

Judiciary Committee Discussed At Open CGA Meeting

When before the Student-Faculty Judicial Board, Students have "... the rights of council, the right to appeal, they have the right to answer whether they care to or not ... I think they have the right of almost every method in the present Joint Statement," Dean Hunsinger said at the open CGA meeting held Saturday in Husky Lounge. The Dean was speaking in respect to the rights allotted to BSC students under the present judicial system at the college.

The open CGA meeting was proposed by CGA President Ron Schulz to discuss judicial procedures and allow students to ask questions concerning these procedures. As a result, two resolutions were passed by CGA proposing study of BSC's Student-Faculty Judiciary Committee.

President Schultz opened the meeting and introduced Dean Hunsinger who explained Judicial procedures which are now used by the college. He said that any incident involving a male will be given to the Men's Judicial board and likewise, any case involving a woman will be given to the Women's Judicial Board. Those cases involving both men and women are heard by the SFJ, comprised of two students, two faculty members, the Dean of Men and the Dean of Women. The Dean of Students is an Ex Officio member.

With the conclusion of Dean Hunsinger's remarks, Schultz opened the floor for discussion. The initial questions concerned Hunsinger's statements and revealed that although the Dean is an Ex-Officio member of the board, he votes in case of a tie. The Dean also has the responsibility of appointing an alternate in case of an absence on the board.

Many of the subsequent questions concerned procedures used in recent hearings involving approximately twenty-six students who were accused of "conduct unbecoming a BSC student." These questions ran the gamut from initial investigation to "guilty until proven innocent."

Dean Norton stated that initial investigations are used in many cases of student breach of rules. He said that these investigations are held with the student in the Dean's office before charges are brought. The Dean was asked if information acquired in this investigation is to be used in the trials, and the Dean said that it was. He was then asked if students are advised that they can have council in these investigations and the Dean said, "this procedure has never been followed."

It was then asked if students have all the rights of United States Citizens? The answer was "definitely." It was then queried "do BSC students have these rights?" Mr. Buckingham, in attempt to answer this question, quoted the results of a court case, "Estaban and Roberts versus Missouri State College," which stated that when students voluntarily enter a college they are subject to certain obligations. "These obligations are generally much higher than those imposed on all citizens by civil and criminal law," it was stated.

Following these remarks, and more questions, two resolutions were proposed by Dave Keifer and Jeff Prosseda. These resolutions were accepted unanimously by council and were given unanimous vote of support by the approximate seven hundred students present. They proposed study of BSC's judicial system and recommendations concerning the system.

President Schultz stated that he wanted to afford every student the chance to ask questions and continued the meeting after the resolutions were passed. Near five o'clock, it was moved that the meeting be adjourned.

AAUP Rights Of Off-Campus Students

A. Exercise of Rights of Citizenship

College and university students are both citizens and members of the academic community. As citizens, students should enjoy the same freedom of speech, peaceful assembly, and right of petition that other citizens enjoy and, as members of the academic community, they are subject to the obligations which accrue to them by virtue of this membership. Faculty members and administrative officials should insure that institutional powers are not employed to inhibit such intellectual and personal development of students as is often promoted by their exercise of the rights of citizenship both on and off the campus.

B. Institutional Authority and Civil Penalties

Activities of students may upon occasion result in violation of law. In such cases, institutional officials should be prepared to apprise students of sources of legal counsel and may offer other assistance. Students who violate the law may incur penalties prescribed by civil authorities, but institutional authority should never be used

AAUP Conduct Standards For Students

A. Standards of Conduct Expected of Students

The institution has an obligation to clarify those standards of behavior which it considers essential to its educational mission and its community life. These general behavioral expectations and the resultant specific regulations should represent a reasonable regulation of student conduct, but the student should be as free as possible from imposed limitations that have no direct relevance to his education. Offenses should be as clearly defined as possible and interpreted in a manner consistent with the aforementioned principles of relevancy and reasonableness. Disciplinary proceedings should be instituted only for violations of standards of conduct formulated with significant student participation and published in advance through such means as a student handbook or a generally available body of institutional regulations.

B. Investigation of Student Conduct

1. Except under extreme emergency circumstances, premises occupied by students and the personal possessions of students should not be searched unless appropriate authorization has been obtained. For premises such as residence halls controlled by the institution, an appropriate and responsible authority should be designated to whom application should be made before a search is conducted. The application should specify the reasons for the search and the objects of information sought. The student should be present, if possible, during the search. For premises not controlled by the institution, the ordinary requirements for lawful search should be followed.

