McHale To Direct

As their second production of the 1970-71 college year the Bloomsburg Players will present the three-act drama, Summertree, under the direction of Mr. Michael J. McHale, to be presented December 9, 10, 11, 12.

Mr. McHale, an associate professor of speech as well as a theatre director, is in his seventh year at Bloomsburg. In the past he has directed such fine shows as Tartuffe, The Trojan Women, You Can't Take It With You, Taming of the Shrew, Tea House of the August Moon, The Second Shepherd's Play, Twelfth Night, My Sister Eileen, I Remember Mama, Henry IV, The Odd Couple, and, most recently, Hamlet. Mr. McHale has brought to the stage of BSC a wealth of experience in theatre, radio, and television. He started his theatre career at the University of Pittsburgh after which he went on to work in such outstanding organizations as the Pittsburgh Opera Society, director of the Pitt Players, director of the York Little Theatre, the Cain Park Theatre, the Rice Playhouse and Antioch Shakespearean Festival. He has taught at Penn State, Southern Illinois, and Fairmont State College prior to his position here.

For Summertree, Mr. McHale has employed a double cast which will require a double amount of planning and directing on his part. He is also planning to make Summertree a "Theatre in the round" production, which will put the audience on stage with the actors rather than out in the auditorium seats. This will create a more intimate and personal atmosphere for both the actors and the audience.

The box office for Summertree will open on December 2 and will remain open on weekdays from 10:00 - 12:00 a.m. and 1:00 - 4:00 p.m. Tickets may also be obtained by writing to the college, Box 298 or by calling 784-4660, Ext. 317. All seats will be general admission.

HELP US HELP HIM — FIVE YEAR OLD STANLI BAKAYNATHAN GAMBRAN, A CHILD OF INDIA AND PHI SIGMA PI.

PSP Sponsors Club

Once again the brothers of Iota Chapter, Phi Sigma Pi, are concentrating their efforts on their bi-annual "fund-raising activity." This year, as in the past, proceeds from the activity will be used to support the fraternity's foster child, Stanli, a native of India.

From now until the week prior to Christmas Break, the brothers will be selling 50-50 tickets at fifty cents each. Rather than offer a collection of small prizes the brothers decided to make it as worthwhile as possible by having only one grand prize — fifty per cent of the total amount of money collected. That means, if the fraternity collects $2,000, the prize will be $1,000. (That wouldn't be too hard to take now would it?)

An additional nicety is that the drawing will be held December 17th, which means that THE MONEY WILL BE AWARDED BEFORE CHRISTMAS. You really can't afford not to take a chance. So please, HELP US HELP ... the rewards may be two-fold.

Pol. Sci. Dept. Sponsors Mini-U. N.

In mid-March, the Political Science Department will sponsor a Model United Nations.

The purpose of this undertaking is to afford a heightened awareness concerning the workings of the U. N. for the participating students. It will also serve as a laboratory for political science majors where they can become more aware of the processes of simulations and models.

The organization of the project will be under the direction of a steering committee made up of twelve undergraduate and two graduate students. The graduate students, Kathie Cahill and Mary Fran Pelot are political science majors who have had experience involving the organization of such models. They both played roles on the steering committee of the successful Simulated Republican Convention which was staged at BSC in March, 1968.

The topics that will come under discussion at the model UN are of world-wide importance and of major significance to students here and throughout the country. For those interested in political questions, the situation in the Middle East and the admission of Red China to the UN will be covered. Students majoring in biology and for others interested in ecology, the question of international environmental pollution is on the agenda. For students interested in man, the question of human rights in armed conflict will be treated. Also, for those business and economic majors interested in monetary matters, the annual budget of the UN will be drawn up, including the amount of money to be collected from each member state and allocations of money will be made to organizations of the UN. These are a few examples of what will be treated.

A point of interest concerning the model UN is that foreign exchange students in the Bloomsburg area will be encouraged to attend in order to provide a more realistic atmosphere.

There are 127 delegations in the UN representing the 127 member states. There will be a minimum of two and a maximum of five members of a delegation in the model UN.

If you are interested in participating in the UN, it will help in preparing you for the Simulated Democratic National Convention to be held next Spring (1972) at BSC.

