working under Bob Redman of Triple Cities College, when the sell-out crowd witnessed the Huskies going down in a valiant battle against a stubborn Shippensburg. But no matter what the outcome of the game, it was a thrill-a-whistle all the way.

Coming closer to date, tho, how about the upset over Wilkes in 1954, when the formerly unbeaten Colonels bowed to the Maroon and

Un-average Tourist Recalls Summer; Trip To Wales Delight and Privilege

By Larry Remley

For ten weeks this summer I spent my time exploring the little known country of Wales; a land steeped in artistic endeavor with a language, people, and culture much different from its neighbor, England.

The most striking thing about Wales is its natural beauty. The mountains, valleys, lakes, and the sea all combine to give the visitor the impression that Wales was endowed with every scenic wonder that nature provides. However, the mountains gave this writer his most vivid experience of the summer. While not of a great magnitude, the mountains of Wales seem to suffer from delusions of grandeur. Rising from the Shropshire Plain, they emerge with a perpetual mist-shrouded splendor that gives this country a certain aura of aloofness and mystery. From the east they march to the west where they wage their time-worn battle with the gnawing Irish Sea. It is here that the mountains display their awesome strength and beauty as they valiantly stand against the never-ending tides.

The people, at first withdrawn and uneasy in the presence of a foreigner, soon show themselves to be an exuberant and cheerful race that is willing to please and delight the stranger. As soon as I proved myself not an "average" American (one of the rich, egotistical tourists that roam Europe every summer), the Welshmen took me in and I never felt out of place the remainder of my stay. They are a very artistic nation; each Welshman is usually active in their National Eisteddfod (music and literary festival), for the honor and prizes that go along with being declared the best singer or poet in Wales.

This festival is conducted in their native language, Welsh, with words like Llainfairpwllgwyllgogerychwyrdrobwillantysillogogoch (the name of a town in North Wales) seems, and is quite disarming, if not frightening. Perhaps the singing I enjoyed most was the unsponsored spontaneous competition to be found any night during festival week in the local pubs. Here the Welsh, inspired by English Bitter, virtually explode into song solely for their own amusement. I must say that these are well-trained singers with an inherited love and ability to sing; to have a crowd launch into the Welsh National Anthem and have it sound better than the Robert Shaw Chorale was, to say the least, quite an experience for me.

These people have a fierce national pride demonstrated by their spare time activities in which they bomb bridges and hydro-electric dam sites built by the English Government. They oppose these structures because they are destroying good grazing land and the scenic beauty of the mountain area. A country with such illusionary landscape has a right to protest the unwanted modernization being forced upon it.

It is an interesting, highly aesthetic country abounding in its own revelry of life. The scenery, the towns, and the people make it a well-deserved stop for the un-average tourist.

Behind The Scene View of "Angels" Displays Warmth

Jan Feimster

On Monday evening, October 4, at 8:15 p.m. in Carver Auditorium, the Endowed Artist Lecture Series presented the "Little Angels" of Korea. A company of 26 talented Korean children (ages 7 through 13), the "Angels" captivated their audience with authentic folk dances and other routines, accompanied by a native instrumental group. The performance has been described as one of the best ever-presented at BSC.

Talent And Poise

Although the audience was thrilled by the talent and poise of these children, those of us who worked with them backstage were even more amazed at the friendliness, cooperation, and professional attitude which they displayed. They managed to adjust with little difficulty to the small dressing rooms, stage new faces, and unfamiliar stage area. Costume changes (there were 14), were executed swiftly and quietly; and cues were never missed.

Language Barrier

Accompanied by a group of dedicated adults who spoke only a little English, the children themselves could manage little more than a soft "Hi". Those of us who didn't speak Korean (there were a few), communicated with them through a type of "sign language", consisting mainly of smiles and pointed fingers. The language barrier did pose one problem, however — light cues in Korean are just a little confusing!

Cultural Addition

Despite these differences, the children displayed a surprising warmth difficult to describe. There seemed to exist in them a natural affinity for us — in fact, for all Americans; as is demonstrated in the case of the only boy in the troupe, "Butch," who taught the bus driver Karate. Onstage and offstage, the "Little Angels" were an unspoiled, talented, and completely charming addition to the cultural program of BSC.

chine work over time preparing — Husky Lounge — before a piece of paper is deposited, it is cleared away. The floor is waxed to a luster in preparation for the embattled victims to work out their hostilities on Sunday afternoon. Peace and quiet to be found on the good ship — no!

