Construction Sum Soars To $807,000

by DONALD TURCHAN

Further information on the construction and renovation projects at Edinboro was received from Mr. Martin H. Brackbill, Director of Publicity, General State Authority, last Thursday. This information was in the form of detailed accounts of the cost and purpose of each individual project, and was supplemented and approved by Dr. L. H. Van Houten.

The approximate sums allocated each project are as follows: relocate the infirmary, $39,000; install emergency lighting in Reeder Hall, $16,000; remodel coal bunkers, $97,000; repair heating plant, $32,000; new men's dormitory, $328,000; and new women's dormitory, $295,000. The sum total of appropriations is $807,000, which differs from the $617,000 figure which was printed in the last issue of The Spectator. The reason for this difference of $190,000 is that the larger number now includes all the various items of expense which are not included in the actual cost of construction," according to Mr. Brackbill.

The need for new dormitories is self-explanatory, but several of the other projects require clarifying. The infirmary will be moved from the third to the first floor of Haven Hall. The present infirmary had consisted of two rooms of two beds each; but now that the fire escape has been built, one of the rooms can no longer be used.

The construction of an emergency lighting system in Reeder Hall is necessary to eliminate a serious fire and panic hazard.

The coal bunkers in the Boiler House must be raised in order to eliminate conditions which at present result in damage to stokers and other equipment. According to Mr. Brackbill's report, the coal

Forum Club To Hear Atom Security Talk

At tomorrow night's meeting of the Forum Club the main discussion will be on the general problems connected with atomic energy. The four speakers leading the discussion will be Jack Greenawalt, Val Condio, Lou Aquilino, and Alec Perkins.

At a special business meeting of the club on December 4 several main questions were discussed. The most important of these were the possibilities of joining a national organization, arranging programs with nearby colleges, conducting

News Briefs

Dr. Van Houten, Mr. Mallory, and Coaches McComb and Reed were honor guests at the annual Edinboro High School football banquet held in the High School cafeteria on December 7.

Dr. Van Houten spoke on "The Responsibility of Being a Champion." Mr. Mallory and both coaches gave brief remarks concerning sportsmanship and the qualities of a good "team-man."

At a recent meeting of the Biology Club, a nominating committee, comprised of Mary Benner, Dick Carlson, Ernest Andriko, and Hubert Davis, was appointed to select prospective officers to be voted upon at the meeting of January 5. For the coming semester the club has planned interesting programs in which movies will be shown, slides will be made, and good speakers will be heard. The programs are informal, being set up to benefit those interested in the biological field of science as well as those majoring in science. The next program will be designed especially to welcome new members, who can join simply by com-

Newman Club Plans To Join National

The Newman Club has announced its intention to affiliate itself with the national organization of Newman Clubs. This decision was reached after a brief discussion by the members at the last meeting.

"Affiliation with the national organization should prove beneficial to the Newman Club," stated president Ange Vitale, "for we will be able to learn from the experiences of other Newman Clubs."

The Newmanites are also planning to receive Communion in a body this Sunday.

57 Students Donate To Erie Blood Bank

Within the past two weeks at least fifty-seven students have donated blood at the Erie Blood Bank. Two weeks ago thirty-two girls, which included one-hundred-percent representation from the field hockey team, contributed to this worthy cause.

Christmas Caroling Next Tuesday Night

The twenty-second annual Christmas Vesper Service, to be presented by the College Choir under the direction of Mrs. Campbell, will be given on Sunday at 4:00 P. M. in the Auditorium. Participating in this musical fete will be the entire Choir, including the Double Quartet and the College Trio.

True to tradition, the program will begin with an impressive candlelight processional, to be followed by many well-loved carols and Christmas classics. Joan Gruber and Carolyn Humphreys will be the soloists; Audregene Nicely and Richard Wrentmore will have solo parts in certain numbers. Accompanists will be Flora Ann Dean at the organ and Evelyn Smith at the piano.

There will be no admission charge, but a silver offering will be taken.

The College Choir will travel to Slippery Rock on December 20, to return the visit that Slippery Rock's Choir paid Edinboro last year. The program, to be given in an assembly, will consist of a few numbers by the combined groups of both colleges and a selection of songs by the Edinboro Choir.

That evening there will be Christmas caroling for the entire student body here. All persons wishing to participate will meet in front of Haven Hall at 7:15 p. m.

Penn State Chemist Joins Science Staff

A new faculty member has been added to the college teaching staff in the person of Dr. John A. Krimmel. Dr. Krimmel is now instructing the chemistry courses which Mr. Lynch taught earlier in the semester. Mr. Lynch is continuing work on his doctorate at the University of Pittsburgh.

Dr. Krimmel's early education was centered in this district, for he was graduated from Strong Vincent High School and received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Allegheny College. He earned his Master of Science degree at Pennsylvania State College and was granted the Doctor of Philosophy

Council To Sponsor Free Mistletoe Hop

Soft music, a beautifully decorated hall, and low, glimmering lights should all combine effectively to make dancing under the mistletoe this Saturday a pleasurable event.

The Mistletoe Hop will be sponsored by the Student Council, and is scheduled to be an informal, "Sunday best," affair. Dancing will be from 8:30 p. m. until 12:00 p. m. Music will be furnished by the college dance orchestra, and admission will be free.

This dance will be the last social gathering of the Pre-Christmas season, and should afford a good opportunity for all to take advantage of the ancient traditional usage of mistletoe.

A Thought For Christmas

Many years ago a babe was born in a manger in some small town on the other side of the earth. His parents were poor-but-honest working people. They couldn't afford to give Him too much of anything, even at the time of His birth. He was born among the cattle in a stable, but yet lowly shepherds and fabled wise men alike came to adore Him.

In the course of His life, He studied, worked, and played as all of us have done, and still do, but there was something about Him that was different, something that cannot be validly claimed by any of us today. He was the Great Teacher.

Christmas is the season of joy and good cheer, peace on earth, and good will to all men. All of us are busy running about wishing the best of everything to each other, often forgetting in the seasonal "spirit" the actual meaning behind Christmas. Surely, we do occasionally stop and say we know what Christmas is, and we are glad it all happened, but that is in the past — so let's enjoy ourselves now, we add.

