United Student Party Platform Calls For More Student Control

United Student Party members, Mike Siproth, Jane Elmes, and Richard Scott, recently outlined their platform for the upcoming C.G.A. officer elections.

The platform will include the following ten objectives:

(1) The encouragement of a change in philosophy by the Administration as related to the relationship of students in the governing of the college.

(2) Increased student par-

Presidents Statement

Dr. Robert Nossen, President of the College, has released a statement saying he supports that part of College Council's motion which involves the invitation of certain members of the Harrisburg Six to the campus on Thursday, March 18, at 8 p.m. He said the college will cooperate with this program, providing the facility for the event and those auxiliary services generally associated with such programs.

He has directed that the Francis B. Haas Center for the Arts be made available for the program rather than Carver.

However, Dr. Nossen said he cannot, in good conscience, support the $500 appropriation from the Profits of the Bookstore, since a review of past expenditures does not indicate monies appropriated for any outside speakers. He recommended that since the College is contributing the facility and auxiliary services, an appropriate admission fee be charged, or donation collected, if needed for the success of the program.

He also suggested that if College Council wishes to establish a precedent in the future of paid speakers whose fees would come from reserve funds, this issue should be studied by an appropriate Council committee with specific recommendations and guidelines submitted to his office for evaluation and possible implementation.

participation in formulating the policies of the college.

(3) Attempting to formulate a closer cooperative relationship between the college, the community of Bloomsburg, and the people of the surrounding areas.

(4) Formulating a closer working relationship with the Student-Faculty Senate, and encouragement of actions to increase student membership.

(5) Support for the Black Student Society and the encouragement of other organizations which are attempting to make B.S.C. a better college.

(6) Consideration of the establishment of an American Civil Liberties Union chapter at B.S.C.

(7) Restructuring of the C.G.A. by forming more student committees of a fact-finding nature. The formation of a Constitutional Revision committee, which will review the present Constitution and offer recommendations.

(8) Support for a Student Information Center, either as a function of the C.G.A. or as an independent organization.

ORGANIZATION.
(9) Recommending that the Student Mobilization Organization (S.M.O.) receive permanent committee status by the C.G.A.

(10) Support for the Joint Statement on Student Rights and the possible formation of an organization to protect student rights.

Further statements from the candidates included these views and opinions:

Mike Siproth: "The following are some of the main objectives which I, if elected, will work toward accomplishing.

"The Senate and the C.G.A. should be the final policy-making bodies pertaining to student-faculty affairs. In the past year, as Sophomore Class President and a member of C.G.A., I have come to realize that there is no avenue for student input in the decision-making process at this college. This absence of any meaningful input has led to a general attitude of futility on the part of the students concerning student government. By being elected CGA President, I hope to change the traditional attitude of the Administration in regards to this matter."

Jane Elmes: "The essence of understanding people and solving problems is communication. My previous experience in varsity debate and public speaking, and in student government, has been centered on establishing the means of communication between administrators, faculty members, and students. As CGA Vice-President, I hope to continue to follow this objective."

Richard Scott: "The Constitution of the C.G.A. is presently non-functional. There are several reasons why I am a candidate for Parliamentarian, but basically I hope to help reform and rewrite the entire Constitution. The organization is now hampered by the Constitution, but the C.G.A. could be a powerful body. With a new Constitution, the C.G.A. could regain some of the power which a student organization must have to be effective."

Members of the United Student Party recently invited their opposition to a debate, to be held on Wednesday March 17 at 7:00 p.m. in Carver. The response from the opposition was negative. The USP candidates, Mike Siproth, Jane Elmes, and Rich Scott, will be in Carver on Wednesday, March 17 at 7:00 p.m. to meet with any interested student about the USP platform and objectives. The meeting will be a general question and answer rap session. They welcome any and all comments.

Briefs

Thirty percent of the BSC student body went to the polls last week to cast votes for CGA Treasurer in the primary election. Final tally of the votes showed Victor Wills—480, Kirk Zurn—366, and Jim Nallo—363.

Twelve hundred thirty-one votes were cast and of these, 1209 were valid.

Wills and Zurn will go to the final elections on March 24 and 25, Wednesday and Thursday.

Results of the Student Mobilization Organization's poll were incorrectly reported in last Friday's Maroon and Gold.

One-thousand nine hundred twenty-eight students were polled rather than the eleven hundred and twenty-eight reported.