So the storm warnings are flying. One must prepare now. Meet the Homecoming storm head on and prepare for fun!

Tour Given In Story Through Song; "Four Seasons" Furnish Material

By Bill Winch

It is Friday afternoon, October 15, on Bloomsburg State College Campus. There seems to be more activity than the usual ninety per cent of students leaving for the weekend. The only suitcases in sight are those of guests arriving. Just what is the occasion? Could it be that there is a "Big Man In Town"?

Big Occasion

Being that I go home every weekend and am completely unaware of any activities on campus, I approached my friend "Ronnie" and asked him what the occasion was. However, he was busy decorating a float and my question was blotted out as he cried, "Where Have all the Flowers Gone!" to finish this "Rag Doll" float.

It was now about "Dawn" so I decided to "Stay" and see what would transpire. I heard there was something going on at Centennial Gym that evening from "Connie-O" as she passed by.

After giving the situation a little thought, I decided to go over to West Hall and see if "Sherie" was busy. I told her I didn't have a date and wondered if she wanted to go to the Gym with me, but all she said was "Ain't That a Shame" and walked away.

I then "Walked Like a Man" to the Gym where much to my surprise discovered that I couldn't get in because the "Four Seasons" were appearing in concert and the performance was sold out. I didn't want the night to be a total waste, so I went to Rock's for the evening. Hold On

The next day I was awakened by a parade outside. I got up and followed it downtown to a football field where I found that Bloomsburg State was playing West Chester State. I stayed, but I had a hard time watching the game because some drunk in front of me kept jumping up and down singing "Happy, Happy Birthday Baby."

I was glad that I went to the game, though, since I met a "Candy Girl" who said there was a dance in the Gym that night and wondered if we could go together. I decided to "Hold on to What I've Got" and told her I thought it was a good idea.

We had such a good time that night dancing to the music of Lee Vincent that we decided to go to the dance the next day where the "Formations" were playing.

All Over

The afternoon went by quickly as weekend festivities came to an end. I knew she must have enjoyed the weekend as much as I did because the tears started to fall. I said to her "Big Girls Don't Cry." From now on I'll be here every weekend but the next weekend please, "Save It For Me."

I walked her back to the dorm and said, "Bye, Bye Baby". As I walked away I kept recalling to mind all the fun we had had that weekend at Homecoming on the BSC Campus.

Annual Storm Expected On Weekend; Preparation Includes Clean-up Drive

by Judy Gers

Batten down the hatches! Secure the forecastle! The good ship old BSC is again going to meet the autumn storm known as Homecoming. For 125 years, she has braved and weathered this annual occurrence and again she faces it.

On the deck, all appears calm and quiet. The deck hands are manuring the greens and raking up the flotsom and jetsom of the trees. Here and there a small storm warning appears (Are you going to the Four Seasons?), but otherwise everything is calm.

But! Behind the scenes and beneath the deck, drastic changes are taking place. Here, in the section known as the dorms, dust, socks and papers fly in utter dismay. Cabin mates try to organize things to meet the waves of open house. Books here, down with those pictures, place girl friend's or boy friend's picture in prominent place, dust here, vacuum there — Whew! Almost finished. Now, for the finishing touch — the beds are made. Calm on surface and stations manned.

In Waller Hall, other events, almost of the same order as in the dorms, take place. Feet patter here and there. Watch out for waxing machines! OK, dust under the tapestries — almost the same but on a larger scale.

Beneath the calm exterior of our peaceful vessel BSC, men and ma-

BSC Defeats Brockport, 15-6; Gerst Sets Pace For Huskies

BSC Quarterback Rich Lichtel carries ball on "bootleg" play against the Golden Eagles of Brockport. BSC won the ball game by a score of 15-6. Photo by Reed

The Bloomsburg "Huskies" behind the capable leadership of quarterback Dick Lichtel and the hard running halfback, Joe Gerst defeated Brockport State College 15-6 before a large crowd at Bloomsburg's Athletic Park.

Gerst Top Ground Gainer

The Husky trio of Gerst, Lichtel, and "Clip" Martin were too much for the Golden Eagles. The Huskies hit pay dirt for the first time in the second period when Gerst broke loose, and with "Hoagie" Herrold leading the way, went 45 yards for a touchdown. Later in the same period Jerry Robinson intercepted a pass and raced 58 yards down the sidelines for the second score. It must be noted that of the 183 rushing yards gained by Bloomsburg in the first half, 116 yards were credited to Gerst. Lichtel kept the defense guessing as he repeatedly picked up yards on his "keeper plays." Martin also picked up valuable yardage as it was needed.