This trivial treatment of Christmas can be attributed in some degree to all of us. But Christmas should mean to us a time of reflection, thought, prayer, and then rejoicing. It is only through the practice of the first three that we can appreciate the rejoicing. What good is joy if we have no cause on which to base it?

Christ came to us about twenty centuries ago, and our predecessors adopted Him. He offers to come to us again each year on the anniversary of His birth, if we will only clear a place in our hearts for Him. If we can do so, then perhaps the Great Teacher will help us to become successful followers of Him.

Order To Fit

The origin of uniforms dates back to the time when Man first began to cover his body with clothing. Since then we have progressed greatly in the fields of fashion and designing. All uniforms today are of practically the same design within a set field — that is, except for a few exceptions. We have two of these exceptions here at Edinboro.

If any of you have noticed the uniforms of the Junior Varsity basketball squad (if you have seen the team at all, you couldn't have helped noticing the "uniforms"), you must agree they are reminiscent of the early days of the game. With their bare-midriff jerseys, some with numbers and others without, the men look like prima donnas — an insult to their fighting, clean-cut, style of play.

Another uniform on campus dating back to grandma's day are those of the cheerleaders, with their too-long skirts and unglamorous, heavy sweaters. This style might have been appropriate to the football field, but certainly is unappealing and uncomfortable for the indoor sport of basketball.

Neither the cheerleaders nor the J. V.'s are responsible for their uniforms, or the lack of them. Surely something can be done to bring the uniforms of our students up to par with their performance.

Los Bailereros

by TONY OVESNEY

Since I did several thousand miles of foot-scuffling before I came to E. S. T. C. and danced at Crawford Gym. I believe I've had enough experience to be able to recognize and classify the different types of dancers that one is likely to meet on the dance floor. To show you what I mean, I will list a few that I spotted at the Stardust Ball.

The first blemish on the surface of the dance floor at Crawford Gym is one I call "Bashful Ben." He is probably there for the simple reason that the boys in the frat made him go. He stands in the corner, attempting to blend with the wallpaper, until he gets trapped in a "Paul Jones" (this is not a drink) or a "Square" dance. Then he gets so far away from his partner that other couples keep getting between them, and his lady fair gets only fleeting glimpses of him. The only dance he can do very well is the rhumba, because he naturally shakes like a leaf anyway.

Next comes "Dream-Puss Dan." He is the tall, dark, handsome type who causes girls to swoon every time he looks at them. He isn't much of a dancer, but he keeps his partners so hypnotized that they don't seem to notice it.

Then there is "Bored Bessie." Why she even bothers to come at all is a mystery. She dances with all the vivacity and sparkle of a defunct mackerel. The only time she changes her dead-pan expression is when she yawns. She might be a good dancer, but no one ever notices it.

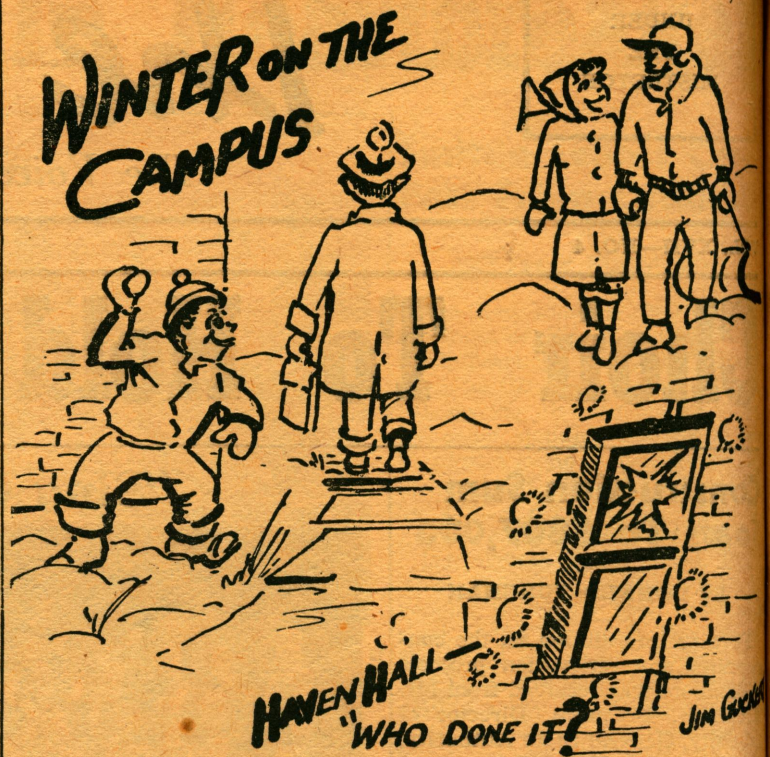

The next type is the worst of all plagues on the dance floor. He is "Bone-Crusher Bill." The way he grips his fair partner, you'd think his life depended on it. At first glance, one gets the impression that he is dancing alone. Upon closer examination, one usually finds a half-suffocated girl somewhere within the confines of his arms. At the end of the dance, they usually have to give the poor dame artificial respiration and remove her on a stretcher in too battered a condition to dance again.

"Smooth Sam" is inevitable. He is usually found in a cleared spot at the center of the floor, with an audience around him. He knows all the little flourishes and extra graces which add perfection to the dance. The trouble is nobody else can dance well enough to be his partner. He usually leaves the poor girl standing in a useless position while he leaps and twirls around her. Needless to say, he has trouble finding a partner.

Then comes the ever-present "Love-Sick Lulu." Aside from her partner, she doesn't realize that anyone else exists. She twines around him like an ivy vine, and stares into his eyes like a sick calf. She thinks she's waltzing on a pink cloud, but, actually, she's treading all over the poor guy's corns.