Also in question number nine, 7.9 percent replied no rather than 37.9 percent. Further, question number twelve was omitted. It asked, Do you feel final exams should be mandatory? Yes—3.16 percent, No—94.5 percent, Don't know—804 percent, and Indifferent—1.45 percent.

Black Society Lays Program On Soc. Dept.

A series of decisions to improve relationships and understanding between black students enrolled at BSC and the white students, faculty and administration were reached at a meeting held Thursday.

A group of approximately fifteen representatives of the Black Student Society, the Department of Sociology and members of the administration engaged in a lengthy discussion of problems and consensus of black students in a predominantly white institution.

Dr. John A. Hoch, vice-president for Academic Affairs, presided over the meeting which was planned by Glenn Lang of Levittown, President of the Black Student Society; Teresa Hoover, Red Lion, society secretary; Tom Cooper, admissions director and Joe Cortese, one of the society's faculty advisors.

Lang presented the objectives of the society and emphasized the positive aspects of the organization's plans for the future. He expressed concern over the failure of most college faculty members to present a realistic and true picture of the racial problems that beset American society in general and the Bloomsburg campus in particular.

In his presentation, Lang indicated that the role of the present-day instructor should be that of a mediator and a surveyor of truth rather than a judge of human values. He urged that faculty members become acquainted with recently published books, dealing with the black-white issue, and he

Dr. Robert C. Miller, Chairman of the Committee on International Education has announced that the Pennsylvania Partners of the Alliance are attempting to assist a college of education in the state of Bahia, Brazil, which is Pennsylvania's sister state under the Partners of the Alliance program.

One form of assistance is through providing both professional and general literature to help build the library holdings of this school of education. He has stated that if any student or faculty member has books which they wish to contribute, they can contact him in Waller 222 or by phone at extension 330.

presented a number of valuable suggestions in augmenting instructional programs with workshops, seminars, field trips to the ghettos, films and film strips.

The students offered a list of books, speakers, films and periodicals that they felt should be available in the college library and bookstore and used in courses. Dr. Ralph Ireland, chairman of the sociology department, said obtaining the books for the library and bookstore was no problem and Dr. Hoch added that the college was looking for just such concrete recommendations.

Other society members suggested the importance of beginning a "grass roots program" to stamp out racial myths and untruths in the town. An effort is now being made to effect this kind of program, which will help townspeople to become acquainted with the problem of the Afro-American in his struggle for true equality.

During the meeting, an interesting proposal was made to help break down racial barriers by exposing white students to the problems of a black community by setting up, in cooperation with other Pa. colleges, a "live-in" experience for college credit.

Dr. Hoch noted that the "college without walls" idea was favored by Dr. Nossen, and hoped such programs would be developed at BSC.

Members of the sociology department were interested in other suggestions, including an interdisciplinary approach to the problem of black studies, sensitivity programs, and an ongoing dialogue with members of the department to open lines of communication between faculty and students.

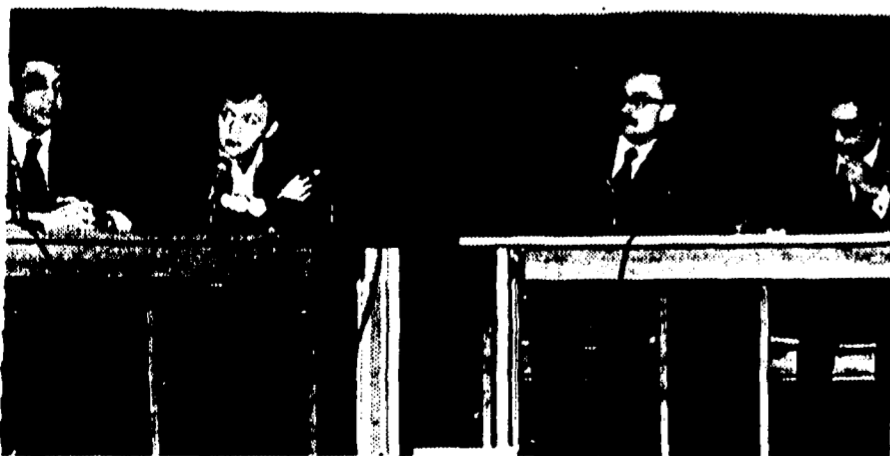

A student said Reverend Jay Rochelle, a campus chaplain is qualified to train persons in sensitivity techniques and

Moisse, Second Secretary, United Arab Republic; Mr. Hans DeBelder, First Secretary, Belgium; Mr. Tadeusz Strulack, First Secretary, Poland; and Mr. Munir Akram, First Secretary, Pakistan.