Field Goal by Long

In the second half the Huskies were limited to a 30 yard field goal by Bruce Long. Particular bright spots on defense were Wayne Eddows, Jerry Robinson, Bob Tucker, Bob Surriage, and Clip Martin. The defense faltered but once when Brockport's Naszawny scored on a 33 yard run.

Robinson Injured

Bloom's Jerry Robinson was injured and will be lost for several games. Several of the ball players saw limited action due to injuries but it is hoped they will be ready for West Chester next week.

Toward the end of the game everybody got into the action as a free-for-all broke out. It was a mad scene as both benches emptied and players were being hit with everything from fists to flying helmets.

... SIDELINES

by Irwin Zablocky

For four years now I have observed BSC's athletics with as much interest and enthusiasm as the rest of the student body. We would like to see our players come up with a winning season and even better, a state championship.

In the past we've had good teams. Sometime in the past we actually did beat West Chester. Two years we really surprised East Stroudsburg with a 13-7 victory and as a highly favored underdog we beat Kutztown last year.

We have, therefore, come up with some surprising victories even though our seasons have been unimpressive. We usually highlight each season with some spectacular win.

Of course we can always offer reasons (perhaps valid excuses) for having losing seasons. If it is not a strong line and poor backfield it is just the opposite. If it is not a poor quarterback it is poor ends and backs. If it is not the coach, it is the referee. Then if it is not a small team it is a team with too many injuries.

Yes, we at BSC can rationalize to make our team feel better after losing a very lousy game to some weak team we know we could have beaten. In fact, many of our wins have been against the favored team. In games we were a sure bet to win, we played lousy ball and lost! And yet when we have had all the odds against us we have won.

Our teams have developed a psychotic feeling towards winning, and losing. They must feel that it is alright to lose the little games as long as they win the big one. Could they have accepted the fact that Bloomsburg only wins one big game a season and other than that we are basically losers?

If the team thinks this way, they are wrong. If we go through a season thinking that we are losers we can't help but lose. On the other hand, if we have the attitude we can win and are going to win then we only stand the chance of being outplayed.

We don't want losers! Especially if we should have won! It's time to get out of the rut of defeatism!

We should have beaten Lock Haven and Mansfield. If we can put a little extra effort into beating the better schools, why can't we put that extra effort, the effort to win, into the smaller games—the ones which we usually lose.

Everyone knows that we could have played better. We know that we have a good team—we always have. So let's do something about it and WIN!

Order was quickly restored and the game continued without further incident.

Team Improving

The Huskies showed signs of really developing into a fine ball club. They were strong on offense and showed they could really play defense. With continued improvement and the backing of the student body the BSC Husky team can go on to have an excellent '65 football season.

Zablocky Shines In Harrier Loss

The Huskies of BSC suffered their second defeat of the season to the Bald Eagles of Lock Haven, by a score of 23-32. Last week the Huskies lost their opener to Susquehanna.

Zablocky Wins

For the second time in a row, BSC's Irwin Zablocky took first place, showing a time of 28:00.9, breaking the course record by 1.5 minutes. Finishing behind Zablocky were two Lock Haven runners, English and Zinn, to win second and third places. BSC's Gary Horn finished fourth, and then the next eight places were taken by Lock Haven runners. Joe Fazzari secured thirteenth place, followed by Nyce, Gering, Benyo, and Holland, all of BSC.

This cross-country meet was Lock Haven's first of the year, and the men of Lock Haven had only three lettermen returning, Jere Shiner, Bill English, and John Heins. Lock Haven's coach is Dave Beaver.

Sometimes the best way to double your money is to fold it and put it back in your pocket.

INTRAMURALS

The first impression gained upon glancing through the Intramural team rosters is that the Giants will have to scramble to successfully defend their 1964 Team Championship. The Giants are sticking with last year's roster while several also-rans have revamped their lineups. Several newly formed teams will also bear watching, although the Giants are the team to beat until someone proves otherwise.

Team Captains are asked to check the schedules daily. Due to the heavy demands made upon our over-taxed facilities, scheduling has to be extremely flexible. Your cooperation is expected.

Well, fellas, it's homecoming time once again and all the girls that are getting their wardrobes ready, will be looking for that extra accessory for the football game, and B Club will be selling them outside the faculty lounge for $1.25. Now, maybe you're wondering what it is? Of course, it's a mum corsage and anyone who's in, will be wearing one! Don't be left out, make sure that special gal is wearing one!

