Dr. George John Gellos

George J. Gellos, a member of the BSC faculty, received his doctorate in biology at recent commencement exercises held at Pennsylvania State University. He received his B.S. from Muhlenberg State College and his M.S. from Ohio State University. The title of Dr. Gello's thesis was "The Developmental Morphology of Phalaris Arundinacea L."

Council Discusses Variety of Topics

College Council held its seventh regular meeting Monday night. The college community is reminded that anything approved is not effective until final approval is given by the president of the college.

President's Replies

Following a Treasurer's report, Council turned to the reading of the President's reply to the minutes of the sixth meeting. Special attention was given to the approval of a juke box in Husky for a two month trial period, approval of the Lettermen concert, and the question of supervision of the Lounge if hours are extended.

New Business

The first item of business was the setting up of a Chaperone Questionnaire and Policy Committee, chaired by Tom Free. A committee on Husky Lounge Hours was also set up. Serving on this committee will be Deans Riegel, Hunsinger, and Jackson, Gil Gockley and Dan Guydish, Mr. Williams and Mrs. Barkauskas.

The first item under old business was the payment of a bill for entertaining the Four Seasons at Rock's Steak House. A thank you note for flowers sent by Council from the family of Dr. Edward T. DeVoe, was read. The question of bonding students handling large amounts of money was discussed. The athletic activities entrance policy was questioned, with reference to keeping a door open for only students as was done last year. Dean Hoch announced that this policy was done away with this year but is subject to review in cases where a large attendance is anticipated for an event. The last item covered was the tuning of the piano in Waller Lobby. It was announced that this will be done in the near future.

Meetings Planned By Dean of Inst.

The attention of students is called to the fact that the first semester of the current college year will end Monday, January 17, at 5:00 p.m. Classes will not be held Tuesday, January 18, and the final examination week will begin Wednesday, January 19, at 8:00 a.m.

All Seniors who will be doing their student teaching during the second semester will meet in Carver Auditorium on the morning of January 18 for an Orientation period with college administrative officials. All students enrolled in the Division of Secondary Education will meet in Carver Auditorium at the following assigned hours Tuesday, January 18:

1:30 p.m. — Seniors 90 credits or more; Juniors — More than 60 credits but less than 90.

2:30 p.m. Sophomores — More than 30 credits but less than 60.

3:30 p.m. — Freshmen — Less than 30 credits.

Students are reminded to bring either a pencil or ball point pen. Student teachers are not required to attend this afternoon meeting.

Mr. William Decker, director of the BSC Concert Choir, has announced there will be a few openings in the Concert Choir, starting Second Semester. A few new basses are being especially sought. Openings are available because of Seniors who are graduating or will be student teaching. Anyone interested in joining should see Mr. Decker, Room 10, Science Hall as soon as possible.

Legislative Passes Appropriation Bill; Funds Earmarked For BSC Expansion

Architect's drawing of proposed men's dormitory.

A General State Authority bill providing $10.8 million for BSC growth was approved recently by Senate and House concurrence committees and awaits the signature of the Governor.

The bill provides $2,420,664 for a science classroom building and acquisition of six residences along East Second Street between Ben Franklin and Sutliff Hall; $1,672,780 and $2,077,066 for two men's dormitories; $2,075,992 for construction of a dining hall and kitchen; $1,513,147 for expansion of utilities; $63,833 for additional parking area; and $3,721 for land acquisition as part of an athletic field.

Dorm and Dining Hall

The dormitories will be constructed as one on College property opposite "Long Porch" with the street between the plots to be closed. The amount listed for the dining hall is believed to be large enough to handle the cost of razing part of Waller Hall in the vicinity of the College Commons and where the library is now located.

Student Center

The section list providing development funds for construction and land acquisition includes $578,097 for a student center as well as $53,157 for acquisition of a twenty-one acre Magee tract. This is immediately adjacent to the Country Club, and was earlier purchased by the state, with the base cost estimated at $50,000.

Planning and Design

In the section devoted to planning and design there is money provided for the planning of four buildings. For a women's dormitory with a base cost of $1,800,000, the bill provides $120,466 for planning; for a gymnasium to cost $875,000 it provides $124,352; for a classroom building with a base construction cost estimated at $1,400,000 it provides $99,734 and for a combined maintenance building and garage, at an estimated construction cost of $252,000, the bill provides $26,498 for planning.