Last, but not least, there is always some poor innocent soul who eventually finds herself in the clutches of "Parking Lot Lyle." Lyle is one of those suave Joes who comes equipped with built-in fangs. His idea of a dance hall is a building having access to a huge area in which one finds parked cars. He can't dance, and he can't drive, so he resorts to parking. After the dance is over, he finds a nice, secluded country lane and gives his girl a real treat — he (s)parks.

So next time you attend an affair in the Crystal Ballroom of Ye Olde Crawford Gym, amuse yourself by trying to identify "Bashful" and "Dream Puss" and their many cousins. After all, if they weren't there, whom would we have at the dance?

We hope that you have noticed the exchange newspapers that have been placed in the Library for your perusal. In addition to those from the thirteen other Pennsylvania State Teachers Colleges, The Spectator is receiving papers from colleges in Milford, Connecticut; Oneonta, New York; Towson, Maryland; and Mt. Pleasant, Michigan, as well as from Grove City, Gannon, Alliance, Wilkes, Thiel, and Geneva.

Congratulations to Gannon College on their new auditorium. The girls' dorm at West Chester State Teachers College has a kitchen for the students' use. The girls may keep any food they need in the refrigerator and cook little snacks between meals or whole meals if they wish. Each girl is responsible for her own supplies, and so far everyone has been very cooperative in taking care of the kitchen.

The psychology students at Wilkes College recently visited a mental institution, where they observed psychopathic symptoms first hand.

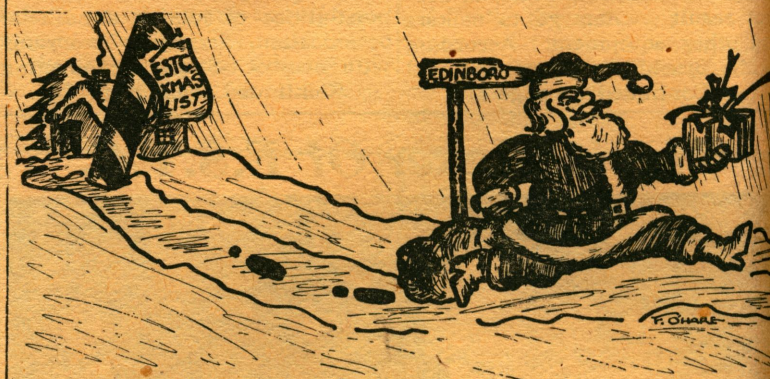

Heard at Pitt:
Intellectual: "Pre-Med?"
Blonde: "No, Pre-Wed."

The eleventh annual art conference held at Kutztown State Teachers College was attended by over 300 art teachers.

Various organizations on the Geneva campus have pledged sufficient funds to provide for the support of a twelve-year-old Dutch war orphan.

Sedgewick: "Terribly sorry you buried your wife yesterday."
Watleywood: "Had to — dead you know."
Bloomsburg S. T. C.: "Maroon and Gold"
Joe: "What do you call two ducks in a box?"
Moe: "Quackers."

Will the guy who's dreamin' of a white Christmas please wake up. After all, Girard is 15 miles from the Boston Store, and I don't like to get off every few miles and let the Greyhound ride.

Speakin' of Christmas, Jane Brown is planning on giving Jack Bills his gift in installments, so don't laugh when you see him wearing a sweater with a back and one sleeve. Jan Gruber knitted her "brudder" a tie that hangs clear down to his middle. (After all, baby, it's cold outside.) The Lucas sisters are in love and are busy knitting little things — for Bob and Lewis, that is. Maybe I'll finish that scarf I started for Jerry in October of '48. It looks sort'a like a bath mat.

Club 50 is in its usual rare form with "Shlitz" (Bat) Smittle presiding at the television console.

That doorway of Haven Hall is certainly a warm place on Sunday nights about 9:45. I wish someone would remember to shut off that darn radiator!

My, but it's wonderful to see how Marge Race, Jean Miller and Peggy Lutz enjoy their work in the dining room! And, take it from me, men, it's not because they like to wear those little white coats,

Can hardly wait for the day of the season 'till Sundean's luggage is in front of the Bus Station. Calling all hounds!

Thought it best to have you note this change of address:
Ian Noyes
Pool Room
Erie Street.

By WHOOZIT

Have you noticed anything new at the front of Haven Hall? Quinn, Barbie Carlson and Mickey Hill finally pooled enough pennies to buy drapes to adorn their third-floor windows.

For any information leading to the source of Bob "Lover" Costello's charm, please let us know. Jim Kirby thinks it's his big brown eyes.

The Junior Birdmen of Haven Hall wish to announce the recent initiation of a very distinguished staff member. Miss Butterworth looks lovely in "goggles." The Birdmen are now under Nancy Shay's command with Alec Perkins as special advisor.

Frank "Punchy" Pinto suggests that JoAnne Piatt dye her hair blue so that she and her roommates, "Red" O'Hare and "Whitey" Giddings, could fully carry out a patriotic theme in Room 35.

The Knit-A-Bit Club of Haven Hall, with Jane McLaud in the home stretch, has been in full swing lately. At least their friends and relatives will be warm this winter.

What we want to know is "WHO" writes Jack "Sweet-talk" Stocker those lovely perfumed letters.

If anyone is curious as to why the walls of Reeder Hall have been rocking lately, it's because of the jam sessions held by Pete Bini, Al Damico, and Nick "er" Muto, who have been giving some jazzy steps to Joe and Ernie Savaglio.

A lot of snowballs have been thrown by Gordon Myer lately, his favorite target seems to be Robison.

If you haven't seen the Kappa paddle that "Pix" Palermo gave to his big brother, Joe Sabatini, then by all means try to do it. Chuck Oldach and Lou Penna are still talking about it.

These couples don't seem to have any shopping troubles: Mary and the Rozelle and Bill Stright; Marie Gill and Warren Williams; Shirley Hazeiwood and "Red" Biser; Dottie Sullivan and John Allegretti; and Pat Pool and "Kurt" Roose. They are giving each other their "company" for Christmas.

The Fright Before Christmas

Adapted From The M. I. T. "VooDoo"

'Twas the night before Christmas when all through the school Not a creature was stirring, not even a tool.

