CAMPUS NEWS AND VIEWS

Radio Station and Communications Highlighted At 3rd Council Meeting

Business ranging from the establishment of a campus radio station to the installation of dollar bill changers highlighted discussion at the third regular College Council meeting held this week.

After reading of the previous minutes, the reading of the president's reply, and the reading of the treasurer's report, Council turned to new business.

The Amateur Radio Club made a request for $507.54 in order to start a campus radio station. Discussion centered on space for the project, financial backing, and the possibility of success or failure. The matter was tabled until the Club could come up with a more tangible plan.

Unfinished Business

The meeting then turned to unfinished business. The report of the Committee on Fund-Raising Events was discussed. Council sent the policy to the president for comment. The complete policy will be published in the M&G if and when approved by Council and the president.

Council then heard the report of the Committee on Reunion of Past Presidents of CGA. To be called Past Presidents of CGA Day, the event was suggested for February 26, 1966. This date was selected because Bloomsburg Players have planned a play for that weekend. Council gave tentative approval to this date.

Homecoming Report

Council then heard a Homecoming report by President Gockley. He thanked all those connected in making Homecoming a success.

A Communications Committee report followed in which the members of that committee suggested the utilization of a suggestion box, the placing of pictures of college council members on various campus bulletin boards, and reading the agenda in college assemblies (in addition to posting it). Other suggestions included progress reports and initiation of a newspaper column.

Delegation To State Conference

Discussion followed concerning the delegation of the Dean of Men, the Dean of Women, and the presidents of resident and commuting students with their advisers, to the state student government conference. An opportunity to share ideas with their counterparts from other colleges is the purpose of the proposal. Action on the recommendation was tabled.

President Gockley then noted that a $1 bill changer will be placed in Husky by Weller Brothers Vending Company.

Rapella, Remley Star in Comedy

"Mary, Mary," the premiere production of the Bloomsburg Players in its 1965-66 season, was staged for the first time last evening in Carver Hall. The popular comedy of Jean Kerr, noted author of "Please Don't Eat the Daisies," will be presented again this evening and tomorrow evening. Curtain time for both performances will be 8:15 p.m.

Ann Marie Rapella appears in the title role and Larry Remley is cast as Bob, her husband, who means well but is cursed with romantic ineptness.

The comedy invites audiences to chuckle over the situation of a young couple brought together by the husband's attorney just a few weeks before their separation becomes final. As the plot unfolds the reasons for this planned separation become evident. Mary has fallen into the habit of strewing flip remarks out of a defensive feeling that she isn't attractive, and clumsy Bob has emphasized this by failing to pay her enough compliments. However, concern over their mutual tax problems brings them back together at the final curtain.

Supporting Characters

Nancy Chamoni portrays the role of Tiffany, the yogurt-crazed diet faddist Bob plans to marry, and Howard Kearns appears as Dirk, a debonair movie actor who completes the plot. Bill Kelly plays Oswald, the affable and droll tax attorney, who thinks heart and dollar symbols are interchangeable.

Mr. Robert Richey of the Department of Speech and Adviser of the Bloomsburg Players is directing the play. Mr. James McCubbin is co-ordinating the scenery construction, and Mr. McHale is in charge of business and promotion.

Admission is free to faculty, their family, and students. Special ticket rates have been set for high school students and other groups.

Weather Reports Available to Men

There will be some innovations on campus by the resident men, according to Dean Hunsinger. Weather reports and forecasts will be placed on the various bulletin boards around campus during the winter months. These forecasts will enable students who are going home for the weekend to be aware of the weather conditions on their return. Thus, proper time allowed for travel will avoid the difficulties of women "signing in" late.

Resident men, when leaving campus for the weekend, are asked to put a notice of their destination in their mailboxes. In case of emergency, the Dean of Men's office will know where to contact the student in question. On Monday mornings, the notice should be removed.

Students Discuss Meaning of SCA

The Student Christian Association met recently in the Ben Franklin building. The purpose of SCA is to acquaint the student body with the important issues of our time. Members saw the movie "Facts of Faith" which deals with the relationship between science and religion. The movie seemed to say that faith can be based upon fact. Members then discussed the merits of the film.

At the first meeting there was a panel discussion on the "Meaning of SCA to Me." The panel agreed that "SCA invites students to become informed on the big issues, to wrestle with important questions, to share ideas with those of different religious backgrounds, and to join a meaningful fellowship."