Longines Group To Give Concert

The Longines Symphonette will perform this Friday night at 8:15 p.m. in Carver Auditorium through the Evening Entertainment series. The performance is open to the public at $1.50 for adults and 50c for students. BSC students and faculty members are admitted free. Tickets are available at the door.

Premiere

The Longines Symphonette had its premiere broadcast in 1935 over the New York radio station WCAF, now WNBC. When TV became a popular entertainment medium in American homes, the Symphonette was one of the pioneers of good music available to viewers. As a touring group, the Symphonette has appeared in nearly every city, town, and hamlet throughout the United States and Canada. It has programmed more than 1500 popular compositions, possibly more than any comparable musical organization. The really outstanding quality of the Longines Symphonette is its ability to select repertoire which is always arranged with the interests of the audience in mind.

Command Performance

Last season the Symphonette again confirmed its popularity when it was invited to give a Command Performance at the opening of the New York State Pavillion.

Fashion Careers Given To Seniors

Tobe-Coburn School for Fashion Careers in New York City recently announced that as many as four full-tuition Fashion Fellowships may be awarded to senior women graduating in 1966. Now in its twenty-ninth year, the widely known school of fashion merchandising will make its annual awards early this spring. Each fellowship covers the full tuition of $1,750 for the one year course, and all women students graduating from four-year colleges by August 31, 1966 are eligible to apply.

Fashion — Field of Variety

Fashion Fellowships are offered to encourage promising college graduates to enter a profession which offers unusual opportunities for advancement to well-trained young women. Graduates hold a wide variety of positions in merchandising, advertising, fashion coordination, magazines, newspapers, and as owners of their own shops.

The school maintains an active placement service to help graduates throughout their careers.

Close Contact Offered

The one year course is a carefully organized program of specialized training, planned to provide a broad background for entering any phase of distribution influenced by fashion. It offers close contact with the fashion industry through frequent lectures by fashion personalities and visits to manufacturers, buying offices, fashion shows, museums, and events of social importance.

Ten full weeks of paid work in New York stores and other fashion organizations provide on-the-job experience to supplement and enrich the classroom training.

Senior women may secure Fashion Fellowship registration blanks from the Dean of Women or her secretary no later than January 25, 1966.

BSC Grad. Seeks Legislative Seat

Thomas J. Miller, Jr.

Thomas J. Miller, Jr., a 1965 graduate of BSC, has declared his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Assemblyman from Columbia County. Miller, a native of Centralia, is employed as a math and physics teacher in the Central Columbia High School.

Past CGA President

Miller while attending BSC, was extremely active in student government, serving as President of CGA last year, as well as other phases of college life. If successful in the May primary, Miller will face Rep. Kent Shelhamer, Democratic incumbent, who announced his intention to seek re-election, in the general election.

Topic: Comments And Conditions

Just a few notes before this week's deadline:

BSC Is Growing

As seen by our lead story this week, BSC is entering a new stage of expansion of facilities. Appropriation of $10.8 million has been made for the work to be done. We hail this bill as a positive indication of progress in the state of Pennsylvania, and especially at BSC.

The fact that this institution is growing larger is self-evident. The question to be answered is: WILL A BIGGER BSC BE A BETTER BSC? Quantity can never insure quality. BSC can only become a better institution if administration, faculty, and students work together to match the physical growth with academic, intellectual, and social progress.

Lack of Weekend Activities

The big question on campus this week seems to be, What did you and your date do for three hours after Saturday's basketball game with Kutztown? Those who weren't too embarrassed to answer usually replied that they had sat in the Lounge and talked until they were thrown out at 12:00, then either wandered around, went to the Girl's Lounges, or...? ...until 1:00. It's occasions like this that make students ask what's being done with their $50. It seems to us that if more time were spent planning campus activities, the campus authorities would have less to worry about concerning drinking and other social problems.

Big Name Concert

Dan Guydish of Big Name Entertainment, has informed us that because of the desire of presenting a top-quality concert at low prices, and because of the lack of available dates, it was necessary to contract for a Wednesday night concert by the Lettermen instead of the usual weekend date.

