Enrollment Reaches Record 3100; BSC Frosh Undergoing Orientation

Classes will begin at 8 a.m. Wednesday, September 14, for more than 3100 BSC students, including 850 freshmen. Also included in the record enrollment figure are graduate, evening, and part time students.

Freshmen arrived on Tuesday afternoon for seven days of orientation and testing. A buffet dinner, class meeting, and a record dance were featured on Tuesday evening.

Freshmen Tested

Placement testing was begun on Wednesday morning and an Introduction to College Life session was presented in the afternoon. Freshmen also picked up their dinks and name signs throughout the day in Husky Lounge. "Oldies" were featured at a record dance in the evening.

Yesterday testing and orientation continued and a movie was shown on the terraces last night.

The freshmen preparation sessions continue until Tuesday. Members of the various CGA committees — Orientation, Dining Room, etc.—as well as the counselling and professional staffs have been on campus since the freshmen arrived to aid in the orientation.

Freshmen must wear dinks and name signs whenever in public (Campus and downtown.) The Freshmen Tribunal is scheduled for Saturday evening, September 17. Dinks and name signs will be burned in a giant bonfire at that time. Retaliation against upperclassmen will follow if events follow the pattern of past tribunals.

Acting President

Dr. John A. Hoch, Dean of Instruction, has been designated acting president of the college during the absence of Dr. Andruss.

The Andrusses expect to be gone during most of the fall semester on a trip around the world. This is the second extended trip taken by the Andrusses in recent years.

Dr. Andruss Granted Leave to Tour World

Dr. and Mrs. Harvey A. Andruss have departed on an extended trip around the world. They expected to leave from Philadelphia today on the first leg of their journey.

The Board of Trustees granted a sabbatical leave to Dr. Andruss, who has served as BSC President since 1939. The Andrusses expect to be abroad for most of the fall semester.

Extends Greeting

Prior to his departure, Dr. Andruss extended the following greeting to BSC students:

"When you return to the campus Mrs. Andruss and I will probably be enroute to Australia on our way around the world. However, we shall be thinking of Bloomsburg, its students and faculty, and the future which we are planning.

"We expect the New Library to be in operation, and wish for you a pleasant and profitable college year of 1966-1967."

Editorials

To inform, to interpret, to entertain: these are responsibilities of a student newspaper to the college community it serves. It is the duty of the staff to fulfill these responsibilities with objectivity and honesty.

We accept the challenge of these responsibilities and give our pledge to do our best to meet the challenge.

We pledge complete campus coverage and a "fair shake" to all organizations, regardless of size.

We pledge unbiased and objective news accounts that are accurate and timely.

We pledge interesting and varied features in an effort to entertain and inform.

We pledge editorials which interpret the news and raise questions as well as offer possible answers.

We pledge accurate and interesting coverage of sports events with equal regard to all sports.

We pledge continual efforts to improve the quality of the newspaper and the services it offers its readers.

We pledge our consideration to all constructive comments and criticisms in our efforts to improve.

* * * * *

A freshman upon entering college is thrust into a situation in which he is attracted by two opposing forces—conformity and individualism.

In most cases, the new student is unaware of the contest and unconsciously makes the decision. This decision has important effects upon the dress, habits, behavior, and values of the individual. The majority of students unknowingly and naturally remain nearly midway between the forces, ideally establishing an identity with some characteristics of each extreme. The result is a well balanced and accepted member of the college society.

Others, in adjusting, go to one of the two extremes. They become conformists who will do anything because others do it, or individualists who must be different. In either case, they achieve the recognition they crave from other people. In most cases, however, this attention is an unpleasant variety and causes the individual to remove himself from contact with others.

We advise the freshman not to try to be something he is not, something artificial.

A person should simply try to be himself. People will respect and like him for it. And all of society will benefit from the honest adjustment.

Two Summer Theater Productions Presented By Bloomsburg Students

Henry Fetterman and Lynn Thornburg

Jean Kleiser and Tom Curtis

Summer theater became a reality at BSC during July with the presentation of two one act plays performed in tandem.

Selected for the inaugural bill were the off-Broadway hits, "The Typists" and "The Tiger," both satires by Murray Schisgal.

The plays were directed by Michael J. McHale of the Speech Department, with technical supervision by James McCubbin, faculty technical director of the Bloomsburg Players.

Long a dream at BSC, the summer theater dual performance was made possible through a grant from the CGA. Participating in the new summer venture were students attending main session and BSC alumni.

Tom Curtis, Reading, and Jean Kleiser, Lebanon, were cast in "The Typists," which depicted the frustration of two office mates as they type away at an endless task of addressing post cards.

Henry Fetterman, Catawissa, and Lynn Thornburg, Bloomsburg, were featured in "The Tiger," an even wilder tale of the kidnapping of a young matron by a frustrated postman.

September, 1962. "Orientation" replaces "customs." "But to n s Frosh," college songs and cheers remain.

Customs Remain Much the Same

We thought it might be comforting to the new Frosh to know what some of their predecessors endured in the name of customs or orientation. None of the following highlights of other years are necessarily intended for resurrection during the current orientation week.