During the panel discussion, each member took some time to talk of major problems related to his country and the UN. This was followed by questions and answers from the floor which stimulated an overall discussion.

Friday, March 19, 1971, Ambassador Edward Hambro of Norway will speak on the "Crisis of the UN." The public is cordially invited to attend this presentation.

Black Power

by allan maurer

"It was an amiable and productive meeting," Dr. John Hoch, vice president for academic affairs, said following the meeting of the Black Student and the Sociology Department last Thursday afternoon. It was.

Although tension held the Alumni room in an easily sensed constricting grasp before the meeting began, Glenn Lang's calm voice explaining that the students were present to offer constructive suggestions, not complaints, loosened the atmosphere immediately.

So the receptivity of nearly everyone present to what was being said, the willingness of faculty members and administrators to listen, and the ease in which petty arguments were avoided, permitted the meeting to move.

There were a few moments of minor apprehension - such as when Mr. Schneck of the Soc. Dept. asked three quarters of the way through the meeting, "What's this meeting about?"

"I don't understand what we're here for, what is it exactly?" he asked Howard Johnson, a black student representative.

Mr. Johnson and Mr. Lang explained their ideas of what the meeting was all about to Mr. Schneck. What they said, that the meeting was to open communications, to stop problems before they become serious, and to begin working on problems already in existence, was a good description of "exactly" what had been happening in the meeting up to that time.

Another slight murmur occurred when the department was pressed, once by a black student and once by the reporter, to suggest how they stood on the question of adding a black student representative to the department. Dr. Ireland explained that the question would have to be put to the department and voted on in regular meeting, and added that although he didn't foresee any problems with the matter, things had to be done in a certain way.

REALITY #12

It is fairly obvious to college students across the country that the fraternity-sorority movement (that is, any frat that performs a purely social function) is dying if not already dead. Nationally, the movement began long ago in the era of newly organizing interschool athletic contests and was carried on into the raccoon coat era. The movement spread and reached its peak somewhere in the 1940's or 50's. The vital point is, the general consensus is that the movement has been on a decline since the end of World War II. Some students may not think this is the case, but this is probably because they think in terms of their own local campus. Unfortunately, but typically, the fraternity movement did not through which the individual member can protect himself from having to face any major emotional conflict. For example, some of these members feel no need to act friendly to people in general to attract friendships, because they already have a group of friends to which they may go to at any time to ease their feelings of loneliness. Furthermore, they get caught up in the apathy-like state of never getting involved in anything. Frat houses help spawn this state, by providing a place where the members may eat together, study together, work and play together. This kills the need of going to the Student Union, Library, or whatever, to seek out and find social contacts. Many times the members do venture out into the community, but usually it is as only a smaller version of their larger clique. Since they manifest their recreational needs in their own secure castle with the ever-powerful "membership moat", they have no need to get involved constructively in even purely social activities within the community.

Letter

Editor:

I would like to respond to Mike Yarmey's letter concerning his views on the Vietnam war. I too number among the 20 per cent who saw action in Southeast Asia. When I was there I felt as does Mr. Yarmey, but now, four years later, my views are quite different.

I believed that I was doing my duty as a patriot when I served in Vietnam. Today, however, knowing we have no intention of winning that insane war - indeed, never had such an intention, somehow makes the 13 months I spent there a useless, yes, obscene waste.

Assuming for a minute that we have the right to impose our form of government on another country, and further that we are fighting the communists to make the world safe for democracy, one has to ask why we are withdrawing. Since we are, in fact, withdrawing, then why in God's name are we allowing more young men to die in order to preserve Nixon's so-called "honor"? Would you be willing to be the last to die in a war - just or unjust - in an effort to satisfy some arbitrary timetable?

But, the point is that no one lost his cool in these instances. It was a level-headed meeting. If they continue, as Dr. Hoch said they will, with other departments, it would seem progressive changes, beneficial to blacks and whites, are in the offing at BSC, and the Black Student Society has taken the leadership role in instigating them.

Just from a personal viewpoint, I would say the BSS is the most effective group I've seen in action in three and a half years at this school. They sure have opened one hell of a lot of doors in two weeks, and if this is Black Power, I dig it.

start to organize at B.S.C. until 1963 or 1964. A.P.O. was chartered, at this period, as a service fraternity with the stipulation that membership required some past involvement with the Boy Scouts of America. You should realize that this was the basic premise for the beginning of the first fraternity at BSC.