Back Our Wrestlers

Tomorrow our grapplers face one of their toughest opponents of the year in East Stroudsburg. Let's get behind them! Speaking of sports, the question we think many students want answered is, What happened to the drum?

Topic: School Spirit

The cheerleading squad of Bloomsburg State College is trying its best to help school spirit. In order to do this we have changed our style of cheering. Although we know everyone does not like these cheers, we can only try to please the majority.

Now about Bloomsburg school spirit. We think it is much better than most colleges in this area. You have cheered with us and have given the team the added boost they needed to win several times. However, at basketball games there are small cheering groups scattered throughout the gym. Some of these groups cheer with us and some against us. We realize that during a very exciting game everyone gets carried away, but cooperation with the cheerleaders does not seem too much to ask. Also, riding opposing players has always been done and probably always will, but once in a while think of the time spent riding opponent players when cheering for your own team might have helped more. Also, when small groups cheer, the team cannot hear them. But if you followed the cheerleaders or did a cheer everyone knows, the team could easily hear you. As far as the drum is concerned, we liked it and thought it helped a lot when played at the proper time and speed. We are glad that our school spirit is good, but we feel it would improve more if everyone realized that cheering is used to let the team know you are behind them.

Thank you.

Linda VanSaders
Captain, Husky Cheerleaders

(Ed. Note: For the past several weeks, my two sports columnists, Ray Buckno and Irwin Zablocky have held a "debate" concerning the student body's cheering habits at athletic events. The columnists argued pro and con concerning various types of cheering; Irwin Zablocky argued against the various types of rowdiness and Ray Buckno argued for it.

In the game against Kutztown, a startling effect was present. Gone was the noise, the horns, the drums, and in its place was absolute bitter silence. Why was this silence present— who knows? Maybe someone's feelings were hurt. . .

I believe if anyone's feelings are hurt, it should be the cheerleaders. Everytime the young ladies went out onto the floor to cheer, they were met with silence; as a matter of fact, they were the only people cheering, while the entire student body sat like "bumps on the log."

I am not saying that our school spirit is poor — as a matter of fact, it is usually good. But if more events continue similar to last Saturday, a lot of people will begin to wonder if the student body really cares whether we win or lose. — George Yacina, Sports Editor)

Play Features Types of Human Folly: Shakespeare's Genius Proven Again

by Bill Winck

Carver Auditorium, 8:15 p.m. Monday evening, was the setting for the first Shakespearean comedy in two years at BSC. "The Twelfth Night" or "What You Will" is a comedy in which a variety of types of human foolishness provide reason for laughter.

The many zany-antics of Sir Andrew Aguecheek, portrayed by Bruce Hopkins, a newcomer to the BSC stage, turned in the outstanding performance of the evening. His portrayal of this Shakespearean character was so professional that one would hardly believe it to be his BSC debut. I am sure BSC has much to look forward to from this promising young actor.

The outstanding female performance of the evening was turned in by Carole DeWald who portrayed Lady Olivia, a countess. Her professional style and delivery left nothing to be desired even if Shakespeare himself had cast the role.

Playing just as solid parts were Jan Feimster as Viola, and Tom Curtis as Malvolio. These two people are no strangers to the BSC stage and their performances in this play served only to reassure the BSC college community of their continuing outstanding acting ability.

Vince Marion, another newcomer to BSC showed much promise as an actor on the BSC stage in his portrayal of Sir Toby Belch. For a freshman to tackle such a difficult role deserves much credit on a job well done.

Other featured roles are Iva Klingaman as Maria, Larry Gerber as Orsine and Lynn Roccograndi as Sebastian were also so excellently portrayed that it causes one to wonder and marvel of the talent within the Bloomsburg Players.

Of course we cannot overlook the outstanding jobs turned in by Randall Martin, Glen Landis, and Brian McLernan. Without their splendid performance, the play could not have attained the success that it did.

Toward A Successful Production— Also effective in its contribution was the lighting, sound and setting which was patterned after the setting used in Shakespeare's Globe Theater.

Getting such a production out of an "amateur" cast takes some excellent coaching. That came from director Michael McHale and technical director James McCubbin.

This play was undoubtedly a credit to BSC and everyone involved in its production is to be highly commended.