For further information on the model UN contact: Kathie Cahill or Mary Fran Pelot, PO box, Montour Hall.

Ensemble To Perform

Area baroque players performed most recently in a service at Danville Mahoning Presbyterian Church dedicated to the life of J. S. Bach. The Reverend Robert H. Loughborough spoke on the life of the great baroque master, and in addition to works by Bach the Ensemble played four-part compositions by Purcell, Rimadier, and Boismortier of the same period.

On Tuesday, December the 3th with additional members the baroque group will play an afternoon chamber concert at 4:00 p.m. in the Bakeless Faculty Lounge at B.S.C. As usual all residents of the community are invited to attend. Besides repertory works of the 18th century there will be Christmas music, including a more contemporary canonic setting of Es ist Ros entsprungen.

The Baroque Ensemble was organized at about this time last year and has played during Inauguration week at the college, at a Renaissance program dedicated to regional ecology, and at several churches in this area. Three members are in the faculty at B. S. C.: Profs. Brooke, Richman and Smithner.

There will be a meeting of all second semester student teachers in Carver Hall, Wednesday, December 9, at 3:30 p.m.

The meeting is held under the direction of Warren Johnson, Chairman of the Department of Elementary Education, and A.J. McDonnell, Coordinator of Secondary Student Teaching. Dr. Merritt Sanders will initiate undergraduate record registration and Mr. Thomas Davies will discuss placement services and register students who wish to start placement credentials at the meeting.

Professor Donald T. Hartman, of Juniata College will read a paper entitled "DESCARTES: SUBSTANCES AND THE WAX EXAMPLE" on Friday evening, Dec. 4th at 7:30 p.m. in the alumni room of Waller Hall.

Professor Hartman's paper is an attempt to show what Descartes intended with the wax example, and to assess the validity of the attempt, both on its grounds and in modern terms. The doctrine of substances is also explained, the major differences between Aristotle and Descartes having some bearing on the matter.

Faculty and students are cordially invited to attend. There will be refreshments following.

Three BSC students were injured Monday morning in an auto accident en route to BSC from Mount Carmel following the Thanksgiving break. Injured were Louise Hartman, Fr., Sec. Ed.; Margaret Hartman, Sr., Biol.; and Trina Vernon, Fr., Elem. Ed. Two of the students were admitted to the Ashland State General Hospital. Heavy fog was indicated as a factor in the State Police report.

Election Results

Unofficial Student Faculty Elections results are as follows: from College Council: Tom Brennan (232 votes), Janet Boyanowski (213 votes), Mike Pillagalli (209 votes), Mike Hock (182 votes), Mike Siptroth (177 votes) and Janice Orłowsky (151 votes). From the student body at large: Mary Wachter (146 votes), Bob Becker (157 votes), Elmer Chase III (146 votes), Steven G. Myers (143 votes), Mark Constable (120 votes), and Jim Davis (115). One candidate at large who obtained 114 votes intends to ask for a recall. Approximately 4,000 students were eligible to vote for up to six representatives in this second ballot. The first ballot (Nov. 18 and 19) was declared invalid shortly after it started due to an error on the ballot form. The election was held Monday and Tuesday in the temporary Student Union.

Study Offered in Argentina

An Inter-American Student exchange program initiated by the Inter-cambio Cultural Interamericano of Buenos Aires, Argentina is presently functioning at Indiana University of Pennsylvania. Bloomsburg State College is cooperating in this program, hosting an Argentine student, Miss Graciela Maldonado, this school year. In return, we are being offered the opportunity to have two or three of our students go to Argentina for two months this coming summer. Students selected for this exchange will go in a group with students from Indiana University, leaving June 25th, 1970 and returning on August 25th. Tentative cost of the trip is $795.00.

This includes air fare from New York City to Buenos Aires and return. It also includes tuition for six credits—three in conversational Spanish and three credits in a special studies course within the students' major—and a health insurance charge.

Students will be hosted by Argentine families. Those who have made the trip previously are enthusiastic about this phase of the program. An ability to converse in Spanish is required. Anyone wishing further information about this program, please contact Dr. Robert Miller, Chairman of the International Education Committee, Room 223, Waller Hall.