Olympian Desires Student Workers

An organizational meeting for the college literary magazine, The Olympian, will be held in room 10 of Noetling Hall on Tuesday, November 9, at 3:00 p.m. All students interested in working on the literary, art, typing, or circulation staffs are encouraged to attend. The literary board needs students with critical ability to read and judge the manuscripts submitted to the Olympian to help determine those suitable for publication. The members of the art staff will work on publicity posters as well as cover design and interior art work for the magazine itself. Typists will be needed to prepare the copies sent to the printers. The circulation staff will handle magazine sales next spring.

Cards Requested

It would be appreciated if all students would bring 3x5 cards with the following information to the meeting; name, class, curriculum, box number, and position desired. Additional information concerning interests and abilities would be helpful. Those who cannot attend the meeting may leave their cards in box 1204, New North Hall.

DEAN RETIRES AS REF.

Dean Hunsinger will retire from high school basketball officiating this year after thirty-five years of service. Although he will not be actively participating in sports, Dean Hunsinger will be quite busy as a speaker for area athletic banquets.

Andrews Featured Speaker At Student Teacher Assembly

Dr. Leonard O. Andrews, a faculty member of Ohio State University, was one of the featured speakers at the Annual Conference of the Pennsylvania Central Region Association for Student Teaching held at Bloomsburg State College, October 28th. His topic was "Supporting Higher Quality Student Teaching—How Shall We Finance It?"

Dr. Andrews has been a member of the Ohio State University since 1949, and is presently coordinator of student field experience in the College of Education. In that capacity he is in charge of all student teaching.

Received Degrees

Professor Andrews received his bachelor's degree from Alma College, Alma, Michigan, in 1926 and a master's degree from the University of Michigan in 1930. He frequently acts as a consultant in teacher education to colleges throughout the nation and was designated by his college to serve as second dean of the College of Guam from January, 1953 to June, 1954. The College of Education of the Ohio State University sponsored the establishment of this island college in 1952.

Author Of Many Articles

The author of numerous articles in his field, Professor Andrews was contributor to the book, The Student Teacher in Secondary School, published in 1953. He was co-author of Guiding Your Student Teacher. This was cited by the Epoch Pratt Library of Baltimore as one of the outstanding educational books of 1954. His latest work, Student Teaching, was released late in 1964 by the Center for Applied Research in Education, Inc., New York City, as one of the volumes in its new "Library of Education" series.

Active in Education

Active in community affairs, he is a member of the General Council of the Presbytery of Columbus. He is a member of the Association for Student Teaching and the National Education Association. Currently he is chairman of the Com-

Lyons' Art Show Is Now In Lobby

An art show featuring the water-colors of Mr. Robert A. Lyons is currently appearing in Waller Hall lobby on the Bloomsburg campus. According to Mr. Richard Scherpereel, chairman of the BSC Art Department, the sixteen paintings will hang until November 15th. Students are urged to inspect these paintings at their leisure.

Semi-Abstraction

The paintings can be classified as semi-abstractions in both form and color, exhibiting many current trends in contemporary art, including pop art. Mr. Lyons is described as an extremely adept colorist, whose painting is crisp, bright and cheerful. His work radiates a pleasurable sensation and promotes a mood of gaiety. Much of the subject matter is taken from nature, particularly Pennsylvania's scenic landscapes.

Art Historian

Mr. Lyons is a faculty member of Millersville State College, and a former art instructor at Waynesburg College. His special field of interest lies in art history. He has exhibited his work in many shows, particularly in western Pennsylvania.

Next month, a collection of works by twenty-five mid-state Pennsylvania artists will be displayed in the Waller Hall Gallery, and will remain there until Christmas.

The non-conformists of today are getting harder and harder to tell apart.

SIO Now In Process Of Collecting Books

"A kind of positive demonstration in support of U.S. policy in Viet Nam is currently being conducted by the Social Improvement Organization of BSC." This is the way Mr. James Percey described the current drive by the organization to collect paperback books to be sent to our troops in Viet Nam. Club Project

Mr. Percey learned recently that the USO in Philadelphia has offered to ship any paperback books to Viet Nam at their expense. After a discussion with Dr. Robert Warren, a sponsor of SIO, the idea was presented to the members and was accepted as a club project.