All girls who wish to participate in intramural basketball should submit team name, team captain, and box number, and members name to Carol Chandler, Box 1706, East Hall no later than October 22.

Those girls who are currently participating in tennis, tenniquoit, archery or swimming are reminded to read the rules specified for each sport. Remember, a forfeit makes you or your team ineligible for points given for participation, un-

Bordentown M.A. Beats Frosh, 46-0

The Freshman football team of BSC suffered a crushing defeat at the hands of Bordentown Military Academy by a score of 46-0. It was the team's first game of the season and it was a rough team to pick for the opening game.

Bordentown was scheduled on the spur of the moment when the regularly scheduled game against Susquehanna was cancelled.

Freshman coach, Doug Boelhouwer, a newcomer to the BSC coaching staff has had approximately forty candidates working out for the past several weeks. Boelhouwer indicates he has a fine group of players with plenty of desire.

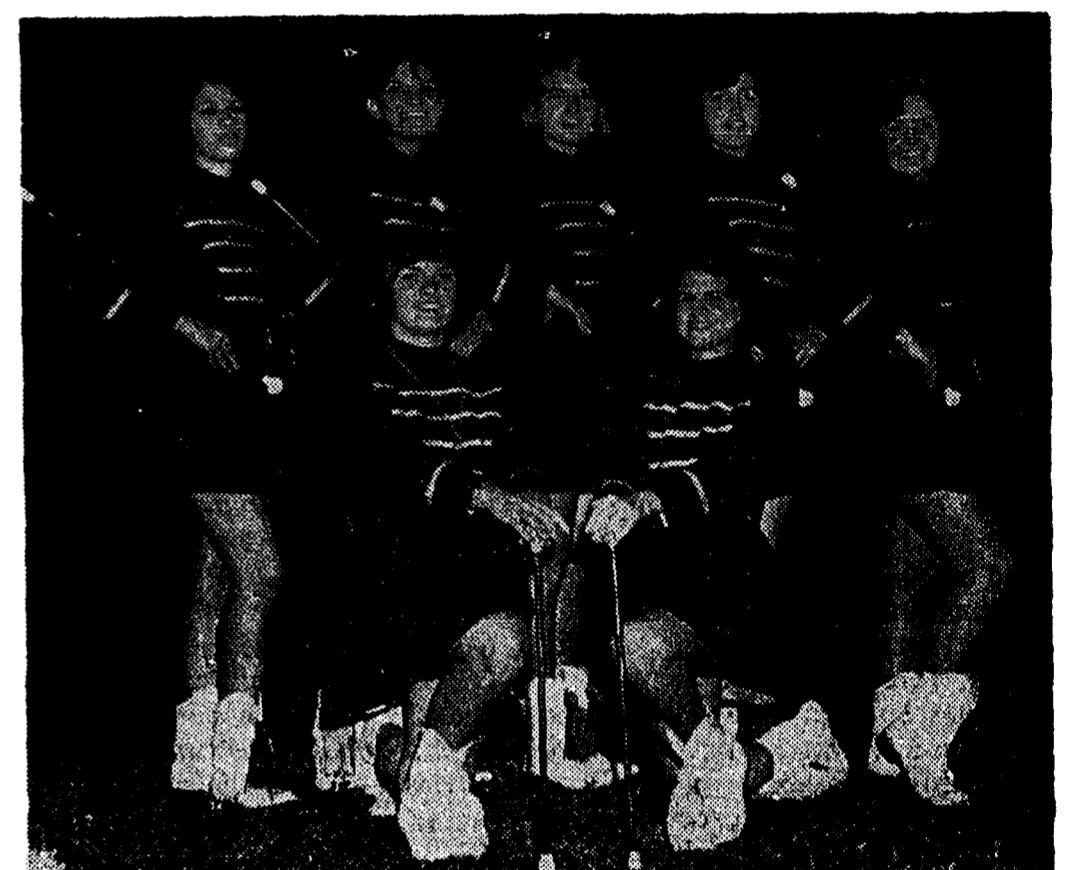

The starting line-up for the freshman on offensive as indicated by Coach Boelhouwer is:

LE	Tom Eastep	Shippensburg
LT	Fred Harris	Williamsport
LG	Lynn RoccoGraadi	Levittown
C	Roy Smay	Curwensville
RG	Ron Christina	West Hazleton
RT	Dave Arnold	York
RE	Bill Harvey	Bristol
QB	Ed MacKay	New Cumberland
LHB	Juergen Shell	Rancocas Woods, N.J.
RHB	Dave Bautmann	New Cumberland, N.J.
FB	Bruce Pastupak	Larksville

less the game to be played is rescheduled with consents of respective opponents.