FAR FROM AN ACTIVE CROWD

"Everyone's bitching and moaning, and we don't even have 10 percent."

That's what the guy said after I voted in the Student-Faculty Senate election. It was 2:00 p.m. on the last day of voting and only 302 had voted.

Are there that many people on campus who don't have five minutes to cast a vote, who didn't know about the election, or who just didn't give a damn?

The student body of Bloomsburg State College is far from being an active crowd. Nearly four thousand in number, only a small percentage of this body run the organizations, elect the officers, and voice opinions. The others are too busy sitting on their dotts and damning everything from ARA to Zeta Psi.

A victim of this apathetic blight is the organizational meeting. Clubs, bands, staffs, classes, become ineffectual entities when their "backbone" is gone. And why is it gone? Because "they do nothing". Put how in the world can they engage in any activity when less than 10 percent of their members show up for a meeting.

A disastrous freshman meeting was held before the Thanksgiving recess-November 19 to be exact. Out of the nearly one thousand in the class only 5 percent attended.

Campus happenings all-to-often go unnoticed, and if they are noticed, nothing more is done. Rather than getting out to take a definite stand behind any issue, or working to get a movement off the ground and see it through to the end-good or bad-kids sit in the Union crying in their Cokes.

Fortunately there are some who come to BSC ready to stand up and be heard, rather than sit back and take it easy.

Some feel that these people-being new to BSC-know nothing of the campus affairs and situations. On the contrary, they do know, often times more than some of the "four-year residents."

In all likelihood, it will be the "5 percenters", the Skoks, the Siegfrieds, the Hocks, the Peacocks, and the Brennans who will continue an active participation in the college and get the most out of it. It will be these people-the active minority-who will graduate with anything close to an education.

LETTERS

Dear Editor:

I was present at the November 11 Bashore Revenge Rally. However, I did not remain for the "standing ovation" or the "tears" as reported by Al Yates. I was taken ill early in the class period and stayed only twenty minutes.

Lately I've been subject to a chronic ailment brought on by displays of blatant regressive nationalism. ATTENTION: The individual is now exercising one of her "God-given" rights. My illness usually takes the form of acute indigestion. My stomach was turned, in this case, not by the blood-and-guts oration. I have a simple aversion to such enlightening discourses on the good old days of our country's past wars. I live in the present. I am concerned with peace.

But, as we all should realize, the Majority rules. So let us go down on our humble, God-fearing knees in praise of Mars and his little pedagogues all over the nation. Let's rally for the perpetuation of war and human suffering. By this there may be more My Lai, more Biafras, more Kent States. Let's continue our silence and obedience to our Big Brother, while the world collapses around us.

I've heard it all before - I won't accept it.

Messrs. Nixon and Agnew notwithstanding, I still believe in the existence of humanity. Those of you in the class who were silent, were, I hope thinking. Silence does not necessarily imply agreement. It may represent patience, courtesy, or fear.

On November 13, I might add, a rather free discussion took place, involving students, at that same time and place. Mr. Bashore was forced to allow equal

"I think it rots."

Those four words seem to sum up the general consensus of opinion concerning the proposed 1971-72 school calendar.

Several weeks ago, a committee was appointed to decide on the school calendar for the 71-72 school year. One of the sample calendars submitted to the committee was outlined as follows: Classes would start Sept. 1 and the Final Exam week would end on 12 noon Dec. 24, with appropriate days off at Thanksgiving. Students would register on Tues., August 31, and second semester would start Jan. 24 and end late in May with approximately ten days off for Easter.

The M&G decided to find out just how some of the students felt about this universal plan. Although our sample was small, we felt that we would pass on the result to the rest of the college, along with a few of the more interesting comments we received:

"Summer school ends only a day or two before the fall semester begins, and I wanted to go to summer school."

"I don't think I could take a whole month at home."

"What can you do during January?"

"They better not pass that new calendar! Me leaving a day before Christmas?"

"I don't like it because that month would be a waste. January is a lousy time for a vacation, not everyone skis."