2. Students detected or arrested in the course of serious violations of institutional regulations, or infractions of ordinary law, should be informed of their rights. No form of harassment should be used by institutional representatives to coerce admissions of guilt or information about conduct of other suspected persons.

C. Status of Student Pending Final Action

Pending action on the charges, the status of a student should not be altered, or his right to be present on the campus and to attend classes suspended, except for reasons relating to his physical or emotional safety and well being, or for reasons relating to the safety and well-being of students, faculty or university property.

D. Hearing Committee Procedures

When the misconduct may result in serious penalties and if the student questions the fairness of disciplinary action taken against him, he should be granted, on request, the privilege of a hearing before a regularly constituted hearing committee. The following suggested hearing committee procedures satisfy the requirements of procedural due process in situations requiring a high degree of formality.

1. The hearing committee should include faculty members or students, or, if regularly included or requested by the accused, both facmerely to duplicate the function of general laws. Only where the institution's interests as an academic community are distinct and clearly involved should the special authority of the institution be asserted. The student who incidentally vio-

CGA Resolves Study Of Judicial System

At the Open College Council Meeting, Saturday, two resolutions were passed concerning Judicial proceedings at BSC, since there has been much recent discussion of the Student-Faculty Judicial Board and its use (or lack of use) of due process.

The first of these resolutions, proposed by Dave Keifer, is as follows: "Resolved that: The President of the Community Government Association is hereby directed to hold a special election within three weeks of the date of this resolution. Such election shall establish a committee to investigate and recommend structures, procedures and directives governing student disciplinary actions at Bloomsburg State College.

This committee shall be composed of seven members, all of whom shall be elected by the student body only. Four members shall be elected from the student body and three from the faculty, but no faculty member shall be one who receives administrative remuneration. The chairman shall be chosen by the seven member committee but only the student members shall be eligible for the position of chairman. In each case selection shall be by those three faculty members and those four student members receiving the highest number of votes. Each individual shall file a declaration of candidacy signed by no fewer than twenty members of the student body no less than ten days prior to the election. Such declaration shall be filed with the President of the Community Government.

The committee shall use as its guidelines the "Joint Statement on Student Rights and Freedoms."

Upon completion of its work the committee shall submit its report to the College Council and the entire faculty for their approval and subsequent enforcement.

Approval by the appropriate bodies shall nullify and void any rules, regulations or structures contrary to those recommendations."

The resolution was passed unanimously by council.

Jeff Prosseda proposed a second resolution, also passed unanimously, to further state the position of council. It states:

Resolved that: "CGA requests Dr. Andrus to establish a five (5) member committee to re-evaluate any disciplinary action that might result from the recent incident involving a large number of students, for any student involved in that incident who wishes to have any possible action taken against him reviewed.

The committee to be composed of one member appointed by Dr. Andrus, one member appointed by the President of the AAUP, one member appointed by the President of the Faculty Organization, and two members appointed by the President of the Community Government Association. In any re-evaluation of cases the committee will use the standards of the Joint Statement on Student Rights and Responsibilities pertaining to judicial actions. The recommendations of this committee shall be final.

Let it further be resolved and requested that until such time as the Joint Statement on Student Rights and Responsibilities is approved by the College, the Student-Faculty Judiciary Committee in any further hearings—shall be bound by the judicial standards of that Statement."

Although these resolutions have been passed by council, they are still subject to approval by the President.

ulty and student members. No member of the hearing committee who is otherwise interested in the particular case should sit in judgment during the proceeding.

2. The student should be informed, in writing, of the reasons for the proposed disciplinary action with sufficient particularity, and in sufficient time to insure opportunity to prepare for the hearing.

3. The student appearing before the hearing committee should have the right to be assisted in his defense by an advisor of his choice.

4. The burden of proof should rest upon the officials bringing the charge.

5. The student should be given an opportunity to testify and to present evidence and witnesses. He should have an opportunity to hear and question adverse witnesses. In no case should the committee consider statements against him unless he has been advised of their content and of the names of those who made them, and unless he has been given an opportunity to rebut unfavorable inferences which might otherwise be drawn.

6. All matters upon which the decision may be based must be introduced into evidence at the proceeding before the hearing committee. The decision should be based solely upon such matters.

Oath Not Oath

Students who were brought before the Student-Faculty Judiciary Committee on Thursday, February 20, were asked to sign a statement which read as follows: "Any statements or testimony offered at this review are to the best of my knowledge, true statements. If, in the future, any of this information is discovered to be inaccurate, I will be subject to immediate suspension."

