Bloomsburg State College, Bloomsburg, Pa. — Friday, November 19, 1965

(L. to R.) Doug Hippenstiel, Dr. Carlough, Mr. Enninful, Judy Gers.

Journalist Discusses "Congo Dilemma"; Considers Africa's Past and Future

George Enninful, the first accredited African correspondent to the UN, discussed the "Congo Dilemma" before an assembly of students and faculty last week. He traced the history of the Congo, and vicinity, from the time of Livingstone and Stanley to the present. Included in the address was an appraisal of the role played by the UN in the Congo difficulties.

Key points of Mr. Enninful's address and the informal discussion which followed covered a wide range of topics.

Experimental Phase

Various forms of political organizations, he indicated, are being experimented with by the African nations. A synthesis of the best qualities of each would hopefully emerge.

"If the vast resources of Africa could be tapped," he said, "a stable government would emerge... Democracy would work, but would not assume all the trappings of American democracy."

Above all, he stated, the African people do not want to exchange one master for another, whether he be from the East or from the West. The United States has, however, earned the respect of the African people for its efforts in Africa, he reported.

"In twenty-five years," he summarized, "Africa could outstrip South America" [with respect to economics.] He urged patience, time, and goodwill as the key essentials to accomplishing this goal, and a solution to the explosive African situation.

Music of Rodgers Presented Tonight

Joanne Wheatley and Hal Kanner

The music of Richard Rodgers which will be presented tonight at 8:30 in Carver Auditorium will include pieces from "South Pacific," "Carousel," "The King and I" and "Oklahoma."

The outstanding soloists Elaine Malbin, William Metcalf, Joanne Wheatley and Hal Kanner will star in the presentation staged by Jack Landau. A thirty piece orchestra directed by Richard Hayman will accompany them.

"It's a Grand Night for Singing" from the movie "State Fair" is one of Rodgers' hits, as are "Falling in Love with Love" and "Mountain Greenery." Two musical scores "Slaughter on 10th Avenue" and "Victory at Sea" will also be featured.

Bloomsburg State College has purchased 500 memberships in the Bloomsburg Civic Music Association, and thus 500 free tickets are available to the faculty and students for each concert. Tickets may be picked up in the Dean of Students office today.

At the door the student should present his ticket and ID card while the faculty members should present their tickets and activity

BSC Has Pro-American Policy Rally; Percey & Porter Speak on Viet Nam

by Bill Howells

Over 500 BSC students, faculty members, and townspeople joined together in attending a pro-American policy in Viet Nam demonstration held in Centennial Gym last Thursday night. The purpose of the parade and rally was to demonstrate the willingness of BSC students to support U.S. policy in Vietnam and to show others that most college students are mature enough to make and accept decisions.

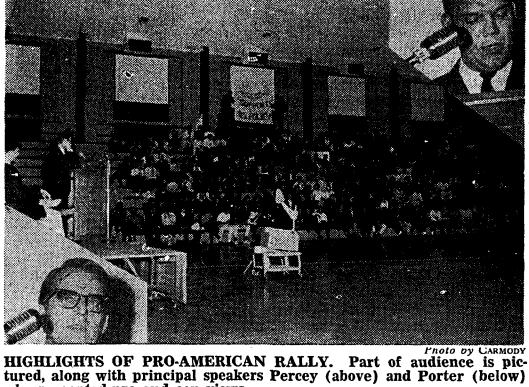

The parade and rally was organized by a student committee headed by Larry Ward and Steven Rothwell, both freshmen. Plans were presented to College Council and to town officials, and were approved by both groups. Tom Lemon, junior class president, was named coordinating chairman by Council.

Mayor Conner Speaks

After marching from Carver Hall, the audience assembled in the Gym. Ward made some opening remarks and then introduced the first principal speaker of the evening. the Honorable Joseph C. Conner, Mayor of Bloomsburg. Conner congratulated the group for its display of patriotism on Veteran's Day. He warned the audience of the communist goal of world domination and then asserted that no one is a born soldier, but if duty should call he was sure everyone would willingly and ungrudgingly do their part.