Individuals Are Becoming A Rarity! Is Uniqueness Going Underground?

by Ted Aff

"I am not afraid, nor insecure, but a brave, confident, straight forward and straight-laced person. I dress neatly and speak commonly; therefore I am accepted. I sit quietly asking no questions, being as unobtrusive as possible, and get good grades. Therefore, I am intelligent. Above all, I have a consistent smile."

The person above is not a "pseudo-intellectual," nor a rebel, nor a trouble maker. He, I imagine, exists peacefully. However, by his self description of positive qualities, it seems difficult to differentiate him from any one of a thousand bland, apathetic, pseudo-human beings that describe themselves in the same terms.

Now, this does not mean that neatness is not a quality, nor that good grades should be frowned upon; but it means that if there is not a unique individual in that state of neatness and academic achievement, then those qualities are of little worth.

Each Has Uniqueness

Each individual, as is known, has a unique historical development, or "background." Since this is so, it would follow that each person is as unique as his "background". Why is it, then, that many people dress similarly, speak in a similar manner on well worn topics, never question, are never even noticeable and never indicate or live their particular uniqueness? Why is it that so many fundamentally unique people seem all too similar? Could it be because they fear being labeled something like a "pseudo-intellectual", or a "pseudo-individualist," or a "phony"? Do these people seem so similar because they are fearful of being and exerting their own unique selves? If this is so, then they conform and adhere to all norms, deny what is peculiar to them only, and become truly phony; but an accepted, liked, phony. They become pseudo-human to become a genuine accepted conformer.

Each Lives With Self

This is not to suggest that everyone break a lot of standard norms, and become overtly boisterous and rebellious; but, perhaps school would be less monotonous if more people would concentrate on being, as Mr. Benyo would put it, "wrapped up in themselves." After all, what has anyone that is of more importance than that which is uniquely his? Ultimately, each person must live with himself.

Does not what Socrates said, "Know thyself?", imply to be "thyself?" Most people know this statement by Socrates and its implication. Why then is this not more widely applied?

This writer would never attempt to change anyone's particular mode of living, since no one's mode is "better" than anyone else's. However, this writer is attempting to do the opposite — to urge people to carry out more fully his own unique, completely individual, mode of living, and not someone else's. Each snowflake that falls is different, wonderfully different.

OUR SIDE OF THE COIN

Points For Change

Well, 'tis the end of another semester at good olde BSC, and, for that occasion, we've compiled our semester-end-grievances, as taken from bits-and-pieces of conversation (sometimes animated) from our fellow students:

Reserve Assignments

It seems that many instructors are giving their classes "outside" reading assignments found in books that were set on reserve in the library. The students are then told that they have a certain amount of time in which to do this work for a test. What's the problem? Well . . . that there are forty-some students clamoring for the same book that has to be read by each one of them in two weeks! Reserve books can be used by one person one hour at a time in the library and can be taken out of the library overnight. Needless to say, it is extremely difficult to get your hands on a reserve book. What can be done about this problem? One suggestion is that instructors make their reserve book assignments far ahead of time, at least a month. If possible, instructors should request the library to purchase some more of the books they would like their students to read for reserve assignments.

Yearbook Appropriations

It seems, too, that the CGA has somehow managed to deplete the appropriations to the yearbook to such an extent that it must work on a shoestring and a prayer. Yet, at the same time, it increases appropriations to the BSC dance band, which, for our years at this college, we've never seen, much less heard. Publishing a yearbook is a pretty expensive (and a very worthwhile) enterprise of any institution, especially so a college. Cutting down on the capital that one has to work with does not make for a good yearbook — even for a mediocre yearbook a certain capital is required. (And, besides the publishing of the yearbook, the finances must also pay for a placement brochure that, as far as we can see, has no connection whatsoever, except for the same layout as the senior section.) Even with the $5 per being charged to students this year, it is not nearly enough to publish the yearbook that we would like to have . . . Why not have a little money where it will have some lasting good?