Dean Hunsinger explained the reasons for using this statement. He pointed out that the general trend among college students in regard to discipline was to deny the facts. As a result, the student personnel deans, in their meeting this year, tried to devise a statement of this type which would attempt to bring out the facts in each particular situation. Dean Hunsinger also pointed out that some colleges go so far as to get this statement notarized.

Editor's Note: The M & G had referred to this statement as a confession and as an oath. It has been explained that it is neither—it is a statement.

Improperly acquired evidence should not be admitted.

Student Rights - Due Process

The recent incident concerning the rights of students has caused many comments and questions among members of the BSC community. The AAUP Joint Statement on Rights and Freedoms of Students has been proposed as a means of solving the problems involved. The CGA meeting in Husky Lounge on Saturday answered the questions of many people and seemed much in favor of the adoption of the above-mentioned statement.

To further clarify matters, the M & G discussed the items brought up at the meeting of College Council with the Dean of Students, particularly the AAUP Joint Statement of Rights and Freedoms of Students. The dean stated that "Members of the Student Personnel Staff and the Student-Faculty Judiciary Committee have been endeavoring to follow, as much as possible, most of the basic principles in the Joint Statement on Students rights, although the Joint Statement itself has not yet been adopted by BSC."

Dean Hunsinger also said that "For several weeks, both student and faculty committees have been studying assigned portions of the Joint Statement on Students Rights to adopt and revise the total statement so that it may be adopted and implemented on the BSC Campus."

The M & G also spoke to the dean about the matter of due process. He went through the section on hearing committees as stated in the AAUP Joint Statement on student Rights. He pointed out that many of the items in the statement were used as a basis in the recent hearing. Dean Hunsinger said that the students were informed in writing of the charges brought against them, and that it was also a formal hearing and the students did have a right to an advisor. He stated that the students did receive the statement in sufficient time to prepare for the hearing (the dean pointed out that nowhere in Joint Statement did it say that there had to be 48 hour prior notice).

It is hoped that students have learned more about judiciary procedures from the recent CGA meeting and it is also hoped that they will be further informed on the matter through the M & G.

Most of the minutes from the February 22 meeting of college council will appear in a future issue of the M & G and the facts concerning the recent incident will also be in print as soon as possible.

Symposium . . .

In an earlier issue, the M & G proposed a symposium to be moderated by a faculty member, and including Bill Sanders, Charles Blankenship, Ron Shultz, Stan Rakowsky, Jeff Prosseda and Cathy Cahill. The symposium is to be held in Carver Hall at 7:00 p.m. on Monday, March 3, and all interested persons are invited to attend.

Issues which have been suggested (by some of those involved in the symposium for discussion) are political parties on the BSC campus, and the Student-Faculty Judiciary Committee.

Letters . . .

Dear Editor:

"Public office is a public trust!"

As this statement was true during the time of Cleveland and before, so too is it today in all phases of political life. We as students here at BSC must be aware of the importance of this as we elect, within the next few weeks, the leaders who will guide us through the following year on the CGA.

In this, my first communication as a candidate, I'd like to say that I was elated to learn of my having been elected by the members of the STUDENT PARTY (STP) to serve as their standard-bearer for the office of President of the Community Government Association during the up and coming campaign. I would like to thank them for their confidence in me and promise that this faith will not be in vain.

At present I don't intend to declare any specific innovations or proposals. Such innovations are tremendously valuable in a campaign, for campaign suggestions often result in concrete improvement after elections. Rest assured that proposals and promises of action will be forthcoming — proposals which will be KEPT if elected. But before this, a philosophy, from which proposals can spring must be laid down.

In approaching the problems that beset BSC today, I offer two beliefs on which all my future programs will be based. My first belief is that if we are to go forward at all, we must do so in a spirit of harmony and conciliation. As John Kennedy once said, "Divided there is little we can do. . . united there is little we cannot do."

The second belief on which much of my program will be based is that the Bloomsburg student is a mature young man or woman in whom commensurate responsibility should be vested. Within the bounds that necessity places on an educational institution, we should be masters of our own destiny.

"All the students of BSC working together to achieve the responsibility that their maturity deserves." This is the philosophy which will be reflected in all my future proposals, and the goal toward which my administration would commit itself.

Sincerely,
Stan Rakowsky

Great Magician

As I left the play after seeing it for the second time Saturday night, I overheard a young man with a big grin on his face say in reference to the play: "You just can't talk about that!" I am inclined to agree with him since there was very little that was stilted or restrained about "The Great Magician" and a review of necessity will still and restrain. But here goes.