The reason that it is unfortunate the movement hit Bloomsburg so late, is because what has taken place since 1963 at BSC and what is presently taking place (for example, compelling pledges to walk a plastic duck outside in the blizzard-like weather of March 4) should have happened 40 years ago. Instead, the campus community must presently and patiently accept the evolutionary processes of the frat movement. In other words, BSC, which presently makes use of many anachronisms itself, must watch the growing pains of another anachronism.

One totally wrong idea on campus is the feeling that one must "put down" frat members in order to be "in." Students should realize that in the course of living and growing emotionally all people have the need of a mechanism which can help them surmount their basic feelings of insecurity. You should realize that becoming a brother or sister (in a worthwhile frat) helps to ease this sense of insecurity. However, when a fraternity becomes nothing more than a small clique of people having the same beliefs, style of dress, or physical attributes, then there can be a problem. This problem affects not only the members of such a clique, but also the community of which they are a part.

The problem is that such cliques provide a convenient excuse or "cop-out" device

The need of easing insecurities is not confined to just the male sex, naturally. Hence the formation of sororities. It is sad to think that there might be people who join these conformity cliques just so they would not be forced into confrontations with the opposite sex. You must be aware that it is much easier for lonely people to stay in their frat house or dorm room with their hopefully sincere friendships, than it is to encounter and reach out to the endless types of people in the real world. Basically the danger of these cliques is their potential for turning warm, friendly, intelligent people into social-political "cop-out" artists.

The responsibility of helping these people should be in the hands of the entire college community. Everyone should reach out to them and help them develop the techniques that are necessary for enabling all peoples to live together peacefully and constructively. The joy and satisfaction of knowing you helped someone grow within himself is a wonderful and powerful thing. The world could use a lot more of it.

Think about it.

Free Dan and Phil

by Frank M. Pizzoli

In the act of burning draft records, performed by Dan and Phil Berrigan, an important idea came to the surface. The idea brought to light is that people in this country value property more than human life. In order to prove this point, the Berrigans decided to perform an act of civil disobedience in which they destroyed draft records. This act, strangely enough, aroused the Justice Department, the Cantonsville police, and the American public. Strangely, in a sense that this particular act was followed by swift police action resulting in the arrest of the Berrigans and seven others, the Cantonsville 9. Swift action in retaliation to an unlawful act proved the alertness of the police in Cantonsville. The general feeling provided by the press and relayed to the public confirmed America's belief in swift police action in order to curb unlawful acts. So then the Cantonsville police force and the American people are alert to the situation. The wrong situation. The fact is that the American people are more concerned with the single act of the Berrigans than they are with the Foreign Policy acts of their government, against which the Berrigans protested. It seems that the public is viewing the act of the Berrigans as an unlawful one and in that sense demanding action. Because of this view, the American public is blind to the fact that more than being unlawful it is protest against a greater obscene act performed by the government, namely war.

Why is it that the American people will pay more attention to single act, and its unlawful qualities, than the large scale actions of their government in Southeast Asia? Many Americans have made the war a secondary concern because of its length and their constant bombardment by the inflated press, and simply because of a non-concern created by the distance in miles from home to the war zone. So then a single isolated act, such as happened in Cantonsville, remarkably strikes the American people. Rather than reacting to the cause of the Berrigans act, or what influenced them, the trend is to react to the particular act resulting in no real blow to the problem, the war in Southeast Asia. So then rather than attack the problem, the American people attack the results of its cause. That's sad. Sad in a sense because this confirms one's beliefs that the American people value property in the form of draft records more than they do human life being ruined in Southeast Asia. This is confirmed by the fact that the people react against the Berrigans and their act and not the actions of their government, which are justified in the name of whatever seems to be convenient at the moment. Sad indeed.

Smythe & Hitchcock Place 1-2 In Nationals

By Jim Chapmen

Early last week several of the BSC wrestlers traveled with Coach Houk to the NAIA National Wrestling Championships at Boone, North Carolina. The wrestlers returned Monday, March 14 with one national champ, one runner up, one third place winner and a second place team trophy against competition which included 95 other wrestling schools. Central Washington won the team championship with a total of 56 points, and Bloomsburg placed second with 49. Central Washington-56 1st place Bloomsburg-49 2nd place Bemeijdi-46 3rd place Nebraska of Omaha-46 3rd place Upper Iowa-44 5th place

The wrestlers who made the trip were Mike Shull — senior, co-captain, who wrestled at 118; Randy Watts — Sophomore, at 134; Wayne Smythe — Senior, co-captain, at 142; Ron Sheehan — sophomore, who dropped to 167 for the Championship while Shorty Hitchcock represented the Huskies in the 177 lb. class.