On Thursday, December 3, the committee met to consider an alternate calendar, similar to the one now in use. A final decision will be made in the near future. The M&G would appreciate further student opinion concerning the calendar. Drop your thoughts in Box 301, Waller Hall.

What with all the nonsense flying about the campus in recent weeks, we feel that it is only proper to reply to some of the garbage. Specifically, we refer to the notorious "Open Letter to the Students No. 1". Threats and illiteracy are not means by which to solve BSC's problems. Concerning the "advancements" of BSC over the past year: What are they? A few token concessions to student desires coupled with the dismissal of a number of faculty members or threats to others do not an improvement make. We realize that the failure to initiate more varied courses or hire new faculty to teach such courses stems from budgetary problems resulting from the utter ineptitude of the General Assembly; however, other problems cannot be so easily pushed off even on the State Government. Those who wrote this "letter" accuse Brennan and others of easily falling under the influence of fallacious ideologies. Are not the "Open Letter" hoods falling under the spell of the administration? Rather gullible, aren't they?

One of the statements made at the recent Pennsylvania State College Press Association Convention at Lock Haven State College by the Public Relations Director of the Williamsport Area Community College was as follows: "A good Administration nullifies the need for underground newspapers." At Bloomsburg we have not only the Gadfly, but also things like the Gladly and "Open Letters." What's more, the Gadfly serves the useful purpose of informing students of unfortunate events and serious administrative shortcomings which the Maroon & Gold finds too "controversial" to relate. Perhaps the administration should take note of these things instead of ignoring their responsibilities of fairness, good judgment, and expertise. It is not the student press nor the student under-

You've just gotten back to your room and you still don't believe it. You can't understand how in ten minutes your whole world can die. One minute she was beautiful, just sitting there kind of quiet, and then the dam broke, and she poured herself out.

"We've had a lot of good times, wonderful times." That was her first line, if only she had stopped right there. But she hadn't. She had gone on to say that she just felt the need to move on. There was a time when she thought it would never end, but that time had passed. Now she hoped that we could still be friends.

You had gotten up and gone home. And now you're all alone with just your head and you just

Went to See the Gypsy

When Mick Jagger sang that song of his "on bended knees, my love," everybody thought he was singing to some chick named Lady Jane. Well, maybe. But it could just be the subject of the doo-wah ditty was a bit hairier than that. Could be Jagger had read "Lady Chatterley's Lover." Could be some radio stations (too late) caught on. Could be why ya never hear "Lady Jane" on W. Harry L. Magee anymore. Could be Jagger's little pun has made him public enemy No. 1. Just like D. H. Lawrence was in his day.

Yeah, D. H. Lawrence. They musta made jokes at the time, stuff like "Lawrence's mind is like a canal." It took the Supreme Court to get Lady C. by, what with all those corruptible innocents getting their John Thomases up. But anyway—"The Horse Dealer's Daughter" and "The Rocking-Horse Winner" have ended up in lit texts. And just a few years back there was this movie with these two Foxy ladies...

Sez the press release: "D. H. Lawrence's last and most penetrating manuscript, 'The Virgin and the Gypsy,' was discovered and published after his death in 1930. It created a furor, some critics maintaining the work was an erotic masterpiece, others that it should be kept out of the hands of decent people." And if that doesn't get ya to see it...

Pussy Galore. You know, Honor Blackman, the original Avenger who got gales of hoots in "Goldfinger," the gal who took Sean Connery to a Hebrew bakery and showed him some Jew dough. She's the gal. Bond musta appealed to her maternal instincts, remember? Honor Blackman, she's in it. So's a bunch of other people. Like the virgin. And she's no gyp, see? And Honor Blackman, Pussy Galore.

Come, see it. It'll make the Columbia Theatre people happy. It'll make D. H. Lawrence happy. It'll make you happy. It'll make your girl happy. And maybe it'll appeal to her maternal instincts. Like Honor Blackman's, And Pussy Galore's. And Tricia Nixon's really a test-tube baby. Oh my sweet Lady....Jane....

Husky Cagers Take To The Hardboards

The Bloomsburg State College Husky basketball squad opened its season on December 2, when it traveled to West Chester State College to meet the Rams in an important Eastern Pennsylvania Conference game.