Bruce Hopkins, at the close of the performances, gave credit to the crews that worked on the show, and rightly so. For such blatant comedy, the uncostumed, unmasked human would be altogether ineffectual. But the costumes designed by Daniel Boone (pioneer of designing?) and the stock masks borrowed from Carnegie Tech or created by some of the players under Kitty Kriner—the frog and the ass—were as bright and stunning as Commedia dell' arte itself. Also, the sound crew had their hands full of smoke for the magician and noise for Zanni's thought, etc. Tim Shannon, Ed Gohman, and Warren Fairbanks must have enjoyed themselves.

"The Great Magician" obviously was as much or more fun for the Players as it was for the audience. I marvelled at the amount of brute physical strength required and envied the actors and actresses, too. If the play was a kind of frustration cathartic for us, it was much more so for them.

The author's notes inserted in the play program read: "... The actor gives body and life to 'a popularly established' type to such extents as his imagination and personal peculiarities permit him." In the case of Bacchus, Bob Casey, not only personality peculiarities but also physical ones made him the perfect belching god of wine. I particularly enjoyed Don Helwig's performance of Dr. Gratiano, Capitano Cockalorum (Harry Berkheiser) and the Magician (Dennis Frymoyer); but this might be attributed to my taste for the effective and the accents called for by Commedia dell' arte. It is almost needless to say that the old pro's, Bruce Hopkins and James Berkheiser were good as Pantalone and Pulcinella, but not so needless to note that the other four or five most colorful roles were actors' debuts. Coviello (Jack Martin) and Zanni (George Sonon) were difficult roles of simple people who (again a reference to the stamina required for "The Magician") seemed tireless.

Soft Criticism

In endorsing support for the play, I encouraged friends to go and to sit near the front so they could throw fruit, but I discovered another reason to be close to the stage. Many of the lines were missed by the audience to the rear. Since the work was in terms of the modern vernacular, including advertising slogans and current slang, this can't be attributed to unfamiliarity with what was being said. Rather, the lines missed were those spoken quickly or ad-libbed—or, more frequently, spoken too softly. Some people objected to the incongruous lines and actions, a few of which were from "hamming it up" and ad-libbing, but most of which were inherent in the play and they were part of the flavor and spontaneity.

Critical Light . . .

by Mike Stugin

The open CGA meeting, held on Feb. 22 (Washington's Birthday), brought to light a number of important points which, I believe, deserve to be mentioned.

First of all, the tremendous turnout and the intelligent participation of so many people proved that BSC students are both concerned and interested. It proved that the actions of the administration can no longer go unheeded by the student body and that they intend to make themselves heard when something arises about which they disagree. Mass reforms have not been attempted in the past because there was no demand for them. Students in the past few years, however, have begun to seek changes and now, finally, we at BSC are showing some degree of willingness to devote our efforts to the cause of student rights. Will the current interest die out, however? If it does, nothing we seek can ever be attained.

Secondly, after the facts concerning the antiquated, and undemocratic judicial structure at BSC were finally brought into the open, it is evident that reforms must be made. The resolution adopted by Council calling for a committee to "investigate and recommend structures, procedures and directives governing student disciplinary actions" is the first step in this direction. It is entirely inconceivable to this writer that anything more basic than this measure be approved by the president. The inadequacies of the present system are so glaring that they can no longer be ignored. Therefore, it is our sincere hope that President Andruss approves this committee so that work can begin on a new judicial system.

Many Shocked

Third, I think many at the meeting were shocked and angered at statements made by several administrators concerning current judicial procedures. It was brought out by questions that certain practices are followed for no apparently justifiable reasons, that certain rights, such as the right of counsel during initial interrogation, are refused, and that students, in reality, do not have full Constitutional rights. In the court opinion read by Mr. Buckingham, it was implied that there can be no fair comparison between constitutional rights and the rights of students. Students, however, are citizens and therefore, I believe, they are deserving of full protection granted to all citizens. There can be no suspension or even lessening of rights simply because a student "willingly" enters a college for an education. You cannot have a double standard in effect and still call the college a democratic institution. Unfortunately, it seems that the administration has used this single ruling as the major basis for its conduct in the most recent incident as well as in the past.

A Package Deal

I am forced to view the matter as a "package deal"—either one has all of his rights or he has none at all. A college simply cannot uphold some rights and deny others, because if even one right is violated, such as the right of due process, the entire system is totally unacceptable and must be changed.

