

Trustees Approve Social Fraternities

The Faculty Fraternity Committee recently recommended to the President of the College and the Board of Trustees that social fraternities be permitted to organize on our campus. This would be a change in the college policy of recognizing only professional and honorary fraternity groups, many of which were co-educational and were organized as societies recognizing scholarship and/or professional promise or interest in specific areas.

The general policy, recommended by the Faculty Fraternity Committee and approved by the Board of Trustees, would involve the following steps:

1) The College Council and administrative representatives would review the application of the organization, following the similar set-up for approval as required for any other campus organization, subject to final approval by the Faculty Fraternity Committee and the President of the College.

2) The accounts of the fraternity would be subject to audit, as are all other campus organizations.

3) For the present, social fraternities shall be organized on the local level and will not have national affiliations.

4) The approval of social fraternities does not include approval of off-campus housing.

5) Each social fraternity will have a faculty member as advisor, who will be approved by the Dean of Students and the Faculty Fraternity Committee. Other members of the faculty may be associate members of the fraternity.

6) Hazing as a part of pledging or initiation activities is prohibited.

7) All members shall meet the academic standards and the standards of conduct set forth in the Pilot, the student handbook.

8) Fraternities shall not permit discrimination on the basis of race, religion, creed or national origin.

9) The use of the word "fraternity" in this policy is understood to include sororities when the organization includes only women.

10) All such fraternity or sorority groups shall be on a probationary period before final approval is given by the Faculty Fraternity Committee and the college president. This period shall be three years.

Enrollment Rises To Record Height

Over 3,100 full-time students, the largest enrollment in the history of Bloomsburg State College, completed registration for the first semester of the 1966-67 college year, according to John L. Walker, Director of Admissions. Freshmen represent about 850 of the total figure.

An analysis of the enrollment statistics released by John A. Hoch, Dean of Instruction, indicates 3,118 full time undergraduate students and 77 part time undergraduate students, for a total of 3,195. Of the total there are 1,677 men and 1,518 women. Five hundred and fifteen men will reside in campus residence halls, and the remaining 1,162 men will either commute daily from their own homes or live in private homes in the town of Bloomsburg. Five hundred seventy-nine women are expected to live in campus residence halls and 939 women will be commuting from their own homes or living in private homes in the Bloomsburg area.

There are 850 new freshmen and 558 second semester freshmen, bringing the total for the class to 1,408. It is expected that there will be 676 members of the sophomore class, 553 members of the junior class, 434 seniors, and 124 students who are listed as unclassified transfers from other colleges, or students whose college career had previously been interrupted.

President Starts On World Cruise

BSC student Russel C. Rush has successfully completed a U. S. Marine Corps program at Quantico, Virginia for college students, which leads to a commission of Second Lieutenant upon completion of two six-week summer training sessions and graduation from college.

Program Announced for Close of Orientation

Judy Cargiulo, on behalf of Bob Dugan, Nancy Tryens, and John Cooper, the leaders of the Orientation Committee and Freshmen Advisers respectively, has issued the following statements concerning the Orientation Program and the Class of 1970.

"Certain people in the Freshman Class are not cooperating with the complete orientation program. We want to get back at them for not taking part like their fellow classmates did. However, it must be noted that the Tribunal is not to humiliate people, but to initiate them into the student body. The tribunal is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon about 2:00 with upperclassmen composing the jury. School Spirit Day

"Plans for today, School Spirit Day, include the wearing of 'Beat Shippensburg' signs on the reverse side of the name signs. A pep rally will be held in the gym at 6:45 tonight. We, the Orientation Committee, the 'Frosh' and the upperclassmen, will see the team off in the buses. Following the pep rally, students will parade to the town football park. Freshmen will be required to wear their name signs and dinks to the game. Also they will be required to sit in a special section. A 'Victory Arch' will be formed by the freshmen for the football squad to enter the field. During half-time there will be the annual tug-of-war contest between the freshmen and the upperclassmen with the winning side receiving a trophy. Freshmen Praised

"I would like to say this about the freshman class: it is a good class and it has a lot of spirit. We of the Orientation Committee are pleased with them. I hope that this spirit will continue after Orientation ends. I also want to thank all the members of our committee and all the various committees for the help and assistance they have given us and for a job well-done. And to one of the best classes at BSC, the Class of '70, Good Luck!"

EDITORIAL

And the rains came. Anticipating a barrage of letters-to-the-editor, we contacted Mr. Boyd Buckingham, Director of Development, yesterday, with regard to the mud and water that covers large portions of the parking area. The week's rain made conditions about as bad as they ever have been.