Collection Points

Three stations have been designated as collection points: the locations are the Bloomsburg Public Library, the Bloomsburg Police Station, and outside Husky Lounge. In addition, the Columbia County Bookmobile will also collect books throughout the county. The tentative deadline for the drive, which began last Monday, is November 1. The books will be delivered to the Philadelphia USO by Mr. Percey later next month.

Topic: Radio Station On Campus

At this week's College Council meeting, the Amateur Radio Club came before Council with the proposal that they be given permission to start a campus radio station. According to what our untechnical minds could glean, this station would operate on campus electrical circuits as an unlicensed station under FCC rules and regulations. Council tabled this matter until the Club could work out the details of their planned way of operation, etc.

CGA-Financed Radio

We, the M&G, would like to go on record as saying that we are overwhelmingly in favor of such a venture. We would like to offer our complete support and any assistance we may be able to provide in this venture. We would go one step further in adding that it is our belief that the Community Government Association should finance and back this organization as it does the M&G, athletic program, etc. We think that this is another step in the direction of more progressive campus communication. We also feel that this will be an enriching educational experience for those involved in it, much as working on the paper is for us, the staff of the MAROON AND GOLD.

Topic: Books For Viet Nam

By this time we're sure that most of the students about the campus have seen the collection box outside of the Husky Lounge for the paperback books for the soldiers in Viet Nam. Many of you have contributed some of your excess collection to this very commendable drive. And, as a result, some GIs in the muddy and inhospitable forests and rocky fastness of that trouble-spot will derive a few hours pleasure from them, much as their forerunners in previous wars and conflicts have done.

The members of SIO (Social Improvement Organization), behind their advisor, Dr. Warren, along with Mr. Percey, are to be highly commended for their efforts in this drive. It is a project that should have strong student support, as it will benefit soldiers of college age who are serving us in a representative sense at the risk of their lives; the reception of these books will serve as an indication of our support of their very valiant efforts. So, get behind Mr. Percey and SIO, and Spare a Book.

Topic: Book Store

In a recent issue of this paper, we printed a rather strong letter concerning practices of the College Book Store in ordering books. It was the contention of this letter that the Book Store continually engages in the practice of under-ordering books. We investigated the situation and found that orders for books are placed according to a pre-determined number. The Dean of Instruction informed us that it was his office that determined the number of books to be ordered.

Procedures In Ordering

The Dean then informed us of the problems and procedures involved in ordering books. When there is a new book to be used in a course, books are ordered at the rate of 100% of the number of students who enrolled in the course at pre-registration. When the same text is used, 60% of the difference between the number taking the course and the number of books on hand are ordered. This figure is determined by allowing for the sale of second-hand books.

Problems Involved

The Dean then turned to the problems involved in ordering books. He noted the inadvisability of over-ordering for a number of reasons. This list includes: lack of storage space; the fact that in carrying a large inventory of books, the book store would be tying up the money of the student body; high shipping costs and the possibility of company refusal to accept returned books; it is school policy not to re-order books until those on hand have been sold; many books are out of print by the time companies fill BSC's order, and the ensuing delay thus caused.

Book Selection

We then discussed several misconceptions regarding books. There is no unwritten rule that says books must be changed every other year or so. The selection of books to be used in courses is left to the discretion of the department heads. The choice of whether or not to use a text for a course is left up to the individual instructor. Contrary to common belief, the Book Store makes every effort to offer the least expensive form of a book available to the student body.

Suggestions Welcome

The Dean recognized the problem of providing enough books for the student body, along with some of its qualifications. The Dean proved very cooperative and helpful. He welcomed any suggestions from members of the college community to help alleviate this problem.

Letters To the Editor

Dear Editor:

Students want more responsibility, more respect, and yet, they have failed to deserve it.

For an example, look at the stock room of the college library. Notice the disheveled magazines, the haphazard arrangement of the art and music books, and above all, the misplaced books. In short, the stock room is a "mess".

Who is to blame for the present condition of the stock room? Is it the librarian, who who spend the entire day trying to rectify the situation, or the student help? No, it is the students themselves. For they are the ones who take the library for granted, who complain because they cannot find a book which someone else probably misplaced, who cannot read signs.

If responsibility is to be achieved, then the students should earn it, and a possible first step would be the proper care of their library.