The court opinion which was cited also mentioned that the student has "higher obligations" and therefore cannot stand with other citizens in demanding fundamental rights. I cannot agree with this. The student in direct association with the college has the obligation of upholding the Constitution. The November, 1967 issue of the Phi Delta Kappan contains a discussion of recent federal court rulings which reversed orders from lower courts in which students had been suspended by college officials for a variety of charges. In one such case "the judge added that the authority of a college president is an integral part of the mechanism for providing education but that colleges are as subject to the Constitution as other institutions." (p. 161.) Certainly a student has other obligations, namely to himself and his parents, but these are moral in nature and concerning which the college has no jurisdiction. When a student commits an infraction of the rules of the college, he must be guaranteed the same rights guaranteed to other citizens. And therefore, actions arising from proceedings dealing with such infractions, in which there has been a violation of rights, cannot be valid. It is for this reason that we sincerely hope the second resolution passed by Council will be approved—it is not right that the students in question should suffer the penalties imposed by an unjust judicial structure.

AAUP Essential

The last point on which I would like to comment is the matter relating to the AAUP Statement and the approved procedures adopted during the Slack hearing. Why was this procedure not followed? The Statement from which the procedure was drawn contains only "minimal" standards of academic freedom of students [and] are essential to any community of scholars." There can be no reason then why this procedure, which was approved by the president on Jan. 30, 1968, could not have been followed, and if there was such a reason, no one at the meeting could think of it. At the beginning of his statement, Dean Hunsinger said that the procedures followed were based on the AAUP Statement—but if this is the case, why were there apparent violations of that Statement? Could it be that the adopted procedure was lost and that another copy was impossible to locate? Whatever the answer to this question, the sad fact remains that

Deep Freeze Fails; East Stroud Blitzed

Good ball "control" and a strict game plan were not enough to defeat the undefeated Wolves of Cheyney as they met the Huskies for the second time Wednesday night.

Deep Freeze

Freeze was the name of the game in the first half as the Huskies held Cheyney to 22 points while only scoring 14.

The Huskies first score came on a foul shot by Jim Dulaney at 18:47. With ten minutes gone the score was 9-3 in Cheyney's favor. At 6:00 the Huskies had chopped Cheyney's lead to 3 points, 13-10. Palmer Toto's field goal at 2:32 made the score 15-13 but the Wolves kept the lead and went into the lockerroom with a 22-14 lead.

Surprise

In the first minute of the second half BSC appeared to be sticking with their "freeze" game plan. But before Cheyney knew what was happening the Huskies used the "back-door" play and layups to pull close to the surprised Wolves.

The score was 27-23 when a pair of field goals by Dulaney and Snyder tied the score 27 all at 15:04. At 13:10 the Huskies took the lead for the first time in the game with a jumpshot by Snyder from the foul line to make it 29-27.

The scoring tempo picked up as Cheyney's Wilson hit a trio of buckets and Harold Booker shoved in a tap. But the Huskies added ten markers during this stretch on the shooting of Toto, Monaghan, and Dulaney—remaining in the lead 39-36.

Wilson and Daniels hitting from the outside put the Wolves back in front 40-39 with 4:10 left. The lead alternated between the Huskies and the Wolves until 1:37 left when Toto scored on a foul shot putting BSC ahead 47-46. Booker scored on a lay-up at 1:18 giving Cheyney the lead 48-47.

Was He Fouled?

The Huskies put on a freeze until 12 seconds remained when Snyder's driving layup was blocked and went out of bounds. The Huskies regained the ball and Toto's shot from outside missed with 0:04 to go. Mastropietro gained the rebound and made a wild shot from underneath as the buzzer sounded leaving Cheyney with the game 48-47.

Pups Defeat

The Husky pups were successful in defeating Cheyney 81-70 with Howard Johnson and Paul Kuhns high scorers for the game with 21 points apiece.

BSC lead through most of the first half and went into the lockerroom leading 34-31.

Starting slowly in the second half the Husky frosh widened their lead to a final score of 81-70.

100-Plus Again

BSC scored 59 points in the second half to defeat East Stroudsburg, 105-97, in Centennial Gymnasium Saturday night.

For the first eight minutes of the game the Huskies appeared to be suffering from the 48-47 loss to Cheyney. Stroud opened up a 7-2 lead and increased it to 21-7 before the Huskies began to play basketball. After several time outs the cagers started running and began scoring buckets by getting the ball up the court before the Warriors had time to set up.