The quizzes were laid on the table with care,

In hopes that the students soon would be there;

The proctors all stood in the front of the room,

Laughing and jesting at oncoming doom.

The instructor stood off — apart from the rest,

Sadistically smiling — (he made up the test!),

When out in the hall there arose quite a smell

As unfortunate victims arrived with the bell,

All haggard and worn from their long nite of study,

Each looking for help from his favorite buddy.

There were halfhearted jests to soothe jangled nerves,

And a last-minute look at the temperature curves.

When what did appear to cause faltering hearts?

One little question — WITH EIGHT SIMPLE PARTS!

The class took one look and felt sad and sick;

The quiz was made up by the other "Old Nick."

The instructor took charge of the proctors at hand,

Informing them how to watch over the damned:

"Now Haldricks, now Neelgate, now Buttergrif be wise,

And take your positions to torture these guys.

Now McMorton, McDume, La Koenig, no joking;

Happy Birthday

The honor in this week's column goes first to Kenneth Crooks, who is our only December 14th celebrant. Then there are Mark Hartong and Irene Leshko, who are qualified to have a birthday cake along with their turkey on Christmas Day. Victor Rouse merits special mention in view of the fact that he is E. S. T. C.'s only candidate for the title, "New Year's Day Baby."

December 14: Kenneth Crooks.

December 15: Rudolph Mannarino, Pat Pool, Margaret Wyneken.

December 16: Mary Lou Dunn, Robert Vatter.

December 18: Louie Sherwood, Irene Cristea.

December 19: John Bartos, William Kellner, Richard Praetzel, Richard Spierling.

December 22: Clarence Lozaw.

December 23: John Hornstein, Helen Lucas, Felix Matuszewski, Ruth Peters.

December 25: Mark Hartong, Irene Leshko.

December 26: Dean Grazier, John Wilson.

December 27: William Robertson, Alvin Saul.

December 28: Benjamin Manotti.

December 31: Carol Gordman, James Laubham.

January 1: Victor Rouse.

January 2: Edward Chamberlain, Alan Swanson.

January 3: William Douds, Ross Gessford, Marilyn Minnis.

January 4: George Smittle, Evan Nardone, Margaret Zuzula.

January 5: Bruce Black, Charles Lodge.

January 6: Kenneth Bell, Joseph Nolan.

January 7: Charles Carver.

January 8: Albert Janaszek.

January 9: Charles Bedogne, Carl Herald, John Kissman, Joan Woznicki.

January 10: Donald Kenny, Robert Merrill.

Don't give them small pleasures— there must be no smoking.

To the back of the room! To the side of the wall,

There must be no cheating — no cheating at all!"

The instructor was ready at all times to tussle,

And jumped to his feet if the boys moved a muscle.

His clothes were all tarnished with chalk dust and dirt,

(He leered at the co-eds — an innocent flirt).

A bundle of pencils were in his front pocket,

His eyes were lit up, as if in a socket;

He laughed when he saw the clock near the hour,

And soaked in that wonderful feeling of power.

And as the bell rang, and the quiz was all finished,

The slow students' hopes of passing diminished.

He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work,

And grabbed all the papers with pull and with jerk,

And laying a finger on top of his nose,

Said, "Pick up your slide rules and leave, you shmoes!"

The students all rose and gave a long whistle,

And away they all flew like the down of a thistle,

And we heard them exclaim as they dashed for the train,

"Merry Christmas to all — and a rest for the brain!"

MOVIE-LECTURER

Count Byron de Prorok, noted adventurer, will present a movie-lecture on Africa at an evening assembly slated for January 3.

7 Air Cadets Make Officer Rating

Sergeant McKeeby recently announced his Air Force cadet officers for the year. In line with the division of the ROTC classes into two distinct groups, Army and Air Force, there will be a separate slate of officers for each group.

The Air Force group is organized as a flight squadron consisting of three flights of three squads each. The squadron commander is Major Jack E. Hale; the executive officer is Captain Robert G. Dansey; the adjutant is First Lieutenant Kenneth E. Crooks; the plans and operations officer is First Lieutenant Eugene J. Thomas; and the three flight leaders are Second Lieutenants G. Willett Hume, John R. Wilson, and Stephen W. Wolfgang.

Sergeant McKeeby stated that the officers were selected on the basis of leadership ability and classroom grades. These appointments are contingent upon the maintenance of a grade of A or B in the course.

The announcement of the appointment of the non-commissioned officers will come at a later date as will the announcement of Sergeant Hashagen's Army officers.

MUSIC MAESTRO

Senior Contributes To ESTC Music Life

Andy Paykos, music maestro, has accomplished much with the E. S. T. C. Band and the twelve-piece dance orchestra. Under his, Mr. Neel's, and Sergeant Hashagen's direction, Edinboro now has a fine marching band, one with plenty of spirit in the true band style.

Andy, who is now student-teaching in the Training School, will be graduated in the fields of history and science at the end of the spring semester. Formerly recognizing Philadelphia as his home town, he and his wife, the former Ann Kriwonak, a graduate of E. S. T. C., are making their home in Edinboro. They were married on July 23, 1949.

Taking over as student-director of the College Band in September, 1948, Andy followed up by assuming a similar position with the newly formed dance orchestra in September 1949. For these important posts Maestro Paykos has a very good background. Beginning with the accordion when he was seventeen years old, he later gained much experience with bands and orchestras while in the Army, playing in about every major city

Delta Phi Spon "Picture Of Wee

Do you know that there's a institution on campus? It's right — it's Delta Phi Delta choice, "The Picture of Week," which is now exhibiting in the Music Room of Haven Hall.

Every week, members of Phi Delta, national honor fraternity, will select a student painting on the basis of its superior appeal and quality of design, technique, and originality. Students of art are invited to submit work in competition for real honor. There are no limitations upon the type of work or medium in which it is rendered.

Your entry may be realistic, surrealist, cubistic, abstract, objective, primitive. It may be in pastel, oil, watercolor, gouache, egg tempera. Any type, any size, any color — no painting can be accepted for competition unless it is at least 16 inches. Mats or frames are preferable but not necessary. Work will be returned to owner.