Wayne Smythe sporting a (10-10) record entered the tournament as the 8th seeded wrestler in the 142th lb. competition. Wayne did it all by winning five consecutive matches to capture NAIA National Championship at 142 lbs. Wayne wrestled 5 times in route to the championship and registered one pin. In the quarter finals Wayne was wrestling Dex from Ogsburg College losing 2-0, then Wayne reversed him with a Petersen roll and cradled Dex to register a pin. Advancing to the semi-finals, Wayne was faced with the awesome task of wrestling Launderers of Central Washington, the defending NAIA Champ. Launderers who is noted for his take downs was suddenly surprised as Wayne got a take down for a 2-0 first period lead. In the second period, Wayne, assuming the top position, controlled Launderers for over two minutes accumulating riding time. In the third period, Wayne escaped and took Launderers to the mat and emerged with a well deserved 7-3 victory.

In the finals of 142 lb. division Wayne was pitted against Saxe from Bemeijdi, previously Saxe lost to Reppey of Lock Haven (an Eastern Regional Champ) by the score of 4-3 in last years competition.

After a scoreless first period, Wayne rode Saxe out for the entire second period amassing 3 minutes of riding time. In the third period Wayne reversed Saxe with a Peterson roll then utilized a Navy ride to force a predicament and give Wayne a 4-0 lead. With 30 seconds left in the match Saxe reversed Wayne making the score 4-2 but it was too late as Wayne emerged with a 5-2 victory and a National Championship. Congratulations, Wayne! Bloomsburg is proud of you!

Mike Shull wrestled at 118 lbs. and left Boone, N.C. with a third place finish. During the tournament, Mike wrestled 4 times, recording 3 wins, including 2 pins. Mike, employing his pancake to perfection, decked an early round opponent in 46 seconds, the second fastest pin of the tournament.

In the semi-finals, Mike was forced to wrestle Kanno of Central Washington, the top-seeded wrestler in the 118 lb. class.

In the first period, Mike received one point when Kanno was charged with a penalty point for grabbing the clothes. In the second period, Mike threw legs on Kanno and controlled him for over 2 minutes before Kanno escaped. Late in the second period, Kanno took Mike to the mat. In the third period, Mike escaped for one point, then Kanno got a take down making the score 7-5 in favor of Kanno. With 10 seconds remaining Mike "shot the bolognies" but Kanno took him down making the final score 9-5. In the match for third place Mike defeated Burkholder of Upper Iowa by a score of 3-1. Burkholder placed fifth in last year's NCAA Competition.

Shorty Hitchcock, sophomore state champ was devastating at the tournament as he advanced to the finals with four straight pins. One of the pins recorded by Shorty was against Rouchlean of Earlham who had previously recorded the fastest pin of the tournament, 43 seconds.

In the finals, Shorty wrestled Mel Washington whose brother had defeated Arnie Thompson of Bloomsburg in last year's tournament. In the final outcome Washington beat Shorty 14-4 but the match was a lot closer than the score indicated. Throughout the match, Shorty shot for the take down and never gave up. He looked impressive and following his match a few of the other coaches congratulated him for his fine performance.

Tankmen Take 3rd In State Swim

On Friday and Saturday March 12, and 13, the Husky swimming team traveled to California State College for the Pennsylvania State College Swimming Championships.

From the very start the meet was a battle between the league's two top powers, West Chester, five times defending league champions, and last year's runner up Clarion State College. The other battle was to be between East Stroudsburg and Bloomsburg for third.

Clarion swam a tremendous meet taking first place 402.5 to West Chester's 367.5. Bloomsburg got revenge by beating out Stroudsburg for third place by a score of 216.0 to 190.0. Outstanding performances were turned in by Dave Gibas who broke 2 conference records in both the 50 freestyle 22.7 and the 100 freestyle 49.5.