The faster tempo helped BSC cut the Stroud lead to 43-40 at the intermission.

In the second half the Huskies began to work for the good percentage shot. Coach Voss had also instituted a full-court press which Stroud was having trouble coping with.

Forty-five seconds into the second half a Palmer Toto jumper put the Huskies in the lead for the first time. Once in the lead, the Huskies took almost complete control of the game.

Pull Away

With Mastropietro and Toto pressing and Dulaney hitting from underneath, BSC slowly pulled away from Stroud.

Midway through the second half the Huskies held a 78-70 lead. However, Morley and Guter continued to hit—keeping Stroud in the game.

A four minute drought from the field cut the Huskies lead from 11 down to 6 with four minutes remaining in the game.

Charity Stripe Helps

But good shooting from the charity stripe (8-8) and timely buckets by Yancheck and Mastropietro shut off the late Stroud rally. With time running out Palmer Toto put on a dribbling exhibition which added to the Stroud frustration and salted the victory for BSC.

Pups Lose

The Husky Pups were not as successful as their varsity counterparts. Despite 30 points by Howard Porter the little Huskies dropped their game 75-73.

8-2-1 Record Mermen Drown Howard Univ.

8-2-1 Record

BSC swimmers turned in their victory of the season at Washington, D.C., on Saturday winning handily over Howard University, 78-25. The Huskies are now 8-2-1 and will close their dual meet season here with Trenton, N.J., Wednesday afternoon.

Lose Diving

The Huskies won every event, but the diving competition. The mermen also picked up five second place finishes.

No new BSC marks were set, but this was anticipated as the team has been under a program of training which is designed to make the Huskies stronger for the state meet, held at Slippery Rock on March 8.

Win Relays

Bloomsburg won both of the relays. Hank Peplowski, the sophomore from Reading, won the 1000-yd. freestyle and 200-yd. butterfly. Dependable Ralph Moreschbacher, a junior from Camp Hill, took the 200-yd. freestyle. Tom Houston won his usual two events—the 50 and 100-yd. freestyle.

Continue Winning

Seconds Total Five

Turning in second place finishes for the Huskies were: Hoffman, Barthold, McClosky, McNertney, and Barthold. Hoffman placed second in the 1000-yd. freestyle event. Barthold picked up his three points in the 200-yd. individual medley and the 200-yd. breaststroke events. McClosky dived his way to a second behind Howard's Stewart. Ed McNertney placed second in the 200-yd. butterfly.

Trio Of Thirds

The swimmers also picked up three third place finishes. Tom Atkinson picked up a third in both the 50 and 100-yd. freestyle. Tom also swam on the winning freestyle relay team.

Ron Brown had the only other third place finish for the Huskies. Ron took the one point position in the 200-yd. backstroke event.

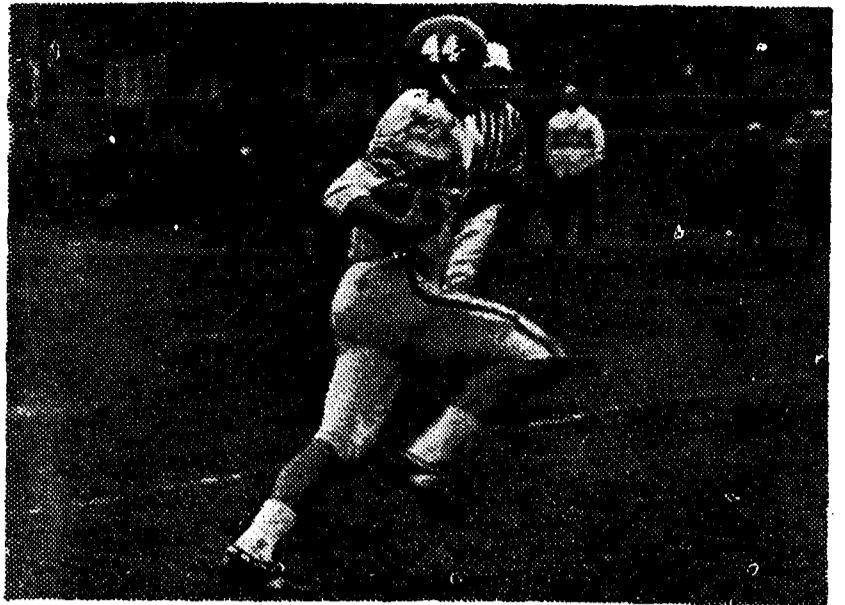

Today Is Finale

The mermen have only one more meet left. That will be at home against Trenton, today. A win in the final meet is expected, giving the Huskies a 9-2-1 record going into the states. The team's only losses were to West Chester and Temple University.