September, 1946. Freshmen girls modeled green bonnets of all styles, shapes, and sizes during three-week customs.

September, 1948. Variety talent show is highlight of freshmen customs.

September, 1951. "Silence Day" and "Kiddies Day" were special events of customs. Violators paid with such "fun" chores as measuring the length of Waller Hall corridor with a six-inch ruler.

September, 1952. Two hundred-twenty frosh carried unbroken pretzels, tooth-brushes and tooth-paste in open view during customs. "Be kind to Underclassmen Day" was another feature.

September, 1955. Customs began September 19 and continued until the start of Thanksgiving vacation.

September, 1956. Orientation week consisted of "Rain Day," "Beggars Day," "Civil Defense Day," and "Time Check Day."

September, 1959. Upperclassmen were ducked in a fountain in retaliation at the end of customs.

September, 1961. Trend of customs turns from hazing to stress on educational excellence.

Husky Lounge Has Most Unique Past At BSC Campus

(Reprinted from M&G, May 20, 1966)

When BSC students came back from Christmas vacation in January 1956, their jaws dropped when they saw what had been done with the old gymnasium in Waller Hall. For on that morning, ten years ago, Husky Lounge was opened for the first time.

The students were excited and pleased with the Lounge, and rightly so, for there had been nothing like the Husky before 1956. For the first four years practically no one mistreated or abused the Lounge or furnishings, for the students appreciated the Lounge. But a change of attitude has come about in the last six years. Why? Before answering this question it is important to trace a little bit of the history of the Husky Lounge.

Husky Lounge did not come about overnight. The idea originated with Dr. Andruss as far back as the centennial year of the College in 1939. At this time a fund was started by lapsing all surpluses of the Community Activities Fund and by allowing Book Store profits to accumulate. This saving took place over a period of about 15 years from 1939 to 1955.

But while this effort to accumulate money for a lounge was taking place, the needs of the College were not ignored. Money was withdrawn from the fund from time to time for grants, scholarships, medical expenses of athletes not paid by insurance, the electric scoreboard for the football field on Mt. Olympus, class memorials on a matched-fund basis, the College station wagon, and for furniture for social areas of the dorms over and above what the state would buy.

Creation Of Husky

By 1955 a significant amount had accumulated in the fund and the "green light" was given for the creation of Husky Lounge. The Commonwealth remodeled the old gym to the extent that it put in the wood paneling, the ceiling, the fireplace, and the new floor.

With the substantial amount accumulated in the fund, the College finished what the Commonwealth had begun. It purchased the snack-bar equipment, chairs, tables, booths, new fixtures for the adjoining, book store, and the glass divider between the Lounge and the Book Store.

Abuse Began

Now to return to the question raised earlier in this article. Why? Why did the abuse and mistreatment of Husky Lounge and its furnishings come about, or rather, why did the respect and care end? The answer to the question is quite obvious.

As new students, unacquainted with the origin of Husky Lounge, entered BSC, they took the Lounge for granted. It was a common misconception, and still is today, that the Lounge was the gift of a benevolent state government. This is simply not true, as the other state colleges will testify. The other state colleges had been even more amazed than our own students when the Husky Lounge opened. "How did you do it?" and "Where did you get the money?" were common questions as our sister colleges tried to discover our secret.

Taking the Lounge for granted as they did, the students couldn't care less about their treatment of the Lounge and its furnishings. They just assumed that the same benevolent state government that had created the Lounge would continue to be its benefactor by replacing anything that might be damaged or broken. This attitude has grown stronger and exists today on the part of most students. As a result, a tremendous amount of money has been drawn from the fund to replace furniture, most of which was broken by careless use.

Loss Of Money

So what? Every dollar that must be spent in replacing misused furniture is one dollar that can't come back to the students in a more worthwhile and beneficial way.

It is important for the sake of understanding the situation completely, to point out the fact that Husky Lounge operation is part of a business. The College Store is the name of the business operated by the college, and includes three branches: books, supplies, and the snack bar. This business is completely independent of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, even to the extent that it has no state

Now You See... Now You Don't. Old North has finally fallen victim to progress and the need for a modern, four-story men's dormitory. It took only about a week to level the old landmark. Construction is expected to begin in the near future for the new dorm.

Young Husky Squad Opens Season Next Friday Against Shippensburg

Junior quarterback Rich Lichtel sends off a pass during a practice session last week. The squad continues to condition and drill for the season opener against Shippensburg next week.

"We could have a really good season if we can win the first game. The first game is very important."

Russell Houk, Athletic Director and head football coach, made these comments in discussing BSC's football possibilities and the first encounter of the season with the Red Raiders of Shippensburg next Friday.

Nucleus Of 40

Forty-five candidates reported to training last Thursday. Five were on the injured list, however, before practice sessions began due to injuries sustained during the summer, leaving a nucleus of 40 men.

Coach Houk reports that morale has been excellent during the first week of practice. The emphasis has been on conditioning during sessions held twice a day. Evening meetings have also been utilized to train the mind as well as the body.

Five Returning Seniors

The Huskies are a very young team this year with only five seniors returning. Most of the team are sophomores.