All of you art students are invited to dust off your old time-no-seen paintings, slather a last dash of color on your canvases, and rush them to Miss Wooddell by Friday afternoon of next week. Last week freshman Wooddell took top honors with her portrait in pastels. Who will be the next "Picture of the Week" may be yours!

PHI SIG MAN

Mullen Emerges As Man Behind Scenes

by FRED BRANTLINGER

Charles Mullen, shy diminutive junior, has developed into a big man in the Phi Sigma Pi fraternity. For example, it was mainly through his efforts that the Phi Sigs were able to capture the Homecoming Day float trophy the past two years.

In 1948, Charlie, as he is known to his friends, designed and supervised the construction of the prize-winning float, one of a semi-abstract design. This fall the Phi Sigs again won the float competition, this time with their reproduction of a pleasure cruiser, which was also designed and built under his direction.

Charlie, whose home town is Meadville, completed the Commercial Art course last year, only to return this year to pursue the Art Education course as a member of the class of '51. His artistic talents reach further than designing floats, for he has done a nice job in decorating for a number of other social activities the fraternity has sponsored, such as the recent hayride-dance and the pledge dinner. Photography is his hobby, for he belongs to the Photo Club and is a member of the photography staff of The Conneauttean.

When asked if he thought the Phi Sigs would have the winning float next year to cop permanent possession of the trophy, Charlie commented, "It won't be easy next year, but we will be in there pitching."

Sophomores Plan Annual Snow Ball

The sophomore class will hold its annual Snow Ball on February 4, 1950. According to sophomore class president Nick La Slavic a few of the many committee heads have been chosen. Wayne Wilkins will be in charge of decorating; Richard Zamierowski, the band; Dorothy Tucker, advertising; June Leopold, refreshments; and Lucia Downing, tickets.

A Snow Ball queen with a court of six will be elected by the whole school. In assembly on January 4 nominations of girls from any class will be made to determine the seven who will comprise the queen and her royal court. The actual election of the queen from the seven highest nominees will be held later.

ing to the meetings. Watch for posters stating the time and place.

The residents of Haven Hall will hold their annual Christmas party next Monday evening. The affair will be complete, with Santa Claus, a Christmas tree, gift-giving, and refreshments. At the party the names of the "Christmas Spirits" of the women in Haven Hall will be revealed.

Alice Ann Lowder arrived at the Lowder household, via Hamot Hospital, on the evening of November 27. Weighing seven pounds and four ounces at birth, the young lady has continued to gain weight. When asked about the new arrival, Mr. Lowder's first remark is always an invariable, "This one is quiet!"

Mr. Mallory and Dr. Hoshauer were at State College last Friday and Saturday, attending the Second Annual State-Wide Conference on Teacher Education and Professional Standards. The conference was sponsored by the P. S. E. A and attracted a variety of educational leaders, including administrators and supervisory officials, teachers, college faculty members, students preparing to teach, representatives of the PTA, and members of the State School Directors Association.

The mixed chorus of the High School will present an evening Christmas Carol Service in the school auditorium on December 22. Under the supervision of Mr. Varricchio, the program will be open to the public. No admission will be charged.

"Prelude to War," a documentary movie of the early Pacific war has been indefinitely postponed by the sponsors, the Phi Sigma Pi fraternity. According to J. Blair Logan, Phi Sig program chairman, delivery problems are responsible for the delay.

The Off-Campus Women will hold a Christmas party in the recreation room of Haven Hall on Sunday from eight to ten. The serving of refreshments and the exchanging of gifts will be the highlights of the evening. The general chairman is Carol Davis, and the committee heads are Jean McCormick program, Aimee Doucette refreshments, and Jacqueline Rausch invitations.

A suggestion list of traditional songs to be played at the end of all College dances was recently presented to the Student Council by Marilyn Wetzel. A list of these songs will be posted on all bulletin boards and will be voted upon at the Mistletoe Hop this Saturday. The winning song will then be played to close each dance.

A committee was also appointed by Council chairman Jack Greenawalt to investigate possibilities of a fund-allocation to the Forum Club. Those selected for the committee are Marilyn Wetzel, chairman; Marion Robertson, Dorothy Tucker, and Mrs. Miller.

Another senior, Richard Carlson, recently gave up his freedom to join the matrimonial ranks. The fateful day for Richard was November 23, at the First Lutheran Church in Warren. His bride is the former Betty Songer of Warren. The ceremony was followed by a reception at the bride's home, from where the happy couple left for Harrisburg on their honeymoon. Mrs. Carlson is remaining in Warren until Dick graduates.

The Haven Hall lost-and-found department will hold another rummage sale next month. Items slated for sale, unless claimed by the owners prior to the sale, are a boy's corduroy jacket, one pen, one ball-point pen, one pencil, a tobacco pouch, a chain choker, one pair of earrings, one gold cuff link, one lighter, and one barrette.

According to information received from Miss Butterworth, this year's traditional Christmas dinner will be held in the college dining room on Saturday, December 17 from 5:30 to 6:30. Boarding students will be admitted upon presentation of their meal ticket. The price for non-boarding students is $1.00, while all others must pay $1.50. Tickets may be purchased in the Food Service Office until 4:00 P. M. Friday.

The Northwestern Pennsylvania Council for the Social Studies will hold its spring meeting at the college on April 18, 1950. According to Mr. Griffin, chairman of the program committee, his group has been working for the past few months, making plans for the conference. The main topics have been decided upon, and Dr. Price of Syracuse University has been engaged as principal speaker.

At present the committee is training teachers from the college service area to speak at the training meetings. Between thirty and forty teachers, both elementary and secondary, will serve on the program.

With the arrival of Henry Walker, born to Mr. and Mrs. John Walker at the University of Iowa Hospital on December 4, Dr. Van Houten became a grandfather for the third time. Mrs. Walker, formerly Margaret Van Houten, is well known to many persons at E. S. T. C.