Mr. Buckingham informed us that administrators of the college met early in the summer to discuss and plan for parking facilities for the present school term. At that time materials were ordered to cover the portions of the lot not presently macadamized.

The project should have been completed by this time, but was delayed by a three-week strike of construction workers at the college and by the late arrival of the non-grade materials to cover the area.

Mr. Buckingham assured us that when the ditches in the parking lot are all filled and the surfacing material on order arrives, the project will be completed promptly. He further assured us that the job definitely should be finished by the end of the month.

So all we can do in the meantime is wear hip boots and hope that a shuttle boat service from the parking lot to drier land doesn't become necessary.

"We're going to have a quiz now. Put your paper on my desk and you may leave when you finish. I would appreciate it if the last person to finish would bring the papers to my office. Good luck." Then Dr. Hopkins left the room. His World Literature I class proceeded to take their quiz. No one cheated. I know because I was there.

It was quite an experience to be under the honor system and it was something that I hadn't expected when I came to summer school. I felt that for the first time a professor really trusted me. It must have taken tremendous faith on his part to make such a gamble. However, I feel that it paid off. I can't speak for my classmates, but I know that I couldn't possibly have cheated then. Aside from any other personal convictions I may have, I don't think I could let myself fail to measure up to such a trust. A sincere trust like this is an honor and a complement to the individual.

It requires great strength of character to live up to the honor system. That is one of the reasons that it is employed at the military academies. But how would it work at BSC? Frankly, I don't know . . . but it's something to think about.

Writers Wanted

The Feature Staff is in need of both experienced and inexperienced members to handle book, record, and movie review columns, interviews, and regular feature articles. Any interested Freshmen or upperclassmen can stop in at the office in the basement of Science Hall on any Monday evening, or contact Richie Benyo, Box 286, for further information.

Room Decor Can Be Work Of Art; A Special Touch Makes Differences

by Beverly Donchez

The college student's room has a threefold purpose—it is a place for studying, sleeping, and entertaining. The room's appearance can add or detract a great deal from one's college days.

Very Little Effort

It requires very little effort to make a seemingly drab room come alive. What may be even more appealing to the average college student is the fact that adding this life can easily fall within every budget.

Americana

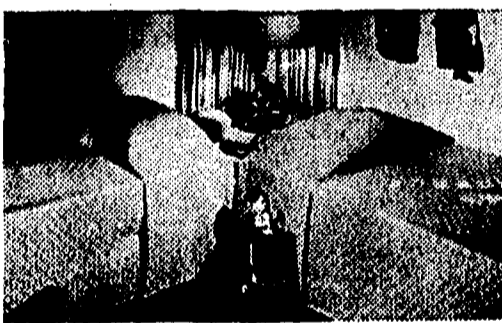

The job consists of determining how much space you have available, choosing a bright, bold color scheme, and deciding on a clever arrangement of furniture.

As the major portion of one's room will be taken up by the beds, the first decision to be made should be to find a suitable position for them. The beds will probably double as couches, so it might be wise to place the beds against the wall and preferably in a corner. One popular arrangement is placing the beds at right angles to the corner with a table in between. You can begin decorating with this table if you would like by placing a lamp, clock-radio, or favorite stuffed animal on it. The table will not only fill in the empty space between the beds, but will also allow you to have easy access to any items you wish to have close at hand.

The rest of the furniture will easily fit into place once the position of the beds is determined. You can now begin working on the color scheme.

The Walls Are Functional

The color of one's walls has little bearing on the attractiveness of the room. The traditional gray color, for example, leaves much to be desired in the eyes of most students. But this doesn't have to be the case. With a little imagination, the color of the room will have little significance on the end result of the student's efforts. Let me show you what I mean:

New Look

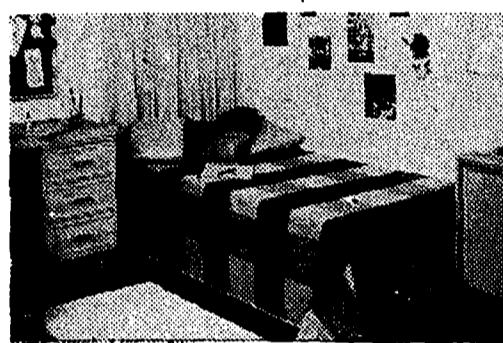

For this gray room it might be a good idea to get bedspreads of one of fall's No. 1 fashion colors—cranberry. Get broad-striped material, perhaps with a cranberry stripe in it, and make curtains. (There is very little detailed work involved here. All that is required is the sewing of a few straight lines.) For those of you who aren't quite as handy, I'm sure a pair of striped curtains can easily be purchased. The next phase of the decorating process consists of deciding what articles to use to accentuate the work already done. This is easily accomplished by adding throw pillows and accent rugs in shades of pink or shades to match the stripes in the curtains. The imagination must be put to work once again in deciding what to use for the walls. Make the decorations reflect your interests. Perhaps you enjoy traveling. If so, get some travel posters that easily pick up the other room colors. These posters are very inexpensive, they may even be free, and yet they add color as well as interest to one's room.

What about those dull tan walls? Add spice to them with orange plaid spreads. Add pepper with orange and brown corduroy throw pillows and matching orange curtains. If you're a record collector, you might add even more color at no additional cost with a montage from record jackets.

Added Color

Other accessory items that might be used include framed wallpaper, fabrics, and world maps. Apothecary jars filled with sour balls or cookies provide not only delight to the nibbler but also a very decorative touch. For a real "homey" touch, pots of ivy or philodendron are perfect. Little care is required and yet so much is added to the room by a plant. If you are interested in even less work, why not try some artificial flowers. They provide the same lovely effect with half the work.

Versatile

One unique idea used by several Bloomsburg State College students is draping a fish net across one wall and adorning it with starfish and other such forms. The end result is very unusual and very economical to produce. It provides an almost professional decorative touch to the dullest of rooms.

Bed Coverings

In choosing bed covering be sure to look for a style that is not only attractive, but also sturdy and long wearing. Don't buy some frilly top of a mysterious fabric that may have to be fussed over constantly to keep it looking the way it should. Buy something in one of falls new strong shock colors in a fabric such as cotton. In doing this you not only have a fabric that will wash and wear like new, but will also have a bedspread that won't show the dirt as quickly.

Wondering about that room of yours? Use your imagination!

There are now two job openings available in the Intramural Sports Program here at BSC. These jobs entail setting up the various athletic contests, keeping the college community in general informed of intramural happenings, and handling schedule arrangements between various teams. The job will last the entire school year. The Intramural Program is sponsored by the federal government here, as at other colleges and universities, and the two job openings are subsidized by the government. For information on these openings, and the duties and wages involved, contact Mr. Jack Jones in Waller Hall.

CONTEMPLATIONS & REFLECTIONS

by Richie Benyo and Toni Matulis

It has been said more than once that there are things that one cannot put a price on. Among these are honor, friendship, virtue and devotion. Things like these are given, not bought, and it is probably as it should be, as some people couldn't afford too many of these qualities.

What Is Spirit?

Different people it seems, have different interpretations of what each virtue is, so it is no wonder that there may be some discrepancy over the true form and meaning of "spirit," specifically at BSC.

Orientation is an annual ritual at most American colleges and universities; it is a ceremony of initiation filled with mixed emotions for the incoming Freshmen. Some dread it, some find it amusing or entertaining, and some merely "co-exist" with or against it.

But, no matter, which campus it is on, some students accept it antagonistically, as some sort of personal affront, when, in actuality, it is merely the forefront of that fleeting enmity, "spirit."

Spirit Is More Than . . .

"Spirit" at BSC isn't necessarily the cheering that is brought forth by the Pep Committee; nor is it the seemingly stupid stunts that are imposed, the dinks and name-signs, or one of a hundred other little things tied up with Orientation.

It goes much deeper than that.

The Spirit of Bloomsburg is the upperclassman who seems almost happy to give you directions; it is the professor who may go just that little bit out of his way to make you feel more at ease in his classroom; it is the dean who is running around campus trying to see that everyone is taken care of properly; it is a student on the Orientation Committee, in the Commons, or on the Pep Committee who points to the right door to use or gives you a confidential warning about not doing something that is against rules, something which you may have been unaware of. It is the personnel around the campus who try (despite mounting difficulties due to construction) to keep BSC an attractive campus; and it is your Fellow Frosh: the one who helped you lug your suitcase to your room, or who said "Hello!" when he was just as lost and scared as you were.

The List Could Be Big . . .

All of these and millions more that you could list and send in to our office in your many hours of spare time (sic) constitute BSC's "spirit."

It's never as bad as it seems . . .

"Schultz is what - ??"

Jones and McKay To Share Column

Norm Jones (top) and Ed McKay (bottom).