In addition to these two outstanding performances Dave also anchored the third place freestyle relay as well as the fourth place medley relay. Dave

I am not a pacifist, Mike; I would not hesitate to run to America's defense a second time if called upon; but I would first have to be convinced that it was indeed for our defense, as opposed to an illegal imposition of democracy on a people who may or may not desire it.

will now be preparing for the NAIA championships at Clarion next weekend. The Huskies as a whole did not dominate the top placing in any other events. But rather placed third by depth taking places between fourth and twelfth to pile up a sufficient number of points to take Stroudsburg. Performances of note were Pete Jones who turned in his best times in the 200 backstroke (fourth place) and the 100 backstroke (fifth place) and Jack Feyrer who turned in an exceptional performance taking fifth place in the 200 butterfly (swimming for the first time this year) as well as fifth in the 500 yard freestyle. Bob Herb also came through with a good time to pick up fifth in the 50 freestyle.

The meet on a whole was a rather good one for Bloomsburg as the swimmers had lost their dual meet to Stroudsburg by 15 points and came back to beat them in states. This was due to the tremendous amounts of time and effort put forth by Coach McLaughlin, Mr. Ross, and the swimmers themselves.

Judge Thomas C. Gates, Lebanon County jurist, issued a court order to bar Mr. Deake G. Porter and Dr. Joseph Skehan from teaching classes on the BSC campus and from inciting students on the campus, on Friday, March 13, 1971. Gates was assigned to the case when the college sought the complete barring of the two dismissed professors.

The order, agreed by stipulation of the parties involved, was made without "prejudice" — leaving open a legal door for further litigation.

The college was represented by Attorney Thomas Evans; Skehan was represented by Attorney Peter Krehel; and Porter represented himself.

Dr. Raiph R. Ireland, Professor and Chairman of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, has just been informed that his article, "Non-White Higher Education in the Republic of South Africa," has been accepted for publication in a forthcoming issue of The Social Studies. This article deals

YACHTING SUMMER POSITIONS

The American Yachting Association with listings on the East Coast, West Coast, Gulf Area, and the Great Lakes is soliciting for summer crew applicants.

Positions are available for experienced as well as inexperienced male and female college students and graduates. Experience in cooking and child care may be particularly helpful.

Crewing affords one the opportunity to earn reasonable sums while engaged in pleasant outdoor activity.

To apply type a 1 page resume following as closely as possible the form shown below. In April your resume will be edited, printed and sent to approximately 1500-2500 (depending on area) large craft owners.

RESUME FORM—(1) name, address (home and school), phone number, age; (2) relevant work or recreational experience; (3) dates available and area(s); (4) 2 or more students wishing to work together, state name of other parties; (5) other information.

the competition in a thriller trailing 12-7 with 30 seconds. Ron threw a hip lock on his opponent and rocked him to the mat for a 5 point routine and a 12-12 tie in the first over time period. Ron was taken down in the second over-time period, he refused to give up and in 1:28 of the third OT period he pinned his opponent.

Following this victory Ron was defeated by Stevenson of Central Washington who later went on to capture the third place finish in the 167 lb. class.

Randy Watts; a freshman who placed third in the state tournament was defeated by a score of 9-8 in the first round of competition. Randy was trailing 5-0 but never gave up and finally lost the match in a heart breaker.

The overall comment of many coaches at the tournament was that no one wrestled as hard as primarily with the rapid strides being made in providing higher educational facilities for the three major non-white groups, the Bantu, the Coloureds, and the Indians, especially during the past decade. These efforts have resulted in the three Bantu university colleges and the separate university colleges for the Coloureds and the Indians achieving university status in recent months. The major effects of the official government policy of apartheid (separate development) on the past, present, and future development of these institutions is also reviewed.

the Bloomsburg wrestlers. They never gave up and they continually pushed for the take down.

Coach Houk was extremely pleased with the team's performance and I feel the same way. Congratulations on an excellent showing!

P.S. I would like to extend a personal note of thanks to Ron Sheehan who was invaluable in making this article possible.

Black Society

suggested faculty members undertake training in a program arranged by the college.

The department unofficially indicated an interest in adding a black sociology major to the department's student representatives. The Black Student Society agreed to be represented at the next meeting of the Sociology Club in order to acquaint student members with the issues discussed at the joint meeting with the faculty of the department.

Immediate action on a number of recommendations was promised by the department, while Dr. Hoch stated that the kinds of effort put forth by the Black Student Society and the Department of Sociology would receive the whole-hearted support of the administration which is committed to the educational objectives of the institution.