Coach Houk is very optimistic, however, and thinks BSC will have a good team in spite of the age factor.

"We still have a lot of hard work ahead of us," the coach said, "but we hope to give a lot of schools trouble this year."

Coaching Staff

Assisting Houk in his third year as head coach are Robert Davenport, first assistant; Ronald Puhl, backfield coach; Douglas Boelhower, freshman coach; and Ronald Novak, assistant freshman coach.

Last year BSC had a .500 season, amassing 148 points to their opponents' 145, which was the best effort in several years. Coach Houk's two year record stands at six wins, nine losses, and one tie.

BSC Opponents

BSC will play five home games and three away contests during its 1966 season. The Huskies will face Shippensburg, Lock Haven, Mansfield, West Chester, Millersville, Cheyney, Kutztown and East Stroudsburg, in that order.

The last six encounters will be Pennsylvania State College Athletic Conference games.

Library Equipped to Meet Heavy Student Demand

Pictured above is the main reading room on the first floor. The second floor and the ceiling can also be seen. On the second floor (behind the acoustical tiles and the glass) are individual partitioned desks. Between these, and the outside walls are shelves which contain the majority of the library's volumes.

This picture was taken looking down into the main reading area from the individual reading desks on second floor.

The best library facilities in the history of BSC will be available to members of the college community when classes begin on Wednesday.

James Baker Watts, Head Librarian, has announced that every effort is being made to have the three-story library in service at that time.

Moving Completed

Moving of over 100,000 volumes and furniture was completed last week by a professional moving company.

The library staff is working this week to complete the finishing touches and the cleaning.

Many Features

Included in the library are a large reading room, individual desks, a curriculum center, a children's library, a room to show films, a listening room, an archives, several large work and book processing areas, and many other features.

The M&G will run an extensive feature report on the library, including an interview with Mr. Watts, in next week's edition.

Special Education Division Receives Grant of $16,800 For Fellowships

The Office of Education, United States Department of Health, Education, and Welfare has awarded the BSC Division of Special Education, section on speech and hearing disorders, a grant of $16,800 for full time graduate fellowships at the Master's degree level for the 1966-67 college year.

Selection of BSC for the grant program by a national committee of educators attests to the high quality program of graduate education in speech pathology developed by Dr. Donald F. Maietta, director of special education, and the faculty of this division. The application for the grant program was prepared by Dr. Maietta, endorsed by Dr. Andruss, and approved by Governor William Scranton.

The full time Federal Fellowship Program under P.L. 85-926 is the first such national recognition given to any graduate curricular division at BSC or to any of the fourteen state-owned colleges, and will entitle each of the students selected for the award to receive a $2,000 stipend for the academic year, $40 a month for each dependent, with tuition and fees waived. Supporting funds also are granted BSC to defray costs of the Fellowship Program.

Faculty members and the divisional director base the awards upon high scholarship, clinical excellence, ability to undertake a graduate program of studies, leadership, and adequate personality adjustment.

These are two of many individual, partitioned desks, on second floor. They are nearly level with the lights in the background which hang from the roof. Also in the background are the skylights which provide natural lighting to the main reading area on first floor.

Lounge

employees involved in its operation. All employees are paid from the profits of the business.

Use Of Profits

The profits of the College Store are used for the benefit of the entire student body either directly or indirectly as determined by College Council and administration.

In addition to the aforementioned use of the profits, they are the National Defense Student Loan used to pay the college's share of Fund (which has benefitted over 800 students to date) scholarships and grants. They have also been used to purchase new band uniforms, to pay the expenses of athletic teams to NAIA championships, to send athletes to other events throughout the country, to pay the hospital and surgical expenses of athletes beyond that paid by insurance, to purchase the College station wagon, to purchase the bus for the transportation of athletic teams, to purchase athletic awards for championship teams (blazers, gold watches), and for renovations to Husky Lounge such as the new kitchen on the west upper deck and the remodeling of the east upper deck.

It stands to reason, therefore, the students should consciously make an effort to keep the amount of money spent on replacement of misused furniture to a minimum, in order that the money might be spent for other worthwhile things. Student Union

If the reader is still not convinced, we present this final argument. After the College Store has met all the obligations set for it by College Council, the surplus is placed in a special fund. This fund will, in the not too distant future, do for the new Student Union what the original fund did for Husky, namely the placement of all furniture and fixtures over and above what the state will buy.

"But the Student Union won't benefit me, I'll be long gone." The reader who says this is quite right, in a direct sense. However, who is to judge the indirect benefits, not to mention the direct benefits to the College and the students of tomorrow.

It is interesting to reflect that the students of the College from 1939 to 1955, by their nickles, dimes and dollars spent in the little book store where the post office presently exists, made possible the Husky Lounge for our direct benefit today.

Scheduling scenes like this will be no more (we hope), thanks to the Data Processing Center and the Registrar's Office. They finally developed what seems to be a "sure-fire system." Scheduling went so smoothly last May that most students just couldn't believe it.

A lesson to be learned? Perhaps this scene from another year should serve as a warning to Frosh who might be tempted from the straight and narrow path of strict obedience to their elders. Good luck, Frosh.