B Club is also looking for girls who will act as scorers, timers, and referees. Points are awarded for participation. Additional information is obtainable from Miss Wray's office in Centennial.

Well, one win down and more wins to come. Let's say win #2 this Saturday for our football team and fall sports schedule. The record as of today is one win and four losses in the fall sports. Two losses via football and two more by way of our harriers.

It looks as if our cross country team is on its way to its worst season in three years. Let us hope that two losses is all they will suffer for the remainder of the season.

The victory path has been opened for the football team and it is our belief that the HUSKY eleven likes the taste of victory and will continue in the same groove toward VICTORY for one of our first winning seasons in four or five years.

Credit must be given where it is due and that goes to defensive halfback Jerry Robinson who played an outstanding game until injured late in the fourth quarter. Hope to see Jerry back in action as soon as possible! Also outstanding on offense was Joe Gerst who gained close to 200 yards on 25 carries through the Brockport line. At this rate Joe should be the leading ground gainer in State Conference play. Keep it up, Joe!

Last, but not least, the offensive and defensive linemen looked very good and proved themselves by the fact of all the yardage gained. No back can do that well without good line support. We hope the line continues their good work for they are surely the unsung heroes of the game called football.

"This too shall pass," these were the last words written in an article by the late great Dr. Bonder, head football coach at West Chester State College. These words were reprinted in the Philadelphia Sunday Bulletin and were to be and proved to be words of encouragement to his football team. Up till the time that article was printed West Chester State was 0-2 in the won-lost column, but after this past weekend they gained their first win of the '65 season, proving that those words were of good encouragement.

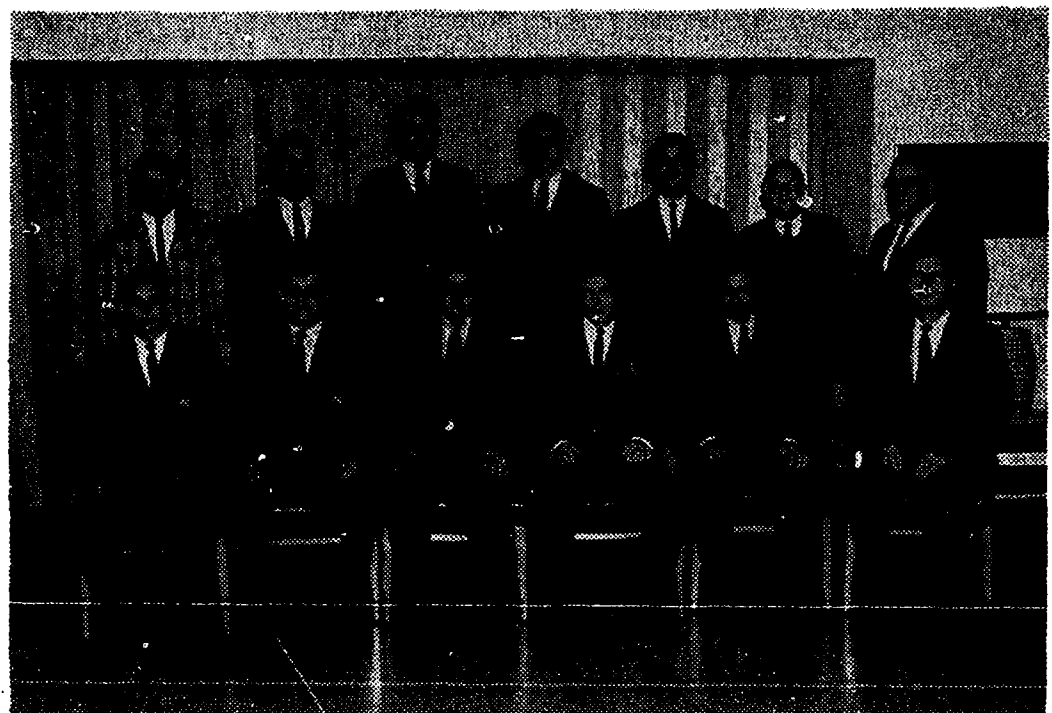

No one at Bloomsburg State knows how long it has been the HUSKY eleven has been victorious on the gridiron against W.C.S. It has also been a long famine for coaches, players, and fans alike to see the Huskies suffer defeat by the Rams and it is hoped that this famine may end Saturday, for the victory path has been opened and I feel along with the majority of the student body that "This too shall pass."