In speaking of his grandson, who will share his mother's birthday, Dr. Van Houten pointed out another interesting coincidence. Mrs. Walker's roommate in the hospital was Mrs. James Bartoo, nee Viola Mead, who gave birth to a daughter on December 3. Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Bartoo were friends all during their high school days here in Edinboro. Mr. Bartoo is also an E. S. T. graduate, Class of '47.

degree by the same institution the year. Dr. Kimmel also studied at the Institute of Paper Chemistry in Wisconsin.

From January 1945 until time of his appointment here, Kimmel was at Penn State doing research on the preparation and properties of various hydrocarbons and oxygenated compounds and was also serving as an assistant in the Department of Chemistry.

Sundean Shines In Drama Tournament

The four one-act plays of the Dramatics Club tournament, which was held on November 17, provided an opportunity for the students to judge the respective merits of the Thespians. The results of the audience vote placed "A Night in the Country" as the best play, with "No, Not the Russians," "Perchance to Dream," and "Quiet Please" following in that order.

In the best actor and actress division, audience vote gave top women's honor to Carol Sundean for her presentation of a typical Brooklyn mother, Lottie, spending "A Night in the Country." Rudy Bilich and Art Rosfeld tied for top male honors, the former for his portrayal of Jeff, an Ozark hillbilly, in "Quiet Please," and the latter for being the convincing father of a slightly "tetched" art-crazy family in "No, Not the Russians."

Graduating Football Stars

by GENE HARDY

During the past football season, I made it my particular duty to observe the work of two seniors—Sam Nan and Evan Nardone—who helped pull the team through a comparatively successful season.

Nan, who acted in the capacity of an assistant coach, learned his football while playing for an undefeated Aliquippa eleven. After coming to Edinboro, his playing career was cut short—an unfortunate mishap, indeed—since his presence could have meant several victories for the Red and White. In the face of considerable disparagement, Sam decided to help Coach McComb, at the latter's request. All season long Sam assisted the backfield in perfecting their plays. He also aided quarterback Dixon in the art of ball-handling, a most important factor in the "T" formation system of football.

Evan Nardone, linebacker and stalwart on defense, brought down the curtain on his playing career by dominating the defensive play in Edinboro's victory over Alliance College. His performance was typical of his entire season's play. Opposing players have testified to this.

Though Evan had no high-school football experience, sandlot and service football taught him his bruising type of play. It might be well to describe him, in typical football jargon, as a player with an over supply of guts. This, combined with his uncanny ability to diagnose plays, constantly kept him in the opposing team's backfield. He and Chuck Lodge made the finest pair of linebackers Edinboro has seen in several years.

Majoring in social studies and science, respectively, Nan and Nardone are now doing their student teaching in the Training School. We will all miss the services of these two men and we wish them the best of luck in whatever they may do.

Dr. LaFollette's long-cherished dream of making such a movie began to materialize this fall when Mr. Schlessinger wanted to have the Homecoming Day parade recorded. Several other members of the faculty had also spoken favorably of the project. Dr. LaFollette received an O. K. to begin the movie on October 1, and on the second he began the actual shooting. He wanted to get all the outdoor filming done to capture the early-season colors of the campus. All outdoor filming was completed by the first of November. He then started the indoor filming, and the entire movie was completely shot by November 23. Since then he has been waiting for the film to be processed and the titles to be made.

The movie was financed by the Student Council out of the Student Activity Fund. The total cost was $75.00. A total of 800 feet of color Kodachrome film was shot, and at least 775 feet will actually appear in the movie. Dr. LaFollette made no retakes of any scenes because of the lack of extra film. There are about 250 different scenes, with each one lasting from five to ten seconds. Approximately 20% of the movie is devoted to the colorful Homecoming Day celebration.

Dr. LaFollette has had twenty years experience in making full-length movies. In that time he has made at least 25 full-length movies—all written, shot, and edited by himself. He bought his present camera, an Eastman model K, fifteen years ago for $87.00, and uses only average equipment. He bases his movie-making on a minimum of equipment and a maximum of experience.

After the movie has been shown here, it will be trimmed back for showing outside the campus. It will then run from twenty to twenty-five minutes in length. This is to give the person showing the film enough time to answer questions about the College. There will be at least two copies made of the film to permit greater circulation. Dr. LaFollette generously said that the students have made possible a great contribution to the betterment of Edinboro.

Red Raiders Take Alliance Five, 59-40

Edinboro made it two in a row with a 59-40 victory over the Alliance cagers at Cambridge Springs last Friday. The Red Raiders got off to a slow start and trailed the Alliance quintet, 24-20, at half-time.

It was a see-saw battle in the first quarter, with Keith Nicolls leading the Red and White. Alliance's defense was too tight to allow any easy shots, and so Edinboro's goals were well-earned. The Raiders' 13-11 lead at the quarter was by virtue of accurate foul shooting. McVeigh put four fouls in, and Nicolls sank one, as compared with Alliance's three.

Alliance romped through Edinboro's defense in the second frame and scored six goals. Nice defense work by Trombetta and Pietryka kept the Raiders from scoring a goal, and they had to be content with seven foul shots. Although Edinboro had tried fourteen free tosses and made good on twelve, Alliance took a 24-20 half time lead.

Edinboro opened the third quarter with three quick goals. Paced by "Sleepy" Richardson and Al Janaszek, the Raiders outscored the Alliance cagers, 13-5. Janaszek played the rebounds nicely, and Praetzel and Richardson played well defensively.

It was in the final moments that Edinboro began to prove it had a ball club. Bob McVeigh dumped in four goals and two foul shots. McVeigh also made a nice pass to Bill Richardson, who easily scored on the set up. With six minutes to play, Nicolls scored on a set-shot from the side, Peckham countered with a foul and an over-hand layup shot, and Janaszek tapped one in to give Edinboro a 49-36 lead. McVeigh hit again, and Richardson dropped one in, too. Then Peckham swished another before he was taken out for too many personal fouls. Sobcinski sank a hook shot for Alliance, but Edinboro was leading, 47-38, by that time. Next Sobcinski missed a foul, but he followed with a bank shot. The clock read twenty seconds to play when Bob McVeigh was fouled as he tried an under-handed shot, and when he had dropped in his last two foul shots, the scoreboard read 59-40.