Ground Rules

Paul Riegel, Dean of Students then laid ground rules for the pro and con discussion of the issues. He quoted the writings of Thomas Paine in asserting that in times like these each individual must tured, along with principal speakers Percey (above) and Porter (below) who presented pro and con views.

feelings about this crisis. He stated that the views presented were not necessarily those of the speakers or of the college, but offered an opportunity for free exchange of thought on the issues. He then presented Professor James Percey, of the BSC political science department, who spoke in support of U.S. policy in Vietnam.

Percey -- Pro

Mr. Percey was concerned mainly with two questions. First, have we any business in Vietnam, and by being there are we violating any treaties or the rights of the people to self determination? He cited the past three Presidents of the United States, all of whom have said that we do belong. He stated that we are committed to the people of South Vietnam to stop communist domination of that nation. He went on to state that we have not broken any treaty. He asserted that neither the United States nor South Vietnam signed the Geneva Agreements of 1954, and furthermore that almost all parties to these agreements were violating them "almost as soon as the ink was dry." He cited specific examples of failure of the North · Vietnamese to live up to the treaties including the violation of border agreements, violation of the provision for elections, and violation to the clause prohibiting military alliances with foreign nations which led to South Vietnam asking for United States help. He answered

Temple U's Choir Plans A Concert

One of the most famous choral organizations in the United States, the Temple University Concert Choir, will perform in Carver Auditorium, Thursday night, December 2, at 8:30 p.m. Students, faculty, and townspeople are cordially invited to attend.

The choir, under the direction of Robert Page, has made several recordings with the Philadelphia Orchestra. Friday, following their concert here, the group will travel to Harrisburg to perform at the Pennsylvania Music Educator's Association annual convention.

Housing Needed

Arrangements for the program are being made by the members of the BSC Concert Choir. They are asking the help of faculty and commuting students to find housing accommodations for the Temple students on the night of the concert. If you could provide sleeping quarters for some choir members, please notify BSC Box 83, specifying the number of men or women that you can accommodate.

COLLEGE COMMONS

The Dean of Students has announced that he has received authorization to increase the number of students accommodated in the College Commons by approximately 63 for the balance of the fall semester. Those desiring to take advantage of these extended privileges may sign up at the Business Office on a firstcome, first-served basis.

The second semester of student teaching assignments for secondary education majors have been posted in Navy Hall, Office 1-B. Secondary majors expecting to complete their student teaching next semester should check the assignment sheets. Any questions concerning assignments should be directed to Mr. A. J. McDonnell, Coordinator, Secondary Student Teaching, Navy, 1-B.

Annual Toy Dance Planned by MRA

The Men's Residence Association is in the process of planning its annual "Toy Dance." This year's dance is scheduled for Thursday, December 16.

· A large number of children in Central Pennsylvania hospitals had a merrier Christmas as a result of last year's dance. The MRA distributed over 500 toys at that time.

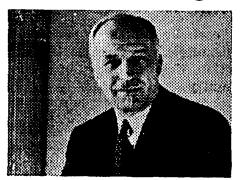

As the name implies, a toy is the price of admission to the dance. The MRA is hoping for another successful dance this year.

Peruvian Teacher Lectures Club

A Peruvian exchange teacher Mrs. Delnis, was the guest speaker at a recent meeting of the Spanish

Mrs. Delnis' speech concerned her country's government, economy, educational systems, and arts and crafts. She tried to dispel the misconception of most Americans that Peru is not modern.

Future Americans Will See Changes

Dr. Gerald Wendt

Dr. Gerald Wendt, scientist, educator, and author will be the guest speaker in assembly, Tuesday, November 30. His topic will be "Education for the Twenty-first Century."