Another complaint that we heard recently was about our campus "mud swamp" — sometimes referred to as the parking lot. Actually, our parking lot is fine, as long as it doesn't rain — then you need a rowboat to get through it. Students who go to class via the lot can always be detected—they're the ones with the head-to-toe mudpack! But, let's look at the good side of it . . . imagine if the parking lot would freeze over; then we'd have an ice skating rink! Of course, rushing to make an 8:00 class, someone is bound to fall and break a leg. Something should be done. Granted, we all know that many attempts have been made to improve the parking lot situation, but apparently none have been very successful. We hope that someone will come up with a good idea real soon now . . .

INTRAMURALS

Girls, it's volleyball time again. All those interested should submit the name of the team, captain's name and box number and the names of the eight to ten members who wish to participate. Submit the preceding information to: Office 9; Jarrard, box 618, Waller or C. Dietrich, box 1706, East Hall. Any girl who wishes to participate should submit her name to either the managers or Office 9 and she will be placed on a team.

The round robin volleyball tournament will begin second semester. The games will be played Monday through Thursday, 4-5:30 p.m.

The basketball tournament is progressing quite well at this point. Twenty-two teams were entered in this event and are split into two leagues.

The top spot in League A shapes up as a battle between the Giants and Celtics. The Giant Killers, Animals, State Boys, and Gibbons Group are all on a collision course for the top spot in League B.

Championship Series

The basketball championship will be decided by a new method this season. The winners of each league will meet in a best of three series as soon as both league winners are determined.

Results

Results of last week's games are as follows: The Giants dumped Harter's Hasbeens, 55-19; and the Giant Killers edged the Men From Uncle, in a well-played game, 49-41. Al's Crusaders defeated the "49ers," 57-39; and Playboys were buried by the Raiders, 39-19.

In the most unique game of the season, the Celtics and East Wing Weasels were into the last four minutes of the first half before either team scored a field goal. The score at the half was 7-4, Celtics. The Celts rallied to win by 39-20.

Shuffleboard

This event is progressing very slowly and has been marred by forfeits. Team captains are reminded that forfeits will weigh heavily against their respective teams.

Water Polo

The deadline for entries in this tournament has been extended to January 22, 1966. Team captains will be contacted by the Intramural Department concerning entries.

Psych up Huskies, Let's beat Stroud!

BSC Matmen Win First Dual Meet

In their first dual meet of the year, the BSC wrestlers began in fine fashion by defeating the Oswego Lakers 24-8. Bloomsburg started off slowly by dropping the first two matches by decisions but came storming back as they won 6 consecutive matches and tied one in the unlimited division.

Dennis Siegmann, dropping down to 123, opened the meet by dropping an 8-4 decision. John Ford, a sophomore, looked good in his first match but was decisioned 4-3. Things finally looked better for Bloom as Jim Rolley sparked the first of six consecutive wins by a convincing 13-6 score. With Barry Sutter winning his match by a forfeit, the Huskies forged ahead 11-6, a lead which they never relinquished. Steve Peters looked impressive in his match as he decisioned Parshley 12-7. With Joe Gerst pitted against Ryan, the crowd witnessed one of the hardest fought matches of the afternoon with Gerst coming out on top 9-6.

Frank Neiswender scored 5 quick points in the first minute of the first period helping him to score a 6-4 win. Tom Vargo at 177 pounds was just too strong for his man as he registered the only pin of the day in 1:05 of the first period. In the unlimited division, Jim Leurs turned in a fine performance as he fought to a 1-1 tie.

At the Military Academy at West Point two Husky wrestling squads under Coach Maurey took on a pair of Army teams. The Husky Freshmen won six of their matches to defeat the Freshman Plebes 21-6.

In the Freshmen meet, Bill Sansone was pinned in the opening match, but the Huskies took the next four to regain a lead they never lost again. Ron Russo, 130, handed Army's Byrnes a one-sided 19-5 loss. Russo's victory over his opponent, a former Iowa state champion, was his second this season. Huskies Grabfelder, Rogers, and Mundy also won decisions.

In a very close match, Doug Grady, 160, lost a 6-5 decision, but twin brother Dave Grady followed with a 10-2 victory over Army's Smith, a national prep champion. In the last Freshman match, Husky Heavyweight Cunningham pinned his opponent at 3:48 for the sixth Husky victory.

Basketball Team Wins 2, Loses 1

The Bloomsburg Basketball team took to the road last week and was defeated by the tall and talented Philadelphia Textile Five. The Huskies found themselves on the short end of the 89-67 score.