Following a hard workout just prior to the Thanksgiving vacation, Coach Earl Voss stated that after a month of practice including some scrimmages with area teams, the Huskies had shown only spotty periods of good performance. "We are going to have to start to put it all together soon," he stated, "particularly, when we open with such a strong team as West Chester. Actually, we don't have any breathers on our schedule this year and it will be difficult to top last year's 15-8 record." Last year the Huskies didn't meet West Chester in their two games until the latter part of the season. West Chester won the first game 97-86 and Bloomsburg came out on top in its home contest 81-74.

Although West Chester lost two outstanding starters in Vic Schuster and Dean Founds through graduation and 6'9" Jay Dotti and Stan Henderson through academic reasons, the Rams under coach Walt Funk are expected to field one of their usual fine teams. Back for their third straight year are co-captains Tom Hauer and Mike Holland, both backcourt men, and Todd Danner and Steve Roth, inside performers. Funk feels that Hauer and Holland give West Chester one of the strongest backcourts in the Philadelphia area. Two untried junior transfers Dennis White, formerly at Cheyney State, and Chuck DeLutis, formerly of the University of North Carolina, are vying for the fifth starting position. West Chester opened its 23 game schedule on Tuesday, December 1, at Glassboro State College.

Coach Voss, who is in his fifth year as head coach at PSC feels that last year's 15-8 record including a 92-90 loss in double overtime to Mansfield S.C. in the NAIA District 19 playoffs, will be difficult to top because of many outstanding ballplayers returning throughout the Pennsylvania Conference.

Seven returning lettermen, coupled with some good size in the sophomore candidates, give Bloomsburg the best height advantage it has had in recent years. However, Voss will be hard pressed to replace several key players lost through graduation including captain Bob Snyder last year's leading scorer with a 17.0 p.p.g. average, who was an outstanding playmaker and leader; Mark Yancheck, who averaged 16.7 p.p.g. and was the team's third leading rebounder; Larry Monaghan, outstanding dribbler and sharpshooter; and Bill Mastropietro, defensive specialist.

The key to a successful season depends on how well the Huskies play what Voss considers the "name of the game," defense. Leading the returning veterans are captain-elect 6'3" Jim Platakis, a senior from West Hazleton, last year's leading rebounder with 11.8 p.p.g. and an excellent inside shot, and 6'5" Howard Johnson, a junior from New Castle, Del., second in rebounding with 10.4 p.p.g.; both averaged 13.6 and 12.6 p.p.g. respectively. They will be joined by 6'3"

Iowa Slated For 1970 Grapplers Season

Iowa State University, the number one wrestling team of the nation for the past two years, will be one of the opponents which provides Bloomsburg State College with the toughest schedule in the history of the college. Iowa State will be at Bloomsburg on Friday, January 8, for a meet at 8:00 p.m.

In addition, the Huskies will participate in three quadrangular meets, the Wilkes Tournament, and will face such leading Pennsylvania State College powerhouses as Lock Haven, Clairton, East Stroudsburg, Slippery Rock, California, and West Chester — any one of which could be this season's conference champion. Other strong independents of the Bloomsburg schedule are Waynesburg and Oswego.

Coach Russ Houk lost only three starters and has seven returning lettermen from last year's team that placed ninth in the NAIA and had a 11-5 season's record. The main loss through graduation was Arnold Thompson, team captain, who was a two time Pennsylvania Conference champion and placed third in the NAIA national tournament. Coach Houk feels that the success of his 14th year at the helm of the Huskies will depend on whether the seven returning lettermen, including four seniors, stay healthy. The four seniors are co-captains Jim McCue, Bernardsville, N. J., heavyweight (1968-69 Pennsylvania Conference champion with a 4th place finish in NAIA), and Mike Shull, Newport, 118 lbs.; plus Wayne Smythe, Lancaster, 134 lbs., and John Weiss, Summerdale, 142

Swimmers Open At Temple

Aiming for its fifth consecutive winning season, the swimming team of Bloomsburg State College opened its dual meet competition against the strong Owls of Temple University at Philadelphia on Wednesday, December 2, at 4:00 p.m.