In his speech, Dr. Wendt will consider the fact that the adults of the twenty-first century will have to live with the problems of population pressures and food supply, both of which will require a scientific approach. Automatic factories will produce more goods and wealth than can be consumed. Consequently, there will be less labor and more leisure time resulting in recreation and creative activities.

Americans of the twenty-first century, who are with us now, must have some understanding of science. They must also learn to live with rapid change, affluence, and leisure.

Harmonettes Next Feature

The Harmonettes, under the direction of Miss Cronin, will be featured at the first Thursday assembly after Thanksgiving.

Topic: Draft Card Burners

Seen in the headlines of most newspapers during the past year have been stories about a unique American phenonomen—draft card burners. These people take strong objection to our government's policy in Viet Nam, so they burn their selective service cards as a symbol of their objection. The MAROON AND GOLD would like to make some comments about this brand of individualists.

Law-breakers?

What are these people doing when they destroy their cards? Well, first of all, they are breaking a Federal law which places a fine of $10,000 and/or five years imprisonment upon anyone who alters or in any way changes his card. Fire is certainly a way to alter or change a card. But if a person has objections that are strong enough, this fact will not deter him.

What else are they doing?

What else are they doing?... They are destroying the image of the American college student. Here we have a decided minority of those in college, who, because of their actions, are posing as examples of college students throughout our land. They are destroying American unity by giving the enemy encouragement. Because of the large amount of space they get in newspapers, they may lead the enemy to believe that they will be effective in forcing our government to change its policies. They are destroying the democratic process. By acting like spoiled children and reacting violently to some decision they do not like, they are undermining democracy by not working through its confines and due processes. Everyone has a right to object to what our government does. But this right MUST be exercised through the proper channels if the democratic system is to survive. Otherwise we have an anarchy. Communist Influence

Also, we cannot discount the influence of communism on demonstrators of this type. Now, before we are labeled as being John Birchers, we would like to make it clear that we are NOT accusing all who disagree with our government of being communists. But, it must be admitted that, however unwilling or unknowing, violent demonstrators against our government are serving as tools of communism, because of the effects listed above.

Finally, by burning their draft cards they are saying to their fellow Americans overseas, "Get out of that country. The people don't need you or want you. We don't need you or want you. You are nothing but murderers. Get out. Come home."

There are over 1,000 Americans buried as a result of Viet Nam. These men fought and died because they thought they were serving their country and protecting it and its citizens, including those same demonstrators. Their answer to the draft card burners would be, "WE CAN'T GET OUT, WE CAN'T COME HOME."

Topic: Demonstration

At this time we would like to offer some thoughts on last week's demonstration. We feel that it was a very worthwhile project, wellplanned and well-conducted. Mr. Ward and Mr. Rothwell are to be commended for the planning of the program; Mr. Lemon and Dean Riegel for the coordination of the program; and Mayor Connor, Mr. Percey, and Mr. Porter for their speeches. In addition, the BSC college community is to be commended for its interest in the program and its participation and conduct during the program.

Free Exchange of Thought

The demonstration was unique for the opportunity it presented for the free exchange of thought and ideas, a characteristic we hope will always be a part of this institution. The speakers presented their thoughts courageously and without fear of repercussions. A maximum amount of rapport was present between speakers and audience. This was a very good thing.

Just a Beginning

The demonstration is over. But it was just a beginning. It is now up to each individual to make up his own mind as to how he feels about this, one of the most controversial issues which has ever faced our great nation. Keep informed of the issues and aspects of the war. This is your

Topic: Civic Music Association

The Bloomsburg Civic Music Association opens its yearly series of concerts tonight in Carver Hall. Tonight's concert should be of great interest to BSC students, since it will feature a number of popular Broadway hits. CGA annually buys 500 memberships in the Association for an amount of $1500. We would urge all BSC students and faculty to attend this and all future concerts.