Sincerely yours,
Mary Ann Moczulski

Dear Editor:

When I was a freshman, we were told that our poor social activities would get better as the years at BSC went on. That was four years ago. Instead of the promised increase, the activities have now decreased to the point of two movies (?) a month and possibly a weekend dance.

With all this in mind, people in positions in this college constantly complain because of the lack of student participation. What do they expect when everytime a student turns around he finds that the only social function of the week has been cancelled? As is evident in Bloomsburg, students will stay at a place only if it has something for them there. Could this be the reason why every Friday afternoon and Saturday morning there is such an Exodus?

A View From Other Side of Curtain As the Final Count-down Proceeds

by Larry Remley

October 28; 6:00 p.m. — The place: backstage of Carver Auditorium. The scene: Bloomsburg Players in final preparation for their first production, "Mary, Mary." Managers of props, lights, makeup, scenery, and stage-crew are all attending to their last minute duties before curtain time.

6:15 p.m. — The cast appear for makeup and final supplication to the Theatre Masks in the make-up room. (Here they pay homage to the reverent gods of drama in hope that they will make it through the first act without tripping, slipping, faltering, flipping or having a sudden attack of amnesia.)

6:30 — The director appears to check on the million and one things that have to be checked before the production begins. (It is at this point that he can be observed gobbling tranquilizers and ulcer pills in hopes that St. Nick will soon appear and he can be sure it's just a dream.)

6:45 — Lights are tested. Sound is tested. Props are checked. The technical director casually leans on the scenery in order to confirm his opinion that it won't collapse when the curtain goes up. Conclusion — all systems go.

7:00—Cast is made-up. Now they have an hour to sit and make conclusions on the state of their respective stomachs. A flock of birds? A V-8 engine? An atlas missile?

No, people are just jumping around in there on pogo sticks.

7-6-5

7:15 — The calm before the storm. All's quiet on the Carver front. The audience is beginning to arrive. "Hey, how many are out there?" "Shh." the sounds of backstage begin to take on the hushed, excited quality of the men in New North hiding in their rooms during a fire drill.

4-3-2

7:30 — Final check. Everything is in preparation and the show is ready to go on. The cast is milling about silently wishing they were in Siberia. "Break a leg," "Do a job," "Give 'em hell," are all beginning to emanate from the crew members.

7:45 — House filling up. "Hey, there are people out there!" Cast checking makeup and making sure they haven't forgotten something ridiculous like their socks — anything, just occupy yourself.

8:00 — Final psych-up time — Back-slapping and hand shaking predominate here. Director disappears. You're on your own, baby. This is it. Smiles begin to appear on the cast's faces. This is when the weeks of rehearsal, and sweat, and worries and work pay off. Soon, the intoxicating sound of applause will pound their ears and everyone knows it's been well worth it all.

Blast-Off

8:15 — The moment of truth. We hope you'll be there.

OUR SIDE OF THE COIN

by Richie Benyo and "Stevie" Fecher

Students Should Take Personal Inventories

Assembly Antics — Stevie

Discourteous — that's a good adjective to use in describing the manners displayed by BSC students in assemblies and lectures. The question is—Why? Why do supposedly mature and intelligent college students talk out loud, laugh, and hiss while a speaker is talking on stage? The answer given would no doubt be because the students aren't interested in what the speaker has to say. They either don't like the speaker, or the subject, or the way in which the subject is being presented. But is this really an acceptable excuse for discourtesy? No, it certainly is not. Even if students don't want to listen to the speaker, they should still have enough respect to be quiet. Writing letters, reading books, and sleeping are also disrespectful, but at least these activities don't disturb the speaker.

There is always a constant complaint in the air about poor assembly programs. But — whose fault is this? We have an Assembly Committee that arranges the programs, and this committee is open for suggestions from the student body. Therefore, if the students who complain about assembly programs would suggest programs that they would like to see, there would be nothing to complain about anymore.

Weekend Wayfarers — Richie

It is probably quite apparent to everyone who is a student at BSC that the topic of students evacuating the college for the weekends is old hat; having been discussed in print as well as in conversation from some time now. But, with all of the discussion and comment made on it, there still seems to be no solution in the foreseeable future.

Having analyzed it somewhat, tho, it isn't hard to see where the entire fault lies. It isn't with the college at all, as some students rationalize. It is plainly the fault of the student himself.