Winter Recap

BSC's chances for going through the year with every team having a winning season ended early when the Gridders finished with a 3-4-1 log. The youngest football team in the conference used spirit and the big play to post their very creditable win-loss mark. The team had a brand new coach, Jerry Denstorff, and he was largely responsible for the spirit shown by the team. Only eight seniors graduated and at times there were sixteen sophomores starting for the Huskies.

The Husky swimmers have turned in an 8-2-1 record with only one game remaining on their schedule. The team has a meet with Trenton this afternoon which should end in another victory for the Huskies.

The team was defeated by West Chester midway through the season, but it was a narrow Ram victory. The team is now preparing diligently for the state meet. With one break in the state meet, the mermen should bring home the first conference championship for BSC.

No Flowers In Bloom

Just a few words about the LIISC-Bloom match while it's still fresh in our mind...

Yes, we were initiated into the bedlam of Centennial Gymnasium, that maelstrom of open mouths and rude manners. If Clarion's Bob Bubbs thought LHSC fans were brutal, we'd like to get his reaction after an evening in the Huskies' Hole.

The gym was papered with obscene signs—a reflection on the Bloom administration's lack of control over its students—and the fans were insulting and ignorant, certainly no compliment to Bloom's excellent wrestling team.

Coach Russ Houk had to personally chase students off the mat on at least two occasions (he also chases Gene Taxils), one student reportedly made an obscene gesture at a wife of a former LIISC wrestler, the referee was insulted and intimidated, a fist fight between two Bloom students before the varsity match nearly caused injury to a young Bald Eagle fan and this writer had to physically keep a drum-beating student seated at mat-side.

The varsity referee was inconsistent, the official for the freshmen match incompetent. A 3-5 and 2.0 rating for each respectively.

The clock operator sometimes ran the clock when he shouldn't have and other times didn't start it when he should have. During the freshman meet, the buzzer was sounded stopping a match to question the official on a call while a Bald Eagle yearling was working for a take-down.

Coach Houk was infuriated over the penalty points against Ron Russo. The first was for pulling clothes, the second for stalling. In our opinion, the calls were justified.

The official also gave Russo a questionable takedown in the second period.

Wayne Heim deserves great credit for his outstanding effort against Melchoir, and Kenny likewise for his ability to hang in.

Shane Foley needed more than ability alone to come off his back to pin Wayne Smythe. When a member of LHSC freshman team urged Shane to pin his opponent in the third period, an older Bloom fan, perhaps a member of the faculty, retorted, "You're dreaming!" Seconds later we asked him, "Who's dreaming now?"

Paul Brodmerkel was man-handled by Bloom students when he went off the mat for the second time following his injury. To his credit, he shook off the blow and returned to wrestle. To the credit of Bloom fans, they applauded his return.

Jim Owen, the 160-pounder that Willy Vokes whipped, handles everyone in practice including Arnie Thompson, Coach Houk said after the match.

Milt Andrews, who stopped Bob Metz' victory streak, is an ex-Green Beret.

It was a long, loud, thrilling evening of wrestling. The Bald Eagles are deserving of our congratulations for winning under these conditions.

Coach Houk reported that groundbreaking for the new fieldhouse is slated for this spring. With any kind of luck, it will be completed when LIISC travels to Bloom again.

In the meantime, we suggest that the Bloom administration initiates a required course, "Manners 101."

Editor's Note: The above is the opinion of a sports editor that is unfamiliar to the BSC sporting scene. The opinion that he expresses is his alone and does not reflect the M & G's opinion. However, it should be given some consideration because it is an outsiders view of our sporting event and our conduct.

the AAUP Statement was apparently not followed simply because it had not been approved by the trustees. The administration apparently feels that it is under no obligation to do things correctly until the document is completely ratified.

In conclusion, I would like to quote from a letter which Dean Hunsinger sent to all students on Aug. 10, 1968; it sums up what should have taken place and yet, what apparently did not. Lessons learned last year have apparently been forgotten and so the gap between students and the administration has been pushed even farther. The Dean said: "The soothing of the wounds of a confused college society demands renewed commitment from all levels of college life. This can only be achieved if we accept and exercise individual responsibility to help establish a more just, wholesome, and stable college."

Phi Sigma Pi Reactivated

Phi Sigma Pi, Iota Chapter, an honorary fraternity, was reactivated at BSC on March 15, 1968. Twenty-three members were inducted by Millersville State College officers. The National Chapter is located at Millersville and its members were good enough to help start this chapter at Bloomsburg.