Over 1,000 Can't Come Home ---

In Retrospect.... November 22, 1963 Kennedy's Legacy by Bill Winch

November 22, 1965, will mark the second anniversary of the assassination of John F. Kennedy. It was, undoubtedly, an incident which shook the heart of everyone. It was a time in which everyone was praising him and commenting on how good a job he had done as President and how much good he could have done if he had not met such an unfortunate end. "As I recall those moments of the past that I shall never again see, I cannot help but visualize and feel those vivid and shocking moments, that I along with the nation, experienced on November 22, 1963—the assassination of our late and great leader, President John F. Kennedy.

When I first heard the President had been shot and was in critical condition, I was indeed shocked. This shock immediately brought my mind and body to a lifeless halt and I felt myself calling upon God to watch over our president and save him if this be His will. Time moved on, each second seemingly growing longer and longer, until suddenly God had made His choice—our President was dead.

That moment appeared to all, as it first did to me, as a great tragedy and a tremendous loss to our nation. But, after a deep analogy of the situation, I could not help but view this picture in an entirely different light.

I thought, if this experience had happened to me it undoubtedly had happened to millions of people all over the world. Perhaps they too had turned to God in their moment of utter despair. Could this be the time when man would wake up and realize that God is all-powerful, that He alone can turn the tides of life?

Time moved on and the nation stood still—shocked and in a state of bewilderment. Thousands of masses were said and services were held in every denomination and tongue in memory of our late President. Man for the first time in our modern day and age was uniting with his brother and calling upon God for help for the good of mankind. He was asking God for hope - hope that this nation might realize that the hate, prejudice, and corruption going on in this world of today should be replaced by love, understanding and faith.

The wife of our departed President made the first step in the aid of this cause when at the grave of her husband she lit a candle that will burn to eternity. A candle symbolizing the ever burning hope for the love and unity of a nation that he so nobly fought and died

Will we the people of this nation snuff that candle out by continuing with hate, prejudices, and corruption, or will we let it burn as we take over where John F. Kennedy left off — striving to bring about the unity of mankind?"

An Opinion by Ted Aff

A demonstration of patriotism or nationalism was held recently in Centennial Gym. Some would exclaim what a great thing it was to see Bloomsburg State College standing up to be counted among the patriots while there is so much dissension about the U.S. foreign policy in other colleges and universities. Somehow, though, questions arose about the "greatness" of that event after observing the entire thing from start to finish.

Contradiction?

It was curious to note that when those democratic patriots planned that event they only planned it for those who wished to "back" our government policy in Viet Nam. This seems in itself to be a contradiction of the democratic principal of equal representation. The glorious march was designed for those "backing" the policy only, as it was stated in the program. However, the con side did see its singular representation objectively sented by Mr. Porter.

Another unusual note rung out to the tune of "... we want to be in that number when the Yanks go marching in." This seemed an odd thing for a group of securely enrolled college students to be singing, all the while knowing if they really ". . . wanted to be in that number," they would have enlisted before this time.

Questionable Slogans

There were a few typically humane comments on signs and filling the air, with an obnoxious horn setting the atmosphere, such as "BOMB THE CONG," and the chant "KILL THE CONG." As I understood it the U.S. was striving for peace through negotiation, not

The entire event, rather than indicating true concern and sentiment about the issue, seemed to have the flavor of a pre-football game enthusiasm. The horn sounded the same, the songs were the same, except for minor word rearrangements, and the loud boisterious attitude was the same.

Following the discussion of both pro and con there was a questionanswer period. The majority of the questions asked seemed emotionally charged, and did not seem to be an indication of real rational knowledge of the subject at hand.

It seemed ironical at one point that after chanting "KILL THE CONG" all the way up the hill, someone would ask the question of the anti-Viet Nam supporters, "Is the dollar more important to you than human lives?"

Aside from the fact that some people abruptly left during the course of the speech criticizing our Government's policy in Viet Nam, I would only state that any knowledgeable sincere concern over any national, state, or college problem is a very positive thing, regardless of the side taken. However, the opposite of this is not the kind of thing that makes BSC look its best.