Why is it that the college seems to go into a coma over the weekend? Simple: there are no students to keep it alive. If all of the students, for one weekend, would stay on campus, as they did over Homecoming weekend, it would not be hard to see where the solution to drab weekends lies. It could be much like the first or second weekend back from summer vacation, when the Friday and Saturday night dances in the gym were so packed that one could not move without stepping on toes. But, the decision lies on the shoulders of the students. They can go home every weekend, and let BSC be known as the Elephant's graveyard, or they can stay, invite friends, have their girl up for the weekend, and make the old place swing. BSC might be 128 years old, but it isn't too old to swing if it has something to swing about. If this is done for one semester, the news will get out, and the college will have to beat off the students from other colleges coming to Bloom to have the weekend that previously could only be had elsewhere.

Are you going home this weekend?

Haunted Horrors Harrow Halloween Or: Psyched Spooked Spirits Swing

By Luton Houtz

Shades of All Hallows Eve! Those skeletons are rattlin' their bones again. In another two days the graveyards will come alive and the unrestrained ghouls will claim their one night on the town — or is it one town in the night. As we poor ordinary, susceptible mortals quake behind locked doors, the gay blades of yesteryear will flock in ghoulish groups to the Ghosts-A-Go-Go for a wild "Dance Macabre," with the maids of medieval mysticism.

Curdling Court

Count Dracula will once again hold court with Morgan Le Fay and receive their old buddies Dr. Frankenstein and his protege along with a retinue of followers: the Mummy, the Wolfman, the Werewolf, the Thing, and the Blob. Messy Melee

The entertainment will be provided by the Phantom of the Opera who will give renditions of "Some Enchanted Haunting," "In the Shriell of the Night," "78 Thighbones," "Drink from Me Only with Thy Fangs," and "Ghoul Night, Ladies." A special attraction will be a swimming exhibition by the "Creature from the Black Lagoon." Refreshments will follow: Monster Mash, Bloody Marys, Coffin Canapes and Horrible hor d'oeuvres. The main course will be a "do-it-yourself" crunch. The final activity will be a hunt led by the Werewolf. The victim will — no NO — get awa — argh!!!!

BSC Huskies Beat MSC, 32-27; Uphill Battle for Bloomsburg

The Huskies were behind with a minute and a half left when halfback Otis Johnson grabbed a pass from Dick Lichtel and scored the touchdown that gave the team its second victory of the season. It was an exciting climax to a game which saw the Huskies make a great comeback, after being down by 20 points, to beat Millersville by a score of 32 to 27. The final drive began late in the last period when Joe Gerst carried the ball across the mid-line on a 28-yard punt return. At the 18, Lichtel hit Johnson in the middle of the Marauder secondary, but Johnson broke away and crossed the goal to put the Huskies ahead for the first time that afternoon.

Slow Starting Huskies

The Huskies played a hard-fought game, but got off to a bad start when Millersville, with its fast backfield, scored two touchdowns in the first period and added another in the second. The last two both came on long runs. In the first few minutes of the game the Huskies lost a fumble inside their own territory. After six plays the Marauders scored on a pass to halfback Ron Porter. Later in the period Porter again scored on a run from his own 20-yard line.

Millersville Lead 20 to 0

In the second quarter a touchdown on a 65-yard punt return gave the Marauders a 20 to 0 lead. But though the outcome seemed assured, the Huskies hadn't lost their fighting spirit. A drive of 62 yards put the team just inside the 10-yard line where quarterback Lichtel ran around right end on a pass-run option for the first touchdown. Just before the half, sophomore defensive back John Watto intercepted a pass on his own 48 and returned the ball to the Millersville 34. Several plays later hard-running Joe Gerst took a pitchout and went around left end to make the score a more respectable 20 to 12. Clip Martin rushed over to add the extra point.

Gerst, Kurcharski Score

In the third, with the loss of Ron Porter on injuries, Millersville failed to score. Joe Gerst ran the kickoff out of the end zone and two plays took the ball to the 15. End Stan Kurcharski then took a five-yard pass from Lichtel and went all the way for an 85-yard touchdown run, the longest of the game.

In the last quarter, with the Huskies behind by one point, Millersville again forged ahead. Advancing downfield on their only drive of the game, the Marauders scored on a pass near the Husky goal line to open up an eight point spread. With less than ten minutes left in the game, the Huskies needed two touchdowns to put them in the lead. The first came on a 66-yard drive from kickoff with Lichtel running the last four yards. The second came three minutes later on the pass to Johnson.