Bloomsburg has yet to defeat Temple in swimming since the series between the two teams began in 1963. Two years ago the Owls just nosed the Huskies out 54-50. Last year Temple won rather handily 67-37.

Temple is coached by Chick Webb who took over the reins from Joe Fedeur who resigned prior to the 1969-70 season. The Owls, who face a number of the top colleges and universities in the state, are in the Middle-Atlantic Conference and last year posted a 10-4 record.

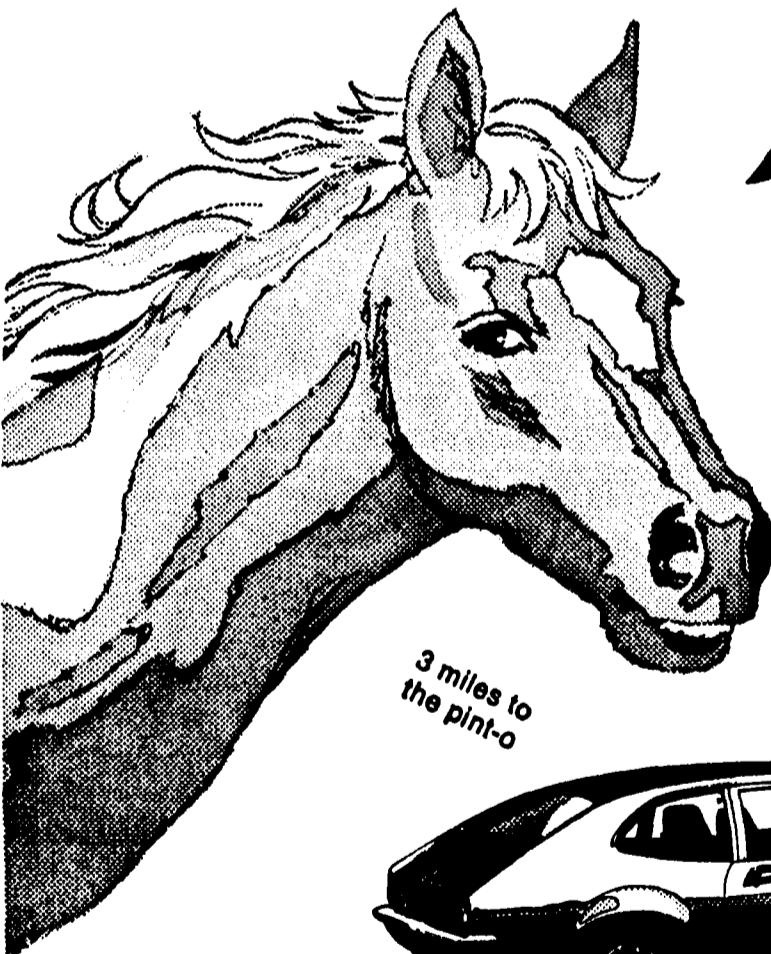

Webb has an outstanding freestyle relay team in three sophomores — Don Gallagher, Kyle Robinson and Joe Walent. Two freshmen who are expected to perform well for the Owls are Don Allen, a diver from Reading, Pennsylvania, who finished third in the Pennsylvania State High School Championships, and Wayne King Palmyra, N. J., who has been an AAU Champion and performs in the backstroke and individual medley. Bob Elwell, a diver, and Marty Lavin, butterfly, are senior co-captains of the team.

The Huskies had their initial competition of the season when they participated in the Monmouth (N. J.) Relays on November 14, and finished third. Coach Eli McLaughlin who returns from sabbatical leave to resume his role as head coach which he began in 1961, faces the task of trying to improve last year's fine 10-3 record.