A final question: Where were

Letters To the Editor

To the Editor:

The Social Improvement Organization wishes to thank all the students, faculty members, organizations and those in the community of Bloomsburg who helped to make the Books for Viet Nam drive such a huge success. At a time when our country seems unsure of its loyalties, unaware of its responsibilities, and ungrateful to those who die to defend our basic freedoms, it is thrilling to know that there are those who still believe in the American commitment to freedom and who are not afraid to show their patriotism. The soldiers who will receive these books will be the greatest beneficiaries of such an action and their appreciation will surely be inexpressible. One small action such as this book drive will mean more to those men than a thousand words of encouragement. Again I thank you' all for your generosity.

Larry Gloeckler, President Social Improvement Organization

To the Editor of the M&G:

I have discovered since last Thursday's Viet Nam debate that a number of misunderstandings have arisen concerning my position. The equivocation in my speech was largely to blame.

I have been quoted in THE MORNING PRESS as saying that I thought draft card burners were courageous. What I, in fact, said was that draft card burners are better Americans than those who parade in support of the Viet Nam war. Since I feel that the war is using lives and capital which could be much better employed in other areas in the fight against Communism, then I must feel that anyone who acts against the war, no matter what his motives, is helping America and those who support the war are hurting it.

The war is a rat hole, a waste for reasons I brought out in the speech. The sooner it is over with, whether through opposition at home, bad morale in Viet Nam, or a Viet Cong victory, the better. As you can see, I am against Christmas cards or presents to the "boys" and my message to them would be keep under cover and avoid getting killed, if possible, because we need your life and your productivity in much more worthwhile wars.

I hope this letter will engender a few of our readers to engage in some hard thinking, hopefully to arrive at my conclusions, but, if not, at least they will have done some thinking, which is not an entirely inappropriate activity for college students.

from the SIDELINES

By Irwin Zablocky

Last Friday's game climaxed the end of one of the best seasons we've had in a number of years. We had a 3-3 league record and a 4-4 over-all log. We defeated Millersville, Kutztown, Cheyney, and Brockport.

The Huskies should be congratulated for bringing us back to a .500 season. I would also like to make a last mention of the seniors who have worked hard for three or four years on Mt. Olympus. These nine lettermen are: Jerry Doto, Wayne Eddowes, Bob Letcavage, Jack Mulka, Ed Osborne, Clip Martin, Mike Bonacci, Jerry Robinson, and John Zarski.

It's time to start thinking about the winter sports. Bloomsburg can be proud of its wrestling, basketball, and swimming teams.

Our wrestlers are by far the most prominent, having won the NAIA championship last year. We had a national champion, Jim Rolley, and three state champions; Jim Rolley, Tom Vargo, and Bill Robb.

Our basketball team was up and down all season, but should be much stronger this year. Our freshmen were the brightest part of the season scoring over 100 points in most of their games.

The freshmen swimming team was also reason for encouragement.

ATTENTION STUDENTS!

The deadline for ordering your 1966 Obiter has been extended to December 1. You may pick up order blanks in The Obiter office outside Husky Lounge.

by Ray Buckno

Well, now you begin to ask yourself, what is in store for us during the winter season? Anything you can think of, from wins to losses, from basketball to chess, and in between we have swimming and wrestling.

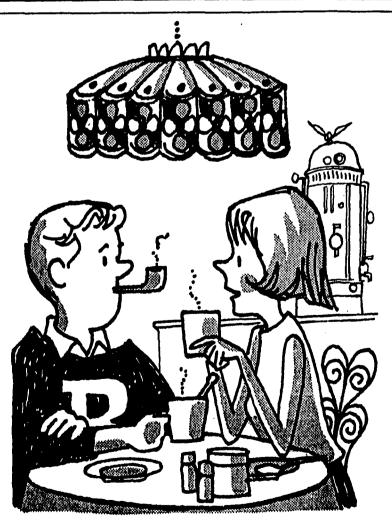

But before we get into the winter sports, let's review our fall program won-loss record. The crosscountry team didn't fair out too well this year (0-6); but there is a brighter side, for we only lose three men, they are Joe Fazzari, Gary Horn, and Dean Hollern. Everyone else will be back next year and things are looking good for our harriers, according to Irv Zablocky.