The Huskies stayed within five points of their opponent until late in the first half when they were down 40-32. As the second half got underway, Coach Norton's boys had trouble in finding the basket. The Textile team played fine defense as they held Bloom's "M" boys, Gene Milfer and Mike Morrow to just 8 and 9 points respectively. Bloom was led by Tony Tezik's 12 points followed by Jack Gerrity's 11. Sophomore Joe Alansky contributed 8 points in the losing cause.

The night was not a total loss as the Husky Pups remained undefeated by beating previously unbeaten Textile 96-85. The Husky five were ahead 44-35 at the half and were never headed.

Susquehanna Falls

In their first home effort since Christmas vacation BSC defeated Susquehanna, 94-87. Susquehanna quickly jumped into the lead and managed to accumulate a 12-1 lead in the first four minutes. The habitually slow starting Huskies led by Mike Morrow and Jack Gerrity soon found themselves though and tied the score with 4:30 remaining in the half. Continuing their surge the Huskies took the lead and increased their advantage until they led 47-39 at the half.

Susquehanna couldn't come back in the second half though putting forth a determined effort and as the final gun sounded the Huskies led 94-87.

High scorer for the Huskies was Mike Morrow with 32 followed by Jack Gerrity whose excellent outside shooting netted him 18 points. Beat Kutztown

Playing host to Kutztown the Husky basketball team pushed their conference record to 4 wins and 1 loss scoring a 92-77 victory.

In the first half both teams played well and neither squad could gain a distinct advantage. The Huskies led by Gene Miller and Jack Gerrity made few mistakes but couldn't keep the visiting Bears from matching them point

from the SIDELINES

By Irwin Zablocky

This Saturday's basketball game with Juniata brings to an end Gene Miller's illustrious collegiate basketball career, and what a way to bow out!

"Gene" leads the team in rebounds and is ranked second in the nation in the same category with a 20.8 per game average. He has been a consistently high scorer in every game this year. Much of his scoring comes at a critical point when the game is close and a score boosts the team's morale. He is a top ball-handler and very rarely has a bad pass.

In my opinion — and possibly many others — Geno is this year's most outstanding player because of the last three seasons. In fact, he is one of the PSCAC's top players and I'm sure that if he could finish the season he would be named to the PSCAC First Team! Even if he wouldn't be selected, the BSC student body knows his importance and should give him appropriate recognition.

With the absence of Miller our team will have to do some adjusting. Coach Norton has ben playing most of his bench throughout the season and I'm sure he'll come up with a replacement.

One characteristic of this year's for point. At the half both teams were tied 42-42.

After a cautious opening the Huskies broke the game wide open in the second half with an aggressive defensive game. Gene Miller was outstanding in his defensive effort. The final score was 92-77 with the Huskies in complete control.

squad is that the Huskies are playing as a team — and doing considerably better than last year. We have a five-man effort with Gerrity, Miller and Morrow carrying the bulk of the play. As of now this "effort" has given us a 5-3 overall, 4-1 league record to place us second in the Eastern Division of the conference.

Our Freshmen team is presently 9-0, with high hopes of an undefeated season. More power to them — congratulations! — and let's not get over-confident.

There has been some windy rumors among several of the students that our wrestling team has lost some of its lustre and may have a bad season. For shame — you should have more faith in your grapplers!

It's true our victories haven't been impressive score-wise, but let's remember we've met some outstanding teams who have vastly improved over last year. Had some of these "moaners" gone to the Oswego match they would change their minds. Oswego was last year's New York State Champs and came here expecting to be victorious.

5 Colleges Visited By MRA Officers

Today and tomorrow representatives of BSC's Men's Resident Association will visit Lebanon Valley College, Franklin and Marshall, Cheyney State, West Chester State and Albright. The purpose of these visits is to find ways of improving our own MRA. For example: West Chester's resident men have drafted a new constitution, which our delegates will study to see which facets are applicable to BSC. While at the various colleges, our representatives will be the guests of the various men's resident associations.

Those representing BSC on this excursion are the officers of the MRA: Larry Gloekler, president; Bob Letcavage, vice president; Sam Bashore, treasurer, and Steve Boston, secretary. Dean Hunsinger, advisor to the MRA will accompany them.