Husky Ball Control

It was an unusual victory for the Huskies, who usually do their best in the first half. But they outplayed their opponents throughout the entire game. Controlling the ball nearly two-thirds of the time, they made twice as many first downs. With good support from his offensive line, quarterback Lichtel led an effective air attack, completing 12 passes for 214 yards, with the pass defense holding the Marauders to 94.

By Irwin Zablocky

I've always believed "It's not the size of the man in the fight — it's the size of the fight in the man." I guess we showed Millersville how much fight we had when we came from behind and defeated them by a 32-27 count.

The Lancaster newspaper even carried an article concerning our team a day before the game. It seems Millersville was not at all impressed by our team. They quoted in that paper that we were big and strong but that Millersville should be able to beat us because we weren't very good. Perhaps Millersville should either use a different psychology or a more reliable source.

Let's remember, Huskies, every game counts. If we beat Kutztown and Cheyney we will have a .500 season — something we haven't had in a long time!

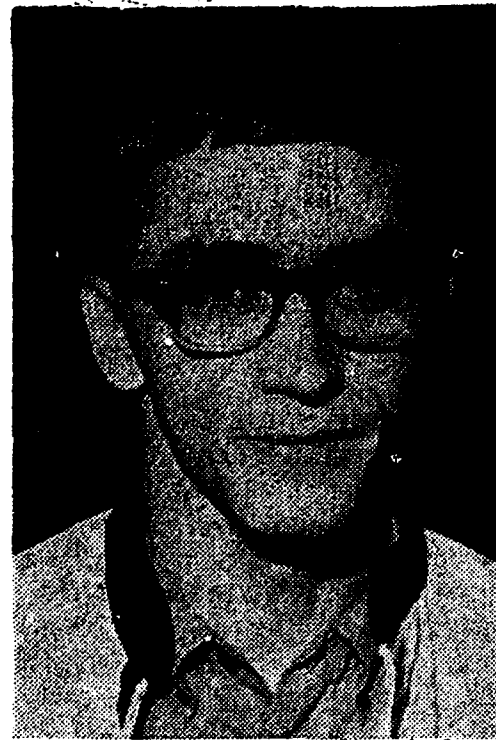

Maybe the topic of Cross-Country looks a little bleak — but we're still psyched. Every meet we seem to be getting closer to a victory. Who knows — we could win the states' (a little humor there . . .).

The team really hasn't done very well but there are some bright spots. Gary Horn has been improving at an amazing rate. If he keeps this up he'll do real well in the states'.

Another bright spot is the fact that the team is composed of mostly underclassmen. In fact, one of our top finishers is a Freshman by the name of Tom Gingher.

Others in this category include Bill Gering, Jim Nyce, Rich Benyo, and another promising Freshman, Vic Keeler. If these guys work harder next year we'll bring some

BSC Loses Close Decision to MSC

Husky Running Ace Irwin Zablocky

Despite another record breaking performance by Irwin Zablocky, the Husky Harriers fell victims to a strong Millersville State College team, finding themselves on the wrong end of a 26-29 score.

Zablocky Breaks Record

Zablocky broke his old record of 25:51.9 turning in an outstanding time of 25:32.7 to take first place for the Huskies as Horn gave BSC a third place, Gering came in seventh, Fazzari eighth, and Benyo tenth for the Huskies.

This has been the best effort by the Huskies to date and with increased practice sessions they are noted to be much improved by Coach Brady who sends them into competition against Susquehanna University and Cheyney State this week in a home meet.

glory back to the hill-and-dale sport at BSC.

Winding up their career Nov. 6th will be three seniors: Gary Horn, our reliable second man; Joe Fazzari, who's psyching for the states; and Dean Hollern who's waiting for the day he can burn up the course.

Highlights..

by RAY BUCKNO

Well the door to the "victory path" has been opened for the second time this season by our Husky eleven, and it is my feeling that this time it will remain open for the remainder of the season. Our boys proved that they have what it takes to win — determination and guts — for after being down 20-0 against Millersville the fellows charged right back to win.

The win was not only by the outcome on the the scoreboard but it was also a moral win. It must be stated that the feat of coming from 20 points down and going on to win is a feat which gives most people involved the feeling that they have what it takes to be a winning team. This third ingredient is that of confidence. With confidence behind our team and the coaches and I hope the student body, our boys will give us a winning season.