Now to football. Although we lost on Friday night, we had our first .500 (4-4) season in four or five years. This sport also has a bright outlook for next year. We will lose only ten seniors, but these men are the kind you would like to keep on your football team at all times. They know how to win and lose while at the same time being a good sport, and taking the breaks as they come. These fellows are: John Mulka, Jerry Doto, Ed Osborne, Clip Martin, Wayne Eddowes, Jerry Robinson, Mike Bonacci, Tom Vargo, Otis Johnson, and Bob Letcavage.

Thanks for your devotedness during the last four years, boys, and good luck in the future as coaches.

Well, back to the winter sports schedule. For those who are interested in the action, the first sport event is a home basketball game with Indiana State on December 1, then Temple University comes to Bloom for a home swimming meet on December 4, and last but not least, our wrestlers open at home with a quadrangular meet on the eleventh of December, taking on

BSC Chess Team Ties Lehigh "A's"

The BSC Chess Team tied with the Lehigh A Team in a home match. It was an official Eastern Pennsylvania College Chess League match.

On first board Joe Kressler (Sr., Bloomsburg) playing black, mated Robert Stetson in time pressure in a rook and pawn ending. Reggie Berlin (Jr., Mechanicsburg) on second board for BSC drew with his opponent Richard Jokiel, playing black, after the game went into adjudication. Adjudication occurs after 50 moves are made in two hours. It consists of the best two available players from each team analyzing the game. Ray Depew (Soph., Levittown) resigned on the 35th move to Terry Thomasco. Depew had lost a knight earlier in the game too, and could not stop his opponent's determined drive. Leonard Thomas (Jr., Berwick), playing white on BSC's fourth board, was edged out by being two pawns behind. He then resigned on his 51st move. Robert Latsha (Sr. Northumberland) pulled out a victory for Bloomsburg on his 29th move, playing black on fifth board.

Lehigh A Team is considered by many to be the strongest team in the league this year. Last year, with our championship team, the Husky Rooks beat Lehigh. To many people a tie doesn't look good; but against a tough opopnent who was favored over us, it is something to be proud of.

The Husky Rooks will play St. Vincent's College at Latrobe tomorrow.

Indiana State University from Terre Haute, Indiana; Southern Illinois University, and Lycoming College.

Well, those are the dates and the opponents with whom our HUSKIES make their debut. We hope that everyone will be out at these events to back the HUSKIES as often as possible; and if the last home football game was any indication,

East Stroud Warriors Defeat BSC Huskies, 34-0, In Final

ESSC's Mileielld catching the Warriors only completion in the first half. Defending is BSC's Bob Tucker. ESSC won 34-0.

East Stroudsburg State College remained the only undefeated team in the state, as they made Bloomsburg their ninth victim by a score of 34-0. This was the final regular season game for both teams. The Warriors had already clinched the Eastern Division title of the State College Conference prior to invading Bloomsburg.

A BSC Fumble on Ten Yard Line Stops Drive

BSC took the opening kick-off, and marched from their own twentyfour to Stroud's ten, only to see the drive stopped on a fumble within the ten. Stroudsburg then took the ball and went eighty-odd yards in nine plays for their first score. The drive was highlighted by Steve Kun's fourteen yard run to pay dirt. The PAT failed. A few minutes later, a bad pass from center resulted in another touchdown, as the Warriors' Bob Dourand recovered the ball in the end zone for a T.D. The extra point was good by Scagliotti. Thus, the first period ended with Bloom on the short end of the 13-0 score.