Ducks Drop Opener To Brockport, 43-32

by FRANK HUTCHINSON

The swimming team traveled to Brockport, Saturday, only to lose 43-32. Although three members of the squad were newcomers to interscholastic competition, the outfit as a whole acquitted itself well in its initial outing.

The Raiders won the 440-yard relay with a team of Abbott, Kenyon, Latina, and Warren. Warren also took a first and a second in the 100-yard and 50-yard free-style, respectively. In the 150-yard backstroke, Montgomery and Pyle emerged with a second and a third, while a second and a third were also won in the 440-yard free-style by Johnson and Gray. Kenyon placed second in the diving event.

With one meet behind them, the swimmers have picked up a lot of valuable experience that will come in handy this Saturday when they are slated to meet a rugged Penn outfit.

Ex-Raider Booter Stars For State

by JOE RODGERS

One of the starring players on Penn State's unbeaten soccer team is Ronald Coleman, who attended Edinboro last year as a Penn State assignee. While here Ron played a lot of nice soccer, as any of the fellows from the 1948 team can testify. At State this outstanding ex-Red Raider is attracting national attention.

Ron began his soccer career at the age of 11 when he started booting the "old pill" around in St. Louis, his hometown. While the youthful star was in his last year of high school, his coach recommended him to Bill Jeffrey, Penn State soccer coach, who induced Ron to become a Nittany Lion.

When soccer season began this fall, Coleman took his place with many other fellows, and through hard work and determination moved up until he found himself on the first team. Ron has played good, hard ball all season for Penn state, and one St. Louis sports reporter has said that his fellow Missourian has a good chance of making the next Olympic soccer team. Besides this, he is, as another sports writer has said, a potential All-American nominee.

Ron will be playing in the first Soccer Bowl game as Penn State meets the University of San Francisco on January 1, in St. Louis. This post-season contest will be sponsored by the United States Soccer-Football Association as a tryout in the series to determine the United States representative in the World Cup Championship at Rio De Janeiro next summer.

When asked about Coleman's performance as a Raider booter, Coach Harrison immediately pronounced him "the outstanding player of the 1948 team."

bunkers are now approximately twenty feet below the level of the ground; and underground water, lying in the stored coal, causes an acid condition that corrodes metal parts. Repairs are also slated for the heating system to reduce maintenance costs.

Architects and engineers have already started work drawing the designs for the new construction. Myers and Krieder, of Erie, are working on the designs of the additions to the dormitories and on plans for the relocation of the infirmary, while Arthur G. Danielson, also of Erie, an engineer, has been given the task of designing the other projects. Mr. A. S. Kuhl, electrical engineer of Erie, is in charge of all electrical work.

BLOOD DONORS -- (Continued from page 1)

Last week at least twenty-five men also contributed. This group included the football team. When the team arrived at the Bank, the doctor sincerely thanked them, for the total supply had just dropped to three pints.

Blood is urgently needed by the Erie Blood Bank. Any student wishing to contribute may do so by contacting Miss Ludgate, Miss Ruttle, Mr. and Mrs. Wozniak, or John Latini. Transportation is furnished by the station wagon of the Bank.

Cagers Try Grove City For Third Win

On The Spot With The W. A. A.

— On The Floor —

Dribble! Pass! Shoot! All this is merely routine procedure for forty-some enthusiasts who beat their brains out on the basketball courts from 3:45 to 5 every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon. Some of them are hot stuff, too. Most of last year's varsity are still on the job, with Bertha Hammermeister leading the pack.

Ah, but the upperclassmen are going to find it rough going, with heavy competition moving in from the freshman class. Among the freshmen sharpshooters are Mimi Meeker, Barb Gesin, Virginia Wallace, and Gladys Crawford. There are plenty of others who can really pass the ball around and some who have had a lot of experience in high school inter-scholastic leagues.

The Delta team has some new material and would like to get revenge for all the times that the Phi's have defeated them in previous years. Miss Ruttle is very pleased with her material and has hopes for the season to come.

— In The Pool —

Are the shapely tank suits the attraction for the hundred girls who ruin their beautiful locks and tire themselves out in the pool during the W. A. A. periods? Or is Keith Wooddell the main allure? Whatever the cause, the effect is obvious, for these girls are working on all phases of the Red Cross Instruction Courses from beginners on up.

Speaking of the girls being tired, all that Miss Ruttle and the student guards and instructors are able to do after a day's work in the pool is to breathe a big sigh of relief.

It looks as though the swimmers will show great progress. The freshmen stand out in this field, also. Everyone has been eagerly waiting all year to see Sally Hollingshead swim. Mickey Hill is just like a fish — or should we say mermaid? Sophomores Marge Race and Helen Hagerty excel in form swimming. Already plans are being formulated for the annual Aquacade; so keep that in mind.

— On The Ski Run —

Let it snow! All the better for the winter sports, which will include skiing, skating, tobogganing, and sliding. Although most of us prefer some nice warm games like checkers, some adventurous girls have already weathered the elements. Pete Holt and Mary Benner were among the first to prove themselves brave women.

— On the Alley —

Although some of us are literally "on the alley" when we bowl, several of the W. A. A. lassies actually have mastered the why and wherefore of the great game of bowling. For these people, plans are being made for this winter. In fact, until just recently we didn't realize just how skillful our bowlers were. Doris Zindel can even roll strikes without seeing the pins. That's right. When the movie of school scenes was being taken, Doris had to remove her glasses to have her picture taken bowling, and she still made strikes. That proves it. W. A. A. girls can do anything.

Red Raider Aquamen

by FRANK HUTCHINSON

The 1949-50 Red Raider swimming team is still a little short of experience in actual competition as a unit, but is long on inherent ability. Six men from last year's team will form the nucleus around which about four freshmen will be placed to form what is hoped to be a winning combination. Fortunately, these veterans' specialties are so varied that the outfit will have at least one experienced man in each event, as well as all-veteran relay teams.