In the interest of giving BSC students and faculty the best possible coverage at our school's sports events the editors have chosen two very capable students as sports columnists.

Norm Jones, a sophomore from Ambler, Pa., is an elementary major with his area of competence in history. He is a member of the Pep Committee and participates in both cross country and track.

Norm will concentrate in introducing the participants in the various sports. He feels that by bringing the athlete into the spotlight as an individual rather than a quantity the athlete's significant contributions will be better appreciated.

Ed McKay, also a sophomore, is from Camp Hill, Pa. He is a liberal arts math major and participates in football, basketball, and track. Ed's prime function will be to keep his readers abreast of happenings in the area of sports and give you the athlete's viewpoint.

Pre-Season Practice for the 1966 Huskies

Grid Teams Battle In PSCAC Contest

As the thirteen members of the Pennsylvania State Colleges Athletic Conference prepare for the 1966 football season, over six hundred and ninety candidates are reportedly battling for starting positions on their respective teams.

Millersville, East Stroudsburg, West Chester, California, and Slippery Rock all have over sixty candidates with none of the other schools claiming less than forty hopefuls. Bloomsburg currently has forty-three candidates, thirteen of whom will be returning lettermen.

Jim Riley, Sports Information Director for the PSCAC, sees West Chester and East Stroudsburg as the biggest threats in the Eastern Division, while he reports that many people look for Clarion and California to battle for the Western Division title.

A dark horse in the coming season, Bloomsburg was three and three in league play last year while compiling a four and four overall record.

Husky Harriers Prep for Season

Long distance running is perhaps the world's oldest sport, but one of BSC's youngest. On October first it will open its third season as an intercollegiate sport on this campus, when the Bloomsburg State Husky Harriers travel to King's College in Wilkes-Barre to challenge a team that holds a 1-and-1 record in this particular rivalry. The meet will be run on a rather unique course, being, for the most part, five miles of almost level ground (quite unusual for a cross-country layout) interspersed with four scrambles over the dike on the western side of the Susquehanna River.

The Husky Harriers will enter this season under a new coach, Mr. Jack Jones. To date the squad boasts three returning lettermen, several runners who saw action in meets last season, and a few men recruited from last year's Freshman team.

From all indications there have been quite a few Freshmen who have signed up for the team this year.

Performances

The group is composed of 19 members who perform regularly throughout the semester college year. Tours of area high schools, programs in Husky Lounge for students, and programs for service personnel are among the scheduled performances.

Events for Week Listed by Perry

Junior Jack Perry, Chairman of Social Recreation Committee of CGA, has listed these social events for the following week:

- September 17—Band Dance—8:00-11:00—The Reefers.
- September 21—Movie—Carver Auditorium—8:00 p.m.
- September 24—Band Dance.

In addition to these events, there are the tribunal on Saturday afternoon, the football game at 8:00 against Shippensburg State and the game next Friday against Lock Haven State College.

SPORTS FIGURES of THE WEEK by Norm Jones

Coach Russell Houk

For the benefit of the new freshmen and the upperclassmen alike the Maroon and Gold will be introducing a prominent sports figure each week. This will give you the chance to find out more about the men who represent you in the various sports. It's only proper that this series of articles begins with Russell E. Houk who serves as Athletic Director, as well as coach of the football and wrestling teams.

Background

"Coach" Houk has been connected with sports since he attended Lincoln High School in his home town of Ellwood City. He continued in sports at Lock Haven State College participating in wrestling and football. He graduated from Lock Haven in 1952, and in 1957 he received his Master of Education degree from Bucknell University.

While coaching high school teams at South Williamsport and Muncy, Houk gained a reputation as one of the finest coaches in the state. Several of his wrestlers came in first or second in the state matches.

BSC Record

"Coach" Houk came to Bloomsburg in 1957 and since then his wrestlers have won five Pennsylvania State Championships, three NAIA titles and in 1962 his team won the Wilkes Tournament. He has coached three undefeated wrestling teams (1959-60, 1961-62, 1964-65) and has compiled an amazing record of 90 wins, 9 losses, and 2 ties. He has also been selected NAIA coach of the year three of the last five years.

Not many colleges are as fortunate as Bloomsburg in having a man of Russell Houk's caliber.

Schaefer Named President of MRA

Bernard Schaefer is the new president of the Men's Resident Association, in place of Paul Zenyuh, the president-elect. Elton Hunsinger, Dean of Men and advisor to the Men's Resident Association, explained the change thus: "Since Paul is not returning to

Bernard Schaefer

BSC this fall and he was an officer in good standing, he was empowered by the MRA Constitution to select his own successor. This successor was Bernard Schaefer."