Last Saturday's victory goes down to team effort and it was a great team effort. Each man carried out his part of the job when it was needed and by doing so, each individual made the team look great.

It would be hard to say that any one man was the outstanding player for as mentioned the TEAM won this one and it is hoped that the TEAM will win the remaining games.

It is hoped that with hard fought determination, guts and confidence our HUSKIES will remain a winning football team for a long time.

Does mother need you that badly? Let's stay at BSC this weekend.

INTRAMURALS

The 1965 Archery Tournament has been completed. Vic Kelley won the championship with a score of 383. Dutch Gundel placed second with 360, while Earl Davis with 295 edged Paul Klemm's 291 for third place. Nineteen men competed as compared to nine a year ago. Co-operation of team captains and participants was excellent and the competition was keen. The tournament consisted of shooting 12 arrows at 20, 30, 40, 50, and 60 yards. Each had a possible score of 108 points. Most of the archers experienced the greatest difficulty at 50 and 60 yards. Thanks are extended to all for their excellent co-operation and congratulations are offered to the new Champ.

The Horseshoe Tournament is proceeding smoothly and the results will be announced next week.

The Intramural Council held its first meeting on Wednesday, October 20, 1965. Several new programs were suggested and are now under study. Results of the study will be announced at a later date.

The next event will be the Cross-Country meet. The date and information concerning this event will be posted on the Intramural Bulletin Boards.

Team Captains are reminded to check the schedule daily, it is your responsibility to see that your men or teams appear as scheduled. Excessive forfeits by any individual or team will result in that team losing its participation points, and the individual losing his credit for Extra-curricular activities.

Excessive forfeits can truly destroy a tournament and every effort will be made by the Intramural Department to prevent them.

Four BSC Men Are Cheerleaders

The four male cheerleaders selected at try-outs on Monday, October 11th were, Ray Buckno, Nelson Ramont, John Ritter, John Szczepanski.

Ray Buckno is a junior from Fullerton, Pa., and is co-chairman of the Pep Committee.

Nelson "Dotsie" Ramont is a sophomore from Scranton, Pa. He served as president of his freshman class.

The two freshmen on the cheerleading squad are John Szczepanski from Philadelphia, Pa., and John Ritter from Muncy, Pa.

WOMEN'S EXTRAMURALS

For the past four or five years, BSC has offered women's extramurals in field hockey and basketball. Due to inadequate facilities, field hockey was dropped from the program, but basketball continues under the same problem, lack of time for practice in the large gym.

Extramurals is defined by the Division of Girls and Women's Sports as competition "outside" the school. The purpose of the BSC program of extramurals is to give those women who are more highly skilled in a sport, an opportunity to compete against women of equal skill. In intramurals, the skilled individual does not often have this opportunity to compete with another skilled individual.

BSC is negotiating games with Wilkes College, Muhlenberg, Misericordia, Penn State, Lock Haven and Susquehanna University.

All women who are interested in participating in this program of extramural basketball should sign up immediately in Office #9 in Centennial Gymnasium. Miss Joanne McComb has consented to coach the women's extramural basketball team.

The M&G wants to print more news about the activities of the various organizations around the campus. News should be sent to the MAROON & GOLD, Box 58. Deadline for news and announcements is every Monday, at 4 p.m.

Literary Program Offered by Hollins

Hollins College of Virginia is offering a Master of Arts program designed for the student with a strong interest and aptitude in the writing of fiction, poetry, or drama.

From two to four graduate students will be accepted into the program each year. Working in close association with members of the faculty, they will undertake studies chosen to fit individual needs and interests. Workshops in poetry, fiction, criticism, and drama are offered. For the M.A. thesis, the student may present a work of original poetry, fiction, drama, or a critical essay.

Courses Offered

Courses to be offered during the 1966-1967 term include: Advanced Creative Writing, Literary Criticism, Studies In The Modern Novel, Modern British and American Novel, The Russian And Soviet Novel, Playwriting, Modern Irish Literature, Joyce And Yeats, Modern Drama, and Special Topics.

For Information

Several Fellowships and assistantships are available to qualified students. Men or women are accepted. For information and application blanks, write to the office of the Graduate Council, Hollins College, Virginia.