You may complain of summer heat, but at least you don't have to shovel it.

TUG OF WAR ACTION

Frosh go sliding through mud during Tug-of-War held during half time of last week's game. Upperclassmen uphold honor with victory.

The Community Government Association, the Sports staff of the Maroon & Gold, and the student body of Bloomsburg State College wish to express their most sincere condolences to the student body and faculty of West Chester State College on the untimely death of their head football coach DR. JAMES B. BONDER.

Coach Bonder was stricken during the second period of the West Chester-Millersville game last Friday and died 90 minutes later at the hospital.

All will feel the loss of this fine coach who for years has provided inspired leadership and an excellent example of a man to all he knew.

New Cheerleaders For Frosh Games

The following students have been chosen for the freshman cheerleading squad according to an announcement by Miss Joanne McComb, Cheerleader Sponsor:

Judy Gargiulo, an elementary major from Springfield, Pa.; Barbara Russell, a business education major from Clarks Summit, Pa.; Rebekah Ward, an elementary major from Milton, Pa.; and Linda Watts, a liberal arts major from Millville, Pa.

These girls will be cheering for all home freshman events in football, basketball, and wrestling.

Members of the Pep Committee wish to express their thanks to Mr. Nespoli of Nespoli Jewelers for his contribution of the trophy, which was presented to the upperclassman who won the Annual Tug-of-War Contest against the freshmen. The contest took place at half-time of the BSC-Brockport game last Friday.

Football Plunges; Game Commences

The first football for tomorrow's Homecoming Day football game will be thrown from an airplane. Mr. James R. Whitmer will drop the pigskin by parachute from an airplane piloted by the manager of the Bloomsburg Airport.

In Commemoration

The Men's Resident Association, headed by Larry Gloekler and advised by Dean Hunsinger, has planned the ceremony to commemorate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the initiation of aviation training courses at BSC by the Defense Department. During the war years, men in naval aviation programs were stationed in Bloomsburg, and Navy uniforms were a common sight both on campus and in the town of Bloomsburg.

Gold by a formidable margin of 44-0?

1956 saw BSTC match pads with a tough Mansfield team who had just whipped a mighty Kings College squad the week before. As the seconds blinked off the scoreboard, it was BSTC-38, MSTC-6.

And then came the '60s. Some of you must remember those years! It is the time when the Homecoming parade, the Big Name Entertainment, the dances and celebrations put icing on the Big Game. The '60s have seen defeat and glory for the old Maroon & Gold, against such powers as East Stroudsburg, West Chester, and Millersville. But among the sweat and blood and tears of the Big Game, Homecoming traditionally sees a uniting of the campus over something dear to it: the struggle of tomorrow's leaders battling a war more pertinent than the one waging half a world away; the faces of yesterday's students, and the paths in their eyes at the sight of their old alma mater. For it is life enacted upon a playing field; and as in years past, it will see that Bloomsburg has mettle enough to meet the challenge...

GSA Announces Blanket Contract; Bids Open Oct. 27

Bids for construction and extension of utilities at Bloomsburg State College will be opened in Harrisburg, October 27, according to an announcement by the General State Authority yesterday.

The project is estimated to cost $481,300 and is one of five planned college projects for which funds were approved by the 1963-65 General Assembly.

This project includes the extension of mains for steam heating, drainage for storm and surface water, and extension of sewage and water lines.

Officials explained this is a blanket contract which will provide sufficient mains for utilities of new buildings planned at the college. Once these mains are installed, it will not be necessary to dig long trenches across campus as new buildings are constructed. According to plans, these buildings can all be hooked onto nearby utility mains.

The project is also designed to improve service to existing buildings and was expanded for planned buildings as an economical move.

Included in this project will be the extending of lines south of East Second Street to the Wood Street section where new dormitories are planned.

State action is expected in the near future on rebidding the planned 300-capacity men's dormitory which exceeded estimates in bidding last spring. The plans for this building have been revised and the new specifications are nearly completed. College officials hope this building will be rebid in the next three months.

The other three projects allocated funds in 1963-65 include the new library, auditorium, and athletic field.