Half-time Score — ESSC 13, BSC 0

The second quarter was scoreless, as both teams played tight defense. Quarterback Dick Lichtel had little protection, as the rampaging Warriors broke through the line to throw him for several losses. The half ended 13-0 in favor of East Stroudsburg.

The second half saw Stroudsburg cross the goal line for three scores. In the third period Kun again scored and Scagliotti added a point. In the final period, Bloom was forced into a punting situation, and Bill Hunter got off a fine punt only to see it returned on a nice display of broken field running by the Warriors' Reimer. The final score came on a pass from "mighty mouse" Ray to Reimer. Scagliotti added both PATs. Huskies End Season With 4-4 Record

Thus, Bloom ended the season with a respectable 4-4 record. With a few breaks here and there, the record may have been different; but, as they say, "that's the way the ball bounces." Many seniors saw action for the last time, and their efforts are to be commended, as is the rest of the team. Many times this team was outmanned, but they never gave up. They ended on a losing note, but they can always look back on this season and have nothing to be ashamed of. Coach Hoch, his staff, and players are to be commended for a fine effort this season.

INTRAMURALS

The current intramural sport which the girls are participating is basketball. It's not unusual to a coed in this sport to make a hook shot from the center floor and hit the basket. (She may not always make a basket but she tries!) It proves to be an interesting sport not only to the girls but to the spectators as well.

The tenniquoit season has ended in the women's intramurals and the Do Nothings took first place. Coming in second were the Any-

In women's archery, the girls participated in the Junior Columbia round which is 24 arrows at 20-30-40 yards range. First place was taken by Diana Gray with 453 points. Second place was held by Sallie • Yerger with a total of 411 points.

In extramural basketball. Miss McComb is busily getting her girls ready to take on their opponents. Exercises, running laps, shooting foul shots and plotting strategy will definitely help the Huskiettes to have another winning season.

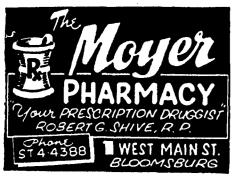

SCA In New York; Attend Conf'rence

Four members of SCA had a first-hand opportunity to observe how an artist's environment effects his work when they recently attended a regional YMCA conference in New York City.

The group met Bill Nedinni, a beginning actor; Bob Rogers, a composer presently conducting the orchestra for "Stop the World, I Want to Get Off"; and Ralph Cook, lay minister of the Bowerie; and others.

The group had a chance to talk to people with much different prospectives than most students here at BSC. "Our experience distinctly demonstrated how the city environment effects the expression of the artists," reported the students.

Student Teachers Visit The Capital

BSC student teachers visited several associates on a recent practicum trip. The 105 future teachers spent a day visiting the Pennsylvania State Educational Association Center, in Harrisburg, and then went to Washington, D.C., where they visited the National Educational Association, the Goddard Space Center, and such governmental agencies as the National Science Foundation.

The student teachers making the trip were accompanied by Dr. Edwards, four supervisors of student teachers. Miss Mettler, and Miss

Schedules Approved

As there are over 1100 students in Secondary Education, Dr. Edwards suggests that these students see their advisers and have their schedules approved by him at the earliest possible date.

Chairmen Elected By Newman Club

At a secent meeting of the Newman Club, President Frank Arlotto stated that the club needs full membership this year, which would include nearly 900 Catholics. A Newman Center has been established at BSC and plans are immediately underway for a small library.

The following were elected as chairmen and secretary of their respective committees: Ways and Means, chairman Tom Kord and secretary Ron Steinberg; Program, Lyle Slack and Jeanine Brunner; Refreshment, Mare Danick and Sharyn Moser; and Publicity, Judy Foley and Sue Planders.

Father Petrina closed the meeting with a lecture on "The New Breed."

Dean Gives Lectures

Last Friday Dean Hunsinger finished another week of public addresses. Kappa Delta Pi heard an informative discourse on "The Advantages of the Teaching Professions."