In the fall of 1968 new officers were elected for the forthcoming year and are now serving their terms. The offices were filled by the following members: President, Frank Yartz; Vice President, Ed Walters; Treasurer, Richard Robertson; Secretary, Chris Wehr; Sgt.-At-Arms, Bill Lesjack, and Historian, Bob Zarambo. The fraternity adviser is Dr. H. M. Afshar.

The fraternity is now off to a good start and last fall accepted its first pledge class since being reactivated. Previously there had been 21 regular members and two honorary members. On November 22, 1968 forty pledges were initiated as brothers into Phi Sigma Pi.

This honorary fraternity is relatively new on the BSC campus and now has the task of becoming a permanent organization at Bloomsburg. The members this year are trying to build up Phi Sigma Pi and make it a good brotherhood in which to belong. To this effect new committees are being added and Phi Sigma Pi is taking part in college affairs. Since it is an honor fraternity, Phi Sigma Pi in con-

New Offices

Dave Kiefer, Jr. Class Men's Representative, with the aid of Karl Kramer, proposed the establishment of the offices of Parliamentarian and Historian, in College Council. This proposal was to be used to increase the efficiency of the Council's business.

The Parliamentarian would assume more efficient meeting procedure and insure against quibbling on procedural matters.

The Historian would provide an organized system of record keeping and establish a file of the meeting minutes as a whole, indexing and cataloging all subjects.

ECPCBTC

The Second East Central Pennsylvania Biology Teachers Conference will be held at Bloomsburg State College on March 7 and 8, 1969. Biologists from forty community colleges and universities within a radius of seventy-five miles of Bloomsburg will meet to consider various problems of mutual concern in biological education.

The theme of this year's meeting is Biological Education: Its Relevance and Social Implications. Featured speakers include Dr. Dana Abell, Associate Director of the Commission on the Undergraduate Education in the Biological Sciences (CUEBS), Washington, D.C.; Dr. Hulda Magalhaes, Professor of Zoology, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa.; Walter Westerfeld, Professor of Biology, The Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pa.; and Dr. Irvin T. Edgar, Science Education Advisor, Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg, Pa.

Topics that will be discussed in depth during the two-day meeting include: environmental control issues; population control issues; medical-legal-ethical issues; race issues; drug issues; audio-tutorial instruction; and innovative laboratory approaches.

The Department of Biology is making arrangements for the conference in the newly-opened Hartline Science Center. Mr. Joseph Vaughan is a member of the Planning Committee and Dr. Donald D. Rabb is Chairman of the Planning Committee.

SRF Fellowship

The Sears-Roebuck Foundation will shortly announce its financial support for a two-year graduate fellowship and internship program developed by Duke University in conjunction with College Placement Services, Inc. This program will prepare individuals to qualify for positions in the field of career counseling and placement at the traditionally Negro colleges. Funds will be allocated for two college graduates to begin their training in September of 1969 and two more to begin in September of 1970.

For further information, contact the Placement office which is located in the Ben Franklin Building.

LAM Banquet

The sisters of Lambda Alpha Mu, members of the service sorority whom we had seen working at many of the college and community activities, held a dinner-dance recently at Briar Heights Country Club. Approximately forty-five couples attended.

The evening officially began as the girls and their dates sat down to enjoy a savory dinner. "The Verge of Delerium," the band for the evening, had arrived and was set up for dancing even before the last plates were cleared. The dancing and mingling with friends continued until midnight when everyone took to their separate ways, carrying with them memories of a wonderful evening not soon to be forgotten.

One Man Show Woven Art

One hundred and three people attended the opening of the One Man Show currently on exhibit in the Haas Gallery of Art at BSC. The show includes sculpture, weaving, ceramics, and paintings by Miss Constance C. Ward, assistant professor of art at the college.

Weaving is the main course in the current One Man Show on exhibit. Handwoven rugs are garnished with hand thrown ceramics, while paintings and tapestries adorn the otherwise deserted walls.

Two peculiar mammoth woven sculptures have the poignancy of expresso and scent the air with a hint of madness.

The work, executed by Miss Ward, will remain on exhibit in the Gallery till March 10.

After Miss Ward's show there are three more Exhibitions for the school year. Mr. Sinnie Knox will hang his work for the Spring Arts Festival. Following this there will be an exhibit of works from the Private Collections of the Bloomsburg area. The last show will be the Spring Student Show.