Another bright spot is the fact that there is definitely no shortage of competent divers. Returning letterman John Palmer and a very promising freshman, Bob Kenyon, will handle the springboard chores. Because of the acute need of a backstroker, versatile Art Warren will return to that event, a job he gave up two years ago in favor of the dashes.

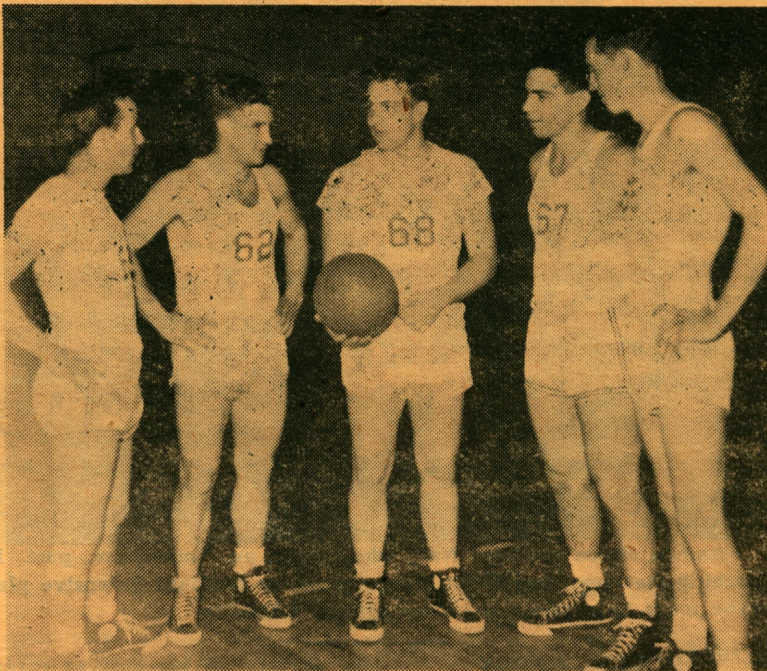

Tentatively and in part, the lineup will look something like this during the rest of the season: Gene Latini, Fred Abbott, and Palmer in the dashes; Art Warren, Heinz Johnson, and Buck Gray in the distances.

As they participate in more meets and get more experience under their belts, the team should improve throughout the season. In a light mood, one of the swimmers said to this reporter, "At least, we'll make a big splash!" Team captain Art Warren commented more seriously, "We'll try to live up to last year's reputation." Considering the Ducks' 5-5 record for '48-'49 — including wins over Thiel, Westminster, Allegheny (twice), and Grove City — this would be quite an accomplishment.

Still On The Ball

The Once Over

by Joe Rodgers

The Red Raiders ended their football season with an exciting game, as anyone that saw the game will surely agree. Don Glasser was the standout for the day, scoring three times. The first time Edinboro obtained possession of the ball they scored, and from then on the Red Raiders took the game in hand. It wasn't until the end of the fourth quarter that Alliance's Wasulko scored and Glowacki added the final touch. The game ended with a 19-7 victory for Edinboro. Besides Glasser, other outstanding players were Lodge, Marlarky, Andricko, and Nardone.

Watching Lodge all season I would say that he was one of the biggest assets that Edinboro had. While playing he gave everything and constantly urged his teammates on.

This concludes football until next year. Now we turn to basketball, and from the looks of things the cagers are going wild. They have played two games and two times they have come out on top. If the team displays the teamwork they did in the two preceding games, I can't see anything but victory.

I have heard quite a number of comments about there not being a basketball scoreboard, equipped with a clock. Well, this type of scoreboard has finally arrived and is now installed on the south wall in full view of all spectators. The board is the latest model of the Medant Company and has no clock face. Time on the scoreboard is read in numerals, thus ticking off the exact minutes and seconds. It is controlled from the scoring desk.

Raiders Vanquish Blue Devils, 72-14

Last Wednesday, Edinboro's Red Raiders inaugurated their basketball season with a 72-14 win at the expense of an outclassed Fredonia Teachers quintet. The Edinboroites proved they were the better team by superior ball-handling and fast breaking.

After the second quarter, the outcome of the game was not in doubt. Bob McVeigh took Edinboro scoring honors with eleven points, but Bill Richardson, John Peckham and Keith Nicolls were close behind with ten each.

Go Against Gannon Here Friday Night

Tonight in the Crawford Gym the Edinboro cagers will go against the undefeated Grove City quintet with the Raiders looking for their third straight victory. In a telephone conversation last Saturday between Grove City's Coach Lovelace and this reporter, several interesting facts were brought out.

The visiting team will have the height on Edinboro, with three men — Bish, Ungren and McCormick — towering over six feet, besides reserves that are about the same caliber as the first five men. This will be a decided advantage to the Grovers, who are depending on this factor to upset the Raiders' unspotted record.

On the other hand, the visitors are minus the services of three of their first five men of last year, when they had an 11-6 record. Coach Lovelace conservatively stated that his team is of average ability for this section competition. However, last Saturday evening the Grovers took their first game against a scrappy St. Vincent quintet by a score of 67-45.

For their part, the Raiders have displayed beautiful ball handling besides excellent team play that won the previous games for them. Taking everything into account, tonight's game will be an exciting one, with plenty of thrills.

KNIGHTS HERE FRIDAY

On Friday the Raiders will entertain the highly touted Gannon Knights. Coach Powers of Gannon has a pair of sharp-shooting forwards in Billy Bilentnikoff and Andy Timko. Bilentnikoff is a former Slippery Rock player, and Timko played for Duquesne High School when it won the state championship.

Jim White and Bill Roach will be cavorting in the rear court for the Knights. Both White and Roach started for Gannon last year. Towering Ben Schmidt will be the boardman, and he promises to be tough competition. This veteran aggregation will be supplemented by Chuck Genck, former Prepster, Marty Maloney, former Sharpville ace, and Ed. Hasco, a 6-4 center from Monessen.

The Knights should not be underestimated because they lost to Canisius, one of the big-time colleges, and to Allegheny by a 47-46 margin. Gannon's victories came over Tiffin, 67-60, and Steubenville, 74-60.