On Monday, he had spoken to a sports meeting for Hazleton and West Hazleton.

Dr. Craig Himes, BSC's golf coach, wishes to announce to all men who are interested in participating in golf for the upcoming year, should get in touch with him as soon as possible. This includes all varsity members of last year. Dr. Himes' post office box number is 76.

BSC Holds Rally

Mr. Percey then dealt with the question of who we are fighting in South Vietnam. He listed seven groups. These included: citizens of South Vietnam who joined the Viet Cong either because of dissatisfaction with their government, or because they were forced; former forces of the Viet Minh who remained in the south after the Geneva Treaty; contingents of the regular army of North Vietnam; the Pathet Lao in eastern Laos who aid the north; the government of Cambodia which allows use of its territory as a Viet Cong sanctuary; China who supplies military aid to a large extent; and Russia who supplies military aid to a lesser extent. He listed the Viet Cong, North Vietnamese, and China as most formidable. He stated that the government of the United States is asserting that it will live up to its commitments and that it is ready to make sacrifices in men, material, time and money to keep the promises it has made around the world.

Objectives

He restated the objectives of the U.S. in this war. He listed the ideal objective of a totally United Viet Nam under a pro-western non-communist government, but added that this seemed to be impractical. He stated that the U.S. would probably accept a totally neutralized Viet Nam in negotiations. This nation would not be aligned with any foreign power bloc, and would not be communist dominated. He indicated the minimum demand as a politically separated Viet Nam, with the South strengthened by American military and economic aid.

He listed three methods by which we can achieve the minimum demand. First was negotiation, second, increased military pressure; finally, gaining the support of the peasants.

He concluded by stating that the war is going to be long and high in cost. He asserted that only when the American people realize this can we be confident that they are in support of our efforts in Viet Nam.

Porter — Con

Professor Deake Porter, of the BSC Economics department, then presented objections to the war from a moral standpoint. He examined four possible courses of action in Viet Nam in the light of what would be gained or lost by the U.S. in pursuing each of the alternatives. The four courses listed

1. Escalating the war to include bombing of Hanoi factories and people.

2. Increasing U.S. troop strength to 500,000 to one million men necessary to knock the Viet Cong out of South Viet Nam along with bombing Hanoi.

3. Called by Porter the action we are now in, No. 3 is President Johnson's 'victory' of bringing the North Vietnamese to the conference table to agree on a Laotiantype settlement which would leave the Viet Cong in the south and give the communists a share in the government.

4. A negotiated withdrawal with guarantees of safety for the 1.5 million Catholics and northern refugees. The government set up would most likely be a communist government, something like Tito's Yugoslavia.

Rejects 1 and 3

Porter then discussed each alternative. He rejected numbers one and three, our present courses, as being hopelessly unprofitable; one, because of probable Russian response throughout the rest of the world including Latin America, Eastern Europe, Africa and other trouble spots. He felt that this response would outweigh the possible gains of a surrender by North Viet Nam, because of the assumption that that nation does not exert sufficient control over the Viet Cong. Number three was rejected because it appears incapable of achieving its goal.

Porter rejected number two as also undesirable on the grounds that, although a true victory could be achieved, the cost of $50 to $100 billion, plus expenditures in men and material, could be put to better use in strengthening more strategic areas such as Indonesia, India, Latin America, and other Asian and African nations both economically and militarily.

He chose number four as the best possible alternative, therefore, because it avoids the costs of one, two, and three and makes available resources which could be used to more advantage in the rest of the world.

Conclusion

Rejects 2

In conclusion, he cited British economist Adam Smith, who urged King George III to accept "defeat" in the American Revolution.

The program concluded with a question and answer period. Points which came under discussion included: The concept of the U.S. as a parent fostering democracy; the question of draft card burners and pyro-suicides; the value of human lives; escalation and Chinese repercussions.