Activities

Bernard Schaefer graduated from Seaford Jr.-Sr. High School, Seaford, New York. He is enrolled in elementary education with an area in social studies. Bernard has been active in many college supported activities: center on the football squad, vice-president of the Varsity Club and historian of SIO. He is also a proctor on second floor of Waller Hall.

Men's Glee Club Seeks Members

Mr. William Decker, director of the Men's Glee Club, has announced that the first rehearsal for this group will be held Tuesday, September 20, in room 33 of Science Hall at 7:00. This vocal group is open to all college men with an interest in singing. No auditions are required for membership. Last year's membership set a record for this five-year-old group; and by Christmastime Mr. Decker is hoping that this year's Men's Glee Club will be even larger. The group specializes in light popular music, show tunes and folk songs. The Men's Glee Club, along with the Concert Choir, will present Christmas programs at area high schools.

Riegel Discusses Frosh Orientation

Dr. Paul S. Riegel, Dean of Students, made the following comments on the Orientation program for the Class of 1970.

"So far everything is going smoothly. The student committees are functioning very well due to good student leaders. This year the 'College Life' series will be concluded tomorrow as will the entire orientation program. This is a variation to the usual procedure where Freshmen have orientation lectures for the entire first semester.

Stress Campus Policies

"This year there is a stress on the student's knowing the various campus policies. We are not relying on forced enforcement of these policies, but this responsibility will lie with the Customs Committee. We are available for all assistance, but we will not lead you along. You, the freshmen, must learn to shoulder your own responsibilities."

Steve Boston Plans a Busy Schedule

Steve Boston, president of CGA and College Council, has a big year ahead of him—a year filled with plans, a year filled with hopes. As president of your CGA, it is his job to co-ordinate and lead the students of BSC to greater heights.

Communications is one field which will be his first challenge. With the lack of assembly programs, direct student announcements will be hard to make, and students will have to take notice of all signs and posters. Flyers will periodically be placed in student mail boxes to aid in this communication. The publicity committee, headed by former M&G editor William Howells, will bear most of this responsibility. It is up to this committee to make certain all communications between the student government and the student body are successful. Editorials in this paper will be another opportunity for Steve to communicate with the student body.

Freshman Orientation

With most of the Freshman Orientation completed, Boston had to say, "Overall, the two orientation heads and the freshmen advisors have done an excellent job—everything was so well-planned that everything fell into place when the

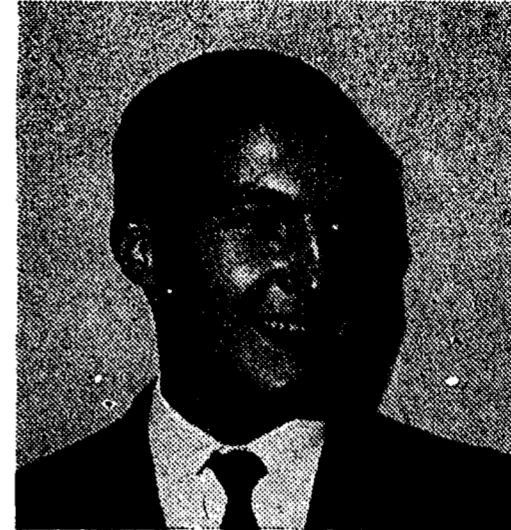

a good time. Freshmen orientation lectures are new this year—more concise, better, and more concentrated. After this week the freshman class will be ready to function as a unit, as part of the student body, and will be ready for Bloomsburg State."

Homecoming

Homecoming is the next major problem which will be tackled. Concerning this Steve stated that, "With a little luck and a lot of co-operation this year's homecoming should be bigger and better than ever. A new addition to the festivities will be the selection of a Homecoming Queen. Each organization and class that enters a float in the parade will be eligible to nominate a candidate for Queen."

Pep on campus is another area which will need revitalization. "We must let the football team, the basketball squad, our wrestlers and the other athletes know that we, the student body, are behind them 100%," Steve concluded.

Registrar Announces Information On Course & Curriculum Changes

Information concerning schedule changes and curriculum transfers was recently released by Mr. Robert Bunge, Registrar.

Students will not need Mr. Bunge's approval to change schedules as was done last semester. All changes this year must be initiated through the divisional chairmen. The signatures of both instructors involved must also be obtained before paying the schedule fee at the Business Office. The final step in the process is taking the completed form to the processing center where the schedule will actually be changed.