Lettermen returning are: seniors — Lee Barthold, Bethlehem, breaststroke and individual medley; Jim Carlin, Drexel Hill, breaststroke; and Dave Kelter, Swarthmore, breaststroke and individual medley. Juniors are: John Feyrer, Bethlehem, 500 and 1,000 yard freestyle; Bob Herb, Easton, 50 and 100 yard freestyle and freestyle relay; Ken Narsewicz, Whitehall, 100 and 200 yard freestyle and freestyle relay; Bob Jones, Easton, backstroke. Sophomores are: Stephan Coleman, Reading, diving; Dave Gibas, West Mifflin, 50 and 100 yard freestyle and freestyle relay; Jim Koehler, Media, medley relay and breaststroke; Bob Myers, Lancaster, diver; Jon Stoner, Coatesville, 200 yard freestyle and freestyle relay; Doug Yocum, Pottstown, medley relay, 500 and 100 freestyle; Bruce Goff, Maple Glen, 50 and 100 yard freestyle. Freshmen are: Dennis Scholl, Emmaus, breaststroke; Jim Slamon, Wilkes-Barre, butterfly; and Fred Steinhart Mt. Carmel, backstroke.

McLaughlin expects this year's opponents to provide the strongest competition in more than a decade. However, the Huskies in workouts to date have shown a great deal of desire and enthusiasm which could get them off to one of the best starts in recent years.

EDITORS NOTE: Results of the Temple meet will also appear in the December 9 issue.

lbs. (third in Penn. Conference). Other lettermen are Frank Saranelli, a junior from Dover, N.J., 134 lbs.; Doug Grady, a junior from Hatboro, 158-67 lbs. (third in Penn. Conference, third in NAIA); Ron Sheehan, a sophomore from Drexel Hill, 190 lbs. (sixth in NAIA); and Bob Hummel, a sophomore from Lemoyne, heavyweight (third in Penn. Conference).

Houk, who now has an overall BSC record of 131 wins, 26 losses, and 3 ties, will be ably assisted by William Sproule who also serves as football offensive line coach. Houk is also serving his 14th year as Athletic Director, and is a member of the U.S. Olympic Wrestling Committee and is serving as NAIA Chairman for district 19 for the second year.

Applications are now being accepted for the editorship of the Pilot, the student handbook of BSC. Some experience is helpful but not necessary. The editor, to be paid under the work-study program, will begin work on the PILOT as soon as he is selected. This will include preliminary work as the layout, the handbook, format, and securing of a printer. This will eliminate work needed through the summer months usually necessary for the completion of the PILOT for the fall semester of the college year. Applications for PILOT editorship should be sent to Mr. Kenneth Hoffman, Director of Publications.

utes. You don't understand how he's ever gotten through college, let alone how he got to teach in one. On the way down the hill, a scathing letter-to-the-editor begins to take shape...

Have you ever felt that way, just felt like letting the whole world know how you feel? Have you ever felt like ripping off the top of your head and spilling the contents out in front of Carver for all the world to see? You have...we all have. And that's the point of this whole thing. You can let the world (or at least Bloomville) know how much you like or hate the way its treating you. You can let it know about the beautiful things you can't live without, and about the ugly things that you won't live with.

How can you do it? Write. The Maroon and Gold needs you. And it's the easiest thing in the world (or Bloomsburg) to do. Just walk in, (we're the friendliest people in the world) tell us what you feel like writing and one of us will immediately yell out "Good, do it. Glad to have ya." It's that easy.

And if your writing runs in a literary vein, there is the Olympian. Take your poems, short stories, Essays or One Act Plays to the Waller Hall Post Office and ask the nice lady to put it in box 293. At that great moment, somewhere on campus Allen Maurer, famed editor, will magically yell "Good, do it, Glad to have ya." So give it a try, you'll be pleasantly surprised. j. p. s.

Chokola To Talk On Pollution

Gamma Theta Upsilon will present "Pollution Profiteering versus Corporate Social Responsibility" by Mr. Peter T. Chokola, President of Chokola Beverage Company, on Tuesday, December 8, 1970 at 7:30 p.m. in Hartline Lecture Room 83. Mr. Chokola will talk about the Crusade for a Cleaner Environment and its objective to eliminate the can and throw-away bottles for beer and soft drinks. Within the bottling industry he has caused quite a furor by proposing that the National Soft Drink Association impose on its members a voluntary ban on the use of throw-away containers. All interested students, faculty and area citizens are invited to attend this lecture to learn what can be done to eliminate the throw-away can and bottle.