Mr. Bunge also listed the accepted reasons justifying a schedule change. Schedules may be changed for the following reasons only: conflicts, no lunch period between 11:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m., and any time a student desires to drop a course.

Students who feel that they have justification for a schedule change must present a data processing "printed schedule" to their curriculum director when they wish to discuss a possible schedule change. Were Advised

Mr. Bunge also stated that students were advised in the April 22 issue of the Maroon and Gold that schedules should be planned to make provision for participation in intercollegiate athletics, band, chorus, debating team, cheerleading, etc. They were also told to plan their schedules so that they would be able to work when their employer wanted them to, and commuters were reminded to plan their schedules around car pools.

Curriculum transfers or changes in majors were to be completed prior to May 14. Freshmen were advised that they could not change their curriculum after a certain deadline this summer. They should apply now if they desire to change but the change will not be effective until the second semester.

Freshmen were sent cards which were to be returned indicating not only certain courses in which they wanted to enroll, but also any extracurricular activities such as intercollegiate sports, musical organizations and others which require practice sessions late in the afternoon. Whenever possible the schedules of these students were prepared so as to avoid classes after 3:00 p.m. but due to certain math and science afternoon classes this could not always be done.

All Students interested in working at the college must complete the Parents Confidential Statement form, available from the Dean of Student's office or the Director of Financial Aid.

Scrimgeour, Financial Aid Director Releases Changes in Aid Program

A new financial aid brochure for BSC has been released and shows a substantial change in previous policy. Among the most important are affiliation with the College Scholarship Service of Princeton, New Jersey; an increase in the ceiling of NDEA loans along with easing of requirements; and an increase in the number of assistance programs.

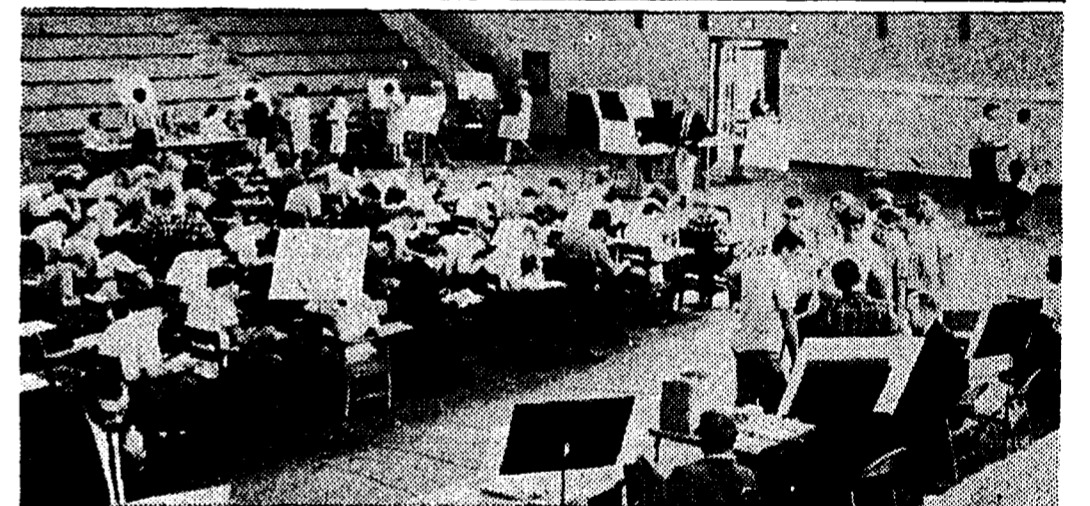

John S. Scrimgeour, newly appointed Director of Financial Aid, stated, "There are a number of new programs in financial aid, and if a student keeps himself apprised of what is available and the deadlines for applying, there is little reason for him to want for funds." Scrimgeour was emphatic in pointing out the importance of the new brochure and of the students reading it carefully.

Aid Prerequisite

Prerequisite for nearly all financial aid is the Parents' Confidential Statement which can be obtained and must be returned to the College Scholarship Service, Box 176, Princeton, New Jersey. The application deadline for a loan, work-study program, scholarship, or grant for the second semester is December 1, 1966.

Program Revised

An important change in the National Defense Student Loan Program has been to double the amount of money allowed a student in any one year, raising it from $500 to $1,000. In addition, previous accumulative and semester average requirements have been changed to accept those students with a straight 2-0 average.

Pictured above are some of the more than 3100 students who registered on Monday and Tuesday. Registration went very smoothly due to a well-planned system, and no major "jams" were reported.
